Assembly Considered To Represent Faculty

By MARSHA CUTTING
Night Editor

A faculty assembly to represent all units of the University was proposed at the faculty meeting Monday.

The question "Is there a University of Wisconsin or are there six autonomous universities?" is the major issue involved in creating such an assembly, according to Prof. David Fellman, political science, chairman of the codification committee.

Fellman said recently that if there is to be one university, there should be a unified faculty.

The motion was introduced and discussed, but voting was postponed until the February faculty meeting.

Faculty from all six units of the University units (Madison, Milwaukee, Extension Division, the Center System, and the Green Bay and Parkside campuses).

A faculty assembly would provide greater flexibility, and give all segments of the faculty a stronger and more effective voice on all matters. Prof. James Villeneuve, civil engineering, chairman of the University committee, said Monday.

It would act on all matters involving more than one campus, including tenure rules, the relationship among departments and divisions in different parts of the university, and admission rules, particularly those concerning non-residents.

At present there are four separate faculties which act only on matters affecting themselves directly.

Technically, all-University faculty meetings are sometimes called, but they are always held in Madison, and it is often difficult for faculty from other units to attend.

"We've never had an all-University faculty meeting that could be called one," Prof. Richard Hartshorne, geography, said.

Even Madison campus faculty meetings usually have less than a 10 per cent turnout. "This is really a self-selected senate," Fellman said.

Representation on the assembly will be determined by the size of each faculty. All University faculty members would be able to attend and speak at meetings, but only assembly members could offer motions and vote.

In a recent interview, Robert L. Clodius called the assembly "a logical step in the development of the university over the last 10 years."

He commented that "the time will soon come when there are more students outside of Madison than in."

The proposal was hastened, Clodius suggested, by a feeling "that maybe UW-M hasn't been dealt with in the best possible way."

"The growth of UW-M has brought the question (of an assembly) into being. Most people from UW-M won't come to a town meeting type of affair," Clodius said.

The Codification hopes to get the faculty assembly in operation by the end of this semester, and ready for work in September of 1967.

Armory Site Up For Clubbing

By MELISSA EVANS
Cardinal Staff Writer

The faculty voted Monday to ask the Board of Regents for a new building between the Union and the Wisconsin Center with faculty dining and meeting facilities at the top.

Faculty members also asked for changes in University regulations to allow such facilities to serve liquor "at suitable times and under decorous conditions." The resolution noted, "The faculty does not feel it is appropriate to delay this action to permit decision whether the beer consumed by students on University property shall be raised from 3.2 per cent to 4.0 per cent."

Plans for a faculty club on top of the undergraduate library to be built at 600 N. Park St., had been considered earlier. The faculty dining and social facilities planning committee reported, however, that to revise present plans for the Park St. building would "involve delays and costs that might jeopardize important parts of the University building program."

The proposed site is now occupied by the armory.

The club would be financed by deducting up to .25 per cent of faculty members' salaries. Membership in the club is voluntary for present faculty members, but required for all new members.

This was the only major point which was debated at the meeting, but committee chairman Prof. James S. Earley, economics, said that the required membership provision was necessary to insure sufficient financial support of the club.

The club's proposed liquor policy states:

* Alcoholic beverages will not be served to undergraduates or anyone under 21 years of age,

* There will be no stand-up bar,

* Alcoholic beverages will be served only at tables, except at dances and receptions, and

* Only beer or ale will be served before 4:30 p.m.

An informal vote taken at the December meeting of the Board of Regents indicated unanimous support for the policy. Revision of the liquor rules, however, will involve a lengthy process, including faculty approval and a public hearing.

Calendar Shifts Up One Week

School will start a week later than it has in the past in four out of every seven years.

The faculty approved Monday a report of the Calendar committee recommending that instruction in the first semester begin on Monday between September 15 and 21, instead of during the present range of September 11 to 17.

The faculty also voted to make the two-day pre-final examination study break a permanent feature of the academic calendar.

The change in starting dates will also extend the "lame duck" period between Christmas vacation and final exams by as much as a week.

It was noted at the meeting that the later starting date will allow faculty to attend professional meetings held during the first part of September.

The between-semester break will shift to between January 28 and February 2, another time when professional meetings are scheduled.

The change will also delay commencement by approximately four days.

Smith Predicts Need For More 'U' Housing

By DOLLY KATZ
SLIC Reporter

The University will need another 8,000 housing spaces within the next ten years if it is to maintain its residential character, director of student housing, Newell Smith, told the Student Life Interests (SLIC) subcommittee on living conditions and hygiene.

At present, Smith said, 74 per cent of the study body live within walking distance (one mile) of the campus. However, this ratio will not be maintained unless the required new living spaces are added.

The state building commission and its subcommittee concerned with University building, headed by Sen. Jerris Leonard (R-Bayside), have already turned down University requests for six million dollars in residence building funds. The commission, Smith said, considers such building the domain of private industry.

However, he said, private industry "is going to find it difficult to put in 2 to 3,000 more spaces at best." He added that student living costs have "gone up appreciably" because of private housing.

The additional 5,000 necessary spaces could be provided by the University at a cost of about $25 million, Smith said. This housing would be for graduate students and upperclassmen. "I don't think there is, at this point, enough need to warrant building any more room and board accommodations," he added.

At present, Smith said, 7 to 8,000 students do not live within walking distance of the campus. There is room for more students in the Monona area, which is presently 15 per cent empty, he added, but said that "it would be difficult for that number of students to go out there and transport themselves back to the campus. The pinch on parking can only get worse," he warned.

"I think the University simply is going to have to build some housing. I don't think we are going to be able to meet the need if we don't," he concluded.

WHA-TV Goes National Today

By PAT McCALL
Assistant Night Editor

The University television station, WHA, will present National Educational Television's (NET) first nation-wide live broadcast today when President Lyndon Johnson delivers his "State of the Union" message.

NET's national debut will also be seen on WMVS in Milwaukee and 73 other educational stations in the country.

"State of the Union—1967" begins at 8 p.m. and includes the speech, an in-depth analysis, historical commentary, an assessment of the current mood of the new Congress and coverage of the Republican press conference. The speech will begin at 8:30 p.m.

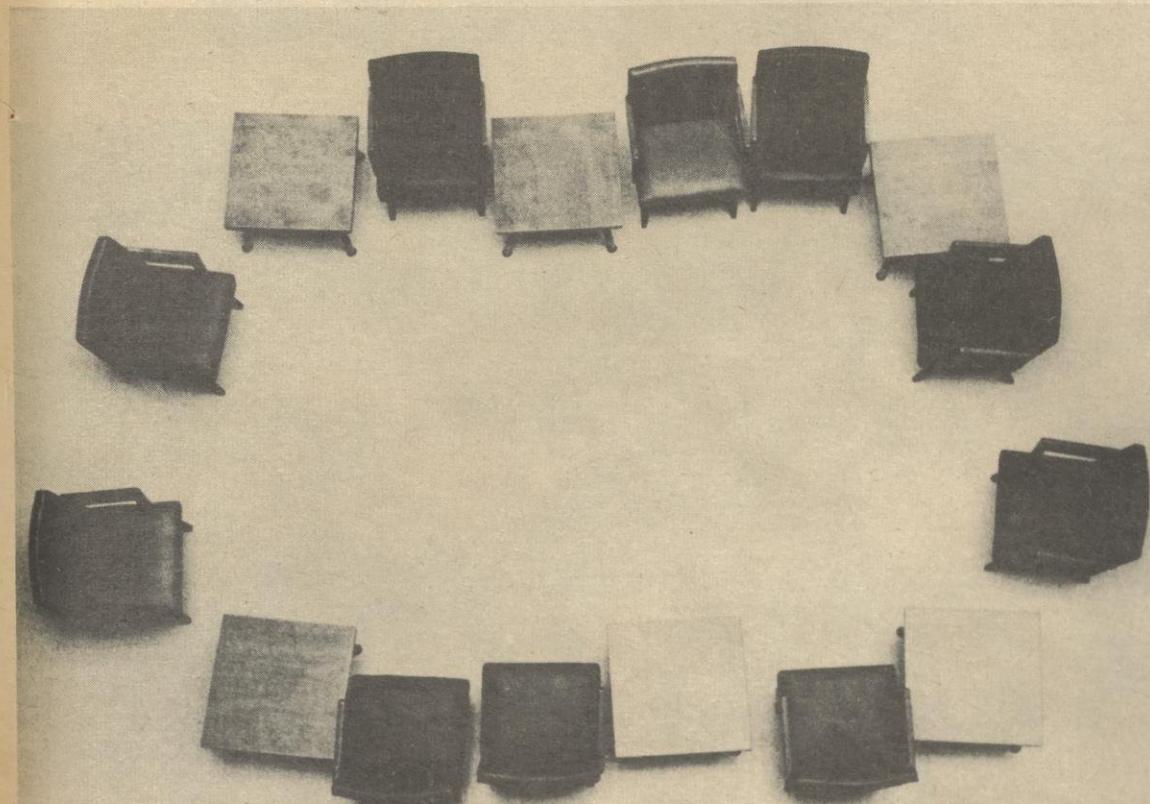

John White, NET president, said that the program shows "the unique contribution which non-commercial broadcasting can make toward public understanding of a major event."

Featured in the broadcast are James Reston, associate editor

'U' Student To Perform Own Musical Revue, Wed.

Juggling final exams and show business is the current concern of six University students who will open their musical revue, "On Stage Tonight," on Wednesday.

Members of the group include Lori Edland, Susan Anderson, Jim Wonker, and Lynn Seibel. Paul Breske is the pianist and Jack Barnett the drummer. The group will appear Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in 10:30 p.m. performances at the Hoffman House East and at 10 p.m. Saturday at Hoffman House West.

The format of the revue, including Broadway and popular selections, comedy routines, blackouts and monologues, was conceived by "group cooperation and imagination," according to Seibel, the production manager. Musical arrangements are done by Breske and Winker is the choreographer.

"On Stage Tonight" follows a long list of credits for each of the performers. Miss Edland appeared last weekend as Cecchina in the Opera Workshop production of "The Good Girl" and also was seen in the Workshop's productions of "The Marriage of Figaro" and "The Beggar's Opera." She also held the female lead, Kathy, in the Wisconsin Players' production of "The Student Prince."

Miss Anderson began her musical career in high school as a member of "The Voyageurs," a folksinging group which performed throughout the state in 1962 and 1963. For the past year and a half, she has been a member of "The Jon Farris Trio." The group has toured the state and Indiana, Illinois and Michigan, and last spring won first prize in the Midwest Folk Festival judged by Randy Sparks of the New Christy Minstrels.

Major roles with the Wisconsin Players are included among Seibel's credits. Seen as Herbie in "Gypsy," Happy in "Death of a Salesman," and Detleff in "The Student Prince," he also appeared in and directed productions at Wisconsin State University, Oshkosh, while an undergraduate.

Winker's past experience includes work with the annual campus variety show, "Humorology" for which he has written two group skits. Winker divides his interest in show business with art and has his first painting exhibition last October at the Uplands Studio in Spring Green.

A graduate assistant in the University's Extension Music Department, Breske has worked as pianist and musical director with the Racine Theatre Guild and Haresfoot. He composed the music for the award winning film in the 1964 Jesse Lasky Intercollegiate Film competition and has had two carillon works performed at the Young Composers' Symposium at the University of Kansas.

Barnett has been active in musical groups since high school when he organized a number of bands. He has played with Madison's Symphony Orchestra and Municipal Band and also with university music groups. He also has worked as percussionist for productions of the Madison Theatre Guild, the Civic Opera, Wisconsin Players and Opera Workshop.

All of the revue performers have been active with the Wisconsin Idea Theatre, holding major roles in that group's productions of "The Fantasticks," "Badger Ballads," "Once Upon a Mattress," "Hodag," "Ice Cream Seven Times a Day" and "Poor Richard." Miss Edland and Seibel were members of the Wisconsin Idea Theatre troupe which made the USO State Department tour in the fall of 1965.

New Campuses Fail To Obtain Extra Finance

Failure of the University to get support for more money for its two new campuses in Green Bay and Kenosha has shed a doubtful light on the futures of the proposed branches.

A meeting of University officials with the university affairs subcommittee of the state building commission failed to increase the $8.9 million sum the building commission has approved for the campuses.

According to Charles A. Engman, Jr. vice president for administration, the university would need at least $13,432,000 in the 1967-69 biennium just to build a library-classroom building at each of the two sights.

He added that he did not see now both campuses could open in 1969 with that much money.

State Sen. Jerris Leonard (R-Bayside), subcommittee chairman, said it would be difficult to get legislative support for even the 8.9 million dollars for buildings to handle the expected 548 students.

He directed the state bureau of engineering to study the possibility of building the library classroom building at each campus.

He also suggested starting construction now with the $8.9 million, finishing in the next biennium, and opening the campuses in 1970.

Leonard also commented that the university could attempt to get the additional money from the joint finance committee.

The building commission's appropriation was based on a figure of 130 square feet per student.

Engman, however, said it was wrong to base new campus buildings on square feet per student because a new campus needed certain buildings just to get started.

He also commented that it would be difficult to recruit faculty and attract students without adequate buildings.

State Engineers To Study at 'U'

Wisconsin engineers planning to study in the Articulated Instructional Media (AIM) winter-spring semester program of the University College of Engineering's mechanical engineering department have an opportunity to choose from six courses of study.

Registration will be held at the Mechanical Engineering building on the campus from 9 to 12 noon on Jan. 28.

Seven mechanical engineering faculty members will be teaching the courses which are Analysis of Metal Cutting and Forming by Prof. Marvin F. DeVries, Advanced Kinematics of Machinery by Prof. Donald F. Livermore, Instruments and Experimentation by Profs. John G. Bollinger and Shien-Ming

Wu, Heat Transfer by Prof. William A. Beckman, Gas Turbines and Jet Propulsion by Prof. William J. Feiereisen, and Advanced Heat Transfer II, Convection, by Prof. John W. Mitchell.

The AIM program was inaugurated by the University in 1964 to provide graduate courses of study in mechanical engineering to qualified students throughout the state.

"The program is set up so that engineers can complete the course work at their homes and only come to the campus to take examinations with the regular classes," Prof. Sell said.

Periodically during the semester each student receives text reading assignments, supplementary notes, and problem assignments. Sample solutions for selected problems of each type are usually provided so that students can check their work. The instructor also travels to various localities periodically to review material with a group of students from that area."

Fellowship Competition Grows Stiffer

(CPS)—Competition for graduate fellowships continues to grow stiffer, as an all-time record of 13,695 candidates were nominated for highly-coveted Woodrow Wilson Fellowships this year.

"The number of nominations is astonishing," Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation Director Hans Rosenhaupt said. "It means that there are eight candidates for every Woodrow Wilson Fellowship that can be offered."

Since 1958, the number of bachelor's degrees awarded in this country has risen 54.6 per cent, but Fellowship nominations have increased by an "amazing" 142 per cent, Rosenhaupt said.

The Foundation director attributed the phenomenal rise in nominations to the growing interest in graduate study, the desire of college seniors to win highly-competitive awards, and the teaching profession's interest in "self-renewal."

College Students To Earn $141,000

(CPS)—An average college graduate will earn $141,000 more than a high school graduate throughout his career, according to the Institute of Life Insurance, (ILI).

Estimating the four-year cost of a private men's college at $2,261, ILI has found that investment in a bachelor's degree will earn a $132,000 profit.

Union To Sell Ballet Tickets

The Royal Winnipeg Ballet has announced the programs for its two performances, Jan. 27 and 28, at the Union Theater under sponsorship of the Theater committee.

A number of works from the company's original repertoire, as well as classic dances, will be presented during the troupe's first campus appearance.

The Union box office this week is accepting mail orders from students and tickets will go on sale at the box office Sunday.

Jan. 27 the company will perform "Aimez Vous Bach?", by company choreographer Brian Macdonald to music by Bach; "The Still Point," by the American choreographer Todd Bolender, to music by Debussy; the "Peasant" pas de deux from "Giselle"; the pas de deux from "Corsaire"; and "Les Whoops-de-Doo," to music by Don Gillies and dedicated by choreographer Macdonald to the "mis-alliance of classical ballet and the Western myth."

On Jan. 28, the program includes the festive third act from the classic ballet, "Napoli," "Out of Lesbos," danced by company ballet master James Clouser.

'U' States Policy On TA's Tuition

(Editor's Note—This is the official University policy statement on teaching assistant tuition fee payment deferral.)

Tuesday, January 10, 1967

"All Teaching Assistants will be able to defer payment of their fees until they receive their March pay checks. Every TA will be eligible for this deferral regardless of when he receives his appointment. The fees will be deducted automatically from the March pay check of those who request the deferral. TA's wishing to have their fees deferred must go to the Bursar's Office at the Administration Building when they register. Lists of TA's who have already been appointed for second semester are on file at the Bursar's Office, and those TA's will have their fee cards stamped to indicate that their fee payment has been deferred. Other TA's, e.g. alternates, will receive a form at the Bursar's Office which they should have filled out by their departmental secretaries and return to the Bursar's Office. This will confirm their appointment and their fee payments will then be deferred."

Prof. Joseph A. Ernst of San Fernando Valley State College,

Northridge, Calif., a 1961 Ph.D. of the University of Wisconsin, has returned to the campus as visiting professor. He is teaching the introductory survey course in American history and the advanced course in the age of the American Revolution and directing graduate students in a research seminar in the American Revolution.

Summer Work Open in Brazil

Applications for the University YMCA's Wisconsin in Brazil Project 1967 are now available at the YMCA, 306 N. Brooks St.

Students interested in working in Brazil during the summer of 1967 may contact the University YMCA at 257-2534. The project is open to all University students.

Students selected will work in the slums of Belo Horizonte, Brazil, under the auspices of the YMCA there. Opportunity for study seminars and travel are included in the project.

The cost of the project is $875, but, according to Don Macalady, chairman of the Steering Committee for Brazil Projects, "no student will be denied the opportunity to participate due to lack of funds."

The Wisconsin group will leave from Miami in June, stopping in Belem, Recife, Salvador, and Rio de Janeiro before arriving at Belo Horizonte for the work and study. Trips to Brasilia and Sao Paulo are also planned.

The final phase of the project includes approximately ten days in Peru or Bolivia, Macalady said.

Students selected will be required to have at least one semester of Portuguese and to participate in an extensive training program during the second semester.

Jobs of The Week

If you are interested in a part-time job for second semester or a full-time position for the summer, the Student Employment Section of the Office of Student Financial Aids is open to assist you.

The office is located at 310 North Murray and will be open regular hours, 8:30 to 11:45 and 1 to 4 p.m., during semester break.

Students looking for employment for second semester should make an appointment to see an employment counselor as soon as they have completed their finals and most important—know what their class schedule will be.

Summer Job booklets containing information on summer employment in the United States and abroad are now ready for all interested students. Your fee card will be required to check out the booklets. A tip sheet with suggestions to aid you in looking for summer employment in Madison and elsewhere is also available.

If you are interested in immediate employment, the following jobs need to be filled now.

Data Manipulator: University department needs one student to operate calculator. Must be good in math. $1.25 to 1.50, 20 hours per week.

Elementary Assistant: Junior, senior, or graduate needed for filing, typing, assisting with research. Good grades. Two hours per day, $1.50.

Chemical assistant: One senior or graduate student needed at least 15 hours per week in a campus department. Two years of chemistry required. $1.50.

HISTORIAN SPEAKS

Prof. Alfred H. Kelly of Wayne State University, one of the country's leading constitutional historians, gave a lecture on "The Supreme Court and History: A Philosophical Analysis" under the auspices of the department of history.

Pastor Joins Lutheran Campus Ministry Staff

The Rev. Jerry H. Miller of Columbus, Ohio, will become senior Lutheran pastor at the Lutheran Campus Ministry.

Pastor Miller will be leading a staff ministry in serving the large Lutheran student and faculty representation. Others on the staff are the Rev. Myron Teske and Mrs. Warren Anderson. Close coordination with Lutheran congregations in Madison is a vital aspect of this campus ministry program.

The Lutherans also are engaged with the United Church of Christ and the Eastern Orthodox Church in the Cooperative Campus Ministry at the University, an approach designed to provide certain cooperative efforts in facilities and outreach.

The installation service for Pastor Miller will be held on Feb. 12, with the Rev. William Larson of Minneapolis American Lutheran Church.

For the past five years, Pastor Miller has been the Director of Christian Education for the Ohio Synod of the Lutheran Church in America. He presently is a member of the Commission on Youth Activities of the Lutheran Church in America.

Students Needed To Work in South

On a request from people in Amite County, Miss., the National Student Association Tutorial Assistance Center is looking for four people who are interested in doing tutorial work with high school students in Amite County during second semester.

These 20 students are the first Negroes to attend what had been the white high school in Amite County, a school that was desegregated after a long civil rights struggle.

The Negro students need particular help with math, English, science and history work, so we would like to find one specialist in each of these fields. The tutors will not be engaging in direct civil rights work, they will be serving solely as teachers, working with the students in night sessions in the various communities of Amite County and staying with local families.

If you would be interested in this type of work, please contact Karen Hafstad, Wisconsin Student Association Human Relations Committee, at 836-4201.

REV. JERRY H. MILLER

'It Was a Great Win for Us'

to us in the Big Ten."

Purdue threatened to run away with the game right at the start. The Boilermakers raced off to an 8-0 lead, but the Badgers came back later in the period with 12 straight points and took a 22-19 lead with 8:58 left.

Jimmy Johnson's second straight last second shot put Wisconsin ahead, 38-37, at the half.

The Badgers opened up a 5 point lead early in the second half, but Purdue kept coming back. The lead changed hands 12 times in the game, six in the last six minutes.

Purdue had a commanding 5 point lead with 2:30 remaining, but Chuck Nagle sank a fade away jump shot to cut the lead to 74-71 with 2:02 left.

Purdue's high scoring Henry Ebershoff was called on an offensive foul and Jim McCallum popped in a 20 footer. Brady threw a bad pass upcourt and the Badgers gained control, setting the stage for the technical and Nagle's and McCallum's free throws.

Erickson got good performances from his bench. The Badger mentor cited McCallum, Jimmy Johnson and Robb Johnson as playing key roles in the win.

McCallum came off the bench early in the first period, and wound up as the game's second high scorer with 23 points. The Terre Haute junior was 8-14 from the floor and sank 7 straight free throws before missing one in the closing seconds.

Nagle was the game's high scorer with 24 points, and was followed by McCallum and Joe Franklin, with 14.

Jimmy Johnson poured in 12 points and Robb Johnson pulled down some important rebounds for the Badgers.

Skaters Unveil The 'New Look'

By MIKE GOLDMAN

Associate Sports Editor

Spectators saw the "new look" of Wisconsin hockey Friday and Saturday nights in the series against St. Mary's College.

The Badgers had no trouble winning both games, 11-2 Friday and 8-3 Saturday. However, what impressed many was Wisconsin's definite improvement in skating and passing.

"I think the reason for it was partially due to the eastern trip we took over vacation," said Wisconsin hockey coach Bob Johnson. "We got better over vacation and gained a lot of confidence through playing against the eastern teams. This greatly showed in the St. Mary's series--especially during the first period Friday."

Johnson was referring to Wisconsin's six goals in the first ten-and-a-half minutes of play.

"We shocked them by our passing," said Johnson. "Everything was perfect for us. It's the best we've played all year."

St. Mary's continually had trouble in both games getting the puck out of their own defensive zone. Wisconsin, which currently has a five game winning streak, completely out-hustled the Redmen on the ice.

Even Goalie Gary Johnson almost got himself a point Friday. When a delayed penalty was called against St. Mary's, Johnson skated out of the Wisconsin goal and came up to the St. Mary's blue. He got the puck and then passed it. Several seconds later Wisconsin's Dick Keeley scored.

"I thought he should have had an assist," Coach Johnson said. "Only the last two men who touch the puck before the goal is made get credit for assists. I thought he was one of those two, but the referee saw it differently."

5 assists Friday

Saturday night Keeley and John Moran had two goals, while Mike Cowan, Mike Riley, Jeff Carlson and Jim Petruzzate had one.

Moran, a defenseman, hadn't scored a goal yet this season. He had three for the two game series.

Carlson, the third line center, drew praise from Johnson. Carlson scored in the first period of the Friday game, but suffered a severe cut later in the same stanza and had to sit out the rest of the contest.

Johnson didn't know Friday night if the junior would be able to skate the next day. However, Carlson came back Saturday and played well even though his injury still bothered him.

The Badgers will be idle until Jan. 21 when they play Lake Forest College in Madison.

Wolves Boast Strength

By LEN SHAPIRO

In a game Wisconsin Coach John Erickson calls "very important to us right now" the Badger cagers take on defending Big Ten Champion Michigan at 7:30 p.m. in the Fieldhouse.

Erickson hopes that the momentum gained from the victory over Purdue Saturday will carry the Badgers to their second straight Big Ten win.

Michigan, without four of last year's starters must come back after a 93-73 drubbing at the hands of powerful Northwestern Saturday at Ann Arbor.

"In our last game with Michigan," Erickson said, "we got behind early and were forced to foul them to catch up." Wisconsin lost to the Wolves, 98-88, in a non-conference game over Christmas recess.

"Michigan is a very strong team physically," the Badger mentor noted, "and they can deceive you with their height."

"We are going to try and keep them under control early in the game," he said, "and burst out ourselves with some quick points."

Craig Dill, a 6-10 center with an 18 point average, leads the Wolverines in the scoring and rebounding statistics. Sophomore Denny Stewart, a 6-6 forward, comes into the game with a 17 point average and is the second leading rebounder.

Bob Sullivan, a Manitowoc native and a high school All-American, will be at the other forward. The 6-4 sophomore is averaging 13 points a game for Michigan.

Jim Pitts, 6-3, will be at one of the guards, while 5-9 Len Maxey, a product of Carver High School in Chicago, Cazzie Russell's alma mater, will be the other half of the backcourt.

Wisconsin will try to snap a six game losing streak against Michigan which goes back to 1963. The Badgers downed the Wolves, 81-78, that year, and haven't won since.

Michigan brings a 6-5 overall record into the Fieldhouse, while the Badgers are 5-6 on the season.

ACHIEVEMENT AND SATISFACTION

Personal satisfaction comes from many sources. One of the greatest is individual achievement.

Working in a field that offers opportunities for developing your own abilities is certainly rewarding. For many men, this has come through a career in life insurance sales and sales management.

We start training college men while they're still students, giving them a chance to earn while they learn.

Our Campus Program numbers among its graduates many men who are currently enjoying successful careers with the Company in sales, supervisory, and management positions.

We welcome the chance to tell you more.

Five Overtakes Purdue, 79-76

A technical foul call against Purdue set the stage for a thrilling 79-76 victory for Wisconsin's young basketball team Saturday at Lafayette.

Brady and Purdue Coach George King protested too vehemently for the likings of the officials, and a technical was slapped on the Boilermakers.

Nagle made two free throws on a bonus situation, Jim McCallum sank the technical shot, and most important, Wisconsin retained possession of the basketball.

Joe Franklin was fouled by Henry Ebershoff with 22 seconds left and the wiry Madison forward made the first free throw but missed the bonus attempt.

Ebershoff zipped down the court to score for Purdue, but Tom Mitchell snuck behind Purdue's press and took a long pass from Jimmy Johnson for an easy lay-up to ice the win for the Badgers.

The victory was particularly satisfying to Wisconsin Coach John Erickson who had been worried about the team after the Marquette loss here last Tuesday.

"This was a great victory for us," he said, "and it meant a lot

Napoli, Italia

Stands For Much More than

Naples, Italy

Napoli is the actual city of tradition, but Naples is the American name merely representing that beautiful city across the sea...

In 1943, a man, from this same Napoli, Italia (not Naples, Italy) opened a restaurant here in Madison. His proud specialty... spaghetti a la' Napoli, not Naples... his name, Lorenzo, not Lawrence.

...since 1943 his menu has grown to include a wide range of tasty meals, priced for the student, and spaghetti still the real source of his neapolitan pride.

Stop in and treat yourself to a generous serving of real Italian Spaghetti, at these lowest prices. Just once, rather than Italian-American spaghetti, try Italian spaghetti.
