TO PRESENT FIRST PLAY OF SERIES TOMORROW NIGHT

Give "Whiteheaded Boy" in Open Air Theater at 8:30 O'Clock

With a cast composed of members of speech faculties of various universities and of honorary members of national dramatic societies, "The Whiteheaded Boy" will be presented at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night at the open air theater.

The play is the first of a series which will be presented under the auspices of the University theater. It is an Irish drama written by Lennox Robinson and will be presented under the direction of Miss Gertrude Johnson, professor of speech.

Title Meaning

The idea of the play of the "whiteheaded" boy comes from the Irish term which refers to the custom of giving special attention and all favors to one child who occupies the center of interest of the entire family.

How Dennis is peited and made over his mother, the troubles he brings to his family, and their sation is the plot of the play.

The cast includes such persons as Miss Margaret McCarty, instructor in voice in the university department of speech; Lincoln Holmes, instructor in speech at the University of Minnesota; and J. Fred McGraw of the University of Arkansas speech department, at present a member of the speech department here.

Local women will fill some of the various roles in the play. They are Mrs. D. D. Baskerville, Mrs. Pittman Potter, Mrs. Roland S. Stebbins, and Mrs. Carl Stephenson of the Curtain club, the dramatic organization of the members of the faculty; Ellen Flynn '24 and Agatha McCaffrey '25, members of the National Collegiate Players, a national honorary dramatic organization.

Herman Wirka '27 and Alfred Ludden, also members of the National Collegiate Players, and John Moran '27 from the Wisconsin University Players, will fill male roles.

The tickets for the play will be on sale at a booth before Music hall and at the theater tomorrow night. Although many of the seats have been sold there are still desirable ones to be had. The tickets are $1. Season tickets for this and the three succeeding plays may be bought at the University Co-op for $2.

CHICAGO CLUB WILL HOLD OUTING SATURDAY
The University of Wisconsin club of Chicago will hold its first 1926 picnic at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, July 17, in Ravinia park.

DORMITORY FIRE CAUSES DAMAGE

Halverson Sets Figure at $500; Tar and Cork Burned

Approximately $500 damage was caused yesterday noon when fire broke out in the new refectory building which is being constructed as part of the new Men's dormitories. Tar which was being used to cement the cork flooring for refrigerators in the basement caught fire.

The blaze was confined to a single room owing to the fireproof construction of the buildings, and men from fire stations 1, 2, and 4 succeeded in extinguishing the flames in an hour.

D. L. Halverson, director of dormitories and commons, stated last night that although the fire caused a great amount of smoke, no great damage had resulted. Repairs will begin immediately to have the refrigeration plant ready when the dormitories open in the fall.

Tagore to be the Subject of Arden Lecture on July 22

The Arden club of the university will present Chandra Sena Gooneratne in a lecture at Music hall the evening of July 22.

Mr. Gooneratne is a native of India, and a well known lecturer on the customs and literature of the East. He will lecture on the ideas of Rabindranath Tagore relating to love, the soul, and God.

Rabindranath Tagore has for many years been the center of discussion and criticism. His philosophy of love and God is unusual as being founded on modern religion, and for this reason his books, which were awarded the Nobel prize for literature in 1913, have been of interest in America and India.

Tagore has translated all his major Bengali writings into English. Mr. Gooneratne will read and chant selections from his poetry in the original and in English.

NEW EXTENSION DEAN IN MADISON

Snell Praises Wisconsin Division for Standing and Leadership

Chester D. Snell, former dean of the extension division of the University of North Dakota, arrived in Madison Friday night to take up his new duties as dean of the university extension division and this morning over the breakfast table he offered the opinion that he is going to like his work at Wisconsin.

"Wisconsin carries on the most extensive, and many extension division workers think, by far the most excellent work of any extension division in the United States," said Dean Snell. "Wisconsin was the first university to open a formal extension division."

Dean Snell declared Wisconsin has been the leader in practically all new ideas embodied in extension work, and that Wisconsin is looked upon as a leader by most other universities.

"In my many visits with Dean Reber, I learned to have a great respect for the personae which he had built up," continued Mr. Snell, "and I am gratified over their fine spirit and excellent ability."

The problems of extension in general are the same everywhere, explained Dean Snell, although, naturally, the largest extension at Wisconsin will have many more problems than some of the smaller divisions.

Dean Snell, who was accompanied by Mrs. Snell and their 3-year-old daughter, Angela, found the present cool weather a welcome relief from the heat which has been almost unbearable in North Carolina. Dean Snell has taken over Dean Reber's apartment at 922 Van Buren street, for the remainder of the summer.

PRISONERS NOW ABLE TO PURSUE U. W. COURSES BY CORRESPONDENCE

"He got his start in prison." That can be said, according to sociologists, of many a notorious criminal, sent to prison when young, and "educated" there by graybeards of crime.

Members of Prof. J. L. Gillin's sociology classes at the university hope it also may be said in the future of convicts who have "beat back" into useful life through a different sort of education given them in prison by university correspondence study.

Prof. Gillin's class in "Poverty and Dependency" in the spring of 1925 started a fund to provide correspondence "scholarships" for prisoners who wish to take university studies by mail. With contributions from the same class this spring, the fund now amounts to $152.

The money is administered as a loan fund, correspondence study fees paid from it to be repaid by convict beneficiaries if possible. Representatives of the correspondence study department who visit the state

NOTED PROFESSOR OF PSYCHOLOGY TO JOIN FACULTY

Kurth Koffka, Recognized Authority, Comes Here From Germany

Appointment of Prof. Kurth Koffka, of the University of Giessen, Hesse, Germany, as professor of psychology was announced Saturday. His acceptance of the place brings one of the three or four recognized leaders of psychology in the world to the university. Prof. Koffka's appointment is for the academic year 1926-27.

Since 1921, when his treatise, "Grundlagen der Psychischen Entwicklung," appeared, Prof. Koffka, a comparatively young man, has been recognized as the chief exponent of what is known as the Gestalt psychology. In 1925 appeared an English translation of this book under the title, "The Growth of Mind." In it he sets forth systematically a point of view for the study of mind embodying conceptions which have produced a marked effect upon the science of psychology generally.

Studies Attract Attention

Prof. Koffka and his followers emphasize the unitary character and coherence of mental experiences, as opposed to the mechanical character of behavioristic psychology as well as to a structural psychology which attempts to explain mental life by reducing it to its elements. His studies in behavior by analysis of the elements of mental life entering into such patterns of behavior have attracted wide attention.

During the academic year 1924-25 Prof. Koffka lectured at Cornell university and Clark university. He appeared for a single lecture at the University of Wisconsin during the spring of that year. While he was in America he made a strong impression in the field of psychology.

The appointment of Prof. Koffka is regarded on the campus as marking another step in the program of well-rounded development for the state university. The university's eagerness to place before its students new developments in the world of ideas is recognized in the offer of the position to Prof. Koffka, and his acceptance indicates recognition of the progressive Wisconsin attitude toward the sciences.

MISSOURI "SHOW ME" HOLD BOAT RIDE, PICNIC

Members of the Missouri "Show Me" club will hold a boat ride and a picnic at 4:40 o'clock tomorrow. Those who wish to arrange for places will notify Jessie Mangrum Chadbourne hall, B. 5440.

WEATHER

Mostly fair today and tomorrow. Slightly warmer Wednesday.

FIRST SKYROCKET OF SESSION GIVEN FISH

Despite the weather man's prophecies about the coming of warm weather, summer did not officially arrive until last Friday, when one Carl Russell Fish, professor of American history, appeared at his lecture hour for Representative Americans in a most dashing new white suit with a most intriguing red and blue tie.

And Carl Russell upon his arrival was greeted with the first skyrocket of the year, and the intriguing tie was given an equally voluminous skyrocket, both duly acknowledged by Prof. Fish.

Not long ago the Daily Cardinal, in its editorial columns, wondered what had become of the skyrocket. But it seems to have come back and we hope to stay, at least if they are all as boomerang as the triple rocket for "Cawl" Fish Friday.

WATER CARNIVAL FEATURES MANY WOMEN'S EVENTS

Carol Biba Chooses Committee for Relay, Diving, and Swimming Program

Plans are being completed for the women's events of the Daily Cardinal Water Carnival on July 24, it was announced by Carol Biba '27, chairman of women's events, yesterday.

A committee has been selected with Marcella Steele '27, as head of the inter-sorority relays, Miriam Anderson '28, in charge of fancy diving, and Marguerite Schwartz '27, who will have charge of features.

"We are planning to make women's events one of the biggest features of the Carnival," Miss Biba said yesterday. "One of the novel features this year will be a canoe-tilting contest with brooms. Already several have expressed their desire to enter the fancy diving meet."

The inter-sorority relay is another feature planned by Miss Steele. The distance will be 160 yards with the four members of each team swimming 40 yards each. If enough interest is shown Clayton Braatz, chairman of awards, promises to give a cup to the winning team. Any groups interested may reach Miss Steele at 120 Langdon street, F. 4946.

Contestants for the fancy diving exhibitions may communicate with Miss Anderson at Barnard hall, B. 5052. Entries for any of the events can be made by calling Carol Biba at 260 Langdon street, B. 4930, or the Daily Cardinal office.

ENGLISH EDUCATOR TO VISIT MADISON FRIDAY

Sir Walter Riddell, principal of Hertford college, Oxford, and chairman on the British committee of commonwealth fund scholarship, will visit the university Friday. He will remain until Sunday or Monday, studying the American educational system here. Sir Riddell is one of the foremost of British educators and is making a two months' tour of American colleges and universities to familiarize himself with the different plans of education which have been adopted in the United States. During his tour of the United States, Sir Riddell will be accompanied by Lady Riddell.

CHURCHMEN FINISH TWO WEEKS COURSE

Sixty-five representing Twenty States and Nine Denominations Attend

Sixty-five clergymen, representing nine church denominations and coming from twenty different states have just completed the two weeks short course given for religious leaders of rural communities and small towns. The course is included in the Department of Agriculture and is under the general direction of Prof. J. H. Kolb, rural sociologist.

This year's was the fifth session since the inauguration of the course. Of the 65 men enrolled 10 were at Wisconsin for their third summer and 21 came here for the second time.

The session included courses in economics, horticulture, gardening, organization, and in related subjects which pertain to the general phases of rural life, as well as to religious work.

Most of the classes were conducted in the mornings, the afternoons being devoted to lighter and more recreational instruction, and to entertainment. Many of the visiting clergymen lived in the camp colony on Lake Mendota.

FRUIT SEASON IS AT HIGHEST PEAK

Strawberries From Wisconsin Go on Market; Cherries Soon

Wisconsin is in the midst of its fruit season, the state department of markets indicates in its weekly summary of conditions.

Strawberry shipments this week proved profitable for the farmers, the department says, with the season in some sections coming to an end within the next few days. Cherry shipments from Door county will be starting in a few days with a good crop available. Green apples for pies also will soon find their way from Wisconsin orchards to various markets.

Trading was generally satisfactory on the butter markets this week. During the fore part of the week it was somewhat slow, but an improvement took place towards the end. Centralized car market was steady with demand fair. Butter prices are 3 cents lower than a year ago.

Trading in cheese was quiet and not as good as during the few previous weeks. The output is thought to be at the peak. Cheese prices are 1-1/2 cent lower than last year at this time. Foreign cheese prices are slightly higher than the previous week.

Receipts of eggs were higher than during the corresponding week a year ago. Spot egg market was quiet and unsettled with trading very dull.

While the $15 mark for hogs was reached during the early part of the week there was a slump in prices at the close, due to increased supplies. Buyers lost no opportunity to force down prices when supplies became heavy, a drop of 50 cents being recorded. A noted decline in the quality of offerings was another feature of the market.

Fed, weighty steers declined, but there was a scramble on the part of buyers for yearlings and such stock registered a 35 cent increase. A year ago prices on fed steers were $2 to $3 higher than now, but corn was worth more than now. Cheap corn at present and low feed values have resulted in holding cattle from the market and creating a demand for stockers and feeders.

With owners shipping freely and buyers pounding values lower at every opportunity the prices on fat lambs declined about 50 cents.

JOHN W. WEEKS DIES YESTERDAY

Ex-Secretary of War Succumbs After Long Fight for Health

LANCASTER, N. H.—John W. Weeks, war secretary under President Harding and Coolidge, died here at his summer home, Mount Prospect, at 3 o'clock this morning.

JOHN W. WEEKS

Death came from angina pectoris and followed a long fight for health.

Mr. Weeks died without recovering consciousness from the coma into which he had lapsed early Sunday. Mrs. Weeks, his son, Sinclair, and Mrs. John Washington Davidge, his daughter, were at the bedside when the end came.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at the home in West Newton, Mass., of Sinclair Weeks, son of the former secretary.

Finds Graves Of Coolidge Kin In Columbia County

John Grinde, of the Grinde clothes shop, 18 N. Carroll st., was visiting in the vicinity of Hampden, Columbia county, over the weekend and was surprised to come upon the graves of the grandparents of Pres. Calvin Coolidge.

The old marker, rustic and decayed, has recently been replaced by a new granite stone with the inscription: "Israel and Sally Brewer 1873."

sent by President Coolidge today to Mrs. John W. Weeks, on the death of her husband.

"The passing of former Sec'y Weeks," the president said, "means a great loss to all of us. I have known him since his first campaign for congress in nineteen hundred four. He was one of the strong men in national public life as a member of the house and senate and later as secretary of war. He has left an enviable record in all of these distinguished offices. It was with great regret that I accepted his resignation from my cabinet about a year ago. I mourn his loss because he was my personal friend and because the unselfish service to the country to which he devoted the best years of his life won for him the admiration and respect of the whole nation.

Mrs. Coolidge joins me in the expression of deepest sympathy for you and the other members of his family and friends."

A rich life experience in the 60 years preceding the appointment was found to have equipped Mr. Weeks for the post of secretary of war.

Was Born on Farm

From the time he was born on the little New Hampshire farm near Lancaster, April 11, 1860, he kept in each stage of life and ever present human viewpoint.

Until he was 17 he was doing chores on the farm. He succeeded at the age of 18 in getting an appointment to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, where he was graduated four years later a midshipman. But two more years sufficed to kill what ambition then remained in the mind of Midshipman Weeks for a permanent post in the Navy. He and a number of his classmates resigned. In 1885, Mr. Weeks married Miss Martha Sinclair and journeyed south as a surveyor and land commissioner for the Florida Southern railroad. Three years later, he returned to New England, joining partnership in what grew to be the thriving firm of Hornblower & Weeks, bankers, of Boston, Mass.

In 1900, Capt. Weeks began to attract attention in New England political affairs and in prominent ranks of the Republican party. A resident of Newton, Mass., at that time, he held many city offices and, in 1902, was elected mayor of Newton. Rapid strides followed. He went to congress in 1905. He served in the senate until 1919. The republican national convention at Chicago, in 1916, saw in him one of the leading candidates for the presidential nomination. Twenty-five states cast 105 votes for him. Only Charles Evans Hughes, the nominee of that convention, polled more votes than he.

Between the time Mr. Weeks retired from the senate and his appointment as secretary of war, he devoted himself almost exclusively to affairs of the Republican party, taking the role of a leader in the presidential campaign of 1920 and at the national convention, where he helped bring about the nomination of Warren G. Harding. At that time he was the national committeeman from Massachusetts. Later he was a member of the Republican national campaign committee of five.

or should be satisfied until all freshmen have an opportunity for community living in dormitories."

Will Keep Red Light in Dome

A limited number of rooms is still available in the new men's dormitories which have just been completed by the university, according to the director of dormitories and commons.

The 500 men students, mainly freshmen, who are reserving rooms in the new dormitories this summer will be the first group to share the realization of the ideal that university authorities have long dreamed—the community life of dormitories for men students. No other class at the university has had the opportunity of dormitory life.

Women students have had the opportunity of dormitory life for many years, and the 275 rooms in Chadbourne and Barnard halls are reserved months in advance. The late completion of the new buildings has delayed assignment of rooms.

Preference is being given to residents of Wisconsin in the assignments, and, until Sept. 1, preference will be given to freshmen. After that date, remaining rooms will be assigned regardless of classes.

Many are being attracted to the dormitories by the relatively low rates—$150 for room, and $252 for board for the 36 weeks of the college year. Others are being attracted by the community life offered by the arrangement of separate entries, each housing 32 men, in the various adjoining buildings—each man living in his own room but closely associated with 32 congenial neighbors.

Many others are attracted by the unusually pleasant furnishings and equipment of the rooms, the community living rooms in each entry, the nearby refectory serving food cooked in university kitchens, the adjacent athletic fields and playgrounds, and Lake Mendota spreading out almost from the front doorstep.

President Glenn Frank said recently, "I do not believe that the parents of Wisconsin students will

Preference is Made to Residents of Wisconsin and to Freshmen

The red light in the top of the capitol dome will continue to stand out in contrast to the brilliant white of the flood-lighted dome, for some time at least, according to John Meeks, superintendent of public property, who said that he had received much favorable comment upon it.

Mr. Meeks stated that it would cost about $200 a year to maintain the light, but added that the expense seemed justified in that the general public desired to keep it going.

STUDENTS DEMAND SECOND GROUP IN TENNIS CONTESTS

Additional Prizes to be Awarded in Daily Cardinal Summer Tournament

There are so many students and faculty members who failed to register for the Daily Cardinal tennis tournament before last Tuesday and still demand membership in those contests that plans are being made to form a second division, according to Harry Cohen, chairman.

During the next few days, Cohen will register those who wish to enter this second group at the tennis office in the men's gymnasium between the hours of 10 and 6 o'clock. If there are a sufficient number who care to join, this plan will be completed.

Plan Singles and Doubles

There are 48 persons taking part in the summer contests now being held and it is hoped that at least 16 single entries will be made to make this second group possible. Entries in the doubles will also be received and the same arrangements are under way for those contests.

Additional prizes will be given for the tournament winners with second prizes in both the singles and doubles. All of the entry money will be used for the purchasing of these additional awards.

Ruhnke Beats Bramblet

In the first sets of the tournament Ruhrke won from Bramblet 6-3, 6-1; Sah and Chao won from Longaker and Howison 9-7, 4-6, 6-1, and C. Rinke and K. King won from H. Nielhaus and Holzman 6-1 and 6-1.

"Everything depends upon those who wish to form this second division of the tournament," said Cohen yesterday. "If there are enough who wish to enter to make this possible, we shall gladly arrange for the group in both singles and doubles. However, if only a few care to enter, we shall drop it and continue with the first plan."

"In order that plans might be made, all those who are interested should report at the gymnasium at once."

FOOTBALL STARS ARE HOHLFELD PALLBEARERS

Funeral services for Rudolph Hohlfeld, son of Prof. and Mrs. A. R. Hohlfeld, 121 Breese terrace, who was drowned while on a geological expedition in South America several months ago, will be held at 2:30 p.m. this afternoon at the Unitarian church.

Rev. James H. Hart will officiate. Interment will be at Forest Hill cemetery. The body arrived in Madison yesterday from South America.

Pallbearers will be Burton Billings, James Brader, Paul Eschweiler, Morton Frost, Joseph McCarty, Don C. Newcomb, Guy Sundt and Walter Gausewitz.

Books Furnished Inmates State Prisons, Hospitals

Reading is one of the diversions of inmates of state charitable and penal institutions, records of the Wisconsin Free Library commission reveal.

Books are furnished by the traveling library division, and offer relief to the inmates in the tiresome hours when they are unoccupied. C. B. Lester, secretary of the commission, said.

A new development of the institutional service was the establishment of hospital library service at the Wisconsin General hospital here. The service was requested by Dr. R. C. Buerk, superintendent of the hospital, who offered to have the work done under the direction of Miss Stuart, occupational director.

The hospital authorities had a special book truck built, with which the patient lying in bed may select a book from the shelves which are wheeled to the bedside. Two hundred carefully selected and attractive, fresh books were sent to the hospital, Mr. Lester said.

There will be a meeting of all reporters, night men, and department heads at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon in the office, 722 Langdon street. Definite schedules for the rest of summer session will be decided upon at the meeting. Any who desire to work on the staff may register at this meeting.

Graham Describes the True Mental Picture of Jesus

Great physical strength, absolute moral integrity, and wonderful personal magnetism and sympathy, are the qualities which should be present in our mental picture of the man, Jesus, according to Dr. Thomas W. Graham, dean of the Oberlin Theological Seminary, who spoke on "Jesus," at the all university religious vesper service held at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the fellowship room of the university Y. M. C. A.

The influence of Jesus on men whose very lives made them appreciate physical strength, an influence so great that it made them willing to leave their nets and fishing to follow him and become "fishers of men," was also pointed out by the speaker who characterized Jesus as "a man of strength among strong men."

The services Sunday were the first of a series of all university vesper services which are to be held on Sunday afternoons and evenings, under the auspices of the university Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Dean Lydia Brown presided at Sunday's meeting, with Miss Esther Hibbard as soloist.

Dope Lines

Already 14 Madison merchants have notified Clayton Braatz, chairman of the awards for the Daily Cardinal Water carnival, that they are planning on donating prizes for this summer's meet. It is expected that more than twice that number will join the list before many days.

Have you seen P. Sah on the tennis court this summer? He is one of the best players entered in the Daily Cardinal tennis tournament now in full swing. Without a bit of exertion and with a free easy style, it is a real treat to watch him.

Other men doped to be runners-up for the prize awards are K. Werner, W. Kaeser and T. Whitenack. But, who can tell?

Official football schedule announced for the 1926 conference season at Wisconsin:

- Oct. 2—Cornell College here.
- Oct. 9—Kansas here.
- Oct. 16—Purdue there.
- Oct. 23—Indiana here.
- Oct. 30—Minnesota here.
- Nov. 6—Michigan there.
- Nov. 13—Iowa here.
- Nov. 20—Chicago there.

T. Whitenack is the winner of last year's tournament. Besides that he won the tennis meets conducted by the athletic department during the last two regular sessions. M. Howison, who is also listed in this summer's meeting, was in the semi-finals last summer.

We wonder whether there is anybody around this place that is a busier man than George Little, director of athletics. We've been on the lookout for him for more than a week. Several times he has been seen but always busy explaining something to a group of high school coaches, showing them how things are done around Wisconsin. Always too busy to talk to us. Ever since his coaching classes have started this has been the layout.

Up to this time, 15 events have been arranged for the water carnival. The entire list will be published soon. Then the entries will come in even faster than they have been during the past few days.

According to the announcement, if you haven't already entered the tennis tournament, do so now. It will mean another division in the tournament if the number is large enough.

RACINE REINSTATED IN PRO-FOOTBALL LEAGUE

PHILADELPHIA—The National League of Professional Football Clubs will start the 1926 season Sept. 19, with 22 teams, representing 21 cities, franchises having been granted three new clubs at the annual meeting of the league which closed last night. Los Angeles, Brooklyn and Hartford are the newcomers.

Cleveland, Minneapolis, and New Britain, Conn., withdrew and Pottsville, Pa., and Racine, Wis., were reinstated, Pottsville's reinstatement coming after the payment of a $2500 fine for playing the eleven known as the four horsemen in Philadelphia last fall while the Philadelphia franchise holder was playing a league game.

Louisville which has held a league franchise for several years but which for the last years, had no team in the field will resume activities this fall.

Six thousand immigrants came to Winnipeg, Manitoba, during March, 1926, shattering all records since 1912.

S. S. ARCADE TEAM COPS TWO GAMES

Beat Packers in Morning and Police in Afternoon
Tilts

Sunday was a big day for the members of the South Side Arcade baseball team. In the morning they defeated the Cardinal Packers by a 12 to 5 score, and taking the Madison Police nine into camp in the afternoon's fastivities by a 9 to 7 count.

The morning tilt found Brandmeyer hurling for the South Side team and Schwaegele for the Packers. The winners garnered seven runs in a seventh game rally. This attack was led by Panty who closeded a home run.

Schull, the kid pitcher who is setting the local leagues afire by his pitching feats, was in rare form against the police team, retiring 18 via the strikeout route. Hudson on the mound for the Blue-coats whiffed seven. Schull has averaged better than 15 strikeouts a game for the last five tilts, his record, to be exact being 78.

YOU THIEF

"Say, Jack, did you save that topic you wrote last semester for Fish's 'Representative Americans'?" was a question put to his roommate by one of the boys a few days ago.

"No, I have lent mine to Harry to use this summer," Jack replied, "but I know a girl who has one, and I am sure she would give it to you. She got an 'A' on it too."

"Well," was the happy rejoinder, "that will save me a lot of worry. I could see myself before I would waste any time this weather on a topic."

Every student in the university has either asked for such a favor, or been asked the favor, or over heard many times just such a conversation. It is a common talk on the campus.

Some persons would make such disgusted remarks as "inbred dishonesty," or "as the twig is bent," or "college education, bah! nothing but a college course in thievery, with a major in plagiarism." And good reasons for such conclusions too.

The only crime in regard to such cheating lies in getting caught, according to the student—and that is almost impossible. The last sensation that one would feel if a fellow student knew that he was copying a topic or theme is shame. They boast about such things, and very few of those that will not practice them will openly condemn them.

College psychology—indifferent to nothing except education and training.

It is an old joke of the man who remarked that he was majoring in girls, minoring in booze and spending too much time according to him, on his outside activity—L. and S.

The trouble with such things is that they cast over everybody who indulges in them a common veneer of mediocrity. It is in most cases imitation. It is not an expression of the true self. Personality is drowned, and the remains take the form of copper plated lead, silver and gold however the individual is at bottom.

A college is not, and will never be a reformatory. It is supposed among other things to be a gathering place of different individuals who will express themselves according to their own ways of thinking.

The trouble does not lie in the fact that dishonest people come to college—that is inevitable. Nor does it lie in the fact that they gather around them satellites, and tools, weaklings that is also inevitable. The trouble is that they, at any rate at Wisconsin, have so permeated and saturated the atmosphere with their influence that their acts have become conventionalized, and are within the pale of every law except the laws as set down by the disciplinary committee.

If you are dishonest, so be it. We have nothing to say. If you are honest, you are fortunate. But if you are honest and try to give the impression of dishonesty and moral laxity, you are a hypocrite, and are false to yourself, and to those around you.

Be yourself!

BACKING THE BACKERS

Y. W. C. A. and W. A. A. are two of the best organizations for new women students to become affiliated with.

During the World War friends met friends, relatives were reunited, hope and spirit were injected into the lonely and pessimistic through the efforts of the triangular institution.

Who backs get-togethers and get-acquainted hikes, picnics, and parties? Who aids the individual student to "find" himself in a new school? The Y. W. C. A.

The Women's Athletic Association is a close second. A development of recent years in colleges and universities, it now does much to further school "pep" and to assist the individual.

These two organizations need the backing, the hearty support of the student body, and that body can not ignore what they have to offer.

Applause Of Fans Cause Of Radio Man's Death

CHICAGO—Applause that spoke appreciation of several hundred dancers at the Chicago Beach hotel following a radio program, was the indirect cause of a young radio operator's death here yesterday. The sound volume was too great for the apparatus at station WOK to carry. It blew a fuse in the battery room. Lester J. Wolf, 19, attempting to replace the fuse, was electrocuted when he touched a wire that sent 6,500 volts through his body.

THE POOR FISH

What has happened—

Hanschwable goes with friend Gonnigle on a blind date. Hansy is to take Miss Florentina Nagadavoe. When Hanschwable rings Miss Nagadavoe's doorbell he hears a lusty shriek and enters to find the fair damsel in a dead faint in the hallway. After three installments it develops that Miss Nagadavoe was merely fainting a faint, because she was trying out for the University Players and wished to try some of her acting on our hero. She leaves Hansy to go upstairs and get her coat. Start the story today.

EPISODE IV

"Toodledoo," said Florentina merrily as she descended the stairs with her coat. "I've forgotten to brush my teeth, but you won't care, will ya?"

"Assuredly not," answered Hansy, both amazed and delighted with this affecting display of frankness, but at the same time hoping that the lady was not afflicted with halitosis as four out of every five are.

"Ya know," explained the girl, "I almost alius brushes my tooofies when I go on a date like this, but when I see you I know right away that it would be a waste of time to night. Don't you like to try to read people's characters by lookin' at them that way?"

"Oh, surely, surely," replied our hero as he glanced surreptitiously at himself in a nearby pier glass. Hansy had never tried to analyze himself, but he felt the urge at this moment.

The rather unusual conversation between the two was terminated by Florentina's "C'mon, let's go, huh?" and the two stepped forth from the house in which the virile Hanschwable had been captivated by the charms of the fair Miss Nagadavoe, and in which he had experienced so many hair-raising experiences.

"Hello, dearie," shouted Florentina as she ran down to the waiting car in which Gonnigle and his friend were sitting. Florentina said hello to the girl, not to Gonnigle—the girl had gotten this date for her. The two members of the weaker sex then exchanged a number of those confidences that are so peculiar to them—"How d'ya like him, dearie?" . . . "No, but he's the best I could do," . . . "Does my petticoat show?" . . . and that sort of thing.

During this interlude the enamored Hanschwable stood and drank with his eyes, pondering all the while upon Miss Nagadavoe's exotic beauty (she is the daughter of a Beloit fruit peddler), and thinking himself quite in love all at once. Suddenly he had a happy thought—at least, he thought it happy at the time—his fraternity pin! Ah, that would be delightful—to hang his Alpha Catalpha emblem upon this most desirable girl.

(To Be Continued)

What will Hanschwable do? That is the question. And if Hanschwable does, then what will Florentina do? That is another question. Read the fifth spasm in Thursday's Cardinal.

DAWSON CONDUCTS CAMP FOR GIRLS

Starts Fourth Season With Wife at Allen's Park, Col.

ALLEN'S PARK, Col.—Dr. Percy M. Dawson, Madison, Wis., has started his fourth season as a camp director in Colorado, his seventh season in camp work. Dr. Dawson's position in charge of the physiology work for the physical education students at the University of Wisconsin, his position as graduate doctor of Johns Hopkins, a member of the American Physical Education association, and a great lover and student of all natural science have made him unusually fit to carry on this type of work. Mrs. Dawson is a trained nurse and a graduate of Smith college.

The first camp work of the Dawsons was carried on at Gordon, Wis., but at present they are located on the south spur of Twin Sisters mountain, about twelve miles from Estes Park, just outside the boundaries of the Rocky Mountain national park—an ideal location for camp life for there are found the fauna and flora of practically all elevations from the temperate to the Alpine.

This summer they have gathered about them an exceptionally fine council composed mainly of college graduates, many of them with advanced degrees, and all experts in their fields.

Miss Dorothy Mathis, B. S., '24, of the University of Wisconsin, is in charge of the physical education work at the camp with Miss Genevieve Brown, B. S., '25, of Wisconsin, and for the past winter physical education instructor at the Chicago Latin high school, as her assistant.

Dr. Greta Baumgarten, instructor in the university history department is giving German lessons at the camp.

Miss Grena Grubb, B. A., '26, of Wisconsin is in charge of the nature work.

Miss Marion Bigelow, '26, B. S., Wisconsin, is in charge of the horseback riding—an important activity at the camp for the mountains are filled with unusually interesting trails.

Miss Eve Knower, M. A., instructor in the philosophy department of the University, who is also well known for her book reviews in the "American Review," is the dietitian of the camp. Through the kitchen the diet of the girls is so regulated to give them the proper food they need for their exercise. Provisions are also made for the overweight and the underweight.

Miss Beatrice Hellebrandt, a junior at Wisconsin, is in charge of the singing, and Miss Katherine Henby, A. B., '25, of Washington university, is in charge of musical instrument work.

Edwin Hellebrandt, '25, Chicago, is the assistant manager of the camp. There are, of course, aides for all these supervisors.

This year's campers include the Misses Betty Hutcheson, Betty Henby, Mary and Lenore Taussig, Sibley Merton, Marion Davis, Adele Biederman, Margaret and Ruth Dawson, of St. Louis; Miss Jane Addams Hulbert, Edwin Armstrong, and Alice Eitel of Chicago; and Anna, Agnes and Ruth Thompson, of Des Moines.

Caribbean to Come Under the Control of the United States

"The Caribbean will inevitably come under the control of the United States whether we want it or not," Prof. Ray H. Whitbeck told his audience in his illustrated lecture on the "United States in the Caribbean" at Science hall Friday afternoon.

We are bound to expand financially, territorially, and industrially, said Prof. Whitbeck. The experience of the British nation is likely to be our experience as time goes on.

Prof. Whitbeck traced the history of the Caribbean countries from the time they were part of the once vast Spanish empire until the present time, when Cuba is under our protection, Porto Rico is under our government and the other countries are fast depending on us for aid.

American industry has also entered the Caribbean countries and is becoming one of the greatest factors in their development, both financially and economically, said Mr. Whitbeck.

A group of slides showing conditions in these Caribbean countries, plantations, and life in general were shown by Prof. Whitbeck.

Son, Killed in
Dive Off TrainCanadian Woman Leaps
To Death As She Nears
Madison

As No. 510, fast Northwestern passenger train, sped toward Madison at an early hour yesterday morning, Mrs. Mary Roucka, 38, of Winnipeg, Can., walked quietly out of the observation car, unlocked the gate on the rear platform, and plunged off the car, her body rolling down an embankment. Death had been almost instantaneous for the fall had broken the woman's neck.

It happened about two miles this side of the Merrimac bridge, near Okee. Two persons saw her throw herself from the train, one was a passenger and the other the rear brakeman.

Leaves Son on Train.

She left an 11-year-old son, George Roucka, on the train. The boy does not know yet that his mother is dead. He is being cared for by the matron at the Northwestern station here.

The Rouckas live in Winnipeg where Alois Roucka, the father, is manager of Doctor Farney's, a patent medicine concern of Chicago.

A son, Edmond Roucka, 18, is attending school in Chicago, formerly the family home. Edmond was at the station in Chicago to meet his mother and little brother.

Though a berth had been reserved for the woman and her son, the woman did not retire. Train officials noticed that she remained in the observation car throughout the night. F. P. Kane, Chicago, was the conductor on the train.

It was 6:30 a. m. when she awoke the boy, who had slept all night in a chair, and gave him $45 in cash and her wrist watch. She kept her two diamond rings.

Then she got up and slowly made her way to the rear platform. As she stepped outside, the brakeman entered the car from the other end. He walked through the train and was only 10 feet behind her when she leaped off the train.

Bring Body Here.

He signalled the engineer to stop and the train was backed up to the spot where the woman's body lay. It was taken aboard and brought to Madison to the Frautschy funeral parlors.

The remains will be shipped to Chicago where funeral services will be held. The son, Edmond, arrived from Chicago last night. The husband is to arrive tomorrow.

Little Purchases

New Speedboat for Coach "Dad" Vail

A new speed motorboat to be used by Coach 'Dad' Vail in coaching the University crew, has been purchased for the university George Little, athletic director, who, it is reported, expects to be reimbursed by New York alumni of the school. The boat, first used this year at the Poughkeepsie race, is now on Lake Mendota.

The craft is reported to have cost between $3,500 and $4,000. Purchase of the boat, which is capable of 32 miles an hour, was made necessary because the Isabell, the university life saving ship, which has remained in the hands of the university until recently, has been purchased by Herbert Brockhausen, owner of the Brock Engraving Co., for a reported price of $450.

Leap For Lives As Fire
Destroys Roadhouse

DELAFIELD—Fire early today destroyed the Riviera, a road house one-half mile east of here, forcing eleven employees, who were sleeping on the second floor, to leap to safety from bedroom windows and the roof. All were scantly clad.

Two waiters were severely burned about the arms, and Miss Nelda Moll, 23, checkroom girl, sustained a fractured leg when she leaped from the room. She was taken to St. Mary's hospital.

John Tegelman, 38, and William Weber, 26, waiters, were treated by a Delafield physician. Origin of the fire is unknown. Damage is estimated at $10,000.

Junior Stars Run Riot in "Hot" Play Fascinating Youth

By SALLY

Plenty of pep—indeed more pep than we have seen for years, is exhibited in Paramount's latest—"Fascinating Youth"—the current feature at the Parkway.

Starring the 16 graduates of the Paramount school of acting—16 stars full of youthful vigour—the picture romps through several jazzy scenes to a thrilling ice boat race and a most exciting finish.

The plot around which the picture is built is flimsy, to say the least. But try to get a plot which allows 16 young people to dominate the action and to display their several abilities! Fascinating Youth has as much plot as could be expected under the circumstances.

All the roles but two are filled with youngsters—18 to 22 years old. The other two are that of the irate father who dispairs of his son's romantic but expensive attachments, and that of an invalid man confined to his wheel chair, a man aged in years but not in spirit. This latter character furnishes a great deal of the comery interest of the play.

Fascinating Youth is interesting because of its new faces and the rather novel idea behind it. In addition it succeeds in being good. It is different; it is impossible; but it is vastly entertainng.

CORINNE'S ADMIRERS ENJOY "INFATUATION"

By SUE

Do you like Corinne Griffith? Then you'll like "Infatuation" at the Strand this week. The play abounds with Corinne and her exquisite person.

We have always endeavored to determine just what it is that makes Miss Griffith so attractive. She is not truly beautiful and yet she is so exquisite that her charm draws everyone whether he will or no.

The settings of the play are, for the most part, laid in Egypt and are beautifully picturesque. One particular garden scene, where Corinne sits by the waterside in the moonlight, hidden now and then by the shadow of her husband who is passing the floor inside the house—that scene is tremendously effective from an artistic point of view.

Percy Marmont plays the role of husband with his indefinable charm, as great in its way as that charm of Miss Griffith herself. He typifies our ideal Englishman and as an ideal we naturally are prejudiced in his favor.

"Cap" Isabell Rescues Students In Mendota

Two university summer school students were saved from Lake Mendota yesterday by "Cap" Thomas Isabell and the university speed boat when a high wind blew the students' canoe out on the lake despite the efforts of the students to go ashore.

The crew of a sailboat also was rescued yesterday afternoon when the boat overturned about a mile from the university boathouse. The boat was towed to shore.

A giant lizard of Zululand, a lizard said to have a snake's head and to be six feet in height has been described by King Lewanika in an official letter to the British Resident.

STORY OF COURT ROOM PLAYING AT MADISON

BY JEAN

A poignant picture of a criminal who is not essentially a criminal and a thrilling scene of the court room dominate the plot of "The Counsel for the Defense," now playing at the Madison.

Starring Betty Compson and House Peters, the picture presents quite a powerful dramatic action. With Miss Compson to give it beauty and House Peters to give it strength, the result could not be successful.

There is the inevitable storm, without which no House Peters picture is complete, and the inevitable close-ups which mark Miss Compson's pictures, but these are sufficiently subdued to allow the play to work its way out of a maze into the peaceful waters of romance.

A whole grove of tiny trees, small enough to be held in the hand, has been found in the mountains of British Columbia.

Miss Bandy at Best in Orph Production "Bird of Paradise"

By TED

Sometime during its existence most every stock company produces the "Bird of Paradise," and this week it is done by the Orpheum Players. The play is not new even in Madison. Just when it made its first appearance here I do not know; but its second showing came as a return engagement of a road company in the spring of 1919. Since then it has not been heard in Madison until this week.

Its plot by now is familiar. Its Japanese version is "Madame Butterfly." A beautiful Hawaian girl, a young American—happiness—she tires of her—she realizes she is not of his kind and sacrifices herself to the gods.

At the Orpheum Miss Bandy as Luana does her best work of the season, and is even better looking than usual in a very becoming black wig. Mr. McNelis makes the most of his opportunities in a part that is "heavier" than he has had so far. Special mention is also due to Jack Boyle's first act as the beach-comber, and to Katherine Mulholland as the missionary's wife.

Audiences at the Orpheum are so used to seeing Al Jackson in comedy parts that they refuse to accept him in anything else. They deem it their moral duty to laugh every time he makes an entrance regardless of the part he is playing. Consequently in the small part of Hohenlohe, whenever he moves or speaks the audience (a portion of it at least) haw-haws, though Hohenlohe has no speech in the play which even borders on the humorous.

Photography without plates or films is declared possible by means of an invention which takes pictures directly on sensitized paper and develops the image within a few seconds.

TEN COMMANDMENTS IS AT MAJESTIC THEATER

By E. M. H.

In its reappearance at the Majestic theater, "The Ten Commandments" proves even more impressive and more magnificent than at first view. The same comment must be made that was made before—the second half is far out of keeping with the excellence of the tale of antiquity.

On first sight the spectator is impressed with the magnificence of the spectacle as such. Later views allow the impression to be assimilated and the really great quality of the picture to be appreciated.

Theodore Roberts gains greater majesty and dignity in his role of the venerable Moses and makes firmer his place upon the pedestal of the great.
