HOMEcoming EXPECTED TO DRAW 25,000

Wisconsin Eleven to Play Illinois, 1919 Champs, at Annual Event

Plans to make the 1920 Homecoming the greatest in the history of Wisconsin are already on foot, and the athletic department hopes to have 25,000 people at the big game.

Illinois will be the Badger opponent November 13, and this game gives promise of being one of the biggest in the middle west, for Zuppke's 1919 conference champions will be out to avenge last year's only defeat.

Appeals are being made to alumni to come back to see the annual Homecoming game and join in the festivities that always go with the affair. Lothrop F. Follett has been appointed by the athletic board as chairman of the 1920 Homecoming, and he is sending 6,500 letters to alumni in order to recreate their Wisconsin spirit and bring them back to Madison.

Mail order blanks for the Illinois game will be ready for distribution at the men's gymnasium in the near future. The largest crowd that has ever attended a football game in Madison is expected to be on hand at Homecoming.

The usual massmeeting, parade, and bonfire will be held the night preceding the game, and on Saturday night, after the game the annual Homecoming ball will be held.

The committee working on Homecoming is making every effort to make the affair this year stand out as a red letter event. Follett has requested all those who wish to work on Homecoming to meet him in 119 Science hall Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. All to whom Follett has spoken regarding Homecoming are also asked to attend this meeting.

PROFESSOR FLINT IS RETIRED AFTER 32 YEARS OF SERVICE

Albert Stowell Flint, emeritus associate professor of astronomy, widely known for his research work, has been retired at the age of 66. The board of regents of the university extended his term one year, when Professor Flint reached the age of 65. In 1919, the required age for retirement, in order to allow him to complete observations for a series of volumes on "Observations of Stellar Distances," which are now in process of publication. Recently the board of regents awarded him the title, emeritus, for efforts in the astronomical field.

Professor Flint came to the University of Wisconsin in November, 1889, when he was appointed as assistant astronomer at the Washburn observatory. He published a series of volumes on "Meridian Observations for Stellar Distances," in 1902. Two years later he was appointed astronomer by the board of regents. In 1912 he published a second series containing results of his observations at the Washburn observatory. He is also the author of several mathematical and astronomical articles.

Professor Flint was born at Salem, Mass., on Sept. 12, 1853. At the age of 31 he married Miss Helen T. Thomas. Professor Flint now resides at 1311 Morris street.

He is a fellow of the A. A. A. S., member of the Astronomical and Astrophysical Society of America, Beta Kappa, and Sigma Xi fraternities, and of the Harvard unity club at Madison.

ENROLLMENT IS NOT INCREASED

Registrar's Figures Show Roll No Larger Than Last Year

Falling way below the early prediction that 8,000 students would be registered in the university this fall, official enrollment figures given out by Registrar W. D. Hiestand show that this fall's registration will be almost identical with that of last year. About 7,000 regular students is the registrar's prediction.

Because of the size of the task of registering so many the registrar's office has not yet been able to prepare figures for a comparison with last year by colleges and classes. Registration at the close of the first week is practically the same as registration on the corresponding day last year, and late registrations are coming in at the same rate.

"Our total for the present semester will probably be about 7,000 students," said Mr. Hiestand. "When the university directory is published, this will show the distribution of the student body by colleges and by classes. I do not expect to show a very great difference from our attendance last year."

SOPHS INDULGE IN TAME HAZING PARTY

Brave Freshman Takes Dare and Kiss and Gets Away With It

About 50 eager and anticipant sophomores were out after blood last night, but according to all reports none was spilled, the lake was undisturbed, and bubbler fountains flowed on. The yearlings evidently expected the attack, for only a few stragglers made their way home-ward via the darkest streets, after the main body had given up thoughts of organizing and meeting their antagonizers.

A handful of green cap wearers, however, coralled by the upperclassmen and put through a few of the usual run of tamer stunts. Comed played an important part in the affair by accepting the unwilling proposals of the shy ones.

On bended knees several freshmen murmured endearing words and promised the happiest of marital relations, with the aid of much encouragement from the sidelines. But one member of "the coming class" went 'em one better, and took the dare of the fair onlookers who convinced him that a kiss would be in order. He took it—and got away with it.

FIVE THOUSAND IS GOAL FOR OCTOPUS

"Five thousand or bust!" is the slogan for the Octopus subscription drive which opens Wednesday. To the two sororities getting the highest number of subscriptions, two loving cups will be given and to individual canvassers a bonus of ten cents will be given for each subscription.

The drive which will be in charge of Elizabeth Chandler, local circulation manager of the Octopus, will run Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and close Saturday noon. Subscription blanks may be obtained from Elizabeth Chandler at the Octopus office.

"We know that we will reach our quota," said Miss Chandler last night. "Everyone that has been approached is interested. They should be, because the Octopus for this year will be bigger and better than ever. The first number will be worth the price of the year's subscription."

WRECKED

Postal Clerks' Nerves Shattered; General Delivery Letters Swamp Offices

"Are there many unclaimed letters here that you think are for students?" inquired the cub reporter at the general delivery window.

"My gawsh, yes, bushels of them," returned the post office clerk. We're swamped with them. I guess all the frosh in school must be getting their mail that way."

"Do you keep them all?"

"I should say not—we couldn't handle them. No, we keep them seven days and then send them back."

"Are there many more than usual?" persisted the scribe.

"Lood at them stacked up in the boxes. We always have a lot though, just after the university opens, because so many people aren't sure of their addresses before they come down. But they'd better come after them if they intend to get them."

LAND ECONOMICS TITLE OF BOOK BY PROFESSOR ELY

"Land Economics" is the title of a new book covering a comparatively untouched field that is being prepared by Prof. Richard T. Ely, chairman of the department of economics of the University of Wisconsin, for publication during the coming year.

Land cannot be considered as a unity for the purposes of economic study, he says; the needs of production and distribution make it impossible to answer in the same way questions concerning private and public property in, for example, agricultural land, forest land, mineral land. Hence Dr. Ely devotes Part One of his book to general considerations with reference to property and to land, to the classification of land, and to the examination of the general principles in their application to each of the different kinds of land.

In Part Two he considers "Land Income," and takes a position that differs somewhat from that of the Ricardians. Part Three takes up "Land Policies, including Taxation." Here the principles already worked out are applied to such subjects as land colonization and settlement, large and small holdings, tenancy, credit, taxation, etc. The single tax is critically examined. The title of the last chapter of the work, "Points to be considered in an Investigation of Landed Property," indicates that Dr. Ely considers his work only a beginning and that he hopes others will enter upon investigations similar to that which he has made in the preparation of this volume.

Dr. Ely is the author of several books on economic subjects, of which the latest are "Property and Contract," published in 1914, and "The World War and Leadership in a Democracy," published in 1918.

All applicants for positions on the editorial staff of the 1922 Badger will report to office of editor, second floor Union building, as follows:

P to Z Thursday 3:30 to 5:30

A to O Wednesday 1:30 to 5:30

Application blanks will be filled out and a short personal conference held with the editor.

Plan Program—A program for fire prevention day in Madison is being arranged for by a committee appointed by the Association of Commerce which meets tonight at 8 o'clock. Members are A. W. Schulkamp, Chief C. W. Heyl, Platt Whitman, J. Florin, R. J. Neckerman, J. C. Ford, J. McWilliams and I. U. Sears.

BADGER CREW MAY RACE AT POUGHKEEPSIE

Reinstatement of Rowing as Major Sport Regarded as Certainty

Pending the approval of the faculty and the Board of Regents of the university, intercollegiate rowing will be reinstated as a major sport at Wisconsin and a Badger crew will again compete for honors in the big race at Poughkeepsie next June for the first time since 1915, when an objection from the medical department abolished the rowing game.

No objection is looked for from the faculty or the Board of Regents, and, according to Athletic Director T. E. Jones, referring the matter to them, which will be done within the next few weeks, is merely an official requirement.

The chief objection that the medical department had to rowing was that it was too strenuous for immature college men, but when several of the big eastern colleges decided to shorten the race course from four to three miles, the authorities here gladly withdrew their opposition and voted for the return of a Wisconsin crew in the eastern rowing pageant.

Issue Call for Candidates

Coach "Dad" Vail, mentor of Wisconsin crews for years, has just returned from his vacation in the Canadian woods and will begin at once to build up the rowing game with a view toward sending an eight to the Poughkeepsie regatta in the spring. Coach Vail will meet all university men interested in rowing in the gymnasium at 4 o'clock this afternoon for a brief discussion of plans for the coming season.

In an interview with Coach Vail today he stated that although he did not wish to make any statement regarding the Badgers' chances, should they compete in the eastern meet, he expressed himself as being exceedingly optimistic over the possibility of developing a strong spud of oarsmen during the coming fall and winter. He said:

"Although there is only a limited time in which to develop a crew of the calibre which competes in the Poughkeepsie regatta, if the machine which I shall select next spring in my estimation measures up to certain ideas that I have about the strength of an eight, I shall certainly recommend to the Athletic board that Wisconsin oarsmen accept the invitation to enter the eastern meet. If a strong crew cannot be developed, I shall not make such a recommendation nor favor competition with the strong crews representing eastern schools."

Abundance of Material

During the campaign to reinstate rowing last spring which was conducted by students, alumni, and various campus organizations, a survey of material showed that there were at least forty men of fit physical condition in the university who would be eligible to try out for a berth on the varsity crew this fall.

Rowing is a most strenuous exercise and it is proposed to permit only men who have had previous rowing experience or who are of exceptional physical standards to try out for the varsity squad. Commencing the workout in the fall, which will give the candidates a long season in which to prepare gradually for the gruelling strain in the spring, is also thought to be a great reform in the rowing game by the medical authorities.

STRANGE what a mere typographical error can do to one of the best cracks we've discovered. For instance, Sunday's joke was ruined; it should have gone thus:

DEAN PRAISES IDEAL CO-ED AT GIRLS' VESPERS

Varsity Women Types Are Defined by Dean Roe in Talk at Meeting

The man-hunter, the freakish high-brow, the timid recluse, the over of popularity, and the ideal Wisconsin woman are all walking about the campus in Madison, according to Dean F. W. Roe, who spoke to a large audience of women at the vesper service of the Y. W. I. A. at Lathrop hall, Sunday afternoon.

"The man-hunter type of woman comes all armed to capture the supposedly unsuspecting victim who, in most cases, hides a smile as he watches the butterfly so entirely superficial, caring only for fussing, dress, and ostentation.

"Freakish types are here—those who go to extremes—not 'high-brow,' but 'all-brow.' They delve into the most erudite volumes, consider themselves authorities on all social science questions, and can tell you everything about the latest discoveries.

"Then there is the timid, shrinking type entirely unassuming. They would rather be in their rooms than at meeting their fellow students in a friendly way. If these can be made to feel independent, they make the finest sort of Wisconsin women oftentimes.

"There are also dozens of girls that crave popularity. They aim to be in as many clubs, and on as many committees as possible. They want to be in the lime-light, and over-load themselves with work. They do a number of things quite well, but nothing extraordinarily well—they are expert at nothing and fail to be at their best for lack of time.

But what is making me optimistic in contemplating the future for co-education is the fact that there are hundreds of the splendid ideal type of Wisconsin women standing four-square for noble womanhood. Such girls are good mixers interested in development for self and others, big-hearted and loyal. They are democratic and fearless in upholding what they know is right; not content to be acquainted with the financial status of those they meet, but who are wise enough to look below the surface and find the real man and the real woman.

That type of ideal womanhood is effective creatively. Those that must be cuddled, guided, kept happy, and amused, first as daughters and then as wives, are liabilities. A woman must put aside the ideals of the past and make her life count for something. She must contribute a vital something to the world by being able to judge between important and non-important things.

Wisconsin university is the place where such personalities develop.

GONE FOREVER

Nigger Heaven is Omitted in Plans for Remodeling Fuller Opera House

The days are fast fleeing by when the almost-strapped individual may stand, sweltering, among a crowd of equally sweltering and equally almost-strapped mortals at the entrance of the old "Fuller." Gone will be the days when he may clamber up the creaky, crunchy old stairs to a place of vantage in the "nigger heaven," for that paradise has been consigned to the "good old days." No longer will strings begging for programs come dangling from unknown heights down to those who sit in luxury and ease in the balcony.

The old opera house will be reincarnated under the name of Parkway. Extensive plans have been made for the remodeling of the building which will be enlarged and modernized beyond the recognition of the erstwhile frequenters.

CITY BUREAU WOULD REPEAT SCHOOL HERE

Convention to Train Secretaries for Commerce Associations Was Success

A request has been made to the university by the American City Bureau of Community Leadership that they be allowed to use the university buildings again next summer for their summer school. This request will be acted upon at the October meeting of the Board of Regents.

"This organization has for its object the training of secretaries to establish and manage new Associations of Commerce throughout the country," says Don E. Mowry, secretary of the Madison Association of Commerce, "and I feel that there are many of the university students interested in this kind of work who would like to know in advance about next year's summer school."

Last year 500 people came to the convention which lasted from Aug. 16 to 27. Classes were held from 8:20 a. m. to 4 p. m., in Bascom hall and occasionally in the evening.

The fraternity and sorority houses were used to lodge the people during their stay. The arrangements for housing, and feeding were managed by Paul S. Warner, originator of the Warner system of fraternity management. At the end of the time there was a profit for every fraternity and sorority in whose houses the 347 commercial secretaries and their families were lodged.

The convention members used the offices of the Daily Cardinal in the Union building to put out a daily publication called "Good Morning." Circulation difficulties were met by having the copies delivered by the milkman.

The crowd was most enthusiastic about everything connected with Madison and with the university. In expressing his formal thanks to the university, President Harold Butterheim of the American City Bureau mentioned especially "the exceptional beauty and cleanliness of the city, the fine provision for housing at the fraternities and sororities, ideal accommodations for lecture and class-room instruction at Bascom hall, and the fine university spirit which pervades the whole community."

EMERY AWARDED RHODES PRIZE

Wisconsin Student Picked by Faculties of State Colleges; Will Attend Oxford

Clyde B. Emery, '21, of Kansas City, Mo., has been selected by the state committee on Rhodes Scholarships as the Rhodes scholar from Wisconsin for 1921. The selection was made on the basis of character, leadership, scholastic attainment, and physical vigor, from among eight candidates picked by the faculties of Lawrence, Ripon, and Wisconsin.

The scholarship amounts to 300 pounds a year, and is tenable for three years during which the scholar attends Oxford university. Emery will leave for England next September.

Emery is prominently identified with many of the important forensic and literary activities on the campus. He is president of Philomathia, a member of the inter-collegiate debating team, president of the forensic board, editorial writer on The Daily Cardinal; and a member of the student senate. During the first part of his course he was a member of the student council of defense and vice-president of the university Y. M. C. A. He is a member of Iron Cross, White Spades, Delta Sigma Rho, Phi Beta Kappa, and of Chi Phi.

Emery is the second Wisconsin man to be awarded a Rhodes scholarship since the war. Leroy J. Burlingame, '18, who was given the scholarship last fall, left for Oxford a fortnight ago.

NEU TO CHALLENGE WINNER OF FIGHT

TONIGHT'S BOXING CARD
K. O. Mueller, Buffalo, vs.
Jimmy Muzzy, Milwaukee.
Johnny Herzog, Oshkosh, vs.
Duncan MacFarlane, Milwaukee.
Joe Birch, Milwaukee, vs. Battling Check, Milwaukee.

Although Johnny Neu, university boxing instructor, was forced off the boxing card which will be presented by the Monona Athletic club at the Monona Park auditorium tonight by an attack of bronchial trouble, university fans maintain an interest in the outcome of the semi-windup battle between Herzog and MacFarlane.

Neu has by no means abandoned his quest of the bantam title, and both Herzog and MacFarlane are men whom he would have to meet before tackling the champion. He has solved this problem by issuing a challenge to the winner.

All of the boxers were in town this morning, ready for the weighing-in process which will take place at Dad Morgan's at 3 p. m. Students and the general public are invited to be present to watch the proceedings. Joe Steinauer, university swimming instructor, will referee all three bouts.

Tonight at 7:30 the first lecture of the series will be given, "The Truth About the Bible." The first half hour is turned over to the lovers of music; if you sing come early. Tomorrow evening the theme will be, "Evolution and the Bible. Spicy and intellectually presented. Court House square, in the rear.—Adv.

IMMIGRATION ISSUE MAY BRING CRISIS

United States Parley With Japs in "Serious Stage"
JAPS ASSAIL SECRECY

Former Premier Attacks Lid
On Japanese
Diplomacy

TOKIO — Negotiations between Japan and the United States, with reference to the immigration question, are entering "the serious stage," Baron Sakatani, former minister of finance, has informed the Koseikai party in the house of peers, reporting an interview with Viscount Uchida, foreign minister.

Asserting that this was the only statement concerning the negotiations possible to disclose, Baron Sakatani quoted the foreign minister as saying that both governments were making the utmost effort to arrive at an amicable settlement.

Secrecy Is Assailed

An attack against secrecy in connection with Japan's diplomacy in the California problem is made in a statement by Marquid Okuma, former premier. He demands that the government respond to national opinion, which should be awakened to the gravity of the issues.

The presence of 100,000 industrious Japanese is no menace to America, he says; the real menace is from the anarchists and bolsheviks, who are flocking to the United States from Europe.

The newspaper Yomi Uri, in an article on Sunday on the Japanese-American situation, says it understands that the government will propose appointment of a high commission to deal with problems between the two countries, if the anti-Japanese referendum measures in California are passed.

It quotes Viscount Shibusawa, president of the America-Japan society, as admitting that the commission project is being discussed, but saying that he would recommend to Premier Hara that the result of the referendum be awaited.

1,000 ATTEND LEGION MEET

Parade Features First Day of Annual Convention

CLEVELAND, Ohio—More than 1,000 delegates were in their seats in the Hippodrome theater this morning when Franklin D'Olier, National Commander, called to order the second annual convention of the American Legion.

Commander D'Olier presented Rev. Francis J. Kelley of Trop, N. Y. "The fighting chaplain" who delivered the invocation. Mayor William S. Fitzgerald welcomed the visitors and delegates.

The convention was adjourned at noon to witness the parade this afternoon of approximately 20,000 former service men and women, the feature of the three days' convention.

Veterans of the allied nations, it is said, will start a movement at the convention to form their own "league of nations." The proposed amalgamation will include the soldier's organizations of the United States; the great war veterans' association of Great Britain, the Union of Fighters of France and several other French Associations. The convention will close Wednesday with the election of officers.

Approximately 50,000 visitors were here to witness the parade. A half holiday was proclaimed by Mayor Fitzgerald.

Anatole France To Marry Woman Who Aided Him, Is Report

Famous French Author to Wed
in 77th Year, Says
Paper

PARIS — Anatole France, 77, world renowned French author, is to be married shortly to Mlle. Emma La Prevotte, according to an announcement published in L'Œuvre.

Ten years ago the veteran academician was reported engaged to Mlle. Brindeau, the actress. He met her while returning from Buenos Aires. His sea romance was running smoothly until a certain Mme. Caillavet appeared on the scene with demands for instant satisfaction under pain of all sorts of revelations.

Mme. Caillavet said the romantic author was indebted to her for substantial aid she gave him while he was struggling for recognition.

M. France, whose real name is Jacques Thibault, is, by common consent, the leading French critic. He comes of one of the most notable Jewish families of Paris.

For half a century he has been producing works in the realms of fancy, irony, poetry, fiction and criticism. Among his better known works are "Thais" and "The Crime of Sylvester Bonnard."

At the outbreak of the war M. France prevailed on M. Millerand, then premier, to allow him to enlist as a private.

If it were unfavorable, he added, he thought representative Japanese should go to America, and discuss the problem with men like former President Taft and Frank W. Vanderlip.

KNOW THE CAMPUS

APET hobby with newcomers at Wisconsin often seems to be the lack of a desire to become thoroughly acquainted with the campus. Freshmen looking for "Ag" hall find themselves at the Forest Products Laboratory while it is not uncommon even for some upperclassmen to think that Bascom hall is still in the throes of construction. Such a state of affairs is inexcusable.

The point in question centers largely on the failure of upperclassmen to come to know all of the buildings on the hill and then being ever ready to answer the innumerable queries about their location correctly. Knowing all the buildings goes beyond an acquaintance with the four or five wherein we happen to have classes. True, the campus is large, but it must also be admitted that its bounds are not too limitless to permit intimate knowledge of it without extra effort.

A matter of this kind is of more than local interest. Every year thousands of visitors come to Madison for the prime purpose of seeing the vantage points on the campus. They have every reason to feel chagrined when a student can offer no aid in expediting matters for them.

To think that many of us spend four years in this pleasing environment only to come back after graduation to realize how much we missed in a lack of ready information about the campus is tantamount to missing a good treat. State street is not the only important pathway of student travel at Wisconsin; there are others which should rise to those heights by greater use at the same time making the student personnel more intimately acquainted with their university.

Knowing the campus "like a book" is the badge of a true Wisconsinite.

THE OLD ORDER CHANGETH

THE upperclassmen now in school, especially those whose frosh days harken back to the stormy autumn of 1917, are much impressed with the radical changes resulting from the anti-hazing policy in effect at present.

Regardless of the merits of the case it is plain that the new order has thrown a damper over the spirit that reigned before the legislature, the faculty, the editors, and the insurance companies awoke to the horror of it all and overwhelmed us with their demands for reform. We turned from our wicked ways with grace and dispatch and a sigh of relief went up all over the state.

However, like the mischievous boy made good, our newly acquired manners have taken a big slice out of the joy of living.

It appears that there is one of three courses to take—bring back hazing in all its terrible aspects, try to become satisfied as we are, or hit upon a golden mean between the extremes.

Nobody would think of restoring indiscriminate hazing. It is bad form and has gone into the discard along with the burning of witches.

The situation cannot remain as it now is without the passing of class rivalry, a slump in school spirit, and probably the disappearance of traditions.

Surely the solution must lie in adopting a middle course that will embrace enough of the old time virility to enforce traditions and keep alive the class struggle without endangering life and limb. In other words, what we need is a moral equivalent of hazing something like William James' moral equivalent of war.

Unless some such plan is worked out we might as well go all the way and throw traditions into the scrap heap. It is to be hoped that this will not become necessary and that our established institutions may be preserved with a little fun on the side.

Madison has as good a water works system as any that can be found in a city of 50,000, according to Leon A. Smith, superintendent. Neckerman, John C. White, Jabe Alford, G. H. Mason, F. W. Karstens, E. E. Parker and F. E. Caughey.

PRESIDENT BIRGE TALKS AT MEET OF BADGER CLUB

University Head Speaks on History of School as Social Institution

Speaking on the significance of the university at the meeting of the Badger club Sunday night, President Birge gave a fine resume of the history and function of the university as a social institution, and made a clear explanation of the existence of many of the present day customs. The historical backgrounds of hazing and other traditions which survive from medieval times was brought out, and the seasons for their survival in the university life were demonstrated.

The first part of the evening was given to getting acquainted, and the 250 odd men and women present were soon established in friendly groups. The ice being broken, "Doc" Dorward took charge of the community singing, and the spontaneous enthusiasm put into the singing of the varsity songs demonstrated the feeling and spirit of the meeting. Old tunes and popular songs all went well under "Doc's" lively leadership, and the orchestral accompaniment was the best that any organization can boast of.

Bill Pickard, in general charge of the year's program, gave a short speech on the aims and ideals of the club and invited all present to bring their friends the next time. The next event was the surprise feature of the program. It was the special musical program which everyone had expected, but it was the identity of the singer, Mrs. Frederick E. Wolf, which was the real surprise. Mrs. Wolf's singing of "To a Primrose Dell," and "Plains of Peace," held her whole audience and more than justified rumors of her musical talent. Pickard voiced the wishes of everyone present when he requested her appearance upon future club programs.

President Birge's talk followed and after the refreshments had been served the meeting was informally dismissed. Dad Wolf is to speak at next Sunday's gathering upon the "Laws of Friendship," and a piano solo will be given by Paul Saunders, pianist of the Badger club orchestra.

BARBER HEADS GAME OFFICERS

Member of Conservation
Commission Honored
at Ottawa, Can.

OTTAWA, Can.—W. E. Barber, chairman of the Wisconsin conservation commission, was elected president of the International Convention of Fish and Game Commissioners which closed its annual session here.

Mr. Barber said, in a speech accepting the presidency:

"The last four or five years have wrought a great change in public sentiment concerning conservation. I was much struck by the evidence of this shown in a series of public hearings our commission recently held, covering every county in our state. The enormous slaughter of deer during last year's season impelled our commission to sound public sentiment, as our laws authorized us to do, concerning the putting in force of a one buck law, and declaring a closed season for muskrat and mink. Four years previously the one buck law was generally ridiculed by the press and by sportsmen, and a suggestion that it might be necessary to protect muskrat was considered a bit of folly. This year, after holding 69 meetings in as many counties, and carefully presenting what the commission considered to be a pressing necessity for protecting deer and muskrat, sentiment was so strong for such protection that we have declared a one year's closed season for muskrat and mink, and have reinstated the one buck law."

NURSES COURSE IS FIRST OF ITS KIND

The only course in public health work, specially prepared for public health nursing, to be offered by any state university will be offered in Wisconsin this term, according to Miss Florence Patterson, in charge of the nurses' training courses at the university. The course is offered to meet the demand for public health workers which is so great that throughout the country only one out of eight requests can be filled.

The affiliation of the state hospital with the university is still to be accomplished. The hospital buildings are unfinished and there are not patients enough to permit nurses' training.

Nevertheless, Miss Agnes Reid, superintendent of the hospital, feels sure that those students desiring to take the five year course leading to the degree of bachelor of science and graduate nurses' certificate are perfectly safe in starting on the required academic work in science.

Miss Reid says that she expects the hospital to be completed in two or three years. But, should a student be ready for the practical training before the completion of the hospital, she would then permit such student to finish training elsewhere.

A large number of young women have already enrolled in the course which promises to be a splendid feature in future Wisconsin year books.

You owe it to yourself to spend a pleasant hour reviewing these styles. You will be welcome here. If for any reason you are not pleased, our management will be pleased to hear of it.

The bustle of 1880 is again coming back in many of the new front and back-draped effects.

Sleeves will vary from the short kimona sleeve to the close-fitting wrist length sleeve; most of the sleeves, though, are rather closely fitted at the shoulder.

Paris suggests high collars, but American women favor low collars, so that low collars will be worn both for their comfort as well as their becomingness.

Fall fabrics are striking in their brilliance of coloring. And the combinations are gay and lively rather than startling.

For evening wear, grey chiffons and tulle offer many unusual opportunities for rich and becoming effects.

Fur trimmings as well as gold thread embroideries are being featured on many of the costumes in black especially.

There is also a new shade of blue which will find great favor. In fact, many go so far as to believe that the fall will find blue the favorite color.

BEGIN WORK ON BRANCH P. O. STATION

To Start Work Immediately on New Madison Branch

NEAR N. W. STATION

New Building To Go Up On Rogers-Walker Property

After months of untiring effort on the part of Postmaster W. A. Devine, Madison is to have a new branch post office to take care of a large part of the city's mail.

The new station, which is to be designated as A, will be situated on the east side of Railroad street between Blount and Blair streets, near the Northwestern station. It will have a ground space of 3,000 square feet and is to be held on a 10-year lease, beginning Jan. 1, 1920, or date of occupancy, from the Rogers Walker Co., which owns the ground and has contracted to erect the building. The company also supplies light, heat, water and furnishings. Building is to begin immediately.

Nine city carriers, three rural carriers and 15 clerks will be transferred from the main office to station A, Mr. Devine stated. In addition, he has made application for 4 more carriers, so that those sections of the city which now have only one delivery, will receive two, giving every person two deliveries a day. Seven additional clerks and two laborers will also be appointed.

Delivery from the new station will be made from Blount street east. The new station makes the 11th in the city, exclusive of the main post office. Whether the building will be more than one story is not yet known, but the postoffice department has contracted for the use of the ground floor only. The building will probably be of white brick.

"As 80 per cent of the mail is received from the Northwestern station," Mr. Devine explained, "it can readily be seen that a huge saving in time and money will be effected by having a station right at the Northwestern tracks. All the parcel post will be handled through the new office, and sent direct from there to the addressees. Outgoing mail will be dispatched from that office also."

Four numbers from the older classics, whose chief beauty, their form, is incomprehensible to the average listener—perfectly executed but unrelieved by some of the later romantic works, do not seem the best choice for a popular program.

SEES DROP IN FOOD PRICES

President of Retail Grocers Association Forecasts Slump

CHICAGO—A general reduction in food prices was predicted today by Sol Westerfeld, president of the Retail Grocers' association, who declared all articles of food, with the exception of eggs and butter, are due for a steady decline. The unwillingness of banks to loan money except at high interest rates has resulted in producers cutting prices to move their goods, Westerfeld said.

"The reductions have been felt all over Chicago," he said. "Potatoes are selling at 45 to 55 cents a peck, the lowest in years. I expect they will reach less than two cents a pound. Tomatoes are selling at 10 to 15 cents for two and one half pound baskets. Sugar has dropped to 15 cents and will go lower when the new crop comes in. Canned goods being packed will have to be sold cheaply to move it. The declines in wheat have brought a sharp drop in flour," he continued, "although the baker's production costs have increased, I look for a reduction in bread. Coffee has dropped 10 cents a pound."

Warn Against Fake Fruit Beverages

WASHINGTON — Warning against "fake" fruit beverages which have flooded the soft drink market since the advent of prohibition, was issued today by the public health service. Many of the orange beverages, it was said, consist only of sweetened carbonated water, flavored with a little oil from the peel of oranges and artificially colored. The department of agriculture has ruled that provisions of the pure food act will be held violated in case such drinks are sold under trade names which lead the purchaser to believe they contain the edible portion or juice of the fruit named.

KAPPA SOCIAL RIGHTS LOST BY PAN-HELLENIC DECISION

Sorority Will Pay Penalty for Infraction of Council Rushing Rules

By engaging a pianist after having given one formal function, and by not getting rushees to their boarding houses at the stipulated times of 11 and 10, Kappa Kappa Gamma has forfeited its social privileges for the current semester, by decision of Pan-Hellenic.

The penalties for the offense are that for one semester Kappa will not be permitted:

To pledge any of the girls wrongfully rushed or to rush or pledge any other girls.

To give any parties or dances.

To enter into any inter-sorority contests.

Rule two of Pan-Hellenic rushing rules states that "Rushing shall take place between the hours of 2 and 6 on Wednesday, 4:30 to 10 on Thursday, 4:30 to 11 on Friday, and 9:00 a. m. to 11 p. m. on Saturday. It was charged that Kappa neglected to see that the girls at their parties reached their boarding houses on time.

Engage Musicians for Evening

The second violation of the rules occurred on Saturday. The sorority had given a picnic at noon and also engaged a musician for the evening. This broke rule four which allows each sorority one formal function a day.

The charges were brought against Kappa Kappa Gamma Sunday morning at a Pan-Hellenic meeting, with several others. At the second meeting, held in the afternoon, all the accusations were cleared except the two. A vote was taken and the maximum penalty inflicted. Alpha Omicron Pi was the only sorority of the 16 present who voted against inflicting the penalty.

Monday morning, a reconsideration of the case was held with a restatement of the facts concerning it. Dean Goodnight and Dean F. Louise Nardin were present at the meeting, but had no powers of jurisdiction. The vote was again 15 to 1 against Kappa.

May Accept in February

After the decision of Pan-Hellenic, second preference slips sent out with the statement that Kappa Kappa Gamma would not be able to bid or pledge any girls, but those who chose Kappa might wait until February or accept their second preference bid.

During the period when the penalized sorority may hold no intercourse with rushees, other sororities are free to rush and bid them.

"Pan-Hellenic, to be effective, must see that its rules are strictly kept," stated Isabel Bacon, president of Pan-Hellenic association. "We feel that there is a marked tendency on the part of all sororities toward a strict adherence to regulations. This tendency we wish to encourage by a rigid enforcement of rules even when the offences have been committed through negligence."

Kappas Abide by Decision

"Kappa Kappa Gamma is abiding absolutely by the decision of Pan-Hellenic association in this matter," was the statement issued by Kappa's representative. "We helped to make the rules and it was only by carelessness, not in any attempt at underhanded rushing, that the rules were broken."

"That the present difficulty is not evidence of any breakdown in the ideals for which Pan-Hellenic stands we feel quite certain," declared Dean F. Louise Nardin. "Pan-Hellenic stands for purely student regulation and the enforcement of its rules is merely a matter of discipline within the organization. No faculty interference in this matter is necessary except in a purely administrative sense."

OCTOPUS EDS ARE SNOWED UNDER BY BARRAGE OF HUMOR

The contributors' box in the Octopus office is being filled with the clever inspirations of the wits that are striving for the $12.25 being offered in prizes for the five best jokes.

When the box was opened this morning, the first thing that fell out was an autographed photograph of Pete Burns and a passionately perfumed envelope containing the following story, signed by one of Pete's admirers.

PLL Go You One Better

"I'll say Baraboo is some town," said Baraboo booster. "Ringling lives there, the one that owns the circus. And he has made a regular town out of the place. He's built a big new library and a wonderful postoffice and hundreds of marvelous buildings. Why there are thousands of alarm clocks there and when they go off in the morning, everyone of them goes, 'Ringling.'"

"That's nothing," said the man from Rochester, Minnesota. "Mayos live there and they have practically built the whole town. There are hospitals and hotels and everything. And way out on the edge of town is a little shack and a cat lives there and the cat has a kitten and whenever that kitten wants milk or anything, all it says is 'Mayo.'"

The joke contest which closes on October 4, is open to everyone. No joke is barred by its length. The only restriction placed upon the contributions is that they be original.

All contestants should send their contributions to the Octopus office, Union building.

AT THE FULLER

It pays to be a plumber in these days of high wages but it would pay even better if one could be the kind of a plumber H. B. Warner impersonates in his latest and most captivating role in "Uncharted Channels," a Jesse D. Hampton production released through Robertson-Cole.

The picture, which will be the principal attraction at the Fuller theater for a run of three days, beginning yesterday, shows the "Chesterfield of the screen" not only at work as a plumber but dressed in the lowly garb of that now regal personage.

But overalls and jumper cannot hide this star's consummate art. As Timothy Webb, 2nd, made penniless through his wealthy father's erratic will, Mr. Warner dons the workman's uniform and as a result runs into a combination of exciting circumstances which go to make "Uncharted Channels" one of the most appealing pictures of Warner's career. The story deals with the great big problem of the day—labor unrest. There is a delightful love story and much humor in the picture which may be safely termed a comedy-drama.

H. U. Wiedenbeck, Sunnyside Heights, who has been confined at St. Mary's hospital for the past six weeks, was removed to his home today.

AT THE GRAND

Anita Stewart is pleasing capacity houses at the Grand where she is appearing in "The Yellow Typhoon," from the novel by Harold MacGrath. She plays the dual role of twin sisters, Bertha and Hilda Nordstrom, the former a striking adventuress of the blonde type, and the latter a brunette with characteristics quite the opposite. As Bertha, whose golden hair and artful ways, leave men broken as the reeds in the path of a storm, giving her the name of "The Yellow Typhoon," Miss Stewart portrays in a convincing manner an unusual character part. The picture will close its engagement at the Grand tomorrow.

MIRACLE GIRL' AT ORPHEUM JUST LIKE ALL MIND READERS, SAYS JASTROW

"Though I am unacquainted with the methods of Miss Hope Eden, the 'Miracle Girl,' at the Orpheum, I will say that she is probably not different from other so-called 'mind-readers,' was the remark of Prof. Joseph Jastrow yesterday.

"Hundreds of people believe in mental telepathy but from great numbers of experiments performed, results show that the supposed 'magic' is simply guess-work, and there is only a chance of guessing right."

Two years ago, Miss Eva Fay, "High-Priestess of Mysticism," was discovered in a well-known mind-reading fake by one of the instructors in the psychology department. Trick tablets were used, and the questions communicated by the assistant to Miss Fay by means of wiring to a small microphone placed in her ear. A record of known questions and answers showed that all working information came from the question itself, and if the question stated nothing definite, the answer stated nothing definite.

Two kinds of pads were passed out in the audience—a few dummy tablets and the waxed pads, the latter leaving a good impression for the assistant to read and communicate. The question was written on the top sheet of the tablet; the sheet torn off and retained by the writer; the pad returned to the assistant.

The second sheet, a special waxed paper, to all appearance like the other sheets, acted similar to carbon paper and transferred the writing to the third page just below. With the addition of a little lamp-black, the wax tracing came out clearly, showing the whole scheme to be just a fraud.

The world's three greatest dancers, say our dancers of today, are better than ever.

After a wonderful trip of seven weeks to New York, Atlantic City, and Chicago, where I visited every Musical Comedy in town, and danced at the Century Roof, the Wilmore Roof, the Pennsylvania Roof, the Astor Roof, the McAlister Roof, the Strand Roof, Roseland, and the Commodore Ball Room. At Atlantic City I danced at the Garden Pier, Stell Pier, Million Dollar Pier, and attended the Movie Ball, August 23, at the Garden Pier. Also, I danced at the Blackstone, Sophie Tucker's Cafe de Paris, and in Chi, as usual, every place where dancing is popular.
