PLUMBERS DELAY ST. PAT. PARADE

The Engineer's parade will be postponed until Saturday, March 24, because of the heavy snow covering the city streets.

The St. Pat contest, which determines who shall lead the parade, will be continued until Wednesday of next week.

DEBATE SERIES OPENS FRIDAY

Badgers Meet Illinois and Michigan in First Exchanges

The first series of intercollegiate debates will be held Friday evening when Wisconsin meets Illinois and Michigan. Wisconsin's affirmative team debates against Illinois at Music hall, while the negative squad goes to Ann Arbor to meet Michigan.

The question selected for the debate is, "Resolved, that any statutory or constitutional changes necessary to render impossible the use of the injunction in labor disputes be made immediately." This subject has caused considerable discussion in economic and legal circles since injunctions have come to be used so freely in industrial disputes.

The affirmative team representing Wisconsin consists of Wilber Katz '24, first speaker, George J. Fiedler '25, second speaker, and George McKinnis '23, closer. The negative team is composed of Ralph E. Axley '23, first speaker, Harold A. Seering '24, second member, and Wayne L. Morse '23, closer.

The judge of the debate at Michigan will be Prof. Rufus Day, formerly chairman of the Department of Economics at Harvard university, and at present head of the Economics department at Michigan. Prof. Frank M. Rarig, member of the Speech department of the University of Minnesota, will act as judge of the contest in Music hall.

The one judge system was decided upon this year, although no decision contests or open forum decisions were favored by other members of the debating league. The main reasons in favor of the one judge decision are that the arguments of both sides are analyzed and reasons given for the decision.

RADIO STATION IS PRAISED FOR STORM SERVICE

Cardinal Station Has Record Day

Radio came to the rescue when all Madison was gripped by its worst storm in 10 years on Monday.

The Northwestern Radio company, which broadcasts university news daily for The Cardinal, relayed over 35 messages between 8 a. m. and noon Monday, due to the fact that the city was cut off from other communication to the outside world.

One of the services performed by this station was the relaying of a message to a university instructor, calling her home as soon as possible, due to serious illness in the family. The message was phoned to the instructor immediately after its receipt by radio phone.

Hunt Lost Locomotive

The station was also of service to the Madison branch of the United States Weather bureau by obtaining the daily weather report for the local bureau when the usual means of communication were out of commission.

Besides these services, and numerous other messages which were handled by the local station, the Northwestern Radio company stood by, ready to give assistance when needed, while WDAP, Drake hotel, Chicago, and WOC, Davenport, Iowa, communicated in an effort to locate a missing locomotive of the Chicago Great Western railroad.

Weather Man Grateful

The following is the message of appreciation received by the station from the Madison branch of the United States Weather bureau:

U. S. Department of Agriculture Weather Bureau, Madison, Wis., March 12, 1923.

Northwestern Radio company, 250 State Street, Madison, Wis.

Dear Sirs: I wish to thank you for obtaining the weather report by wireless today when the usual means of communication were out of commission on account of the snow storm.

Yours very truly,
Eric K. Miller,

IOWA STUDENTS WOULD BREAK BASKETBALL TIE

Griffith Fails to Send Answer

By GEO. L. GEIGER

University of Iowa students strongly favor a post-season basketball game with Wisconsin to settle the present tie for Conference championship.

Members of the Hawkeye basketball team also ask for an opportunity to meet the Badgers in a championship clash.

Much impetus to The Cardinal's campaign for a post-season game was received last night from the editor of the Daily Iowan, student newspaper, in reply to a telegram dispatched by The Cardinal Monday night.

The telegram:
EDITOR, THE CARDINAL,
MADISON, WIS.

STUDENT BODY AT IOWA IS CLAMORING FOR A POST-SEASON GAME TO SETTLE CONFERENCE TIE. MEMBERS OF TEAM ALSO ARE DEMANDING A CHANCE TO MEET THE CARDINAL. WOULD SUGGEST TWO-GAME SERIES, PLAYING THIRD IF NECESSARY.

EDITOR, DAILY IOWAN.

No reply as yet has been received from John L. Griffith, commissioner of Conference athletics, to whom The Cardinal filed a telegram Monday night, inquiring as to the possibility of abrogating any Conference ruling which might prevent such a game.

Unless word is forthcoming from Major Griffith today or tomorrow, The Cardinal will file a second telegram to him, expressly asking for permission to arrange a game with Iowa through the respective physical education departments of the two universities.

No Contrary Law

So far as is known here there is no Conference law which would absolutely prohibit the holding of such a post-season game. It has been expressed by resolution as the sentiment of the Conference faculty representatives, however, that post-season games are undesirable.

To determine how strongly Wisconsin favors the arrangement of such a game, The Cardinal, elsewhere in this issue, prints a ballot on which every student, faculty member, alumnus and person interested may record his vote for or against the project.

Sufficient space for comments also is included on the ballot, and longer communications—if limited to 150 words—are especially solicited. Clip the coupon, fill it out, and mail it to The Cardinal or leave it at the office or in the mail or copy box NOW.

Quick Action Needed

If a post-season game is to be arranged with Iowa it must be done within a very short time. The Hawkeye quintet probably has been out of training since its last game, March 5. Wisconsin's team cannot afford to remain long in training.

There is every need for quick action to make a post-season game a reality, and it is The Cardinal's purpose to bring the situation to successful climax as soon as possible.

HAREFOOT CALLS FOR ORCHESTRA MEMBERS

Haresfoot club managers have announced that all men who play the following instruments: piano, violin, clarinet, cornet, trombone, flute, cello, french horn, and drums have an opportunity at the present time to try out for the orchestra of "Kikmi."

Due to a mistake in yesterday's Cardinal, there have been no selections made. There is still an equal opportunity for all who wish to try.

Joseph L. Rosenholtz, orchestra conductor, is desirous to have any who play one of the above instruments try out at 7:15 o'clock Thursday in 1 Music hall.

SNOW BURIES CITY ARTERIES

Twenty Men Keep Walks on Campus Open to Throgs

Snow shovels have taken the place of thoughts of fishing rods as a means of exercise, at present. It snowed from 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon to about 8 o'clock Monday morning, and everyone was kept busy keeping the drifts from becoming impenetrable.

A force of about 20 men was employed all day yesterday by the University to clear the walks. Although the University snow plows were at work all day Monday, they were not out yesterday, and most of the work was done by hand. Since the sidewalks were not icy, and the snow was being shovelled away as quickly as possible, it was not thought necessary to sand the walks.

The large plows of the Madison Street Railway company were busy all night Monday trying to get the tracks cleared. Few cars were running all day yesterday, only 10 cars running most of the day. Cars ran on a single track from the Square to Charter street and a short distance on a few other lines. After noon yesterday they ran on State street and as far as Camp Randall. Traffic was uncertain, and progress slow.

The snow was 12 inches deep, according to the report of the United States weather bureau. It snowed practically all night Monday night. The velocity of the wind was not so great yesterday as it was Monday.

Popp, last Friday, operating Monday under a receiver, first indication of the total of the alleged shortage came in a statement issued by H. S. # NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

BADGER RECORD BEATS THAT OF TIED HAWKEYES

Schedule For Season is Similar

GAME TONIGHT
Purdue at Indiana.

Although the regular basketball season is not yet concluded, Wisconsin is though, unless a post-season series is permitted, and Coach Walter E. Meanwell is figuring on prospects for next year.

The post-season games to decide the Big Ten title are slim probabilities, but with both Wisconsin and Iowa favoring them, Conference athletic heads would gain public favor by permitting such a championship series.

Both Wisconsin and the Hawkeyes are claiming the title. The teams had an almost identical schedule, the only exception being Wisconsin's two tilts with Purdue and Iowa's with Ohio State. Wisconsin defeated Michigan by larger scores than did the Hawks. They also beat Indiana by larger scores, and the Hoosiers, who seemed distinctly outclassed here Monday night, beat Iowa once.

Free Throws Win

Iowa has been outscored in number of field goals in two games and has been tied three times in total points scored from the field. Funk, guard, has been responsible for their victories because of his marvelous free throwing. Wisconsin has not been outscored in field goals by any opponent this season. Purdue defeated the Badgers, 17 to 13, but both teams made three baskets. The Boilermakers won when Holwerda netted 11 out of 12 free throws.

Coach Meanwell loses Capt. Gus Tebell, Rollie Williams, and Leslie R. Gage, of the 1922-23 championship outfit. Each of these men has been a star and will be missed when roll call is taken for next season's outfit.

Although the work of Gage has been overshadowed by that of the guards, Les is undoubtedly one of the best forwards, if not the best, who played. Gage always managed to net a few baskets in each game, and in the last three, especially, he outscored his mates. Les tossed in six baskets against Indiana, scored 13 points against Chicago, and also connected for a flock of field goals in the Minnesota contest.

Guarded Ely

He was a power on the defense, as well as the offense. The Badger right forward was given special assignments in some of the major games and he performed his work effectively. In the Michigan games, Coach Meanwell directed Gage to guard Capt. Ely, Michigan high scorer. In the first contest, both Gage and Ely netted two field goals, and in the second game, Les made three baskets while Ely was held to a solitary one.

A. Dwight Spooner, brilliant sophomore player, and Kendall Elsom, who plays both forward and center, are a pair of "pony" forwards who are eligible for two more years of competition. Douglas Gibson, center, will be back again for his third year of playing, and Coach Meanwell says that he should be an All-Conference pivot man next season.

Byron Barwig, capable of playing any position, has another season of competition left. Barwig has not been in the best of condition. He will probably be put in a guard job. Diebold, Madison boy, has worked at center, but is a natural guard. In addition to these men, Jack Harris and Radtke form a pair of guards who have been under fire in Big Ten games. Mainland played forward on the reserve outfit.

Wackman Ineligible

Capt. Jerry McCarthy and Merkle, forwards, and Orin Werneske, center, are likely-looking freshmen who will report for the squad next season. Gebhart, who came to Wisconsin at the start of the second semester, is a yearling guard.

Ralph Wackman played center, supplanting Biscin in several early games. He was declared ineligible for the second lap of the schedule,

Yale Daily News Praises

George Owen, Harvard Star
George Owen, Harvard's greatest athlete, was paid a high tribute in the Yale Daily News editorial recently, when it proclaimed him "An outstanding athlete, a clean sportsman a fighter all the way, his prowess always to be feared and admired whether on the gridiron, diamond or rink."

EDWIN JOHNSON CHOSEN NEW HOCKEY CAPTAIN

Edwin E. Johnson '24, Dollar Bay, Mich. was elected captain of the Wisconsin hockey team at a meeting held yesterday noon.

Captain Johnson succeeds Howy Conbacker who piloted the team through the most successful seasons Wisconsin has had.

Trees Badly Damaged By Big Snow Storm

Hundreds of trees throughout the entire city have been damaged as a result of the storm Sunday night and Monday morning, according to Peter H. Walsh, street superintendent. Many trees have been broken down entirely while on some the damage merely extends to branches and limbs, resulting in the symmetry of the tree being marred.

A team and crew of workmen were detailed to the work of cleaning the streets of this debris this morning and more put on this work this afternoon by Mr. Walsh.

but should be back in the grace of the faculty by next year.

With this material ready for the magic developing hand of Coach Meanwell, Wisconsin again will be up among the leaders when the teams swing into action next winter.

Michigan will suffer by losing Capt. Ely and Franklin Cappon. Gullion will be back with Purdue, which insures a good start for the Boilermaker quintet. The Iowa team remains practically intact next season and Illinois also keeps most of its regulars.

MINNESOTA IS COACH'S BET IN SWIMMING RACE

Hold Competition For Title Saturday

Minnesota is favored to win the conference swimming championship meet by Wisconsin's coach, Joe Steinauer. The meet, the preliminaries of which will be held on Thursday and finals on Saturday, will take place in the University of Chicago pool.

Northwestern made a clean sweep of her schedule, even coming out ahead of Minnesota when the Gophers were leading with a score of 23 to 21 at the end of the sixth of the eight events. Considering the breaks which are likely to show up, the meet will be fought out between Minnesota, Northwestern and Wisconsin. Chicago is conceded the water basketball championship.

Trials Tomorrow

Time trials will be taken tomorrow for Steinauer's list of entries to decide the men who will constitute the team. A large list of names has been registered, which allows the coach to make last minute changes in the lineup.

Badger swimmers who are on the list and from whom Coach Steinauer will make up his squad are:

40-yard swim—Johnson Bennett, John S. Gilbreath, C. C. Ellicott, and H. J. Lyons.

Wrestlers to Leave For Columbus on Thursday

Coach Hitchcock, accompanied by Capt. Templin and Bob Holmes of the Badger wrestling squad will for Columbus, Ohio, on Thursday, where they will represent Wisconsin at the Conference tournament.

The Conference tournament includes, besides the Big Ten schools, Ames, Nebraska and the Michigan Aggies. Templin at 175 and Holmes at 135 will be pitted against some of the best men of that class in the Conference.

Coach Hitchcock thinks that his men have a good chance to place high in the meet as they are in the best of condition and represent the best Wisconsin has.

Cars Stalled On All Roads, Accidents Few

U. S. Marshal W. R. Chellis had no trouble coming in to Madison from his home at the old Stevenson stone quarry on the Middleton road. He reported that one car was said to be half way up a telephone pole a short distance beyond his home, and another was reported to him resting at the roadside without wheels. Both accidents occurred during the night.

County Treasurer Sends $305,101 To State

Herbert G. Rinder, county treasurer, today turned over to the state treasury $305,101.77 as Dane county's share of state taxes and state fines collected for the year 1922. Of this amount, $287,330.59 was the state tax. State fines amounted to $17,271.18 after deducting 2 per cent as Dane county's share.

Open Streets Before Night, Says Supt.

A crew of 55 men and 7 teams have been at work Monday and today breaking up the snow blockade in the city, P. H. Walsh, street superintendent, announced. The streets will be opened before night if the city does not receive another heavy snowfall, Mr. Walsh said.

U. of Southern Illinois Lost Only One Game This Season

The basketball squad of the University of Southern Illinois has just completed a record schedule of twenty games. Only one conference game was lost. Nine men on the team have been awarded letters.

FEW VETERANS ON BALL TEAM

Lack of Seasoned Men Hampers Coach Lowman in Early Training

With the opening of the Conference baseball season little more than a month away, Coach Guy Lowman is endeavoring to whip a winning team out of practically new material.

Graduation, assisted by the bugbear of the Athletic department, ineligibility, has eliminated almost all of the old performers of last year. Rollie Williams, left fielder, and Howie Combacker, second base man are the only two men of experience who are left for Coach Lowman to build a team on.

The battery problem is proving the most serious problem for the coach, Paddock, Hoffman and Christianson of last year's pitching staff are lost by graduation and their absence will be felt keenly. Barry, a good man on the other end of the battery is also missing and will be hard to replace.

Pickford Has Experience

There is plenty of pitching material to start with but all the candidates, with the exception of one man, have had little or no previous experience on the squad. The candidates for the pitching staff are: Jerome M. Pickford, Helmuth H. Ashley, V. Mills, William L. Johnson, F. Dean Cardinal, Gunther C. Meyland, and Walter L. Radke. Pickford is the only man having had previous experience. He will be relied upon to bear the burden of pitching.

The infield material is good and despite the loss of "Rowdy" Elliot and Jack Williams at shortstop and first base, Coach Lowman is hopeful of turning out a good infield.

Duke Caesar and Christiansen are the only two men lost to the outfield and there should be little difficulty in developing a good staff of outfielders.

Leave April 5

The usual spring training trip which is but a few weeks away will be of great help in bringing out the best material. The team will leave for the south on April 5 and will stay until April 14. The games scheduled to be played on the training trip are with the University of Mississippi at Oxford, Mississippi A. and M. at Starkville, the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa and Mississippi college at Clinton.

Two prep games have been scheduled for the first week in April. One is with Beloit college and the other with Armour Tech.

Although the prospects this year are not as good as they were last year at this time Coach Lowman feels that he will be able to turn out a first division team.

CHAMPION SPRINTER CHALLENGES HIS CLASS

Charlie Paddock, world's champion sprinter, has challenged all sprinters of his class in order to establish his claim to the titles he has won, some of which are doubted by eastern authorities. Since Paddock cannot participate in Eastern games this year due to the tabling of membership of the University of Southern California, he has issued this defiance:

"I challenge all 100 to 200 yard sprinters to meets in the east to settle every title in which I am interested. On April 14 I will meet all these sprinters under conditions which I will ask Walter Eckersall of the Chicago Tribune to arrange."

Besides establishing these honors Paddock and four other track men from Southern California will enter the college world championships in Paris. Southern California is one of the few American colleges invited and the only western one. Other members of the Trojan team to go to Paris are Swede Anderson, weight thrower; Yale Martz, quarter miler; Torkelson, sprint racer; and Otto Anderson, Hurdle.

BIG TEN TEAMS GET READY FOR TRACK CLASSIC

Wisconsin Has Chance For Title

Ten conference track teams are grooming themselves in six middle western states this week for the annual indoor classic to be held in Patten gym at Evanston next Friday and Saturday.

The indoor season has been characterized by ups and downs by many teams, and the annual conference meet will be the one event in which teams clamoring for supremacy may find their status definitely fixed.

Few teams picked at the beginning of the season as likely title winners went through the indoor season unscathed, and the big meet is certain to be a fight to the finish.

Wolverines Are Strong

Michigan is undefeated and looks a likely winner although she will find stiff competition among several teams whose record is not so good. Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota are all to be taken into consideration.

While Illinois is unbeaten this season, her record is not to be overestimated. She has triumphed over Iowa and Notre Dame but both meets were on Illinois ground, and a change of track conditions may make a difference.

Iowa showed remarkable strength when she soundly triumphed over Wisconsin at Iowa City. The Hawks worked well on their own track and were regarded probable conference winners until they travelled to Illinois and took the count at the hands of the Illini.

The similarity of the Patten gym track to the Iowa City course will be a great factor in deciding Iowa's fate.

Wisconsin Has Chance

Wisconsin made a poor showing at Iowa at the beginning of the indoor season but redeemed that failure when Notre Dame invaded Madison. As the Badgers succeeded in winning over the Catholics by a larger score than Illinois could pile up the dope points to Wisconsin as a worthy competitor for either Illinois or Iowa.

Minnesota is especially strong in field events and with an average team in the other events will be a dangerous. The Gophers walked Northwestern a 45 to 36 score in a dual meet during the early part of the season.

Purdue, Northwestern, Indiana, Chicago, and Ohio State have average teams but one of them may show the unexpected and come through for high honors.

The Badger men are working in the gym every afternoon under Coaches T. E. Jones and Mead Burke and are keeping up the top form that scintillated in their work against Notre Dame.

The half milers and the quarter milers will leave Madison for Evanston on Friday morning to compete in the preliminaries to be held in those events on Friday afternoon. The remainder of the squad will leave on Saturday morning.

Equitable Insurance Co. Report Shows Progress

The 63rd annual statement of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States gives evidence of the company's continued progress. The new insurance written in 1922 totalled $495,000,000, excluding over $48,000,000 of group insurance. The outstanding insurance on December 31st exceeded $3,000,000,000. Upwards of $111,000,000 was disbursed to policyholders and beneficiaries during the year in death claims, matured endowments, dividends, annuities and other payments, making a total return of $1,569,676,000 to policyholders since organization. Nearly $35,000,000 has been set aside for dividends to policyholders in 1923. A large increase was made in the issue of policies payable on the monthly income plan, as well as those taken to protect business interests and to provide for inheritance taxes. Over 98 per cent of the domestic death claims were paid within 24 hours after receipt of due proofs of death.

PLEASE—BUILD THAT UNION BUILDING

If the "Blue Bandits" downstairs don't quit pounding that piano pretty soon, we'll be writing synopated edits and jazz-measured news.

Please, everybody, hurry up and build that new Memorial Union building.

We suppose the "Bandits" must rehearse, but it's certainly tough on our journalisse.

IOWA SAYS "AYE"

The report comes immediately from Iowa upon receiving a question telegram from the Cardinal that the student body there is clamoring for a post-season basketball game between Iowa and Wisconsin. The coach and the team offer no out-of-training excuses. The coach and the team want a chance to meet us.

The plan of playing off the tie proposed by the Daily Iowan coincides with that The Cardinal puts forth. There is no argument between the players and the onlookers of the two tied institutions over holding the game. They want it. So far, so good.

Commissioner Griffith's opinion concerning the possibility of abrogating the present unfavorable Conference policy on the matter has not been received. Probably it will be urged in the Conference that the time is too short in which to consummate acting allowing the game. However, there seems to be no reason who an immediate vote could not be taken by mail. With a favorable Conference vote, the places and dates of the series could be effected without trouble.

Post-season games have a precedent. Chicago battled in three games with Pennsylvania in 1919 to settle a disputed intersectional championship. No serious harm resulted. There is no reason to expect that harm would result this year,—or in future years when ties will occur.

HONOR, 10 TO 1

The instructor conducting a foreign language examination last week quietly assumed his usual position in the front part of the room and proceeded to peruse some papers in his possession while several students "cleverly" absconded information relative to the exam from divers cards and notebooks.

This observation perhaps proves nothing else than the fact that several students in the class were dishonest to a serious degree. Whether similar conditions exist in all classes is a matter of dangerous conjecture.

However, either conclusion is a sad commentary on student attitude toward examination. If men and women don't cultivate the attribute of honesty at this sage of the game, when will they acquire it? The credit fines as published by the disciplinary committee are grim reminders that some students have had the lesson brought home to them much to their chagrin. Other offenders never will be caught.

But possibly the student does not deserve all the blame. Careless instructors unintentionally permit dishonest work. For some students, when not under the honor system, do not feel the moral restraint and the self-dignity which should prevail. The mere act of surveillance seems to be good license to cheat.

Students at Illinois recently voted 10 to 1 to keep the honor system, though it apparently had not accomplished what an honor system is theoretically designed to accomplish. Honor at any price, they cried.

Students at Wisconsin probably prize honor in about the same ratio. For the ten, the honor system exists without the system. For the one, close faculty scrutiny is essential.

TRICKS OF FATE

Fate deals odd cards.
Football fans who have watched the marvelous progress of the Wisconsin five will agree with this Hoyle-like statement.

Defeated by Marquette university and considered by the student body in general as a unpromising team, the Badger cagers have crashed their way through the conference schedule with increasing momentum.

The score against Indiana on Monday night, 35 to 17, the highest point record of the season, was the climax.

Marquette university defeats Wisconsin in a pre-season game.

One of the former Marquette coaches is then selected to be the football mentor for the Badger players.

For the first time in years in university athletic annals a full-time director for football will function. His achievements are enviable, and the students here expect much from his guidance.

Spring opens, we proclaim, inspired.

March came in like a lamb.

Sunshine flooded the campus; the breeze was balmy and delightful; the grass even could be seen.

Ten days later, and what? The worst blizzard in ten years snows Madison under with a foot-deep blanket.

Professors are unable to make classes, trains are stalled for hours, street cars refuse to run, and students wonder about that much-heralded Spring.

Another raw deal, perhaps, of Fate who dealt the most unexpected card of all.

Editors Say—

TOWN AGAINST CITY

McGill Daily
It is a matter of difficulty to partake to the full of the privileges of a university and at the same time endeavor to enjoy the many advantages of city surroundings. Exclusive participation in one must necessarily limit the part that may be assumed in the other. At McGill, owing to its situation in a city, the undergraduate is constantly wavering between the inducements offered by the latter and the obligations placed upon him by his Alma Mater.

The case is different, however, when the college is the hub of the town in which it is located. This can only be, of course, when the university has its site in a centre of comparatively small population; when the university rather than being a mere incident in the life of the community is the very essence and personification of the community life; when college functions are town functions, and college celebrations town celebrations.

In such an environment the student finds it impossible to cut himself adrift from the undergraduate routine in which he has a definite place.

Looked at from such an angle there is much to be said for the location of the university in the small town, although there are undoubted benefits attached to its position in a city; as a member of this larger sphere the student profits from the opportunities afforded for attendance at plays and operas, of hearing men of note speak in public, of indulging in the thousand and one attractions placed before the city dweller, all of which, as one of a more limited population he would be very apt to miss.

Accordingly, bearing these facts in mind, the student sitting at lectures in the city university must beware lest he be drawn away from his duties as a scholar and as a member of his undergraduate society, by the multifarious diversions of the city.

It is only by demonstrating that, while not blind to the advantages of the city, he has not forgotten the purpose of his college course that the bias in favour of the university of the small town can be removed. Whether this will ever be achieved in its entirety is doubtful. There will always be a delightful atmosphere attributable to the "college town"; always an enviable air of informality and exclusion associated with the doings of its students, which, justifiably or not, is heightened by the impressions which we gain of student life under such conditions.

In the city the university must struggle against its environment, of which it is but one of many elements; in the town, the environment is an aid to the university, from which it takes its source.

FASHION NOTES

BY CUPID

Speaking of new clothes, Cardinal takes great pleasure in presenting to its readers the fashion edition, (sounds like Polly Prospect, eh wot?) in which the col. attempts to tell you just what is correct for spring, where to find it, and how much it costs.

1. Color will be the predominating feature this spring. Price, the cheapest 25 cents (and up). Can be purchased at any drug store, or paint shop.

2. Dresses will be worn longer. (I've already worn mine long enough). It cost $18 at Gimbel's four years ago (Pd. Adv.). Try and get that for it today.

3. Hats are simple this spring. Take any hat at all, borrow father's blue or red bandana (or brother's. Ours is working in a tannery—Brother—not bandana—Pardon interruption). Tie same around hat—presto—new lid.

Column Right!

Books and things—cabbages—
Kings—as penciled by Ever Sharp

"On the snow, the silly old snow!
Are you in favor of more of it?
NO!"

That is the sentiment which appears in F. P. A.'s column in the New York World. Our sentiments are about the same. But we do think that Madison is more beautiful in its new garments than New York could be.

Today, of course, the soft coal soot is doing its best to cloud the glory of the whiteness of yesterday in sympathy with our present feelings.

We started reading Zona Gale's latest novel yesterday afternoon but decided that we would have to be extraordinarily careful in reviewing any work written by one who is now a regent of the university. So we are postponing this ticklish task until Friday morning's issue.

We did discover a number of things while reading it, or at least they were impressed upon us. A novelist can give a vast amount of help to her reader by not trying continually to write in a strained tone or with a style so out of the ordinary that one is continually required to reread short sentences which are twisted and turned in an apparently unnecessary fashion into complex masses of grammar.

Have you ever tried reading out loud? Undoubtedly you have. So have we; and yesterday we blundered along noisily chopping out the words until the end of the first chapter.

Then came relief. The soft voice of our companion made it possible for us to appreciate the novel many more times than if we had been blundering on to ourselves. Our clumsiness was substituted by a smooth soft even reading.

In one of our English classes the teacher is continual harping upon the co-eds for not being able to do justice to their works because of the manner in which they read them. But we would far rather have a book read to us softly, even-ly than brazenly awkwardly.

4. The well-dressed man will avoid long trousers this spring. (gosh! I hope the typesetters don't leave anything out!) and will make use entirely of knickers. These are suitable for street wear—as well as tea dances.

5. Men's handkerchiefs are in all the pastel shades.

6. Yard of King Tut Tulle wound around the head will give protection and make the wearing of hair unnecessary. (This last applies to women, we make bold to presume.)

Any other questions of dress will be answered gladly by our expert designer, Pete Burns. (NOT Pd. Adv.)

"CUPID" also submits the following passionate pome.

A THRILL I thought a kiss would give
I THOUGHT one had to kiss to live.
AND SO I waited for the day,
UNTIL MY knight would come and say

"KISS ME, my fool," and when he would
I WAS determined to make good.
A MAN CAME—no—not my knight,
BUT HE knew how to kiss just right.

AND, WELL—I fell—you know the way,
NO LONGER now I make delay
AND SPUTTER "Bill! You quit!
I'M FAR above a thing like it!"

I SIMPLY close my eyes and say,
"OH BOY, I'm glad you came my way!"

My dear "Cupid:"

We are more than grateful for your contribution. However, there is a decidedly feminine tinge to the style. Of course we don't know much about such matters, but the last time we came into contact with the God of Love—he was a boy—

Yours very truly
AUNT SAMANTHA.

"This the last drop"—remarked the faucet as the plumber turned off the water.

The constitution of the United States has been lauded as being among the finest kind. But it is quite a different document now from what it was when it was signed in Philadelphia nearly a hundred years ago.

"Our Changing Constitution" by Charles W. Pierson, is one of the more serious books which has been written recently. Whether or not the constitution has profited by its many changes is left to the reader. Mr. Pierson's work is, however, one with which every American should make himself familiar if he is to discuss the state of the country or any matters pertaining to the life of the nation intelligently.

A number of interesting biographies have come off the presses within recent months. Among others there is that of Mr. Lloyd George by E. T. Raymond (George H. Doran company) and that of Jefferson Davis by Morris Schaff (John W. Luce and company).

Henry Ford, you may be interested to know, has added to the host of autobiographies with a volume entitled "My Life and Work". The Atlantic Monthly says of it "One expects an autobiography and finds something else—a book difficult to classify, just as its subject, Henry Ford himself, is difficult to classify. Perhaps it may best be described as a statement of social philosophy by a victorious individualist."

Dear Ever:

Again via Mr. Woodruff's Wake comes this:

Dear Harve: No Michigan stars have been visible in Madison this winter. Their appearance was predicted, but they never showed up. "Angry Michigan" says there were at least two, but both were ineligible. Wisconsin seems to require that its stars be bright above the neck as well as below. A star on the team is worth two in the stand.

Pennsylvania '17.
Sorta bears out what Doc Meanwell says about ineligibility, doesn't it?

"4 FIDDLERS" PLAY TONIGHT

British Quartet Will Give Concert at Presbyterian Church

"Four Fiddlers from London Town," otherwise the London String quartet, English artists of international renown and popularity, will play at Christ Presbyterian church tonight under the auspices of the University through Dr. Chas. H. Mills, director of the School of Music. The concert will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

The four players are James Levey, first violin, Thomas W. Petere, second violin, H. Waldo Warner, viola and C. Warwick-Evans, 'Cello. They constitute a finely balanced musical group, who produce exquisitely finished and deeply expressive music which has a personality of its own.

H. Waldo Warner has also made himself known as a composer of fanciful music. One of his most beautiful and charming compositions, a fairy suite "The Pixy Ring," will be a prominent feature of the concert program. Beethoven's "Quartet in A Major" and the "Quartet in F" from Dvorak are the other compositions which the group will present at their concert here.

The artists have been received with heartiest applause by critics of many American cities where they have appeared during the past year. As musicians of highest quality, of superb interpretation and delightful artistry, they are unsurpassed in the realm of chamber music.

Walton Pyre Will Give Program Here Tomorrow

Walton Pyre, of Chicago, at one time professor in the department of oratory here, will interpret classic poetry and poetic drama in a program at the Woman's building, tomorrow night. Mr. Pyre is national known among stage folks. Among the selections he will present are several from Kipling and Service, a musical reading, "King Robert of Sicily," with Cole music and an original selection of music for "The Highway Man," by Alfred Noyes. He will bring his own accompanist from Chicago.

Walton Pyre is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pyre, Madison and was graduated here in 1899. He was a professor in the department of oratory for two years after graduating. He is now director of the Chicago Musical college.

Tickets Left For Concert Tomorrow Night

Interest is being shown in the concert to be given Wednesday evening by the London string quartette at Christ Presbyterian church. Tickets have been going fast for the concert in spite of the fact that a number of other musical attractions are scheduled for the coming week.

The famous quartette which is composed of James Levey, first violin; Thomas W. Petere, second violin; H. Waldo Warner, viola, and C. Warwick-Evans, violincello, will play a program of classical and modern numbers, Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Brahms, among others.

The concert begins promptly at 8:15 o'clock. Tickets will remain on sale at the Albert E. Smith Music Co.

After Graduation—What?

A QUICK rise to a responsible position in the business world—or a long period of training at minor work before you are fitted for an executive role? Which shall it be? A college trained man, if he has earnestly applied himself, has acquired one of the greatest assets in life—the ability to think. It is a tremendous advantage. For now you are trained to set yourself for a certain definite goal and not be side-tracked. Have you chosen business for your life's work? If so, and if you seek leadership in the commercial world, here are facts worthy of your deepest consideration.

The principles of leadership in business are not many in number. They are not hard to grasp. Yet less than two men in one hundred ever learn them. The two chief reasons for this failure are: (1)—lack of an all-round business experience. (2)—the difficulty of drawing sound conclusions from the relatively few experiences that any one person can have.

A Study of Leaders

Through your studies thus far you have created for yourself a substantial background—a foundation upon which you can build high. Why not use this foundation in the largest possible way? If you are truly ambitious for steady and permanent progress, it will be well for you—in addition to your undergraduate work to consider the advisability of special training which will cut off years of apprenticeship in the business world. This training is available at the Babson Institute—an educational institution organized under the laws of Massachusetts not for profit.

Every man who hopes to be a leader in the business world needs special training—a training that can be had only from actual experience. A study of the successful business men of today shows they are those who have—(1)—a fundamental knowledge of business principles; (2)—a faculty for the practical application of these principles to daily business life.

These tried and proven principles, this gift for application may now be yours.

The Business of Learning Business

The specialists of the Babson Institute have spent years in business research, laboratory work, and the study of the lives of successful men. They have arrived at the fundamentals which every one must have to achieve leadership in business. These vitally important facts have been put together in clear, understandable form and concentrated into an intensive one-year training course. Babson Institute, an endowed educational institution, is conducted for the purpose of training young men who are to occupy positions of responsibility and trust.

The Laboratory Method

Since it is the purpose of the Babson Institute Course to train men for business, all work and all study is conducted in the same manner as work is conducted in any regularly established business house. For instance, there are regular office hours not merely school hours. Lessons and reports are dictated by the student as in an office—not written. Thus the student acquires a mastery of business English and the ability to transform quickly his thoughts into definite form.

Teaching in Conference

Classes are conducted on the conference plan. The teachers, or directors as they are more properly called, are experienced business men, successful in their own line. Factory inspection trips are not long distance walking matches, but personally conducted tours by experts in that particular industry. The problems discussed are present-day ones and are drawn from actual experience. They are the same problems on which over 17,000 of America's keenest executives are seeking aid and solution from the largest organization of business advisers in the world. The student at Babson Institute works on actual cases—not hypothetical problems—and consequently he develops the business man's point of view.

Business Clinics

The student at the Babson Institute learns to do the things he will be expected to do in business by constant contact with actual business procedure. He participates in the clinic instead of sitting in a class. The training covers the four major divisions of business, Manufacturing and Production, Financing, Distribution and Marketing, and Management.

If you are anxious for achievement, if, by inheritance or initiative, you seem destined to become one of our leaders of business, send for particulars about this training and its unusual teaching methods.

WOMEN TO SIGN FOR VOCATION CONFERENCES

The number of personal appointments on vocational matters with Miss Helen Bennett, manager of the collegiate bureau of occupations in Chicago, for senior and junior women has been increased by the addition of periods on Friday as well as Saturday, according to Lois Jacobs '24, general chairman of the vocational conference.

Miss Bennett will conduct these individual conferences of 15 minutes each from 9 until 12:15 o'clock and from 2 until 4 o'clock on Friday, and from 9 until 12:15 o'clock and from 2 until 5 o'clock on Saturday in the office of the Dean of Women.

A special poster is on the vocational bulletin board in Lathrop for all women who are interested to sign up on.

The general address of the whole vocational conference which is taking place this week-end will be given at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Lathrop parlors. She will also give an informal talk at Barnard hall at 6:30 o'clock.

"Miss Bennett has spoken here for the past nine years on vocational matters and is familiar to a great many women here. Her talks are based on a great store of actual experience dealing with women in the different fields of enterprises," Mrs. Clara Flett, assistant to the dean of women and in charge of the vocational work here, asserted.

"We are very anxious that all of the women who are interested sign up for the conference at once so that we may make our plans for the entire conference as soon as possible," said Lois Jacobs '24.

New Barnard Mirrors Help Co-eds Straighten Marceles

Is there a normal human being who does not look into the mirror at least once a day? Most folks would grant that the average person takes more than one look. If this be the case, the new full-length mirrors in Barnard deserve the warm welcome they received while the girls waited eagerly for them to be put in place, one on each floor opposite the elevator shaft.

"Peg, you have too much mountain air on the left side," "Hurry up, Ruth, you're all there," "Where did you get your marceles, Dot?" "For goodness sakes, Helen, give someone else a chance," are some of the exclamations heard as one waits the arrival of the elevator.

Though the novelty of Barnard's latest acquisition has rather subsided, many a miss may be caught slyly giving herself a last satisfactory peep into the mirror before she enters the elevator at the final warning of, "Going down."

Lack Of Power Was Cause Of Car Tieup

Madison's street car service, which has been tied up since early Monday morning, would not be in such a crippled condition if the company had been able to get electric power to run their cars late Sunday night.

The company had arranged to run cars and two snow plows all night to keep the tracks open, when the power was cut off and all cars were at a standstill. When the power was finally renewed the cars on the tracks were literally snowed in.

British Clam U. S. Navy Not Greatly Reduced

LONDON — Lieut. Col. Amery, first lord of the admiralty, told the house of commons Sunday that United States did not reduce the personnel of its navy on a scale as large as did Great Britain and added it was impossible for the British empire to go below the one power standard.

Direction Necessary

Business In Need Of Church, Rev. Blakeman Tells The Nabor Club

"Business is all dressed up and has no place to go. It needs the direction of the church," Rev. E. W. Blakeman, pastor of the University Methodist Episcopal church, told the Nabors club following a dinner served by the Young Women's Guild at 6:30 Sunday night in the Plymouth Congregational church.

A saxophone solo was given by Glenn Seifert, accompanied on the piano by Miss Wilma Meier.

A committee was appointed to make plans for a ladies' night of the club to be held on Monday evening, April 2. Herman Berchold was appointed chairman of the committee.

Two Building Permits Granted; One Denied

Platt will be permitted to build a residence on an irregular lot bounded by Harrison street, Rowley and Commonwealth avenues, providing that a three foot rear yard is allowed.

The application of S. R. Spofford was denied as the side yard shown was insufficient. No further action was taken on the H. Philumalee application, which was previously denied by the building commissioner.

Noted Usher Act Closes at Orpheum Today

The Ushers, Claude and Fannie, never appeared to better advantage than in their present sketch, "The Bide-a-Wee Home," being played at the Orpheum for the last times this afternoon and evening. Madison vaudeville patrons have given the act great ovations throughout the week. It is said to be one of the season's best.

Other acts making their appearances tonight are: "The Spicy and Peppy Revue," by Willard Jarvis and his songstresses; Sylvester and Vance in "Horses," a comedy skit; Armstrong and Phelps, The Earls, and Harold Alberto, the "Gay Deceiver."

Gladys Delmar and her "boy friends," a syncopated sextette, demonstrate their eloquence in terms of super jazz with modern improvements, beginning tomorrow. The band of "boy friends" accompanying Miss Delmar is one of the best that New York has produced in the past two seasons. Five more Orpheum Circuit contributions will round out a good bill for the weekend.

Manager Scharnberg of the Orpheum announced yesterday that he has booked for a return engagement the dancing De Marcos, and their "Sheik Band." This act received unlimited praise from the public and press of Madison while playing the Orpheum a few months ago.

Chatty Finds "Poor Men's Wives" Dull

"POOR MEN'S WIVES"

Featuring Barbara LaMarr, At the Parkway. Directed by B. P. Schilberg. Released through Al Lichtman Corporation.

By CHATTY

We feel that we may not be able to do this picture justice because of the fact that we became bored before it was entirely completed and left the theater half asleep. Whether it was the air, which has not been of the best in the Parkway of late, or just the dullness of the picture we are not certain, but it was probably a combination of both that caused our ennui.

Barbara LaMarr is usually worth going to see. But she, like Gloria Swanson, must wear gorgeous clothes in order to please the majority of fans. She looks too much like an ice-box when she dresses up the gingham and apron. And this picture does not give her much of an opportunity to get all dolled up.

As for the plot, it is an absurd one. The author tries to make us believe that the poor man's wife is in a happier lot than the rich man's. We, being of a sceptical nature anyway, know that the author has dreamed a lot of bunk that isn't so very true.

If you try to make us believe that Barbara, tending a couple of kids and perspiring over the dishes is a happier girl than Claribel who is bathed in luxury you're not going to get away with it.

What the author may have been trying to put over was the fact that the poor man's wife had love while the other didn't. But there is mighty little proof that poor men's wives get more love than rich men's.

It was not difficult to see that the directors had endeavored to make his picture so that it would get across with as much success as "Trifling Women", Miss LaMarr's latest vehicle before this one. But try as they could, the story didn't give them sufficient material to manufacture a sensation creating film.

The minor characters in the cast all did fairly enough. Claribel the cat, we don't know who played her part, did excellently, so well in fact that we wanted to stroke her nice furry neck and then suddenly grasp and wring it.

Marion Davies and Forrest Stanley.

Stellar Film Starts Here At Majestic

"When Knighthood was in Flower", the elaborate Cosmopolitan Production starring Marion Davies which has been the talk of motion picture circles for months, will play here for ten days beginning tomorrow night at the Majestic theater. The picture is said to mark an epoch in screen production. Not only has more money been spent on it than on any picture ever made—a million and a half dollars—but the settings, designed by Joseph Urban, are said to be the most faithful reproductions of gorgeous court life ever made, and the quality of the big cast out-ranks anything yet seen in the screen.

The picture is said to follow very closely the colorful romantic tale which had its foundation in real history and the rustle of silk and brocades, the glint of swords and all the pomp and ceremony of court life are faithfully reflected on the screen. No less an authority than Sir Joseph Duveen, eminent art collector of London, states that the court scenes of King Henry VIII are the most authentic ever made.

When they started making the picture, Cosmopolitan Productions decided that everything in a setting must be a real antique or a perfect reproduction of the period. Dr. Bashford Dean, foremost authority in this country on ancient armor and for five years curator of this department in the Metropolitan Museum of Art was commissioned to secure suits of armor which could be used in actual combat as well as for ornamental purposes. He secured from the collection of the former Emperor of Germany genuine suits of tilting armor valued at $100,000. Rare tapestries valued at as high as $125,000 apiece were secured from Mr. Joseph Duveen of London and other private collectors.

Marion Davies as Princess Mary Tudor has by far the most important role of her screen career. Fifteen different costumes designed after careful study of costumes actually worn by Princess Mary, are worn by Miss Davies. Each has its own set of special designed jewelry. The wedding dress of ermine, pearls and cloth of silver is one of the most elaborate creations of all and weighs twenty-five pounds.

Among the thrilling scenes of the production is a thirty foot leap on horseback off a bride into the river below made by Princess Mary and Charles Brandon. Another is the combat engaged in by twenty swordsmen and in which Miss Davies, skillfully handling a sword, plays a lively part.

Three of the largest studios in New York were used for making the mammoth production. One of the scenes required the biggest indoor set ever made—that showing a village street in France and in which three thousand actors are employed.

H. S. TOURNEY OPENS MAR. 21

Large Entry List Makes Advance of One Day Necessary

Due to the number of teams entered in the State High School Basketball tournament and to the fact that the officials wish to make it as easy as possible for the competing teams, the date of the opening of the tournament has been set ahead one day to March 21.

This arrangement will make the tournament last four days instead of the usual three of previous years. The fact that 16 teams are entered this year had considerable to do with the changing of the date since it was very hard to schedule the necessary 22 games in three days.

All teams entering the tournament will be required to be in Madison on Wednesday, March 21. The first game of the tournament which will decide the high school championship of the state will take place on the afternoon of that date.

The teams which have earned a right to compete here with the exception of one from the Rhinelander district which has not been heard from are: Kenosha, Appleton, Stevens Point, Two Rivers, La Crosse, Wisconsin High, Oshkosh, Shawano, Eau Claire, Cuba City, Superior Central, Janesville, Rio, New Richmond, and Menominee.

PAT CLERKIN LEADS IN WHISKER RACE

"Dark Horse" revealed himself early yesterday morning in the person of Patrick Clerkin, erstwhile proprietor of the steam and gas laboratories. Curious engineers crowded main hall before eight o'clocks, and when Pat's candidacy was announced, a shout of approval went to the very roof of the old building.

Pat jumped into third place almost at once, and he kept gathering in votes until, at four-thirty yesterday he lead with 9,700 votes. Arthur Rabuck trailed him with 9,500 votes.

"Well, me by, I've been on this here ranch for 14 years, and since I'm in it, I'm here for all there is," said the genial old fellow yesterday afternoon when the reporter caught him taking off the cylinder head of a compound Corliss Engine.

No, Engineers, Patrick Clerkin is not a student, but he was born in Ireland at the time of the "Big Wind", and came to this country 16 years later to be Saint Patrick's direct representative at the University of Wisconsin.

Whether Pat will remain in the race is causing much concern among the Chemicals and Electricals. Both societies will hold meetings tonight for the purpose of boosting their candidates. Both societies boast of a dark horse that will rival Patrick Clerkin in popularity but if dark horse isn't twins Pat says he'll head the parade Saturday afternoon.
