TRADITIONS ARE EXPLAINED TO SENIOR CLASS

Significance of Rites Emphasized

Wisconsin traditions, as represented by the various rites and ceremonials of the graduating class during commencement week, their significance and purpose, were explained and emphasized to hundreds of members of the senior class who met in small groups in class rooms at 10 and 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

Members of a committee, headed by Robert Stewart '23, have been gathering information, and were on hand to explain points of interest and to answer questions in regard to the program for any of the commencement exercises.

Ivy Symbolizes Loyalty

The planting of the ivy on class day has held little or no meaning to many who have attended this ceremony. The custom originated in Oxford centuries ago, and it symbolizes the twining of the affections and loyalty of the departing class around the Alma Mater. As the ivy grows and clings more and more closely to the walls of the University building, so the thoughts of the graduate will cling fondly to memories of their school.

Interpret Exercises for Parents

The "Pips" of Peace ceremony which takes place at midnight on the lower campus—symbolizes the unity of the departing senior class and the junior class, stepping in to take its place. Each class is represented by a spokesman, and the long pipe, which has been decorated with the ribbons of many graduating classes of years past, goes from hand to hand as the chief of the senior tribe tells of Wisconsin ideals and passes on to the junior chief the traditions of the senior class.

Class day exercises are held on Muir Knoll and it is here that the class oration, the class history, and the class poem are given. This, too, is the last time that the university band will play for the students.

Seniors were urged to make the commencement exercises mean as much to their parents as possible. Interpretation of the ceremonies would make them more interesting, it was pointed out. Those who planned to have their parents at the Stock pavilion on commencement day were told to arrange to have them arrive early in order to insure their getting in.

Cap and Gown Must be Worn

Baccalaureate Sunday was shown to be the final tribute to the presen, since it is the last time that he will address the class. Attendance in cap gown is a formality that no senior must neglect.

Wisconsin alumni clubs are being formed all over the country, and it is shown that membership in ont these helped to keep alive school spirit. Statistics show that only between 20 and 25 per cent of the class of 1923 are members of the Memorial union. Life membership can be taken out by an undergraduate for $50, while an alumnus must pay $100 for the same privilege.

Chadbourne Review Appeared in Biggest Issue Yesterday

The Chadbourne Review came out yesterday in the biggest issue which has ever been published by the women of that hall. There are 40 pages, 8 pages more than ever before. The cover also is the first new one since the magazine was established.

Lina Norman '25 is the editor-in-chief for this year's Review. Other women who helped to put it out are Esther Fowler '25, assistant editor, Lillian Tyler '24, business manager, and Leone Immel '24, art editor.

This is an annual publication which contains personal items about every woman living in the dormitory, as well as accounts of all of the year's activities and events.

The Barnard May will appear Monday, edited by Martha Semelrot '25.

SIGMA LAMBDA INSTALLS NEW CHAPTER HERE

The charter members include: Doris Baldwin '24, Elenore Day '24, Esther Griffiths '25, Gretchen Gilbert '25, Ruth Galvin '25, Elenore Hanson '25, Clara Jacobsen '25, Isabel Kannert '24, Blanche Jandell '24, LaMona Mapes '24, Elenore Morgan '25, Grace Werth '23, Carmen White '24, Frances Wiedenbeck '25.

Members of the faculty who will act as advisors are: Miss Bertha Oehler, Miss Ella Wilson and William Zarnum.

TIME CHANGED FOR SWINGOUT

Procession to Start at 6:30 Instead of 6, Due to Band

The university band will start playing promptly at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening for the beginning of the class processional of the 1923 senior swingout.

It was previously announced as beginning at 6 o'clock, but due to the inability of the band to be on upper campus before 6:30 o'clock, the committee in charge has found it necessary to postpone the start for half an hour.

Letters had been sent to the sorority houses asking them to serve an early dinner Friday night at 5 o'clock to enable all of the women in the house to be at the meeting places by 5:45 o'clock. These were sent out before the band decided that 6:30 would be as early as possible for them to be there.

"We now want to ask the sorority houses to serve dinner at 5:30 o'clock, so that the women can all be at the meeting places at 6:10 o'clock promptly," said Janet Marshall '24, general co-chairman of the swingout.

A new plan for marching has been devised for the classes in the first procession, which will be explained in full in a later Cardinal so that all of the women will be clear as to the lineup. Several women in each class have been appointed by Maurin Hall '24, chairman of the line of march, to help organize the different sections.

Meetings of the different classes will be called during the week for rehearsals of the class songs which are to be part of the program. The junior women will meet in the S. G. A. office Wednesday noon at 12:45 o'clock to practice theirs.

Freshmen commission is to help with the making of the daisy chain which the junior women carry while the seniors in cap and gown go between them on the way up the hill.

Police women have been appointed by Louise Tobe '24 to help keep the crowd of spectators and to assist in keeping the line of marchers straight and in the right formation.

A. I. E. E. Will Hold Last Get-together Wednesday

Graduating members will give short speeches at the A. I. E. E. last get-together which will be held next Wednesday evening in the auditorium of the Engineering building at 7 o'clock. The program, which is being planned by S. M. Cole '24, will be followed by a spread. Mr. Cole promises the engineer's a program that will surpass any that they have had in the past.

CIRCULATION

Students desiring to solicit Cardinal subscriptions on a commission basis are requested to apply to circulation manager, at the Union building, at 3:30 o'clock any day this week.

Varsity Night

Today's Comment on Wisconsin's New Tradition Given

Editor, The Cardinal:

As president of the senior class, I am glad to realize that the actual status of the green cap has been determined by the Student court. I am glad to learn that the cap is henceforth to be worn voluntarily, worn as a symbol of loyalty to the class and as a pledge of honor to the university. In my opinion, the decision of the court is a step forward in student self-government.

Under the present arrangement, I understand that cap night, which has caused serious trouble in the past, has given way to "Varsity Night," a celebration to be held at the close of Interscholastic day. This is an occasion at which "W's" will be awarded and athletic medals presented, and also a time when the freshmen class will be welcomed into full membership in our Wisconsin brotherhood. I trust and urge that the entire student body will support this movement which is started by the leaders of the lower classes. It is an opportunity to show our high school visitors the true spirit of Wisconsin, not a spirit of hazing and bullying but a spirit of sportsmanship and loyalty to our Alma Mater and its ideals.

Now that the green cap is freed from the odor of compulsion, and has become a true tradition of the university, I trust that every freshman will play the game squarely and in the open by wearing the symbol of his class. I trust you will show yourselves worthy of the welcome which I have gladly appointed Gus Tebell to give you next Friday—Varsity Night.

ROLLIE WILLIAMS.

Editor, The Cardinal:

The news of the action of the action of the Student court in regard to the wearing of the green cap, coupled as it is with the action of the presidents of the freshman and sophomore classes and the chairman of the sophomore traditions committee, certainly ought to make the hearts of all loyal Wisconsin men and women rejoice. For years the wearing of the freshman cap has been the cause of disturbance on our campus. Class fights within our memory have resulted in a tragic death and numerous serious injuries. Out of this turmoil has at last developed a real tradition and one worthy of the high ideals and standards of our university.

The splendid spectacle of the Freshman welcome last fall marked the first milestone passed in the evolution of this new tradition. The cap was worn voluntarily during the opening months of school. Class spirit and solidarity was excellent. Now, let the whole student body unite in a firm resolve to make the tradition this spring a continuance of a manifestation of loyalty, unity of classes, and a true Wisconsin spirit.

I congratulate the spirit of the leaders of the freshman and sophomores. I urge the juniors and seniors to support their effort. And by this support may we all be united in a greater spirit of service and helpfulness to our school. Wisconsin can set an example for others—the opportunity here presents itself—by uniting our efforts for a perfect "Varsity Night" on May 25th, let us show ourselves true to the spirit of "On Wisconsin."

GUS TEBELL.

Home Ecs to Display Work at State Historical Rooms

An exhibition and sale of work done during the year in the University Home Economics department is now being displayed in the State Historical rooms, under the auspices of the Madison Art association. The articles will remain on display until the first of June.

Many table runners, pillow covers, scarfs, and neckerchiefs of batiste, lamp shades, and hand-dyed negligees, which were left over from the recent sale, are among the articles to be sold. The proceeds of the sale are to be used for the Dorothy Robert's scholarship fund in nutrition.

ACTION OF CLASSES IN CAP NIGHT DATE IS GIVEN APPROVAL

NOTED SINGER HERE MONDAY

Only a Few Tickets For Concert Are Still Available

Madame Amlita Galli-Curci together with her husband, Homer Samuels, who is to be her accompanist, and Manuel Berenguer, who assists on the flute in many of her selections, are to arrive in a private car on the Northwestern line at 9:20 o'clock tonight. The party will have its headquarters at the Park hotel while in Madison. No entertainment of any nature is to be given for the distinguished singer.

Due to the extensive character of this concert, the Music school, under whose auspices the performance will be given, is working in co-operation with the Agricultural Students' federation of the Agricultural school. The program will be held in the Agricultural pavilion at 8:15 o'clock Monday evening.

Only 40 Tickets Left. Of the 3,600 tickets printed, only 40 of the $4 seats are still available at A. E. Smith Music store. Approximately 560 of the $4 seats and 1,000 each of the $3, $2, and $1 seats have been disposed of. The special $1 students' tickets were sold out in a few days.

Work on the additional seating arrangements has already been started. A platform that measures about 16 feet square and stands 7 or 8 feet above the ground, is being built at the east end of the pavilion, opposite the side used for Commencement exercises. Huge curtains and banks of palms about the platform proper will be the only decorations used. To avoid crowding, the doors will be opened at 7 o'clock promptly.

Mills Announces Program. Charles H. Mills, director of the Music school, announces this complete program:

"Nina" by Pergoese, "The Lass with the Delicate Hair," by Arne, "Hymn to the Sun," from "Le Cog d'Or," by Rimsky-Korakoff, "La Capinera" with the flute by Benedict, "Crepuscule," by Massenet, "Clavelitas," by elverde, "Song of India" by Rimsky-Korsakoff.

Intermission. "Chanson" by Camus, "Autumn Leaves a Whirl" by Samuels on the flute, "Dry be that Tear" by Dobson, "Pierrot" by Samuels, "A Little Prayer" by Russell, and "Shadow Song from Dinorah" with the flute, by Meyerbeer.

WEATHER

Partly cloudy and cooler Sunday. Monday probably showers.

Program is Given Out For "W" Day

Official sanction by the Student senate of the action of the presidents of the two lower classes in placing Cap night on Friday, May 25, instead of Saturday was given yesterday in the Law building at a special meeting of the senate which voted to change the date.

The original date for Cap night was set for May 26 at the last regular meeting. By changing the date the event will fall on "W" day, the traditional date for awarding the "W" to the men who have won them.

Plans are being made by Roland F. Williams '23, president of the Senior class to welcome the latest class into the university as the seniors leave.

Approval is Widespread. Gus Tebell '23, all-Conference football and basketball man will officially welcome the freshmen into the larger aspects of Wisconsin life. He will work in conjunction with Gordon Wanzer '24, chairman of Interscholastic day and with the officials of the two lower classes.

Approval of the action to place Cap night upon a new basis has been almost unanimously expressed during the last two days by men prominent in campus, faculty, municipal and governmental positions according to Wanzer.

The first Inter-fraternity sing will be held back of the Union building, Friday evening, as the sun starts to set. The awarding of the "W's" by the athletic department will follow.

Bon Fire Closes Event. After the letters have been awarded the freshmen will start their bonfire on lower campus and will close the evening with the bonfire ceremony, symbolic of fellowship and loyalty.

Gus Tebell will then officially welcome them into the greater university, and initiate the tradition of Varsity night.

MANY CHANGES IN INSTRUCTORS FOR NEXT YEAR

One professor and four assistants will leave the German department at the end of the year, and one professor leaves the political science department.

New members to the German department will be instructors, Mr. E. T. Mohme, Miss Flora Buck, and another to be named later. Prof. E. C. L. C. Roedder, who is at present abroad, will return and have his former classes.

The present members leaving are Messrs. A. K. Dolch, W. F. Holderman, H. O. Anderson, and Miss Helene F. Neuman, instructors, and Prof. Susan A. Sterling, who is retiring.

In the political science department, Professor Stuart's place will be taken by Dr. W. R. Sharp of Washington and Lee university. Dr. Sharp will have charge of the work in American government and politics. He has studied abroad and holds a degree from Bordeaux university.

To keep up with the growth of the department another instructor will be added next year. This will be Dr. Joseph P. Harris, of the University of Chicago, who will have work in federal, state and municipal administration.

POSTPONE HORSE SHOW ON ACCOUNT OF RAIN

Rain yesterday afternoon caused the postponement of the 1923 Horse Show. A definite date has not been decided upon, but the show probably will be held next week. Bleachers accomodating approximately 2,000 people were erected on the lower campus before the rain began. The heavy downpour which began about 2 o'clock turned the lower campus into a sea of mud and prevented any of the events being held.

SOPHS CHOOSE CHUDNOW BAND

Will Play Favorite Pieces of Dancers; Special Features Arranged

Announcement was made late yesterday afternoon by Clifford Nolte, 25, general chairman of the sophomore dance, that Dave Chudnow's orchestra had been engaged to play for the soph dance to be held on May 25 at the Badger room.

"This decision," declared Nolte, "was made only after we had considered the best orchestras in the city. We knew that this is an excellent orchestra and one that will be met with favor by all sophomores especially as the orchestra is led by a sophomore."

What's Your Favorite.

While in the East he received bids to play at eleven fraternity parties at Cornell next fall, Dave Chudnow '25 stated yesterday. "We also stopped off at Chicago and broadcasted from station KYW, one of the largest in the country.

"At the sophomore dance we intend to hand out slips of paper at 10 o'clock and will play all pieces of music that are turned in by the dancers on these slips of papers."

Two violin solos will be given during the evening by Bob Talley and Bud Buell. Special features are being arranged by Chudnow, and it is expected that he will have the features completed by Wednesday of next week.

Tickets for the dance may be secured from members of the sophomore class or at Morgans and the University pharmacy. Only 150 tickets will be sold because of the small space afforded by the Badger room. The dance is not limited to members of the sophomore class but is open to all classes.

Throngs Visit Annual Exhibit Of Wisconsin High School Friday

Throngs of university students, parents and friends of pupils, and teachers from every school in the city, reviewed the annual school exhibit of the Wisconsin high school, Friday night, which was the first and last evening's display to the public. On Saturday, there will be a conference of teachers and school men from all parts of the state.

H. L. Miller, principal of the Wisconsin high school, stated that this year's exhibit is organized as a school demonstration with emphasis particularly upon perfect work in the sciences. All pupils programmed in science have their projects in that field. Also the purpose of such an exhibit is to present a challenge to each pupil; to develop initiative and self-direction, and to cultivate a sense of mastery in the organization, development and presentation of the project.

Heavy Rain Bad For Promenaders; Good For Crops

It's a long time since auto headlights were necessary during the daylight hours, but motorists who were caught uptown this afternoon during Madison's first heavy thunderstorm this spring, found indispensible.

The city was drenched with rain, which was general throughout the western and central portions of Wisconsin today. The heavily charged air interfered with telephonic and telegraphic communication, and light and power lines were supplying current intermittently.

Farmers and gardeners welcomed the storm as a relief for their crops.

"Y" Employment Bureau Offers Summer Work

The Y. M. C. A. employment bureau has a series of jobs for the summer vacation. Some Pickle factories and depositories in the northern part of Wisconsin have places for seven or eight men.

Fare will be paid to the factory and a minimum salary of $20 a week is guaranteed. If the work is done well, the men will receive a bonus at the end of the summer.

Students may start work as soon as school is out and continue to the middle of September. The fact that the board and room is lower in these towns makes them especially attractive.

The bureau also announces that they have both temporary and permanent work for men. A few jobs in Madison are open for the summer.

TENNIS TEAM SHUTS OUT N. W. BY 6 TO 0 SCORE

Purple Netmen Had No Chance

(Special to The Cardinal)
CHICAGO, Ill., May 19.—The Wisconsin tennis team came up smiling after a tussle with the Purple netmen at Evanston this afternoon and succeeded in shutting them out by a score of 6 to 0. At no time did the Northwestern players threaten to score heavily.

Tredwell, Aageson, Moulding and Bennett, the Badger netmen, showed midseason form and had little difficulty in winning the singles matches. Bennett allowed his opponent only one game out of the 13 played.

The Wisconsin men showed the result of careful coaching and a complete knowledge of the finer points of the game. They were particularly adept in placing the ball in unguarded territory.

The scores follow:

Singles
Tredwell defeated Thompson, 6 to 4, 6 to 2.

Aageson beat Corbett, 6 to 2, 6 to 2.

Moulding won over Barrett, 6 to 4, 6 to 2.

Bennett downed Deckert, 6 to 0, 6 to 1.

Doubles
Tredwell and Aageson defeated Thompson and Deckert, 6 to 1, 6 to 0.

Bennett and Moulding beat Barrett and Corbett 2 to 0, 6 to 4.

BOOKKEEPERS TO PLAY PLUMBERS AT BASEBALL

In the first semi-final game of the inter-college championship series, the Commerce baseball team will meet the Engineers at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon on the lower campus.

The Engineers rule favorites by virtue of their win from the Law school last week. No announcement of the plumbers line-up has been made, but it will probably be the same outfit that nulled passed the shysters. Commerce players are under the direction of J. Oyen.

The Medics team has protested the game it lost to Letters and Science ball tossers. If the protest is allowed, a play-off will be ordered. If the game is permitted to stand in the records, Letters and Science nine will clash with the winner of Monday's game for the intercollege title.

The present senior women's outdoor baseball team was defeated Friday for the first time in three years, when it was downed by the sophomore team 10 to 4.

This was the first round for either of the teams, and the second game of the entire inter-class tournament. The juniors succeeded in piling up 18 points to the 6 of the frosh in the first game last Wednesday.

With three runless innings the game was closely contested for the most part. Mabel Rugen '25 was good both at field and pitch. The sophomores showed good teamwork which lasted throughout the entire match, while the seniors showed no teamwork in their playing.

Emma Stevning '23 who was hurt by a flying baseball at the last game was unable to come into the game. Phyllis Tatman '23 replaced her.

BLACK HORSE WINS 1ST PLACE IN KY. DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—"Zev," scarcely mentioned entry in the Kentucky Derby, copped first place in that greatest of all American horse racing events here this afternoon winning over a field of 21 of America's greatest thoroughbreds.

"Zev," ridden by Sande was listed 20 to 1 in the betting during the day and his victory came as a complete surprise to the 75,000 spectators who lined the track.

Martin Gale was second and Vigil third. The race at a mile and a quarter was run in 2:05 2-5.

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—An imposing array of 3 year old thoroughbreds was ready to start late this afternoon at Churchill Downs in the forty ninth renewal of the historic Kentucky Derby.

A score and four overnight entries, evenly divided between the east and west, were carded to face the barrier preliminary to the trying test of speed and spirit over the mile and a quarter distance for a total gross money value prize of $65,625, as it stood before the starters bugle sounded. In addition, a gold plate valued at $5,000 goes to the winning owner. Each withdrawal subtracts $500 from the prize.

Surface indications at noon were that the entire 24 horses entered might start. Owners, however, have within 45 minutes of post time to withdraw their horses. During the forenoon no owner had scratched his entry and the belief then was that the field would be the largest in recent history of the race. The best previous record was in 1920 when seventeen accepted the issue.

Cardinal Pitchers Are Routed

(Special to The Cardinal)

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., May 19.—The Badger baseball team fell a victim to the Illini here this afternoon, losing 7 to 1, before a crowd of 15,000 rooters which overflowed the field. Heavy hitting on the part of the Illini batters drove the Wisconsin hurlers to cover in the early innings.

Johnson started for Wisconsin but was hit for four runs in two innings and later gave way to Pickford. Illinois added three tallies to their account off the delivery of Pickford.

Jackson pitched airtight ball for the winners with the exception of a little wildness. He was never in danger, however, and had the game well in hand at all times. He helped his own game out with a four base clout. Kuehl also drove out a homer.

Wisconsin contributed seven misplays to the Illinois cause. Johnson made two errors on wild throws, and Tebell missed three hard hit balls in his territory. Ellington added another boot on a grounder and Holm missed one at first.

Illinois garnered only nine hits off the Badger twirlers but they came at opportune times and coupled with the erratic fielding of the losers made enough to win without any trouble. Three hits was all that the Cardinal artillery could collect from Jackson's battery.

ALL CLEAR FOR VARSITY

NIGHT

The resolve of the freshmen and sophomore classes to bring to Wisconsin a new cap night tradition of welcome has not been in vain. Town and university have concurred instantly and have not hesitated to express their own appropriation in a flood of communications to The Cardinal.

The Student senate put the final official O. K. on the plan yesterday by voting the change of date from Sunday to Friday night.

The prompt public reaction to the Varsity night proposal is readily explained. People are weary of a tradition that brings fights, bone-breaking, death. Somehow it has persisted. Friday brought the news of rioting and fighting between students and police at the University of Pennsylvania in a tradition celebration.

But there are not two sides to the question of what should become of such traditions. They must go. And so, when Wisconsin takes a step this year to rid permanently the university of a custom that connotes danger, all approve. Particularly is the change of happy one because it is the work of the students themselves and not the decree of faculty.

It is true, to be sure, that an individual or a group, ignoring the interests of the whole university, can defeat the purposes of the new tradition and the gain which it will bring by the slightest rough-housing or fighting.

It will be the concern of the great majority, jealous of the university's reputation and their own, to quell speedily any such outbreaks.

Varsity night must pass its first birthday unblemished. All is clear for Wisconsin's new tradition to forge ahead to reality. It remains for the exercise of individual responsibility to protect it.

HYPOCRISY VERSUS

A university is a great thing. Rather astounding, that fact, is it not? But think, the possession of a diploma from a university enables you to gain admittance to the university club in your city, it implies that you have made a great number of acquaintances, that you have had money to spend and that you have spent it, that you have danced, teed and enjoyed many other social privileges. And—oh yes,—it implies that you have acquired an inkling, a peep-hole view of philosophy, of sciences of languages.

At Wisconsin we find all of this to be true. We also find that we have been placed in a position of profit by other experiences.

Throughout the year a number of excellent speakers come to our halls to tell us a thing or two. The way in which they are received by us education seekers is a significant thing.

Upton Sinclair came to our gymnasium; people were turned away. It was not a case of "little halls for radicals." His reputation had gone before him.

The most conspicuous people are very often the least worthy of such conspicuousness. Sinclair himself says that had he defeated the members of the tennis team on the courts before his address, rather than after it, the largest hall in the country would not have held those who wished to hear him.

So it was with Debs. He had been in jail, had been called a political criminal, and the crowds flocked to hear what he had to say.

Other times, when we are host to great sensation, what happens? We hold the meeting in Music hall and have trouble filling the auditorium. It is a case of little halls for liberals.

Perhaps students who prefer the drive, the country and the lake to hearing a Phi Beta Kappa address, a lecture by an English novelist, a speech on the European situation by a man who has figured in United States politics, perhaps these students will argue that university life should consist of something other than being talked to by lecturers. It seems, though, that this argument would hold true in the cases of the sensational speakers, who, if they are not as worthy of a large audience as the others, are at least not more worthy. And surely, we have enough opportunity for social life at times when the opportunity to hear a first-class address is not offered.

So many people take great delight in pointing out a prominent man as a fraternity brother, or a neighbor, or as having shaken hands with him. But these same people when they are given a chance to hear the man in question give an address, find that they have a previous engagement, or that they must study, or that they are not feeling well enough to attend.

Is that a case of excellence? We think not. Here we are,—by your leave,—students being educated. We comply with the requirements and do not bother to go any farther.

After we have graduated we will be proud of that diploma. But will we have anything more to be proud of? Will we not have the feeling that, as a matter of fact, it stands only for required work, that other work in the course of our education has been overlooked, scorned, that we have not achieved real excellence, and that if we think the diploma stands for real excellence, we are fooling ourselves hugely.

Editors Say—

THE MOTHER'S ASSOCIATION

(The Daily Illini)

And now we have a mother's association. Dad and his sons and daughters have nothing on mother and her children. Pretty soon our fathers and mothers will begin to get an idea of what the University teaches, of how much value it is to the young folks, why it is here. Perhaps it will cease to be merely a place to send kids after they get out of high school and are too young to go to work.

There are too many parents who send their sons and daughters to school merely because they have been told that any graduate from a university has untold advantages over his less fortunate fellow men. They know nothing about the school to which they send him, other than a possible bit of advice from a friend who knows someone there. Not a large percentage of the parents of students at Illinois ever attended a university, and so do not know a great deal about methods at institutions of higher learning.

It has been almost a universal custom to send the boy or girl to school in the fall, trusting to divine providence that he or she will find the right sort of companions and enter the right courses. Then there is the visit home at Christmas and Easter, and the impressions gained at such times is about the only way the parents know what school is doing for (or to) the child.

It has been only recently that parents of Illinois students have become a bit better acquainted with the institution. This growing interest, which will be increased greatly by the Dads and Mothers organizations, is one of the finest things that has been conceived at Illinois in recent years.

It will do much to break down the pretty well grounded belief in many places that universities are rather dangerous places to send young men and women.

It may seem hard for us here to believe such an idea can be held, but it is more common than most of us imagine. Too often, does the community feel that sending a young man or woman away to a great university is a grave risk, with the dangers about balancing the possibilities that advantages will be gained from education.

Illinois has taken the lead among mid-western universities in promoting organizations that will draw the school closer to the parents of its students. The new association is necessary, a welcome addition to the Illini family.

"THE HAIRY APE," "ANNA CHRISTIE," "THE FIRST MAN" (three long plays in one volume), by Eugene O'Neill; Boni & Liveright.

It is with a feeling of loneliness, of hopeless agony, that we lay this book aside. It is as if we had followed the Florentine poet and his guide through the first regions and were too tired out and worn to care anything about dragging our now blaspheming carcass after Beatrice through the still viler brilliancy of the last region.

Surely Dante must have had an indomitable spirit or else hell and purgatory were not so bad as Eugene O'Neill's pictures of certain regions of life, or the Florentine would not have sought or even been willing to have been dragged further. He would have lain down with a "what's the use while such as this exists" and would have calmly allowed anything imaginable or unimaginable to happen to his soul.

It is the beast in man standing out in its basest aspects and moment which O'Neill pictures in these works. The principals of the plays are the human beasts of the earth, whom—or, if you will, for which every inhabitant of the earth is in part responsible; and the bestial instincts in man are the foundations of the plots.

It is the grimy soot of the smoke-hole, the filth of houses of corruption, the hypocrisy and selfish passion of bourgeois society, the perils undergone in the propagation of the earth; in short, it is the worst there is in life with which the author deals. He leaves us thinking that in the world there can never be a thing of beauty man-created or man-touched.

During the first play the reader is likely to find himself assuming the attitude of Rodin's "The Thinker," and a thoroughly gorilla-like passion raging within him, turning Bolshevik ready to sweep down upon the heartless, insulting capitalists. High Schools To Be Guests Of University

Mendota Will Be Scene of Venice Fete

Lake Mendota will be transformed into a bit of old Venice next Saturday evening. Glittering lights, fanciful colors, and all of the arts of decorations will be brought into play to make the shores of the lake an attractive spectacle for the hundreds of visitors from the high schools of the state.

Entertainment for the guests will begin Thursday afternoon with the preliminary rounds of the interscholastic tennis tournament. Semifinals in the tourney will be played Friday. Chicago university will send its strong nine to Madison for a game with the Badgers Friday afternoon. Awarding of trophies to senior "W"-men who will be graduated this year also will be made Friday night. The interfraternity singing and the dance drama will be Friday night.

Saturday morning the water carnival will hold the center of the stage for the attractions for the visitors. Swimming, canoe, scull, motor, sail boat, and miscellaneous water craft races will be on the program. Coach Joe Steinauer will be in charge of the water events.

The twenty-ninth interscholastic track and field meet will be at Camp Randall Saturday afternoon beginning at 1 o'clock. Following the track meet the Varsity crew will race the Duluth Boat club and the second crew will row against St. John's Military academy.

The Venetian Night fete will begin shortly after the crew races. A power boat will tow the floats along the edge of the shore from the foot of Park street to the boat house.

Lighting for the floats will be furnished by an individual lighting plant carried on a barge. The university system will be used only in case of emergency.

Venetian Night has come to be one of Wisconsin's best traditions during the last few years. Homecoming is the big event in the fall and Prom is the chief social affair of the winter season, but university authorities felt that some major tradition should be established for the spring months. Venetian Night, as it is now conducted, grew out of this idea.

The annual Interscholastic week end was without any entertainment features for the benefit of high school visitors. The water carnival and fete spectacle were devised as a means of providing amusement and entertainment. Elaborate programs were arranged in the fall for returning alumni but it was felt that too little was done to interest prospective students to the annual track and field day.

With the excellent natural facilities for such a spectacle right at hand on Lake Mendota plans to entertain the visitors with an imitation of Venice's gala extravaganzas were arranged.

Campus groups, particularly fraternities and sororities that had property facing on the lake front, were induced to decorate their piers and landings and enter floats in the parade. The affair soon came to be an all-university event and is now on a par with Homecoming as a tradition.

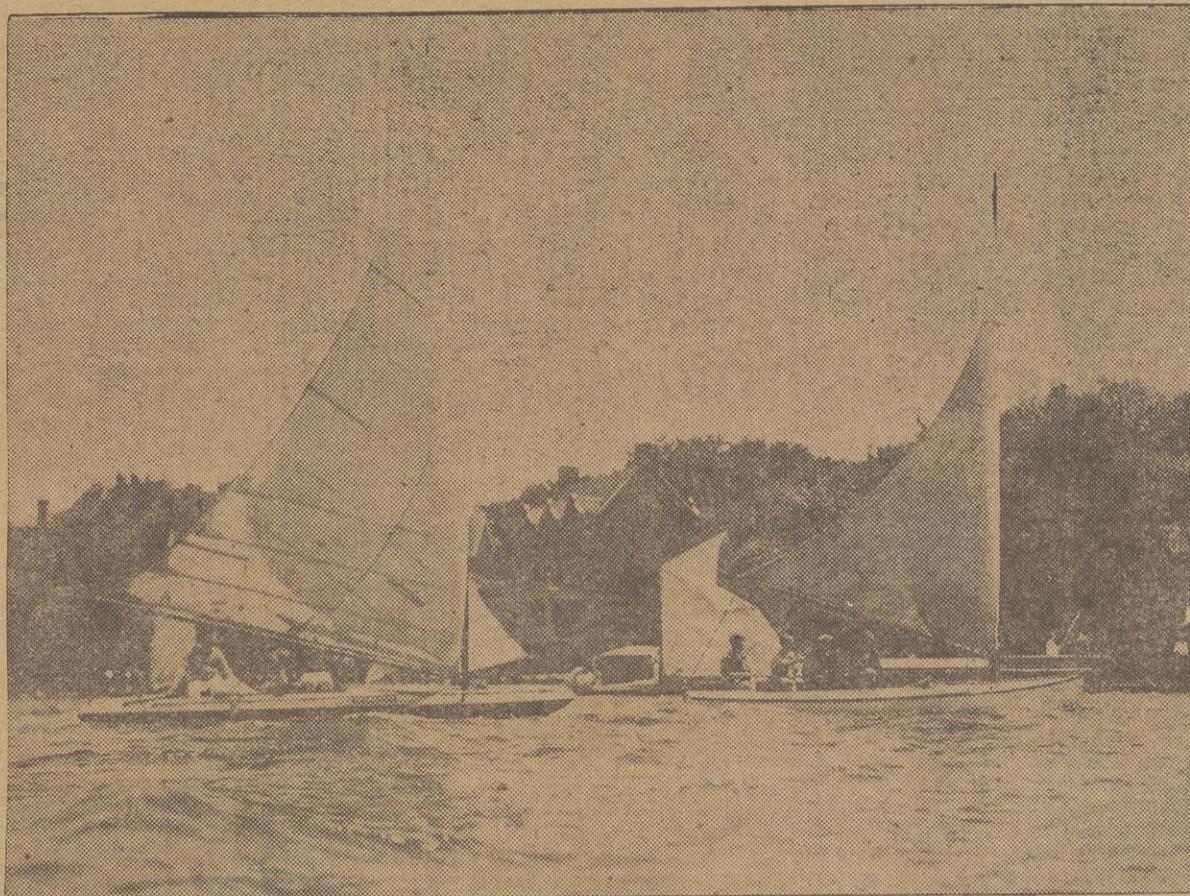

Hundreds of high school students visiting in Madison for the Interscholastic chose Wisconsin as their university from the favorable impression created by Lake Mendota at its best—in the spring on Venetian Night.

Troop 20 Boy Scouts To Entertain Girl Friends

Scouts of Troop 20 will demonstrate their culinary abilities to girl friends at a hike to be held tomorrow. Each Boy Scout will bring a girl along on the hike, the destination of which will be Lake Forest. The hike will start about 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. "Big Bill" Blake, scoutmaster, will tell camp fire stories, while a camp fire and games are also on the program.

PREP NET MEN SIGNED UP FOR TENNIS TOURNEY

Approximately 30 entries had been received for the third annual state tennis tournament when the entry lists closed yesterday noon, according to the statement made by Norman Clark '24, chairman of the tourney, last night.

The drawings for the tournament probably will be made within the next few days and the preliminary rounds will probably be started on Thursday afternoon at the Varsity court and other court near Camp Randall.

Entries for the first state tournament numbered about nine. At the second tournament last year there were 16 men here and it was estimated last night that the entry list had doubled again.

Preliminary arrangements for entertainment and the housing of the men will be made tomorrow when the complete entry list is available. Drawings will be made by the athletic department and the tennis tournament committee early in the week.

Last year the tournament started on Friday but due to the increased interest in the meet it will probably be necessary to start the preliminary rounds a day earlier in order to get the finals run off by the end of the week.

The tournament is run in connection with the annual Interscholastic week and is open to all eligible high school men. Sets will be played on the Varsity courts and if necessary the other court will be utilized.

Drawings will be made at random by the athletic department and Coach Linden, Varsity tennis coach. The conference meets are decided by two out of three sets and although the final plans for conducting the state meet have not been settled as yet, it will probably be run on the same basis as the Conference meets.

Nine Patents Issued To Badgers Last Week

Patents issued to residents of Wisconsin, for week ending May 15, as reported from the office of Clarence J. Loftus, Chicago; Joe Blatecky, Racine, planting machine; Frank W. Downs, Washburn, hinged cover for containers; John R. Jones, Milwaukee, pin lifter; Frank Kolarik, Manitowoc county, self-feeder for feedcutters; Ernest Monahan, Milwaukee, belt buckle; Charles C. Pfliptner, Barton, shock absorber; William F. Rusche, Milwaukee, lamp shade; Henry R. Seifert, East Ellsworth, milking device; Harvey H. Slater, Kenosha, multiple-filament electric-lamp headlight.

Dance Hall Regulation Bill Goes To Blaine; Senate Finally Acts

The Ridgeway bill giving county boards authority to regulate dance halls and public places of amusement went to Governor Blaine today after the senate concurred in a minor amendment added by the assembly. Broad powers are allowed the counties in inspecting and licensing amusement places.

Added forest fire protection in Wisconsin is provided by the Bloomberg bill establishing fire districts in the forest counties of the state, which was sent to a third reading. A number of minor game bills were disposed of by the upper house.

The senate cleared up calendars covering four days during its session. Most of the bills acted on were of local importance.

ESTHER FIFIELD

Esther Fifield '25 is chairman of the food committee for Field day, May 26. Her plans include a sale of a large quantity of food to the men in the Interscholastic meet.

500 Athletes Take Part In Annual Meet

More than 500 high school athletes will be ready to participate in the twenty-ninth annual Interscholastic day track and field meet next Saturday afternoon at Camp Randall. The men are registered from 45 high schools in the state.

Wisconsin's interscholastic track meet has grown to be one of the largest events of the kind in the Middle West in the 29 years that the university has been sponsoring it. While it is limited to Wisconsin high schools, it draws approximately five hundred men each year to compete in the two classes.

Former Preps on Varsity
Many former interscholastic stars are now wearing the Cardinal ribbons on the Varsity squad. Capt. Ralph Spetz was a high school star a few years ago. Al Schneider, Bert Hilberts and Wayne Ramsey also competed in former Interscholastics. Valley and Tuhtar, sophomore track men, and Kennedy and Zilisch, frosh runners, also entered the prep meets.

A Cardinal "W" is the reward that the prep men hope to get through successful competition in the interscholastic and later trials on the university squads. Many of the athletes have won the coveted emblem by good work in the high school events and keeping at it after matriculation. The purpose of the Interscholastic is to interest possible future Wisconsin athletes in the sport while still in high school.

May Break Marks

Several state records probably will be smashed Saturday. Reports from local and district meets indicate that some old marks are in danger. Watson, a Stoughton man, is credited with a throw of nearly 160 feet in the javelin.

Interest in the high school track has revived greatly during this spring and the interscholastic meet is expected to be the fastest since the innovation of the event at Madison. County and district meets have been numerous throughout the state and results indicate strong teams from many schools.

The Milwaukee schools usually fight it out for first place and they are looked to provide the class of the event again this year. Riverside, by virtue of its strong preliminary work, has an excellent chance to cop this year.

Y. M. C. A. SENDS THREE MEN TO SUMMER CAMP

Ed H. Gibson '24, Kurt Fox '23, and John M. Beffel '23 will be the university men at the Camp Manitowoc, the state Y. M. C. A. boys' camp in northern Wisconsin. Gibson will be the director of the camp's athletics. The other two men will be guides.

Camp Manitowoc has a tract of 75 miles on shores of Boulder lake. The program of the camp is four-fold—mental, physical, moral and social. The 1923 season will be from June 26 to September 24. Any boy of twelve years or older may go to the camp.

The camp has the endorsement and support of the state Y. M. C. A., and many of the directors are men prominent in affairs for the upholding of manhood.

"Vanity Fair," "Backbone" Is At Parkway

By CHATTY

It is unfortunate that "Vanity Fair" did not come to Madison a little earlier in the season so that those who are studying it in English courses could save themselves the trouble of reading it. Or perhaps it is fortunate rather.

Many a book report has been made by students after they have seen the moving picture adoption of the book and not read the book. That is a lazy way of doing, but there is no doubt about it that it is an easy way. Sometimes, however, the moving picture version differs greatly from the original story. Then the student is mislead and is apt to make a mess of his report.

Anyway, "Vanity Fair" is coming to the Parkway this week, beginning Thursday and Mabel Ballin takes the part of Becky. It is a difficult matter, to be sure, that when you go to see such a picture as this taken from a famous novel that the story will not be changed out of recognition. We can not vouch for this Goldwyn production, although it is advertised to be little altered.

"A thrilling screen drama, a tangle with love and romance." That is how the other Parkway picture for this week is advertised. It is called "Backbone" and is being shown today. Edith Roberts and Alfred Lunt are in the leading roles. Now, Alfred Lunt is a comparatively new actor in the cinema. He has been prominent in stage productions for some time and, you may remember, it was he who created Booth Tarkington's character of Clarence.

The story is by Clarence Budington Kelland, of Saturday Evening Post fame, and deals with the fulfillment in the twentieth century of the love of two young people who lived generations ago in France.

"The Tigers Claw" fairly smacks of mysticism and adventure. Jack

THE World famous comedy "Welcome Stranger" will be the offering of the Dorothy La Vern Stock Co. at the Orpheum Theatre all next week starting tomorrow matinee. This is the piece which has a record of a whole season in Chicago and another in New York. It is one of the most charming entertainments that has ever appeared on the American stage. The Dorothy La Vern Players are among the first stock organization in the country to secure this great vehicle.

The story of "Welcome Stranger" revolves about Isador Solomon. He arrives in a small New England town on New Year's Eve. In an instant, he finds that he isn't wanted because of his race. The only soul in the place who treats him as a human being is Clem, an old inventor who is looked upon as one of the jokes of the village. Permitted to remain in the lobby of the hotel over night, but refused a room, Isadore is awake when Mary arrives on the scene, hungry almost worn out with battling with the storm. In an instant it is apparent that Mary has a past that is somewhat of a mystery. At all events, in the eyes of the town, she is not the girl to have Ned, son of the richest man in the place, fall in love with. But he does.

It is a big, human play, filled with all kinds of splendid comedy, touches of genuine pathos, and a love story that gets under your skin and holds you. It's the kind of a play that you're going to enjoy and tell your best friend to go and see.

The Dorothy La Vern Stock Company close their fourth successful week by presenting "East Is West" today matinee and night.

Holt's latest picture, coming to the Madison for all week, is all about tiger hunts in the jungle and thrilling experiences in India. As near as one can tell without having seen it, this film is probably pretty much of a Paramount spectacle with a little plot and many stars thrown in for good measure.

We might say now, that movie fans who have been looking for Charlie Chaplin's "The Pilgrim" to come to town will have their desire fulfilled the first of next month. It is booked at the Madison.

The old screen favorite who has seen better days but who is still very popular, Katherine McDonald, is coming to the Strand today for a three days visit in "Refuge". It is the story of an ex-prisoner of war and a young man after the signing of the armistice. The plot is and a young countess after the sign-hugely absurd, the limit in wild imaginative playings on coincidence. As for the rest, well, it is a First National picture.

From India, where Jack Holt plays, through central Europe, the land of "Refuge" to Wailoa, wherever that is and the country of "Where the Pavement Ends" is a long jump. But that is what the week's movies make. "Where the Pavement Ends" comes to the Strand the last part of the week. It is the tale of a missionary's daughter and the romance she finds on a South Sea island where the only white man is an unscrupulous trader. Alice Terry, by the way, takes the lead.

We have saved what looks best for the last. Gloria Swanson, Gloria is the petite trim dresser with the fascinating nose, is coming to the Majestic for a week's stay in "Prodigal Daughters." It's full of jazz and everything else that characterizes the modern generations as against the last generation. Gloria rebels against convention, and you know how well she can rebel. There's excitement for you, too, a rescue of the heroine by airplane from a runaway locomotive. Rather wild, we should imagine, and rather preposterous. But then.

There's another thing about this picture which may take your fancy. Theodore Roberts is in it.
