"WS" AWARDED IN TWO SPORTS

18 Track and 12 Baseball

Men Given Letters by Athletic Board

"W" awards were made to 12 baseball and 18 track men by the athletic board upon recommendation of coaches T. E. Jones, and M. A. Kent, at a meeting Tuesday night. Provision was also made for giving "aWa" letters to five of the cinder athletes and two baseball players.

A. L. Ward was awarded a senior manager's baseball letter, and C. F. Siefert was appointed varsity manager for the 1921 season with H. J. Spielman as junior assistant. The track manager's letter goes to Raymond Wurllitzer who will be succeeded by Earl Hirscheimer, next year.

By vote of the board, Chase Donaldson and Linton Cox, seniors who have been on the varsity track teams during their entire university careers, but who, through misfortune have not won their letter, were awarded the "W" in track.

Class numerals and college insignia are to be received by men who have been on winning teams in intra-mural competition in rowing, cross country, tennis, and gymnastics, and to members of the varsity freshman baseball squad. Richard Harris of the varsity gym team was awarded a "gWt" for points won in the inter-collegiate gym meet at Illinois. The question of sweater awards in minor sports and "W" awards in tennis was discussed but action deferred to the next meeting.

The awards follow:

Baseball "W"—C. F. Caesar, Allen C. Davey, W. A. Emanuel, E. G. Farrington, P. H. Falk, A. C. Elliott, Carson F. Lyman, A. H. Miller, S. E. Ogle, W. P. Snow, George E. Willigrod, A. G. Zulfer. "aWa"—Elmer Doyle, G. H. Gifford.

Track "W"—A. I. Andrews, W. Brothers, G. W. Crump, Willard Dayton, R. D. Edwards, Otto Endres, Paul Kayser, Carl Kelsey, A. J. Knollin, W. Maleckar, Dale Merrick, Clyde Nash, M. Mecartney, Wayne Ramsay, Allen Spafford, R. Spetz, Guy Sundt, M. H. Wall. "aWa"—D. A. Anderson, William Post, George Stolley, L. Wilder, B. Mobley.

The intra-mural awards:

Baseball, jersey with numerals—Reudiger, Layman, Williams, Pickford, Emanuel, Keyes, Piggott, Halverson, Paddock, Richter, H. Christenson, Vanderhoff, Conrad, Shields. Numerals only—Scaife, Stoll, A. Christenson, Morrissey, Schulz.

NEW "W" MEN TO ENTERTAIN OLD

Members of the "W" club, who have earned their letters for the first time this year, will entertain the old members of the club and the newly elected members of the Freshman Athletic association at a banquet in the city Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock this evening. All men who have not been personally notified of the event are asked to call A. W. Frogner, Badger 193, before noon today and arrange for a place at the banquet.

SENIOR PLAY TO BE FOLLOWED BY PIPE CEREMONY

Traditional Commencement Custom Will be Brought Back to Pre-war Place

The Pipe of Peace ceremony, one of the important functions of the Commencement week, will be held on the lower campus Monday evening, June 21, immediately after the Senior play. Leonard Erickson will be the senior orator and the junior response will be given by Clyde B. Emery.

The Pipe of Peace ceremony is one of the most symbolic and historically interesting customs of the Commencement week. The committee this year will make an effort to place this service in the place that it formerly occupied in the traditions of the university. During the past two years there has been little attention paid to this ceremony, but the committee feels that this year is the critical time to reinstate this peculiarly fitting part of the history of the state and the university.

The ceremony is the revival of a very old custom of the early Wisconsin Indian tribes and represents the presentation of the calumet or great pipe and the dancing and singing of the calumet chant. This honor was the greatest that could be conferred upon a stranger by the ancient Indian tribes and the service was a solemn and dignified function. Some of the spirit of the ancient tribes will be incorporated

Octopus Editor Ready to Leave as Last Number Appears

Well, boys and girls, Bob Herz has handed in his thesis, and is sitting on his trunk at the station by this time.

And for why? Because this First Annual Last Number of the Octopus, which brightens weary minds today, is the snappiest yet. The censor's scissors demoralized an editorial and several jokes, but there is an awful kick left, and Bob isn't taking any chances at being run out of town.

A three-colored vampire by Fred Sperry adorns the cover, and you know what that means in the way of art. And if it is left in, the frontispiece is one of his masterpieces too, in fact one of the most masterpieces of them all.

The jokes will keep you laughing all summer, the editors insist, although, personally, we never could make one last more than two months at the longest. But, then, we have their honest-to-goodness word that this is an extremely unusual number.

And besides, nine people's numbers will be lucky numbers! Gaze hard at the little number on your Octopus, for if it is the right one, you will maybe get five dollars in your favorite kind of money. Shining coppers—500 of them—a mixture of silver and nickel, or plain gold, are the choices offered to the two winning the $5. If you are not one of these, you are even luckier, according to the editors, for the five others get free subscriptions to the Octopus for next year.

The numbers will be drawn by Julia Hanks this noon in front of the Lincoln statue, and the lucky numbers will be published in Friday's Cardinal. Keep your eyes open then, and you will find out "Who gets the lucky number?"

2,000 BADGERS DISPOSED OF ON FIRST DAY

Second Consignment, Lost in Transit, Expected to Arrive This Morning

At the rate of 20 books a minute, the Badger staff handed out 2,000 year-books yesterday morning, and in a few hours every available copy was delivered into the hands of the receivers.

There is no cause for worry for those owning coupons as the remainder of the books are expected either tonight or tomorrow morning, and all persons holding coupons will be given preference when distribution again takes place. The Badger staff requests that all persons with coupons co-operate with the staff and watch the bulletin boards tomorrow as to the time of distribution, and be at the place appointed at the time distribution begins.

In this way, and in no other way, can the staff fulfill its obligations to those holding coupons. Ample time will be given to coupon holders to obtain their copies of the year-book before the sale will begin, and with a little co-operation on the part of the student body all applicants will obtain their copies of the Badger.

The delay in delivery is not due to any negligence on the part of the Badger staff. If the student body realized how hard all the members of the circulation staff are working, and the lack of co-operation of the railways in getting the books to this city, they would not blame the staff.

All day yesterday Frank Kuehl, circulation manager, was burning up the wires between Madison and Chicago in an effort to locate the freight car containing the year-books, and the car should arrive in Madison this morning.

If the books arrive this morning, distribution will begin at 2 p. m. today and all receipt holders are urgently requested to be on deck promptly. If the books do not arrive today, and acting upon the cer-

DISTRIBUTION OF "WHO'S WHO" TO BE MADE FRIDAY

The long deferred distribution of "Who's Who" will commence Friday morning at Music hall.

"The 'Who's Who's' will positively be given out Friday morning," stated Lawrence Murphy. "We know it, because we've got them."

This publication is put out by White Spades, and is the only university Who's Who ever put out. It contains a record of all prominent alumni for the last five years, faculty members, and prominent students now in the university.

LAST CARDINAL PUBLISHED FRIDAY MORNING

The last issue of The Daily Cardinal for the year 1912-20 will be published Friday morning, June 11.

OFFICIAL NOTICE TO BONUS STUDENTS
In the Bulletin Board column, page 4

TO THE TROUBADORS
Tonight I take my law books down,
And wear a deep reflective frown,
For on the morn I must fill full
A blue book with assorted bull.

(Twang, twang! Ping! Ping!
Shi-hine on, sweet Ve-ne-tian mo-o-o-n!)

Ahem, ahum! Now let me see;
A conveys real estate to B—(Ro-hose of Wa-hash-ington Squa-a-are—Kerplunkety, plunk!)

Remainders over unto Y, In case with issue he shall die—

(We'll build a lit-tul nest,
A-way out in the West—)

The purchase money being paid,
X then—Confound that serenade!—

(Keep your eye on the girlie
you love—
Ka tunk! ping, pang! to-roo-loo!)

X then—no Y, or wait—Oh,
Damn!
I'll never pass that cursed exam!

ALL we've seen today was people sitting around on their front steps reading the Badger. And you could generally tell by their expression whether they were in it or not.

PAUL Claffin and Fritz Manson asked us to say something nice about the Satire Editor, their hearts being too full for utterance. We might remark that he is so low down in the human scale that it would take a special dispensation of Providence to raise him to the level of utter degradation. And yet he has a brother who is a paragon of every virtue. Heredity, as Darwin said, is a queer thing.

IN our opinion it takes an im-becilic mind to pen such a verse as that one entitled "A Revery," and which ran

"Hazel, Hezel, Du bist ein esel,"

and that confirms us in our judgment of its author. Just read that thing over. We ask you, is there any sense in it? Has it a lofty purpose? Does it mean anything?
No—a thousand times no!

WE note that the Psi U's still persistently refuse to run their picture in the Badger. And yet the Dekes did. Well—

AND speaking of pictures, the last thing we saw in the court was Gladys Wang hotly pursued by a crowd of infuriated Gamma Phis, who were shouting "Treason!" and other feminine oaths.

THE sample page from the "Lit" was characterized, we thought, by unprecedented modesty. It must have been written by the office boy.

WONDER if it was worth $4.50 to sit on the Music hall steps for 36 hours? Of course, in the evenings, there might have been considerable scenery to see.

Fascinating Facts

Harriet Scofield carried a picture of Chuck Culbertson up to class the other day.

Gordy Fairfield and Dody Seton had a date together last week.

Freddy Genrich attended the last class in Conveyancing.

Phil Robinson lives in Green Bay.
So does Bill Duncan.

E. Aylesworth Ross has a new white tie.

Doug Simpson can talk Italian.
Ralph Horton is still mad.

THERE was a beautiful potted plant—sort of violet-colored—in the Alpha Phi window across the way, and it gave us a great deal of inspiration, but the mean things have taken it away.

SPEAKING of the Alpha Phis reminds us of the vaccination party they had there some time ago; and that reminds us of the world's oldest story. It was at a dinner party, and the Young Thing had been telling the young man about her recent vaccination. He looked at her —she was in evening dress—and asked "Why, where were you vaccinated?" And she replied sweetly,
"In Philadelphia."

IF you don't like that one, here's another—
Her—"Don't you like the way I dress?"
Him—"Dunno, I never saw you."

WE notes with interest that Cy Phillips has abandoned that egregious Fierce Sparrow he was driving, and gone back to the modest flivver, thus making himself solid once again with the hoi polloi. The Amalgamated Order of Fjord Drivers, Pansy Hammond, Prex, welcomes him back to the fold.

WELL, the hour glass has nearly run out, and the time has almost arrived for us to murmur a tearful farewell to Asahel; and a bon nuit to the Students' Life and Interests Committee; and send a billet doux to Dean Nardin, and give our creditors a mortgage, and fold our tents like the Arabs—if you take any stock in that question; we think they sleep on the ground—and silently steal away.

AND therefore, being a mossbacked old fossil around these parts, and consequently entitled to be humored in our whims, we have written our final swan-song, and here it is:

We said that we looked forward to the day

When we should put our musty books away;

It's nearly here.

And while we linger at the portico,

Somehow, we're not so very keen to go.

Another year

The lake will still lie furrowed
in the breeze,

And other couples walk beneath the trees

As they have done before,
Up on the Hill, Old Abe with patient eye

Will sit and smile and watch the crowds go by,

Just as of yore,
But we shall wander up and down the Hill
No more.
And so at length we slowly
write "Amen"

On the last sheet, and lay aside our pen
With just the faintest sigh;
Now God be with us till we meet again,
Old School—Good-bye!
THIRD FLOOR BACK.

WILCOX SAYS AMERICA WON'T HAVE BOLSHEVISM

Says Remedy for Political Evils is Diet, Rest, Fresh Air and Exercise

"We will not have bolshevism in this country," said Senator Roy P. Wilcox in an address on the American Idea of Government before university students at the engineering auditorium Wednesday evening. "We can get any kind of government we want by the use of the ballot."

"Strange to say, I have seen men peddling political peruna to cure the ills of the body polite in this country," he said, after commenting on the disappearance of the old medicine fakir with his cure-all. "Here we are, staggering along under a great debt, our nerves shattered by the emotional crises of the war, and the only remedy is the same old remedy, diet, rest, fresh air and exercise. We've got to quit spending money like a bunch of drunken sailors. We've got to go to work, save, get our feet on the ground again."

He traced the institutions of government from the Mayflower pact to the founding of the constitution of the United States in 1787.

"The American idea is unique in government," he said. "The United States is the only nation in the world whose government was founded to preserve the inalienable rights of the individual, life liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Limitations were placed on the majority to preserve these fundamental principles. The constitution is to government what conscience is to the individual. It was not intended as a code of laws but as a charter of liberties."

"There are two things needed in a democracy: participation by the citizens, and a trained, intelligent, educated conscience."

Lieut. R. H. Krell, president of the Wilcox club, in introducing the senator, spoke of his work in favor of the soldiers' bonus bills in the legislature and before the supreme court.

S. G. A. EXCHANGE TO OPEN TODAY

The S. G. A. book exchange will be open today and Friday from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m., in the P. E. P. building, under the auditorium. Saturday it will be open from 9:00 to 12:00 a. m.

"Go down the chicken-walk to the back door and you'll see the sign," is the advice of Marie Bodden. "We are going to buy any kind of books at a fairly good price."

The exchange will also be open all during exam week. People who have books which they are not going to use any more will help themselves as well as the S. G. A. by bringing them there.

S. G. A. rules will be in force during summer session. The S. G. A. fall party will be held the first Monday after school begins.

COMMUNICATIONS

STUDENTS

Wausau, Wis.

To the Editor of The Cardinal:

The fine spirit shown by our university boys in the recent Jandorf tragedy is keenly appreciated by all friends of our University, and this has been splendidly presented by your paper. As one of the old students of the university rather than none who represents the university at this time, I am proud of Wisconsin.

I fully appreciate the entire transaction and regret it most sincerely. It is only fair to say the manliness of our students cannot be too highly praised.

G. D. JONES.

COMMENDS STAFF'S WORK

To the Editor of The Cardinal:

As university censor of undergraduate publications I should like unreservedly to commend the staff of this year's Cardinal for the general sanity and competence it has shown. I have never before during my five years as censor felt called upon to make any such unqualified statement. It seems to me that the four major departments of the paper—the news sections, the skyrockets, the editorials, and the communications—have been handled with admirable judgment, ability, and good taste. And this I believe to be true in the fact of the great temptations that any reconstruction year must offer. We have been an inverted pyramid getting straight, and any process of upheaval is more likely to produce gesticulating advocates than judges. I believe you have instinctively realized that people who talk in italics are menaces to the commonwealth, and that, in identifying yourselves with such a conception, you have run true to the principles of decent journalism. You may publish this if you care to.

THE NEW STAFF

A POINTMENTS to next year's Cardinal staff are announced this morning. They come as recognition for service in Wisconsin's most essential activity.

The Daily Cardinal is brought out each morning by a few student workers willing to make sacrifices that the university may keep informed of its activities. This means hard work at all times of the day and night, frequently when pleasures call.

To The Cardinal worker the university might well extend its appreciation. Criticism is easy to make, and The Cardinal, like other activities, has faults that can be criticised; but for the staff worker nothing but praise is deserved.

During 28 years certain students have spent time and effort on The Cardinal. The last issue of the thirtieth volume will be published Friday, June 11. Those students who next year take up the work will add another volume to its history. The Cardinal will go steadily ahead under their guidance, keeping alive old policies and traditions and the spirit of Wisconsin.

* * *

ONE JUNIOR HONORARY

BECAUSE of the mistaken impression that many students are likely to receive, the Cardinal believes it its duty to point out an error in the list of honorary societies in the organizations section of The 1921 Badger. On page 450 the Klu Klux Klan society is named "Honorary Junior Society." No doubt this society is junior and it may be honorary; but to call it an honorary junior society is to imply that all men in the junior class are eligible to membership, which is not the case.

Any student acquainted with the situation knows that only one society on the campus elects from all men in the junior class—White Spades. The membership of the Klu Klux Klan society is restricted to a portion of the fraternity men of the class.

In justice to the one junior honorary society on the campus, White Spades, The Cardinal believes an error of this nature should be corrected before the impression given by it becomes widespread.

AN OUTSIDE VIEW

THE fact that the recent campus shooting has aroused widespread interest is further emphasized in the editorial columns of one of the state's largest dailies, The Wisconsin News. The specific quotations noted below are taken from a recent issue and call attention to several vital factors well worth the time necessary to read them:

"Every sensible, right-hearted person knows that, rejoices in the glory of youth and accepts its occasional annoyance with philosophic tolerance.

"Of course, vandalism and other serious infractions must be properly dealt with. But the sensible person also knows that when such things threaten, tactful handling—an appeal to the honor and fairness of young manhood—will get results, where force, or show of force, will only aggravate.

"That is why the police department should select men of judgment and understanding for the university beat, or, lacking those, keep from meddling in student demonstrations unless called upon.

"Parents of Wisconsin look to the university authorities, to the authorities of the City of Madison, for convincing assurance that the police gun will hereafter remain in its holster wherever students are involved.

"They look for assurance of a new police policy in the college quarter.

"The young life snuffed out for protesting against a piece of police stupidity can never be made good to his suffering parents, to his university, to his country.

"But the horror of that deed may at least serve to save some other student from a similar fate."

THE STATUE ON THE MARNE

WHAT may be the last appeal to student generosity this year ranks as one of the most noteworthy. A movement has been placed on foot to commemorate the first Battle of the Marne with a statue comparable in size and significance to our own statue of Liberty. Comparable in significance because it is to be the gift, not of a few philanthropists, but rather of the whole people.

It is reasonable to assume that the question of raising enough money in this manner will not be a serious obstacle. Everyone will want to contribute, the point at issue now simply being, do we want Wisconsin to get credit for having done its share? No personal solicitation is to be made. Students who realize the value of such a move in bringing France and America closer together will fill the contribution boxes to the brim, without request.

The value of placing a statue, given by the people of the United States, on the spot where the French made the herculean effort which saved the world is inestimable. In the hustle which accompanies the close of school we are likely to unintentionally forget to make our contributions. Make yours today.

FACULTY TO SHARPEN EYES EXAM WEEK

Closer Supervision Comes as Result of Student Petition

On petition of the heads of various student organizations, the faculty has decided to tighten up on the supervision of students during examinations. The text of the faculty resolution follows:

"The faculty acknowledges with sympathy the petition of the students on the subject of dishonesty; it welcomes the co-operation of the students in this matter, which can be successfully dealt with only by such co-operation; and it will undertake to put into execution the suggestions made in said petition insofar as conditions make it possible."

The petition of the students comes as a result of the fact that "cheating in examinations is much more prevalent this year than ever before," and because "it is felt that this condition is greatly influenced by the present loosely conducted manner of supervision during examinations, which leads to the feeling among students that if it is possible to cheat and succeed therein the student is justified in so doing."

For these reasons the petition asks that examinations be conducted under a more strict system so as to remove as far as possible the conditions which make cheating easy.

The suggestions made to the faculty are that there be one proctor for every 30 students; that students be seated at intervals of one seat; that any student detected cheating be refused the privilege of continuing to write the examination and that his case be immediately reported to the discipline committee; that after the examination any suspected cases of cheating be reported to the discipline committee; and that all convictions by the discipline committee be published, without names, in The Daily Cardinal so that students may know the type of punishment imposed on those convicted of dishonesty.

Some professors have asked the vote of students on whether they want the proctor or the honor system in their examinations; and in some cases it has been decided to hold the examinations under the honor system.

BADGERS DISPOSED OF NUMBER 2,000

tainty that they will arrive in time for distribution tomorrow, the year-books will be sold Friday morning without fail.

Yesterday morning Music hall was converted into a busy banking establishment. Eight cashiers were at work taking in money as fast as nimble fingers could grab it from those desirous of possessing the year-book. It was all that one man could do to keep the cashiers supplied with change, completely draining the Bursar's office of half-dollars and quarters. A suitcase full of paper money was carried away from Music hall, which gives one some idea of the amount of business done from 7:30 to 10:30 a. m.

Phi Psi fraternity, with its representative, William Bunge, wide awake and holding down the top step, obtained the first book free. Student Ross, another member of Phi Psi, also obtained a free Badger as he was the second and only other man to stick to his post.

Wisconsin Literary Magazine Out of College Class, Says Max Otto

By PROF. M. C. OTTO
(Of the Philosophy Department)

I have never heard an acceptable definition of sentimentalism and yet I fear that I am sentimental about the Lit. For example, if the last number of the Lit, which has just appeared, were no good at all, I'd undoubtedly still buy it and probably still praise it: buy it to complete my files and praise it because of my admiration for what the Lit people are trying to do—namely, toward redeeming higher education from the factory ideal. Therefore when I say that this last number serves as a fine climax to the excellent record this volume has succeeded in maintaining, my remark may need qualification.

But I don't think so. From cover to cover—editorial, verse, story—the magazine appears to me of a grade quite out of the college class. I have especially in mind the discriminatory sympathetic study of that rare person, Randolph Bourne;

a realistic tale, "The Timetable of Destiny," by Taylor Merrill, and a strong sketch "The Purification of Chink Allee," by Elmer Kruse. I am impressed by their sense of reality, their sureness of literary touch, and their human appeal. We did pretty well in the "old days," but these children go us one better. And I am quite satisfied that the college magazines are running little verse comparable in content, form, and poetic imagery to John Culman's "Downdilly."

If I don't go on to mention the other stories and verse, it is for lack of room. Frances Dummer's sonnet, "Recall," Horace Gregory's song "The Lady of the Dawn," and Mary Bickel's pleasant conceit, "Delilah," all ring true and show good craftsmanship. Thus one might go on. Go buy a copy of the Lit, read it, and send it back to the village. Some day you will be proud to have recognized greatness in embryo.

into the affair Monday night and the committee is anxious that all of the spectators who attend may understand the background of the service.

The ceremony is particularly fitting at commencement time because it is symbolic of the friendship and brotherhood which the graduating class extends to the incoming senior class.

Particular care is being taken to secure the proper setting and costumes for the people who participate. Both men and women will appear in costume in the presentation of the pageant. There will be Indian dancing, a bon-fire, chanting, and the typical Indian tom-toms, besides the speech of presentation and the acceptance, delivered by two first-rate orators.

The ceremony will take place on the lower campus and the lateness of the hour will add a picturesque and impressive atmosphere. This is the closing ceremony of the first day and will be followed in order by the other functions which have become traditional in the university.

3 BARRELS OF RUM FOR ACRES OF STATE LAND

And Back in 1828 No One Ever Heard of Dry Question

GREEN BAY — Among the relics of the register of deeds office of this city is a deed written in French by Robert Irwin, Jr., Nov. 13, 1828. The deed was filed by Monsieur Dominique Du Charme of Brown county, territory of Michigan, and records the sale of several thousand acres of land, purchased from three Indians for the grand sum of three barrels of rum and one barrel of tobacco.

The Indians, unable to write, fixed their signatures in the form of animals and birds. One, Le ThaBanon, used a turtle for his signature, and another, Wachitte, signed with the picture of a bird. The deed was witnessed by I. Harrison and Lambert MacAley. The deed is well preserved and is a sight for curious visitors at the register of deeds office.

ELEVEN KILLED IN TRAIN CRASH

Passenger and Express Special Collide in New York

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.— At least eleven were killed and 21 injured, some fatally, when an east-bound American Express special crashed into the rear of an accommodation passenger train on the New York Central west of here early today. A two-year-old baby is one of the victims.

Most of the deaths occurred in the rear car of the passenger train—a Pullman—in which 12 persons were asleep. It was split to pieces.

According to the flagman sent out in the rear of the passenger train which was forced to stop on account of a broken water pipe, the oncoming express train was properly signalled by him but failed to stop.

HOTTER JUNE 9 THAN LAST YEAR

Heat prostrations apparently are not reportable among the ills that beset mankind, as no record of them is kept by the city board of health, which gets out vital statistics for the city.

With the approach of summer and the hot wave that is sweeping the city, how to keep cool is becoming a problem for Madison people. The temperature at 1:30 this afternoon rose to 83 degrees fahrenheit, and the weather man declared that it would reach at least 86 degrees by 4 o'clock. Last year's maximum temperature on June 9 was 78. The hottest day last year was July 26, when the thermometer mounted to 95.

No heat prostrations have been reported this year and as far as is known, no deaths from heat occurred last year.

DRYS HEARD IN G. O. P. COUNCIL

Pure Patriotism and Good Politics to Enforce Prohibition, Plea

CHICAGO — Prohibition crept into the hearing when Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, and four other drys urged the committee to take a firm stand for enforcement of the dry laws under the Volstead act. Wheeler said that the Democratic party would be compelled to take a similar stand.

"It is pure patriotism and good politics to stand fearlessly for the honest and effective enforcement of the 18th. amendment," he said amid ringing cheers.

When Wheeler finished Committeeman Richards of Washington leaped to his feet and insisted that he be heard in opposition, but he sat down again when he was advised he would be heard in executive session. Joseph Oberfell of Cincinnati urged a modification of the present dry laws.

Others who spoke at the morning session included Jane Addams for the Women's International League for permanent peace; Lucy Branham, Dr. Robert Lovett and Miss Grace Abbott for the lifting of the Russian trade embargo and John Kelly and James Eads How, for the enfranchisement of itinerant labor.

PSYCHOLOGY IS ESSENTIAL SAYS MISS A. MARLATT

Speaker at Mothers' Congress Also Urges Study of Logic

"One course that every college girl should take is a fundamental course in psychology. She should also have a course in logic and a very definite one in citizenship," said Miss Abby L. Marlatt, director of the course in home economics, in a talk on "College Training for Home Life," Tuesday evening at the last session of the National Congress of Mothers, held at the capitol.

"Not more than one-third of a college girl's education should consist of technical courses in home making, one-third, at least should be scientific courses to give her a clear, logical mind, and a knowledge of the human race, and the other one-third should be elective studies to give her a well-rounded life.

"The college girl who expects to help in social welfare, with her knowledge of psychology, of economics, and her knowledge of the right foods needed to make and keep people healthy, can make her opinion count. This knowledge she can fit in to all the needs of her home life.

"In the business and political world today, a woman must learn rapid methods of thinking and acting. These same characteristics are needed in the home. A certain fundamental knowledge of food and food preparation is necessary. One doesn't have to go back to the days when all the clothing and food was made in the home. What is necessary, is a knowledge of relative values, in order to know whether it is more economical to buy things, or whether it is less wasteful to buy the materials and prepare the things in the home.

"Training for home making is training for living in the world, and the best training is that which gives a knowledge of how to care for children so as to bring them up physically fit, mentally sane, and morally courageous."

Most of the men, however, were too tired to take the test and will take it today. In the 10-mile walk the men went over the five mile cross country course twice.

Following is the list of men who have competed in the various events run off on the out-door track: Gillen, Scott, McClure, McKinnon, Stolley, Donaldson, Mills, Mecartney, Koch, Gibson, A. ## CHIMES FUND STILL $800 BELOW MARK

The Chimes fund is increasing slowly, but steadily, though the figure is still behind what it should normally be with the end of the year approaching. The amount now is in the near vicinity of $1,200.

James Lindsay, chairman of the committee in charge of collecting the $2,000 makes the following comment on the situation: "Other classes on a war-time enrollment basis have managed to complete their quotas, but this class seems to be a bit behind. We're hoping that every senior will consider it his duty to make his contribution before his graduation."
