WOMEN'S CONVO SET BY S. G. A. MARCH THIRD

To Discuss Co-ed Activities;
Attendance Compulsory
For All Co-eds

Plans were made at the S. G. A. meeting last night for a mass meeting of all-university women to be held Wednesday, March 3, at 7:30 p. m., in the concert room in Lathrop. All of the women in the university are compelled to be present.

A number of matters of general university interest will be discussed and plans will be made for various programs to be carried out during the remainder of the year. Prof. A. B. Hall will address the meeting on the general subject of Wisconsin standards and spirit.

Mildred Winnie, chairman of the committee which is stirring up interest in university songs, will announce plans for the participation of the entire university in this activity. It is generally felt that for a university of its size, Wisconsin has very few songs that apply to the whole school. There are Engineers' songs and songs for the different colleges but not enough of general interest. The work of this committee has been to formulate plans for the composition of more Wisconsin songs.

Louise Weld will explain in detail the point system for the activities of university women. The new district plan for the entire social life of the university will be explained. It is planned to inaugurate this plan at the opening of the next school year and enforce it strictly. Qualifications for the nominees for S. G. A. officers will be announced.

This is one of the most important convocations of the year for all of the university women and every co-ed is requested to keep that date open and be sure to attend.

BAND CONCERT SUNDAY AT GYM

Elmer Hintz is the soloist for the third concert of the winter series, of the First Regimental band, to be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the university gym. "A good program of slightly heavier character than usual has been prepared," said Mr. Yates, conductor of the band. The new instruments requisitioned from the government will be used. Plans for out of town trips will be made when the eligibility of the men is learned. The program for Sunday's concert follows:

Band Program

1. March—Reevonian—Reeves.
2. Overture—Zampa—Herold.
3. Vocal Solo—On the Road to Mandalay—Speaks.
4. Selection—Aida—Verdi.
5. Suite Romantique—Nevin .

BURTON HERE FOR BIG MEET

DR. L. M. BURTON

A man who has endeared himself to students by his vital concern for their welfare is coming to the university in the interest of the Religious conference held during March 4 to 7. This man is Dr. M. L. Burton, the popular and progressive president-elect of the University of Michigan.

Dr. Burton, since accepting the presidency of Minnesota University in 1917, has become a vital part of the student life there. He has taken a deep concern in the welfare of the students, having a personal interest in their activities thereby forming a genial companionship in all their student life.

As one of the leading speakers at the Religious conference, Dr. Burton, the popular and progressive to Wisconsin students. Because of his direct contact with students, his ability to bring a message of encouragement and help to those taking the opportunity to hear him is looked upon as a prime factor in making the conference mean more to Wisconsin than ever before.

Since becoming president at Minnesota, Dr. Burton has been able to bring about numerous improvements. A generous increase in the salaries of the faculty has been

NEW STUNTS AT PRE-PROM PROM

Mixer Planned by Y. W. C. A. to Be the Most Original of Year

Cotillion features of serpentine, confetti, and balloons will make the "Pre Prom Prom for All," to be held tonight in the armory, the pepiest and most original all-university mixer of the year, according to those in charge.

The whole affair has been planned by Y. W. C. A., with a view to introducing something new and at the same time keeping the get-together purpose of a mixer.

"The stunts, so far kept a secret, will amuse; the refreshments will satisfy, the music will inspire, and the confetti will enliven," declared Mabel Winter, general chairman of the affair. "Combined with the romantic suspense of the mixer will be the thrills of a regular party."

"W" CLUB HOLDS RELAY FROLIC DANCE TONIGHT

Will be Big Social Event; Rusty Hinge Four to Entertain

According to "Moose" Hanson there's going to be "some doings" at the Candy Shop tonight when the "W" club gives their annual dance. Hanson, '19, who has charge of the affairs, has spent considerable time in the preparations for the dance and it promises to be one of the most successful functions of the year.

Plans for last year's dance were frustrated by the flu ban so that members of the club are more than anxious to give a real party this year. The dance will be a relay affair between the studio and the Woman's building and two six piece orchestras of Boyd's best will preside. Both places will be appropriately decorated. The Rusty Hinge Four, which has been engaged for the occasion, promises to be at its rustiest. Another feature of the dance will be the playing of extracts from dance pieces which were popular two or three years ago. The proceeds of the dance will be used to aid the inter-state basketball tournament which will be held some time in March. Attendance is limited to 300, and nearly all tickets have been sold. Dancing is from 9 to 1 o'clock. Tickets are on sale at Candy Shop for $1.50, including war tax.

OCTOPUS DRIVE GOES OVER TOP

Staff Calls for Contributions;
New Thought Number
Out March 20

The campus subscription campaign for the Octopus netted more than 600 subscriptions. The response from the student body was highly satisfactory, and the circulation department is anticipating a record-breaking March publication. The next number is scheduled to appear March 20.

The alumni and foreign subscription campaign has not yet reached completion but already orders have come in for copies to be sent to Pasadena, California, Palm Beach, Florida, and many of the eastern colleges and finishing schools. All present signs indicate that the exchange of campus humorous magazines between the members of various colleges will be a popular method of keeping friends in other places in touch with Wisconsin. The price of foreign subscriptions is one dollar a year.

The "New Thought" number of the magazine will be published in March and is still in need of copy, and all students are urged to contribute their humorous prose and poetry. The deadline for all "contris" is March 1.

SENATE TO PUT CHECK ON ALL CAMPUS CLUBS

All Organizations Must Be Recognized by Student
Senate is Rule

In an effort to have a check on all organizations on the campus, the student senate has made a regulation requiring all existing organizations except social and national fraternities to be recognized by the senate.

This action was taken due to the great number of small organizations that have suddenly sprung into existence during the past semester, and also as an aid to the Badger in the listing of all campus activities.

The following data is required from all organizations before March 15, and must be sent to the secretary of the student senate, president's office, University hall:

1. Name of club or organization.
2. Present officers.
3. Date of organization.
4. Date of recognition by student senate (if organization has been recognized).

The rule that is to be adhered to by all organizations as passed by the senate reads as follows:

"Hereafter, before a prospective campus organization will be heard in its petition for recognition before the student senate, said organization must have been active and in operation for at least one semester, or four and one-half months.

"Any such organization or society, excluding publications, must have had filed at the time of organization a notice with the student senate.

"Publications may petition recognition at their own discretion.

"Provided that nothing herein shall be so construed as to obligate or confine the student senate in its decision regarding the petition at its presentation, after the said organization has complied with these requirements."

Unless these requirements are met, steps will be taken to have these organizations barred from the campus.

MADRIGAL CLUB GIVES CONCERT

The fifth annual concert of the Madrigal club was held last night at the Woman's building before an enthusiastic audience of about a hundred and fifty people. The chorus, composed of 25 ladies, under the direction of Alexius H. Baas, rendered the opening number which included three vocal selections. Miss Reba Hayden next gave a solo from the Poet and Peasant Overture. She was accompanied at the piano by Miss Marion Mosel. A reading of Poe's "The Raven," by Alexius H. Baas, followed next on the program. This number was especially well received. A cantata entitled, "The Lady of Shalott," featuring piano solos by Miss Louise Vrooman and Mrs. Evelyn Oldham-Baas, concluded the evening's program.

HERE'S LOOKIN' AT YOU, FREDDIE

In dayss of old, when Badgers were bold,
And drank both whiskey and gin,
Some "alci" for you and some for me,
And said, "Please tell me when."
They beat up the cops and rushed the Orph
And howled for Pat O'Dea,
But now, according to Jordan,
Them days are far away.
I wonder, were he amongst us, with scheckles in his pants,
Some cider for you and some for me,
Or a malted up at Dad's.
Would HE play around with a

of day
Or call up his bestest girl and drag her away to tea?

A RECITATION

A deep red blush spread o'er cheek;
And as the little maid did speak
She stammered and she hesitated,
Began again and then she waited,
Then uttered things that weren't related
To the question, and she dropped her eyes.
The sour professor with a frown
Concluded from her blush and sighs
She nothing knew and marked her down.

A ZERO.
But ah, he marked her not alone.
I marked her coy endearing tone,
Her downcast eyes and soft brown hair,
I marked her trembling lips so fair,
The blush that o'er her cheek did flare
(And I thought I saw a dimple there.)
Then I too marked her from her looks
And forthwith set her in my books
As perfect.

DEAN ROE BACKS RELIGIOUS MEET

Says Education Should Be
Founded on Christian Principles

"The great need in the present chaos in our industrial and national life is for an education that is founded upon the Christian principles of love of God and love of man," said Dean F. W. Roe in speaking of the all-university Religious conference to be held March 4 to 7.

"I am much interested in the series of meetings that are planned because I consider that they are planned along wise lines and with effective speakers to present the claim that religion should have in the life of every student.

"Nearly every thinking person will admit that the solution of the problems that at present confront us lies in education. I think that a further necessity is that our education should be founded upon the Christian principles of life. I am heartily in sympathy with the movement to bring this home to the students of Wisconsin and to make them realize their responsibilities and opportunities in the matter.

"The conference that is coming is the most ambitious and the most effective that has ever been held here. By the direct presentation of the Christian cause a great many young people will be led to align themselves with the Christian philosophy.

"This is not in any sense a revival meeting but a reasonable, deliberate, effort to awaken the student to the meaning of religion in his life. The claims and aims of religion will be presented in a dignified, direct manner with the idea of awakening us to the opportunities and privileges that the Christian religion affords us."

Urge More Interest In Scout Move

Greater interest on the part of scoutmasters of Madison Boy Scout troops and a better understanding of their work, was urged by Scout Executive R. A. Overholser, at a semi-monthly luncheon of the executive council at the University club yesterday noon.

Not enough of the scoutmasters are attending the meetings held every two weeks for their instruction, according to Mr. Overholser. A banquet will be given soon which all scoutmasters and assistants will be asked to attend. It will be a get-together affair at which Mr. Overholser will outline a definite program of work. Some out-of-town business man who is interested in scout work will be secured as the feature speaker of the evening.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ROWING

WISCONSIN has again been invited to send a crew to Poughkeepsie. The question now is, when will Wisconsin be able to accept the rowing association's invitation?

As a major sport, rowing became extinct several years ago—not through disinterest on the part of the students or lack of able coaching, but because it was maintained that the strain of rowing was too great, that it detrimentally affected the participants in after life. With a shortening of the course from four to three miles there has come a renewed demand for an intercollegiate crew.

Those historical races on the Hudson fanned the flame of Wisconsin spirit almost as much as football. At this date Wisconsin spirit needs all the stimulation that can be given it. Back in the old days the send-off for the crew was one of the most momentous events of the year. Such a send-off as those men used to get would make a mass-meeting nowadays look gray and feeble.

Now that the only objection to rowing has been mitigated, The Cardinal is ready to bend every effort to bring back a Wisconsin crew. What have you to say, Wisconsin student, in favor of intercollegiate rowing?

THE WAR AND EDUCATIONAL VALUES

HAVE educational values been cheapened by the war? A woman writer in The Independent bewails the supposition that post-bellum wells of knowledge are poisoned by practicality.

A quotation epitomizes her thought:

"I am assuredly not so narrow of mind as to ignore the great potential educational worth of the sciences. I do mourn to see them degraded in the popular mind solely to the uses of feeding and clothing us. . . . It is literally a cheapening of all our national ideals to pervert education to such ends, to distort the experiences of the war into such lessons."

This sharply raises the question: Is man to be the slave of education, or is education to be the servant of man?

Pursuing The Independent writer's hypothesis to its conclusions, our own Dr. Babcock must have been a scientific perversionist on an international scale.

Let us clear our minds of cant. Just as art for art's sake is the wornout shibboleth of the dilettante, so also the idea of culture purely for culture's sake. Art is for life's sake. So is science. So is education in general.

If war has brought a new emphasis on meeting practical needs of society, then that emphasis is only the emanation from a new, more highly developed social conscience.

Of course we must insist that the humanities continue to be taught to help interpret the present and the future through an understanding of the past.

But narrow classicalists who sneer at social amelioration as the ultimate justification of education are out of tune with the times. Practical ends are not irreconcilable with social idealism, nor is such a combination in conflict with as fine a definition of the thoroughly functioning results of education as ever was given, by Henry Ward Beecher, who said, "That is true cultivation which gives us sympathy with every form of human life and enables us to work most successfully for its development."

So long as Wisconsin continues to be in the front rank among forward-looking educational institutions the men and women this university turns out are going to regard their minds as vehicles for service, not merely as cultural baggage wagons.

AN OPEN LETTER CONCERNING UNIVERSAL TRAINING

Chicago, Ill.

To the Editor of The Cardinal:

College men did their part well in the world war and had opportunity to learn how much unpreparedness cost our country in men and money. Today the United States needs a sound military policy. The Army Reorganization bill (S-3792) is offered as embodying such a policy. The active support of college men would greatly help its passage.

This proposed act calls for a small regular army and an organized reserve, secured through the universal training (for four months between the ages of 17 and 21) of all male youth. It is democratic, for the duty and opportunity of military training rests equally upon all. It is economical, since the cost will be much less than any other adequate measure would involve. It is efficient, since the resulting army and the reserve will be equal to any emergency that may arise.

The bill was formulated after conference with the American Legion committee, officers of the National Guard, delegates from American colleges and universities and men representing the commercial, manufacturing and agricultural interests of the country. Ninety-four per cent of the ex-officers of the National army, many of them college graduates and undergraduates, have declared themselves favorable to the provision of universal military training and the same hearty support comes from the great majority of the former enlisted men of the army and the navy.

The R. O. T. C. is to be continued with special reference to the training of officers, with summer camps (optional attendance) at government expense, with commutation of subsistence for the third and fourth years in the corps and with commissions as reserve officers for college graduates who take four years in the R. O. T. C.

Universal training means military preparedness but it means much more—the physical training of all young men (1/4 of the drafted men were physically defective) the elimination of illiteracy (1/4 of the drafted men were illiterate), the development of intelligent and patriotic Americans, and (through vocational schooling) the making of more industrious and skilled workmen.

The problem is vital and immediate. Every college man is asked to consider it and then to write his own representative and senators at Washington what he thinks of the military policy of S-3792.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE F. JAMES,
Educational Secretary,
Military Training Camps Ass'n.

THE NEW FORUM

To the Editor of The Cardinal:

The New Forum appeals to the students of the University of Wisconsin. The time has come for original and vigorous thought and action. We are on the threshold of the new world order which it will be our duty to construct. If we are to be the leaders, our viewpoint must be tolerant and our opinions firm. How better to acquire this necessary breadth and knowledge of truth than by free and frank discussion of all questions with our fellow students?

A distinctly different organization from the Forum of a few years ago is being organized by a group of students who are trying to fill the need in this university of an undergraduate organization which will bring before the student body the representative and the finest in dramatic art and in present day intellectual movements.

The policy of the organization is to affiliate with no sect or party whatsoever and to have no platform or creed which stands for the promotion of any expressed set of ideas, economic, political, or religious. The members are from all departments of the university, and individual belief and opinion are no recommendation for, or bar to, membership. Liberal and intelligent discussion of all the vital subjects of the day, or as the Board of Regents has so finely put it, "that continual and fearless sifting and winnowing by which alone the truth can be found," sums up all that the New Forum stands for.

Fellow students of Wisconsin, it is to you that the New Forum turns for support. It is with you, and for you, and through you that we are working. Come to our meetings. We invite and welcome fair and open-minded discussion and criticism of our organization and the things it stands for.

QUESTION BOX AT
BADGER CLUB MEET

Do you know whether Mars is inhabited? Or is there any other little thing that worries you, such as the price of hot fudges? "Dad" Wolf will positively answer any question you can ask, at the Question Box meeting of the Badger club, meeting Sunday night at the university Y. M. C. A.

Think of the opportunity for scientific research—as well as the solution of your private problems!—and the enormous saving of your energy, for all you will have to do is think up the questions. The only thing barred is this "advice to the lovelorn stuff"—you can get that by writing to the Chicago Tribune and "Dad" refuses to compete with the Tribune.

If you could possibly ask for more, the Badger club offers some good special music, and "eats" to top off the program.

You'll find plenty of them here; they'll make a good looking man look his best; they'll do the same for any man no matter how he is constructed.

We have many different styles this spring; it would be a pity if we all had to wear the same type of suit.

You won't fully know how good they are until you see them; it doesn't cost anything but a little time to do that; you may not want to buy one; that's your business.

You'll find single and double breasted, sport models with pleated back and belts, and plain models, as you like.

We can suit you at $50.00 and up the line to $90.00 with plenty of good stopping places in between.

Sh! There's a Moonshiner in Our Midst;
He Has the Stills—Can You Get the "Stuff"

Sh! This is strictly on the Q. T. They've got the material to make "stills" and the man to do the job at the university, and what is more they've made a few and have them working. Now don't crowd, for here's the fly in the glass. The "stills" are at work in various labs on the hill, and the man who makes them is J. B. Davis, whose official title is university glass blower.

Tucked away in a corner of the P. P. E. building, Mr. Davis, who is one of but half a dozen expert native American glass blowers, has his laboratory. All the fancy glass experimental machines and things that cause science students sleepless nights, originate in his workshop.

The glass blowing industry originated in Germany and was controlled by Germans in this country prior to the war.

"Practically all the expert German workers were killed during the war," said Mr. Davis. "I received my training in Canada and the eastern part of this country, and can make anything that can be made out of glass. X-Rays, thermometers, hydrometers, gas analysis appliances, burettes, and real fancy appliances make up the most of the work here."

Mr. Davis is one of about 100 experts at work in this country, practically all of whom are foreigners or Americanized aliens. Johns Hopkins, Harvard, and a half dozen other large schools are the only other institutions which have their own expert glass blowers.

A variety of topics will be discussed at the literary society meetings tonight at 7:30.

At the Hesperia meeting, H. M. Groves will speak on "A Debater's Problems" and J. C. Fucilla on "The Fiume Question." S. as a solution of the railroad problem," the affirmative will be supported by Gerholz, Kohl, and Richmond, and the negative by Dunn, Frobach, and Chandler. "In Memoriam, John Cowan," will be the subject of Johnson Craig's talk.

At the Athenaeum meeting, the question, "Resolved, That the action of the Government in deporting alien radicals is justifiable," will be debated. Ayers, Nappe and Herad will uphold the affirmative, and Bjornson, Crocker and Wehle, the negative. "India" and "The Philippine Islands," will be the subjects of short talks by M. D. Bahaden and A. L. Alvarez, respectively.

Philomathians will debate on, "Resolved, That Wisconsin should adopt the Kansas Industrial Court Law." The affirmative will be debated by Wehle, Keissling and Pesch, and the negative by Beffel, Kimball and Egan. The critic's report will be followed by a business session in which election of officers and the junior will be taken up.

The Agricultural Literary society will debate the question, "Resolve! That cities and villages be taxed in proportion to their wealth to build and maintain the roads of the country." The affirmative team is composed of Peterson, Metcalf, and Heal, and the negative of Rummel, Weber, and Albert. A talk by Prof. G. B. Mortimer will close the meeting.

Premier's Triumphant Return Astonishes Everybody in Great Britain

LONDON—All political questions are eclipsed by Asquith's triumphant return to parliament by a majority, which astonished everybody. The result is universally recognized as a notable personal achievement, while the restoration of his influence in the counsels of parliament is held to be an event destined to have important consequences in the politics of Great Britain and probably the world.

Most newspapers heartily welcome the return of the liberal leader. Their views as to the significance of his election, however, differ widely, it being declared to be due to growing popular disgust with the coalition government, popular hostility to the labor program of nationalization which Mr. Asquith condemns, and reawakening liberalism.

Cannot Shoot Holes
in the Moon Says
Wis. Astronomer

"Shooting a rocket to the moon is theoretically possible, but scarcely a practical experiment," is the opinion of Prof. George C. Comstock of the department of astronomy, in regard to theory recently advanced by Prof. Robert H. Goddard of Clark College, Worcester, Mass., that a multiple-explosive rocket can be shot to the moon or to Mars.

"The moon is 250,000 miles from the earth, while Mars is 100 times as far as the moon," said Professor Comstock. "To successfully perform an experiment such as Professor Goddard describes would require an immense amount of expense which would not be justified by the result. The original purpose of the experimentation with long-distance rockets was to test the consistency of the upper regions of the earth's atmosphere. From this Professor Goddard conceived the idea of sending a rocket to the moon."

The multiple-explosive rocket advocated for the experiment would be shot off at a favorable point on the earth. When it reached the limit of its span it would in turn send off another rocket and this in turn would send off a third. It is believed that the ninth rocket of this series would touch the moon's surface. Rockets have already been shot off which have never to any one's knowledge returned to the earth. Where they have gone is not definitely known.

Professor Goddard has worked on his idea for several years. He started work along this line at Princeton and continued it when he was transferred as a member of the faculty to Clark College. The idea took on an especial significance during the war as having a possible bearing upon later experiments.

JASTROW RAPS SPIRIT 'FAKES' OF SIR OLIVER

Faculty Man Styles Lodge's Revelations as
"Drivel"

"Spirit photographs are nothing but clever fakes," declared Professor Jastrow, in an interview yesterday amplifying his position in opposing the spiritualistic lectures of Sir Oliver Lodge. Professor Jastrow only recently returned from New York, where he delivered a series of lectures in answer to those of Lodge, charging that the alleged spiritualistic communications adduced by Lodge were largely "misleading drivel, dragging into the mire whatever lofty conceptions of a spiritual world may have been formed by mortals."

"Outside of frauds psychical manifestations rest on a few recognized explainable principles," said Professor Jastrow in explaining his position. "People do not believe in spirits because of definite proof. They believe because they want to. There are 'reserve arcs' in the minds of many intelligent, active, men and women, with which they believe the things they want to believe. Sir Oliver Lodge does not bring to the solution of problems in physics that part of his brain which he uses for psychical problem."

Faith Must Support Belief

"Belief in an after life is a matter which material science can neither prove nor disprove. It rests on individual faith and nothing else. Science deals with phenomena which can be weighed, felt, seen or heard, not with the intricacies of the human mind."

"Curiously those eminent men who have been convinced of the existence of spirits are mostly physicists or chemists, used to dealing with distinct phenomena. The human mind is a more slippery thing. As for the weighing and testing of psychic phenomena, that's all nonsense. It is like saying, 'John Brown killed a man in this house. We know he did because here is a picture of the house.' As for spirit photographs they are nothing but clever fakes."

"Apparent violation of physical law have always suggested the agency of spirits," said the professor. He then told of the exposure of Eusapia Palladino, the Italian medium, who had convinced Italian and English scientists of the reality of table lifting by spirit hands. By a cleverly arranged spy system it was discovered that the Italian was raising the table with broad leather flanges attached to his shoes.

Attacks Lodge Position

Professor Jastrow's New York lectures involved a sharp attack on Sir Oliver, based on the latter's description of communication with his son, killed in the war, in Lodge's book, "The Question."

"You lose a dear son in the holiest cause for which a man can die," Professor Jastrow declared. "You forthwith repair to a modern witch of Endor and publish a spurious series of communications, a large portion of which is misleading, drivel, dragging into the mire whatever lofty conceptions of a spiritual world have been framed by mortals. Your malignant influence gives impetus to the recrudescence of superstition."

Professor Jastrow intends to follow Sir Oliver in his tour, answering his lecture in each town about a week after it is given.

GILLIN TO SPEAK AT LENTEN MEET

Prof. J. L. Gillin will speak at the non-sectarian twilight Lenten meeting in the assembly chamber of the state capitol from 5:10 to 5:40 p. m. this evening.

E. C. PATTERSON IS SPEAKER AT 'AD' CLUB DINNER

Club Elects Officers at Dinner;
Coach John Richards is Honor Guest

Coach John Richards introduced E. C. Patterson, president of the Warner-Patterson Lens company, a life-long friend, at the dinner of the Advertising club at the Capitol hotel last night. Mr. Patterson spoke on, "Advertising as a Profession." He said in part: "If you even try advertising, don't be flowery. Tell the story in short, good English, and you will get it across. The man who succeeds is the man who confines himself to pure facts. Do not be fooled by trying to put a poor article on the market; it will fail."

Officers of the club were elected and are as follows:

President—Robert T. Herz (re-elected).

Vice President—Esther Van Wagner (re-elected).

Secretary—Marvin King.

Treasurer—Edward Perkins (re-elected).

Director-at-Large—Walter Maier. Many Madison business men were present, among them being William Miller, advertising manager of the State Journal.

strongly advocated by him. A ten year building plan of large proportions has been developed through Dr. Burton's efforts. He has secured from the legislature funds amounting to nearly $11,000,000 for the development of the university in buildings and better paid instructors.

Although young as university presidents go, being under the 50 mark, Dr. Burton has had a wide experience in both academic and administrative work. He holds the degree of doctor of philosophy from Yale, besides honorary degrees of five other colleges. Dr. Burton was an assistant professor at Yale before becoming president of Smith College, Northampton, Mass. The presidency of the University of Minnesota was taken upon leaving Smith College.

Two books, "Problem of Evil," and "Intellectual Attitude in an Age of Criticism," besides many articles, addresses, and reports, have been contributed by Dr. Burton.

The wide interest Dr. Burton has taken in educational progress is reflected by the many positions he is holding on numerous committees and commissions. Dr. Burton is a trustee of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, a member of the national institute of social sciences, chairman of the committee on military affairs for the National Association of State Universities, chairman of the committee on education for citizenship of American Council on Education, and is a member of the commission on higher institutions of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Four fraternities include the name of Dr. Burton in their memberships. These are the Phi Beta Kappa, Delta Sigma Rho, Book and Bond (Yale), and Acacia.

The affair is very informal, and all grads are urged to come and meet the others.

NEW FORUM CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Secretary of Committee of 48 to Speak for New
New Forum

A new Forum distinctly different from the one which existed on the campus several years ago has been formed. The purpose of this new undergraduate organization is to bring before the student body the best and the representative in dramatic art and intellectual movements. It will furnish an opportunity for open-minded, intelligent discussion.

Under the auspices of the new Forum, Miss Melinda Alexander, secretary of the Committee of 48, will give an address on the principles and purposes of that organization, in the auditorium of the Law building, Monday evening. The Committee of 48 of which Dr. John Haynes Holmes is a member, was organized in St. Louis for the purpose of bringing together the scattered progressive elements throughout the country and of encouraging the creation of a third political party which through constitutional methods is to bring about industrial and political reform.

The officers of the Forum are:

Earl Hanson, chairman.

M. W. Gregory, chairman aesthetic committee.

James Blauvelt, chairman discussion committee.

H. D. Sapper, secretary-treasurer.

Agnes Samuels, chairman publicity committee.

Esther Guerini, chairman speakers' committee.
