FRATS PLAN TO TAKE CARE OF 650 DELEGATES

Campus Organizations to Co-operate During C. I. P. A. Convention

"We plan to accomodate in fraternity, sorority and rooming houses as many of the 650 high school delegates as possible," declared Bertha Eldwell '24, joint chairman with Hal Hoard of the housing committee for the Central Interscholastic Press association convention, to be held here Dec. 1-2. "This will mean the wholehearted co-operation of houses on the campus to which petitions have been sent."

Mowry to Aaid

Don Mowry, secretary of the association of Commerce, has assured the committee of the aid of his organization in assisting to accomodate the delegates. In case of necessity, students of Madison high school will be asked to help house the visitors.

The Western passenger association, due to the large number of delegates expected, have declared a special fare and a half rate for the convention.

Discount on Return

Visiting delegates desiring to take advantage of this offer, can buy a one way ticket any time from November 28 to December 2 inclusive, from a place for which the fare is more than 67 cents. The time limit for purchases in Colorado (except Julesburg), Idaho, Montana, Utah, and Wyoming, is from November 27 to December 1, inclusive.

The half fare discount is taken off of the return ticket. Travelers must secure certificates, not receipts. One half fare tickets will be issued by the Madison agent who will validate these certificates. Special rate return tickets will not be recognized after December 6.

Student Court to Act On Scalpers Next Week

The student court will meet in a special session next week to act upon the cases recently brought up in regard to student scalpers, Cecil Dull, '23, chief justice, said yesterday.

There are five students who have been apprehended by the athletic department and whose cases have been turned over to the student court for trial. The penalties levied by the court will depend upon the nature of the various cases. The penalties probably will be of the type exacted by the disciplinary committee.

This is the first year that university has taken stringent action against students for profiteering on the sale of football tickets. The other men who were apprehended for scalping were turned over to the federal authorities and their cases tried in the municipal court.

Prof. Bleyer to Sail For Europe in January

Prof. W. G. Bleyer of the Journalism department will sail for Europe the first part of January. He is at present in New York working on his new book "The History of American Journalism". After taking in the Mediterranean tour and visiting other European countries, Prof. Bleyer will spend the summer in England. In the fall he will return to Wisconsin.

Euthenics Club Members Help Agric Triangle

Fourteen members of the Euthenics club are cooperating with the members of Agric Triangle to make the third annual "Punkin Holler" community meeting a success, according to Clem Weyker '25, chairman of the event. Rehearsals are being held at frequent intervals in preparation for the program next Friday.

Sigma Delta Chi Picks Minnesota For Next Year

(Special to The Cardinal)

MANHATTAN, Kas., Nov. 17.—The University of Minnesota today was awarded the 1923 convention of Sigma Delta Chi, men's national honorary and professional journalistic fraternity.

The award was made at the final business session of the eighth annual convention of the organization held at Kansas State Agricultural college here Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Walter Williams, dean of the School of Journalism at the University of Missouri was elected national honorary president and Ward A. Neff, Chicago editor, president for the coming year.

Secretary T. Hawley Tapping was reelected and George Pierott was chosen to succeed Mr. Neff as treasurer.

Two former members of the Wisconsin chapter of the fraternity were elected executive councillors. They are R. R. Barlow of the University of Minnesota department of journalism and William E. Drips of the Iowa State college department of journalism.

The convention ended with a banquet Friday night.

Delegates from the Wisconsin chapter of Sigma Delta Chi were Roy L. French '23, president, and Alfred Willoughby '23.

PHILO DEBATES ON ENTRANCE

Strict Requirements Are Advocated By Winning Team

"Resolved that the entrance requirements of the university be made more strict" was the question of a debate given by Philomathia Literary society last night.

The decision was awarded to the affirmative team, composed of H. Laskey '24, A. G. Zube '24, and G. H. Pulford '26. G. S. Darby '24, R. G. Hein '26, and N. S. Siegel defended the negative. Initiation speeches were given by R. Pagel '24, G. E. Millard '26, U. A. Rothermel '26, and F. H. Way '26. P. Marquart '23 talked on "Traditions".

Athena's program consisted of a short debate on the subject "Resolved, that Athena join Hesperia and Philomathia in exchanging judges each week." E. Meyer '23, defending the affirmative, won the decision: A. Nerad '23, upheld the negative. W. L. Jackman '25, talked on "Some actual Experience with Prohibition," and H. Kriegbaum '26, presented the topic "Should Attorney General Daugherty be Impeached?" Clark Hazelwood '24, presented an extemporaneous talk.

Agricultural Literary society debated the question, "Resolved, that the Government of the United States should by direct control regulate the price of coal." The decision was awarded to the negative team, composed of R. E. Ammon '23, E. J. Renard '26, and D. A. Skalitsky '26. The affirmative team consisted of L. G. Fay '24, L. A. Burkey '23 and F. S. Pinney '26. W. T. Renk '24 led the open discussion following the debate.

In Hesperia, a debate on the subject, "Resolved, that students have the preference in seat sales at Homecoming games." The affirmative squad, composed of A. Luther '23, W. Katz '24, and C. Greco '23, was awarded the decision. Pres. F. Risser '23, delivered an inaugural address, H. A. Ashcroft '25, spoke on "An Oft Neglected Tribute", R. Axley '23 discussed the recent elections and W. Morse led a Parliamentary drill. Tryout speeches were given by F. Luehring '25, H. Read '26, and F. Kojis '24.

WET FIELD RAISES BADGER GRIDIRON HOPES AS TEAM GIRDS FOR FORMIDABLE WOLVERINES; 43,500 TO CHEER AT ANN ARBOR HOMECOMING

Temporary Bleachers Are ERECTED at Ferry Field For Crowd

BULLETIN

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 18.—A light rain began to fall here after 10 o'clock last night and developed into a steady drizzle. Conditions are such that an all-night downpour is expected which means a wet gridiron. A wet field will be an advantage for Wisconsin and will slow up the Wolverines attack.

BY HARRY B. GRUNDY

Conf. Editor, Michigan Daily

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 18. (Special)—Michigan awaits Wisconsin, and with the supporters of both institutions pouring every train to witness the Wolverine-Badger clash this afternoon, which promises to be the classic of the Middle West, Ferry field will be filled with the largest crowd that has ever attended a gridiron contest in Ann Arbor.

Applications for tickets have been refused for nearly a month but the erection of temporary bleachers has given Ferry field an enlarged seating capacity and more than 43,500 persons will view the battle this afternoon.

With the exception of several second string linemen the Wolverines are in the best of condition to meet their time honored rivals who are making their first appearance on the Ann Arbor gridiron since 1905.

Wingmen Strong

The Michigan forward wall which faces the Badgers will be flanked by Capt. Paul Goebel and Bernie Kirk who together with the Cardinal ends constitute the best wingmen in the conference. Muirhead and Rosatti will be stationed at the tackles while Steele and Slaughter will be assigned to the guard positions.

An injury to Johns has made it certain that he will not start but in Slaughter, Coach Yost has a capable substitute whose only handicap is lack of experience. Slaughter is heavier than Johns for he tips the scales at near 190 but he has yet to be tried out under Big Ten fire. Jack Blott will pass the ball from center.

Diminutive Quarterback

In the backfield the Wolverines will be led by Uteritz, quarterback, who has been one of the important cogs in the Yostmen's offense in every game. Uteritz is a diminutive quarter and presents a striking contrast to Shorty Barr, the Badger quarter.

The versatile Harry Kipke and

Ruud to Take Pictures of Game at Ann Arbor

"Pa" Ruud, official staff photographer for The Cardinal, today is at Ferry field, Ann Arbor, Mich., where he will make a series of action photographs of the Wisconsin-Michigan football game this afternoon.

The best of these views of what may develop to be the 1922 gridiron classic of the Middle West will be published in The Cardinal Tuesday morning.

A slight rain began falling at Ann Arbor late last night and may interfere somewhat with photography of the game. Ruud has made a number of successful outdoor photographs on dark and cloudy days, however, and probably will be able to secure a set today.

Harriet Greene Elected Dolphin Vice-President

Harriet Greene '24, was elected vice-president of Outing club at their meeting Thursday night. Beth Bigelow '24, head of tobogganing, and Margaret Henry '24, head of skiing, are other new board members. A pin was awarded to Frances Hughes '23.

Cardinal To Give Reports on Game

Two telephones this afternoon will be at the service of Cardinal readers who desire to keep informed as to the latest score of the Wisconsin-Michigan football clash at Ann Arbor.

The game is scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock Madison time and fans may secure up-to-the-minute information by telephoning either Badger 250 or Badger 6606 any time thereafter.

Detailed accounts of the struggle, including play-by-play reports, by Charles J. Lewin '23 official representative of The Cardinal, will be published tomorrow morning.

Remember, Badger 250 or 6606 any time between 2 and 6 o'clock this afternoon, or Badger 1137 any time between 7 and 12 o'clock tonight.

(Special to The Cardinal) ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 18.—For the first time since 1905, a football team representing the University of Wisconsin will clash this afternoon with Michigan on Ferry field in the most important game of the schedule of either team; Michigan, with a Big Ten championship at stake, Wisconsin, smarting under the Illinois defeat.

Both elevens are anxious to even up old scores and decide a supremacy which was left hanging in the balance when protégés of Coach John R. Richards and Fielding H. Yost fought to a 7 to 7 tie at Madison last year. In their series which started back in 1892 Michigan has won five games, Wisconsin two, and one was tied.

Game Attracts Experts

The college town of Ann Arbor is on its toes today in expectation of the gridiron classic. Approximately 50,000 persons, students, old grads who have returned for the annual homecoming celebration, and a delegation of Wisconsin rooters are expected to fill the huge stands of Ferry field.

The game starts at 3 o'clock city time, 2 o'clock central time.

It will be more than a battle between Wisconsin, the snarling underdog, and Michigan, rushing headlong towards a Big Ten title. It will be a spectacle attracting prominent experts of the gridiron and stars of the past. Commissioner Kennesaw Mountain Landis, Walter Camp, who selects all-American teams, and Walter Eckersall, Chicago Tribune writer and headlinesman for today's contest, will mingle with old Michigan football stars.

Six Wolverines Out

Willie Seston all-American back in 1902, Germany Schultz, Frank Steketee and Ernie Vick, Yostmen who were chosen as all-American material in years gone by, are all here waiting to hear the whistle which will send two magnificent football elevens scurrying down the field.

With six Michigan men unable to participate in the game because of injuries, betting odds stumped from 2 and 3 to 1 to 10 to 8 last night. Roby, who was hurt in the state contest, Vandervort, who was a casual-

In their last practice before the all important struggle, Wisconsin drilled on Jackson Normal school in the same skirmish, Johns, Swan, Bank and White are on the Wolverine hospital list. The eleven men who will start are in the proverbial "pink" and they will be

MILLER DENIES COLD WARNING

Cold Wave Forecast is Mistake, Says Local Weather-man

"The 'cold wave' threatened in the newspapers is a mistake," declared Eric R. Miller of the local office of the United States weather bureau, yesterday. "No official forecast of such a change was sent out from the district office in Chicago."

To justify a cold wave warning would require both a drop of 20 degrees and a minimum temperature of 24 degrees at this season.

From Tuesday morning to Wednesday morning there was a drop of six degrees, from 38 to 32, which is far from a fall required to warrant calling it a cold wave.

Cold Wave Passed

"The cold wave passed us by, and skipped over to the East instead," said Mr. Miller. "The storm began Friday night and Saturday in the pan-handle region of Texas, took a northerly direction to Manitoba and then went east."

Mr. Miller declared that a cold wave might come at any time, but was not likely to come during November.

Weather Has Been Warm

The weather has been warmer this fall than usual, Miller said. Last year on November 8 there were 7½ inches of snow. During the month of October this year the mean temperature was 53.9, or 3.6 degrees above normal.

Thursday's weather belied the cold wave story, for there was a rise from 28 to 49.5 degrees from Thursday morning to 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

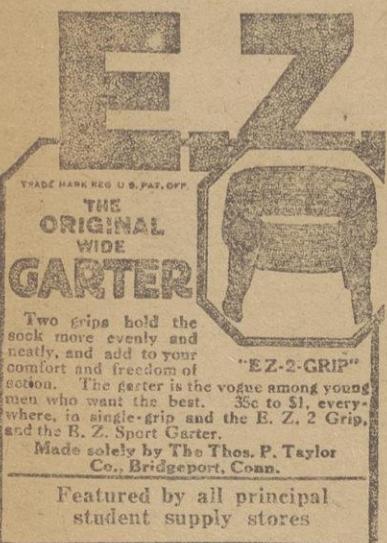

Senator-elect Kinney Reported Critically Ill

SUPERIOR, Wis. — The condition of Ole G. Kinney, state senator elect from the eleventh district, who was taken ill Oct. 31, from a stroke of paralysis, is very critical and his life hangs in the balance, according to relatives. From the time Mr. Kinney was stricken he has been confined to his bed at his home in a delirious condition. Mr. Kinney is president of the Community Savings Bank, this city.

Asylum Inmate Found Wandering on Tracks

John Cotz, escaped inmate of a Green county asylum, is in the Madison police headquarters today awaiting officials who will take him back. Cotz was found wandering on railroad tracks at Barneveld by trainmen and was brought to Madison last night.

RHINELANDER, Wis.—A duck was killed on Nixon Lake, Vilas county, with an aluminum band on its leg stamped "Biological survey 101568." The bird was a ring-necked buck banded at Belle Island, Louisiana, February 17, 1922.

Wisconsin Raises Bananas For Show

Bananas and lemons raised in Wisconsin will be an unusual attraction at the third annual Fruit and Flower show Wednesday in the Horticultural building.

This exhibition under the auspices of the Grafters' club, which is composed of horticultural students, will be conducted on a much larger scale than in previous years.

More than 100 displays of apples will be shown. The department of landscape gardening will display an exhibit prepared by its students.

Large commercial growers from the state of Wisconsin have been asked to send in lines. There also will be fruit from other states.

A large flower display will be held in conjunction. All the students of the university are invited to see the special exhibition of 15 different varieties of chrysanthemums.

A prize apple pie contest among the girls of the department of home economics is causing much comment. More than 50 competitors are expected to submit samples.

"The most excitement of the whole thing is the wind up auction held at 4:30 o'clock, when flowers and pies will go to the highest bidder," Frank Mc Kay '23, president of the Grafters' club, announced last night.

Teachings of Ancients

Are Permanent—Moore

"The teachings of the ancient world are as modern as Mc Kinley, as regal as Roosevelt, and as permanent as Lincoln," said the Rev. W. W. Moore, pastor of the Baraboo Methodist church, in an after-dinner address to the members of the various classes of the Wesley Foundation last night.

"The writings of Moses represent the world's profoundest thinking 3500 years ago and one reason why the Bible will live on is its age. Time enhances the value of any jewel and the teachings of the Hebrew prophets representing the jewels of civilized thought have stood the tests of time."

FRESHMEN HOLD SOPHS TO 7-7 TIE ON GRIDIRON

Brilliant Playing By Individuals Results in Touchdowns

In a bitterly contested game replete with thrills from whistle to whistle, freshmen and sophomores battled to a 7-7 tie in their annual gridiron tussle yesterday at Camp Randall. The two elevens played on even terms most of the way, and both touchdowns came as the result of flashes of individual brilliancy.

The first year warriors were first to score, making their lone counter in the closing minutes of the first half, after the ball had see-sawed back and forth across the field with little or no advantage either way. The touchdown was the result of a beautiful, long pass from Reuland to Hamilton. The latter making a spectacular running catch of the oval and racing over the goal line with the entire sophomore eleven on his heels. Stocum added the extra point with a perfect place kick.

Fail to Score

At the beginning of the second half, the yearlings again took the offensive and started off to make another touchdown. They intercepted a soph pass at the outset of the period, and brought the ball to the opposing 25-yard line on successive line plunges and a spectacular 35-yard run by "Larry" Reuland, yearling quarterback and easily outstanding star of the conflict.

On the next play, however, a pass was intercepted by Joys, sophomore halfback, who ripped off the entire 65 yards to the freshmen goal line without being touched. Pollack made the scores even up with a drop-kick.

From that time on, both teams played conservatively taking few chances and punting frequently. Neither Reuland, for the frosh, nor O'Brien, who did the kicking for Lowman's aggregation, had a distinct advantage, both averaged slightly less than 35 yards.

Pollack Gains 25 Yards

In the final quarter, with both elevens striving to break the tie, forward passes galore were hurled, few of them being completed. Once Pollack, halfback on the second year team, broke through the frosh line for a gain of 25 yards, being finally downed by Reuland on the latter's 20-yard line.

The next play cost the sophomores their last chance for victory. Sykora passing the ball before the backfield was in readiness. O'Brien recovered the oval, but 15 yards had been lost and also the opportunity to win. Pollack later tried a drop-kick from the 40-yard line, but his attempt fell short of its mark.

Grid-Graph to Operate For Today's Contest

Students not going to Ann Arbor may see the Wisconsin-Michigan game via the aerial route at the gymnasium at 2 o'clock this afternoon when the grid-graph will again portray the game in detail. The doors will be opened at 1:30 o'clock. An admission of 25 cents will be charged.

Special Train Carries

550 Students to Game

Carrying a glowing sign "U. W. Special" two coaches, thirteen sleepers and a diner pulled out of the St. Paul station last night bound for the Michigan game. About 350 students were aboard and the general trend of talk was "We're going to keep the pep in that team." The band and cheerleaders accompanied the delegation. The special will arrive in Ann Arbor early this morning.

43,500 Will See Game With Michigan Today

Herb Steger will probably be the halfbacks. Kipke is certain to start but Yost plans to alternate Steger and Keefer and is yet undecided which one will start.

Roby May Not Play

Doug. Roby, Kipke's regular running mate, who was injured in the Ohio State game has been out in moleskins for the past few days but will not be pressed into service unless injuries deplete the ranks of the backs.

Roby is a powerful line smasher and may get in for a few minutes but it is doubtful if he can stand an entire contest. Roby is the player who scored the Wolverine's touchdown against Wisconsin last year, the only Big Ten Player to cross the Cardinal goal line.

Cappon Holds Down Full

Cappon will be at his usual position at fullback. Cappon is a hard hitting back whose chin gains are made on off tackle smashes. In the Illinois game, with Kipke out with an attack of the flu, Cappon's smashing contributed largely to Michigan's yardage but against the Badger forward wall Cappon will be faced with more powerful opposition.

Dunleavy, Cappon's understudy, is likewise a hard hitting back whose performance this year marks him as a comer. He can be used at either half or fullback.

ILLINI SPEND $2 FOR ROUND TRIP

(Special to The Cardinal)

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 17.—Two dollars for a round trip railroad ticket on the I. C. railroad to Chicago in a le-deor Pullman is the speed of about a thousand Illini who are going to the Chicago-Illinois game on Saturday.

Although this number will only be one-tenth of the Orange and Blue crowd which will travel north to witness the big game of the season for Illinois, they will travel very much de luxe, featuring their journey with a band which promises some hot music to drive away the November chill which might seep through the box cars in the seven hour journey.

This special will have a big advantage over the regular specials which will leave here for the windy city, for it will leave here sometime Friday afternoon and leave Chicago for the return ride sometime Sunday afternoon instead of Saturday.

Rates have been made at $2 instead of the $5 per round trip. Bob Ayres of Hinsdale, Ill., who is Coach Harry Gill's star dashman of 10 flat ability, and Ed Rich, ex-Illini football player, are the two Indians who started the arrangements with the traffic manager and their latest announcement is that the trains are scheduled to leave just "sometime" Friday afternoon and "sometime" Sunday afternoon.

Ex-Envoy Dies

W. G. Sharp, Former Ambassador to France, Summoned

ELYRIA, Ohio—William Graves Sharp, 63, former ambassador to France, died at his home here today. Mr. Sharp was American ambassador to France five years, serving in Paris during the world war. He resigned his post about a year after the armistice was signed.

Mr. Sharp succeeded Myron T. Herrick as ambassador to France on Dec. 2, 1914, and was the first American envoy to become dean of the diplomatic corps at Paris. Shortly before his credentials were presented French censors barred from transmission to the U. S. portions of an interview in which Mr. Sharp referred to the possibility of America playing a role of mediator in the World war. Mr. Sharp served the 14th district of Ohio in congress from 1909 until the time he resigned to accept the diplomatic post in France.

FOND DU LAC—Sidney Wheaton and Charles Maxon, both of Waupun, pleaded guilty to having intoxicating liquor in their possession and were fined $150 and $100 by Judge Fowler in Circuit court.

primed to meet the best that Wisconsin can offer.

Backfield Is Uncertain

After a light workout in the arena Friday afternoon, Coach Yost selected 10 who will start, but he's still undecided about the left half position. Herb Steger and Kefer have been fighting for the place and both probably will play before the contest is concluded.

In the Wolverine backfield, Utteritz, the wonderful Harry Kipke, and Cappon have been picked. It is the combination which defeated two Conference teams by overwhelming scores and counted one point every two minutes while opposing teams were unable to cross their goal line for a single point.

gridiron yesterday afternoon. It was a light workout, consisting in signals drills to perfect old plays and test new ones. The Badger squad remained in Jackson over night and is due to arrive in Ann Arbor at 10:30 this morning.

Polaski To Play

Only one change is expected in the Wisconsin lineup. That is at left end where Steve Polaski supplants Russ Irish. Irish was badly hurt in the Illinois battle and Polaski has been in his place during scrimmages for the past week.

Although Jack Harris has been running through signals with the Varsity it is doubtful whether he can play. Harris has been out of the game too long to work smoothly with Capt. Williams' machine. Should Gibson receive an injury or fail to go as well as expected Coach Richards may use the Racine ripper.

Kipke Punts Well

Sykes and Bieberstein will alternate at right guard and the rest of the lineup will be the same that lost to Illinois. It will be the same in personnel but not in spirit, for Wisconsin is fighting mad and determined to erase memory of the last injurious downfall.

Capt. Rollie Williams and Harry Kipke, two of the best halfbacks in college football, engage today in a contest for individual honors. Whether these men make honorary elevens at the end of the season or not depends largely upon their showing today. Both are stars. They are experienced, heady players who know their stuff.

Murry Signs to Play With Racine Eleven

RACINE, Wis.—It was learned late yesterday that Donald Murry, star University of Wisconsin tackle, declared ineligible on the eve of the Minnesota-Wisconsin game, signed a Racine legion football contract Friday and will probably play with the Racine team against Green Bay on Sunday. Murry was barred from conference games because of having played with Taylorville, Ill., in the famous 1921 Thanksgiving game.

placed punts so cleverly that the Buckeye safety was unable to catch one. For this reason Coach Richards is likely to use Williams in the safety defensive position.

Wisconsin will play a defensive game, trying to stave off the Michigan attack until a break comes, and then taking full advantage of the turn. It may mean a punting duel between Taft and Kipke. It may mean a forward pass game between Barr and Kipke. Or it may mean a straight, old fashioned plunging and end running contest.

Nobody will know until 3 o'clock this afternoon; in the meantime Badger rooters are asking if their man can come back.

ANNUAL INTER CLASS MEET IS WON BY FROSH

Kennedy, Cohen Finish First in Cross Country Run

Running in the gathering dusk of late afternoon Capt. Kenneth Kennedy and Harry D. Cohen of the frosh country squad finished well ahead of their nearest competitors in the annual inter class meet Friday afternoon.

Although the darkness was responsible for a general slowing down of all of the entrants the two leaders made remarkably good time, Kennedy finishing in 16.22 1-10 and Cohen in 16.25.

The other members of the frosh squad were unable to follow the lead of Kennedy and Cohen which gave the high points in the meet to the sophomore runners led by Piper and Trier who came in third and fourth in 16.40 and 16.50. Chase '23, finished fifth in 16.52.

Although no records were broken in the meet, several of the squad having hung up better time in unofficial trials than they exhibited today, Coach Burke was entirely satisfied with the work of the high men in the race.

Numerals will be awarded to Kennedy and Cohen, Trier, Stewart, Lange and Swingle.

Pickard to Give Talk at Badger Club Meeting

William Pickard '21, will give a talk at the regular meeting of the Badger club tomorrow night. Pickard was one of the Varsity cheer leaders and was president of Badger club three years ago. A special musical number will be given by Miss Janet Breitenbach.

A STANDARD OF VALUE

CAMPUS leaders long have deplored the fact that student activities have been lumped into the control of a few men.

Though there are many of ability to lead, forces have operated to force undue greatness on those who succeed early in proving their ability.

Considerable interest was expressed last spring in the idea of a point system to limit the activities of the individual. Much was said for such a system and nothing against it; but no action was taken to develop it.

Now is the time for that action.

It has been the campus custom to ride a good horse to death. If a man has done one job well, he immediately has been called on to do others. He has become laden with responsibilities until he has been unable to expend his best efforts on any one important work.

Few men can successfully split up their time and efforts among several important activities.

Largely as a result of overloading of leaders, a false standard of activity valuation has grown up in the student body. The idea has become current that the length of a man's Badger summary bespeaks the degree of his success. Quantity, not quality of activity has become the popular standard.

The presidency of the Student senate, the higher staff positions on campus publications, membership in Union board, any of these and many other positions have sufficient opportunities and responsibilities to demand practically all the attention and energy of the individuals holding them.

Yet the holders of such positions have been expected to accept other responsibilities if they are to emerge from the obscurity of the also-rans.

As a result of overloading individuals, activities have suffered. Important work has been only half done, or not done at all; for leaders have been too busy. For instance, leaders were too busy to work out the point system last spring.

Individuals have suffered. They have been overworked and cases of physical and scholastic collapse have been all too frequent.

All this is unnecessary. Many men of ability are not being used.

A point system such as other institutions have adopted, such as Wisconsin women have adopted, would do much to eliminate these difficulties.

Under such a system each position in campus activities would be given a fixed point valuation according to its importance. No man would be permitted to carry more than a limited number of points. A man engaged in one important work would be excluded from others until the first job was completed.

PROGRESS NOTED

IT is gratifying to observe the way the Inter-fraternity conference has taken hold of the rushing problem. Its work on this question, following its militant stand on music prices, shows that it is recovering from the sleeping sickness of past years.

The Cardinal's suggestion of deferred rushing is being seriously considered. The committee also plans to strike at the evil "hot box" and closed bid.

The sororities also are working on the revision of rushing rules, that is a good sign.

If fraternities can bind themselves by some simple rules of fair play, if the sororities can break loose from the jungle of an over-complicated system, the Greek letter situation at Wisconsin will be considerably improved.

A point system would prevent one man's being laden with the work of two major positions. It would mean better work in both positions and give leaders a chance to breath.

It would make for more development of leadership by making room for more men at the top of campus activities.

It would give a definite recognition to positions not spectacular, positions which do not figure in publicity pictures and headlines. It would make individuals realize their responsibilities.

By reducing all men to a dead level in maximum amount of activities, it would make quality of achievement the crux of competition, the gauge of success.

A point system is needed; the responsibility for installing it rests on the Student senate.

But the development of the idea should not be left entirely to the senate. It is a task of huge proportions, and for its accomplishment the thought and advice of all campus leaders is needed.

Such a system to be successful must be based on composite experience.

Here is a problem for the Council of 40 to work on, a problem for honorary activity societies to thresh out.

It will take much time, thought, and effort, but if completed it alone will make this year a great year for Wisconsin.

Let all hands turn to and aid the Student senate in putting a big thing across.

Dear Ed:

Do you know that the way some of those guys was drowndin' their sorrows last Saturday night reminded me of that touching little ballad that went as follows, etc—

Member the days of the old

Brass Rail

When they served up the foam' suds in a pail?

When old William J. did all his talkin'

And we all needed lamp-posts to aid in our walkin'?

Them was the days when you had a friend, Oh

Birds of a feather help spend your dough.

When we all grabbed a bowl

like Old Omar Khayam

Back of two way doors that,

By Gol, won't slam.

Now what have they done

You know there are some guys around this here school what are so artistic in their nature that they insist on chewing Art-gum. (P. S. Bob Schmuck is responsible for the inspiration that caused that)

One day not so very long ago Ed.

Murphy went into Pete E. F. Burns to buy himself a shirt and he said, "Hey, What size is this?" And the young man with the good-looking mustache said, "Thirty-four sleeves"

And Ed said, "I ain't no octopus, haven't you got any with two?" Now I ask you wasn't that clever of he?

I've studied Latin authors much!!

Ah, yes I've delved in Greek

But if you want to "get away"

Believe me read "The Sheik"!

And as the young man said as he boarded the Pullman, "This is all bunk."

I thank you!

NOTED WRITER HAS OPERATION

Rudyard Kipling is ill at Private Hospital in London

Rudyard Kipling, the noted English author, is seriously ill in a private hospital in London where he underwent an operation last Wednesday.

"Kipling," says Professor Warner Taylor of the English department, "is perhaps the best liked of all authors by the youth of today, while his popularity among the older generation is equally as great."

"In his short stories the fiction, the vigor of the plots and the construction might be called epoch making rather than epoch marking, he and Robert Louis Stevenson being inspirations for many of the brilliant later day short story writers."

In fiction, Professor Taylor believes that aside from "The Light That Failed" Kipling is obviously greater in the field of short stories rather than the field of novels. His evolution from his early simplicity has been amazing. It has been said that Kipling rested content in the early day by writing "Plain Tales from the Hills", but in the later days he aspired to "Enigmatical Enginemas from the Dark Valleys". It may be that this character on his later work is just. Certainly the brilliant young Kipling has ceased to be.

"His verse too has great force and dramatic quality," says Professor Taylor, "but lacks the charm and appeal to the sense of beauty. It is, however, more than most verse a verse for youth. From the point of view of spiritual appeal and inspiration his famous "Recessional" is most memorable; however one wonders whether the great Kipling is not really found in those works embodying so much of genius the "Jungle Books" and the "Just-So Stories," that have meant increasingly much to young and old in the years that have followed their publication."

Annual Military Ball To Be Held March 30

The annual military ball given by the university cadet corps will be held on the night of March 30, but no definite decision has been made in regard to where the ball will be held, according to Robert E. Luening '23, the cadet colonel, who will be in charge of the affair.

Recent action of the committee on student welfare bars the present hopes of staging the ball in the state capitol building. Whether student opinion will protest this move or not is yet to be determined.

In case the ball is staged in the gym it will mean that over 800 people will have to be refused admittance, said Luening yesterday, "for last year we had nearly 1,000 more participants than ever attended the affair when held in the gym."

Orph Has Exceptional Bill This Week-end

Followed by another all around good bill, the Orpheum acts for the week-end, like those of the first half, are decidedly exceptional.

Patsy Shelly, who with Erny Holmgren and his band, put over some numbers, showing this whirlwind jazz organization and the charming dancer at their best. In her dance numbers Miss Shelly depicts a number of interesting characters, whose thoughts are brought out by the phraseology of her songs.

In their ensemble playing, Mr. Holmgren's men excell, and they have established a reputation as real musicians.

From the standpoint of laughable enjoyment, none better exists than that produced by Will and Mary Rogers in their comedy skit, the "Literary Di Jesters." The Three Weber Girls sing and dance a little and then some more.

Funny situations and surprises fill the satire one present day conditions, entitled "Are You Next," presented by Ted Cleveland and Peggy Dowrey. Maureen Englin is a nice-to-look-at songstress, wearing pretty clothes and showering clever song numbers. Many spectacular novelties are offered during the company hold the stage.

Play by play results of the Wisconsin-Michigan game will be read at the matinee today.

Wesley Forum to Hear Prof. Lobeck Sunday

"Genesis and Geology" will be the theme of a talk by Prof. A. K. Lobeck to be given before the Wesley forum at the University Methodist church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday evening.

Professor Lobeck was one of the men sent to France after the war to appraise the ore in the Saar basin to determine the value of the land taken from Germany for war debts.

Following the talk a half hour will be devoted to discussion. This is the third discussion on the general topic of Science and Religion.

Next week Dr. W. Stoval will give the last lecture of this series. In December, subjects pertaining to ethical issues will be taken up. More than 250 students and faculty members have been attending the Forum every Sunday.

RETURNS FROM EUROPE TOUR

Agriculture is Primitive in Canary Islands, Says Walker

Prof. J. C. Walker, of the department of plant pathology returned Saturday from an extended tour of Europe, where he was sent by the United States government to study the truck crops of Europe.

Professor and Mrs. Walker spent seven weeks in Spain and the Canary Islands where they found agriculture to be very primitive. No advance has been made for hundreds of years, he said.

In Spain conditions were little better. The methods there were also primitive. With the evacuation of the Moors years ago, the Spanish farmers proceeded to carry on agriculture just as their Moorish predecessors had done, with no changes or improvements. Naturally, plant pathology there was very backward.

They were present in Marseilles during the French colonial exposition. Here natives from all the French colonies had built their huts as they did in their native land, and were carrying on their usual occupations.

ENGINEERS TO SEE FACTORIES

Thirty Men Leave on Annual Tour of Eastern Cities

Thiry senior mechanical and electrical engineers left yesterday for the annual eastern tour of engineering and industrial establishments. The western trip, which will take the party to cities as far east as Chicago starts Monday at Milwaukee, where 110 seniors will meet.

The cities included in the eastern tour are Detroit, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Gary, and Chicago. The Michigan game will be part of the program. The western trip includes Milwaukee, Kenosha, Waukegan, Chicago, Buffalo, and Gary. Both parties will be in Chicago next Saturday for the Chicago game.

All senior electrical and mechanical engineers are required to take one of the two tours. By an inspection of large manufacturing plants at work, an idea will be gained of the part played by engineering in the modern industrial world. The practical side of their theoretical

New Franklin School Costs Madison $54,075

Low bids totaling $54,075 for the erection of the first section of the new Franklin school building, were received and accepted by the South Madison school board at a meeting last night. The contracts will be let at once and the structure is expected to be completed by Sept. 1, 1923.

Only one-third of the building planned on by the school board will be started. This section will contain four classrooms, a manual training room, a domestic science room and a boiler room, and it will be used with the present old building, which has long been overcrowded. The new building will be fire-proof. It will contain 12 class rooms besides a gymnasium and an auditorium, when completed. About 600 students will be accommodated.

The low bidder in the general contract on the present work was J. H. Findorff, who submitted $35,753 as his price. Other low bid were: J. H. Kernan, roofing, $240; George Bishoff, plastering, $2,125; George Kraft, plumbing, $3,315; F. A. Moore, lathing, $830; Reinick & Krueger, sheet metal, $400; Statz Paint & Paper Co., painting, $5,545; F. L. Kronenberg, architect, received and read the bids.

Members of the school board present were: Edwin Eggers, chairman; F. C. Plaenert, treasurer; J. C. Werner, clerk. The building committee consists of Michael Mergen, Fred Kenison, Dr. W. T. Lindsay and Nicholas Miller.

WILL TALK ON ORIENTAL NEED

Dean Nardin Arranges For Benefit Luncheon This Noon

"Education Needs of Women in the Orient" will be the general subject of discussion by the speakers at the luncheon for the benefit of the Union Christian Colleges of the Orient to be held at the Woman's Building at 12:45 today.

Dean F. Louise Nardin is the local chairman in charge of the arrangements. The luncheon has been arranged by a local committee under the leadership of the executive secretary of the state, Mrs. Edwin C. Thompson, La Crosse.

At 1 o'clock there will be an open meeting in the auditorium, second floor Woman's building, for all university women and others interested. The same speakers who appear on the luncheon program will repeat their addresses at this open meeting.

These speakers include: Dr. Ida Studder, president of a medical school for women at Dello, India; Mrs. E. C. Cronk and President Ellen Pendleton of Wellesley college.

The purpose of the luncheon is to present speakers depicting the educational needs of Oriental women. It is a part of the campaign to raise three million dollars for the additional buildings and endowments of the 7 Union Christian Colleges of the Orient, three in China, three in India and one in Japan. Two of the schools, one in India and one in China, are medical schools for women. Two million dollars of the fund is to be raised by a committee through general gifts. The third million will be an endowment by John D. Rockefeller.

Japan's Flapper Princess Arrives to Study Sisters

Moto-Ko Otani, snapped on her arrival in San Francisco.

Moto-Ko Otani, dancing princess of Japan, has come to the United States to spend two years in U. S. schools learning the ways of American "flappers" and acquiring the air of freedom her American sisters have. She is thoroughly modern now, even to her bobbed hair and short skirts.

WOMAN WRITER FLAYS LEWIS

Helen Bagg Compares 'Babbitt' to Taste For Onions

"One feels that if God looked at the human race as Mr. Lewis does, He would send another flood quickly."

This is the opinion on Sinclair Lewis and his work, that Miss Helen Bagg, who writes under the nom-de plume of Jarvis Hail, expressed in her talk on current literature before the Woman's Club yesterday afternoon.

In speaking further about Lewis and his style, particularly regarding his book "Babbitt", Miss Bagg said, "It is like a taste for onions—either you have it or you don't."

Believing Mrs. Wharton to be one of the very fine modern authors, and one who presents high ideals, fine humor, strong characterization, and much feeling, Miss Bagg reviewed three of Edith Wharton's books.

"Some of our modern writers, when touching the mire are inclined to wallow," stated Miss Bagg, "but it is not so with Edith Wharton. One cannot help but feel how fastidious she is in handling matters about which she would rather not talk. When she comes to the mire, she seems to pick up her skirts, and make grimaces of disgust."

"Glimpses of the Moon," shows modern society as it is, Miss Bagg said. "It is a departure from Edith Wharton's usual style, and she seems to have in this book a greater sympathy with her characters."

Miss Bagg is a granddaughter of one of Madison's pioneers. She is chairman of the literary department of the Illinois Federation of Woman's clubs. Her best known books are, "Through the Mockingbird Gap", and "Across the Mesa."

Fox Worth $2,000 is

Killed by Hunter

BRUCE, Wis.—The black fox that escaped from the pens of Please Willim in the town of Grow several weeks ago, was shot by a Bruce hunter, who failed to recognize the animal. The fox was valued at nearly $2,000. Two other foxes of the breed that escaped at the same time were recaptured.

BLAINE PRAISES STATE IN TALK

A speech by Gov. John J. Blaine at New Orleans in which the state executive took occasion to praise the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association was creating considerable comment among progressives at the state capitol today.

The governor is making speeches in the southern states advertising Wisconsin in behalf of the Wisconsin Products exposition and is accompanied on his trip by Carl A. Johnson, president of the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association and bitter foe of progressive legislation at each session of the legislature.

In his speech at New Orleans the governor praised the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association because of its alleged support of the Wisconsin compensation act. The governor said:

"Wisconsin's undertakings and activities as a social organization have been applied to manufacturing, and the state comes in close contact with its manufacturers through the workmen's compensation act, administered by our industrial commission. It is true that there were those who opposed the act, as it always will be true that there will be those who will always be in opposition, but it is a matter of history that the Wisconsin Manufacturers' organization went on record in favor of the adoption of the workmen's compensation act; and as a member of the committee having charge of the drafting and the passage of that act in 1911, I well remember the helpful co-operation the Manufacturers' Association as such offered the committee and the legislature. So today, the manufacturers of Wisconsin not only operate successfully and harmoniously under the compensation act, but I am sure that I speak the unanimous opinion when I say that there is no suggestion to revert back to the old system that involved so much waste and so much suffering."

Progressives here are inclined to dispute the fulsome praise of the governor for the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association. It is maintained that the manufacturers of the state were satisfied with the industrial commission and the administration of the compensation act only when they came into control of the machinery of the industrial commission in the Phillip administration.

It is also pointed out that during the Philipp administrations the lobbyists of the manufacturers' and employers' associations of the state deliberately sought to "hamstring" the industrial commission by cutting its appropriation to a point that would have destroyed its usefulness.

"The governor is going a little strong when he tries to make people believe that the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association is a friend of the compensation act," said a well known progressive today. "The Wisconsin Manufacturers association and its horde of lobbyists have been a vicious influence at every session of the legislature and have fought every piece of legislation in the interests of the people. The tax dodgers, whom Gov. Blaine was attacking before election, are all members of the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association. It seems strange that the governor is outpacing the organization which in 60 days will be here in full strength trying to smash every effort to put into law the things which the governor and the progressives promised in the recent campaign. If the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association had the chance to destroy the industrial commission they would wipe it out in a minute."

Mrs. Phillips is Saved
From Gallows by Smile

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Mrs. Clara Phillips was saved from the gallows by her smiles. The men members of the jury which found her guilty of second degree murder for beating Mrs. Alberta Meadows to death with a hammer were quoted today as admitting that had it not been for the defendant's smile, she probably would have been convicted of first degree murder, without a recommendation for clemency, thus making death the only penalty. They said that Mrs. Phillips seemed to study them, one at a time and with frequent smiles at them. The defense planned to ask a new trial Monday, the time set for passing sentence, which may be any period of years from ten to life.

CUT VITAMINES, SAYS BOOKLET

Deformities, Bow Legs, Rickets
Are Caused By Mal-nutrition

Lack of proper or sufficient vitamins is the cause of bow legs, rickets, under growth and many other deformities, according to "New Pages in Farming," a bulletin issued by the College of Agriculture, recently.

The lack of fat-soluble vitamins found in cod-liver oil and in green vegetables causes a decrease in the amount of lime deposits in the bones and results in soft bones easily bent and broken, the booklet states.

Filled milk has been found to be so deficient in fat-soluble vitamins that it will not sustain normal growth in rats, even when liberal amounts are supplied. Filled milk is evaporated skimmilk to which cocoanut oil has been added as a substitute for whole milk. It was found that in Wisconsin many families were using the filled milk as their main means of nutrition, and the state legislature found it necessary to pass a bill prohibiting the sale of filled milk to save these families from becoming undersized as a result of mal-nutrition.
