What Is a Student?

What is a student? A student is a person, almost an adult yet very often he still views the world with the wonder of a child. A student is constantly growing and changing. He yearns to belong but often he feels loneliness, even in a crowd. A student strives to achieve his goal, whether it be a good grade, a student office or a place on the team. A student is a searching person. He searches for knowledge, for adventure, for answers. A student is a friend who cares and helps others. A student is a feeling and sensitive person who cares what others think of him. Most of all, a student lives. He experiences all the pain and sorrow, the joy and love and cherishes the memories. A student is a complete person. A student is you.

The purpose of the Guidance Department was to help students air their problems--both educational and personal. Mr. Edwards aided freshmen and sophomores in the selection of future courses. Mrs. Albright counseled juniors and seniors and helped them to look ahead to careers and opportunities in the future.

When asked what was new in the Phys. Ed. Department this year Miss Schuster replied, "My tennis racket." Besides tennis as an activity, physical education students took part in volleyball, basketball, and apparatus.

Math is an essential part of the curriculum to students who plan future careers in math, science, and other technical fields. Five courses were offered at Waterford High School this year. They were: General Math, Algebra I and II, Geometry, and Advanced Math. General Math served as a background to algebra, which was primarily the solving of equations. A major portion of the geometry course was doing geometric constructions and proofs. Students who took Advanced Math in their senior year worked with "simple calculus," which they found was not so "simple."

While turtle races, fried bacteria, and tadpoles that can actually survive the Fox River water are not normal curriculum for some biology classes, they did occur in this year's new course, Advanced Biology. Along with Advanced Biology, Advanced Chemistry also joined this year's curriculum. Mr. Kracht explained that these classes were instigated because at the present rate of increasing scientific knowledge, it is impossible to cover everything a science-major-to-be would need as a background in college. The two courses, each a semester long, gave students an in-depth study of several topics.

Two new electric typewriters and new adding machines were added to the business education department this year. The students who took typing were delighted with the new vocational textbooks. One of the highlights for the advanced students was a field trip into Milwaukee to the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance home office. There they observed the very elite in office equipment.

"Hurry up", was a familiar cry in the foods classes when the girls ran short of time. This was when the Home Ec. room transformed into a madhouse. Since the whole curriculum was revised, there was a course that would interest almost every girl.

Tools, materials, ideas--these are the ingredients of industrial arts education. Likewise, they are the components of the technological society in which we live. Industrial arts is a significant part of general education which provides an opportunity to learn about the theoretical and practical aspects of industry and technology, two basic elements of our society. The courses offered in the program were Industrial Arts I and II, Woodshop, Metals and Drafting.

English students learned the fundamentals of grammar and studied the language as it was written, spoken, and dramatized. Communications and Practical English taught students grammar as it was important in daily life. In literature classes man's ideas as found in books were read, discussed, and analyzed. Drama students concentrated on presenting an idea to an audience not only through acting, but also through scenery and lighting. Speech students were taught to express opinions verbally and were often able to sway an audience to their point of view.

Waterford High School's library was a quiet place, but never a dull place for the student wanting to read of and think on other men's thoughts. A new microfilm reader, many of the new books and magazines helped the student in research.

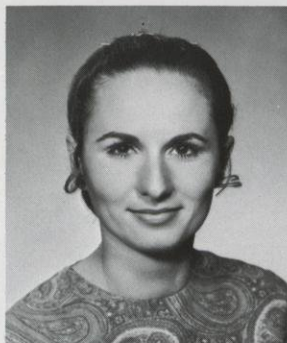

French students worked in the labs listening to tapes, conversed in French and did reading and writing to learn to communicate in the modern language. French courses ranged from the first year development of vocabulary to the fifth year study of the language, history, and culture of France.

Students interested in Latin who had first year Latin were able to take a second year. First year Latin was not offered.

The library offered many references to students for use in preparing reports.

This year the art and music departments became the largest ever. The art schedule was so demanding that Mr. Hughes was called from the English department to teach beginning drawing and painting. The art classes provided a time of relaxation and expression, although clothing sometimes suffered casualty. There were varieties of groups and ensembles offered for vocal musicians. Zah-zay-zoo was one of the warm-ups. As soon as all the uniforms were found, the varsity band could march out in numbers stronger than any previous year. An addition in the band was a new tuba which kept the fortes forte.

Aware of the World

One of the largest departments in school, the Social Studies Department offered seven courses of study to Waterford High School students. Of the seven subjects three were required, the others being elective. Of the electives perhaps the most enjoyed was Geography. Toward the end of October the room was filled with rocks which the students had collected and identified. An addition to Geography this year was a set of models which illustrated geological features. A basic requirement for all Social Science students was the ability to read and comprehend well. The subjects were Geography, World History, Adv. World History, U.S. History, Economics, Sociology, and Comparative Government.

Mr. Hying's World History class read about Robes Pierre and the French Revolution.

If there were money problems one turned to Miss Kegley, the bookkeeper in the main office.

The announcements for each day were prepared by Mrs. Becker, secretary in the main office.

Friendly People Assisted Students

Mrs. Finney spent many hours handling the secretarial work for the guidance office.

The lunch program owed its success to Mrs. Favell, Mrs. Callen, and Mrs. Smolensky.

"I light the blue candle for service." This was part of the candlelight ceremony presented each year in March at the installation of new NHS members. It has been traditional that the probationary members from the previous year take part in the lighting of the candles. Besides the candlelight ceremony the program featured a guest speaker and a selection of musical numbers performed by the chorus. National Honor Society members helped with Open House by preparing name cards for the parents that attended. National Honor Society members also have the opportunity to apply for scholarships through the society by taking the PSAT test in the fall of the year. Besides having high scholastic ability, members of the National Honor Society take part in extra-curricular activities from which they develop leadership.

Library Was a Center of Learning

Jo Anne Kranz, one of the students librarians, checked books in and got them ready to be put back on the shelf.

Being a Library Club member meant more than a free library pass and the authority to stamp books and collect fines. Maintaining the library required giving up study halls on the part of the students librarians. They were able to help Mrs. Daugherty by shelving books, reading shelves, locating magazines for research, and cataloging cards. They also arranged displays and bulletin boards that added interest to the walls. Members received pins and charms as awards for service at the end of the school year. They also had the appreciation of students who realized the work involved in expanding and organizing a library.

Themselves on Work Days

Fine Arts Club members "dug into" the clay at one of the numerous sessions held in the art room.

It was never difficult to have a good time during a Fine Arts Club activity. At one such activity, one would have generally found an intimate group of students eager to learn how to express themselves through the arts. They were given the opportunity this year through various after-school sessions of making pottery and jewelry. Many students who were not able to fit art classes into their schedule were able to learn about different forms of art. For others it was an excellent way to relax and forget about their problems or take out their frustrations on a piece of clay or on paper. Upon selling the wares, the profits went toward trips to plays, movies, museums, and concerts. Here they were able to see artists more experienced than themselves, artists in drama, music, and visible arts.

Echo Emphasized the Student

Barb Sheahan and Jan Colosimo went over articles for the next paper while Dave Rhody typed.

This year the staff of the Emerald Echo worked to make it the students newspaper. Students wrote articles, took pictures, or helped in various other ways to make it their own. Most of the emphasis was placed on sports and school news. In Kay's Column, a regular feature, Kay Prior compared her life in New Zealand to life in the United States. For the first time space was sold for Classified Ads. Columns were provided for creative writers. Each class also had articles for less serious news. At a workshop in Burlington the editors had a chance to hear news reporters discuss newspaper layout and how to write journalistically. Several students also attended a newspaper conference at Whitewater State University. The advisor for the Emerald Echo this year was Mrs. Mary Johnson.

Staff Worked for Bigger, Better Annual

Yearbooks aren't made at the touch of a magic wand nor do they just happen at the end of the year. A good capable staff with interested students is needed to produce a good yearbook, a staff willing to sacrifice time during study halls and after school in order to make the yearbook more meaningful to students, teachers, and members of the community. This year the staff worked to improve the yearbook by adding four more pages and getting better pictures. To help pay for the cost of more pages the staff sold WHS folders. Staff members attended various workshops in Madison and Burlington. Four staff members also attended a conference at the Wisconsin State University at Whitewater. These workshops and conferences were attended in the hope of getting ideas to make the '70 yearbook "bigger and better."

The year book staff looked over pictures and layouts before the definite selection of photographs.

Pep Club Boosted School

"We've got spirit!" That seemed to be the Pep Club's battle-cry as they cheered the Wolverines on to another winning year. Pep Club members had to be active members as the Pep Club had activities going all the time. Every week signs had to be made for the Friday game. These signs played a major part in the boosting of school spirit. They served as a reminder to students of the game that week and backed the team with words of encouragement. To help finance the cost of the paper and paint for the signs the Pep Club sponsored a dance and candy sale. The Pep Club also raised school spirit by selling booster buttons, green and white shakers, and colorful beannies. Their efforts paid off as the spirit throughout the year was sensational.

The Pep Club sold homemade cookies and candy to hungry students during the noon hours.

AFS Members Experienced

Sarah Bardenwerper and Kay Prior served cake and punch at the birthday party given for Kay.

Waterford was enriched with a bit of New Zealand this year in the form of one, Kay Prior, our foreign exchange student. Kay's year consisted of numerous "surprise" parties, in which she was convinced that American teenagers have the largest appetites in the world. Also held during the year was an AFS weekend in which several area foreign exchange students visited Waterford for a weekend. There were also fun-filled fund raising projects such as candy sales, a dance, and pizza sale. Kay was also able to show slides of her country and give talks to clubs in Waterford and neighboring towns. Kay also had the opportunity to go to other AFS weekends where she enjoyed the friendship of other foreign students.

Recreation and Relaxation

GRA members enjoyed a thrilling game of volleyball as one of the after-school activities.

Girl's Recreation Association is for any kind of girl who likes to have fun, enjoys sports and being with other girls. GRA meetings were held the second Wednesday of every month. At these meetings they discussed future activities and money raising projects such as dances and candy sales. The girls enjoyed a different activity every six weeks. These activities met once a week. The sports they participated in included volleyball, basketball, bowling, and baseball. GRA also had many exciting outside activities such as going to movies, swimming parties, and playdays at neighboring schools. At the end of the year a special meeting was held to hand out awards to members for their participation in GRA activities throughout the year.

The enlarger, shown here by two members, was a valuable piece of equipment to the Photography Club.

Homecoming, CHARLEY'S AUNT, the football season, the State Cross Country Meet--these events can only be captured in one way, through photography. The Photography Club provided a valuable service to students by taking pictures of school events. These pictures were put on display in the lobby and students could order prints. Photography Club members also worked for the year-book and newspaper staffs to furnish pictures a professional couldn't take. A variety of activities highlighted Photography Club meetings. These activities included movies such as "The Triumph of Lester Snapwell," slide shows, and talks given on various workshops that were attended. The most important activity was taking pictures, capturing moments that might otherwise slip away and fade into the past.

This year's Student Council was comprised of twenty-nine representatives, one from each homeroom plus the president of Student Council and the foreign exchange student. Every year the Student Council is engaged in many activities, such as the annual collection of Christmas gifts for Southern Colony and a clothing drive for the Save the Children Federation. They also asked for donations for UNICEF the week of Halloween. Among the most important activities sponsored by the Student Council were the fund-raising drives for AFS. This year they sponsored a very successful candy sale during which over six thousand dollars worth of candy was sold. The Student Council also handled the students' problems and suggestions concerning the school.

Contests and Concerts

Eighty-five members made up the varsity band this year under the direction of Mr. Davison. The pep band was given the opportunity to play popular tunes at the pep sessions and the basketball games. The Homecoming festivities included a half-time show featuring the varsity band with a presentation of "Touring America". The show took spectators on trips to Hawaii, San Francisco, Burlington, and then back to Waterford. In December a winter concert was held in which the varsity band and the Freshman band played a variety of Christmas carols and contemporary pieces. The annual state competition was held at East Troy and other activities included the spring concert, solo and ensemble contests, and the band banquet.

The Waterford High School Varsity band spurred on victory at half-time during the Homecoming game.

at Annual Christmas Concert

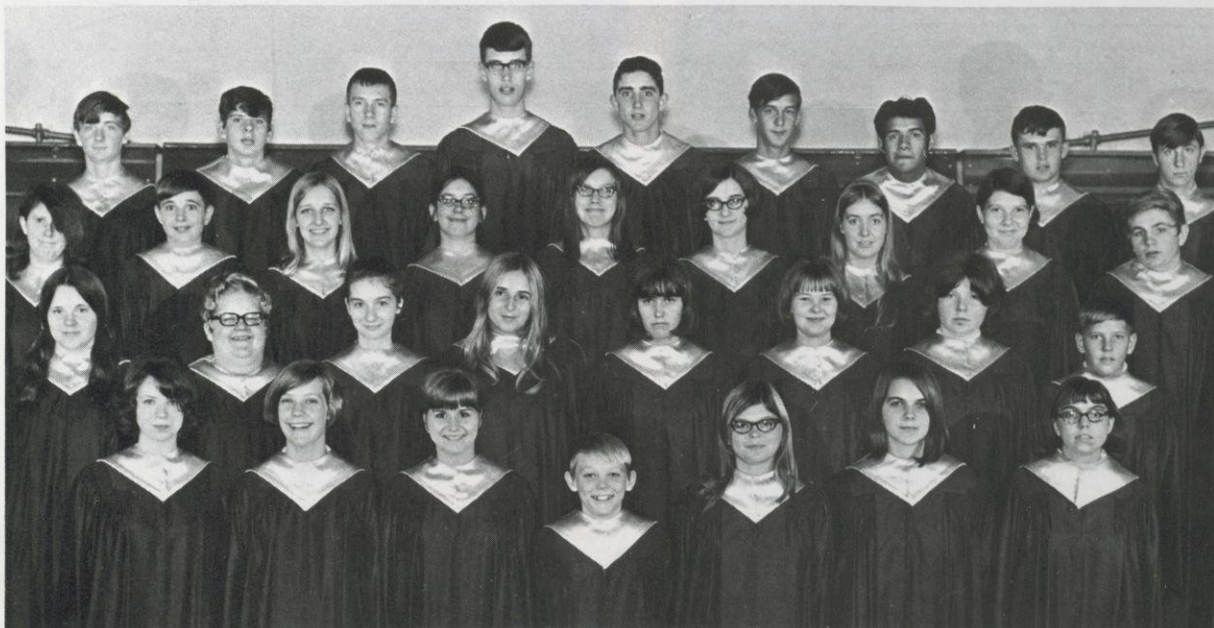

The Chamber Singers practiced songs that they performed at the concert before Christmas vacation.

If anyone ever entered the chorus room when the choir was practicing they would have seen rows of young yodlers singing ba-bay-bee-ba-boom, ma-mee, ma-mee, and za-zay-zee. True it wasn't Vivaldi or Bach but they did help "warm up" the chorus before practice. There was more theory practice and more difficult pieces on which to put it to use. The choir performed in the Annual Lion's Club Christmas concert as well as a school Christmas concert, Solo and Ensemble Contests and spring concerts. Mr. Hargrave formed the Chamber Singers again this year. They performed for the first time at the band's Christmas concert. They sang a series of traditional Yuletide Carols. Later in the spring they performed at the contest and Chamber Singers Dinner.

As First Production of the Year

More confusion began when Charley's real aunt and Miss Delahay show up unknown to the others.

The Drama Club, under the direction of Mr. John Hughes, presented CHARLEY'S AUNT November 6, 7, and 8. The play, a comedy, involved the endeavors of two young college men and their attempts to propose to their girls under the supervision of Charley's aunt. When the aunt wired to say she couldn't come, the boys prevail upon another college chum to impersonate her. From then on the fun began. The cast and crews found valuable experience in putting on the production. Mr. Hughes designed the set using a thrust stage. Mrs. Sabatino did the artistic effects and Mrs. Albright was in charge of the costumes. The show, a first for Mr. Hughes at Waterford High School, was well received by the audiences and cast.

Kathy Pheifer and Debi Kaminski researched their topic well by reading and taking notes in the library.

Debate, in its second season this year, based its arguments on the broad and contemporary topic: "What should the U.S. Foreign Policy be?" Under this topic came main questions which were often found in the daily newspapers such as the Viet Nam War, Israel, Red China, and Soviet relationships. Also several treaty organizations fell under discussion. The charters of SEATO, NATO, OAS Alliance for Progress were also examined in an attempt to shed light on exactly what the U.S. Foreign Policy is as well as what it should be. Members of the debate team spent many hours preparing for the numerous contests held at schools in the area throughout the debate season.

FTA Members Learned of Future Career

Mrs. Albright explains possible activities for the Future Teachers Club to Gary Grueter and Brenda Heyse.

The Future Teachers Club was made up of those students who planned a future career in some area of teaching. There were various activities that kept them busy such as helping at Open House in the fall by serving refreshments and sponsoring a dance after a basketball game. This year special meetings were held to write a new constitution. Future Teachers were able to learn about teaching by talking to experienced teachers, new teachers, and student teachers. They were able to observe classes at the grade school and help in the teaching of the class. Future Teachers also had the opportunity to visit the Delavan School for the Deaf.

"New" seemed to be the cheerleaders' key word this year--new uniforms for football, new shiny vinyl pom-poms, a new Wolverine head, and new ideas. They started off the year by introducing the pepstick, awarded each week to the class that showed the most spirit. After the last football game they had a "surprise welcome home" for the players and coaches. Before the start of basketball season they sold pencils with the schedule on them. At Christmas they handed out stockings of goodies to the basketball players and wrestlers. They started off the new year with a hilarious Pretty Legs Contest. Not all was fun, however. There were long practices, bruised knees, and sore muscles, but the cheerleaders wouldn't change it for anything in the world.

B-team cheerleaders jumped high to support the B-team in a basketball game.

W-Club Took Active Part in Homecoming

The W-Club sold refreshments at the concession stand throughout football and basketball season.

The W-Club had another active year this year at WHS. They sponsored many activities that have become traditional. Again at Homecoming they acquired the band for the dance and provided flowers for the queen and her court. As in past years they held the Mr. Ugly contest. The W-Club had a successful sale of sweat-ers and sweatshirts early in the year. They organized and held two invita-tionals, a Wrestling Invitational and a Track Invitational. Meetings were held in the evening after sports prac-tice. It was possible, therefore, for all members to attend. W-Club of-ficers were: President Jim McFadden, V-President John Howe, Secretary Marv Cummings, and Treasurer Dick Amundson.

Wolverines Captured Fifth Championship

Through a great team effort the Wolverines became co-champs for the final SEB conference season in football. The first games seemed to be a repeat of last year as the Wolverines fell to Jefferson and Whitnall. The next week Waterford started winning by beating Lake Mills. Three more victories followed before the Homecoming game when Waterford defeated St. Mary's 47-0. The next game against Union Grove determined the SEB champ. They battled to a 14-14 tie to become co-champs, although Waterford outgained the Broncs by about 100 yds. The next week Waterford beat Arrowhead to end the season with a 6-2-1 record. Waterford dominated the all-conference team by placing ten players. They were: Butch Spaight, Dick Amundson, Rick Jasperson, Alan Jasperson, Jeff Zahn, Al Schuckman, Hal Treffinger, John Howell, Mike Mehring, and Kurt Collath.

in Seven Year SEB History

A Farewell to Football

Upon playing my last game as thirteen other seniors did tonight I would like to say a few things about the seniors on our squad. Probably the most dedicated athlete in WHS history and the best, too, is Dick Amundson. He was a big reason for our good season. There's Al Jaspersen who never seemed to miss a tackle. Along with Al on the left defensive side was Jeff Zahn. The offensives ran away from him because he was too tough. There were others like Hal Treffinger, our most valuable defensive player, John (Big John) Howell, and Al Schuckman, who played the entire season with swollen ankles. There was Butch Spaight, who had a great arm, Paul Alby, Dean Doxtater, Mike Luznicky, Brian Bayley, Chuck Mealy and Rick Maerzke. Some didn't play as much as others, but just the same they were the reason for victory. And there was Pat Laughran who broke his ankle early in the season but never stopped helping the team. We dedicated the Kettle Moraine game to him.

After four years of football I felt tonight that I had lost something, almost like losing a friend. You realize that there is no tomorrow. You can think of all the work and joy, but it's over. I think of why I played football. It's not because I like to knock people around or get knocked around. Partly, it's for the recognition you get from being a member of a championship team. The real reason, I think is your teammates. People, as Mr. Baas calls them, that won't give up, won't let you down, people that you can count on. I can't close without thanking the great coaches for their time and effort. Well, this is the end, my farewell to football.

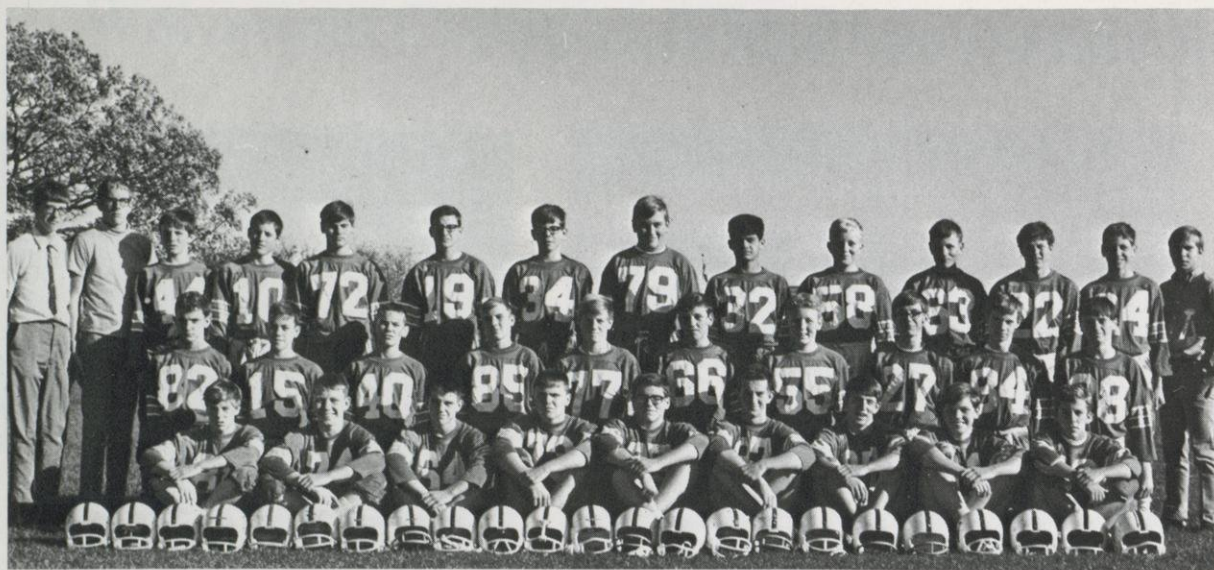

Rich Jaspersen

There was action on the sidelines too when Coach Christiansen "talked" to a player.

Coach Mr. Zuelsdorf and Co-captains Jim McFadden and Gary Lance showed two of their trophies.

The Waterford Harriers capped one of the most successful seasons any athletic team from this school has enjoyed by placing fifth in the State Meet on November 1. Jim McFadden ended four years of brilliant Cross Country competition by reaching the pinnacle of success for all harriers, the title of State Champion. He achieved this goal in a record setting time of 11:42 over a 2.3 mile course. The harriers remained undefeated in dual meet competition under the coaching of Mr. Zuelsdorf. Scoring consistently for the Wolverines were Jim McFadden, Gary Lance, Greg Hanson, Scott Lewis, Marv Cummings and John Wunder. Some of the highlights of the season included first place in the Kettle Moraine Invitational, the Regional Championship and the second place finish in the Sectional Meet.

an Excellent Record for the Season

Precision in shooting on the part of Waterford helped them triumph over Kettle Moraine 67--46.

The WHS gym shook with shouts and cheers as the varsity basketball team soared to victory after victory. The team, under the coaching of Mr. Christiansen and assistant, Mr. Hammer, enjoyed a success that no basketball team since 1966-67 has achieved. After thirteen games the Wolverines' record was 10 wins and 3 losses. Seniors dominated the team and held the five starting positions. High scorer for the Wolverines was Larry Spaight, who averaged twenty-five points a game. He also led in rebounding. Leading the team in assists was Rick Jaspersen. Coach Christiansen felt that it was one of the best defensive teams he has coached with Jack Skarie and Jeff Zahn leading the team defensively. All team members displayed outstanding spirit and determination in every game.

from Injuries and Inexperience

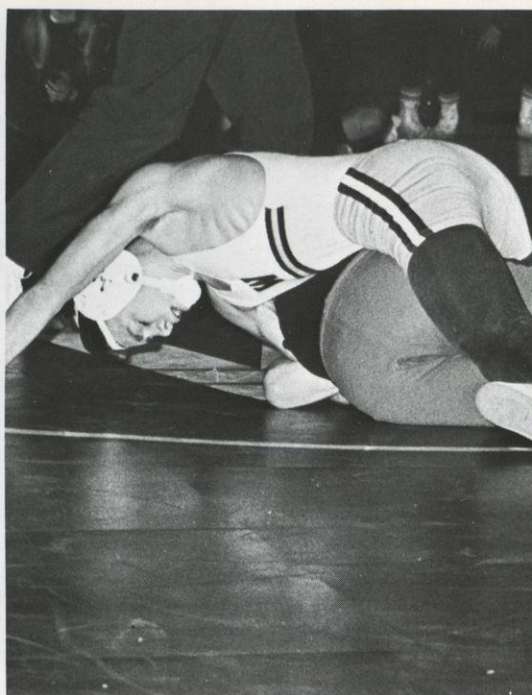

A Waterford wrestler stopped an escape move by his opponent, a Kettle Moraine grappler.

The Waterford High School varsity wrestlers put forth their best efforts, but due to illness and injuries caused by other activities they experienced a disappointing season. Tough competition and forfeits hurt the Wolverines' results in their matches. Also lack of experience and maturity hampered the Wolverines in several weight classes. The varsity wrestlers started a rebuilding process after losing key team members. The building process will continue next year with a predominantly sophomore and junior team improving with added experience. The seniors on the varsity, which was coached by Mr. Gettrust, were Rick Blodgett, Steve Eisenbeis, Paul Alby, Chuck Mealy, Hal Trefinger, and Mike Luznicky. Despite their losses, the Waterford wrestlers showed spirit and enthusiasm throughout the season.

were presented to the spectators and Queen Diane Weber was given roses.

Wally Wolverine's throat got dry from cheering so he took time out to get a drink of water.

Climaxed the 1969 Homecoming

With one second left in the game Waterford showed a score of 47-0, just one point away from the prediction.

The Pep Club's skit "Miss Football America" sent the crowd into fits of laughter.

Waterford's jubilation over the predicted Homecoming victory over St. Mary's Hilltoppers started with a Thursday night pep session featuring skits, cheers and the traditional burning of the letters WHS. Then came Friday, the big game and the victory too, 47-0. Saturday night was the Homecoming dance, "Appalachian Autumn," complete with little brown shack, goats, pumpkins, and Little Abner and Daisy Mae. A split log bench with a crescent moon hanging behind was the throne for King Larry Spaight and Queen Diane Weber, who were attended by Linda Lancaster and Mike Weinkauff, Kathy Braund and Chuck Goff and Kristy Stern and John Howe, Saturday night's festivities ended another enjoyable and memorable Homecoming.

Jack and Charley struggled to write a note inviting Kitty and Amy to tea.

When Fancourt Babberly dropped in, Jack and Charley came up with the idea of Babs impersonating Charley's Aunt.

"I Come from Brazil,

Jack had Brasnet set the table for the tea when Kitty and Amy accepted their invitation to meet Charley's aunt.

Spettique became very cordial when he found out that Donna Lucia was very rich.

During one of the few times that Jack and Kitty were alone, Jack tried to propose,

The situation became complicated when Charley's real aunt caught her impersonator with a cigar.

Where the Nuts Come From"

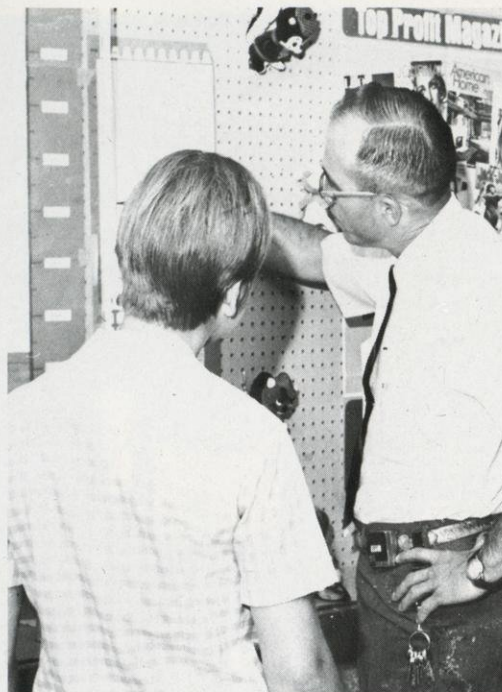

Ela made her guardian's appearance look perfect for a stroll in the garden with Sir Francis Chesney.

Last fall the Drama Club presented "Charley's Aunt" under Mr. Hughes' direction. David Ressler played the Oxford student, Fancourt Babberly who was compelled to impersonate the aunt by fellow students and chaperone their girlfriends. The lovers were played by Bill Bardenwerper as Jack Chesney, Mike Purucker as Charley Wykeham, Jan Colosimo as Kitty Verdun, and Terri Treffinger as Amy Spettigue. Richard Lee as Sir Francis Chesney and David Frost as Spettigue, competed for the aunt's affections. Kay Prior played the real aunt and Michaelene Pheifer played the boyhood sweetheart of Babberly. The English butler was Mike Luznicky. Mrs. Albright did the costumes and Mrs. Sabatino did the art direction. Mary McGill and David N. Johnson headed the production crews. Jeff Zahn was stage manager and Kathy Pheifer was assistant director.

Mr. Veeder coached students who were interested in fencing, one of the newest after-school activities.

Mr. Frye discussed the progress of the magazine sales with one of the students.

After-School Activities Contributed

Some senior boys did some cramming for semester exams during lunch.

The majorettes led the varsity band in tis half-time performance for Homecoming as well as other home games.

Students held lively conversations to help pass the time while waiting for the bell.

Various expressions and moods displayed the excitement and tension at a close basketball game.

to Students' Enjoyment of School

Patti Schaal and Connie DeGrave changed the monthly announcement board during a free hour.

With the opening of school in September came the familiar activities of dances, football games, and pep sessions. Students found time during school and after to have fun. Throwing people into the shower or setting them on the bubbler provided laughter for everyone--except the victim. Homecoming preparations proved to make for the best ever at Waterford High. Mr. Veeder gave his time to start a fencing class for any interested student. The holiday season brought organizational parties and gifts were again collected for Southern Colony at the Christmas assembly. Spring thoughts turned to prom, baseball, music festival at East Troy, and various other activities. All too soon, June and graduation came. The good times of the previous year that the students enjoyed were behind.

"Santa" gave out stockings of goodies to wrestlers and basketball players.

Many art projects were made by creative Fine Arts Club members at after-school sessions.

Students' Spirit of Giving

Chewy Corporation raffled off a stuffed toy bull as one of its business ventures.

Council president Bill Bardenwerper presented the prize to top candy salesman, Don Hegemann.

Mr. Edwards drew for the name of one of the two drawing prizes given for the candy sale.

Dean Potokar received a tape recorder as one of the two winners of the drawing prizes.

Came Alive at Christmas

Green and white beanies and booster buttons could be seen in the halls on Fridays as the students' school spirit helped Waterford's sports teams to win.

Kay Prior described Christmas in New Zealand at the annual Christmas Assembly.

Kay spent many hours using reference materials in the library for her various subjects.

Kay Brought WHS a Bit of New Zealand

Hello everyone,

I left Auckland, New Zealand, on August 2, 1969, and after a twenty-hour flight, I touched down in the USA, extremely excited about coming to Waterford.

When I found out in May, 1969, that I was coming to a town of this size, I was truly delighted because I felt I would have a much better chance to get to know everyone and when I arrived and settled in, I found this to be very true.

Waterford High School and the community has much to be proud of and I was only too pleased to be a part of it. I have gained more from this year than I know I ever will in my life. Admittedly--"thank you" sound like a small word for all that you have done for me but I want you to know that I mean it with deepest sincerity.

I sincerely hope I will come back to Waterford in the near future to relive the most treasured memories of my life. Meanwhile, if you get down the South Pacific way, it would be my honor and privilege to show you New Zealand.

Good luck, many many thanks and God bless you all.

Haene Ra!

The size of the freshman class this year didn't set any records, but that did not mean it wasn't a record setting class. They came out ahead of any previous frosh class in the magazine sale by selling over $3,000 worth of periodicals. In the spring the class held the traditional freshman party. The frosh showed great school spirit in their first year by repeatedly winning the school pepstick. The class was represented in the Student Council by Ken Phetteplace, Jim Behling, Dave Chesky, Mike Weinkauf, Tom Lukas, Sue Uecker, Randy Jasperson, and Peter Smith. Pam Mamerow, Jo Ann Rosenthal, Terri Swain and Julie Colosimo led the school as cheerleaders. The class began their first year well and looked forward to three even better years as the Class of '73 at Waterford High.

This year's sophomore class displayed its pride in Waterford High in many ways. It had the privilege of having its homecoming representative, Diane Weber, become queen. She was escorted by Chuck Goff. The sophomores won the pepstick the most times during the football season. Eight sophomore girls had the opportunity to cheer this year. They were: Linda Weber, Jill Caliva, Lesley Schaefer, Bonnie Roanhouse, Shelley Rupert, Barb Ferber, and alternates Beth Ketterhagen and Georgiann Rittmann. The sophomores who represented the class in Student Council were: Judy Barnhart, Dean Potokar, Cliff Gorn, Lesley Lazarus, Richard Jante, Frank Deak, Shelly Rupert, and Pat Sullivan. To brighten the winter months the sophomore class sponsored the annual Sadie Hawkins dance in February.

The juniors were known to abound in energy and enthusiasm through many school activities. They took an active part in the Homecoming festivities. Traditionally, they decorated the field. Their originality was displayed with their rockets on the goal posts and balloons that went up at a Waterford touchdown. The juniors smash hit, "Tiptoe through the Tulips," won the Homecoming skit competition. The representatives for the occasion were Kristy Stern escorted by John Howe. Juniors Kurt Collath and Mike Mehring were elected to the all-conference football team. Cheering them on to victory were Kris Johnson, Gina Smolensky, Sarah Bardenwerper, Denise Bucholtz and Denise Long. Other junior activities included sponsoring a dance and planning and decorating for the prom in the spring.

It has been four years since the Class of '70 first entered the doors of WHS. As freshmen they sold magazines and held a freshman party in the spring. The next year as sophomores they participated in sports, cheerleading, organizations, drama, forensics and music. They sponsored the Sadie Hawkins dance and won the spirit trophy for the year. As juniors their most important activity was the planning and decoration of a southern atmosphere for the Junior Prom "Showboat." This year the senior class decorated the gym for the Homecoming dance according to the theme "Appalachian Autumn," and learned about corporations through CHEWY and OWASSO. The senior class also enjoyed the privilege of having Kay Prior, the exchange student, as a member of the senior class. Each year was filled with the memories of classes, games, dances, plays, and friendships.

In Closing . . .

As this yearbook comes to a close so does the school year. It is a time to reflect on the past year at WHS and for me, the past four years. It has been a year of laughter and tears, fun and more serious moments. The year has gone by so quickly that often the memories are lost. I hope this book helps bring back those moments that will mean so much to us years from now when we have left WHS.

Planning and working on this book has been a great experience, not always happy, not always easy, but always a rewarding and learning experience. I'd like to thank my staff who helped me on this yearbook, especially my advisor, Mrs. Bayer and my heads of staff. I'd also like to give my very special thanks to my student photographer Gary Warick, who did a great job of getting me the pictures I wanted when I wanted them. And I thank you, the faculty members and students. Without your organization of and participation in all the activities this yearbook would only contain empty pages.

Just as 1970 opens a new decade I hope that it opens a future full of happiness and success for my fellow graduates. I'd like to extend my best wishes to everyone.

Now comes the saddest part, the time to say good-bye to the 1969-70 school year and to Waterford High School.

The lean, rugged Levi's look is a dress-up homespun fabric — a great selection of the latest colors. Never need ironing, never lose their crease — they're Sta-Prest! Nobody makes Sta-Prest but Levi's.

STA-PREST.
