BANQUET HONORS MOTHERS, FRANK GIVES ADDRESS

Sons and Daughters Pay Tribute in Traditional Affair at Gymnasium

The meaning of Mother, to which this weekend pays tribute, was expressed last night in the annual Mothers, Sons and Daughters banquet held at the university gymnasium. Hundreds of mothers gathered there to enjoy a delightful University tradition and sons and daughters gathered there to pay tribute not only to Mother but to their mother by proxy the University of Wisconsin.

Bernice Winchell as toastmistress introduced the speakers of the evening. Ruth Borchers was the first to welcome the mothers to "Their day and Their University." Mrs. George W. Bunge La Crosse and Mrs. L. A. Moore of Monroe, spoke in behalf of the mothers.

Mothers Speak

Beginning with delightful reminiscences of their college days they went on to speak of the greater freedom and the more numerous opportunities of colleges today. Mrs. Bunge encouraged cooperation, maintaining that "all the schools should work together with all the mothers," and expressed the wish that "the mothers might ever prove wise and friendly in life's greatest relationship." Mrs. Monroe expressed her appreciation of the opportunity of being able to meet and to learn to know the life at the university and to attain a new understanding of the uniqueness of college life.

President Glenn Frank's speech proved a direct and vital challenge to the parents of today. There is, he said a "certain subtle symbolism in the presence of the mothers on this campus—a challenge to mothers and to the University to master the difficult technique of parenthood. The supreme art is the art of doing well the difficult job of being a parent.

Parenthood Needs Technique

"Parents are not," said president Frank "keenly enough aware of the fact that parenthood calls for deft, spiritual technique. Both youth and age will withdraw into sterile seclusion and separation unless the parent feels the necessity of attaining a spiritual parenthood, something that love alone cannot insure.

SENIORS TO HOLD LAST CLASS MEET

Graduates to Gather in Music Hall Wednesday at Noon

The final undergraduate meeting of the Class of 1927 has been called by class officers for 12:45 o'clock Wednesday noon in the auditorium of Music hall. Discussion and selection of a class memorial and instructions concerning the events of Commencement week will be the business of the meeting. Vernon Carrier, president will preside.

John Gillin, chairman and members of the memorial committee have held several meetings to select a fitting memorial for the class. The committee's recommendation will be presented to the class for a vote.

Members of the committee which will report are Lloyd Larson, Barbara Hornsby, Virginia Skinner, Stanley Kalish, and Helen Frazer. Gordon Ruscha, treasurer, and Carrier have been acting as ex-officio members.

Reports on Commencement week activities will be made by the following chairman:

Harold Konnak, class play; Charles Nelson, Senior-Alumni banquet and dance; Henry Brooks, pipe of Peace Ceremony; and Calvin Koehring, commencement.

Concert Band Plays for Mothers Today

Year's Most Popular Numbers Presented in Complimentary Program

A concert, complimentary to visiting mothers will be played by the university concert band at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in Music hall. The band, which has been highly praised this year for the orchestral quality of its work, will present some of the numbers that gained favor in earlier concerts.

The Gounod ballet music from the opera, "Faust," has again found a place on the program as has the Tchaikovsky, "Andante Cantabile." The entire program follows:

"Templar Triumphal Varon," St. Clair; Minuet from the "Military Symphony," Haydn; "Andante Cantabile," Tchaikovsky Overture from "Mignon," Thomas; Ballet music from "Faust," Gounod; and "On Wisconsin," Purdy.

BADGER CHEMISTS FIND MILK TEST

Method of Detection for Added Water in Milk is Announced

Detection of added water in milk is made easier by new methods of chemical analysis announced in a paper presented today at the midwest regional meeting of the American Chemical society by Prof. H. A. Schuette and Miss Lila Miller, University of Wisconsin chemists.

The new method is a variation of the standard refractro-metric analysis now generally used to detect "watered" milk. It differs from former methods in the use of a new chemical re-agent—mercuric nitrate—to precipitate the curd from the milk and leave the serum. Reagents formerly used, such as copper sulphate, either colored the serum or left it in a turbid state which made analysis difficult. Mercuric nitrate leaves a clear, colorless serum.

The laboratory technician using mercuric nitrals to obtain milk serum for analysis has less difficulty in taking the refractometric reading which indicates whether or not water has been added to the milk, the Badger chemists explained.

In presenting the new method, the investigators pointed out the advance in technique of food analysis since the birth of pure food legislation which began at least as early as the fifteenth century when the municipal authorities of Nuremberg, Germany, provided penalties for tampering with milk supplied consumers in that city.

Franks Entertain Visiting Mothers During Afternoon

Several hundred visiting mothers of Wisconsin students were entertained at the home of President and Mrs. Glenn Frank, 130 Prospect Avenue, between the hours of three and five yesterday afternoon.

The President and Mrs. Frank received their guests in the living room of their home which was attractively decorated in keeping with the occasion. They were assisted by members of the university faculty and prominent students.

Mrs. G. C. Sellery and Mrs. F. W. Roe presided in the dining room where refreshments were served the guests.

LAKE MENDOTA RISES SIX INCHES FROM RAIN

Lake Mendota has risen six inches today over Friday's level and there are indications that Lake Monona is also above level as the Yahara river is minus its current. Dozens of reports came in this morning to the city engineer's office concerning flooded basements.

CAPT. M'GINNIS HIGH POINT MAN FOR DAY'S EVENT

Records Fall in Spite of Steady Downpour on Randall Field

By STANLEY E. KALISH

The University of Illinois won the 27th annual Western Conference track and field championship at Camp Randall yesterday afternoon.

But the victory wasn't very decisive. Just because somebody on the Michigan team failed to place a notch higher, and someone on Illinois failed to place a notch lower, the meet went to the Illini.

Victory Earned

However the winners well deserved the title, and only through sincere super-human efforts by the team members were they able to squeeze out a point and two-thirds victory over the Wolverines. Coming from behind, they finished in a blaze of glory and won the coveted title.

A similar story could be told about our Badgers.

Like the Illini, Coach Jones' hopes came from behind and sneaked a half point ahead of Iowa for third place.

Such is the story of the 27th conference meet.

With conditions so adverse that the pole vault and high jump had to be held indoors, the meet was a satisfactory one from every viewpoint with the exception of the attendance. Only a few hundred cinder fans braved the chill drizzle to see some of the greatest races in Big Ten history take place.

Two New Records

With the track inundated by the 24 hour rain, track times could not approach conference records, but good times were made.

Even so, two records fell. And Northwestern formerly one of the track weak sisters shared in both of them. The first new record came in the shot put and Leland (recognize it, it is short for "Tiny") Lewis was the hero. His record breaking put placed him ahead of Lyon, of Illinois, the former champion.

The second record came when Droege Muller, Northwestern and Charles McGinnis, the Wisconsin hero, tied for first place in the pole vault, both clearing 13 feet 3 inches. The question which conference officials will have to decide is whether the record will be an outdoor or an indoor one. The record was made indoors in an outdoor meet. It is one for the record books.

McGinnis High in Points

Like the indoor championships, McGinnis was high point man, but not by much this time. McGinnis' 14 1-2 points came by virtue of a first place in the high hurdles; a

Lenroot Arrives to Visit Daughter

Illness of Dorothy Black Lenroot Calls Former Senator to Bedside

Former United States Senator Irene L. Lenroot arrived in Madison yesterday morning from Washington, D. C., called here by the illness of his daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Lenroot Black, a student in the law school. Mrs. Black is confined to the infirmary where she is suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

The senator was accompanied here by his wife, and both he and Mrs. Lenroot spent most of yesterday at the bedside of their daughter, who was reported by hospital authorities as being somewhat improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenroot will remain in Madison for several days, after which they expect to leave for their home at Superior.

PLAYERS SCORE IN SHAW'S COMEDY

Hillel Group Entertains 200 Visiting Mothers at Lathrop Hall

An audience of 200 visiting mothers and students exclaimed at the finished presentation of George Bernard Shaw's comedy "You Never Can Tell," acted at Lathrop hall last night by Hillel players, dramatic group of the Hillel foundation.

The play depicted the situation which occurs when a mother meets her husband whom she has long since left in order to raise her children in ignorance of him. There is an unwelcome and unexpected reunion. The daughter of the couple, Gloria, thoroughly modernistic and scientific, falls in love in the old-fashioned way with a young dentist. The young man wins her over, furnishing Mr. Shaw a chance to display his talent.

The part of the mothers was played by Dorothy Robineau '29; that of the daughter Gloria by Jeanette Kopelman '29. The dentist-lover was Edward Miller '29. Miriam Snell '30 took the part of the super-flapper Dolly and her brother Phil was played by Leonard Cook '29. Moses Shelesniak '30 took the part of the father, and Mr. McCormick, the family solicitor, was portrayed by Jerome Sinaiko '28. Sol Tax '30 was the tactful and omnipresent waiter and Charles Horwitz '29 played the part of Mr. Bohun; Esther Atinsky '30 was the parlor maid.

The play was under the direction of Mrs. Alice Callahan Roswell, grad, and was presented as part of the Hillel foundation's program for Mother's weekend.

Orchesis Triumphs in Colorful Dance Drama for Mothers

With rhythm, color, music, and delightful action and expression, Orchesis members triumphantly interpreted "Dance" in their fine performances of dance drama at the Bascom theater last evening.

Charming individual group and solo performances were given after the presentation of the history of dance. Comedy and decorum alternated throughout, each having beauty of movement.

Stately waltzes, a scarf filled with rapid action, play with golden balloons, amusing "Impressions of a Viennese Fair," and Atlanta victorious returning from the race were effectively done. A solo, Vignettes, comedy-dances, "On the Boulevard," "The Deacon's Feet," and "Three Blind Mice," and "Piezrot's Serenade" captivated the audience.

The last group, "Tango," "Moods of the River," "Love's Dream After the Ball," and "Ballet d' Action" ended the drama all too soon.

SOLEMN SERVICES WILL HONOR DEAD OF NATION'S WARS

Gold Star Mothers Guests at Memorial Union Cornerstone Ceremony

Impressive services in observance of Memorial day will be held tomorrow when the city of Madison and the state of Wisconsin join with the university in paying solemn tribute to those who gave their lives in the service of their country.

As a part of the ceremony in honor of the dead, the corner stone will be laid for Wisconsin's new million dollar Memorial Union building, now under construction as a memorial to those who served in the nation's wars.

President Reviews Corps

The program for the day has been arranged by a joint committee and will begin at 8:30 tomorrow morning when Pres. Glenn Frank reviews the university corps of cadets on the lower campus. Following this, the corps, under the command of the cadet officers, will take part in the civic parade around the capitol square and back down Langdon street to Lincoln Terrace. The parade is scheduled to leave the square at 10 o'clock, and the ceremony on Lincoln Terrace will begin promptly at 11 o'clock.

Mayor A. G. Schmedemann and President Glenn Frank will preside at the service on the hill. The university concert band will play and the men's glee club will sing the chorus from "Invictus" and "Tenting Tonight." Prof. E. B. Gordon, of the School of Music, will lead the assemblage in singing "America."

Gold Star Mothers Guests

Guests of honor during the ceremonies will be the Gold Star mothers and fathers, the parents of those Wisconsin men who fell in battle. Under the direction of John Bergstresser, alumni recorder, they were invited to attend the services and take part in the laying of the cornerstone of the Memorial Union building as a tribute to their own sons.

The wreath-bearing ceremony will take place at the foot of Lincoln's statue when, with members of the President's Guard standing rigidly at attention, university women garbed in white will deposit wreaths in memory of every person who died as a result of military or naval service. The records show that 209 sons of Wisconsin paid the supreme sacrifice during the Civil War.

HONOR SORORITY FOR FROSH WOMEN

Meet Tuesday at Lathrop to Discuss Plans for Scholaristic Group

Freshman women will meet in Lathrop parlors Tuesday at 4:30 o'clock to discuss plans for an honorary fraternity for women in recognition of their scholarship during their freshman year.

Before definite steps are to be taken for organizing such a fraternity, those instigating the movement wish to ascertain the opinions of the women of the Class of '30. Students opposed to the movement as well as in favor of it are urged to attend the meeting.

First mention of establishing the honorary organization was made by Miss Susan B. Davis at the Green Button banquet, May 19. Dean F. Louise Nardin, Dean Davis, and a group of representative women students informally conferred about the matter Tuesday and desire to learn the reaction of freshmen women to the question.

ENGINEER'S PIN SOLD THIS WEEK

To Provide Badge of Distinction for Wisconsin Man

The new pin designed for Wisconsin engineers will be on sale in the lobby of the Engineering building from Tuesday to Friday of this week. The pin, which was designed by David C. Nowack '28, has for a background a heavy block "W" in gold and cardinal, and across its face is placed a miniature slide rule, a recognized symbol of engineering since it is used universally in the profession.

The original object of the pin was to provide a means of identification of Wisconsin Engineers in the professional engineering circles. However, Polygon, the engineering student representative body, had just decided that the pin shall be made available to undergraduates, including second semester juniors.

Because the supply of pins at this time is limited, sales will be made only to seniors and graduates on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. On Friday, June 4, any surplus will be offered to second semester juniors.

NOTICE
The girls who are taking part in the wreath-bearing ceremony in connection with the Memorial day exercises on Lincoln Terrace tomorrow morning are asked to meet at 10:15 in front of the Biology building.

MOTHERS HEAR FRANK IN ANNUAL BANQUET

student said, "the most effective discipline is the least conspicuous. It is an appeal to moral sense and liberty of action, it encourages openness and frankness, it makes the best so engaging that creative activity is the only natural result. It is creative and constructive, develops comradeship and counsel, and frees man to grow in mind and moral.

Other speakers on the program included Dean F. Louise Nardin and several of the students. Dean Nardin spoke of the university as "a forward looking proposition," and expressed the hope that that partnership might go on. Charles Nelson spoke on activities, encouraging them as a method of developing leadership and initiative, and stressing the need of a proper balance between scholarship and outside activities. Dorothy Bucklin, newly elected president of W. S. G. A. welcomed the mothers in the name of that organization, and Lowell Frautschi spoke of the new Memorial Union.

The banquet committee included Edwin Larkin chairman, Sally Da-

tie for first in the pole vault and a second in the high jump. Lovette, the Michigan field star, was second, scoring 13 points, through a first in the javelin, and seconds in the shot put and discus throw. The third high man was Everingham, of Iowa who amassed 10 points by a first in the 220-yard dash, a second in the 100-yard dash, and a fourth in the broad jump.

The whole meet hinged on the final event, the high jump. Illinois was trailing Michigan 43 to 44 1-3. Burg, of Chicago, evened the count with McGinnis, by defeating him in the high jump. In the indoor conference, the Badger trimmed the Chicago captain. The second place gave Wisconsin third place in the meet, for they had been trailing Iowa by 3 1-2 points. The same was true of Illinois, for Wachowski, after he could not quite pick up the points in the broad jump, came through for a third and three points in the high jump, and Illinois was champion. It was a dramatic finish to a dramatic day.

Dougan Loses

"Pat" Dougan, badly pocketed for the first 220 yards, ran a strong third in the 440-yard dash which was won by George Baird, the Iowa sophomore. Baird turned in a sterling performance in the event covering the distance in 49.1 seconds. The track was sloppy and his race was won in fine style.

Hester Repeats

G. B. Hester, the Michigan midget and Big Ten 100-yard champion was the only man to retain his title for the second successive year when he won the 100-yard dash in 9.9 seconds. Hester had the outer lane, which was the firmest and breezed through two feet ahead of Everingham of Iowa. Gil Smith, took a fifth place, in the event nosing O'Shields, of Minnesota, out in the last 10 yards.

Charles McGinnis won the first Wisconsin first place by running a beautiful high hurdle race. He was closely pressed by Cuvel, of Iowa until he cleared the ninth hurdle, when he sprang ahead and won by about three yards. Ralph Pahlmeyer surprised the field and finished a strong fourth, defeating both Otterness, of Minnesota, and Irwin, of Ohio State.

Illinois Grahams Another

Illinois won another first place, when the well-built Sittig captured the 880-yard run. The Illinois half miler held a substantial lead all the way, but might have been overtaken by Gist, of Chicago, if the latter had run a well-planned race. Ray Erickson, the Wisconsin hope in the event crossed the line third.

The favorite, Everingham, Iowa, won the 220-yard dash in a strong finish in his last 10 yards. He overhauled "Buck" Hester who defeated him in the 100-yard dash a few minutes earlier. Smith of Wisconsin, won his second fifth place in this event.

Zola in Great Finish

John Zola did what he had expected to do. He won the two-mile run, and excellently at that. The Badger midget took the lead with Hunn, of Iowa, and Payne, of Wisconsin, and never relinquished it. The race was the best of the day, Zola and Kennedy, of Ohio State, fighting it out the last quarter mile, both about 20 yards in front of the field. Zola held a yard lead most of the way, though the Buckeye threatened at time. The last 50 yards, Kennedy weakened, and Zola won in the excellent time of 9:42.7.

The 220-yard low hurdles was a three school affair, Iowa, Michigan, and Ohio State each having two men in the event. It was won easily by Cuvel, Iowa. Irwin, the Ohio Stater, who fell after the first 100 yards, had been expected to press him. The time for the event was 24.2, only a second slower than the conference record, which perhaps would have been broken had the day been an ideal one.

Break in Relay

Iowa, the favorites in the mile relay, failed completely to uphold their standard. Cuvel, the last runner, on the Hawkeyes dropped his baton. He was running in third place at the time. Indiana, with two excellent quarter-milers, Stepmenson and Abramson, won the event in 3:21.7. Wisconsin was second. Gil S. 1st, running first for Wisconsin, gave his team a five yard lead over the field.

High in Pole Vault

The best discus effort, which was 135 feet 3-4 inches, was by Rasmus, of Ohio State. The mark was short of a good toss, but the men were handicapped by a wet discus.

Lovette, Michigan, who also finished second in the discus and the shot put, won the javelin throw. His mark was 181 feet 1 inch. Wisconsin placed men, fourth and fifth in this event. Schuerman, being fourth, and Johnny Mayer following.

Leaping to what may be a new conference record, McGinnis and Droege, of Northwestern, tied in the pole vault. They both cleared 13 feet 3 inches. Whether it will be a conference record or not, due to the fact that it was held in

Simon, of Illinois, won the broad doors is questioned, jump from his qualifying leap of 23 feet 5 1-8 inches made in the preliminaries Friday afternoon. The summaries:

WISCONSIN NINE TO MEET WOLVES IN GAME MONDAY

Badgers Travel to Ann Arbor; Play Notre Dame There Tuesday

Rain, returning like the well-known bad penny, ruined another baseball game for Wisconsin yesterday and deprived Minnesota of its opportunity for revenge against the Badgers.

Washed out of three Big Ten contests, the Wisconsin nine now faces the possibility of finishing the season without playing more than three-fourths of its scheduled games.

Leave Today

Members of the squad leave today for Ann Arbor, at which city they will fill a return engagement with Michigan. On Tuesday, the Badgers are scheduled to perform at South Bend, Ind., hang-out of athletes in general and baseball players in particular, against the Notre Dame nine.

After Michigan's home-field trimming by Iowa, 4-3, yesterday there is a possibility that the Badgers will be able to even their series with the Wolverines. Michigan has displayed notoriously weak baseball on its own diamond all season, losing more than half of its home games.

Pitching Edge

Wisconsin has further advantage in its strong pitching staff. Unless Don Miller, Michigan, is still doing his "iron man" trick, the Wolverines will be forced to start Asbeck against the Badgers. Coach Guy Lowman may call on either Capt. George Stoll, Stanley Clausen, Ted Thelander, or Einar Jacobsen, and still be assured of having a strong hurler to sic on Notre Dame the next day.

Ohio, Iowa and Illinois will again be on Wisconsin's basketball schedule next season according to the lists drafted at a meeting of the Western conference basketball coaches here yesterday.

Michigan, Minnesota and Purdue are the new teams added to the schedule, replacing Chicago, Northwestern, and Indiana. According to the conference ruling each team must meet every other team in the Big Ten twice in three years.

The schedule as made up, gives Wisconsin an out-of-town game at Ohio State to start the season. Michigan will open the home-floor conference program in a game at Madison on January 9. Five of the six teams on the schedule were ranked as contenders for the title during the past season and all of them are expected to be equally strong in 1928.

English houses with a reputation for being haunted are no longer drugs on the market.

ference race, Wisconsin still has a chance at the title, provided someone will knock off Illinois and Iowa once or twice. Two games with Indiana remain on the schedule. One of these to be played here on June 4, will close the season for the Badgers.

Watching the Stars

The shot put and the pole vault had to be moved to the gymnasium annex due to the fact that the runways and pits at Randall were water-soaked.

About 50 yards from the finish of the 440-yard dash, the water had inundated the track completely, and before the start of the track events a crew of three men were busy trying to get the water from the track.

"Tiny" Lewis, the Northwestern giant, took the shot put lead on the second round of throws with an excellent toss, considering the bad conditions, of 47 feet, 3 inches. Lovette, the Michigan qualifying leader, was still in second place with his 46 feet 3 inches put of Friday.

In the 100-yard dash, "Buck" Hester, of Michigan, slightly upset the dope when he won the 100-yard dash in good time, 9.9, considering the heavy track. Hester, was figured about a third, due to the smallness of his stature and the mire on the track, but he drew the outside lane which was the firmest, and won the race by about two feet.

Charles McGinnis, the Wisconsin superman, won the 120-yard high hurdles in excellent time when the drizzle which was coming down was considered. The Wisconsin captain took the lead over the ninth hurdle and beat Cuvel by about a yard and a half.

Ralph Pahlmeyer fully redeemed himself in the eyes of Wisconsin fans when he won a fourth place in the high hurdles. Last year in the conference at Iowa City, the former East Side high school star, fell down at the start of the hurdle event.

"Ted" Carty, the one and only kept the chilled crowd in fine spirits with his chatter through the megaphone between the announcing of the various events. We ask you, Ted, were you ever a cheer-leader?

Gist, the Chicago sophomore had he known betted how to run his race, would have won the 880-yard run. The Maroon half-miler allowed himself to be pocketed too frequently, and didn't sprint out in front of the field until the last 100 yards. We look for him to be a future conference champion.

With seven events completed—120-yard high hurdles, 100-yard dash, mile run, 220-yard dash, half mile run, and shot put—the score stood: Iowa 22, Illinois 21, Wisconsin 14, Michigan 14, Ohio State 12, Northwestern 8, Indiana 7, Minnesota 5, Chicago 3, Purdue 0.

The two mile run will go down as a classic. John Zola, the cock-sure Wisconsin half-miler, did as expected, but not without a hard fight from Harold Kennedy, of Ohio State. The last 300 yards was a dual event with J. Zola holding a three-yard lead which was cut down at times to feet. Zola, stoutly held his advantage, and Kennedy broke with about 50 yards to go. The Badger won by better than five yards.

"Chuck" McGinnis and Otterness spent part of the afternoon riding taxicabs. They commuted between Camp Randall and gymnasium annex to compete in the high hurdles at Randall and the pole vault and high jump at the annex.

The low hurdles was a nice event, but not close. Cuvel, the sterling low hurdler won easily, in the good time, 24.2 seconds. Irwin, of Ohio State, who was expected to furnish the Hawkeye competition fell down near the 100-yard mark, and was forced to drop out. The race was a three-cornered affair, Iowa, Michigan, and Ohio State, each had one man in it.

With only the pole vault, broad jump, high jump, the hammer throw, and the mile relay to be heard from the scoring stand: Michigan 32, Iowa 31, Illinois 26, Wisconsin 23, Ohio 22, Indiana 12, Northwestern 8, Minnesota 8, Chicago 3, Purdue 0.

FRESHMAN CREW TAKES SECOND IN JUNIOR REGATTA

St. John's Academy Shell Wins Race; Jayvees Trail Culver

Wisconsin's green-clad freshman crew, picked as the lone Badger entry in the Poughkeepsie regatta, finished a length behind the St. John's Military academy eight in the first annual Midwestern junior regatta on Lake Mendota yesterday.

The St. John's crew, rowing a smooth, powerful stroke took the lead in the first half-mile of the mile and one-quarter mile and held it steadily to the finish. Culver Military academy stroked into third place, half a length behind the Badger freshman, while the junior varsity brought up the rear. The course was covered in 6 minutes, 55 seconds.

Bad Weather

A spattering rainfall and choppy weather on the lake made it appear at first as if it would be impossible to hold the regatta, which had been planned originally as one of the features of the Western conference track meet. The crews, however, finally launched forth, the frosh taking the water first, St. John's next, Culver next, and the jayvees last.

Launches jammed to the gunwales with Big Ten coaches, officials, newspapermen, and former Wisconsin athletes chugged out on the lake. Coach J. E. Steinauer maneuvered the speed boat "Vall" up and down the lake front in a continuous frothy spray, and finally Coach Harry E. "Dad" Vail, the grand old man of Wisconsin rowing, climbed into the launch "Isabell" with his battered megaphone. The "Isabell" slid away from the dock and the stage was set.

Great Finish

The first sight the crowd on the shore had of the race revealed only bright yellow sculls chipping in and out of the water. Which crew was which, no one knew. As the shells drew closer, spectators picked up the tell-tale purple jersey of the St. John's coxie, Vannatta, urging his boat forward with every stroke. Close behind raced the frosh, keeping up yet unable to close in.

'n' That's That

For exactly one week there have appeared in this "much maligned organ of student opinion" headlines of varying size and blackness dealing with the Daily Cardinal Board of Control. Starting with "Petition is Circulated for Changing Board of Control," the series ended with "Goodnight Turns Down Referendum Asked by Voters," and "To Consider New Organization at Board Meeting." These are mentioned not because they represent the ultimate of copy-desk art, but because they serve, in their own crude way, to tell the drawn-out story of attempted board reorganization.

And this story, to anyone who has been sufficiently interested to follow it through, has probably sounded like a foolish play enacted by a group of hare-brained adolescents.

First there appears on the stage a petition which is signed by 500 "qualified electors"—Episode one; the petition is given to the W. S. G. A. council and Student senate at a joint meeting, petition tabled—Episode two; the senate steps into the limelight all by itself, makes a few changes in the proposed plan, then approves it—Episode three; W. S. G. A. considers the proposition, but does not vote on it, because Mr. Faculty Intervention steps into the scene with right hand upraised, saying, "Thou shalt not hold a referendum this spring"—Episode four; Cardinal board and staff members hold a family get-together and formulate by-laws to the Daily Cardinal articles of incorporation which shall be presented to the entire board's consideration—Episode five and curtain. As an epilogue to the piece we sincerely hope for the board's acceptance of the proposed laws.

Perhaps some explanations are necessary, and it is only because we feel that they are more or less desirable that we are saying anything more about the subject other than to predict how felicitously the new plan, if passed by the board, will work out next year.

In the first place, there was the legality of our plan of action. The constitution of the Student senate and the Articles of Incorporation of the Daily Cardinal company conflict on the board's organization. We realized that the matter of which should have precedence was debatable, so consulted a prominent member of the Law school faculty, who advised that our method would be practically, if not strictly technically, legal. Believing that the board would not contest in the courts this reorganization which so patently would be for its own good, as well as for the Daily Cardinal's, we proceeded. Against the referendum's establishing a dangerous precedent, it might have been—and would have been—passed subject to the board's approval.

Secondly, we had been made to understand that although the board desired the change, it could do nothing with its hands tied by the Articles of Incorporation. We might have misunderstood, but that is doubtful. This seemed the only way in which the organization might be altered.

Thirdly, we thought that we had made clear to Dean Goodnight what we proposed to do. We were sure he understood that we meant to hold a referendum this spring. We felt sure he could see that this referendum would have to be held within the two weeks preceding final examinations. We thought he understood that such a referendum would occasion no campaigning and practically no disturbance on the campus. We believe that we had sufficient grounds for taking a vote on the question this spring. After announcing our intentions, Dean Goodnight offered no objections. In fact, he seemed to be favorably inclined toward the matter. Then, after the petition had been circulated, the senate had passed on the measure, and W. S. G. A. was ready to take action, we were informed by Dean Goodnight's secretary of the ultimatum, "There shall be no election this spring." And the Dean refused to talk with members of the Cardinal staff—we realize that he may have been a mighty busy man on that particular day, yet we feel that he should have offered some explanation for his inconsistency, and should have given us some chance to present the other side of the case. But no—in a few curt words, the Dean of Men dispelled this fanciful whim of a group of nincompoops.

We want to express our thanks to John Bergstresser, Alumni Recorder and former president of the Board of Control, who succeeded in salvaging something from our action. The board members, having discovered after all that they had the power to make certain changes, was brought together with staff representatives, and two by-laws to the formidable articles were drawn up which should accomplish practically the same ends that would have been secured by passage of the referendum.

The bylaws provide for the membership on the board of the Executive Editor and Business Manager as ex-officio members, and amend the system of election to the board, whereby we hope the body's greatest weakness will be rectified. We sincerely feel that these will bind the discordant elements more closely together, and will ultimately result in an almost impeccable supervisory body.

It should be understood that these bylaws are not being forced on the board, but that the board is gracious in considering them, especially after Dean Goodnight's action on the referendum. If it passes them, the board will be acting for the best interests of all concerned, and will be in order for a rising vote of thanks.

With which we heartily withdraw from further discussion and debate.

The Official Spokesman is No More

Exit the Official Spokesman for the President of the United States!

No longer may the Washington newspaper correspondent fall back upon the thinly-disguised anonymity of this once peculiar personage. For President Calvin Coolidge himself has decreed the passing of the Official Spokesman through whom the views and utterances of the President of the United States have frequently been disseminated by some members of the Washington corps of newspapermen since the halcyon days of Warren G. Harding.

Mr. Coolidge no longer desires what transpires between him and the Washington newspaper correspondents at the press conferences held at the White House each Tuesday and Friday to be interpreted or broadcast otherwise in the press by the Official Spokesman.

Some Washington correspondents have never availed themselves of the Official Spokesman. A number of them have long completely ignored him in seeking to reflect, without being able to quote directly Mr. Coolidge's responses to the prepared questions submitted in lieu of forbidden oral interrogations at the bi-weekly White House Press conferences. Those correspondents who have employed the Official Spokesman in conveying to the editors and readers of their newspapers the attitude of Mr. Coolidge on national and international affairs alone have been forced to find a new vehicle for their efforts to report what the President says, unquote, about this, that, and so-and-so.

The more cautious Washington correspondents will probably fall back upon the familiar statement that, "It is understood that President Coolidge, etc., etc." or "The announcement was authorized at the White House that the President's Chinese policy, etc." Some less cautious Washington correspondents have attributed as directly as possible to the President without using the forbidden quotation marks on many of Mr. Coolidge's utterances. Others have made it even plainer that Mr. Coolidge said so-and-so.

We feel that Mr. Miller is treating us altogether too cruelly by sending a deluge to Madison for the Conference Track meet and Mothers' Week End.

Temps Fugit—Which may serve as a gentle reminder of the unescapable fact that final examinations are but a few short days in the future.

We can hardly write today—we are as dead as the Delta Zetas' door bell.

WET THOUGHT ON A WET DAY

In the fall when the student directory comes out, we look it over for the possibilities, and in the spring when the Badger comes out, we see what we have missed.

Lady Macbeth: "Out, out, damned spot."

Galsworthy has a book entitled, "The Man of Property." It certainly wasn't written about a college man.

2500 years ago Socrates said that

He knew nothing.

We don't know anything either.

And now, after reading

One of Plato's dialogues

About him,

We conclude

That one of us is right.

Yup, this is really the best Union strike we've Pfeffer seen.

The union building has had a bad start. We insist on house rules being strictly observed. Why, the other day we saw some of the Workmen matching stones.

NO, MOTHER

"No, that's not a fraternity house; that's the Villa Maria. You see, the gentlemen going into the building are calling on their lady friends. All the noise? That's the Thetas in the rear. They just got a new portable phonograph. A circus? Those are cadets in their

R. O. T. C. uniforms. The big blue spots on this new building are ink spots. Some men who didn't like the order of things threw them there. Yah, Luther did the same thing, but he threw it at the devil. Gosh, those canoes do look as if there's nobody in them—that's the library across the street—maybe they just got blown out there—this red building is the Armory. Ha, ha, underwear? That's good. They're wearing track suits; they run in those. That's not the Old Soldiers' Home, its the University Club. No, no, mother, those are not Haresfoot men, they're Phy Eds."

They were talking over the telephone, and everything was not all right. Silence for five minutes—you could have cut it with a knife. Then, he said, "Who dropped that pin?" Yes, she laughed.

Speaking of telephones, the guy who wrote the line, "All alone by the telephone" never lived in a fraternity house.

BED TIME STORY

"Yes, Oswald, way up in the sky is a great big tank which a little bird turns on whenever we need rain on the earth. Isn't he a good bird?"

"Yes, mother, usually, but this time he must have broken that damn faucet."

Well, seeing that Pete used the Daisy Chain as the basis for a certain remark, we will arise and add this: That a Jane is as wrong as her sleekest gink.

GARIBALDI and BENITO

Member of Board of Regents Praises Modern University as Hope of State

"The astounding achievements of the great American universities in applying science and research to life is simply offering, on an heroic scale the truth that the greatest item of wealth in a State is young men and women and that brains plus soil and matter equals wealth," writes John C. Schmidtman, member of the Board of Regents of the University of Wisconsin, in May Current History Magazine. "New agricultural enterprises have resulted from experiments in plant pathology and agricultural chemistry." A most striking example of this has been furnished by the University of Wisconsin. When Professor Stephen Moulton Babcock of the Department of Agricultural Chemistry invented his famous test to determine the exact amount of butterfat in milk and gave his invention to the university and through it to the people of the State, with magic swiftness dairying rose from a 'side line' on the farm to an industry that produces annually 100,000,000 pounds of dairy products and more wealth than all the gold annually mined on the continents of North and South America.

"Years ago people in the corn belt used to say: 'If you could only grow corn in Wisconsin as we do you would have some state!' As the trained agronomists in the university experiment station could not change the cool Wisconsin climate, they changed the corn and to all ends and purposes moved the state into the corn belt! By a series of experiments extending over ten years and including germination of selected kernels in temperature-controlled refrigerators, the university produced a famous cold-resistant corn that matures as far north as the shore of Lake Superior. Realizing that its task was only begun the School of Agriculture organized 36,000 former agricultural students and school boys and girls into an association that distributed the pure bred corn from one end of the state to the other. Within six years the same acreage produced 25,000,000 bushels more than before, thereby adding $25,000,000 annually to the wealth of the state, and federal crop reports show that Wisconsin has passed in yield per acre every great corn state of the union."

MADISON OPENS CITY GOLF LINKS

Municipal Course to be Ready for Use of Fans This Week

Golfs fans who are not members of any of the local golf clubs or who are unable to belong to any private club will be pleased to hear that Madison's new municipal golf links will be ready for use about June 1.

The new course will be a nine-hole course, located on the Old Speedway road just beyond the cemetery. City Engineer E. E. Parker has laid out the course, which is 2,544 yards long with par at 34. A natural hazard is formed on three of the holes by a ravine which crosses the course. It will be under the direction of City Forester J. G. Marshall, and the cost will be cared for through the finance committee of which Alderman Park is chairman.

The holes, yardage and par for each is as follows: one, 302 yards, four; two, 281 yards, four; three, 181 yards, three; four, 364 yards, four; five, 448 yards, five; six, 131 yards, three; seven, 362 yards, four; eight, 101 yards, three; nine, 374 yards.

The fee for play on the course will be 25 cents for a round and the proceeds will go towards defraying the cost of upkeep and eventual improvements of the course.

JANTZEN
The Suit That Changed
Bathing to Swimming

Jantzen--the Suit for Good Looks and Good Swimming

The smartest suits on nearly every beach are Jantzens. Pick them by their immaculate fit, their "boyish" grace, the absence of any wrinkles. In the water there's a body-freedom about Jantzens which makes swimming easier, more enjoyable. And the secret of this elasticity and grace is long fibred wool tightly knitted by the special Jantzen-stitch.

Come in and choose your Jantzen from the new designs for Summer. A special system of sizing by weight assures you of a fit without wrinkles. The action of the water softens the wool and gives your suit the fit for which Jantzens are famous—the fit which is knitted into a Jantzen. Choose a Jantzen now for the first swim of the season.

New! Accessories in Matched Sets

SHOES—
CAP—BELT—

All in fancy rubber patterns—red, green, blue, and black are the assortments. With the costume idea applied to beach styles, comes this new fad for matched accessories. Buy them inexpensively in sets.

White with Cardinal Accessories

A new vogue in beach costuming is the all white suit with its dashing belt, helmet, and shoes of red. This new white Jantzen suit is stunningly severe—and possible because of the perfect fit which characterizes all Jantzens.

It is also easy to take care of, because all Jantzen suits have rubber buttons so that they can be put through the wringer. In this way you can be sure that your suit will always dry right. The suit without accessories is $6.

Colors Are Vivid and Varied

New for the 1927 swimming season is the Jantzen suit of navy blue or black with an applique of the famous Jantzen swimming girl. Other shades are plain cardinal, black emerald, white, navy, orange, and Jantzen blue.

In combinations you have a choice of cardinal and white, emerald and white, Jantzen blue and black, navy and cardinal, and orange and black. Choose your Jantzen here and match it with smart, new accessories. Jantzen—the suit for swimming.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY
FOR MEMORIAL DAY

War, Spanish-American and World Wars, and as each wreath is deposited, a copper plate bearing his name will be dropped in a box which will be sealed in the corner stone to be placed in the Memorial Union building. In the event of rain, services will be held in Music hall.

The laying of the corner stone will take place at the building site and will immediately follow the service at Lincoln Terrace. Fred H. Clausen, chairman of the Memorial Union executive committee, will speak for the state, Mayor A. G. Schmedemann for the city, Lowell Frautschi, president of Union Board, for the students, and President Glenn Frank for the university.

Taps will be sounded, and the corner stone will be swung into place as the university service flag is unfurled and the national salute is fired by a detail from the field artillery unit of the corps of cadets.

Guests of honor at the ceremonies from out of town, relatives of the Wisconsin men who died in service, will be as follows:

T. A. Cary, jr. and mother, Richmond, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Ira A. Jones, Glencoe, Ill.; Mrs. Ada C. Merrell and daughter, Milwaukee; Mrs. Lillie M. Ramsey Richardson and two members of her family, Beloit; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Dixon, La Crosse; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Brainard and daughter and son-in-law, Monroe; Mrs. Frank E. Bell and daughter, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Mrs. Schuyler B. Perry, Chicago. Madison relatives of Gold Star men will also be honored guests at the services.

ORCHESTRA DIRECTOR
IN LECTURE-RECITAL

Dr. Siegfried Prager, director of the Madison Civic Symphony orchestra, will give a lecture-recital this afternoon at 3:15 o'clock in Esther Vilas hall. The subject of Dr. Prager's talk will be the numbers of the program of the civic symphony orchestra concert to be given Tuesday night at the Central high school auditorium.
