SET DATE FOR ANNUAL DRESS BALL APRIL 1

Third Varsity Jamboree to Be Held in Lathrop Hall

TRYOUTS NEXT WEEK

The Varsity Jamboree, the all-university fancy dress ball, to be held in Lathrop hall April 1, is the third affair of its kind to be held at the University of Wisconsin.

Three years ago the first Jamboree was held in the university gymnasium. The proceeds from this party and the 1921 affair went to pay off the debt of the deceased Awk, a humorous magazine at Wisconsin.

Student Senate Directs Function

This year the Student Senate is backing the party and plans are being made to make it the most successful of Jamborees. Dean S. H. Goodnight said in remarking about the event, "The faculty is glad to back the 1922 Jamboree, and we hope that it proves as successful as the last Jamboree was."

Brilliant costumes, special lighting, and entertainment by various groups, who will try out next week for places on the program, make the Varsity Jamboree a unique affair in the social life of the university.

Scott Led Grand March

David Lacey '21, was chairman of the last year's party. Ralph Scott '22 led the grand march of convicts, butterflies, devils, pierrots and other masquerade characters. A confetti snowstorm and a Press club riot made unusual features for a Varsity party.

This function is distinctly an all-university affair, according to those in charge. The only requirement is that one have a costume. Prizes are awarded to the most originally attired.

Those taking leading parts in the play are as follows: Augustus, Duke of Beaujolais, Paul Tobey '23; John Bender, a wealthy American widower, John Sheldon '22; Larry, a young American, Cedric Johns '24; Harkins, Bender's English valet, Fiel Myrland '22; Pierre, a juggler, Robert Luehr '25; Chicot, wrestler, William Christensen '24; Countess Marie, a rich spinster, Olivia Fentress '23; Aunt Sarah Jessup, Bender's sister, Dane Vermillion '23; Phillis, Bender's daughter, Helen French '23; Belle, her friend, Margaret Moore '24; Yvonne, a flower girl, Gertrude Haase '24; Susette, a candy girl, Marion Mosel '23; Fantine, madam maid of the countess, Florence Robb; accompanist, Frances Landon '23.

Caluwaert is a member of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity, Scabbard and Blade, and Union Board. He was assistant chairman of the Military ball last year and was also chairman of men's arrangements for the 1922 Prom. During the war Caluwaert was a lieutenant in the Infantry.

Miss Stilwill is a member of Sigma Kappa sorority and an associate editor of the 1923 Badger. She is a member of the Varsity Jamboree committee. Miss Stilwill is enrolled in the College of Letters and Science.

SELECT CHORUS FOR HARESFOOT

Spingold Declares Music Equal To Professional Production

Sixteen men were chosen for the chorus of "Kitty Corner," the twenty-fourth Haresfoot production, Sunday afternoon in the final try-outs, conducted by Harry W. Spingold, coach. The men chosen for girls are: Hobart Price '23; Alfred Hiatt '24; Thomas Niles '23; Chandler Osborn '22; Donald Hanson '24; Henry Coeper '23; Clarke Miller '23; Carroll Callen '24. Those chosen as men are: Gerold Koch '23; Karl Maier '23; Knight Farwell '23; John Murphy '24; Carl Vonnegut '24; Lynn Edwards '24; Bernhard Mautz '23; G. Owen Paulson '24.

With the final selection of both cast and chorus, rehearsals will get under way at once under the direction of officers of the club. Spingold will come from Chicago next Friday to conduct the first full rehearsal, and from that time on, work will go on unceasingly.

Earl Carpenter, '21, the composer of the music, was in Madison yesterday, and played the entire score of "Kitty Corner" for the cast and chorus of the club. The music was declared by officers of the club to be superior to last year's production, "Miss Quita." "The music is as good as has been heard in any professional production in Chicago this winter," was the statement of Spingold.

Press Club Meets At 5:30 in Lathrop

Plans for Pi-night will be discussed at a meeting of the University Press club to be held at 5:30 tonight in Lathrop hall. The usual cafeteria supper will be served.

Attempts to secure a speaker were not successful so that this will be primarily a business meeting. This is the first meeting for some time and all members are urged to attend.

The parcel post service of the U. S. postal department has been begun with Ceara and Brazil, Postmaster W. A. Devine announced.

ORGANIZE NEW C.I.P.A. BRANCH

Convention to Be Held in Boulder, Colorado, March 10, 11 and 12

A branch office of the Central Interscholastic Press association was established in Boulder, Colorado, last week to take care of the increased western membership. Four states, Utah, New Mexico, Wyoming and Colorado comprise the new group.

A convention of the branch will be held in Boulder, Colorado, on March 10, 11 and 12 to hold round-table discussion and make plans for future work. The editors elect their own officers, but are under the central direction of Prof. W. G. Bleyer, of the course in journalism, George Greene '22 and Charles Mac Innis '23.

First Organized Here

The Press association was organized in Madison a year ago last April by John Baker '21 and George Greene '22 to interest the editors of high-school papers in a higher education.

Over 325 high-school papers are represented in the association. Thirty-nine new states and Newfoundland and Canada have been represented since the convention was held in Madison last fall.

The "Scholastic Editor," a magazine published in Madison by the association, is the principle means of communication between the different members.

Icy Road Causes Near Accidents on Muir Knoll Drive

Six Cars Driven by Students Slide Down 40-Foot Bank

Unable to get a grip on the icy road six cars belonging to university students and one belonging to Dr. H. C. Bradley, College Hills, slid from 20 to 40 feet down the slope of Muir Knoll on the north side of Main hall about 8 o'clock Monday morning. No one was injured.

None of the cars were seriously damaged although a Hudson driven by Bernhard Mautz '22 and containing Gus Tebell '23, guard on the Varsity basket ball team, and Norman Clark '24, had one side badly scratched. Mautz was attempting to reach his 8 o'clock on time when the car slid from the road, glanced off a large spruce tree, and came to a stop at the edge of the brush, almost 40 feet down the slope.

A Ford driven by Carl Hausman '24 attempted to cross the ice a minute later but without any better success. John Purcell '24 and Mille Hausman '22 were in the car at the time of the accident.

Sidney Thornson '24 was unable to keep his Ford from leaving the road at the bend farther down the hill. One university truck slid off the road. The names of the others who suffered a similar fate yesterday could not be ascertained. All the cars were rescued by a team of horses.

J. D. Phillips, acting business manager of the university, stated yesterday that in case the road at this point was in such a condition as to be a source of danger in the future steps would be taken to improve the drive. F. E. Gallistel, superintendent of the university grounds, was of the opinion that a concrete curb would be built along the north side of the road.

REFORM is rampant again. The o. f. man who used to raise a howl everytime he saw a misguided female crawling down the street in a hobble skirt has a son who wanders all over Madison whipping action into the progress of abbreviated skirts. It's very likely that he's a forerunner of a movement to check the anti-stocking fad, or he might be a special agent of the Zion City uplift club. We, however, are more than satisfied with life as it is.

SPEAKING of movement, we are c. t. k. the inside dope on the Black Cross scare. We are of the opinion that it is not a case of WE ARE HERE but NOT ALL THERE. May we delicately infer that our own Major Wood has taken a hint from General Pershing?

CROSSING THE STREET
Midnight, or three o'clock,
And one strong man with me,
To walk me down the undulating block—
My brains are all a-sea.

And I have drunk, and moving seem asleep,
—Too full for curse or song,—
My God, my God, the street lamps sway and leap,
Help me along!

Darkness, and then the dawn,
And after that, the light,—
That drink was filthy,—man! I'm almost gone,
—God! what a night!

Yet, though along the street, from place to place,
A sodden sot, I roam,
I'll thank thee, O my Pilot, face to face,
When you have got me home.

Could A Student Here Live for 12 Days on 50 Cts?

Last Christmas there was a drive at the university for the Foreign Student Friendship Fund, at which time the students donated $1500. Frederick E. Wolf, secretary of the university Y. M. C. A., has just received word from a student who is working part of his way through school and is receiving aid from the Friendship fund for the rest. During the month of November this student spent 1400 crowns; of this, he earned 7000 playing in an orchestra, 2000 more for helping an optician, and was given the remaining 5000 crowns from the Friendship fund which was contributed by the students last fall. At the present rate of exchange, the 5000 crowns which kept the student in school for 1-3 the month of November is worth 50c in American money. This report will give the students a very good idea of the good which their donation is doing.

Judaism Free From Mysticism Says Wolfenson

"People of the most ancient Judaism, or Hebrewism as it should be called, was free from mysticism and spiritism" said Prof. L. B. Wolfenson in his address to the Jewish Students' association at the Woman's building last night. "This is shown by the promise in the 11th chapter of Deuteronomy that the Hebrews would have an abundance of rain and crops if they kept the commandments which Moses published to them as coming from God. These commandments related to the honor of man toward man and had nothing of mysticism or metaphysical or other worldliness about them." As time went on Judaism became even more concrete and scientific paying strict attention to the course of nature as a revelation of God's law, he pointed out, and said that for this reason Judaism and its historical offshoots, Christianity and Mohammedanism, have

CYRANO BE BLOWED!

Not worthy of a jassack, "ho,"
Has not "I trow" an English ring?

Pistol Club Plans Shooting Match With West Point Hope to Increase Club Membership to 80; Russell Heads Club

The Pistol Club, an organization made up of student cadets who are interested in trap-shooting and who wish to have some opportunity of carrying on their interest in a practical form, held its initial meeting of the year Monday noon, March 6, in the gymnasium, for the purpose of getting together the old members and signing up new candidates for the club. According to R. B. Russell '23, captain of the club this year, between twenty and thirty men reported. It is fully expected, however, that before long that number will be doubled and possibly trebled. Last year the club was composed of nearly seventy men. "Eight of last year's men were at the meeting," Russell said after the gathering had broken up. "Last year we won seven out of nine shooting matches. Each year a 45 calibre pistol, worth from thirty to forty dollars, is given to the man having the highest shooting average at the end of the schedule. Last year B. K. Breed '23 won this prize." Sergeant H. C. Mason, who will coach the club, said that until the weather improved instructions in using a pistol would be given the men indoors. Later on the club will hold practice on the range behind the Hydraulics laboratory and at the quarry on the Middleton road. "For a week or so," Sergeant Mason said, "we will have a meeting in the gymnasium every day from 12 o'clock until 12:15. We hope that as many men as possible will come out for the club for we can handle as many as eighty." The schedule for this year follows: March 25—University of Missouri. April 3—Colorado School of Mines. April 4—Cornell. April 26—University of Georgia. May 17—University of Utah.

May 20—West Point Academy. Meets that are pending are with Oregon, Alabama and Iowa State Agricultural school. It is expected that the club will challenge all of the teams in the Big Ten conference.

Famed Maltese Cross Is Used As An Advertisement By '23 Gopher

Mystery of Gopher Campus is Solved; Student Publication Faces Heavy Libel Suit For Prank

The Maltese cross mystery, veiled in poster form, which kept the Minnesota campus in suspense for several days, was revealed last week when the heads of the 1923 Gopher ran an advertisement which was identical to the posters, but had a few more words added to it.

The posters at Minnesota, besides having the "We are Here," and the Maltese cross as they had here, also had the initials O. I. C., and the caption "Slackers Beware." The interpretation of this poster according to the advertisement is "Here we are to put across 250 or more subscriptions for the 1923 Gopher. O. I. C., order one copy. Slackers beware of losing your chance of buying a Gopher."

The bills brought about a considerable amount of uproar and excitement at Minnesota. The Minnesota Daily says, "The handbills, which first aroused attention Monday, caused great excitement on both the main and agricultural campus, because of the apparently threatening nature of the bill which read, "We are here. Slackers beware."

Threats, first of bodily violence and then of a libel suit on the basis of infringement on advertising, were made to the managing editor and the editor in chief of the 1923 Gopher because of the appropriation of the advertising sent out by the Order of the Iron Croix which was to be used as an advertisement for a coming dance.

The heads of the 1923 Gopher, however, claim that they cannot be liable to a suit for infringement on advertisement because the posters and idea were not copyrighted. Whether the administration will take action is not known as yet.

WINTER GRAIN HARD HIT BY SLEET STORM

Report Crops Smothering Under Ice in Northern Wisconsin

Grave fear that winter wheat, rye, clover and alfalfa over the central part of the state are smothering under the ice sheets formed during the storm of Feb. 22 to 24, is expressed by Joseph A. Becker, crop reporter in a condition survey today.

Clover is said to be in particular danger because of the late start made last year. It entered the winter in poor condition, Mr. Becker said, to survive such conditions as prevail at the present time.

Grain crops will suffer heavily, judging from reports due to the ice sheet which prevents them from getting needed air. In the northern part of the state, a heavy snow fall is said to have largely eliminated this danger.

Fruit trees have been severely injured in some sections. The heavy sleet not only caused damage to fruit buds, but broke limbs and split trunks of the trees.

The damage is said to be severe in Manitowoc, Sheboygan and Sauk counties, among the most important commercial apple counties in Wisconsin. The damage in Door, the leading fruit county, is said to be light. Farm woodlots and wind breaks suffered in southern Wisconsin.

Wisconsin farmers are said to still hold large stocks of potatoes on their farms. Weather conditions have made marketing difficult.

The milk production continues at a high standard and is said to be slightly above usual for this time of the year. Little change in the financial condition of farmers is reported.

However, with all due respect to the aforementioned kickers, we are going to subject ourselves to further criticism by proclaiming the present show at the Orpheum good. A versatile pair of musicians who perform on everything but the sky-hook. The interpretation of Ted Lewis was short but good.

Connolly & Frances

Singing, dancing, wise cracks, and harmonica playing is what this couple do nothing else but. With the aid of a trick organ which is assembled on the stage, the act gets a good start.

Ross Wyse & Co., with "Tony"

Fifty-five pounds of boy plus several tons of hokum made a big hit with an audience that was willing to enjoy anything. The two grown-ups with Tony serve merely as foils for his adolescent exuberance.

A song writer of whom you have all heard the melodies put across a black-face offering quite cleverly. Although several of the jokes were rather decrepit, Brooks' manner and style made them enjoyable.

A novelty act in which two imitation talking machines serve to introduce the players. Several unusual gowns help the act succeed.

The Four Camerons

The title fools you. Instead of pawing for your wraps and unpacking your chewing gum, you are held quietly in your seats until the final curtain. Although "The Four Camerons" sounds like a flock of rosin-scraping and handkerchief-throwing acrobats, this is exactly what they are not. The act is comedy from start to finish, and gets away not only because of the pleasant surprise, but also on account of the entertainment value of the offering.

HOOK, LINE AND SINKER

THE fundamental purpose of an education is to train people to think, to use their own reasoning powers and to draw conclusions based upon their own mental effort; in short, to be intellectually independent. A major part of this education comes from books and lectures; and herein lies a grave danger—the danger of too much credulity and gullibility in matters intellectual. There is apt to be a tendency to accept what an instructor or a book says, in complete faith, and to make their conclusions a part of one's self. Of course, it is much easier to take for granted what one is told, but often in giving back to the instructor in an exam what he has previously declared to be his opinion is a good way to get higher grades.

That parrot kind of an education is bad business; it warps a man completely out of his own sphere and makes him a carbon copy of some one else, rather than a thinking man, capable of working out his own problems. What is needed to make an education worth while is a little mental curiosity, a subconscious questioning of what one reads or hears before taking it entire. One has little respect for a fish that makes a rush for the bait and swallows hook, line, and sinker. Besides making it difficult to get the tackle clear, one looks on the fish as a poor dub.

Books were written to be read and lectures delivered to be heard, but not to be believed on faith. If with a complete understanding one agrees with the conclusions drawn, well and good, but if the conclusions are taken without question, the thing is dangerous. The student who is so influenced by another so as to subordinate his reasoning to that of the influencer is in a bad way. To be a thinker he must ever challenge statements with "Is it true?" or "Why is that so?"

There are some instructors who make regular memory courses out of their subjects, expecting the student to accept everything they say and to give it back in as near their own words as possible. They are dogmatizers rather than teachers, and they have no place in a school that professes to train people to think. However, in the majority of cases, the student is given an opportunity to think, sometimes with ludicrous results. A certain instructor, as an experiment once stated in a lecture that King Alfred was the author of the Magna Charter. Only eighteen students out of one hundred in an English history course challenged the statement. A beautiful faith in the instructor to be sure but a lamentable lack of mental curiosity. Don't be a poor fish and gullibly swallow the hook, line, and sinker without first knowing what you are doing.

SAFE ROADS

MONDAY morning six cars went off the drive that passes Bascom hall and were mired in the mud of the embankment. Six cars in one morning is rather a high record, especially on a drive so continuously used. Fortunately none of the cars suffered any serious damage, though that is no reason for passing cursorily over the incident. The next time, a serious accident may occur for which the university will be responsible, because if nothing is done immediately the next muddy and wet day will see more cars in the ditch, and they may not escape unscathed.

"BUDDY, JOIN THE LEGION"

Japan has a genro. It is the class of the elder statesmen. It is the dead thumb of octogenarianism upon the present. Ultra conservatism always is property and age. Uncle Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, is a man of much property. You hear that he is second or third in point of personal wealth in the United States.

Uncle Andrew Mellon is head of the American genro. President Harding merely comes up from somewhere but Uncle Andrew Mellon always existed because what he represents and what he thinks always has existed.

The elder statesmen are against the soldier bonus. Uncle Andrew is against it because the war is over and all the values which were in danger and which have been saved are now out of danger. The soldier is an uneconomic force except when he is needed to preserve the balance and the working power of economic force. They are badly disturbed when a foreign governor general takes control of an occupied territory.

Then all ordinary laws of economic cause and effect go out of office and the soldier is the boy relied upon to keep the home land functioning as it ought to function normally. When he is needed for this economic purpose he is invaluable because without him all values would go to pot.

If the German soldier had been able to carry through the plans of the Germany military leaders the German mark would not be a beggar on the door step of financial solvency, and if he had been able to do the super human, which was required of him, Uncle Andrew Mellon's fortune might be barely equal to a square meal.

The difference between the value of the dollar and the value of the mark is now the sacrifices made by the American soldier. He created that value. If he had not done so it would have no value. The only reason these men of wealth have wealth is because American soldiers determined that depreciated currency should be in Germany and not in the United States.

To whom would Uncle Andrew like to pay a small percentage of his money? To the American soldier who saved him from the German tax collector or to the tax collector? Buddy, join the Legion, as your father joined the G. A. R., and impress as a political fact upon the elder generation that it is in luck and much in luck. —Chicago Tribune.

Edge of Lake Monona Opens; Clear Stretches Mark Shore

Last Year Lake Opened March 16, and in 1917 On April 11; Mendota Generally Opens Later

Where yesterday iceboats flitted gaily in the breeze, and where teams and automobiles journeyed across the ice, there is now clear water in Lake Monona, according to report today.

The lake has not extensively begun to break up, but all along the shore and especially where the streams empty into Monona, the ice has been honeycombed and melted away. Clear stretches of water are along the shore. Children should be warned against playing on the ice, because it is no longer safe.

Last year, the lake took from March 2 to 16 to open up. In 1920 it was clear on March 28. March 20 was the date of Monona's formal opening in 1919 and April 1 and April 11 respectively were the dates for 1918 and 1917.

Lake Mendota usually is open a few days later than Monona.

GORDON AGAIN ATTACKS CITY ENFORCEMENT

Charges That Laxity in 18th Amendment Unsafe For University

Urging the people of Madison to see that they have a city council, a mayor, and police officials who stand for rigid enforcement of the 18th amendment, Lancelot A. Gordon, assistant secretary of state, declared in an address before the Committee of 100 Sunday afternoon that it is not so much the common man who wants the return of liquor as the beer and whiskey trusts. A meeting of the committee was held in the assembly room of the capitol. Robert N. Nelson presided.

"There are more arrests in Madison now than before prohibition went into effect," declared Mr. Gordon. "This is not, I think, because there is more drunkenness, but because there are more arrests for that offense now. Formerly there were houses and saloons in which the drunkard stayed until he was sober. The fact that there are so many arrests, however, should worry us."

Mr. Gordon declared that it is "up to" the city of Madison to make the town safe for the university, so that parents who support the institution will not hesitate to send their sons and daughters here.

Speaking of the junior prom, Mr. Gordon said that he had asserted that there was some liquor at the prom only after statements had been published to the effect that there was none. He declared that he was convinced that while there was some liquor at the last prom, it was the driest prom ever held in the city.

"It is the statements of people opposed to prohibition, who declare that the university girls have become addicted to drinking since the country became dry and that the student is no longer popular with the girls unless he drinks, that hurt the university," declared Mr. Gordon. "I don't believe these statements."

Mr. Gordon said he had been accused of making statements to the effect that the prom was "wet" and that such remarks had hurt the university. "I never said the prom was 'wet'," declared Mr. Gordon. "I merely said that there had been some liquor at it, which is a very different thing."

Twenty-five per cent of the laws on the statute books of the state could safely be repealed if the other 75 per cent were rigidly enforced, William J. Morgan, attorney general declared, speaking on the necessity of law enforcement to maintain a democracy.

"About 25 per cent of the laws are enacted because of the non-enforcement of other laws," said Mr. Morgan. "It is self evident that no government can endure unless it has the respect and confidence of the people. Ours is a government of law, not of men, but if we have a government that enforces some laws and not others, we have a government of men, who decide for themselves what laws should be enforced. Such enforcement means always discrimination in favor of some and against others."

"While a law is on the statute books it should be rigidly enforced whether it is a right or wrong law. If it is a wrong law, public sentiment can legitimately be aroused to have it repealed."

Mr. Morgan declared that before the enforcement of the dry laws can be made effectual, violation of them must carry with it the same social stigma as violation of any other law. The attitude of a share of the public toward the dry laws is making for contempt of all laws, he said.

Brewer Writes For Februry Issue of College Publisher

Function of College Humor Sheet Purely Mercenary He Declares

"The Function of a College Humorous Magazine," an article by G. Fred Brewer, editor of the Octopus, in which the problems of such a publication are briefly given, was published in the Collegiate Publisher.

"The primary function of a college humorous magazine is to exist—to exist free from debt, and to be able to count every month on the sale of three thousand copies and twelve pages of advertising," states the article. "College humor will always find some means of expressing itself and as soon as the humorous magazines supposedly devoted to this end cease to perform their function, then that day the magazine becomes unpopular and after a hasty death is buried under unpaid bills and unsold copies. Our function is to exist. Exist we must and will. There is time to repent and reform afterward."

College humor is dealt a blow in his article. The jokes of a college humor magazine are justified because of the class of humor to which they cater.

"College humor is not high class. The reading public we cater to will laugh at a crude pun when a beautiful poem will be passed unnoticed. A beautiful satire would be lost or a subtle irony unappreciated in a college publication."

"Editors are not more degenerate in mind than average college people. They do not print what borders on the crude because they get pleasure in doing it. The point of the matter is that the publication must be sold."

Plan Short Course in Journalism For Country Editors

A short course in journalism for country newspaper editors may be held here if plans now under consideration are carried out. Prof. W. G. Bleyer, of the Course in Journalism, discussed the proposed course at the convention of the Wisconsin Press association in the Hotel Pfister, Milwaukee, last Saturday.

The plan, which was welcomed by the editors of the state, has been placed in the hands of the association directors for further development. The length of the course and the time at which it is to be held have not yet been settled.

That one country weekly newspaper is printed for every four persons in the state, excluding the districts served by local daily papers, was a point brought out by Prof. E. M. Johnson in his speech on the "Results of a Survey of the Country Weeklies of Wisconsin." Prof. G. M. Hyde was also present at the convention.

BONUS BILL TO BE INTRODUCED IN HOUSE TODAY

Harding Not Opposed to Certificate Plan, Says Fordney

WASHINGTON — The soldiers' bonus bill will be introduced in the house late today and formally reported tomorrow, Chairman Fordney announced this noon after session of the majority members of the ways and means committee. A second session will be held later in the day for final completion of details of the measure.

Chairman Fordney said that at that time the majority would pass on the suggested provision for adjusted service pay to the immediate relatives of men who have died since discharge from the service or might die before the legislation came into force.

Democrats on the ways and means committee will be called in tomorrow to vote on the bill before Mr. Fordney presents the committee report to the house. Meantime the chairman probably will discuss the new bonus plan with Pres. Harding.

Men's Discussional Groups Organized

27 Fraternities and 37 Groups Are Represented Weekly

Men's discussion group throughout the university are beginning to take shape. Last Tuesday evening 47 leaders met with Mr. Wallace in the coaching class where the subject for the following week was discussed.

To date 27 fraternities are co-operating, and there are still several to hear from. The chapters are adapting the material to their own needs and are working it out to suit their own conditions. Besides the fraternities there are 37 groups in rooming houses, making 64 groups in all.

'Citizenship and the Problem of International Life' will be the topic for discussion in the coaching class tonight. There will be half an hour given over to coaching by Mr. Wallace and 15 minutes for discussion and the asking of questions. It is hoped that many men will take advantage of the opportunity and join one of these groups.

Ignore Damage Claim For Injury On Road

The highway commission today was advised to ignore a claim for $6,000 made by Calumet county against the division highway engineer of that district for damages against the county collected by men injured while riding on its roads. J. E. Messerschmidt, assistant attorney general, held that the commission should ignore the notice from the county, and that the county could not withhold payment of the $6,000 from the company who was building the road.

FLABBY MORALS UNDERMINE THE COLLEGE CAMPUS

National Y. M. C. A. Meet Deplores Lack of Christian Spirit

Leo H. Kohl '22 has just returned from New York city where he represented the colleges of the central region in a national student conference, held under the auspices of the International Y. M. C. A. committee.

The aim of the conference was to study campus problems in the various colleges in the United States and to seek to remedy some of the bad after effects of the war. The conference also considered how the students of America can minimize future wars by encouraging the students of the orient and especially Europe in their struggle for liberty.

Dr. T. J. Kose of Prague University of Europe in their struggle for peace and expressed to the American students appreciation of the help which the Student Friendship fund had rendered. "The students of Europe will be ruling Europe in the near future, and on behalf of the European students I want to extend our deep appreciation of your kindness. If Europe is to be made safe for democracy, you students of America must help. Our students can not come to you to tell you of conditions because of the exchange rate. I hope that some of you students can come to Europe," said Dr. Kose.

Students Go to Europe
As a result of the conference, about forty American students from all parts of the United States will sail for Europe on June 27 to spend the summer months at the university centers of central Europe.

Reports from leading students in colleges from coast to coast echoed the fact that our colleges and universities are at low tide, morally, spiritually, and socially. "Our spiritual life is sick," said a California student well known in forensic circles. Many of our fraternities and sororities who before the war were leading the school in high standards, today are at the other end of the line. "The greatest need in our colleges today," he continued, "is individual men and women who have high Christian ideals and who have the moral courage to stand out for their convictions."

Athletics Are Weak
Several football men reported that in their college the old time objective had been lost. The coach and students were so anxious to win that professionalism has crowded out the college sport side of the game. One man from the central region frankly admitted that he knew of individuals who had "outside income."

Over-organization is blocking progress in many college campuses. Whenever three individuals have an interest in common they feel it their duty to "organize a new club." The result of this over-organization is endless committee meetings. Instead of the student having time to do some personal reading, he is pre-occupied with committee meetings and group gatherings which often supply little amusement or enlightenment.

Dishonesty Prevalent
Dishonesty, low journalistic standards, drinking, and flabby moral tone were reported on a great many college campuses. "Let us bury the past and plan for the future," said Mr. Rice from Colorado University. The mere fact that many of our colleges are having "house cleaning," the fact that students themselves are beginning to see the need is a helpful sign. "Unless we students in America set our face like flint to the task, unless we prove to the faculty and the public that we are able to control our own institutions, we admit our inability to lead."

"The conference as a whole was a success because it registered the American campus today. "The next year will see some big forward strides because the American student has shown real leadership in years gone by and it is my personal conviction that he will rise up to meet the need at this critical time," said Mr. Kohl.

KAPPA SIGMA DEFEATS BETA BY BIG SCORE

Loose Playing Features
Easy 37 to 18
Win

The Kappa Sigs copped off first place in inter-fraternity basketball last night by defeating the Betas by the lop-sided score of 37 to 18. The Betas placed second.

In spite of the unexpected defeat which the Betas gave the D. U.'s last week, they failed to come anywhere near beating the Kappa Sigs, who, by this decided victory, proved themselves to be the best team put on the floor by any fraternity this year. The game started out with the Kappa Sigs in the lead, and at no time was the outcome in doubt, except for a moment when the score stood at 8 to 6 in favor of the Kappa Sigs. The Kappa Sigs jumped ahead again, and the first half ended 16 to 6, with the Kappa Sigs on the big end of the score. By the end of the second period, the score had mounted up to 37 to 18, the Kappa Sigs making more than double the points gained by the Betas. The Betas, besides being generally outplayed, had unusually bad luck in shooting baskets.

Morrison's Star

"Bill" and "Babe" Morrison, as usual featured the Kappa Sig playing. "Bill," at forward, scored seven field goals, more than any other man on either team. "Babe" was shifted out of his regular post at guard for a while, and while playing forward, rang up four baskets. "Babe" played equally well as forward and at guard, and if he could not get close enough to the basket himself, he could usually manage to pass the ball to his brother or to "Hank" Meyers. Meyers played pivot, and proved an asset for his floor work, as well as for his accurate eye in shooting free throws. He scored five field goals and three free throws. Miller, who alternated with "Babe" Morrison at forward, made one basket, and also helped much to get the ball down near to the Kappa Sigs' goal, where it remained most of the time. Below played his customary good game at guard, and did some creditable dribbling, but had poor luck in shooting, for every time he took a shot he missed the basket. Polaski, who substituted for Miller for part of the game, played a fast game as running guard.

Of the Beta men, Pollock scored the most points, making three baskets and three free throws. Fitzgerald was not playing up to his usual standard last night, as he only scored three free throws, and no field goals. Liberman and Gill played fairly well at guard, but found it impossible to prevent the Kappa Sig combination from scoring against them. Leberman managed to get the ball up the floor for a basket during the first half. Nolte, the center, scored the other two field goals which his team made.

The lineup of the two teams were as follows:

Kappa Sigma	Beta	Theta Pi
Miller
W. Morrison	F.	Pollock
C. Morrison	F.	Fitzgerald
Meyers	C.	Nolte
C. Morrison
Polaski	G.	Leberman
Below	G.	Gill

Baskets—Kappa Sig: W. Morrison 7, Meyers 5, C. Morrison 4, Miller 1. Beta: Pollock 3, Nolte 2, Leberman 1.

Free throws—Kappa Sig: Meyers 3. Beta: Pollock 3, Fitzgerald 3. The D. U.'s have to play the Chi Psis to decide the third and fourth places. A definite date has not yet been arranged for this game.

"Pat" Ryan can throw a hammer over 169 feet. That's nothing. "Shrimp" Seamon can throw a glamour over 169 women.

Alpha Sigma Phi is Awarded Honors in Fraternity Bowling

Three Teams Tie For Third Place; To Roll Off
Soon

The Alpha Sigs were awarded first place cup in inter-fraternity bowling, the Phi Sigs getting the second cup. Three teams are tied for third place, and they will have to roll off the tie next week to see who will get the third, fourth, and fifth place cups. These three teams are the Alpha Chi Sigs, Kappa Sigs, and Tekes.

The first place cup is a traveling cup, which may be kept by any fraternity that takes first place for three years out of seven. This is the third year that the Alpha Sigs have had the cup, so they are now entitled to keep it. The cup for the highest individual average was awarded to Kalley of the Phi Sigs.

The men who made up the various fraternity teams are as follows: Alpha Sig: Hance, Meyer, Porter, Sanderson, and Hickey. Phi Sig: Dauksys, Hoffman, Kalley, Rudiger, and Knutson. Teke: Smith, Rathert, Bethke, Sperl, and Rosa. Kappa Sig: Smith, Miller, Cornelius, Wiley and Scott. Alpha Chi Sig: MacQueen, Griem, Schmidt, Gerhardt, and Hoppert.

The following men had an average of over 165 in the finals: Knutson, Phi Sig, 175.5; Smith, Alpha Chi Sig, 170.7; Hickey, Alpha Sig, 170.1; Emanuel, Theta Xi, 168.7; French, Theta Delt, 168.1; Miller, Kappa Sig, 166.9; Rose, Teke, 165.3; Griem, Alpha Chi Sig, 165.0.

The standings of the eight teams which competed in the finals are as follows:

Team	Won	Lost
Alpha Sigma Phi	17	4
Phi Sigma Kappa	13	8
Alpha Chi Sigma	11	10
Kappa Sigma	11	10
Tau Kappa Epsilon	11	10
Theta Xi	10	11
Theta Delt	6	15
Delta Upsilon	5	16

Varsity Grapplers Meet Ames Squad

For their hardest battle of the season, Coach George Hitchcock's varsity wrestling team will leave Thursday for Ames, Iowa, meeting the formidable Iowa state crew, champions of the west for the past four years.

Seven men will take the trip with Coach Hitchcock: Phelps in the 115 pound class, Woelffer, 125 pound; Cattau, 135 pound; Captain Peterman, 145 pound; either Heuer or Kingston in the 175 pound class; Templin, 158 pound; and Kiessling, in the heavy class.

Peterman is Star

Although the Badger grapplers have very little hope of taking the meet, two good bouts are assured when the Wisconsin star, Captain Peterman, goes up against his man in the 145 pound class, and when Templin, the scrappy Badger 158 pounder meets his man. These two men are the mainstays of the Wisconsin team, and Coach Hitchcock will count the meet a success if they show well against their much touted rivals.

True to form, the Ames team has won all of its six meets this season, defeating Nebraska, Indiana, Purdue, West Virginia, Oklahoma, and Northwestern with ease. Coach Mayser's squad two years ago defeated Pennsylvania for the Collegiate championship of the country, and although the Easterners beat the Iowans in the finals by eight points, the Ames team is going strong for another championship in the sport. Any sort of a showing against this all star team will be a credit to Wisconsin.

Badgers Meet Gopher Gym Team Saturday

The Wisconsin gymnastic team will meet Minnesota in its second dual meet of the season at Minneapolis on Saturday. Badger chances for a win against the Gophers increased considerably after the creditable showing made against Chicago two days ago.

EIGHT RECORDS SET AT ILLINOIS RELAY CARNIVAL

Merrick Ties With Landowski at New Height of 12.9 3/4

With eight new records set, the one made by Merrick of Wisconsin and Landowski of Michigan in the pole vault being a new national inter-collegiate mark, the Illinois relays were a great success. Although the Wisconsin team were few in number and not many events were entered by the Badger squad, the work of Coach Jones' cinder squad was highly satisfactory.

Dale Merrick's work in the pole vault was the sensation of the meet. Battling against the Michigan star, Landowski, the Badger aviator fought the bar up to 12 feet 9 3/4 inches, where the two men tied for a new national inter-collegiate record. The old record of 12 feet 8 inches was held by a former Badger athlete.

Relay Team Good

The two mile relay team did fast work in taking a third place in that event. The Pennsylvania team which won the race broke the Illinois record in the exceptional time of 8 minutes 1 second, an average of 2:0 1-5 per man. The Wisconsin team of Rossmessel, Ramsay, Johnson and Wade kept well to the front throughout the run and took an easy third.

Stolley placed for Wisconsin in the low hurdles, coming a close third to the Illinois streak, Sam Wallace, and the Minnesota star, Anderson. Knollin, although going good, had an off day and failed to place in events which won in times slower than the Badger captain is capable of doing.

Sundt Disqualified

Sundt was disqualified in the trials for the broad jump by the close mark of 1-8 of an inch, after having easily negotiated jumps of better than 22 feet several times. Johnson picked a formidable opponent for the heats in the 300 yard dash in Wilson of Iowa, and although he dashed away to a good lead in the trial, he stumbled at the finish and was disqualified from the finals which Wilson won easily.

The one mile relay, which set a new carnival record for the distance, was one of the surprises of the meet. The local quarter milers ran a good race but were totally eclipsed by the Iowa aggregation of Wilson, Keppler, Brookins, and Morrow, who set the new mark. Illinois and Chicago crowded into second and third places.

With the showing of strength which the Hawkeyes made at the Urbana meet, the dual contest with them at Madison this Saturday promises to be a stiff contest for Coach Jones' squad. Mark Wall, star miler, is still in the infirmary, and will probably be unable to take part in any of the indoor meets the remainder of the season. Coach Bresnahan, formerly of Wisconsin, will attempt to show the talent he has developed in his new position to his old teachers, and the meet will be a victory for Wisconsin whichever way the score turns.

Wisconsin's 34 to 20 victory over Minnesota last Saturday night put the Badgers in a position where they have an excellent chance to finish up the season in second place in the conference. Michigan's narrow win from the Hawkeyes, however, makes it look as if the place would be shared by Wisconsin, Illinois and the Wolverines.

There is still plenty of opportunity for upsets to occur. Northwestern may beat Mather's five; Illinois may drop to Purdue; and Norgren's Midway aggregation may spring a surprise on the Badgers.

The Cardinal quintet appears to have hit a typical Meanwell pace in the past two games. Caesar and his team mates encountered no such difficulty in penetrating the defense which Doctor Cooke built as they did when the two teams met here six weeks ago, and at the same time the locals confined their opponents solely to long shots. Had the Badgers been able to score a basket or two more in a couple of games, and had Purdue had a schedule of average length, there is little question but that the percentage column would read differently than it now does.

Badgers Should Beat Chicago

If the Langdon street artists can keep up the pace for another week, two wins should be registered over Chicago. The Maroons have played an erratic game this season, however, and have probably aired themselves of all their poor basketball by this time. They have played unbeatable ball against Illinois on two occasions, and Meanwell's men know that they must play a good game to win from a team which was able to twice win from the Suckers. By virtue of the defeat at the hands of Wisconsin, Minnesota was forced down to seventh place in the percentage column. The Gophers may drop even further down before this week's games are over. The northerners started out the season by winning five straight games, but the team broke and has been unable to cop a single tilt since Indiana trimmed them at Minneapolis.

The Maroon's victory at Urbana was one of the biggest upsets of the year, especially since Chicago had dropped a game to Ohio State a few days previously. Captain Carney put up a wonderful exhibition and one of the best scraps of his career in trying to win his last game. The score was a tie when the final whistle sounded, and the Maroons made the only points gained during the overtime period.

Purple Improve

Northwestern made a heroic effort to end the season out of the cellar, but the Suckers managed to win in an extra five minutes of play after the score had ended in a tie. The Purple played Michigan last night in the final game of their schedule.

Michigan, Indiana, Northwestern, Minnesota, Ohio State, and Iowa have now completed their 1922 schedules, while Illinois and Purdue finish up tonight. The eyes of the entire conference will be centered on the Wisconsin-Chicago games this week, as the results will have a bearing on the final ratings of practically every team.

Student ticket sale for the Wisconsin-Chicago basketball game to be played here Wednesday night will begin at 1 this afternoon and will last until 6 o'clock. Open sale will be held during the same hours on Wednesday.

Health Board Plan Being Made Political Football, Rev. Hunt Charges; Hits Bossism Policy

Every Christian Should Be a Politician, He Says in Sermon; Should Guard Against Selfish Control and Corruption

Rev. George E. Hunt gave the third in his series of sermons on the Kingdom of Heaven on Earth, last night at Christ church, his theme being the Relationship Between the Kingdom of Heaven and Politics.

He said in part:

"The program of Jesus for a better world begins with the individual by recreating him, making him a clean man, an unselfish man and a truly social being, living by the Golden Rule. This kingdom reaches out to touch and change all the relations of men to each other.

"There are three divine institutions among men, the family, the state, and the church, all founded of God for the blessing of men. The family is the basal unit. For the family man enters the economic order that he may provide decently for his home and loved ones. The whole economic order is instituted and maintained for that reason. Likewise, men organize themselves into the political order called government. Government is not an end in itself—simply a means to an end—that end the protection, and proper service of the family and the social organism growing out of the family.

"Now the christian above all others believes in the governmental order and sustains it. It is of God, and is an instrument for service. The christian is ever zealous to sustain pure and good government. Christianity is the great mother of democracy. Her democratic methods are the models of modern governments. The christian church is today the greatest bulwark against the enemies of democracy. Socialism and all the communistic schemes bear witness to this by their bitter hatred of the church and the christian order. Every christian should be a politician. Not a professional politician, but a politician by practice,—jealously guarding every instrument of government from corruption and selfish control.

"In our local politics there has been for years a conflict to control our city government by several elements. During the days of the reign of the saloon, that interest did for long control our city government. The desire of the Catholics to control the city council has existed for years. They are perfectly honest in their belief that the pope and the priest should control temporal government and secure for the faithful members of that church the best offices, and the school share of taxation money. Just now the steady opposition to a broad and intelligent plan of educational expansion comes from the Catholics, who naturally are opposed to free schools, which cost them taxation when they have to maintain their parochial schools, thus being doubly taxed. They have always been opposed to free public schools, and where they can't control they steadily work into the council, into the school board and into the teaching force just as many of their members as possible.

"Always waiting, always pressing, always watchful they represent essentially, though conscientiously, a selfish element trying to control politics for themselves. The great issue this spring is the election of a sufficiently broad and intelligent council to sustain the school board in a plan for educational expansion so sadly needed among us. The erection of new health machinery has been hampered at every step by selfish men of narrow vision, who desired to make the health service a political football. The christian believes in public service for wholly unselfish ends. He refuses to be bossed by selfish professional politicians—and he persistently opposes professional politics all along the line. Politics for the public service politics as an avocation of every citizen, and the vocation of none is the ideal before the christian."

ACTIVE WORK FOR RELIEF OF RUSSIA BEGINS

Societies Aid in Benefit Performances; Churches Respond

The work of the Russian Famine Relief, under section of the American committee of that name, began in Madison and throughout the state of Wisconsin Monday, March 6, and will continue until Monday, March 13.

A number of societies in Madison are giving benefit performances, the profits of which will go to the aid of the committee. Last Sunday many churches in town gave their collections to the Russian Famine Relief work and next Sunday those churches which have not yet done this will turn over their offerings to the committee. The theaters have been asked to give one per cent of their receipts for one day to the relief.

No Paid Solicitors

No paid solicitors have been sent out by the committee, according to W. H. Tresler, who is in charge of the work here.

"We wish to keep our overhead expenses as low as possible," said Tresler, "so we have decided to put no paid workers into the field. In most communities, however, the citizens have organized themselves and are carrying on voluntary soliciting.

"Although no definite quota has been stipulated, we expect to receive an average of about ten cents per capita. Such a reckoning would mean that the state of Wisconsin would contribute about $250,000.
