STUDENTS URGE DISARMAMENT IN RESOLUTION

Wire is Sent to Conference
Representatives as Climax of Noon Series of Mass-meetings

A resolution urging the representatives at Washington to stand strongly for fair and practicable reduction of armament, and for the abolition of secret diplomacy which is characterized as a powerful instrument of international fear and greed, was adopted by the students present at the last of the all-university disarmament mass meetings in Music hall yesterday noon.

The motion was drawn up by Dean Scott H. Goodnight, and was wired to the disarmament conference by Miss Sonya Forthal, president of the Collegiate League of women voters, as representative of Wisconsin opinion.

"We human beings are organized to oppose all manner of evil, crime and disease, but we do nothing to prevent war," said Dean Goodnight in speaking to the meeting. "We ought to lift our voices in protest and make them heard the world over."

Dr. Graham H. Stuart showed how advantageous to disarmament an alliance between United States and Great Britain would prove. In this way the two great powers could force Japan to limit her armaments. At present Japan is opposed to such action on account of the loss of her prestige in Asia. Already there are evidences of the desire of Great Britain and the United States to enter into such a union.

The geographic situation of the two great powers eliminates all need for armament for defensive purposes, but if arms are kept intact there is that everpresent desire to attack.

"We can all practice our policy, anything that you do to provoke trouble between the United States and Great Britain will promote trouble and impair peaceful negotiations," continued Dr. Stuart, "be careful not to follow and openly endorse any such attitude as is put forth in regard to England by William Randolph Hearst, for in my opinion you are directly inviting war and armament."

Athletic Review to Be Sold Saturday

The November-December issue of the Athletic review will be put on sale at Camp Randall during the Michigan game Saturday.

The issue will contain an interview with Judge "Ikey" Karel, a story about Pat O'Dea, famous Wisconsin grid star of former days. forecasts on conference track and basketball, a review of the football and cross country seasons, and an enlarged humor section to which several well known campus humorists have contributed.

Women No Longer May Solicit Men In Campus Drives

"On and after November 1, 1921, women students are not permitted to canvass or solicit men to donate to funds, or to buy tags, buttons, subscriptions, or other articles in support of any campus activity."

This regulation, passed by the Student Life and Interests committee, Dean Scott H. Goodnight, chairman, on October 18, was made public last night. The committee held the publication of the announcement until after Homecoming, in order not to interfere with the handling of the program and button sales for that event.

The passing of this ruling will materially effect the subscription methods employed by the Badger, the Octopus, the program and button sales for Homecoming, and all tag day enterprises.

"The men of the university have plenty of real college spirit and will support activities without the solicitation of girls," commented Dean F. Louise Nardin last night.

"A better way can be found, and we are underestimating the spirit of the men. We veil the loyalty of Wisconsin's men when we insinuate that they will not give their support without being cajoled by the women. Many men have protested against the present system, and it is my belief that a man would buy a Badger whether or not he were solicited by a dozen women."

Ellen Correll '22, president of S. G. A., stated last night that a petition had been sent by that body to the Students Life and Interests committee asking for the co-operation of the men in all enterprises affected by this ruling, but this petition did not exclude the assistance of the women. Auta Lyman '22, president of Y. W. C. A., and Mabel Winter '22, president of W. A. A., stated that they would be in a position to give a statement of their opinions on this ruling for tomorrow's Cardinal.

Union Subscriptions Pass $50,000 Mark

Yesterday's subscriptions to the Union Memorial drive in the university pushed the total past $50,000, according to the reports up to 9 o'clock last night.

The city subscriptions as announced yesterday noon at the luncheon held in the Y. M. C. A. for the city workers, were $10,791 for yesterday, bringing the total for the city to $35,823.

"If this average is maintained," declared Emerson Ela, chairman of the city campaign, "we will raise more than our quota of $100,000."

There will be a compulsory meeting of the canvassing personnel tonight at 7:15 in the Chemistry auditorium. The meeting is called by Prof. E. H. Gardner.

HEAVY VOTE IS PREDICTED FOR ELECTION TODAY

Referendum on Tradition
Commission's Report
Presented

The largest vote in the history of any student election is expected today when class officers, Prom chairman, and Student Senate and Union board members will be chosen at the ballot box and a general referendum on traditions and the reorganization of the senate will be taken.

Election day comes after one of the most highly developed campaigns that the campus has witnessed in many years. The candidates for the principal offices are supported by strong organizations, and Wednesday was marked by a large number of final appeals for the various candidates. Workers interested in the contest put forth every effort to get out all the voters today.

The referendum being held today is an outgrowth of the report from the all-university traditions committee which recently surveyed the whole question of traditions and student government. The verdict of the students in this election will determine largely the course which traditions will pursue in the university for some years to come.

The polls open at 8:45 and close at 5:00. The election will be conducted according to the regulations of the senate governing elections. One or more senate members will be on duty at each polling place at all hours of the day to see that there are no violations of these regulations.

In addition, a special group will be on duty on the campus in the

Groups Chosen to Have Charge of Union Vodvil

The committees which will carry out the work of the 1921 Union Vodvil, December 9 and 10, have been appointed and are now working to make this year's production a success, according to Dale Merrick '22, whom the Union board has named as general manager of the 1921 variety show.

Tryouts of acts will be held on next Monday and Tuesday nights at 7 o'clock in Lathrop hall. Although there are more than a dozen different groups preparing to present acts, the production staff is desirous that other acts be entered. There is yet plenty of time to work up an act, and any group or individual desiring to try out may notify Carl Bronson at Badger 975. To be eligible for Union Vodvil a sophomore standing and scholastic eligibility are required. The judges for the tryouts are William Pur-

MISSOURI AND WASHINGTON TO OPEN DEBATING

Arnold Perstein '21 Coaches
Team to Meet Wisconsin in First Forensic Event of Year

Debates with the University of Missouri and Washington university will open the Wisconsin inter-collegiate forensic season according to a decision made by the Forensic board at its meeting yesterday. This is the first time that Wisconsin teams will debate with these schools and one case presents the queer coincidence of having the coach of the opposing team a Wisconsin graduate, who himself debated for Wisconsin last year and the year before.

Arnold Perstein, who is Missouri's debating coach, is a Wisconsin graduate with the class of '21; he will bring the first product of his coaching to meet his alma mater on the platform from which he debated two years ago. During his undergraduate days Perstein debated against Illinois, Minnesota, and Michigan, in his junior year debating both sides of the same question.

Only One Judge

The debates, to take place the first Friday following the Christmas holidays, will be unique in that they will be the first Wisconsin debates to be judged by one man. This is an innovation which is coming into favor at some schools but which has never been tried out here, although last year "no-decision" contests were held.

One Wisconsin team will meet Perstein's Missouri squad here while the other journeys to St. Louis to clash with Washington university. The other Washington team will debate Missouri at Columbia. The debates will be held on the same rules as the conference debates with 12-minute main speeches and five-minute rebuttals.

Haresfoot Makes $200 Prize Offer For Musical Play

Making a new appeal for students to enter the prize play contest for the 1922 Haresfoot show, William H. Purnell '22, president of the club, said, "The Haresfoot club has raised the prize money to $200 because it is frankly in need of a show, and in order to attract the best talent in school."

The book and music of the Haresfoot spring production was written last year entirely by students; before that time alumni wrote the show. The contest is open to any student or alumnus of the university, and the prize of $200 will be split equally between the composer of the music and the writer of the book.

THE NOSIE NEWSIE

Today's question: "What do you think of the men of the university?"

George Bartlett: "After you have had two dates broken, you begin to doubt any thoughts that you may have had. So you will have to wait until I have made up my mind again."

Catherine Kenney: "Huh, they are a bunch of snobs, as far as I can figure out. And fickle....did you ever see anything as bad in your life?"

Chuck Hawks: "The men of the university are the best thing about this school, but the women don't appreciate a good thing when they see it, that's all."

Katherine Brimes: "I think that they are the most darling, the sweetest, the most lovable things that I have ever had the good fortune to meet."

John Schee: "That's a heck of a question to ask a modest young man like myself, and you know just as well as I do that I can't give you my sincere thoughts on the matter."

Students Do Work In Americanization

Eight Russians, 14 Italians, one Bohemian, and many other foreigners are among those taking advantage of the night classes on Americanization at the new Vocational high school. The instructors in charge of these groups are university students, six men and two women. The work of obtaining the leaders is being handled by the university Y. M. C. A.

"Dad" Wolf of the Y. M. C. A., said yesterday that the average intelligence manifested by the foreigners is surprising. He stated that many of the men who are taking advantage of these courses are graduates of foreign universities.

In the beginner's course where reading and writing are taught 30 are enrolled. The preliminary English course has 22 students, and 14 are taking the course which is analogous to high school English.

The hope of the present workers is to interest so many students in the undertaking that in time there will be one student assigned to every two foreigners. The program of the course as outlined is to intersperse the regular school work with classes on Americanization and also with recreational activities. Anyone interested in this work should communicate with Oscar Baker '22, at B. 4271.

POLITICIANS MAY NOT BE NOISY IN ELECTION TODAY

Senate Committee to Enforce Regulations on Vote
Soliciting

All Senate election regulations will be strictly enforced at the election today. Personal solicitation of voters by a candidate or his supporters is the extent to which any candidate may go in his campaign.

The Senate has ruled that such solicitation shall not take place in the polling place, room, or part of building designated as such. The defacing of campaign booklets, printing of handbills, cards, placards, use of automobiles, or use of money in any form for furthering the campaign, either by the candidate or his supporters, shall bar such candidate from holding office.

Albert Knollin '23 with a group of students will see that there is no shouting or boisterous solicitation of votes. A candidate may quietly reason with a voter, but any unnecessary promiscuous shouting or objectionable accosting of any voter will be barred.

The Senate Elections committee, composed of Tom Coxon, George Stolley, Melbourne Bergerman, Dale Merrick, and Tom McCandless, will have full jurisdiction over any violations of the election rules.

Harriers Meet For Colleges On Saturday

All-Americans Fail to Pierce Varsity Defense

With four strong school teams entered in the inter-college cross country meet to be held this Saturday, the race should call forth some of the keenest competition of the intramural season. Agriculture, Letters and Science, Commerce and Engineering are each represented by experienced men and the L. and S. aggregations having a slight shade on the other teams.

Captain Sommer of the L. and S. squad has a large following of stars whom he will attempt to lead to victory. His team will consist of: H. C. Bachhuber, H. F. Copeland, R. F. Herrman, G. F. Lange, W. W. Sovereign, R. D. Grubb, T. Suzuki, and M. B. Hilberts.

L. and S. Strong

Hilberts, a freshman, won the mile race in the freshman-sophomore meet held at Camp Randall this fall. Herrman, Sommer, and Suzuki have been showing up well on the second Varsity hill and dale squad. This group will make a strong fight for leading honors Saturday.

The Engineers will be led by Captain Nelson. The plumber crew will include: W. Manthly, Hazen, R. Fabera, Vollrath, W. Damerow, R. Dowling, W. F. Greeley, C. Newman, R. B. Sawtelle, and G. Kloser. Three of these men: Fabera, Damerow, and Vollrath, have been doing good work in freshman track this season, and Dowling, Greeley, Hazen, and Manthly are on Coach Burke's second Varsity squad.

Agric Team

Leading the Ags, is Captain Schneider, a runner who has shown much ability in the distance work this fall. His team will consist of the following: R. P. Smithyman, C. J. Weyker, E. J. Blewett, E. J. Hammen, Gunderson, and O. Rewey.

The Commerce school will be represented by Captain C. C. Kober, A. Flamer, R. Blakeman, P. C. Branch, L. P. Hase, W. T. Peterson, J. A. Straka, and R. Thiessenhusen. Chase, Kober, and Straka are able hares who will do their best for their college, and Thiessenhusen is a freshman of much ability.

The meet will be called at 11:15 on Saturday morning and will be held over the short course. The men of the winning college team will be awarded their college insignia, as will the first five men to finish. With the well balanced teams entered, the meet should call forth some unusually speedy work.

Choose three Class Volley Ball Teams

The class volley ball teams for winter competition have been chosen from among the women participating in this sport. The junior, sophomore, and freshman first teams as selected are:

Junior—Svea Adolphson, Helen FitzGibbon, Ramona Hayes, Ruth Hoffman, Elsie Iverson, Florence Miller, Margaret Thomas, Victoria Werner. Manager, Ramona Hayes. Sophomores—Elizabeth Barnes, Isabel Farrington, Harriette Greene, Jenine Gregg, Leone Immel, Helen Kingsford, Clara Klosterman, Mary Puehler, Dorothy Swenson, Muriel Warnes, Alice Wray. Manager, Dorothy Swenson.

Freshman—J. C. Ahern, Jane Baldwin, Dorothy Ball, Alice Gilbert, Esther Griffith, H. E. Hagan, Cora Hermes, Dogmar Iverson, E. J. Johnson, Irene Montgomery, Catherine Sullivan, manager.

Does World Center at Centre College? Chuck Says "No"

By CHUCK

More and more trouble with these young sport writers. Now, one from the South says, "Bo" McMillin is the hardest back in the country to stop." A statement like this would easily deceive the deaf, dumb and blind. The author must have got his info from the Centre college catalogue which tells about bluegrass, Kentucky mint juleps, and "Bo" McMillin. They don't dare to say anything about the school itself.

The man who hands the brown derby to "Mac" never heard of Wisconsin. He thinks "Rollie" Williams is a toe dancer, "Rowdy" Elliott is a racehorse, and Guy Sundt is president of Vassar. If you asked him how he liked "Kibo" Brumm, he'd answer, "Isn't she the sweetest thing imaginable?"

That boy thinks Minnesota is up in Canada. The Wisconsin-Minnesota 35 to 0 score sounds to him like statistics on the number of students down at Centre. He doesn't know that the old pigskin sang "Home Again Blues" every time it got into Minnesota territory after the first touchdown.

In old Kaintuck', the football players are so hard they scrimmage on billiard tables. They eat hard-tack and brick cheese three times a day, and on Sunday food is seasoned with three drops of strychnine. Every time the teams practice, all the athletes pray. You never know what your cousin will do to you down there. When the men report to Coach Moran, they punch the clock. When drill is over they punch his nose. The same bugle is so flat that, in comparison, a pancake looks like a close-up view of the Rocky mountains.

If conference elevens played teams like Transylvania, Kentucky State, and Harvard, they'd be arrested on a charge of mayhem, assault with intent to kill, and cruelty to animals. But Centre beat dead, old Hawvawd. The Crimson claims the championship of Cambridge, Bering Straits, and Orihula. Hats off to "Bo" McMillan and his brave Kentucky Colonels.

Chicago Ticket Sale Will Open On November 15

Ten days before the Chicago-Wisconsin game at Chicago, the athletic department is already besieged with inquiries about tickets for the Mid-Western football classic. Wisconsin has been allotted 5,000 tickets for the game to be played on a Saturday, Nov. 19, and these will be distributed with a limit of two for each purchaser.

No applications for the ducats are necessary. Seat sale will begin at 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning, Nov. 15. Two or three booths will be placed in front of the gymnasium, and these will be open continuously from 9 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock, with several shifts of men to dispense the pasteboards.

In addition to the 5,000 tickets on sale at Madison, Wisconsin alumni can procure 4,000 at Milwaukee and Chicago. William Goldie, Second Ward Savings bank of Milwaukee, has 1,000 tickets to be placed among the Wisconsinites, and P. D. Burhoe, Chicago City club, 315 Plymouth court, Chicago, has 3,000 tickets to be sold to ex-Badgers who now reside in that city.

Prices range from $1 to $3.50 for regular seats, and $5 for boxes.

Stout Institute won the northern state football championship on Saturday by defeating Superior normal school, 13 to 12.

Engineer-Lawyer Game Postponed

The football game which was to have been played between the Law and Engineering elevens this Friday afternoon was indefinitely postponed at the request of the Memorial Union committee at a meeting held at the university gymnasium last night.

The game was postponed for the following reason:

The present wet condition of the field would undoubtedly limit the size of the crowd as well as hinder the playing. After the Michigan game, it will be possible to procure the Varsity field for the tilt, making it much easier for the committee to handle the crowd, as it would be a difficult proposition to collect admission on the practice field.

According to Manager Tyrrell of the Law school team, the clash will take place either late next week or else at Thanksgiving time. Both schools have large squads which are practicing as much as the weather permits. Captain Barr has over 30 men trying out for positions on his eleven and over 50 candidates are attempting to obtain berths on the Engineering school team.

Winter Closes Tennis Tourney

Winter brought the all-university tennis tournament to an abrupt end before the finals could be played off and a champion crowned. The matches had gone into the semifinals and Tredwell had defeated Wright in three fast sets, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5, which sent him into the finals. The other matches were not played up to yesterday and it is now certain that the tournament will be called off.

The tournament brought out several good men who will be eligible for the freshman and Varsity teams in the spring. As soon as the weather permits, the spring tournaments will be run off in preparation for the season.

Athletic Department To Regulate Traffic

To accommodate the 20,000 persons who are expected to throng Camp Randall on a Saturday afternoon, the athletic department has taken steps to minimize the difficulty of entering the stadium.

Auto traffic on Breese Terrace and the parking of autos at Camp Randall has been forbidden. There will be two entrances to the stands. Lanes will be marked out through which ticket holders can easily find their seats. The lanes will be lettered to correspond with the lettering of sections in the stands, and spectators will be able to directly follow the lanes to the vicinity of their seats.

Twenty thousand persons pushed through the turnstiles in a half hour was the record of the athletic department at the Minnesota game. All tickets were inspected to prevent the possibility of counterfeited cards being used and the muddy entrance field handicapped speed, but in the face of these obstacles, the athletic department handled the crowd in good shape.

Gardner to Speak on Memorial Union At Fellowship Meet

What the Memorial Union will mean to students of Wisconsin will be the subject of a talk by Prof. E. H. Gardner at the Fellowship meeting tonight at 7 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. Professor Gardner has devoted much of his time during the past three weeks to the training of solicitors.

Gridiron Men Scrimmage on Snowy Field

Four Teams to Meet in Intra-Mural Race

Rain or shine, it makes no difference to Coach John Richards and his battling squad of Badger cohorts. Duplicating the Tuesday practice in its intensity and drive, the Varsity again scrimmaged the All-Americans in a 40-minute session on the bleak, snow-covered Camp Randall practice field yesterday afternoon.

The players were equipped to stand hardships imposed by the elements, and as in previous drills, their showing was entirely satisfactory to Richards. Working Michigan formations for all they are worth, the reserves tried to break up the Badger defense, but to no avail. The regulars' primary and secondary defenses held at all times and squelched efforts of the third stringers.

Team in Good Shape

The team is in good shape, according to Trainer George Berg. Wisconsin is ready for a gruelling fight against the Maize and Blue eleven. While followers are somewhat overconfident, members of the team realize that they are in for a hard battle on Saturday and they share none of the excess enthusiasm indulged in by too rabid Badger partisans.

Varsity will not engage in any more battles for the rest of the week. A dummy scrimmage to perfect all formations and keep the men in shape is scheduled for this afternoon. The men are tapering down to the fine point which Richards predicted they would reach when the Michigan game rolled around. They will run through signals Friday in the last workout.

"Rollie" at Quarter

"Rollie" Williams has probably drawn the quarterback assignment for the game. He has been piloting the team in practice sessions. Gibson alternated with the Edgerton pride at quarter, but he appears to have the edge for left half. The remainder of the Badger team will be in the same positions as in previous games, with Gould at left end.

At Ann Arbor, Coach Fielding H. Yost directed his men in scrimmage on a field covered with snow. Banks, regular Michigan quarter, is definitely out of the game. His place will be filled by Uteritz who handled the team capably in the Illinois game. All other Michigan injured players have recovered and will be in shape to play.

Rooters to Come

Numerous supporters of the Wolverines will watch the two teams clash at Camp Randall. At least 1,500 students are scheduled to leave Ann Arbor on Friday and arrive at Madison at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. They will bring with them a 61-piece band to liven up things on the Wolverines' side of the gridiron.

In addition to the students, three special trains of Michigan alumni are due to reach the city Saturday. They will come from Chicago and Milwaukee. Special trains to bear Wisconsin partisans have been chartered in Milwaukee and Racine. It is expected that the crowd will easily reach 20,000 persons.

Rowdy Leads in Conference Scoring

With 42 points representing seven touchdowns to his credit, Alvah "Rowdy" Elliott, Wisconsin right halfback, holds scoring honors in the Big Ten conference to date. The official compilation of points registered in conference clashes since the opening of the season on October 1, puts Elliott four points ahead of his nearest rival, Aubrey Devine, Iowa quarterback.

Devine marked up five touchdowns for 30 points and swelled the total by booting goals following eight touchdowns.

Sarg's Marionettes Call Back Poignant Flashes of Childhood

By WALTER K. SCHWINN

It is easy enough to talk about being children again; and almost everyone recalls certain stories, certain songs, or bits of verse that recall poignant flashes of childhood. One felt that way last night, after viewing Tony Sarg's Marionettes in a colorful performance of "Rip Van Winkle" at the Madison High school.

The dolls themselves were novel and interesting, and the very smooth handling of the action, too, was remarkable. But the outstanding feeling aroused was one of fascinating recollections of "Alice in Wonderland" and "Treasure Island"—all the delightful imagination and fancy of youth. And the final singing of "Noel, Noel" was extremely suggestive; there was no one in the audience too old not to feel the atmosphere of long-ago Christmases.

Tony Sarg has given the old art of puppetry an extremely pleasant revival. His dolls were extremely life-like and full of character, while the handling of the figures was done with skill and finesse. Rip was handled in good fashion, his lines being read with no little characterization. And Wolf!—indeed, the sort of dog one imagines Rip had, a dog who handled himself with all the agility and naturalness of a canine not half so wooden. Judith was made, both her puppeteer and her reader, a typical ingenue, all gurgles and sighs and tears. Mrs. Rip suited action to word in every way, making a most threatening figure.

The sets were very good, too. I liked especially the scene within Hendrick Hudson's cave, with the wierd red and blue lights, the sly chuckles of the dwarfs, the drowsy drinking, and the final sweep and stir of the ghosts. The Christmas scene in the court-yard of the Inn was very atmospheric, and the singing of the carols was handled with a subtle touch that was indeed excellent.

It was mighty good entertainment, and, if one is not too seriously minded, very enjoyable. Tomorrow we're going to read "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow."

STOCK JUDGES WORK HARD FOR COMING CONTEST

The stock judging team is now preparing for the student contest at the International stock show to be held at Chicago from November 28 to December 3.

The preparation consists of judging animals in the university herds and judging trips to prominent farms in various part of the state. Records are kept of the standings of the members of the team, and the men receiving the best records will be selected to represent Wisconsin in the stock judging contest.

Last week the team went to Evansville where many classes of live stock were judged. Six classes of Herefords were judged at the J. J. Robinson farm, where the men saw the champion male and female Hereford exhibit at the Wisconsin State fair. Several classes of sheep were judged at the William Miles farm.

The squad now consists of Max Edwards, L. Costerhuis, F. D. Harris, R. C. Klussendorf, A. Knudsen, A. M. Knoll, W. F. Koch, J. A. Last, C. A. Ruff, K. P. Sayre, Harvey Weaver, G. L. Weber.

MILITARY MEN FROLIC FRIDAY IN ANNUAL HOP

Singing by a quartet, solos by Kenneth Damon '22, and music the Bill Thompson's seven piece orchestra are the attractions being offered to ex-soldiers, university cadets, and members of the band who will attend the military hop Friday evening in Lathrop hall.

That was the program outlined yesterday by Evard Caluwaert, who has charge of the special features for the second annual military hop. Lunch will be served at small tables in the cafeteria, arrangements having been made by Richard Meade '22, cadet adjutant.

In keeping with the military nature of the dance, the hall will be decorated with flags and shields.

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the last 24 hours was 2 at 8 a. m. yesterday, and the lowest was 28 at 6 a. m. today.

It is raining in the south, snowing and sleeting in the north where the storm is now moving toward the Atlantic. It is much colder in the Mississippi valley and on the southern plains. The thermometer fell to within 10 degrees of zero in Minnesota. Fair weather with rising temperatures is moving eastward across the northern Rockies and the northern plains.

Corn Crop Prospect in U. S. Declines Slightly

WASHINGTON—The corn crop declined slightly during October, today's preliminary estimate of the production made by the department of agriculture being 11,365,600 bushels less than was forecast a month ago. The total crop this year will be 3,151,698,000 bushels, still one of the largest ever produced. Preliminary estimates of other crops were announced as follows: Buckwheat 14,894,000, potatoes 356,076,000, sweet potatoes 105,841,000, tobacco (pounds) 1,020,874,000, flax seed 9,360,000, pears 9,780,000, apples 102,290,000, sugar beets (tons) 7,480,000, kafirs 125,724,000, peanuts 33,664,000.

The preliminary estimates of corn by principal producing states were: Illinois 304,550,000, Michigan 63,999,999, Wisconsin 91,080,000, Minnesota 131,733,000, Iowa 428,274,000.

City Planner Would Take Street Car Line From State Street

Radical Changes Proposed
by City Planning
Expert Here

COUNCIL HEARS REPORT

Would Put Car Line On University Ave.; Ask Elevation of Tracks

Radical changes are proposed to make Madison an ideal city for the next 50 years by Harland Bartholomew, city planner, St. Louis, employed by the city to make a survey upon which shall be based all future improvements. His preliminary report was presented to the city council Tuesday night. It will be some time yet before the final report is made.

The removal of the street car line from State street to University avenue, extended to Washington avenue, is proposed. If the line is not changed, he proposed that State street be widened. The elimination of all railroad grade crossings in Madison, by elevating the tracks and depressing the street grades, and the subsequent constructing of viaducts, is planned.

Scores of street openings, short-cuts and widening of streets are proposed. Changes in the freight yards of two of the railroads is suggested. The connection of Monroe and Regent with W. Washington avenue, giving a through and direct route from east to west, is emphasized as a necessity, and there are scores of other connections and improvements to streets suggested.

Explaining his reason for taking the car lines off State street, Mr. Bartholomew declared that if University avenue is made the main automobile thoroughfare and the street car tracks are left there, all business would be attracted to University avenue, and the State street merchants would lose their trade.

"A car line no longer brings retail trade," said Mr. Bartholomew. "It is the automobile that does this. If you put the car line on University avenue it would make State an automobile street, and University avenue would still, with the 100 foot plan, be wide enough to attract considerable motor traffic."

The only point discussed following the talk was the extension of University avenue. It was pointed out by several aldermen that the widening of Bassett street to 80 feet would be far less expensive than the extension of the avenue and would at the same time open an automobile thoroughfare from University avenue onto W. Washington avenue, thus diverting the motor traffic from State street. Those opposed to the plan pointed out that this would not alleviate matters because motorists would not make this detour. They would probably, it was said, still use State street as their main channel when bound for the square.

He showed that the present system of freight yards is clumsy and does not tend toward the expansion of business. He said that the Milwaukee road has freight yard capacity for 350 cars a day, but in reality handles 1,200. He suggested that all the freight yards be moved further out from the city.

Mr. Bartholomew pointed out that while, under his contract with the city, he would have to go on with the city zoning, even if the council refused to consider any major street plan, he preferred that some major street plan be adopted, because the zoning work would be more satisfactory if this is done. No action was taken by the council last night.

"By reason of the close proximity of State st. and University ave., and the relation they have to one another, it is necessary to consider their improvement simultaneously," Mr. Bartholomew said. "These streets are two of the most important main thoroughfares in Madison."

Radical Changes As Proposed By City Plan Expert

Removal of street car line from State st. to University ave., extended to Mifflin, or widening of State st.

Extension of University ave., increased to 100 feet in width, to Washington ave., near Henry st.

Connection of Regent st. and W. Washington ave.

Connection of S. Hamilton st. across Monona Bay to South Madison.

Elimination of all railroad grade crossings by elevating track grades and depressing street grades, and construction of viaducts.

Removal of the Milwaukee freight yards to the outside of the city, to the south along the shore of Lake Monona.

Elimination of Northwestern road freight yards between Blair and Baldwin and expansion of its north yards.

ant main thoroughfares in Madison.

State st. serves as a connecting link between the capitol square and the university. It has a width of but 66 feet and carries a double track trolley line, and has commercial development for the greater part of its length. University ave., a very important radial thoroughfare, connecting with a state trunk highway on the west, now terminates on the east at Gorham st., and has no direct connection with the capitol square.

"Because of the one-way traffic movement on the square, which is a vast improvement over the old two-way movement, practically all traffic leaving the square for the west leaves on State st. The congestion of traffic on this narrow thoroughfare is becoming acute and it is apparent to the most casual observer that some means must be evolved to care for the future traffic in this vicinity.

The extension of University ave. to the square is one way to relieve this situation. There are many elements which enter into a practical solution of this problem. One of the controlling factors in attempting to devise a feasible solution is the movement of traffic leaving the square on Mifflin at Carroll st.

Two plans were pointed out. One is to widen State, with the car lines intact. The second is to remove the car lines to University ave. extended. In the latter case Mifflin st. would be widened. After a study of the situation Mr. Bartholomew reports:

"University ave. would be extended from Gorham st., 100 feet wide, to Washington ave. in the vicinity of Henry st. In view of this adequate width of extension, its present width of 90 feet west of Gorham st., the fact that it now carries a car line west of Park st., the need of workable traffic regulations at Mifflin, State and Carroll sts., the inadequate width of State st., and the impracticability of recommending its immediate widening, it is therefore proposed that the street car lines now on State st. be removed and placed on University avenue when the extension is made.

"While it may seem that the removal of the street car lines from State st. would prove detrimental to the present commercial development, such would not be the case. State st., for a part of its length, near the business district, is a well-established commercial street and will always remain such. Its location, connecting the state university with the capitol square, and

WORKERS AND SHIRKERS

ONE man declined to subscribe to a life membership in the Memorial Union because he needed the money to attend a formal dance.

Another man signed up for a life membership although he is in school on his own resources and will have to wash dishes to make the payments.

Another man sold a pint of his life blood to pay his subscription to the fund.

These examples speak for themselves. They show at once the weakness and the strength of the present campaign to erect a monument to Wisconsin spirit. The weakness is the small number who have not yet caught the vision of self sacrifice in a great cause. They may respond before Saturday. If not, the campaign will succeed without them. The strength lies in the vast and overwhelming number who understand and who are willing to make any sacrifice that they may not leave the halls of their alma mater without adding their stone to the structure of a greater Wisconsin.

The reports of the workers show that those who have given have given generously. The fields are white unto the harvest.

Build a home for Wisconsin spirit.

VOTE

AFTER a record breaking beating of political tom-toms and a prodigal expenditure of breath, the stage settings are all arranged for the fall election today.

The campus Will Hays's have been at it for weeks. Caucuses have become as frequent as tag days and a remarkable spirit of comradeship has sprung up between persons who never spoke to each other before.

The campaigns just closed have been characterized by energetic organization and spirited "politicizing." Some of it has been wholesome and some decidedly unwholesome, especially the activities of the mud-slingers. This is one brand of politics that ought not to be tolerated by students.

But on the whole, the campaigns have been conducted on the lines of decency and fair play.

The campaign managers have had their innings. Now it is up to the voters to judge between the candidates and between the issues. A student election should not be a mere test of organization skill between opposing political factions. It should register the opinion of the entire electorate. To make this possible it is highly necessary that every student qualified must vote. The student who shys from the election booth because he "feels above" politics is not worthy of citizenship in the student body. Every student is responsible for the conduct of his class and the guidance of self-government policies. If the average student disdains to vote he has no right to criticize the actions of men interested who attain office.

This election by its very nature calls for a large expression of the student mind. Referendum questions are up which will determine the course of student government for some time to come. Practically every office is being keenly contested.

These matters make it the clear duty of every qualified man and woman to cast a ballot today.

WORD ORIGINS

EVERYONE one knows that the British soldiers are called "Limies" by the American troops. Few know, however, how the term originated.

For many years it has been the custom of the British to include limes in the rations for all troops who could not have access to fresh vegetables and fruits. The British had learned that the juice of the lime carried a vitamine that combated scurvy. Troops supplied with lime juice were immune from this dread disease. From this custom of carrying limes was derived the term "Limies," by which all British troops are known.

CONTEMPORARIES

THAT HAZY THING CALLED GLORY

No school year, with its wealth of student activities, passes by without the expression of considerable criticism from both faculty and students of the idea of paying salaries to members of the staffs of publications and the holders of certain other similar positions. Much of this criticism is founded upon the old idea that all such services, no matter how tiresome or difficult they may be, should be performed solely out of loyalty to the university, and still more is based upon the inaccurate knowledge of fact. In either case, a few moments' reflection and a small amount of investigation will serve to present the case in an entirely new light.

There are no student activities which pay salaries at all commensurate with the amount of work put in by the student and the sacrifices which he is compelled to make in order to do his full duty to the university public. It is an absolute fact which can be very easily verified that such salaries are small, never amounting to more than $500 a year for the most important jobs, and usually running much nearer $200. This sum is certainly no inducement in itself to the man who is looking for money, but at the same time it makes it possible for students with ability and initiative who are compelled to earn a certain amount in order to stay in school to compete for these positions on an equal basis with the men who are not required to be partially self-supporting. Such a plan is not only beneficial to student morals but it is a very positive factor in keeping the most competent men available for such service.—Minnesota Daily.

In the last ten years, enrollment has trebled in the summer session of the university.

Death Claims Mrs. German, City Pioneer

One of Earliest Settlers in Dane County Dies at Home Here

Mrs. Charles German, 1126 Jennifer street, died Tuesday at her home after an illness of two months.

Mrs. German was a member of one of the first families to settle in Dane county. Her father, Robert Gallagher, came to Blooming Grove in 1844, two years after his landing in Rochester, N. Y., to where he had come from Ireland. She was the second and youngest of a family of ten children, all of whom lived in Madison or vicinity and of whom E. L. Gallagher is now most active.

When Robert Gallagher brought his bride and other relatives to this community during that early period the entire number of buildings then standing amounted to two, a wooden hut and a two-story wooden house set in a wilderness. This last building was erected for Eben Peck by Abraham Wood, who was the local contractor. This building was later enlarged to the proportions of a hotel and named the Madison House. The hotel was really two cabins, joined together with a large room in the middle, which was reserved for banquets, dances and secret caucuses.

Mrs. German later moved into Madison proper after her first marriage in 1874. The family home was then at 1137 Williamson street after Mr. Gallagher had moved in from the farm and acquired large property holdings in the sixth ward, which he later platted and sold. In 1889 she was married the second time to Charles German, a creamery owner with creameries at Lake Mills, London, Verona and Madison. The sixth ward was at that time largely residential district with only one or two large factories located there. This was the Fuller & Johnson Plow Works, forerunner of the present extended industrial section. Mrs. German had seen the boundaries of Madison extend in all directions until the population of her home ward now exceeds the entire population of the city at her arrival.

She was well known throughout the city because of her extensive interests in societies and charitable organizations. The Eastern Star and White Shrine were her fraternal affiliations and she was also a member of the Women's Relief Corps and the Pilgrim Congregational church. She was ever encouraging and conducting carefully designed plans for the relief of the discomforts and troubles of others and was always extending her help whenever needed.

Mrs. German is survived by her husband, Charles German, a brother, E. L. Gallagher, two sisters, Anna L. Gallagher and Mrs. R. A. Leslie, both of Madison. Her daughter, Mrs. William Tollin, is now a resident of Washington, D. C.

The funeral will be held at the home at 2 p. m. Thursday with services conducted by Rev. George Hunt and Eastern Shrine services will be held at the mausoleum in the cemetery.

URGE CAR LINE OFF STATE STREET

the district which it bisects, are two important reasons to assure the continued success of commercial enterprises on this street. The widening of State st. should be delayed for a period of years until such time as the majority of the buildings have conformed with the new line, and thus greatly reduce the cost of widening. In the interim, University ave. should be extended and the street car lines removed."

The connecting of South Madison with the city, by means of a street running along side of the Northwestern tracks across Lake Monona Bay, is suggested. In this matter, Mr. Bartholomew states:

"If Oregon and Maple sts. are connected and extended north paralleling the Northwestern road tracks across Lake Monona to a connection with S. Hamilton st., it would create a much needed thoroughfare. At present South Madison is somewhat inaccessible by reason of long detours required around Lake Monona. The proposed connection would open up the southern territory for suitable development."

Mr. Bartholomew's plan is not one which he expects Madison will put into effect virtually over night. It is one which he believes will cover a period of fifty years, but as the city makes the improvements they should be made using the finally adopted suggestions as their basis for action. It will be a tremendous expense to do one-tenth of what the report calls for, but to spread this expense over a long period the charges will be easily met.

"With its future assured and possessing broad city planning powers, it behooves the city in the interest of public economy and systematic growth to plan intelligently for its development," Mr. Bartholomew said. "The proposed comprehensive street plan, if adopted, will do as much to insure a uniform distribution of population by making all areas in and near the city easily accessible."

"In considering the proposed recommendations for street widenings and openings, it must be borne in mind that they are made as a guide for the city's future growth 50 years hence. It is not expected that the city will make these improvements simultaneously, or even undertake all of them within the very near future. If, however, the city should have a comprehensive street system to meet its ultimate traffic need, it is necessary that a definite policy be adopted, based on future growth, and one that will be susceptible of gradual accomplishment. While it may seem that the major street plan recommends a considerable number of widenings and openings, close observation of development will reveal that a large portion of these improvements can be made without involving great property damages. Fortunately, too, the areas just beyond the city limits are unplatted, which offers a splendid opportunity for true city planning."

CAPTAINS' CAPTAIN AT OLD HARVARD

Capt. George Owen.

Every varsity sports captain at Harvard is a football player. Keith Kane, left tackle, is the leader of the Crimson's unbeaten eleven. Kane is boss over the captains in other sports, his gridiron mates including Fiske Brown, right guard, the track captain; George Owen, back field regular, the hockey leader, and Arthur Conlon, third string quarter back, who is boss of baseball. The exception, Louis McCagg, who is crew captain, was a member of the 1919 varsity football team. He gave up the gridiron when rowing honors were bestowed on him.

Democrats Regain Control of Kentucky; Lead Maryland; Hylan Winner by 400,000

Republicans Swept Out of Power in One State in Tuesday's Elections; Hylan Swamps Opposition;
Wets Favored Over Dry Supporters

NEW YORK — One state, Kentucky, has passed from Republican to Democratic control as a result of Tuesday's elections.

In Maryland, where the entire lower house of the legislature and 13 out of 27 members of the senate were elected Democrats increased their control in both houses.

In Kentucky the Democrats regained control of the state legislature lost to the Republicans two years ago and claimed 53 out of 100 members of the lower house and 19 out of 36 seats in the senate. Returns for two senatorial districts were incomplete this morning. Mrs. Mary Flannery, Catlettsburg, had apparently won the honor of being the first woman to be elected to the Kentucky legislature.

New Jersey Republicans claimed to have elected 41 assemblymen out of a total of 60 seats contested and asserted the party line-up in the senate would stand as it did last year—15 Republican and six Democrats.

The "Wet and Dry" issue played a prominent role in that state, the Republicans standing for strict enforcement of the state prohibition act while the Democrats favored its modification or repeal.

Only one governorship hinged on yesterday's balloting, Virginia electing State Senator E. L. Trinkle, Dem., by a large majority over Henry W. Anderson, Rep.

The voters of Ohio apparently were heavily for the soldiers' bonus proposal announcement being made by Secty. of State Smith that in his opinion it would be carried by 500,000. The bonus proposal would call for an amendment to the state constitution which would authorize the issuance of state bonds up to $25,000,000 out of which Ohio veterans would be paid $10 for each month in the service, total payments to any man not exceeding $250.

Fatal election riots occurred in Kentucky, the centers of disturbance being in Breathitt and Estill counties and in the city of Louisville. Ten persons are reported to have been killed and nearly a score wounded.

Hylan Sweeps New York

NEW YORK — Democratic candidates headed by Mayor John F. Hylan, made a clean sweep of the principal city and county officers in yesterday's municipal election the mayor receiving the unprecedented plurality of 417,986. The complete vote was:

Hylan 754,874.

Henry H. Curran, Rep., 336,888.

Jacón Panken, Socialist 83,209.

Mayor Hylan's plurality is the largest ever received by a Democratic candidate for any office in this city and is comparable only with President Harding's plurality of 438,471 in the presidential election last year. Approximately 95 per cent of the city's 1,263,940 registered voters which included 447,055 women, went to the polls.

In every borough the coalition candidates went down under an avalanche of democratic votes.

Incomplete returns today indicated that the Democrats had gained many seats in the New York state assembly. They gained five seats up state and many more in New York City.

Returns from 135 assembly districts show the election of 93 Republicans, 40 Democrats and at least two Socialists. The present assembly is composed of 119 Republicans, 28 Democrats and two Socialists, one seat having been made vacant by the expulsion of Henry Jaeger, Socialist.

Miss Marguerite L. Smith of New York, Rep., the only woman member of the 1921 legislature was defeated by a Democrat.

Wet Candidate Wins

BUFFALO — Frank X. Schwab, Rep., running on a platform asking amendment of the Volstead act to permit beer and wine, was elected mayor today by a majority of 2,563 over Mayor George S. Buck, also a Republican. Mr. Schwab said in his campaign that a vote for him would be a protest against prohibition laws.

Cleveland for City Manager.

CLEVELAND, O.—Fred Kohler, former chief of police, running as an independent republican candidate, was elected mayor of Cleveland over Mayor William S. Fitzgerald, republican.

The city manager plan charter amendment is said to have gone over by a vote of 2 to 1. It is said Cleveland is the largest city in the country to adopt the city manager plan.

Carrel at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI—George Carrel, republican candidate for mayor, won an easy victory, defeating Dr. Charles L. Benfield, democrat, and Judge Joseph B. Kelly, independent.

Sunday Movies Barred.

MATTOON, Ill.—Movies and other forms of theater entertainment on Sunday will be prohibited here as a result of Tuesday's municipal election which decided against the question, "Shall moving pictures or theatricals or musical entertainments be permitted on Sunday?" by a majority of more than 1,300 votes.

Democrat Wins Again.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—George D. Lunn, democrat, was re-elected mayor of Schenectady for a fourth term.

Adopts Manager Plan.

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo.—Grand Junction adopted an amendment to its charter providing for the city manager system.

Shank Wins Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS — Samuel L. Shank, Rep., was elected mayor by the largest plurality ever given a candidate for that office in the city election held here yesterday according to unofficial returns. Returns give Shank a plurality of 23,450 over B. M. Ralston, Democrat.

Pre-Armistice Day

Program On Wednesday

A preliminary Armistice day program will be the feature of the meeting of the Randall Parent-Teacher association, which will be held Wednesday at 3:30, in the auditorium of the Randall school. Patriotic exercises will be given by the pupils of Miss Marian Jones and a song under community leadership. Mrs. Howard Sylvester will read Kipling's Recessional, and Mrs. E. M. Gilbert will talk on The Value of Pictures in the Schoolroom, and an art exhibit which is to be held at the Randall school Nov. 22. A special invitation has been issued to mothers of children under school age and the work of the pre-school day will be discussed by Dr. Dorothy E. Mendenhall. The pre-school day is to be held at the Randall school Dec. 8. The second grade, with Mrs. Todd, teacher, leads in attendance.

Badger Grain Will Be

Exhibited at Expo

Wisconsin grain is to be represented at the Grain and Hay show in Chicago Nov. 26 to Dec. 3, at the International Livestock Exposition, E. D. Holden, of the agronomy department of the University of Wisconsin announces. Exhibits from this state will include corn, soybeans, field peas, clover seed, barley and oats.

According to Mr. Holden, in charge of the Badger exhibit, Wisconsin has an excellent standing as a hay state. The first year of the show she took the sweepstakes with her showing of the product. Last year Wisconsin alfalfa and timothy took first places. A new feature of the grain show this year will be the Junior Corn Contest. The boys' and girls' corn clubs of the state are planning to show exhibits that will offer strong competition for the prizes.

Business Executives

Meet for Discussion

The first meeting of the class of business executives, arranged through the extension division of the University of Wisconsin, was held last evening at the Association of Commerce. More than 50 Madison business executives have enrolled for the class and the limit is now reached and others cannot be taken in for this series of evening class lectures. Arrangements may be made, if there is a sufficient demand, for an additional class. The purpose of the lectures is to discuss some of the fundamental problems of business management. A. E. Swanson, who will discuss business organization and management, an industrial engineer of Chicago, will be in Madison on Tuesdays and present his phases of the subjects to be treated. Other lecturers for the course are V. H. Pelz, Willis Wisler, H. W. Sweeney, L. D. Herrold and J. B. Reed. Ten lectures will comprise the course.

Lescoghier Talks to Discussion Groups

"The discussion groups made up of industrial and university girls, planned by the Y. W. C. A., offer a great opportunity for mutual correction of tendencies toward extremes," said Prof. Don Lescoghier of the Economics department at the Student's industrial banquet in Lathrop hall Tuesday night.

"Both the industrial and university groups will gain in poise and power through association in these discussion groups."

"The student will bring ideas gleaned from association with books and teachers, the idealism of those who think, in addition to the interest cultivated by student experience, while the industrial girl will bring the corrections that come from the practical experience. There will be something gained on both sides."

"I have great confidence in the work of the future and strong belief in the great value of those in industry now and the students who need the combining of experience," concluded Professor Lescoghier.

Miss Mary Andersen, secretary of the university Y. W. C. A., and Miss Frances Toy, industrial secretary of the city Y. W. C. A., also spoke.

HOME-EC COURSE IS PROGRESSING

That the course in home economics is progressing is shown by the fact that the enrollment of 265 students this year is double that of 10 years ago when 134 girls were registered.

Although more than half of the enrollment is made up of Wisconsin women, various other states are represented. Among these are Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, New York, South Dakota, North Dakota, Ohio, New Jersey, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, and Oklahoma. Canada also claims one student.

In spite of economic conditions, 71 students have entered the freshman class. The sophomores number 69, the juniors 65, and the senior class has 50.

Besides the 255 undergraduates 10 graduate students are taking advantage of the home economics courses offered. Of this group, five women are from Wisconsin; Illinois sends two; Nebraska one; Colorado one, and New Jersey one.

AT THE ORPH

Two Orpheum circuit feature acts will share headline positions on the new vaudeville bill which opens tonight at the Monona avenue playhouse. Percy Brown and Winnie Baldwin will be seen and heard in Jack Lala's latest skit, with music called "Visions of 1917," a humorous song, which enables these two favorites plenty of opportunity to shine.

The sensation of the season, a real novelty, will be found in Tarzan, the man ape, who, under the direction of the well known French trainer Felix Patty, will offer a performance which will be the talk of Madison after the opening shows. Bertram and Sexton, offering sunny southern smiles and songs, will gladden the cockles of the heart in jest and in melody, while Bob Fisher and Jules Lloyd, Two Shades of Burnt Cork, will present songs and patter. A singing and instrumental novelty offering will be presented by Al Ross and Olga Foss, and Cooke and Valdare, the Versatile Girl and the Huck Finn completes the bill, together with Pathe News and Aesop's Fable reels.

AT THE STRAND

"Lavender and Old Lace," a photoplay based on Myrtle Reed's famous novel, is now being shown at the Strand theatre.

The plot is simply that of a New England woman, whose lover, a sea captain, disappears. For thirty years she watches and waits in her cottage, with the lamp ever burning as the daily train from Boston puffs into the village. Confident of his return she keeps sacred the memories of her one romance, and reads in the tea leaves her fortune which never comes true. Then when she learns that the young man from Boston, who has fallen in love with the niece of her life long friend, is the son of the man who promised to be faithful to her, she hugs the bundle of love letters to her breast, lets the beacon light burn out, and dies. There is a counter romance between the two young people, who are played very capably by Seena Owen and Louis Bannison.

There will also be shown motion pictures of Memorial Union campaign parade, a Snub Pollard comedy, and a post nature scenic study, "My Barefoot Boy."

SHALL THE WORLD DISARM?
Editor Daily Cardinal:

As someone has aptly remarked, "It is not the men with wooden legs who retard civilization most, but the men with blockheads." There is perhaps nothing in life so permanent as change. Slowly, but surely we are evolving into a new day. Shall we then approach democracy by another inch in joining the nations of the world to disarm?

There are some who seem much hampered by tradition, forgetting that the precedent of today becomes the tradition of tomorrow. To think that there is any special virtue in tradition, except as it is good or bad, is a survival of ancient idolatry.

Again, one who champions disarmament will hear himself denounced as an idealist, likened unto the proverbial ostrich which buries its head in the sand, thus closing its vision to the possibility of danger. But the way to disarm is to disarm. War begets war. The way to have war is to prepare for it. If we would abolish it, we must remove the causes.

Peace is to be obtained. Neither here nor there; it is with us. The way to have peace is to begin to think peace.

"Four Horsemen," Unlike Others,
Follows Book

By PAUL GANGELIN

"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" is a great picture, but not for the reason that the press agent gives, to-wit: "12,000 persons; 125,000 tons of masonry, steel, lumber, furniture, and shrubbery; 500,000 feet of raw film; 14 camera men." It is a great picture because Rex Ingram had the good sense to remain faithful to the book which he dramatized and the artistic insight to pick his actors to fit their part with almost incredible felicity.

Somewhere I have read a statement that the American artistic genius is manifested in the creation and appreciation of "atmosphere." "The Four Horsemen" exemplifies this in the grande style, just as did "The Birth of a Nation." When we see Madariaga surveying with a proud eye his beeves on Argentinian plains, we do not for a moment have reason to suspect that we are watching a disguised California landscape, and when Rene Lacour and Chichi Desnoyers posture about a Paris drawing-room, it is hard to make the audience believe that outside someone may be whistling "I'm Nobody's Baby" or blowing the horn of a Ford. Every bit of the minutiae of property from a rancho in the Argentine to a chateau on the Marne is there. As much care, it seems, was used in selecting the scum of Buenos Aires who made up the audience in the "tingel-tangel" as that used in selecting the leads.

As for the individual actors: Pomeroy Cannon as Madariaga was probably the most striking figure in the play, but he owed this distinction as much to native avoirdupois and his profile as to any excellence in the art of acting. Joseph Swickard, as Marcelo Desnoyers, bore the grunt of the heavy acting, and did it very well. Rudolph Valentino did exactly what was expected of him; Nigel de Brulier, playing the part of the mystic and mysterious Tchernoff, gave the character enough force to keep it from being a mere attempt at making the jaws of the audience drop with awe.

The actors are good, all of them. There is no profit in trying to enumerate individual merits.

The weaknesses of the picture, if they are weaknesses, consist first, of the entire absence of katharsis. There is no real tragedy. The spectator cannot weep many tears about the death of Julio, nor about the cruel fate of Marguerite Laurier; they do not enlist sympathy enough to invoke pity when they come to misfortune. The theme of "The Four Horsemen," in the movies, is not enough to make it great drama. A sub-current of "Weltschmerz," implied by Tchernoff's commiseration for all the human race, is not strong enough to make us carry it away with us as the final thought we got from the play.

The love of detail was carried at times into the horribly grasly. To make the audience watch a dying French soldier claw the flags of a street in his death-agonies is cruel and unusual, and to give us a close-up of a French villager, hit by a German firing-squad, with blood streaming from the corners of his mouth, is nauseating and unnecessary. In these scenes and others, like the one in which we are shown the two children weeping over the body of their mother, Mr. Ingram is unabashedly trying to wring our hearts. Here "The Four Horsemen" sinks to the level of the ordinary shocking "war movie," depicting, with bright-eyed zeal, the horrors of war, which tickles the suppressed love of cruelty in the human make-up by a vicarious orgy, but have otherwise no excuse in a plan as uniformly good as this one.

limiting the men to one inter-collegiate contest. However, in case a debate with the University of California is arranged, the three men who show up best in the debates with Michigan, Illinois, Minnesota, Northwestern, Missouri, and Washington will be rewarded with the trip.

neighborhood of the polls to pay particular attention to the enforcement of regulations against ballyhooing, body-snatching of voters, shouting, and intimidation of voters.

Albert Knollin will have charge of this group which consists of: Robert Reynolds, Harry Maier, Thomas Tredwell, Robert Gerholz, Dale Merrick, Duke Ceaser, Carl Rogers, and Al Willett.

The booths used at the referendum for the first time this year will be used again, and all voters may cast a private ballot. It will be impossible for any man or woman to approach booths in which someone is casting a vote. Special emphasis is laid on the fact that all upperclassmen are to vote for graduate candidates to the senate.
