ROSS SILENT ON CLAIM HIS BOOK IS INACCURATE

Senator Lodge Upholds State Department's Attitude Toward Soviet Government

Prof. E. A. Ross refused to make any statement last night relative to his charges against the state department contained in the book "The Russian Soviet Republic", or to say anything in reply to those issued from Washington in answer to portions of his book.

One of the most serious assaults made upon the state department by those whom officials term Bolshevik sympathizers is contained in the recently published book by Edward A. Ross, professor of sociology here, according to a Washington dispatch.

"To my fellow Americans who have become weary of being fed lies and propaganda about Russia" reads the dedication of the book.

Charges Family Connections
"The division of Russian affairs in the state department became a nest of anti-Bolsheviks, who, by birth or by marriage, were connected with the expropriated Russian aristocracy," Professor Ross charges in his book, in what is termed an effort to ascribe the attitude of the American government towards Bolshevik Moscow to causes prejudicial to this nation's policy and unfavorable to the soviet regime.

Examination of the official records reveals no foundation for these charges of Professor Ross which he chooses as ground for asserting further that "the state department exhibited a malignancy and hypocrisy respecting soviet Russia which is very unrepresentative of the American people."

Lodge Upholds Actions
The chief of the Russian division of the state department is Evan Erastus Young, a native of Ohio whose wife is an American; and his aides are native-born Americans, none of them having Russian interests. His assistants are: Alfred W. Kliefoth, a native of Wisconsin, who served two years in the American embassy at Petrograd, entered the United States army in 1917, and returned to the diplomatic service in 1920. His wife was a Russian, this fact seemingly being the sole reason for the wholesale charges of Professor Ross.

S. P. Tuck was born in New York and entered the consular service in 1913. He is a bachelor.

Peter Kumler, who is also a bachelor and a native American, served in the United States army during the world war, then went into Russia with Colonel Haskell in 1921

Seven Big Boilers Breathing Easier At Heating Plant

Over in the heating plant on University avenue, seven giant boilers are breathing easier.

While Jack Frost was tightening his grip on Madison last week, they increased their consumption of coal. Thursday heat from 120 tons of coal was sent to the different buildings. Friday saw them warming up to their work of eating 135 tons. The amount used Saturday was 140 tons.

In addition to the seven boilers used, two others of equal capacity were held ready for service. The break in the cold spell, however, made their use unnecessary.

Two new boilers which are being installed will not be ready for service until March or April. They will be of a greater capacity than the older boilers, although they occupy about the same space. They will be needed next year when the new hospital is finished. Some heat is being sent there now to aid the builders in finishing the inside work.

DEAN SAYS BOARD MAY BUILD SLIDE

Concrete Toboggan Slide May Be Constructed Next Spring, Declares Goodnight

That a concrete toboggan slide will take the place of the present worn-out wooden slide was the hope expressed yesterday by Dean S. H. Goodnight.

No action has been taken up to this time by the Athletic council, but the plan has been talked of at its meetings and received much favor. Should the necessary funds for the slide be voted, work could not begin until next spring, as the cold weather would hamper the work of putting in the concrete.

If the new toboggan slide is built it will most probably be where the old slide is now, on Observatory Hill.

"I am much in favor of such a slide," said Dean Goodnight. "The amount of outdoor exercise and fun which it will give the students will greatly outweigh the small cost of erecting the concrete slide."

SHE'S DONE THE BEST—WILL SHE PROSPER?

She has taken dad's necktie and robbed brother of his hat. Cufflinks have vanished; cigarettes have followed suit. The lumber-jack shirt is hers; by now, the gauntlets, sweater too. Knickers are acquired and everything that's new.

She smokes; she swears; and swaggers with a cane. She has bobbed her hair, then shingled it again.

She's gone so far; will she give you a ring—in 1924?

Foreign Flashes

PEKING, Jan. 7—Surrounded by Tibetan bandit hordes, in the city of Batang, ten Americans are in imminent danger of starvation. Savage Tibetans surrounded the walled city of Batang, looting and burning all surrounding towns.

MOSCOW, Jan. 7—A new gold backed money in units of 3 and 5 roubles will be issued shortly to the amount of $10,000,000.

ATHENS, Jan. 7—Madame Mustapha Kemal, wife of the president of the Turkish republic was wounded by a bomb thrown at her husband. The president was not injured.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—With only a few guards on board, the warship Louisiana is adrift off the Delaware coast. The ship was supposed to have been anchored at a certain point, but when the coast guard cutter Manning arrived there was no sign of the warship.

PROM AIDES PICK PARTNERS AFTER NOLTE LEADS WAY

First Tryouts For Fox Trot Held; To Announce Winner Soon

Following close upon the heels of the announcement of Clifford S. Nolte's selection of his queen for the "Prom of History" comes the announcement of the choices of Nolte's assistant general chairmen.

Carrying out the spirit of "Giving her a Prom date for Christmas" two of the assistant general chairmen made their selections before the holidays and the other two waited for Santa to bring them an inspiration.

Mary Cunningham Partner
Gene Tuhtar has chosen Mary Cunningham '25 as his partner for Prom. Miss Cunningham's home is in Platteville and she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Cunningham. It will be remembered that in 1922 she was voted the prettiest girl in the university. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Robye M. Nichols '25 will be the partner of Henry Smith. Miss Nichols transferred to the university this year and is president of the Southern club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Nichols, Waco, Texas.

Ellis Fulton will escort Betty Brown '25, at the "Prom of History." Miss Brown is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond F. Brown, St. Louis, Mo. She was a member of the freshman and sophomore commissions and is now on the junior advisory board of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Brown is a member of the 1925 Badger staff and of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Hear Prom Fox Trots
Josephine Carle '25 will accompany Earl Wheeler to the junior class function. Miss Carle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Carle of Janesville and is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

The first tryouts for the Prom fox trot were held last night in Lathrop hall with marked success, according to Clara Hertzberg, chairman of the fox trot committee. More than a dozen pieces were submitted and the number of possibilities was cut with much difficulty, she said. Announcement of the winning piece will be made within the next few days.

HAREFOOT ASPIRANTS RESUME DANCE WORK

The Haresfoot dancing classes will be continued at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. All the classes have been combined into one, lasting from 4:30 to 5:30 o'clock Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. A class for beginners will be started this afternoon, which offers additional opportunity for men to make the show by way of the chorus, according to Arthur Ardiel '24, director of the classes.

Actors Laugh at Own Lines and Imperil Pre-Prom Play

The Wisconsin Players are up a stump.

As a result there may be no pre-prom play to start out the festivities of the 1925 Prom. It's a sad state of affairs, and the whole difficulty lies with the play; the thing's too funny. In fact, the actors have been having difficulty in getting through the first rehearsals because their funny-bones are tickled so much that they can't get down to the business of practicing.

According to the directors, Roy French, of the school of journalism, and Prof. Gertrude Johnson, of the speech department, it is expected that the players may be able to pull themselves together in time to settle down to serious practice, but up to date they have been having difficulty realizing the seriousness of

Hyde Will Direct Advance Senior Reporting Class

The course in advanced reporting for journalism students of senior standing will be given again during the second semester by Prof. G. M. Hyde of the department of journalism.

Each student in this course will be assigned one day a week to one of the two local papers and will serve in the same capacity as if he or she were in the regular employ of the paper. A special stress will be laid upon the study of news-runs.

The course carries with it two credits.

ONE CLUB URGED IN WINTER SPORTS

Students Asked to Attend Meet Tonight to Form New Organization

A meeting of the Winter Sports club will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Union building. George Martin, grad, urges all students interested in any kind of winter sports to come.

The club is to be organized and officers elected if there is cooperation from the student body, declares George Martin, who is trying to form an amalgamation of all the outdoor sports into one large club.

"The hockey club and the ski club are the only organized sport clubs in the university. They are both small and interested only in themselves. With the help and interest of the students we will be able to organize and combine these clubs more thoroughly and in that way it will be possible to take charge of the ice carnival and the skating races which in the last few years have not been very successful," stated Martin.

"Only three persons turned out for the ski hike Sunday and two of the three were town people, not students. There is too much emphasis on dancing and bridge now days to make out door sports successful," he complained.

Martin expects a large crowd at the meeting tonight. It is open to everyone.

BUSINESS POSITIONS OFFERED ON CARDINAL

Several positions as business assistants on The Cardinal staff are open, according to an announcement made by Walter Plewke '24, business manager, yesterday. Excellent opportunities are offered students who want to get actual business experience while in school. The openings are for short time work. Students interested are to apply at The Cardinal business office, second floor of the Union building, between 2 and 5 o'clock today and tomorrow.

GROUPS REQUEST MEN'S UNION PLAN TO AID ACTIVITIES

Union Board Asked to Take Charge of Zone System and Organization

At the request of various unorganized groups of men on the campus the Union board has worked out tentative plans for the districting and zoning of all men students in the Wisconsin Union for the purpose of fostering greater social and collegiate activity.

Under the workings of such a system these units will be organized to participate in regular social events and in certain competitive athletic and scholastic activities. Approximately 50 men will be included in each district, the zones to be laid out geographically.

Union Board Ready to Start

"If followed out this plan will be the basis for a permanent organization of the Wisconsin Union," a prominent member of the board said yesterday. "It will also give the board a chance to provide entertainment and amusement for the large body of men that we are unable to reach now."

The Union board is ready to begin work on the plan at once. With the aid of cards giving the names and addresses of all men students and a chart of the university residence section, the districts will be marked off and a man appointed to take immediate supervision of that zone.

System Deemed Necessary

Naming the zones for famous alumni has been suggested as a means of fostering rivalry of the right sort. Indian names also have been proposed as an alternative for this plan.

Such a system is deemed necessary to the proper organization of groups to be able to take charge of activities in the Memorial Union building when it is erected, in the opinion of Union board members who expressed pleasure at the suggestions offered. If no such working basis is prepared for the use of the building when it is ready, board members feel that it will be difficult to get students to make the most of the Union.

One or two faculty members have expressed a desire to see such a system perfected but have felt that the movement should come from the students who will be directly affected.

HARVARD PROFESSOR HERE NEXT SEMESTER

Prof. George Grafton Wilson, noted authority on international law, will visit the University of Wisconsin next semester as exchange professor from Harvard. Prof. Kenneth T. Webster of the English department will be at Knox college the first half of the year.

Faculty Committee Penalizes Three For Unfair Work

Three students were penalized and two were reprimanded by the faculty discipline committee of the University of Wisconsin during the last month for dishonesty in scholastic work. The action of the committee was reported at the meeting of the university faculty Monday afternoon.

For plagiarism in themes in English 1a an Agricultural first-year man student was penalized 2 extra credits and placed on probation, and a freshman woman in the School of Music was penalized 5 extra credits and placed on probation.

A Letters and Science freshman who forged a clinical excuse and has since withdrawn must appear before the discipline committee before he can re-enter the university. For signing a fictitious name to a library slip, an Agricultural senior was reprimanded and warned. For quoting too freely in an English 40 theme without proper credit to author.

Y. W. C. A. CONDUCTS FOLLOW-UP DRIVE

Budget For Year Totals $3,560;
$550 Still Needed For Work

A follow-up drive is being conducted this week by Y. W. C. A. in order to raise $550 which will complete the budget for 1924.

"The reason we fell short in our regular drive," Alice Clark '26, chairman of the finance drive explains, "is because so many girls were not reached, and so many have only a small amount promising to give more later."

Y. W. C. A. has a budget that amounts to $3560. Of this $2,000 is for the student secretary and $300 is for the office secretary. To the national organization $500 is given and $250 is required for conference expenses. Committees require $200, printing and postage materials amount to $100, while the contingent is $200.

"A drive is necessary because the organization depends upon the student body for $2000. Y. W. C. A. charges no membership fee and receives no monetary support from the university."

"A great deal of social service and community service work is done by this organization. It has helped to bring noted speakers and such artists as Melba and Schumann-Heink. It is one of the few organizations which helps to establish fellowship among all of the girls."

Assistants to Miss Clark for the campaign are Helen Haswell '24, Elizabeth Richmond, Carolyn Peet '26, Dorothy Strauss '26, Isabelle Winterbotham '25, Lucy East '25, Dorothy Marshall '25 and Elizabeth Harrison '25.

Pens, Gloves, Pins Among Articles Found at Lathrop

A veritable storehouse of fountain pens, gloves and pins of all sizes and varieties are among the lost and found articles that have accumulated in the office of the dean of women in Lathrop hall since the beginning of the semester. Mrs. F. C. Stehm, secretary of the dean, keeps these orphaned articles until they are claimed or until they overflow the cabinet where they are kept. Then they are sorted out and relegated to the furnace or put on auction.

"A gold Shriner's pin, the crescent and sabre set with a diamond, and a small gold filigree pin set with an amethyst are the two most valuable things that have been brought in lately," said Mrs. Stehm yesterday. "I hope the owners will show up soon for it will be a pity to have to dispose of them."

A beautiful crocheted yellow scarf has been awaiting its owner for some time, but although it was advertised it is still unclaimed.

Research Work In Land and Utilities Growing, Says Ely

Dr. Ely, professor of political economy, in the current issue of the Review of Reviews, declares that the organizations of great industries and occupations for education and for fearless scientific research by independent, untrammelled educational institutions such as is being done in the field of real estate, building and loan associations and public utilities is one of the greatest educational movements of modern times.

Dr. Richard T. Ely, who is director of the Institute for Research in Land Economics and Public Utilities commented on the part of the National Association of Real Estate boards in a movement for real estate education.

STONE NAMED BY SEED GROUP AS SECRETARY

Prof. A. L. Stone of the agronomy department was reelected secretary and treasurer of the Association of Seed Analysis of North America at the annual convention which was held in Cincinnati, Ohio, on December 27, 28 and 29. The improvement of the garden seeds of the United States is the main object of the organization.

Memorial Resolution for Prof. Slaughter

A resolution in honor of the late Prof. Moses S. Slaughter, chairman of the department of classics and member of the faculty since 1896, who died in Rome, Italy, on December 29, was adopted by the faculty of the University of Wisconsin at its regular meeting Monday afternoon, January 7. The resolution, which was prepared by Prof. Grant Showerman, is as follows:

"Moses Stephen Slaughter, born at Brooklyn, Ind., Oct. 3, 1860, graduate of De Pauw university, 1883, doctor of philosophy of Johns Hopkins university, 1891, student at Berlin and Munich, 1893-4, professor at Bryn Mawr college, 1887-8, Collegiate institute, Hackensack, New Jersey, 1888-9, and Iowa college, 1889-96, ranking professor of Latin in the University of Wisconsin since 1896, annual professor in the American school of Classical studies in Rome, 1909-10, major in the Italian commission of the American Red Cross service in the district of Venice, 1918-19, died in Rome, where he was on leave of absence accompanied by Mrs. Slaughter, at midnight on December 29, 1923.

"The death of Professor Slaughter removes from the department of classics a conscientious and able leader, from classical studies and letters at large a teacher in whom scholarship and humanity met with rare effect, from the faculty one of its oldest and wisest counsellors, from the church a faithful member, from the community an esteemed citizen and beloved neighbor.

"The faculty of the University of Wisconsin, in regular meeting assembled on January 7, 1924, expresses hereby the sense of its collective and personal loss, and orders the record of its regret placed in the minutes."

12 PROFS ATTEND MEDIC MEETINGS

Dr. Meek Elected Secretary of Physiological Society at St. Louis

Dr. Walter J. Meek of the department of physiology was elected secretary of the American Physiological society which, together with the American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics and the American society of Biological Chemists, met in St. Louis, December 27 to 29.

Albert G. Young, instructor in pharmacology, read a paper on "The Elimination of Tryparsamide in Man," which concerned the drug used by Dr. William F. Lorenz of the Wisconsin Psychiatric institute and Dr. A. S. Loevenhart of the department of pharmacology in the treatment of paresis. C. D. Leake, instructor in physiology, presented a paper, "The Use of Red Bone Marrow and Spleen in Treatment of Anaemia."

Two papers "The Relation of Oxidation of Functional Activity," and "The Synergism between Sodium Cyanide and Minimal Electrical Stimulation of the Vagi on the Respiratory Center," were read by Dr. Loevenhart.

Y. M. C. A. HEADS MEET TO PLAN CONFERENCE

Problems that have arisen since the last meeting previous to the Christmas recess will be discussed when the cabinet of the Y. M. C. A. meets in the Fellowship room of the association building this noon. One of the problems to be taken up will be the plans for the religious conference early in March.

WOMEN TAKE SKATING FOR ATHLETIC CREDIT

Skating as a sport for women is in full glide again this winter. The classes every afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30, under the direction of George Martin, graduate, are already filled, for registration took place some days ago. Only swimmers and bowlers were permitted to make the change and take skating for credit.

Ohio Northern university's new law building will be named after President Harding, who held the degree of Doctor of Laws from that university.

Illinois	0	1	.000
Indiana	0	1	.000

The conference basketball race is on, and it bids fair to furnish some unexpected thrills, if the games played Saturday are a fair sample of what is to come.

The star of Minnesota arose and flamed brightly as the doughty Gophers completely swamped the highly advertised Illinois quintet by a count of 36 to 20. Pesek and Ecklund, each scoring quantities of points, led the Gopher attack and kept their team safely in the lead throughout the game. The Suckers are learning the short pass game and are finding it a difficult task, all of which furnishes an excellent alibi.

Although Wisconsin was expected to defeat Indiana she did it only after a hard, nerve-racking struggle. Mike Nyikos was playing in his best form and kept the count dangerously close all the time, and it required all that Meanwell's squad had to enable them to walk off the floor victorious.

Iowa, supposedly the class of the conference this year, fell before Marquette's fast stepping quintet 21 to 20. The Hawks seemed to rely mainly on their defense and lost the game in the last few minutes of play when the Hilltoppers caged a couple of long shots.

Notre Dame's Irishmen, already beaten by several conference teams, took the long end of a double overtime game from Michigan, 29 to 25. The Wolverine squad is composed almost entirely of veterans, but even the much touted Haggerty was unable to come through at the right time.

The East, itself admitting that it is far superior athletically to anything the Midwest can show, sent its championship team on a Midwest tour this year, and Yale finally vindicated itself by trouncing Northwestern 34 to 13, after previously having been romped all over by Ohio State and Chicago. Perhaps the weather has been the cause of these other defeats, for the Yale quint finally struck its stride and the Purple never had a show.

Purdue lived up to expectations and won from Chicago by a safe margin. The great offensive work of Spradling and Robbins featured the play of the Boilermakers, while Chicago showed its lack of fall training. Both Chicago and Northwestern are unable to start practice until the football season is over, and start the season several weeks in arrears of the other teams.

Series Tickets
Will Be Sold
Again Saturday

Students will be given another opportunity to purchase tickets for the remaining basketball games at the sale that will be held Saturday morning. The sale on Saturday will be limited to students, faculty, and "W" men. All seats remaining after Saturday will be put on sale to the public on Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the gymnasium.

There are still two games in series "A", Illinois, Feb. 16; and Ohio, March 3. Series "B" is still complete with the game against Indiana next Monday night opening the series, followed by Butler, Feb. 12, and Chicago, March 15.

Series "C" also has two more games, Northwestern, March 1, and Chicago, March 15.

Only series tickets will be sold

FACULTY APPROVES
FINAL SCHEDULE

An eight-game football schedule for next fall has been adopted by the University of Wisconsin.

In view of the Intercollegiate Conference regulation which permits the playing of eight games, the university faculty at its regular meeting on Monday approved the proposal of the Athletic council that another minor game be scheduled on the open date in October. The new game added is with Coe college at Madison, on Oct. 11.

The new football schedule for 1924, as approved by the faculty, is as follows:

Sept. 27—North Dakota at Madison.
Oct. 4—Ames at Madison.
Oct. 11—Coe at Madison.
Oct. 18—Minnesota at Madison.
Oct. 25—Michigan at Ann Arbor.
Nov. 1—Open.
Nov. 8—Notre Dame at Madison.
Nov. 15—Iowa at Madison, (Homecoming.)
Nov. 22—Chicago at Chicago.

ATTACK OF BUCK
FEVER HITS CO-EDSExams Throw Teams Into Slough of Despond; Will Recover After Finals

In women's sports, there is prevailing the usual calm before the yet-distant storm of inter-class competition in basketball, baseball, and bowling. The spirit of rivalry that was so intense this fall, however, is not dead but merely sleeping. Few players turned out for the Saturday evening basketball practices, which were characterized by slow and slovenly playing. After final examinations at the beginning of next semester, teams will be picked and inter-class games played sometime in March.

While competition among sport fans and players has been sleeping, it has been active to some extent in the gymnasium classes. These, because of the insufficient number of instructors and majors of the department who act as coaches, have been divided into ten groups or squads, each squad working on one of the ten different pieces of apparatus, headed by a squad leader.

Points are totaled by each individual, each squad, and finally each class. These final points count toward the Gymnasium meet held at the same time as the Normal meet in spring, not toward the all-year championship plate in the field house, since juniors and seniors do not compete.

Squad leaders receive chevrons and also 25 points toward W. A. A. after serving two years. Individuals with the highest number of points receive chevrons.

BLODGETT'S MEN
START WORK FOR
MARQUETTE GAMESquad of 25 Will Work Daily;
Rink is in Poor Condition

About twenty-five men have responded to coach Bob Blodgett's call for hockey candidates and they are getting in some great licks on the rink on lower campus in preparation for the first game of the season with Marquette next Saturday.

The Marquette squad has been practicing for the last two months and Blodgett's men are working feverishly in an attempt to get ready for the Hilltoppers.

The regular squad has not been picked definitely but a few of the men out are almost sure to win a position, according to Blodgett. Art Saari seems to be the logical choice for goal and Harry Moran for left wing. E. E. Johnson will probably be the right wing and A. Harris will hold down the center position. Chester Gross and Henry Otterman are two other promising candidates who are practicing daily.

The late start of the hockey season has prevented the coaches and officials from getting the rink in the best shape and from making all of the necessary arrangements. Preparations are being made to light the rink at night, so that the players can practice then if the ice is too soft during the day. Coach Blodgett is trying to get in touch with the Monona Hockey club to arrange a practice game with that outfit. The match will probably be played this week.

A freshman team will be organized very soon, according to the present plans, and the members may be awarded numerals at the end of the season, if the athletic council can be persuaded to vote them.

A nominal admission fee will be charged to all the games, Blodgett announced yesterday, but it has not been decided whether admission will be charged to the Marquette match or not.

"We want to get the student body interested in hockey," said Blodgett yesterday, "and we may not charge anything to the Marquette game, with this idea in mind."

GYM SHOOS
by Orie

Hello fans! Here it is—the old line under a new heading. Dope on every sport that has its men take showers in the gym.

Right now with the weather a nose blow zero, there isn't much interest in the sport that holds the attention of the fans out on the Camp, so in order to stay on the job, a fellow has to write this awful stuff.

Anyway, here goes—As basketball is the greatest sport now interesting the fans, and inasmuch as we slipped one over on the Hoosiers again, let's give the little doctor a rousing cheer. It certainly looks like we're going right down the line and connect.

Coach Mead Burke is working out daily these days, running to and fro from one end of the annex endeavoring to develop that long sought track championship. By the way, we haven't had a track championship here at Wisconsin since Mead Burke ran in 1917. Let's get hot, Mead. A lot of good men out there, so here's for 1924 under Capt. Hammón.

Speaking of track—did you ever see some of our promising wrestlers work out on the annex track? Was watching several the other night, they look

Frats to Finish
Prelim Games
In Tank Series

The remaining games of the interfraternity water basketball tournament will be played as follows:

January 8—T. K. E. vs. Delta Sigma Phi. Lambda Chi vs. Alpha Delta, 5:30; Zeta Psi vs. Sigma Chi, Theta Xi vs. Alpha Gamma Rho, 6 o'clock; Zeta Beta Tau vs. Dekes, 6:30.

January 10—T. K. E. vs. Alpha Deltas; Delta Sig vs. Lambda, Chi, 5:30; Zeta Beta Tau vs. Beta Theta Pi, Phi Gam vs. Dekes, 6 o'clock.

All the games must be played off at these times or else forfeited, says Coach Steinauer, as it is necessary to pick the varsity team as soon as possible.

Members of the varsity water basketball team already picked are asked to report daily in the tank room to Captain Eschweiler.

Teams From Minnesota, Michigan, Ohio State, and Wisconsin to Compete

Twenty-six fraternities on the campus will enter teams in the Western Conference Bowling tournament scheduled for the latter part of this month, in which fraternity teams from other schools in the conference will compete for honors, the winner to be awarded a handsome loving cup.

Schedules are arranged at the various institutions enrolled in the tournament and the scores of every match are sent in to the university which acts as headquarters to determine the winners.

At the present time four conference institutions have entered teams in the tourney; namely, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin and Ohio State. The Gophers expect to enter approximately 25 teams, while the Wolverines have already promised 44 aggregations.

The tournament is being fostered by the directors of Intramural Athletics at the respective universities enrolled and is in keeping with the plan to further interest in athletics outside of varsity teams.

A schedule for the fraternities on the campus enrolled in the tourney was completed last night and was announced as follows:

January 8
Triangle vs. Phi Gamma Delta.
Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Delta Chi.
Delta Pi Epsilon vs. Zeta Psi.
Theta Xi vs. Alpha Tau Omega.
Phi Delta Theta vs. Psi Upsilon.
Alpha Theta Pi vs. Alpha Kappa Kappa.

Alpha Sigma Phi vs. Sigma Pi.

down at their stomachs, see all the weight they have yet to take off, and do ten more laps.

Can't leave out Joe Steinauer's gym splashes today, so we'll just say that Joe hasn't lost his voice yet, and the chances for putting a notch in our belts and trimming Northwestern for the conference championship look exceedingly bright. There'll be no diving for pennies and being classed as a pro, says Joe.

FROSH-VARSITY
WILL MEET AGAIN
IN SPEED SERIESSteinauer Gives Men Final
Grooming Before Conference Meets Begin

Two more frosh-varsity swimming meets have been scheduled for this week to get the first string men in the best shape possible for the first dual meet to be held with the Hawkeyes at Iowa City January 19. The meets this week will be held tonight and Thursday night at 7:30. Coach Joe Steinauer, in asking that all frosh and varsity men report for the meet, has issued an invitation to the public to attend the swims.

To get the men nerved up to good starts and fast finishes Steinauer is holding another series of time trials for varsity men each afternoon this week. Although time is not being taken he feels sure that the men have cut down the time made in the trials held before the holidays.

Steinauer has cut the squad down to the following men, from which the team will be picked that is to swim against the Hawks next week:

Capt. Czerwonky, Bennet, Gerber, Flueck, Bell, Mageath, Kropp, Woods, Tomey, Cook, Bauman, Hall, Koch, Lund, Simpkins, Nichols, Pope, Johnson, Porter, Dummer, Strauss, Beck, Bump, Frazier, Gibson, Hipple, Newton, Crane, Salisbury, Tuckerman, and Kehl.

As the men line up at the present time the following men seem uppermost in their class:

Relay—Bennett, Flueck, Porter, Johnson, Lyons, Lund, Elliott, Gibson.

40 yard dash—Alton, Flueck, Bennett, Beck, Porter.

Dives—Koch, Simpkins, Gerber, Hall.

Breast stroke—Czerwonky, Bell, Kropp.

220 yard swim—Lund, Alton, Woods, Gerber.

Back stroke—Czerwonky, Elliott, Porter.

100 yard dash—Flueck, Bennett, Gerber, Johnson, Beck.

Snow Fighting Machine to Arrive Here Tuesday

The Barber-Greene snow removing machine discussed at an informal meeting of the aldermen last Friday has been shipped and will probably arrive in Madison for trial Tuesday, it was announced Monday at the office of P. H. Walsh, street superintendent. The equipment will be given a test on city streets and then offered to the city council for approval Friday night.

SKIING HOME

It is recognized in the American collegiate world that Wisconsin has greater advantages for outdoor sport than perhaps any other university or college, excepting perhaps Dartmouth.

This year it is particularly fortunate for Wisconsin and is a source of considerable pride to the Badgers, that Wisconsin was able to go to Lake Placid in New York and there win, through ski prowess the famous Marshal Foch trophy. This is just another indication of Wisconsin's greatness in its fields of endeavor.

But now the story comes that these same ski men who brought glory and honor to Wisconsin cannot obtain sufficient funds to import snow for the Badger home ski slide.

The inactivity on Observatory hill indicates a laxness on the part of some one in getting the toboggan slide ready for use.

With all the natural facilities that Wisconsin has and with all the cry for outdoor entertainment and with all the ability such as the champion skiers here have, it would seem that some greater attention to these things should be paid.

Undoubtedly these present evils will be remedied. The toboggan slide is generally used before the season is over, and snow has been imported for the ski slide in other years. Yet it would seem that these questions should never arise and that when the first snow of winter sets in or the harbingers of the ski season arrive, that plans should be immediately formulated for taking the sports out of the realm of worry.

Before the holiday season the Michigan Daily ran a long editorial bemoaning the fact that the university has always been well up in athletics and has the finest kind of an athletic program, but yet there is not even a place to skate. Even a swimming pool is only a recent possibility there. Compared to conference schools such as Michigan, Wisconsin is indeed fortunate with its pool, its hockey rink, its natural lakes, its unlimited hiking opportunities.

And yet, would it not be infinitely better if these things the university already does have were promptly augmented by outdoor equipment and facilities?

The Wisconsin skiers should be congratulated for their splendid work. It is to be hoped that the Badger club will soon obtain funds it needs to continue its work.

THE MIDDLE OF THE ROAD

This student loads himself with innumerable tasks and lets them get shuffled in his mind like anagrams before a game. Then he worries, and worries, and worries. He thinks that this thing can not be done and, therefore, that that can not be done and soon his mind is more preoccupied with worries than with problems.

That student, however, assumes his tasks with an easy air of indifference and that is as far as they ever go. He never worries, he never studies, he never works. He is a drone and in his slothful habits is infinitely worse than the man who worries.

But between these two conditions there is the middle oft he road. It is not a very broad highway but it is one that all can with a little care follow to the end successfully.

Sitting alone in a cabin by the side of a simmering teapot, it comes to one that there is no use in worrying over things. Cannot that indifference of the second student be changed to a calm assumption of work and then a filing of that thing away into a well ordered and catalogued mind?

If the person who begins to get muddled and worried would only hide himself away for a time, in his room, in the north woods, at home, anywhere, and just forget everything for a short time and then begin a slow thinking process of straightening out things and then begin a plan of carrying out one thing at a time, wonders might be worked.

Now that final exams are approaching it is to be hoped that many will find the middle of the road.

FIFTY-FIFTY

Sophisticated students are prone to point out to the city of Madison what a great thing it is that the university is situated here. They point out the great amount of money which is annually expended here by the students; they mention the families which are attracted here; they demonstrate the amount of money expended here by the university itself; they indicate the intellectual atmosphere which has been given to the city.

All this is true, and in fact, is only part of the story of the university's beneficent effect upon the city. And yet, there are a great many things which Madison also lends to the university.

As a land of four lakes which Longfellow immortalized, as a beauty spot of the country, as a locality where intelligent and keen minded citizens are cooperating for the betterment of the community in such things as the Public Welfare, the Vilas Park zoo, the Madison Park and Pleasure drives, the common council plans for zoning, athletic field, etc., Madison is a city in which a university is fortunate to be situated.

With concerts, lectures, readings, plays, the best of everything, this small city offers as many cultural attractions as most metropolitan cities.

In these things, both town and university are responsible, one aids the other.

Recent newspaper reports indicate that Madison is now the second largest city in the state. This is fine, but it is even finer that Madison and the university cooperating can make of this community a good place to live with a high standard as the rule rather than the goal.

Other Editors Say—

A BRISBANIAN WITTICISM

"Had Lincoln gone to college, you would never have heard of him!" So says Arthur Brisbane, in a recent number of The American.

This new and original outburst of the prolific Mr. Brisbane is more humorous than enlightening. Mr. Brisbane never went to college himself, no doubt, and accordingly has developed this acute inferiority complex.

While Brisbane's humor is at times refreshing, it sometimes over-reaches its bounds. When he insinuates that American colleges are detrimental to genius and to talent rather than beneficial, he is making an indictment utterly unfounded and entirely too severe.

Humor fails when it causes undeserved injury. The thrusts of Voltaire were directed to rotting institutions. The sneers and quips of Brisbane are directed at a mighty and invaluable institution.

It is difficult to see how Lincoln could have been spoiled by going to college. Lincoln liked Shakespeare as well as Artemis Ward. He recognized the value of higher education, and even regretted his own meager opportunities. If his strong and rugged mind could have been tempered with a touch of higher learning, think what a Master he would have been! Lincoln, who was not spoiled by the rough life of flat-boats carrying slaves to the New Orleans market, would never have been polluted by great teachers, by classic knowledge, or by the softness and gentleness of pastoral verse.

Mr. Arthur Brisbane had better stick to politics and either let education alone or absorb some of it!—Minnesota Daily.

DEAN NARDIN BACK FROM WASHINGTON

Attends Committee Meet of University Women Held at Capital

Dean F. Louise Nardin yesterday morning returned from Washington D. C. where she has been attending a committee meeting of the American Association of University Women. Miss Nardin is a member of the committee on admission of colleges and universities to the association, which met at the national headquarters in Washington from December 30 through January 4.

The purpose of this meeting was to prepare recommendations to be presented at the national convention which will be held in Washington in April.

While in the East Miss Nardin stopped in Baltimore to visit Helen White who was a member of the English department here until a serious illness this fall made it necessary for her to enter the Marburg hospital in the eastern city.

"Miss White is improving rapidly, thanks to the skill of the Johns Hopkins doctors," said Miss Nardin. "It is expected that she will be able to leave the hospital in a very short time. I believe she plans to return to Madison."

Miss Nardin spent Christmas at her home in Columbia, Missouri, and found time for visits with friends in St. Louis before her trip to Washington.

Chandler Issues Call For Ushers For Junior Prom

A call for students to serve as ushers at Prom has been named by Fergus Chandler '25, chairman of the Prom floor committee.

About 65 ushers will be needed this year and men interested in serving are requested to notify Chandler by calling F 267, or any other member on the floor committee.

The committee includes Hugo Murray '25, Marjorie Trumbull '25, Anna Fox '25, Paul Ralph '24, Hazel Hyer '25, David Skaltsky '26, Everett Kech '25, Katherine Davis '26, Bernardine Walter '25 and Henry Meyers '26.

Floor wax for Prom has been donated by the Johnson Wax company of Racine, and the cooperation of capitol officials with respect to the use of the capitol has been secured. A student police force to help city officials will be chosen soon.

GARDNER BACK FROM UNION TALKS IN EAST

Prof. E. H. Gardner of the English department has just returned from the East where he addressed Wisconsin alumni in Buffalo and Philadelphia in an appeal to support the Memorial Union building. Badger alumni organizations throughout the east are meeting this week to push the drive for the Wisconsin memorial. Business affairs called Professor Gardner east. While there he visited relatives in Massachusetts.

COLD WAVE WHETS BOILERS' APPETITE

University Furnaces Burn 140 Tons of Fuel on Friday

Over in the heating plant on University avenue, seven giant boilers are consuming an ever increasing amount of coal as Jack Frost tightens his grip on Madison. Thursday, heat from 120 tons of soft coal was sent through the tunnels to buildings. Nearly 140 tons went under the boilers Friday, the engineers state.

In addition to the seven boilers now being used, two auxiliary furnaces are held ready for service.

The two new boilers which are being installed will not be ready for service until March or April. They will be of greater capacity than the older boilers. They will be fired next year for the new hospital.

"FASHION ROW"
Presented at the Majestic.
Featuring Mae Murray.

By V. F. H.

Wandered down Majestic-ward yesterday to see Mae Murray flash her dazzling way, in moods alternately stormy and calm, through a picture a great deal better than any she has appeared in lately. She's pretty, she can dance, and does—also she wears some nice clothes, and even neglects her too frequent posing once in a while to do some real acting. Mae takes a dual part, and it is saying quite a bit for her to admit—as we have it—that she does both her characters very, very well—the tempestuous Olga, actress and pseudo—princess of Russia, and the frightened little girl immigrant, shy and timid, with her forty-seven English words.

If the plot is a bit impossible, if the action is a bit melodramatic and crowded, all thought or criticism of it is lost in the engaging personalities of the principal actors. Craig Biddle and Elmo Lincoln do their vastly different parts well. Mr. Biddle is reputed to possess a new millions in the banks of Kansas City or thereabouts; we hope they won't induce him to leave pictures for the less romantic but more remunerative pastime of bullying the bears, or vice versa. The art would lose a rather clever exponent.

In accordance with everyone else, we presume, this writer has long since tired of the kind of stage skits we are forced to sit through at this theater. So yesterday we girded on the dirks and pistols, and with jowls dripping gore, so to speak, we awaited a similar one—and were disappointed.

A rather pleasing young lady came out, and, accompanied by a young man, danced and sang in a style which, while not definitely good, could not be called poor. We were mollified—however, next week should undoubtedly bring a target for our impatient and bloody pen. There was a comedy—at least, so the screen called it. Nobody laughed.

Red Hot Fighting

"BIG DAN"
Featuring Charles Buck Jones and Marion Nixon.

William Fox production.
Presented at the Strand.

By SAPPY

"Big Dan" has two very good refreshing actors, and those two are Charles Buck Jones and Ben Hendricks Jr. who plays the part of the villain as Cyclone the Boxer. Quite in general we are sick of the pale faced, parlor type hero who starts a fight with a big bully and of course wins. Here we have two good fighters, two fine 200 pounders pounding away at each other in a very exciting and good fight. Admirers of fights will undoubtedly love the picture, and the girls, we are sure, will all fall for the good looking, strong, and musclebound hero.

Marion Nixon as the heroine is the usual heroine, doing her usual heroine stuff quite nicely and sweetly. I wish we would get some more Amazons like heroines some day, a girl that can ride horseback and swim and fight if necessary and still be a good heroine and actress. But we fear those days will never come.

As for the story in general it isn't much, but it is amusing, and those who go to the Strand the first part of the week won't be sorry for it.

BY TORMENTOR

By TORMENTOR

Tormentor has put his frozen ear to the ground and is sorry to announce that Howard Marsh '09, who had the tenor lead in "Blossom Time" when the company played on Broadway and in Chicago, has left the company and will not appear at the Parkway next Friday and Saturday.

When in school Marsh was in "The Dancing Doll" which was the first musical comedy given by the Haresfoot club. Marsh was a member of the Haresfoot club and still is mighty interested.

Last year at the Apollo theater in Chicago when "Blossom Time" was there, Tormentor met Marsh and found him a most entertaining personality as well as a loyal Wisconsinite. His dressing room in the top fly gallery of the Apollo is a most cozy place for a chat.

Haresfoot can feel proud when it starts such capable men as Howard Marsh on the theatrical highway to fame.

The club feels sorry that he is not coming for they had planned a big blow out in his honor. Even so, "Blossom Time" will be well worth while seeing. Tormentor has seen it twice already and will go again.

Heinze Rubel '23 has written from New York for a copy of the book of "Kikmi," the Haresfoot show of last year which he wrote. He plans to produce it somewhere in the east.

Rubel writes that he saw both the Michigan and the Princeton shows and that Michigan had it all over the eastern college. In this he agrees with our own Bud Buell who says that the Princeton music "cannot compare."

Haresfoot is consistently making good it seems. Herb Stothart, author of several former Haresfoot shows some of which he directed, has just put forth another success on Broadway—"Mary Jane." What with his "Wildflower" still pulling capacity houses, Stothart has come to the very fore.

Tormentor just now is being tormented with a frozen ear, contracted when he and the M. E. took their "Parnassus on Wheels" for a "Northern Exposure," so he'll ring off until he goes to see "Blossom Time" which ought to be springy enough to restore him.

Lady of Quality No
Better Than Story

"A LADY OF QUALITY"
At the Madison theatre.
Featuring Milton Sills.

By TED

We would hate to spoil business for the Madison theatre, but if you folks follow our advice the way most of our friends do the theatre will be crowded. We say the picture is poor; therefore you will probably like it. It's ten to one that if you take a reviewer's decision, reverse it and discount twenty percent, you will have a pretty fair idea of what you will think of the picture. If this doesn't work out, fix up a system of your own.

Any how we did not think much of the picture called "A Lady of Quality." The story in book form was poor enough, but the picture is worse. Miss Valli as the lady in question, was easy to look at and rode her horse beautifully, but at other times she was apt to be some what immobile. In fact, the young lady who sat just behind us repeated at least once every minute and a half, "My, isn't she stiff!"

Our own advice to Milton Sills, who supported Miss Valli, is that he put his carefully modelled wig in cold storage and don some civilized clothes again. Milton was not meant for that kind of a part. As to the rest of the cast, we don't remember having seen but one of them before, and we will not be sorry if we never see any of them again, particularly the villain.

By far the best work was done by the little girl who took the part of Clorinda in the first part of the picture. As far as she is concerned, we take back the above statement. For the others it still holds. Seventy per cent is the best we can do for "A Lady of Quality" and we hesitate to give it that.

Dig, Sisters, Dig,
Is Story of Movie
"THE GOLD DIGGERS"

Presented at the Parkway.
Produced by David Belasco.
Featuring Hope Hampton and Alec Francis.

By HITT and MISS

"Dig Sisters dig—while the diggings good" as expressed by one of the overly flippant chorus girls is the whole thing in a nut shell.

This sounds hard, the older sister trying to fix the wealthy uncle so that he will let the nephew marry her sister tries to be hard headed and hard hearted and hard fisted through out the whole thing too—only to find that her very hardness has cut into the hard covering of the supposedly hard heart of the uncle with all of the hard cash to his account.

Well—it's a mixup in which the uncle tumbles for just what he condemned his nephew for doing early in the play. The method of capture which the wiley chorus girl uses is one of opposites—she tries to shock, disturb, upset, disgust and horrify the uncle and in so doing she kindles the fires of love in the good old way that movies use and real life never gets a glimpse of.

The conservative mother in the play who at first is heard saying that her girls must come in after the evening performances seems to disappear from the earth while the daughters let the uncle give a party in their front room which is a REAL party. At the end she trips out and meets the uncle and shows no sign of any disapproval of all of the empty bottles, busted balloons, upset cocktail glasses and the rest of the generally expressive debris. Some mothers and chaperons are not so conveniently deaf and blind.

Something else that worried us was the number of transients that seemed to be making the same apartment headquarters and total scarcity of beds, for although almost every member of the cast is shown sleeping none of them is seen in a real bed. It reminded us of Homecoming and a house 233 percent full.

The costumes were strikingly effective, and the action through out was lively even if it was disconcerting to follow the whys and wherefores.

And as for happy endings—this play has most of the plays and movies totally eclipsed, for every one except mother, and she had had hers before, wins a heart and a hand and a home at the last. True the couples did not seem eminently fitted to end their days together in peace of any kind, but—it did make a happy ending and an easy way to account for every one—and what more can be expected of a mere movie?

VERY GOOD BILL IS VERDICT OF
ORPH REVIEWER
BY ONE ON THE AISLE

If you want to see a good bill, laugh a good long laugh, and get your money's worth, go to the Orpheum this first half. There is not a single bad act on the whole bill and many of them rate as the best on the circuit.

Oscar Martin and Co.
This act was made up of a little bit of everything. The strong man of the company did some excellent balancing and lifting work.

Dixie Four
These four colored boys sing well, producing keen harmony. Their dancing, true darky style, is the best part of the act.

Brockman and Howard
Their dances of the rag doll and tin soldier, of the cats bound for the ball, and of wooden-shoed Hollanders were clever and different.

Klass and Brilant
Much nonsense but the kind the audience likes. And they play the concertina and the trombone well. Their act was one of the best on the bill.

Mlle. Ann Codee
She's a Frenchwoman who sings French, acts in French, and is nothing but French. Her act is filled with comedy, put over in a big way with the aid of her supporting partner.

Clemons Belling
An act of surprises. Dogs, a pony, and a mule do the usual animal tricks. The Belling family dances, sings and pulls clever jokes.

He brought evidence to the support of Secretary Hughes' contention that Soviet government officials are a party through the Communist international to revolutionize propaganda aimed at the overthrow of the American government.

He said that to give official recognition to the present Soviet government would be inviting men to come among us who would attempt to break up our labor organizations, attack American freedom and kindle the flame of riot and disorder throughout our country under their diplomatic shield.

100 STUDENTS ENROLL FOR CONDITION EXAMS

Approximately 100 students have registered for the condition exams which are to be given Saturday, January 12. The majority of these students are from the college of Letters and Science. A few are from the engineering college.

In order to be allowed to take the examination all applications must be filed today. All conditions and incomplete examinations which are not registered for by that time automatically lapse into failures.

Snows Fail To Daunt Sistine Choir Singers

Madison's low temperatures and deep snows hold no terrors for the Sistine Chapel Choir which sang at the Parkway theater Saturday night. Although the members hail from the sunny climate of the vatican gardens, where disagreeable weather seldom occurs, they have become acclimated to blizzards and zero marks in their tour of the United States. They stay in two private cars, which are fitted up for living quarters are more comfortable and homelike than hotel rooms.

onsignor Antonio Relia, director of the choir, is generally host to groups of visitors after the concerts when church members and clergymen come to visit and hear tales of the Eternal City. The choir has appeared twice in Milwaukee and went from Madison to Chicago, to make its fourth appearance in the Auditorium.

The choir consists of 54 singers. The youngest is Felice Almasin, 10 years old.

Dells and Rockies in Travel Itinerary Planned by Martin

Boys to Make Supervised Trip
in Fords During Vacation
Period

A summer travel camp for boys with Ford touring cars as the means of transportation and with arrangements for a trip through the west as far as Seattle and back to Chicago, is the plan of George Martin '22. Martin is present director of winter sports at the university.

George Martin

Boys from 12 to 18 years will be taken. They will cook their own meals, repair their own cars, sleep out in the open, ride horseback at various places of interest, and in the words of the catalogue they will be "brought into contact with the country in a way that travel by train could not accomplish and will be taught independent action and frontiersmanship."

Tour Fourteen States

According to the plans of the camp, there will be an experienced counsellor for every four boys on the trip. In this way a counsellor will be in each car.

Fourteen states will be covered in the trip. The descriptive booklet which has been sent out describes the itinerary as follows:

"We leave Chicago by the northern route and cross Wisconsin, passing through the Dells. Here the first real scenery begins in the heights of the Baraboo hills and the unglaciated districts of Wisconsin.

"Leaving the hills of southern Wisconsin, we pass over the rolling prairies of Minnesota and South Dakota viewing miles of grain fields. We shall arrive in this part of the country in time to see the wheat headers at work harvesting grain.

To Visit Yellowstone

"We arrive at Pierre, South Dakota and pause to admire the huge buffalo herd. Here we begin to enter a great cattle country and we see herds of short-horns and white faces grazing on the plains.

"We go on and passing through the famous Bad Lands, come to the oil fields of Wyoming. Thousands of oil derricks raise their skeleton frames to the sky.

"But we soon forget oil as we pass into the grandeur and awe-inspiring beauty of Yellowstone National park. We stand before Old Faithful in wonder as we realize that untold gallons of boiling water, erupted from the very bowels of the earth, have shot skyward, approximately every forty-five minutes, for countless ages. Clumsy, friendly bears come up to eat out of our hands while shy deer scatter at our approach.

"We leave with regret this great natural playground and continue to climb the Rockies. We cross a corner of Montana and enter the deep forests of Idaho. We look forward to a few days of seashore camping and boating on Puget Sound.

Will Cross Desert

"This is the end of our westward journey, and turning back we take the scenic route along the Columbia River highway. We swerve to the south and come to Pendleton, Oregon. Here is the heart of cowboy land, the scene of the famous rodeo, where feats of cowboy skill are displayed for the entertainment of thousands of spectators every year.

"Back into Idaho and through miles of arid sagebrush country we reach Utah and finally arrive at Salt Lake City, that famous city of the desert. We shall stop for a dip in Great Salt Lake where the water is so salty you can't sink.

SHELTER FOR SKATERS WILL NOT BE MOVED

George Martin, grad, stated last night that for the present the location of the shelter house for skaters will remain unchanged. He had at first planned on having the shack moved to the foot of Park street where the skating classes are meeting this year. Perhaps later in the year some protection for the skaters will be built, he says. The shelter house is not being used at all this winter.

William Kelly was issued a permit to build a $7,500 residence at 2105 Regent st.

WOMEN OFFERED RESEARCH ABROAD

Fellowships Given by University Association Allow Year's Foreign Study

The American Association of University Women has announced its fellowships for the year 1924. These fellowships are open to all women who hold degrees and wish to carry on a year's research work in a foreign country.

The sums allowed range from $400 to $1800 a year and are large enough to enable one to live in comfort for the period.

Besides the fellowships for women there are many open to men. They are supported by the National Research council and the Rockefeller foundation.

Further information may be obtained from the dean of the graduate school in 157 Bascom hall. All grads who are interested are urged to consult with Dean Slichter.
