connected in time
by changes

. . . and is a word
connecting those things, ideas

as change
is the device
connecting them
into a conglomeration called you.

you are
What you have been plus what you gather from experience.

the totality of being
is the end result of you
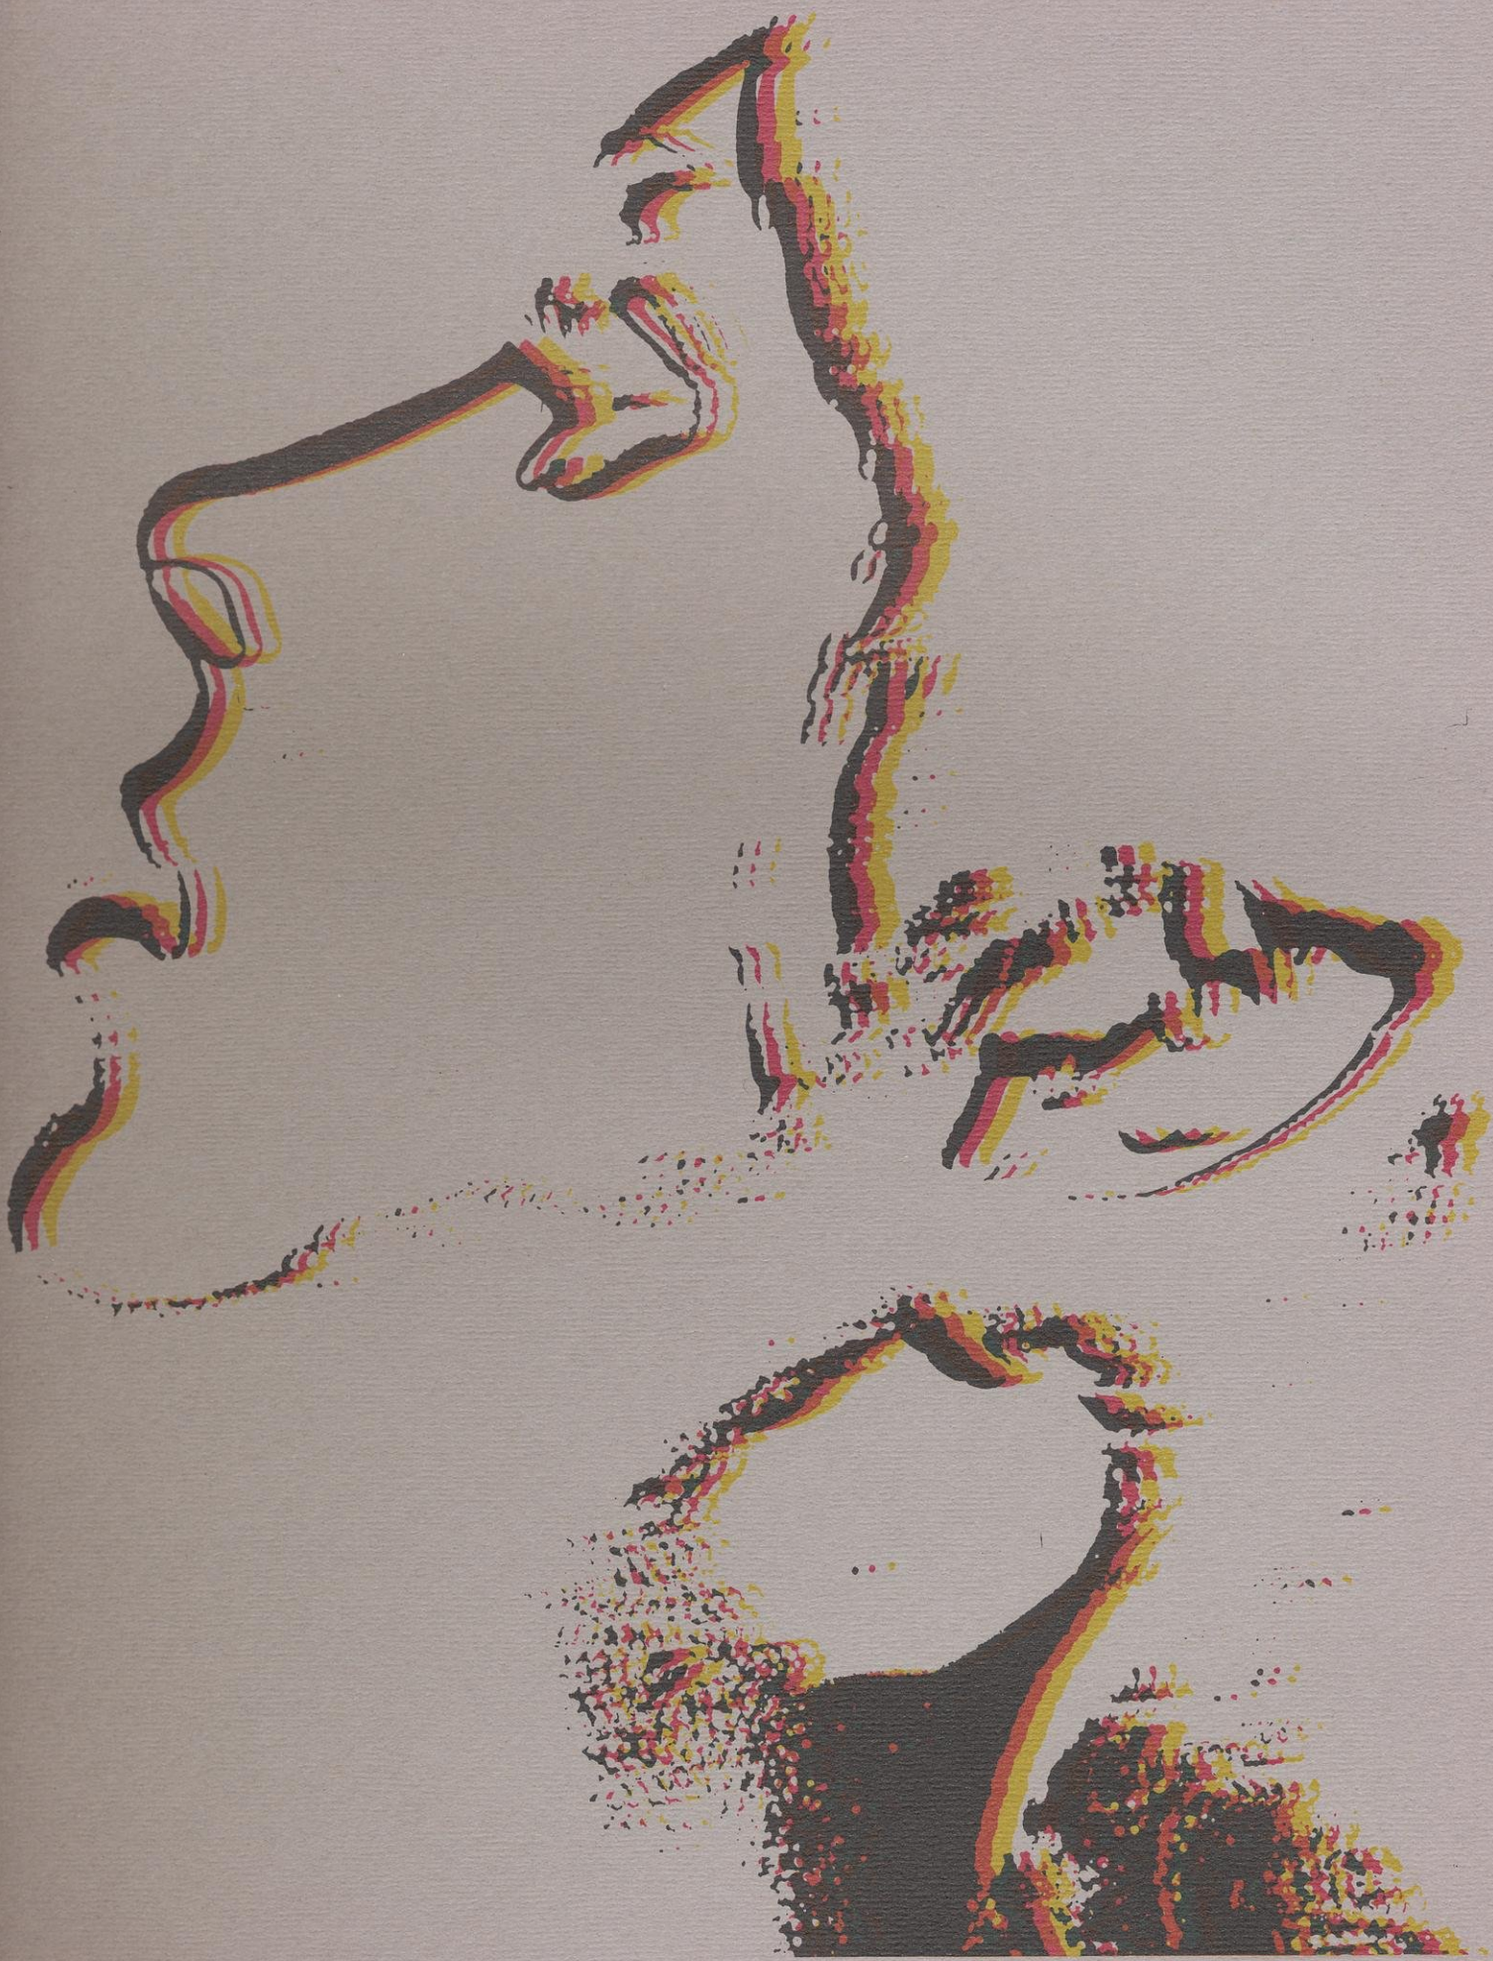
and . . .



The place
is Madison . . .
multifaceted, existing as a unique entity because for each person
it is a separate way of life —

the environment

a transformation . . .
continuous, gradual,
abrupt,
subtle,
blatant,
inevitable . . .

"to grow is to change
and to have changed much is to have grown often."

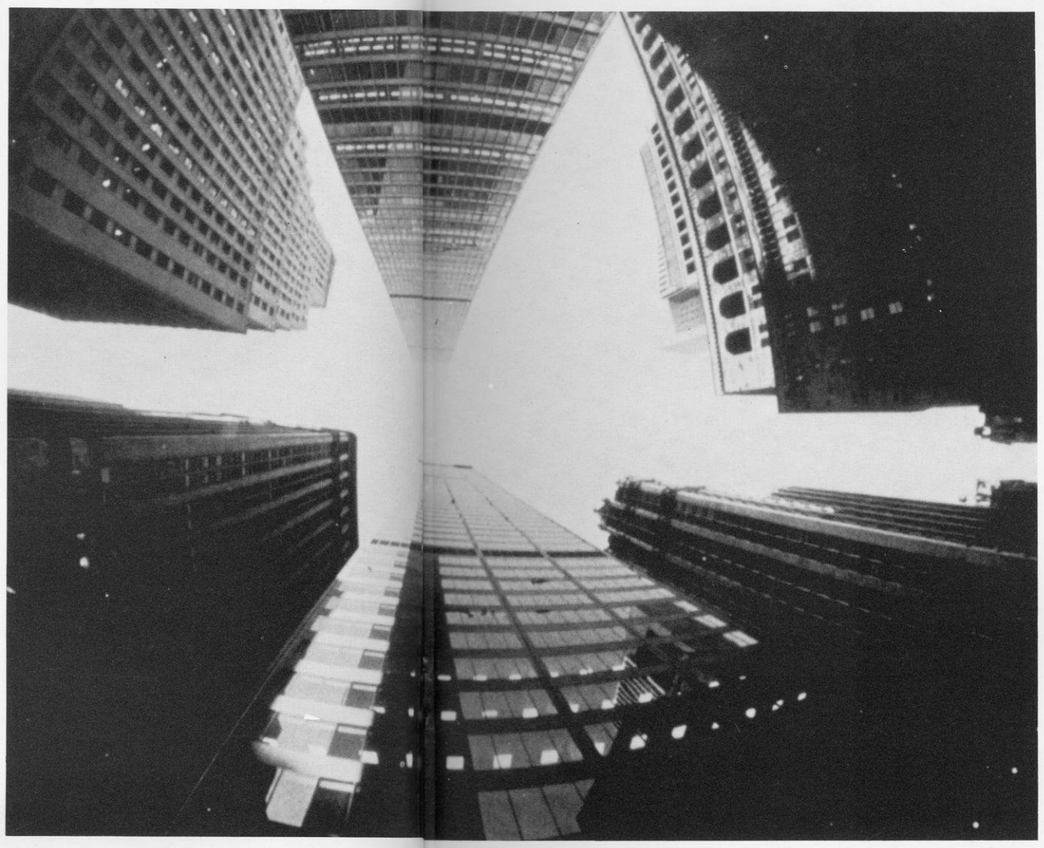
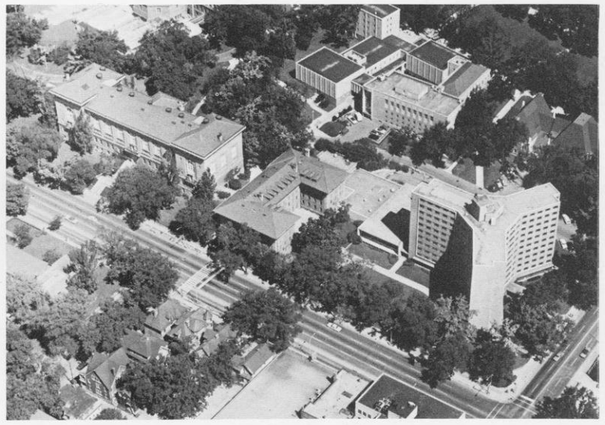
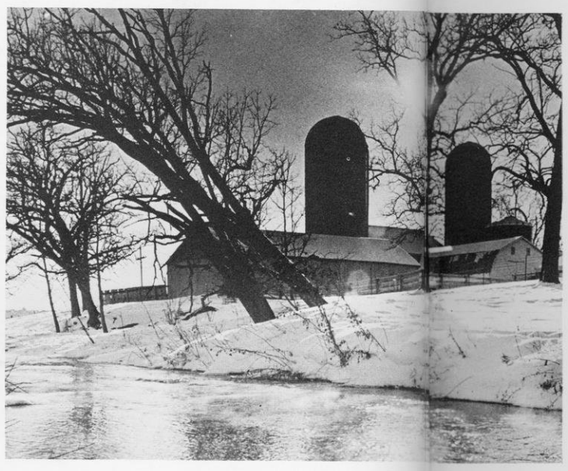
Do you remember how you felt going through these changes . . . . . .

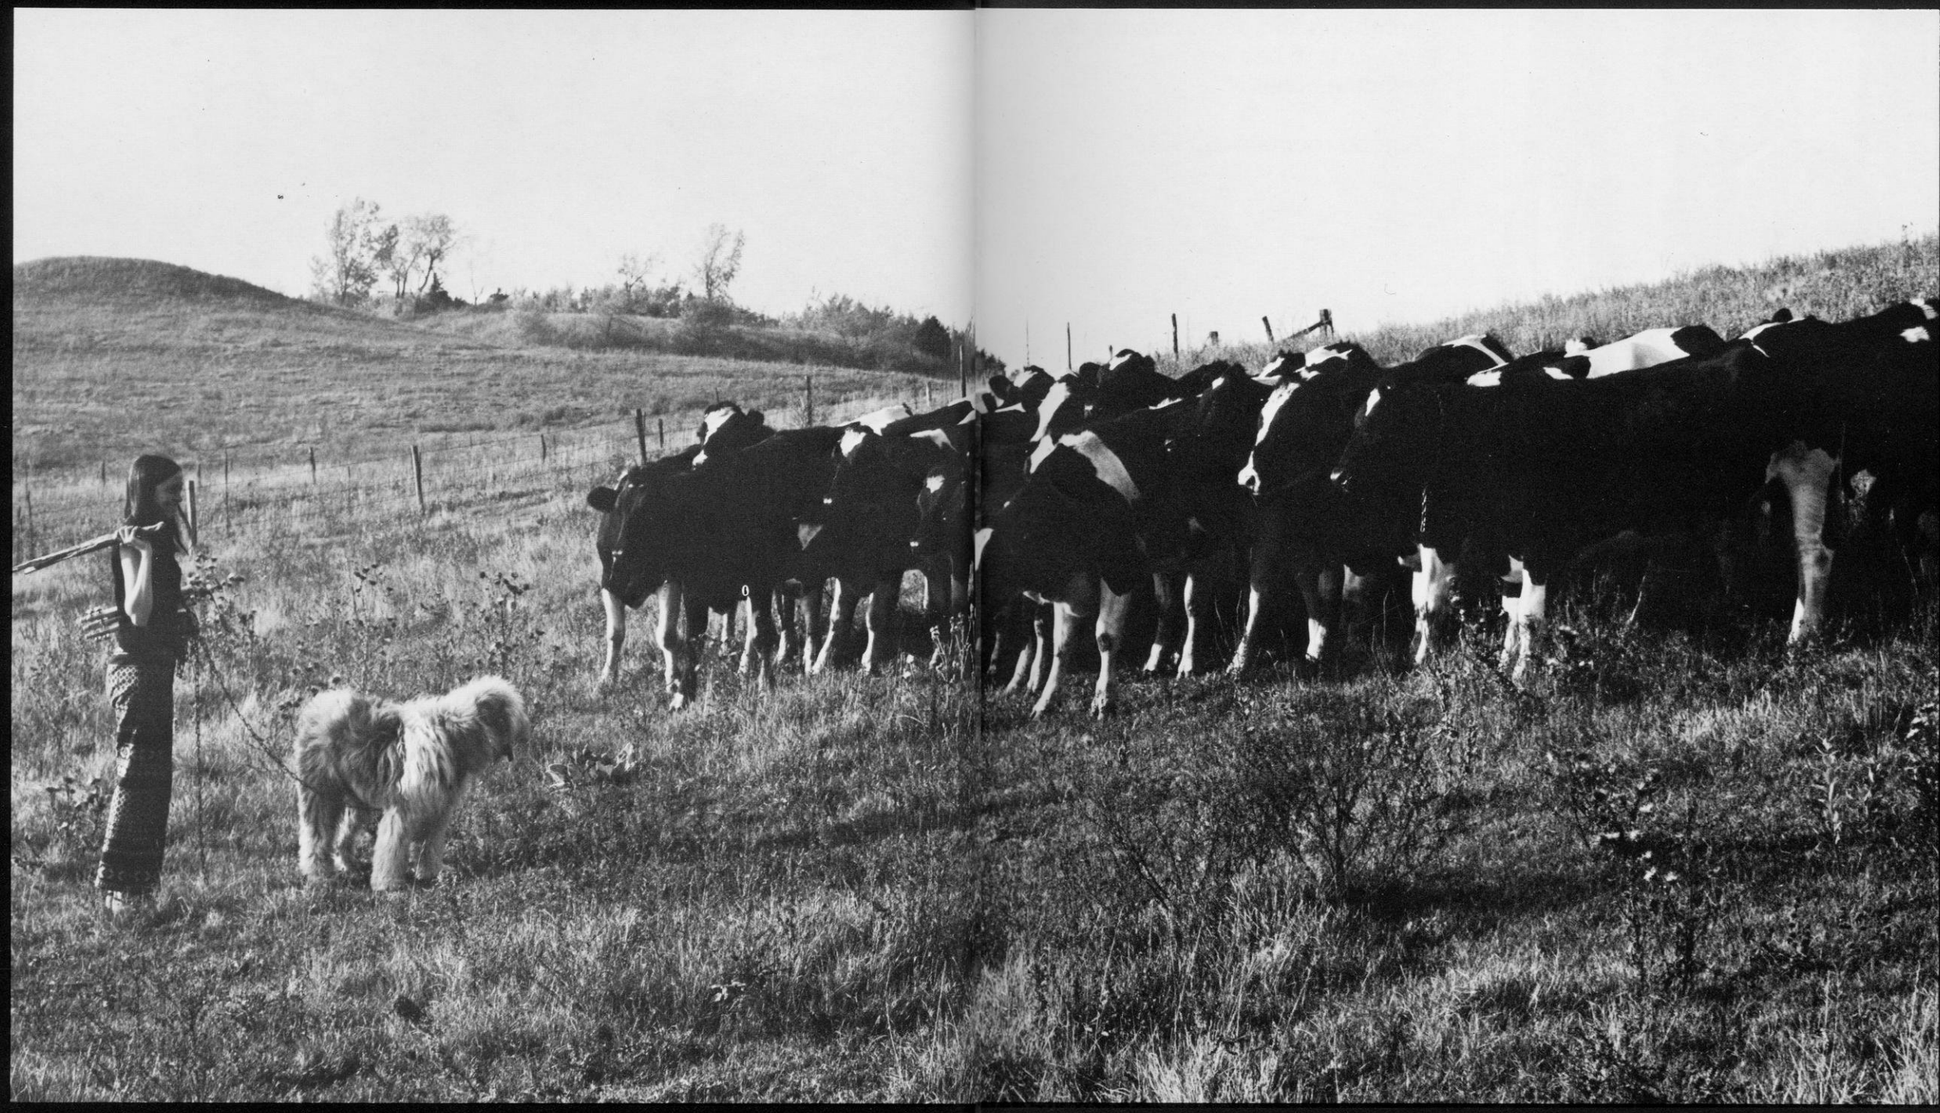
Lesson one: Never fly standby.

The changes will be different, depending upon where you are when you start. Each person comes to Madison with their own expectations; expectations which vary upon the persons background, their place of origin. Do you hail from a big city, or is Madison going to be your first city adventure? But however cosmopolitan you are, in the beginning everyone must face the initial adjustments of university life . . . .

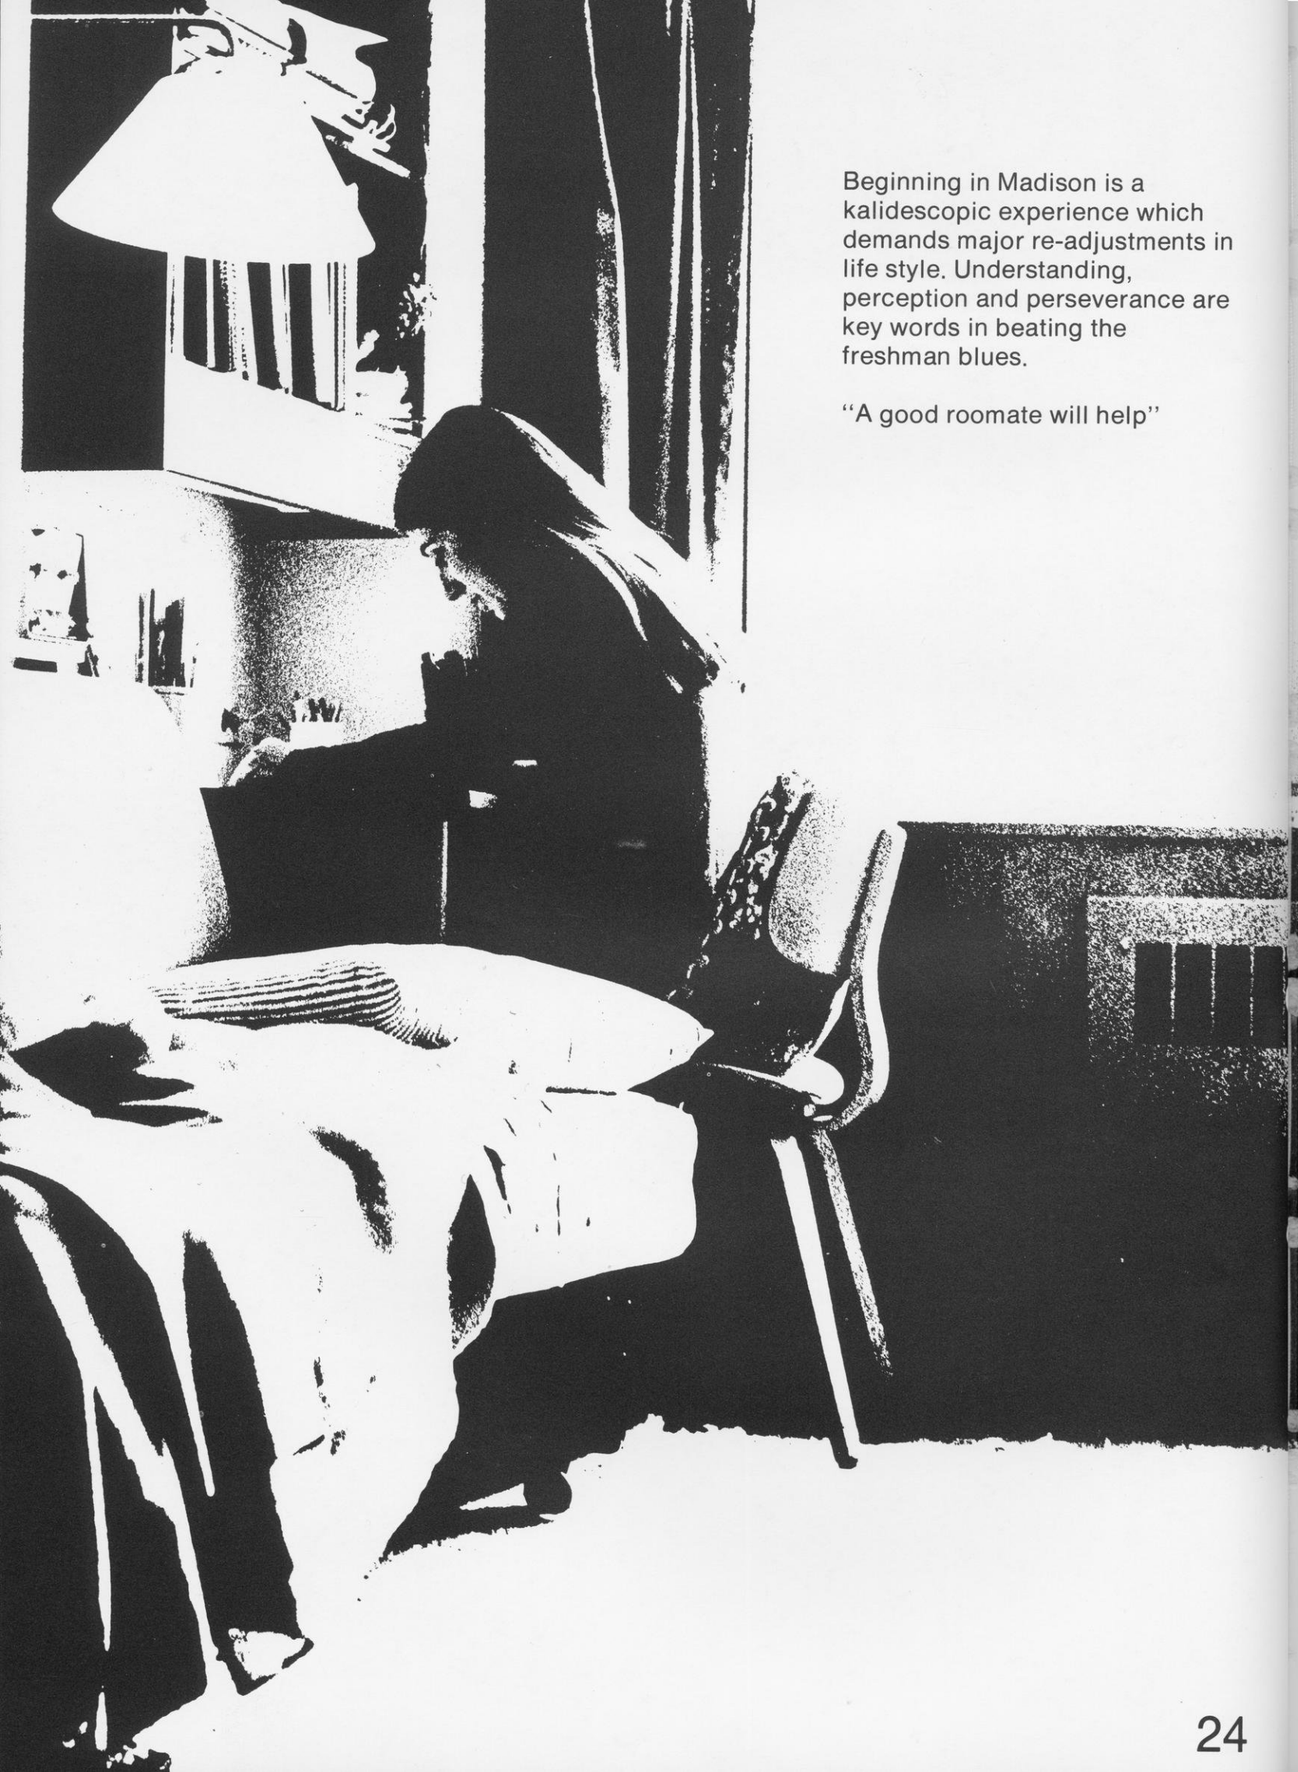








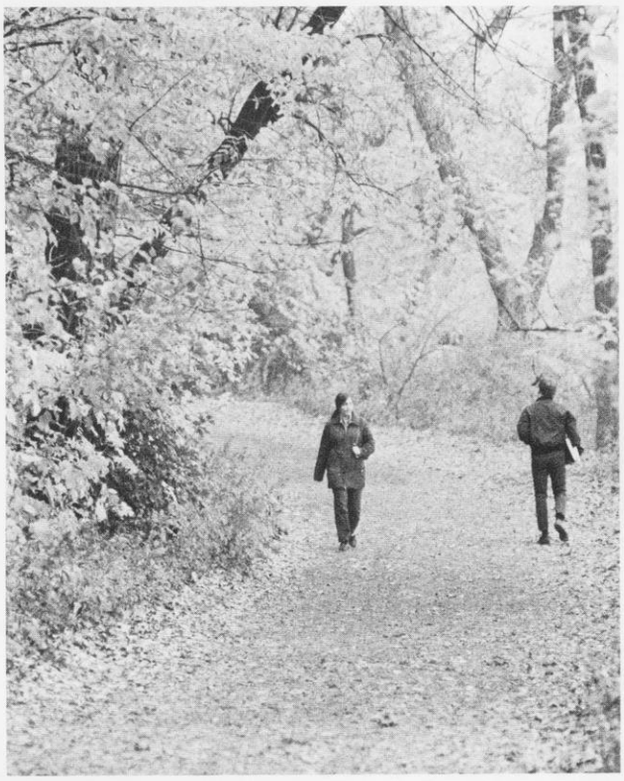
"I expected Dairyland."

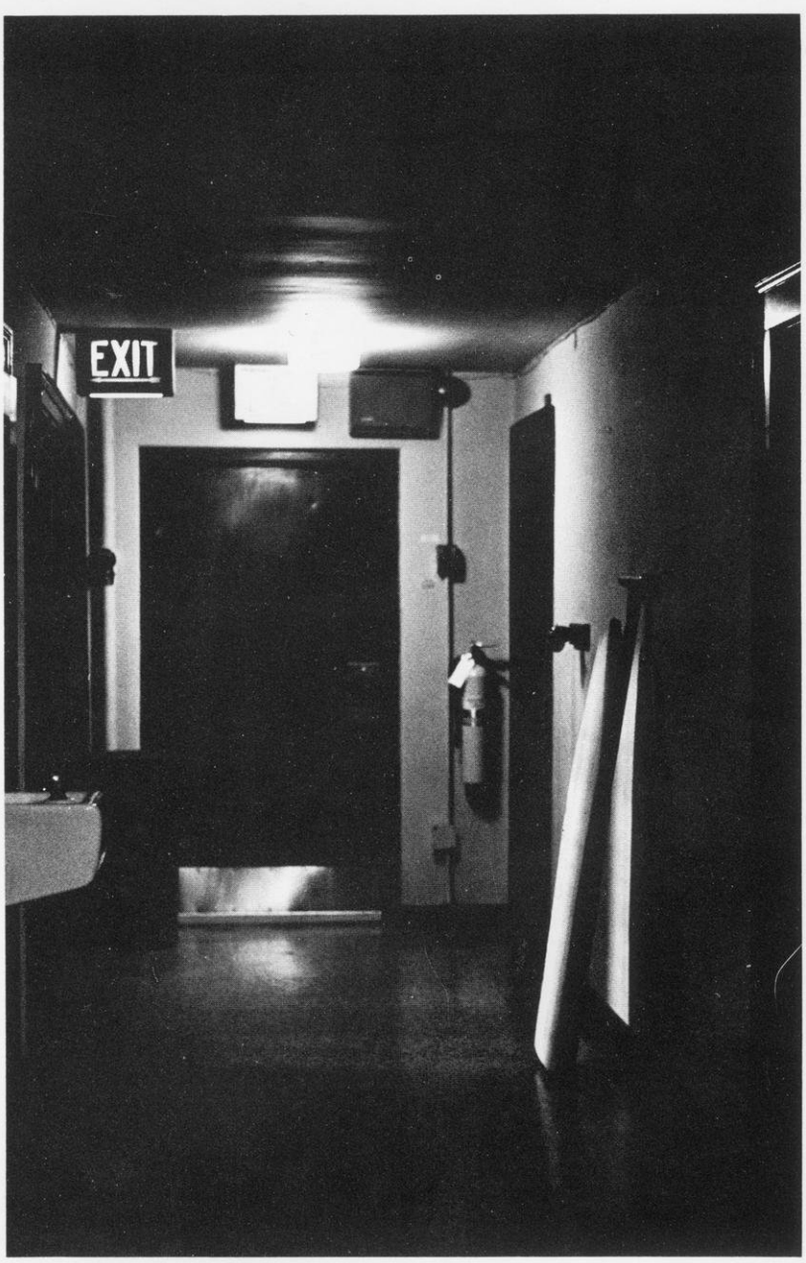


Beginning in Madison is a kalidescopic experience which demands major re-adjustments in life style. Understanding, perception and perseverance are key words in beating the freshman blues.

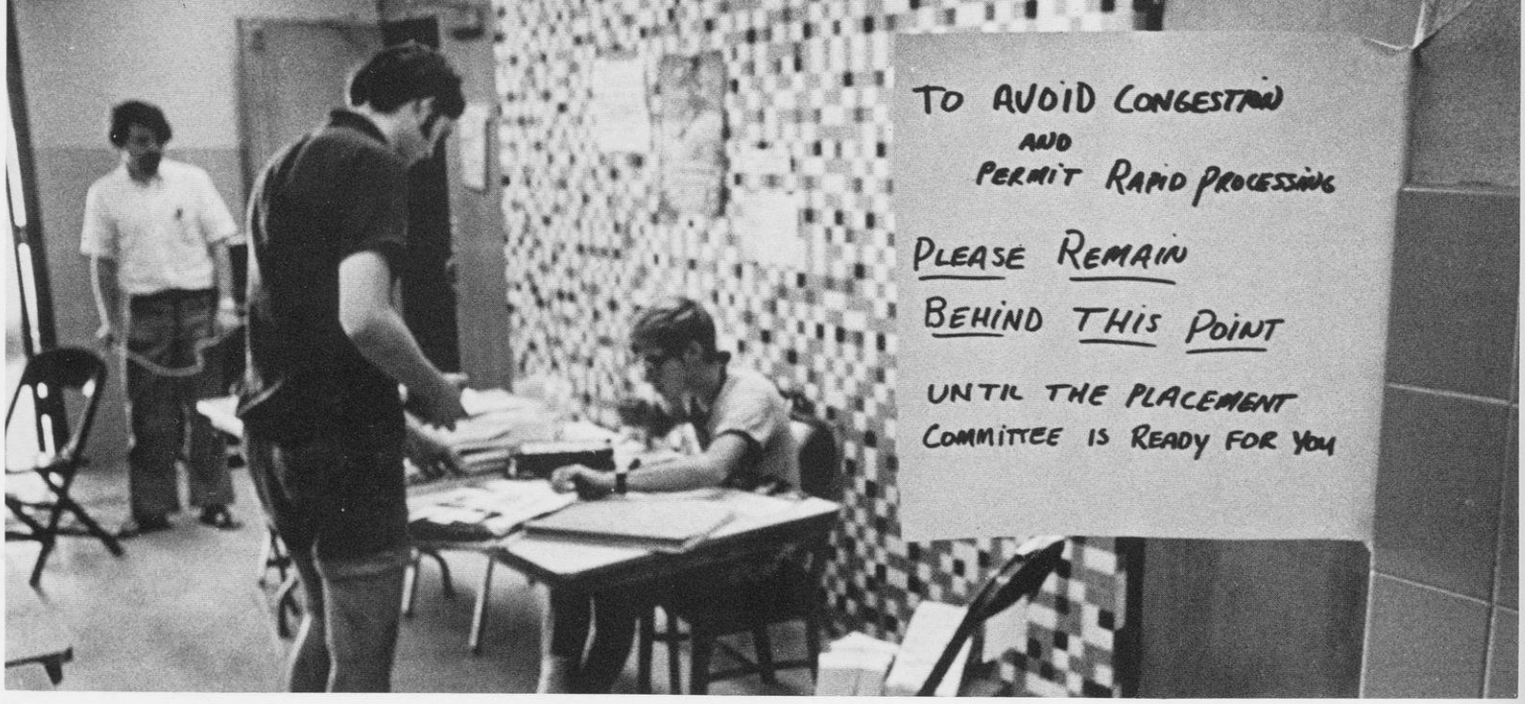
"A good roomate will help"

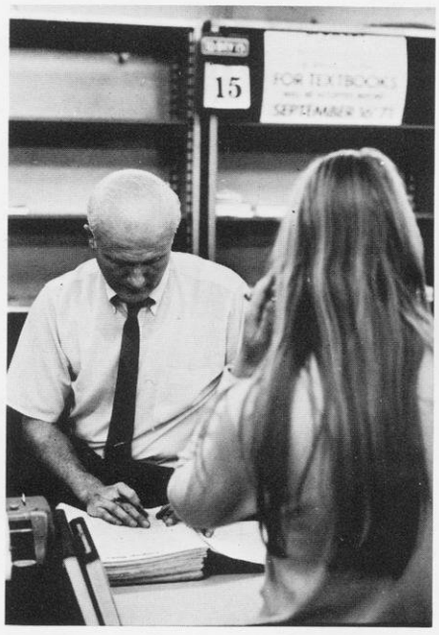
"It's a zoo."

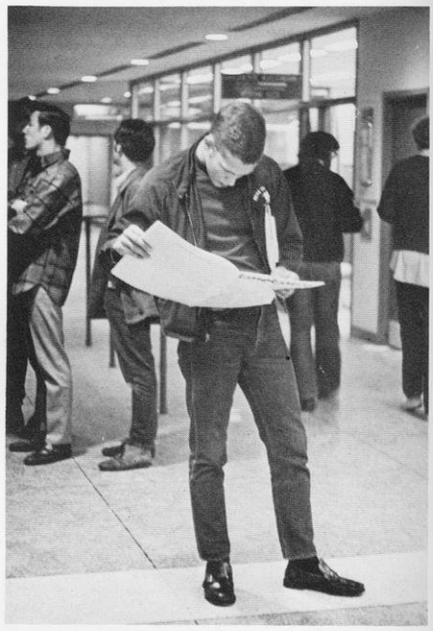




"This is the true side of campus."
"I go to the other side of campus, but I can leave it and close the door anytime."







"Hell."

"Difficult to cope with."

"Not half the classes I wanted."

"Absurd."

Change . . .
from person to pairs,
from one to one thousand.
Madison is a mini-culture with varied social sub-groups . . . sifting, moving, changing, their definition illusive, as intermixing causes prejudicial boundaries to fade and the curiosity and need of one personality for another dominates.

"What is a Co-operative?"
"More simply, what?"

"Co-operation is the key word in the whole movement, co-operation, sharing.
giving . . . taking bitching . . . praising slaving . . . playing,
all those things that happen when people get together for one or a number of the necessities involved in life."

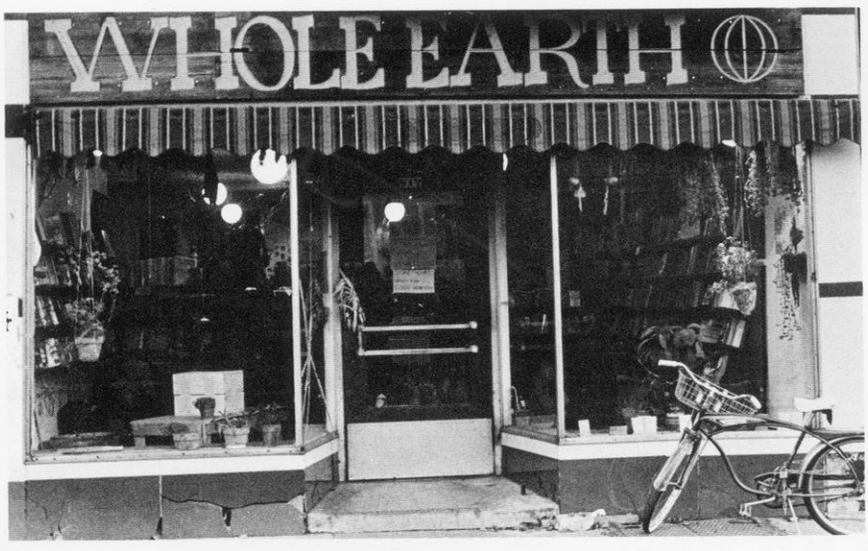
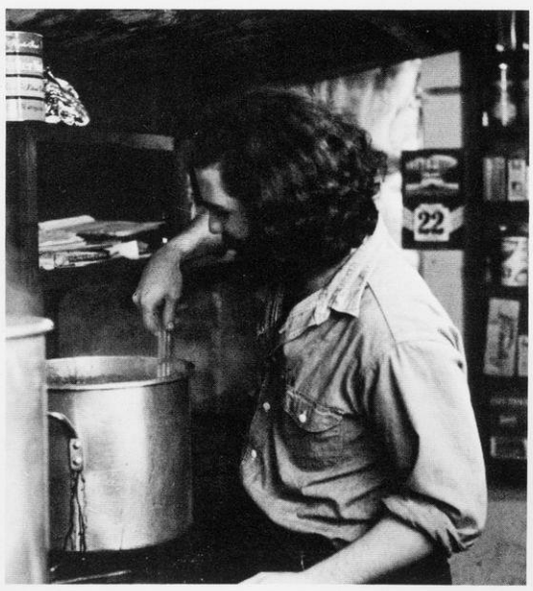
INTERNATIONAL

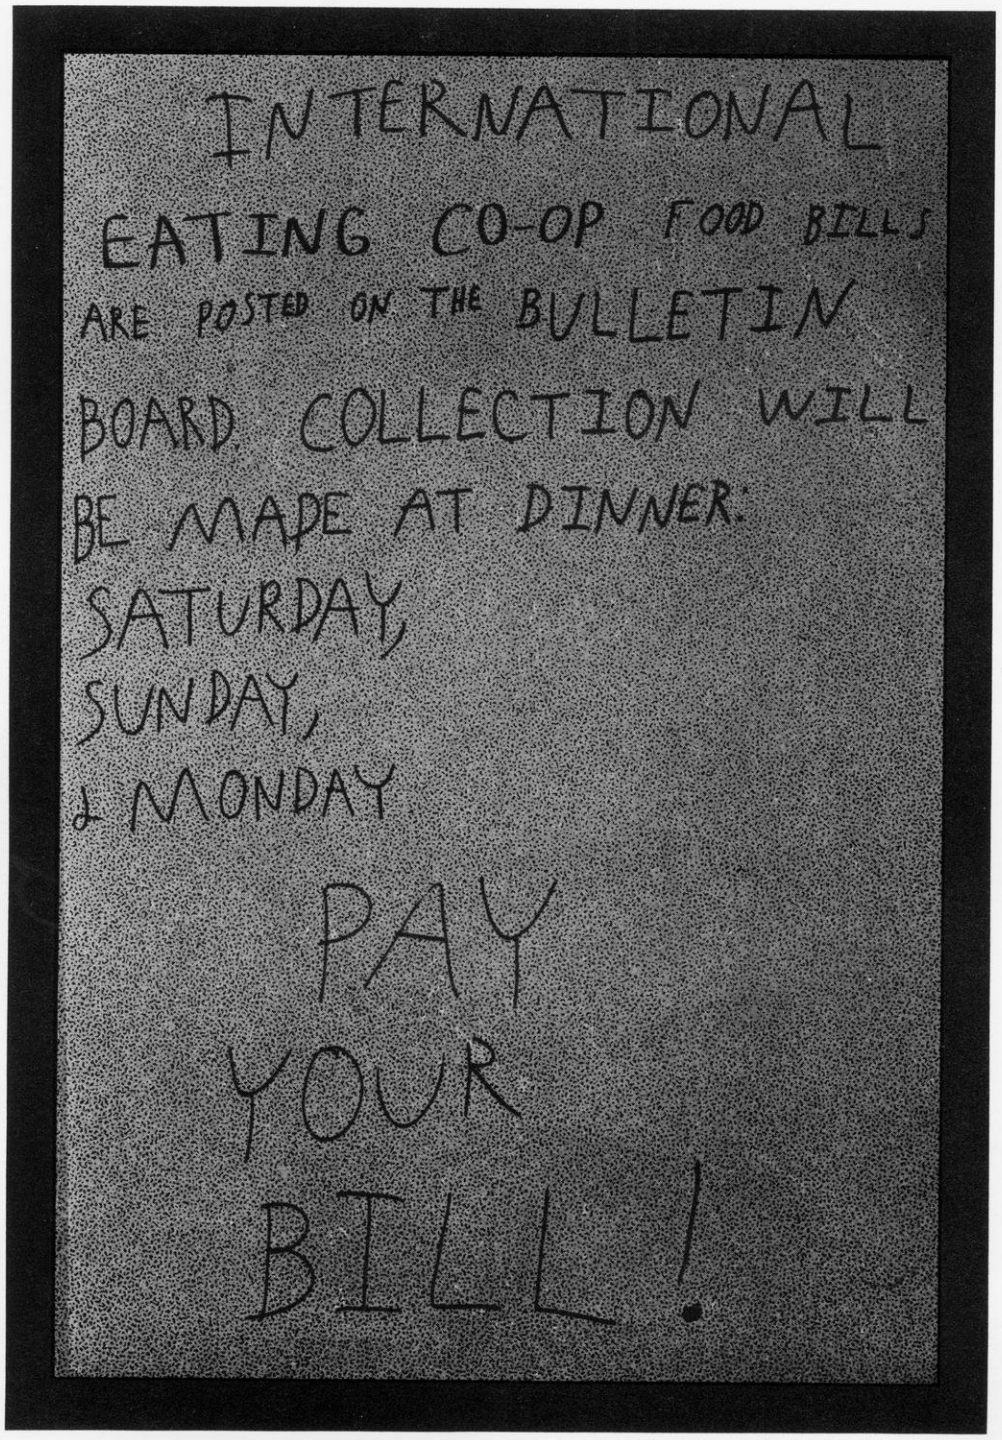


WHOLE EARTH

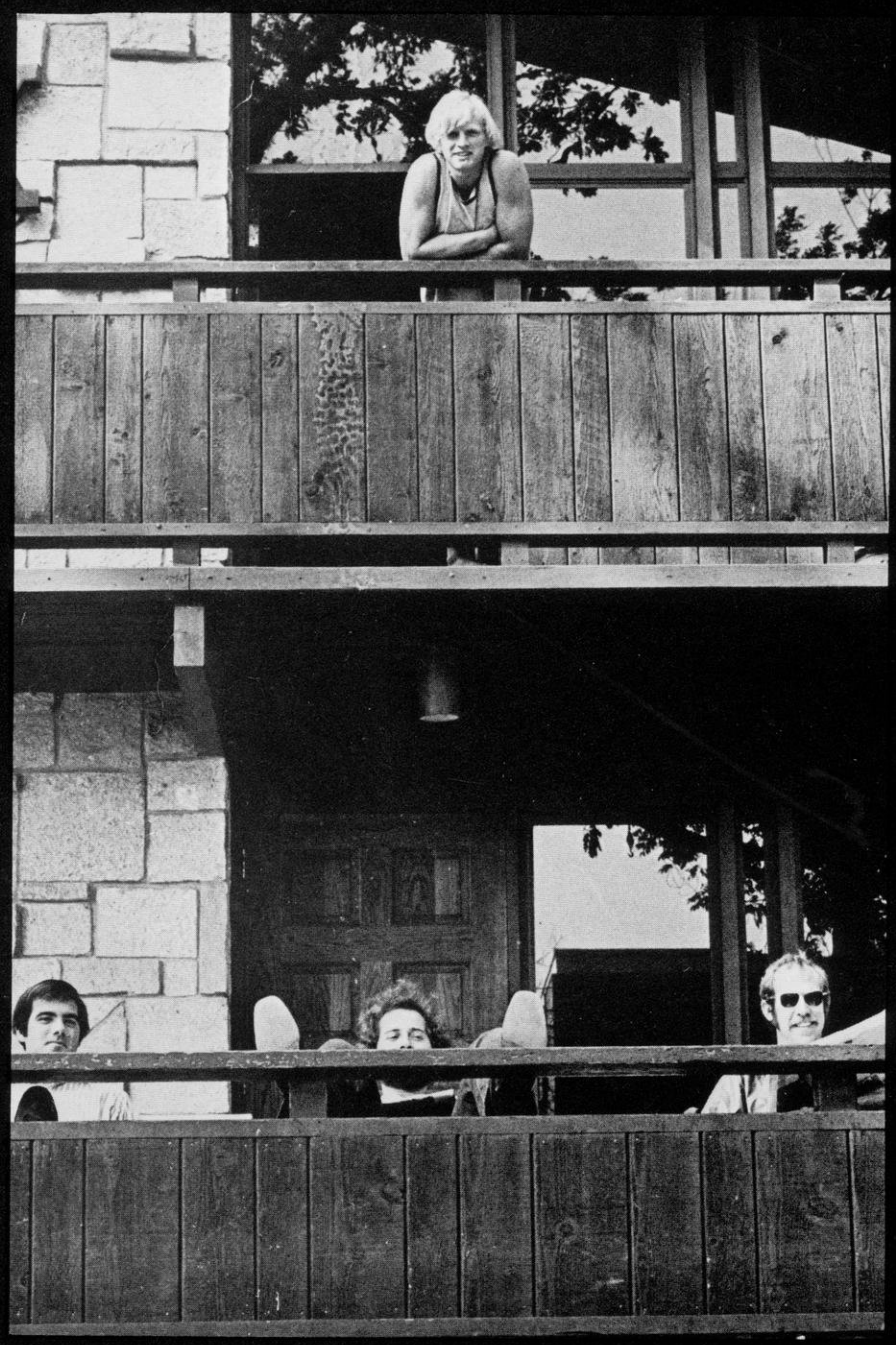
The co-op movement is multi-faceted with students arranging ventures into co-operative eating, food purchasing, living, even cycling. "Whole Earth" supplies people with organically grown foods, "Natures Bakery" or "Sunflower Kitchen" bakes them into fresh breads, "Green Lantern" prepares meals for their mob, and one of 222 Langdon's 7 regular and 2 assistant cooks prepares dinner for their family, while "Madison Community Co-operatives" keeps them all working together.

Honor systems and individual acceptance of responsibility are the bases for the organization, and entrance into co-op living is a personal commitment dependant upon participation, and co-operation with the "family" to maintain the organization.





. . . and not everybody always co-operates.



Willingness to participate, to co-operate, to live with, work with, share with people . . . a new variation on an old theme.

As the timetable of classes shrivels to absurdity, the street knowledge gains in importance . . . those little excerpts of experience from the enviornment, a "how to" for survival in the hostile community. This artery of education in Madison is State Street, booming Metropolis of boutiques, sound rooms, apparel sellers, Italian Restaurants, panhandlers, and Taco joints. Here it is, the game that brings it all close to home. The State Street Game.

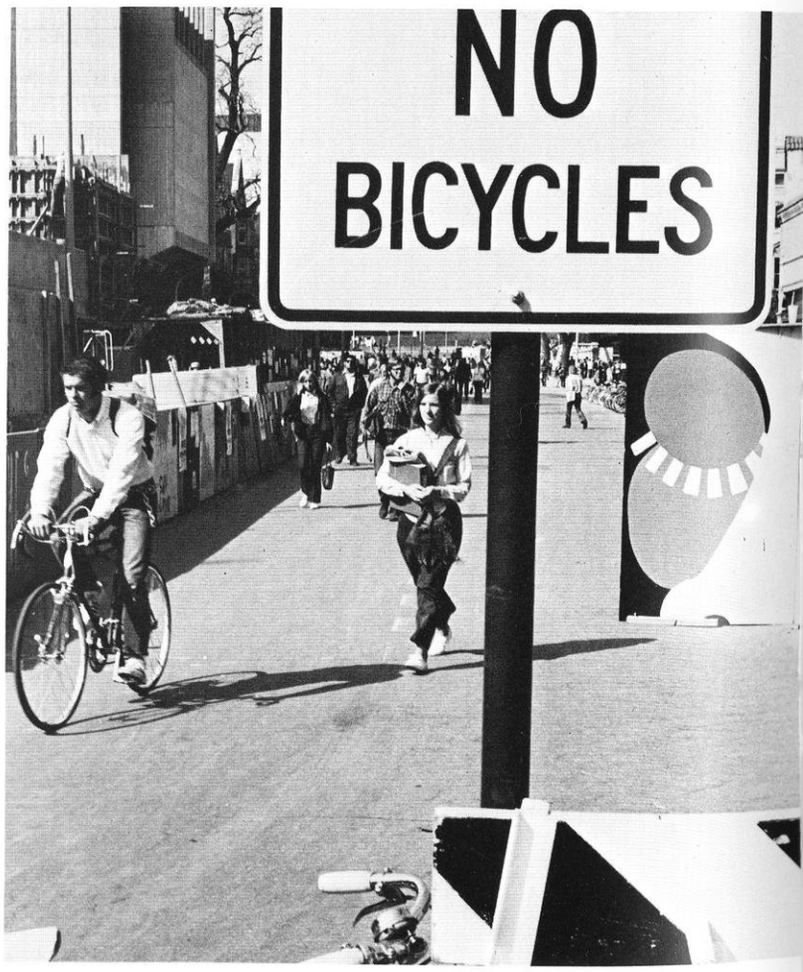
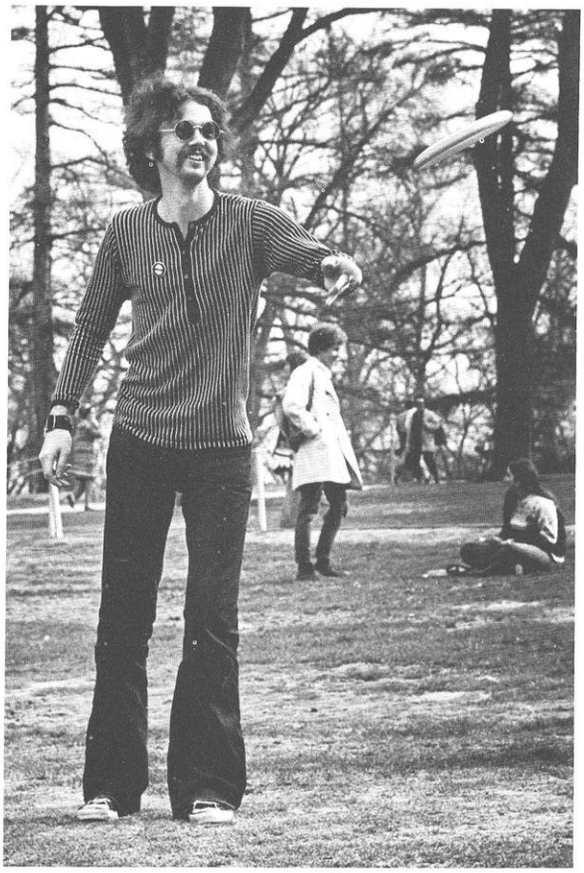
ANY SPARE CHANGE?
FINISH

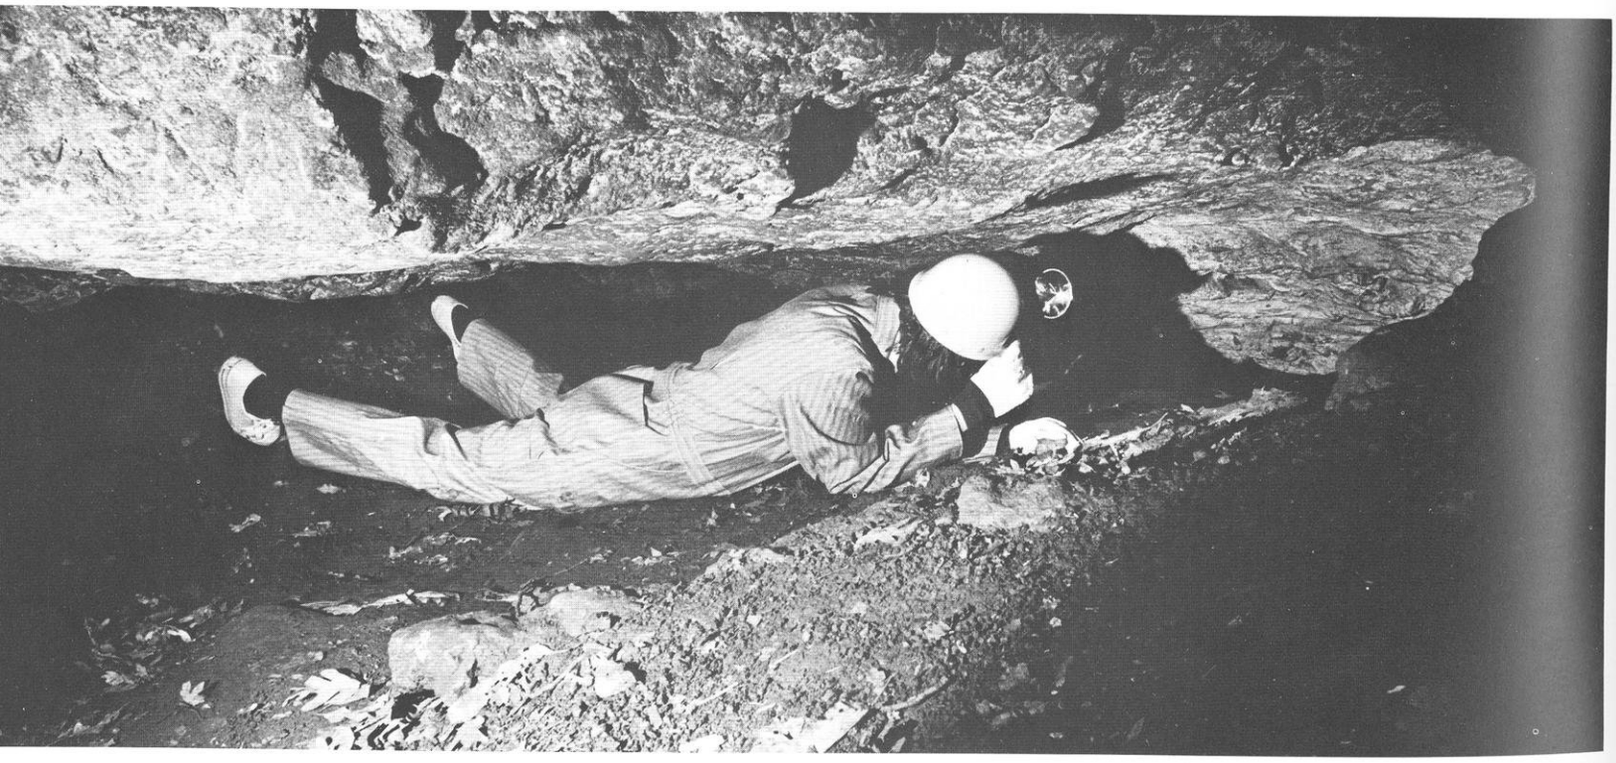
Spare change? . . . the unceasing question in a community of panhandlers and other mobile peoples, a mobility that isn't limited to non-students. By foot, by bike, by thumb, the urge to get away from Madison and the State Street mobs is sometimes overwhelming, so they pack up their gear and escape. Escape doesn't always mean out of Madison, but maybe just packing up your frisbee and making it to the library mall on Saturday afternoon, where the reality of exams somehow just doesn't exist.

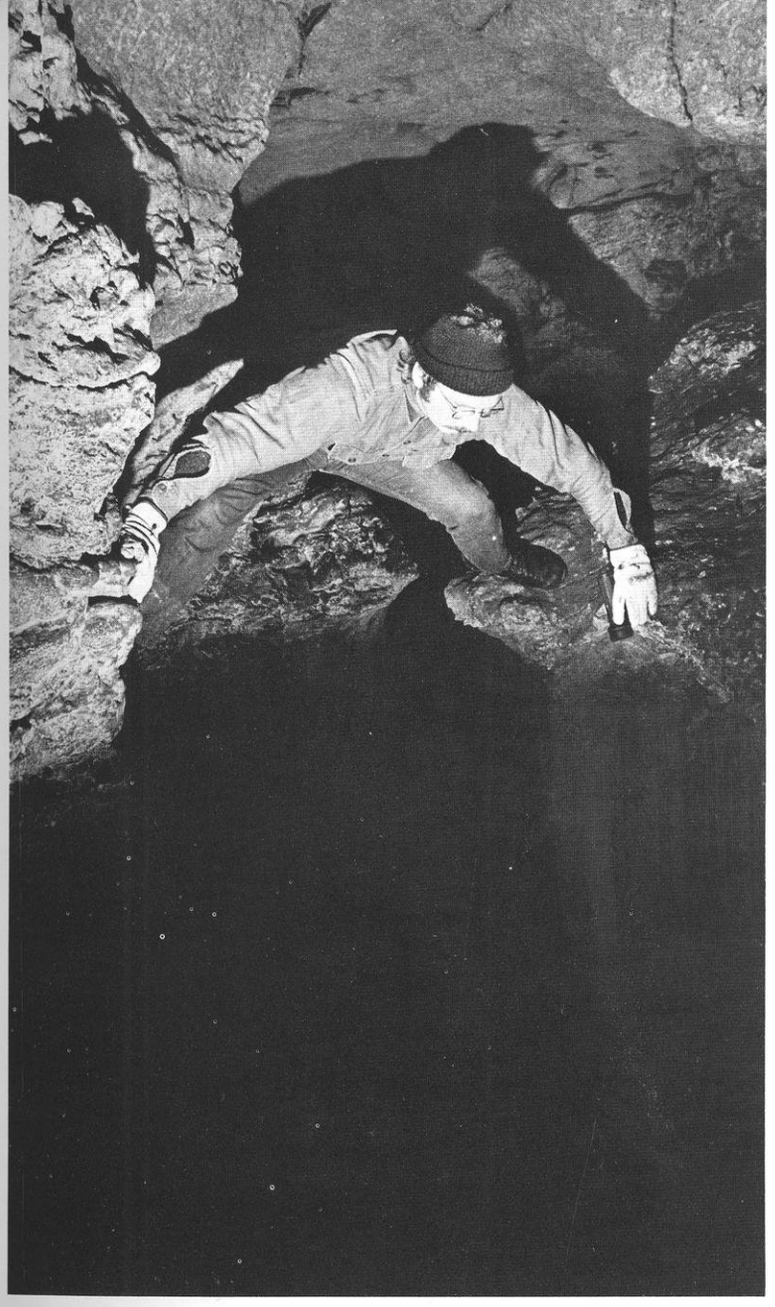
Community chesiveness . . . in sports? Expell the frustration of winter in snow fights . . . capture the explosion of spring in a frisbee . . . and the freedom of a bicycle . . .

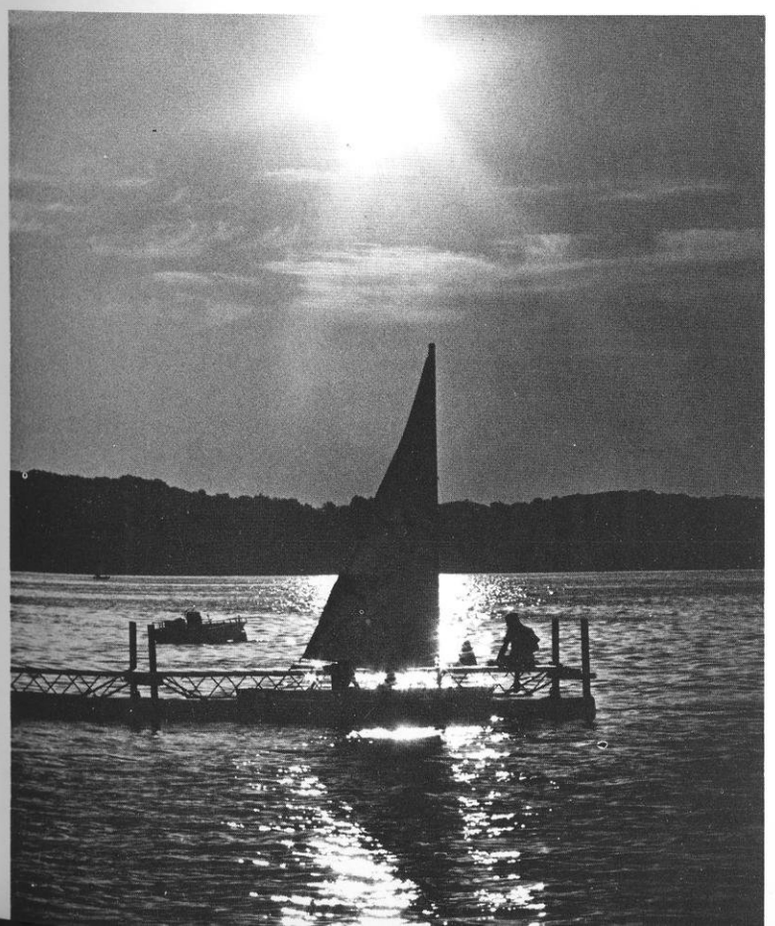


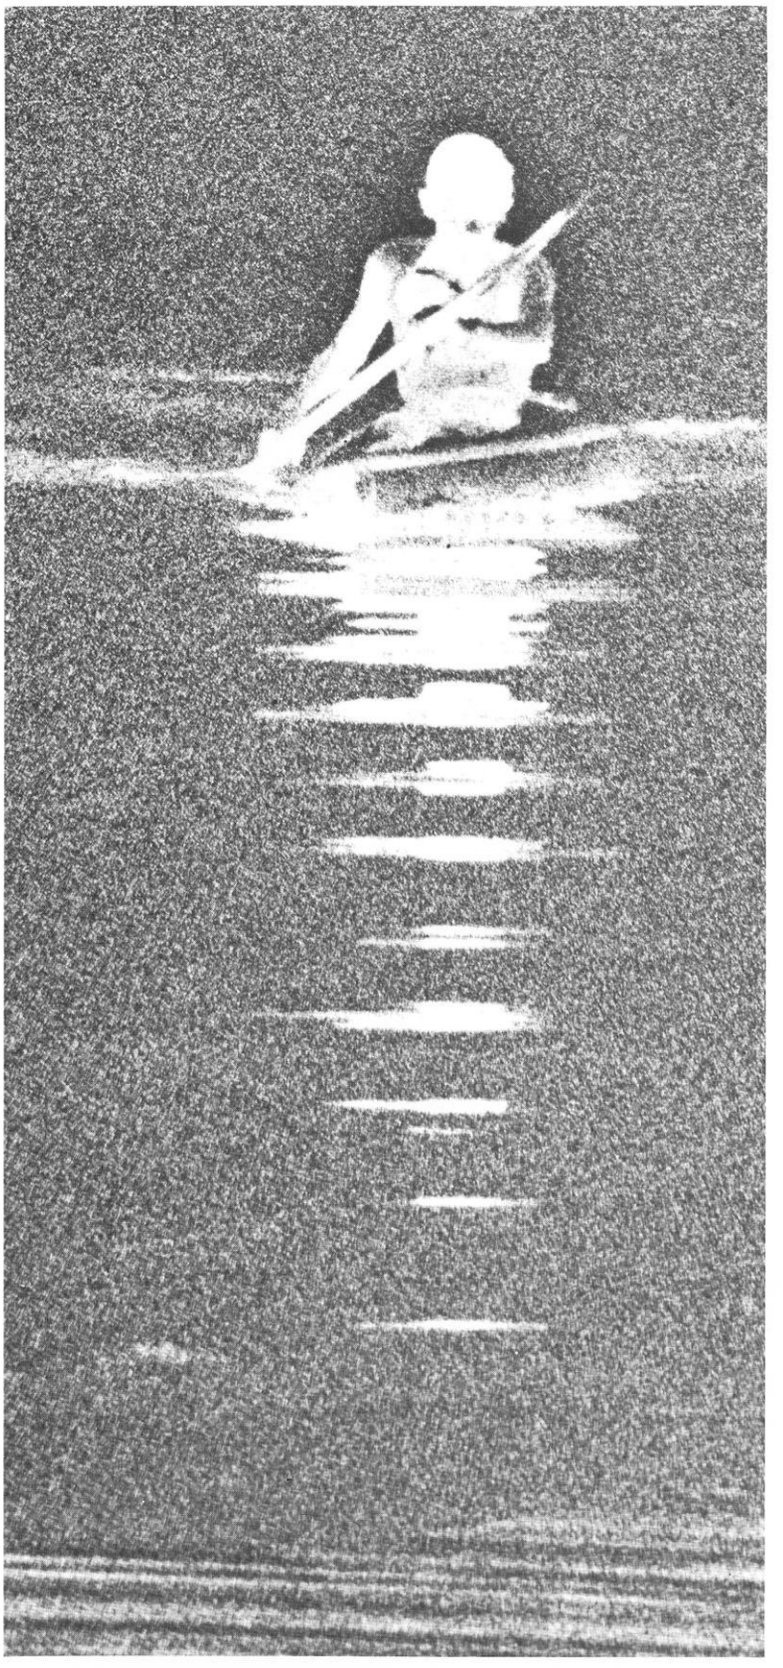
HUFFY











From the spontaneity of free play to the structured and competitive sports of the university . . . also a release from the strains of daily academic life. . .One is at your pleasure, one at your coaches pleasure; one for fun or fitness, one for pride and pain and paid tuition . . . for sport.

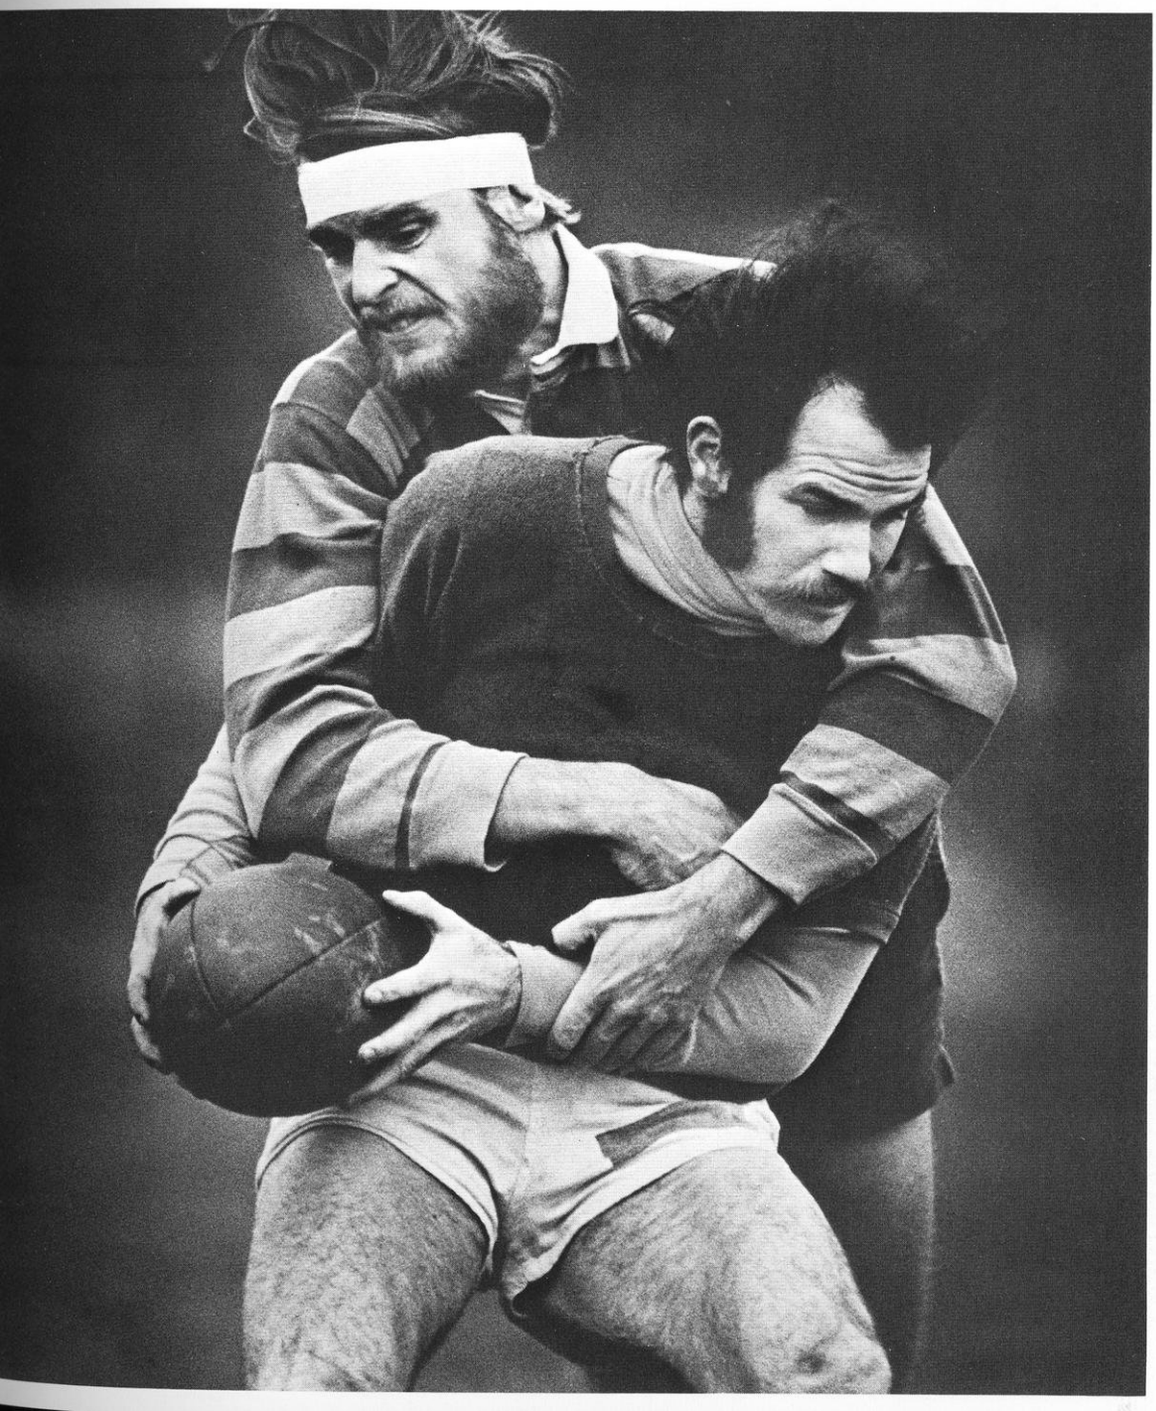
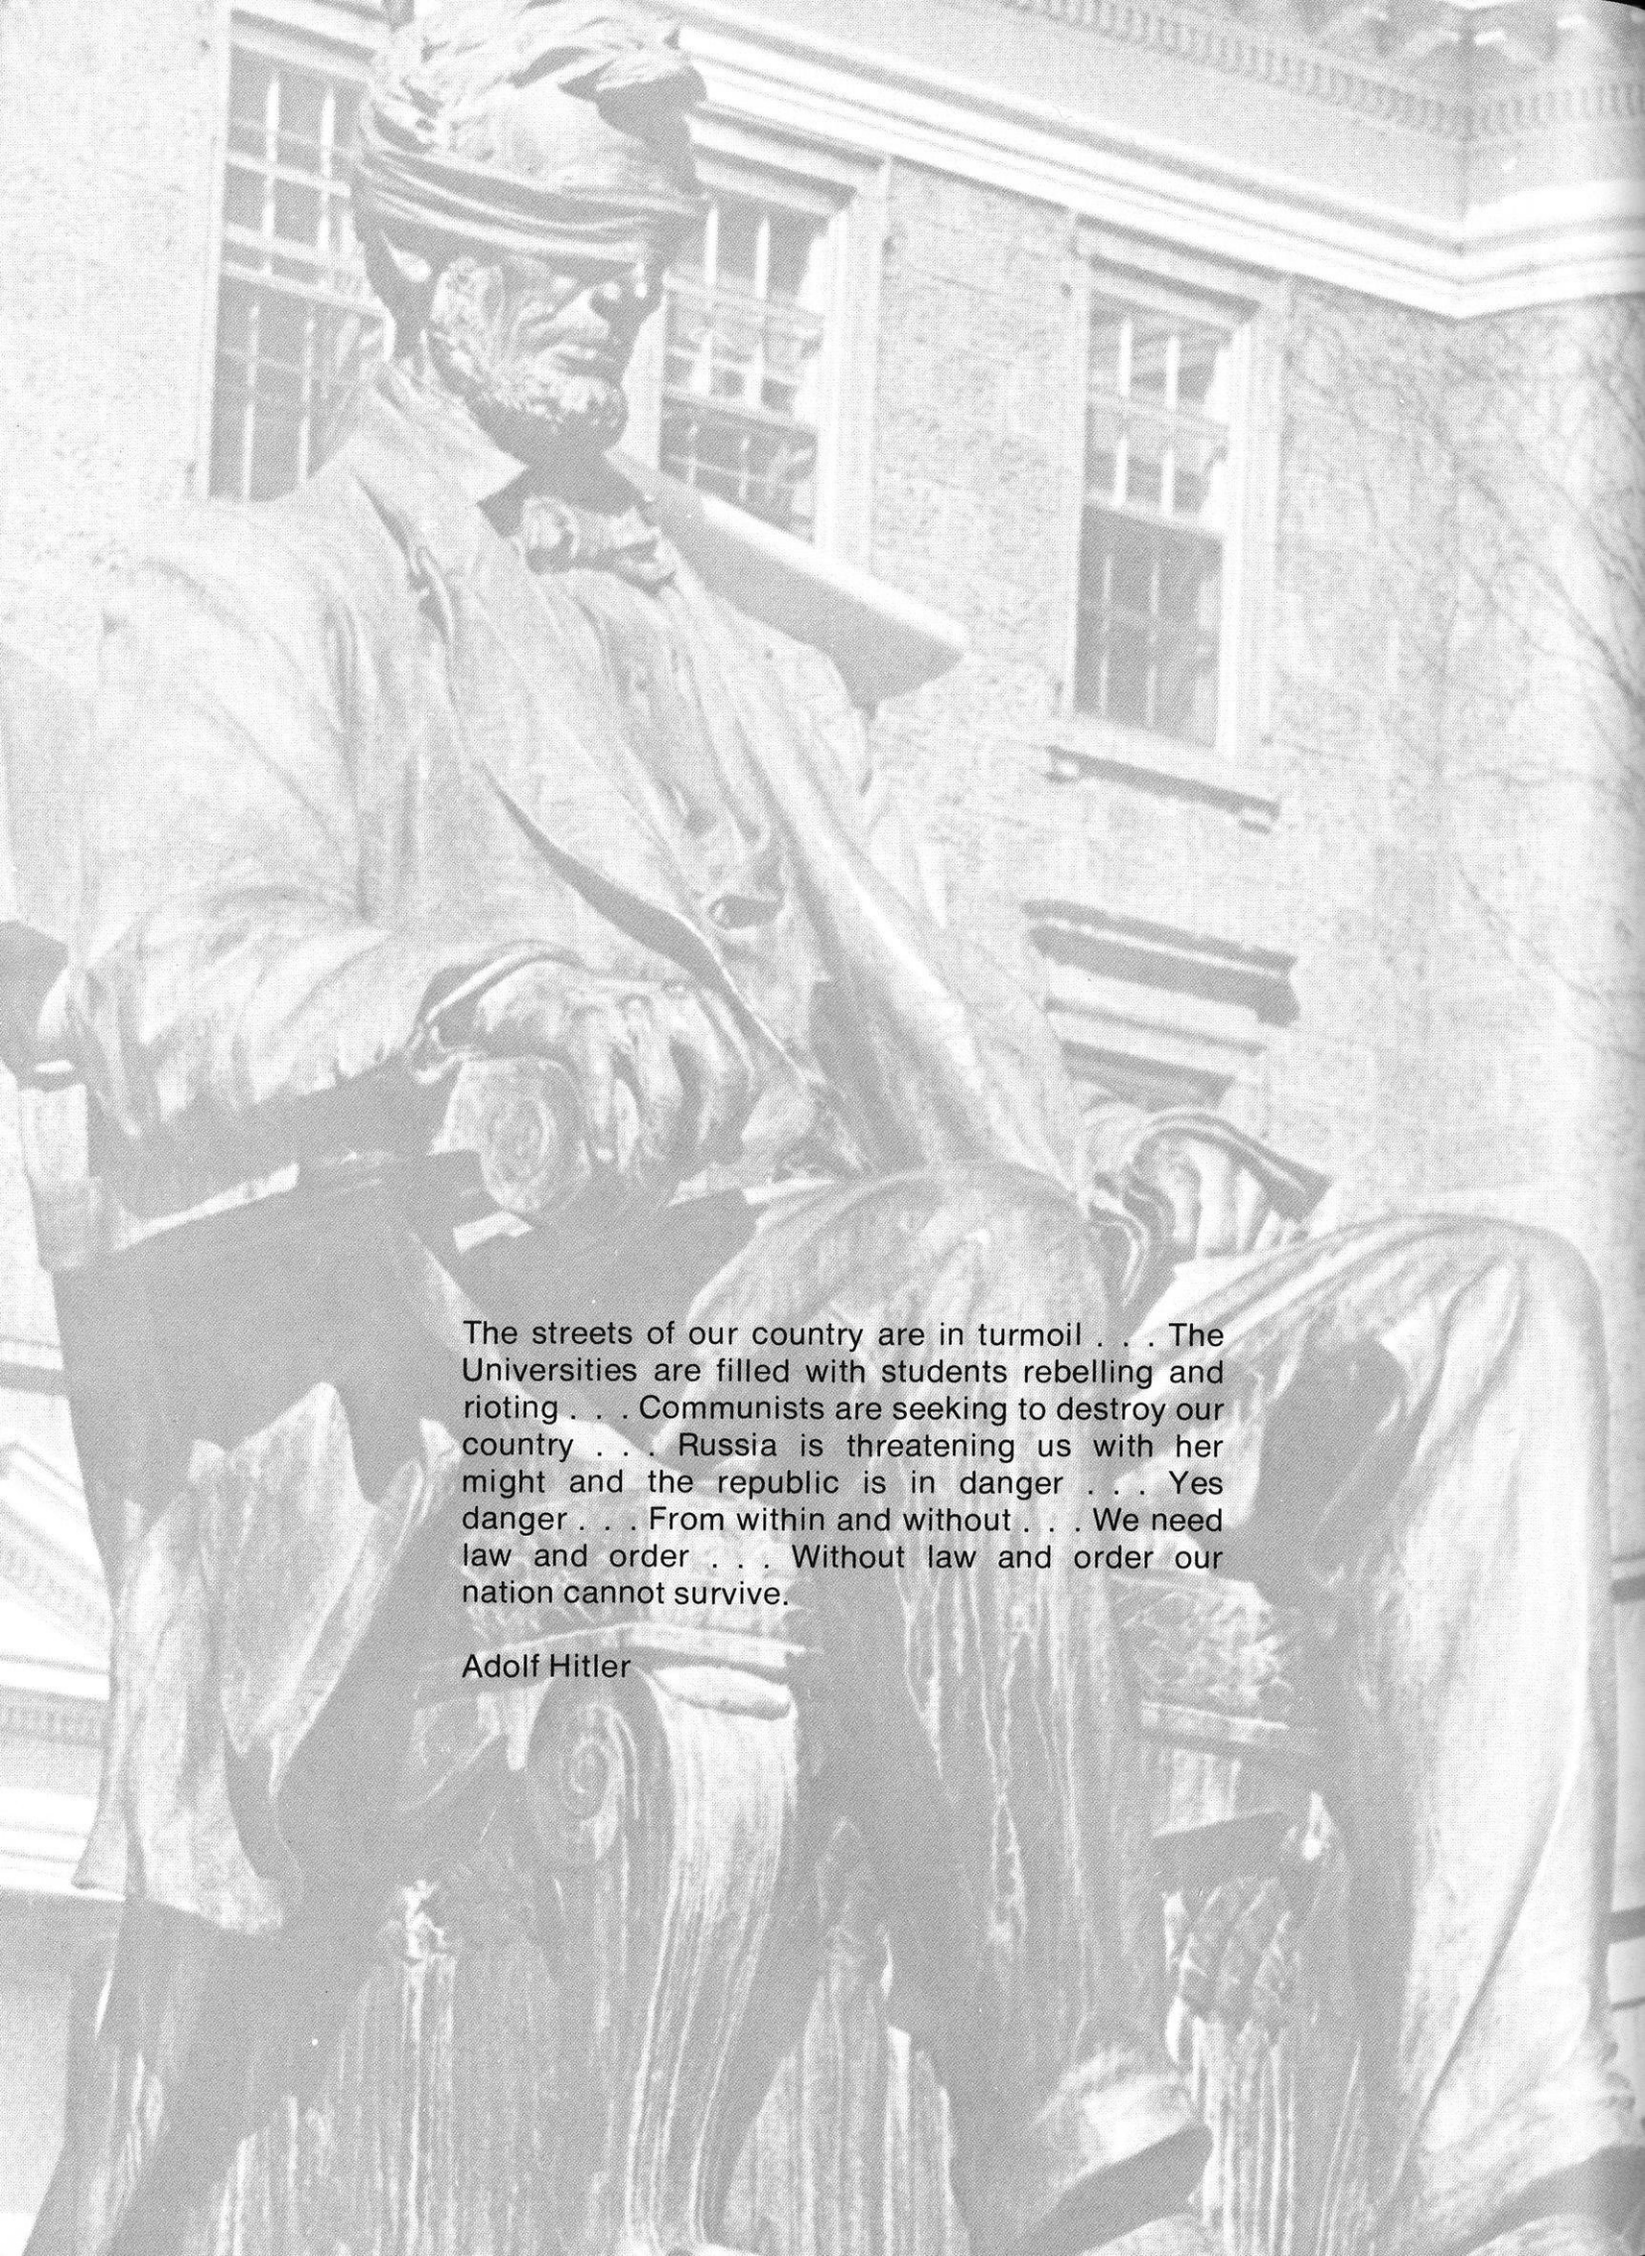
IT TAKES LEATHER BALLS TO PLAY RUGBY



Change . . . as the favorite sport became a political game played with increasing intensity, until the line between combatants and bystanders was non-existant.

Change . . . As the mental intensity of the arguments sifted the community into camps, drove the radicals to guerilla tactics, the conservatives to the reactionary politics of Joe McCarthy, leaving the liberals in a state of emotional confusion and political limbo.



The streets of our country are in turmoil . . . The Universities are filled with students rebelling and rioting . . . Communists are seeking to destroy our country . . . Russia is threatening us with her might and the republic is in danger . . . Yes danger . . . From within and without . . . We need law and order . . . Without law and order our nation cannot survive.

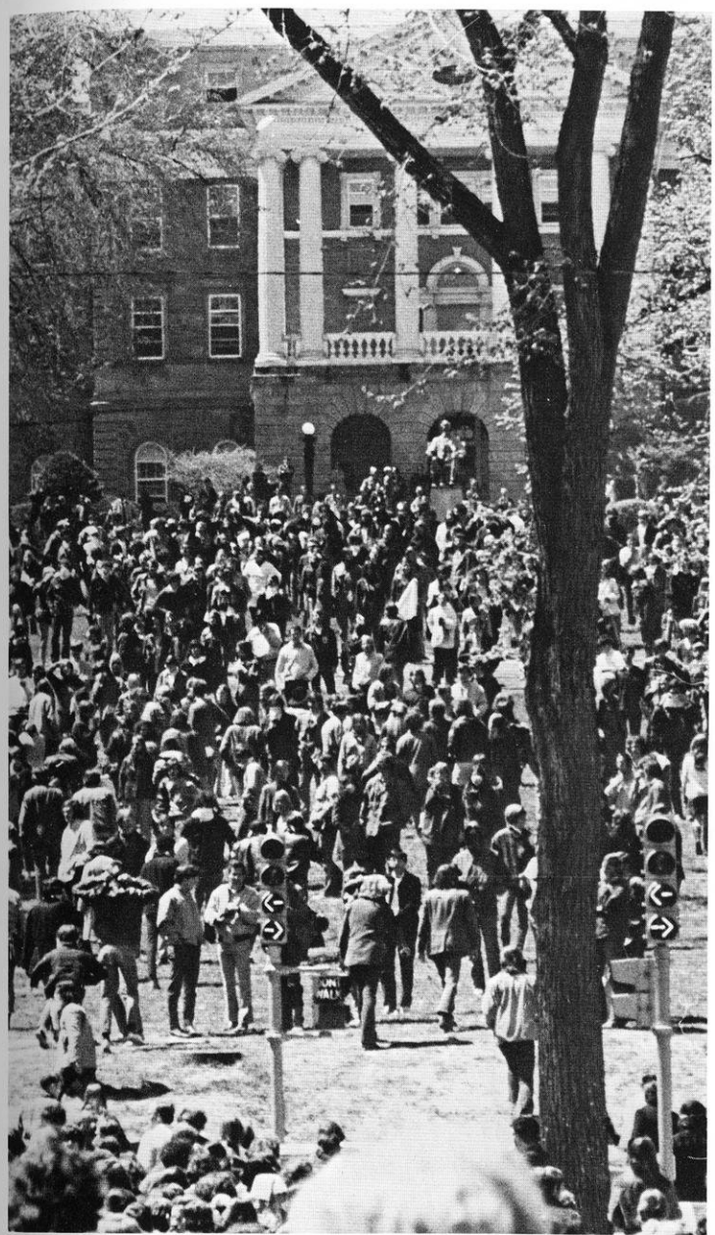
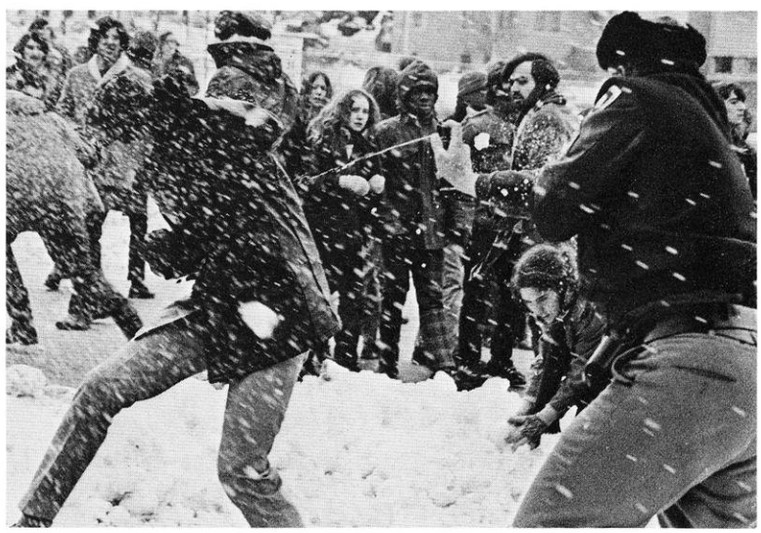
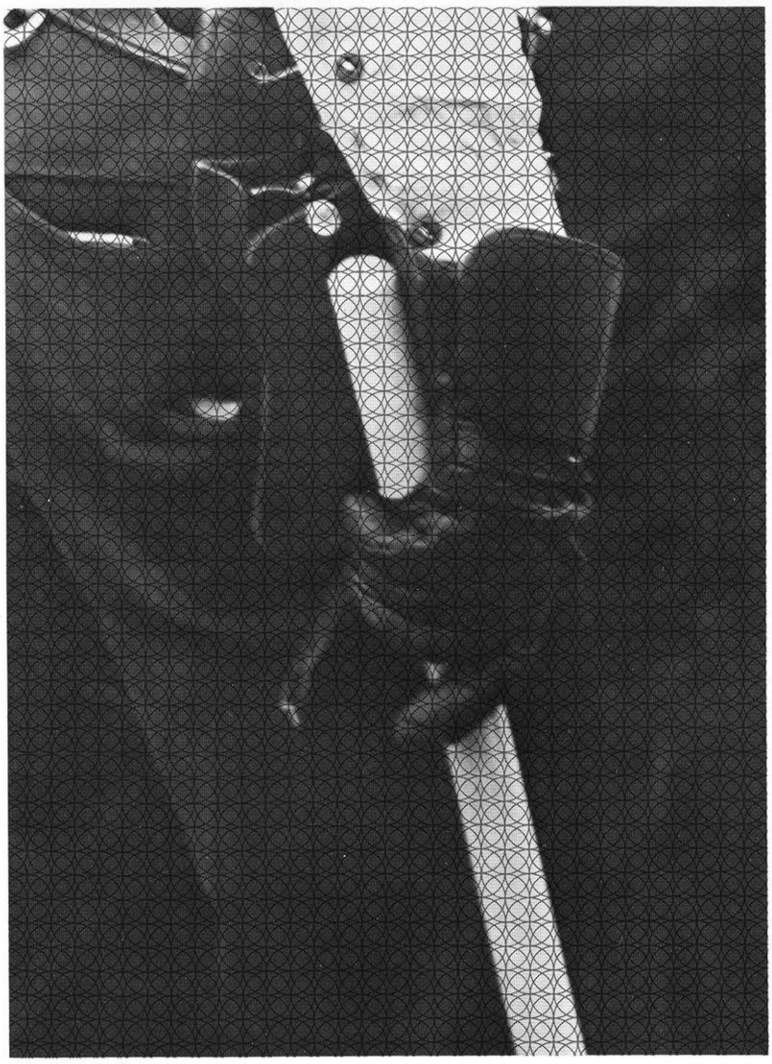
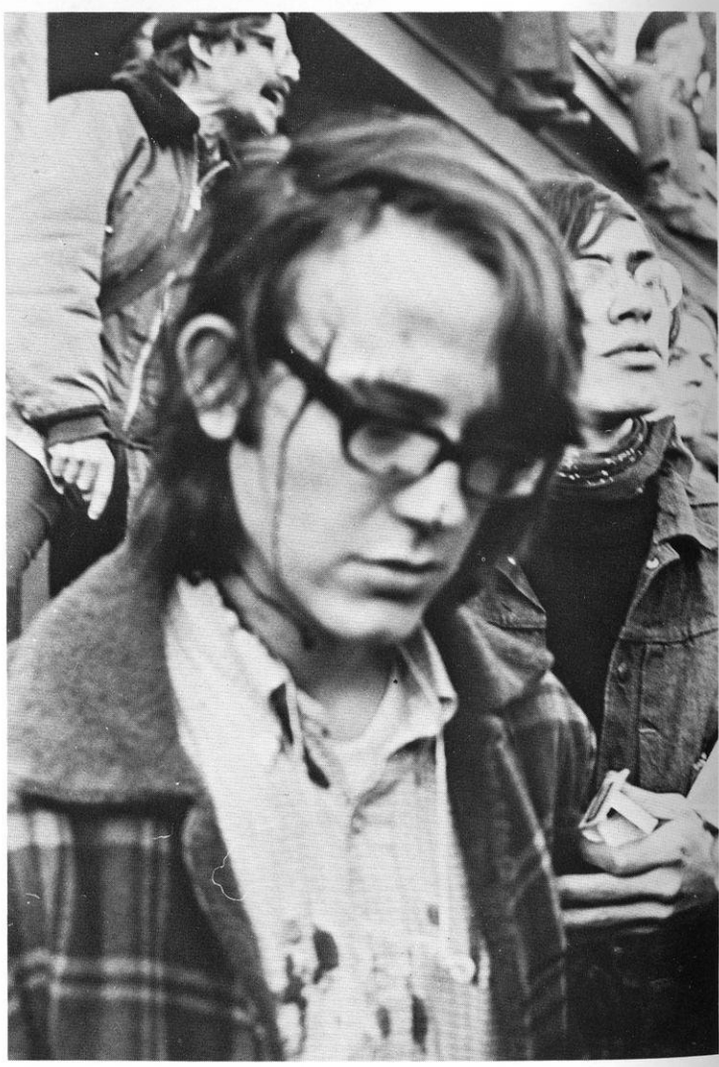
U.S. OUT OF VIE
SMASH G.E.!!

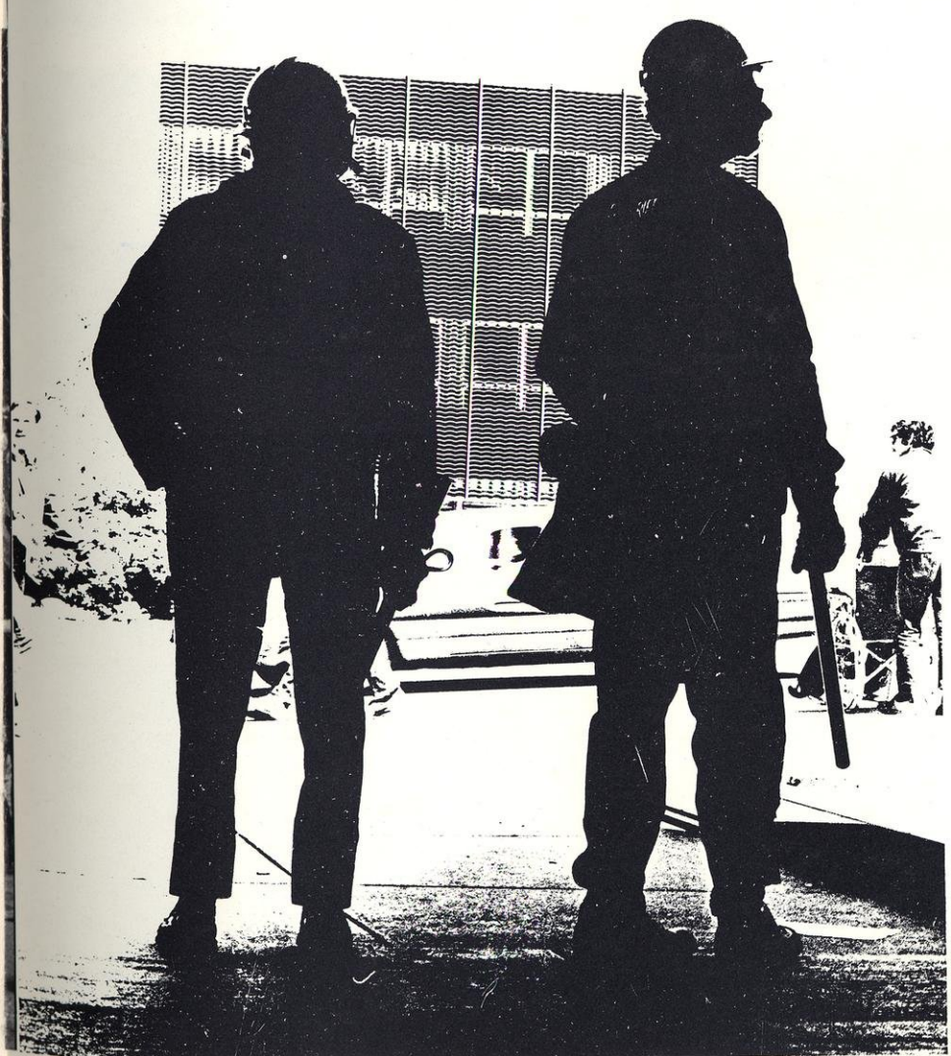


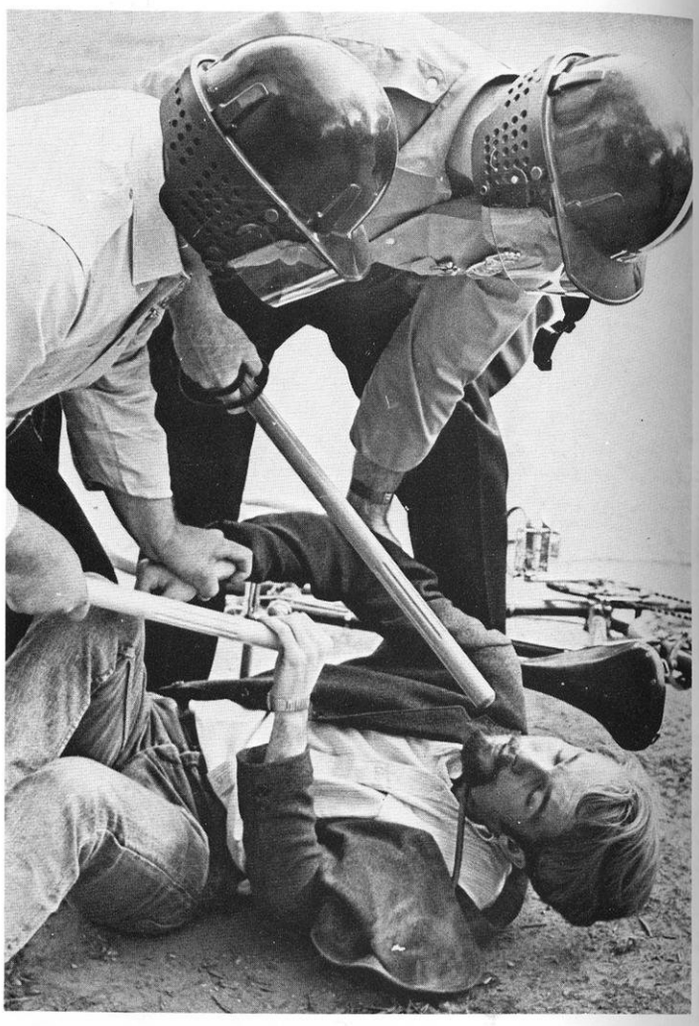


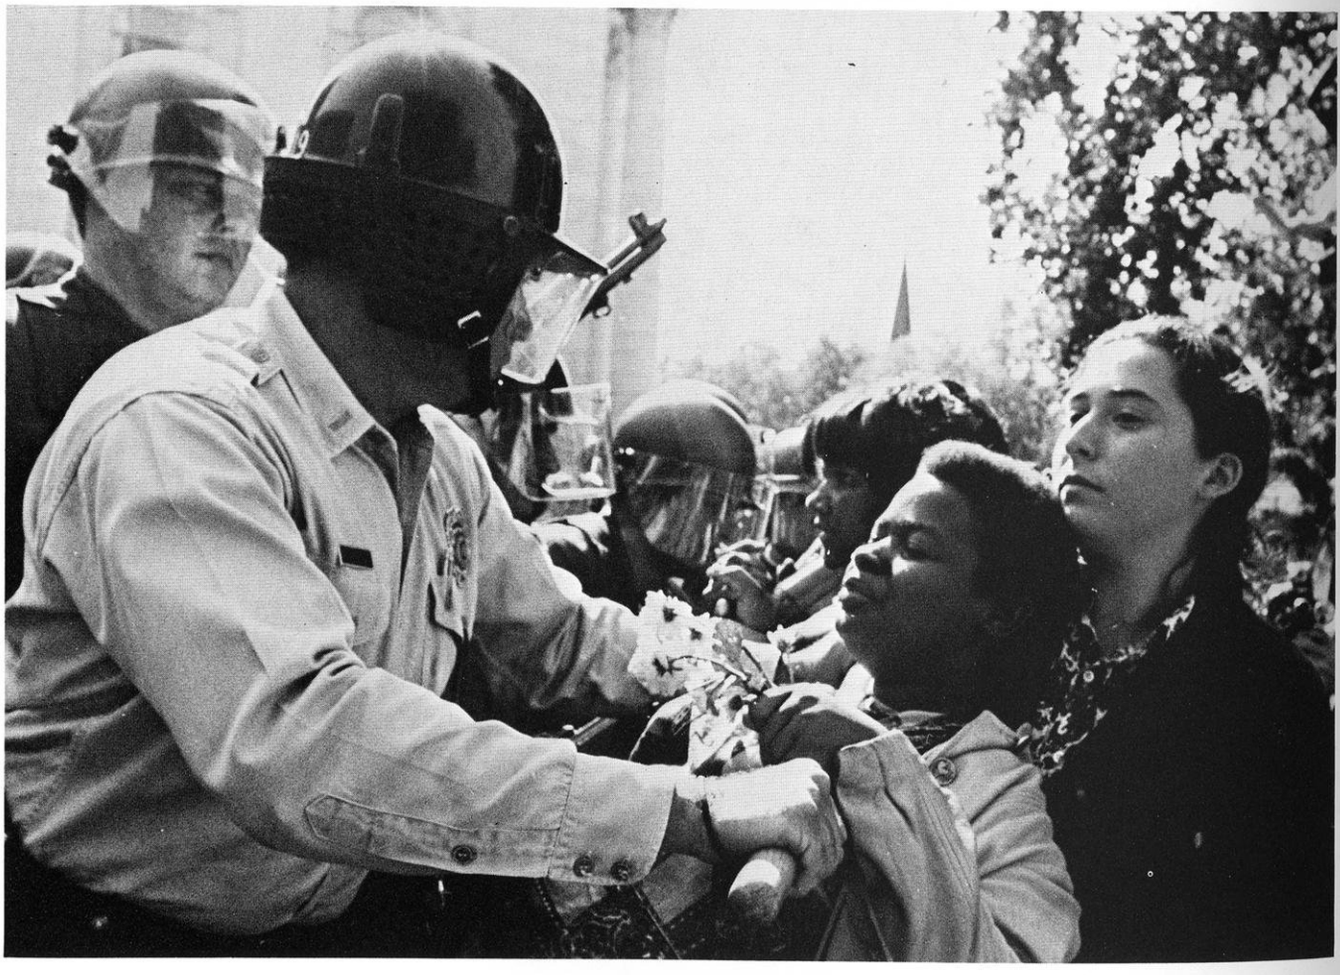


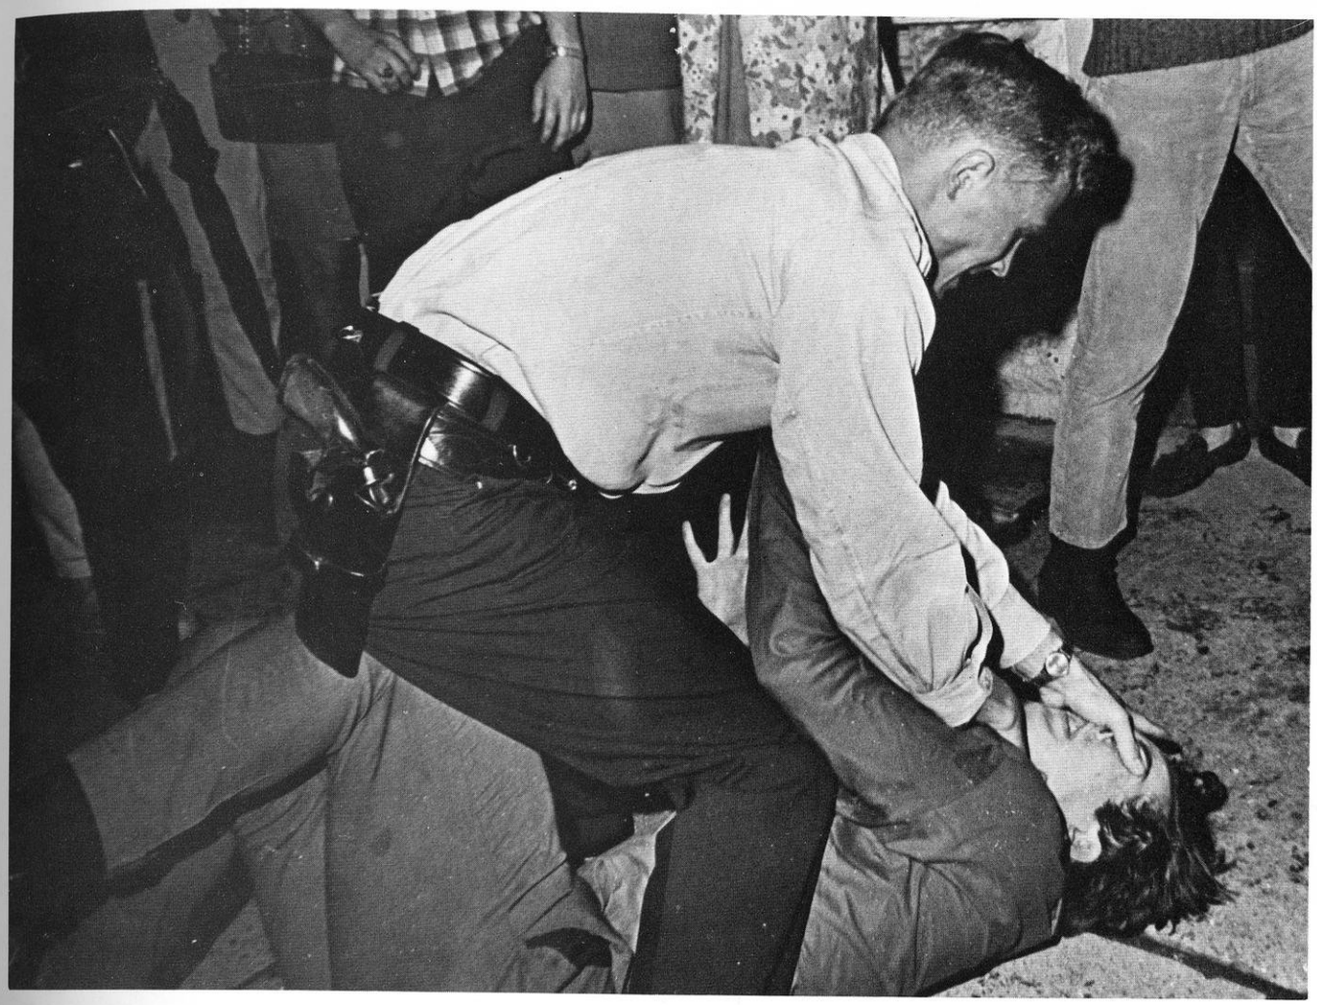


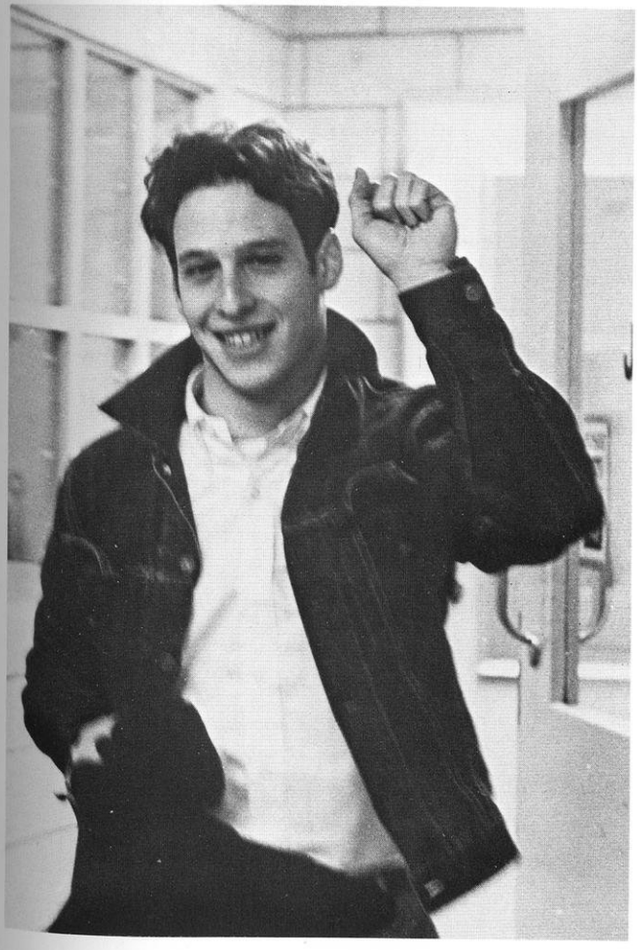
As we reacted to the system
the system reacted back.











Yet, some made it back to fight another day.

. . . Some weren't as fortunate

But there was always a good time on miffland street

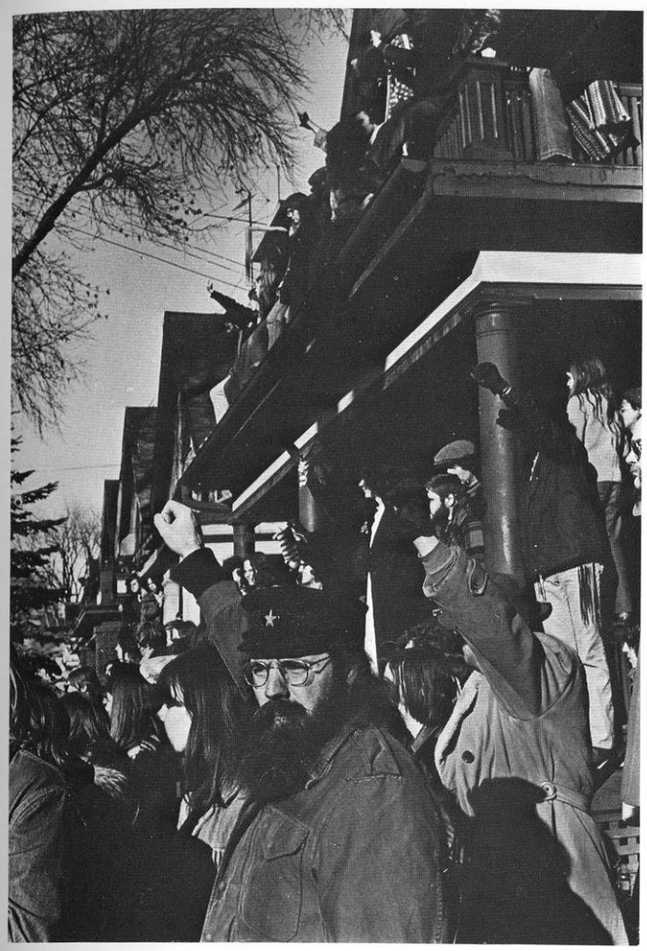
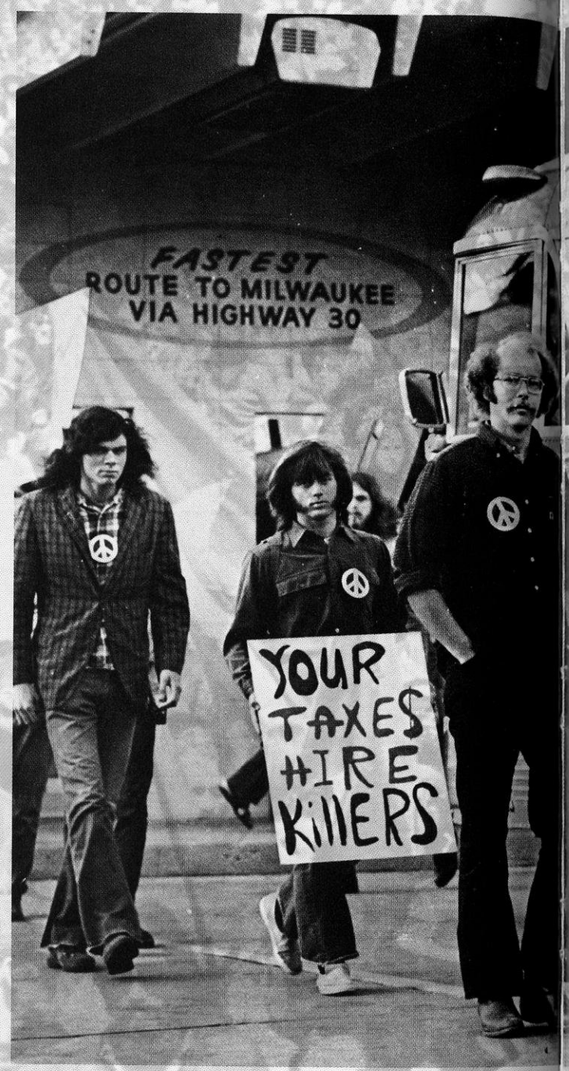
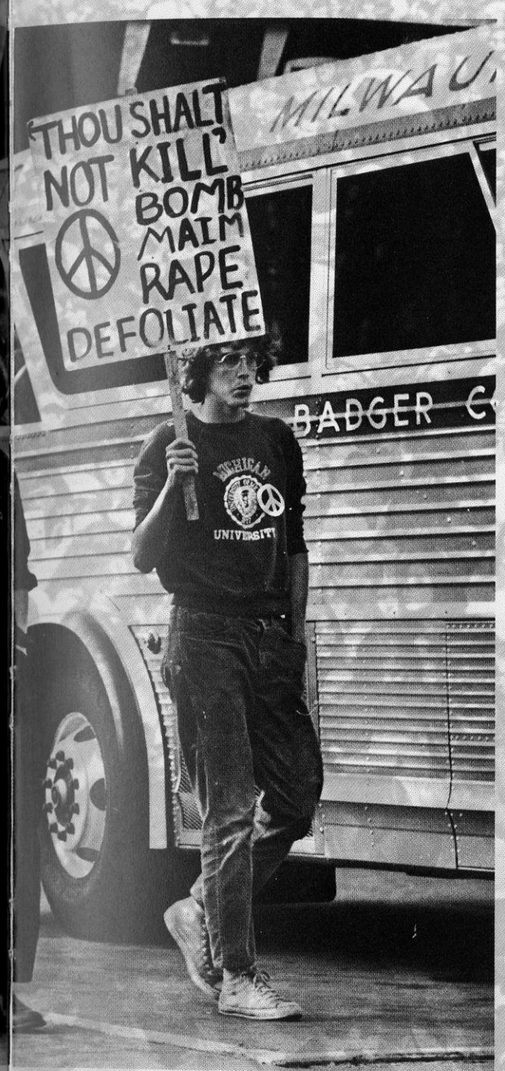
. . . and a persistant cry of —

"There's a rally in the mall!
There's a rally in the mall!"

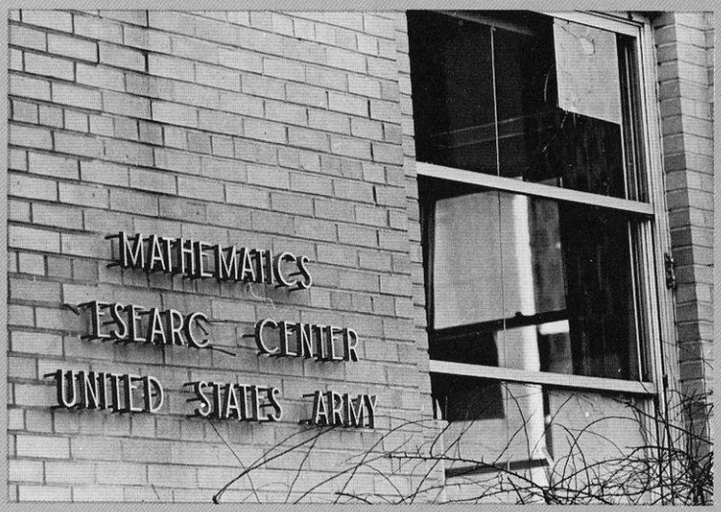


STOP

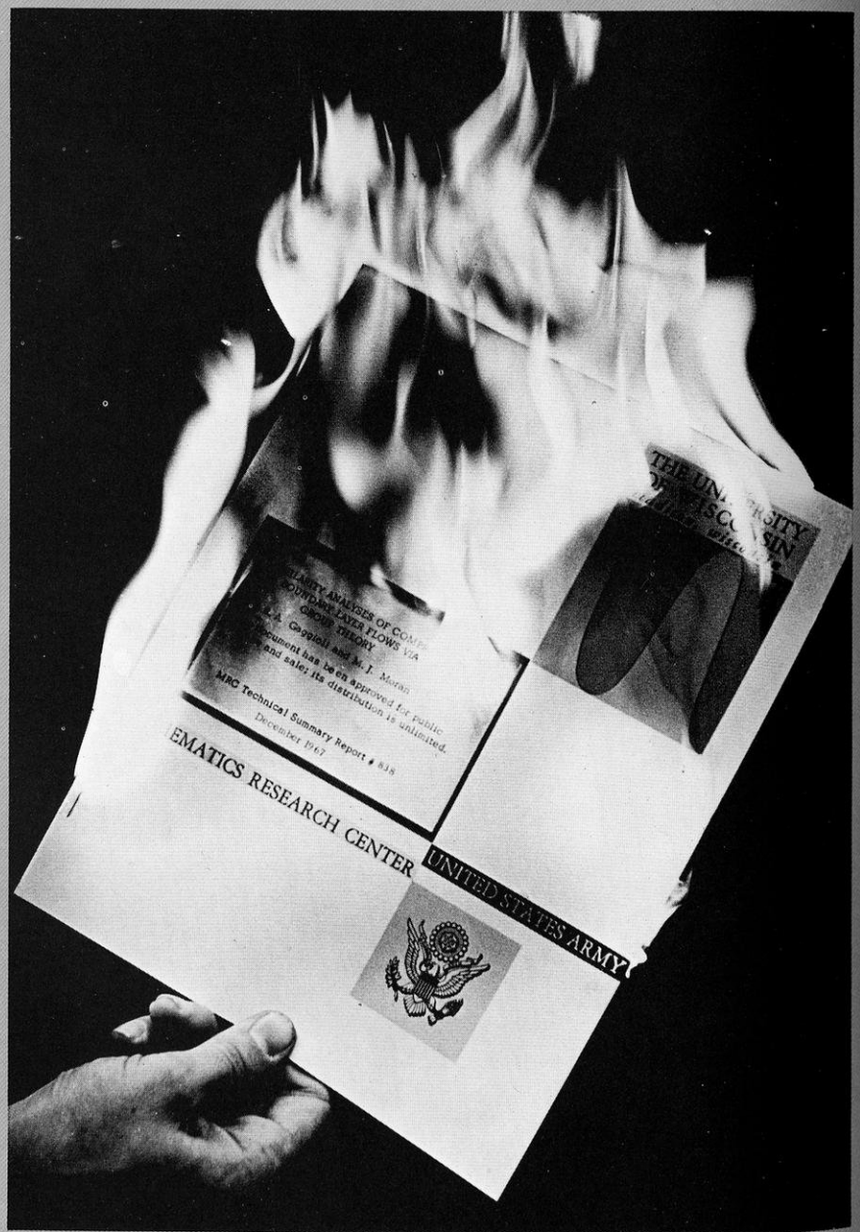




So we fought a war at home,
to stop a war far away.



We found our institutions
had other institutions.



THEN .

And we lost our militancy, and looked toward more peaceful means

And did we get peaceful!

Dissent was Out Ecology was in

Blacks were Out Indians and the Third World in

And if you were a part of whatever it was that made us attempt to be free . . .

I WATCH YOU

. . . remember

Change . . . people rediscover people, singly, co-operatively. That which is the character of Madison and that which is student merge . . . education in humanity encourages growth. Madisons problems become student problems as residency in the community breeds responsibility for that community.

The history of concerns is cyclical Varied social scenes create patterns of student involvement.
During war, it's political.
In between, sociological.
But always there is the movement of the mind, ever forward, branching, seeking answers from history and the unknown to answer the simple question why?

The approaches to knowledge take varied forms,
Scientific, intellectual, abstract.
Who is man?
What is his environment?
Why does he behave so?
What is the history of his activity,
His physical and intellectual growth?
How does he acquire knowledge
And create culture?
More simply,
Who and what and where
And why?

Science
Calculates, formulates, diagnoses,
the origins, behavioral characteristics,
and the surrounding environment
of the physical plant

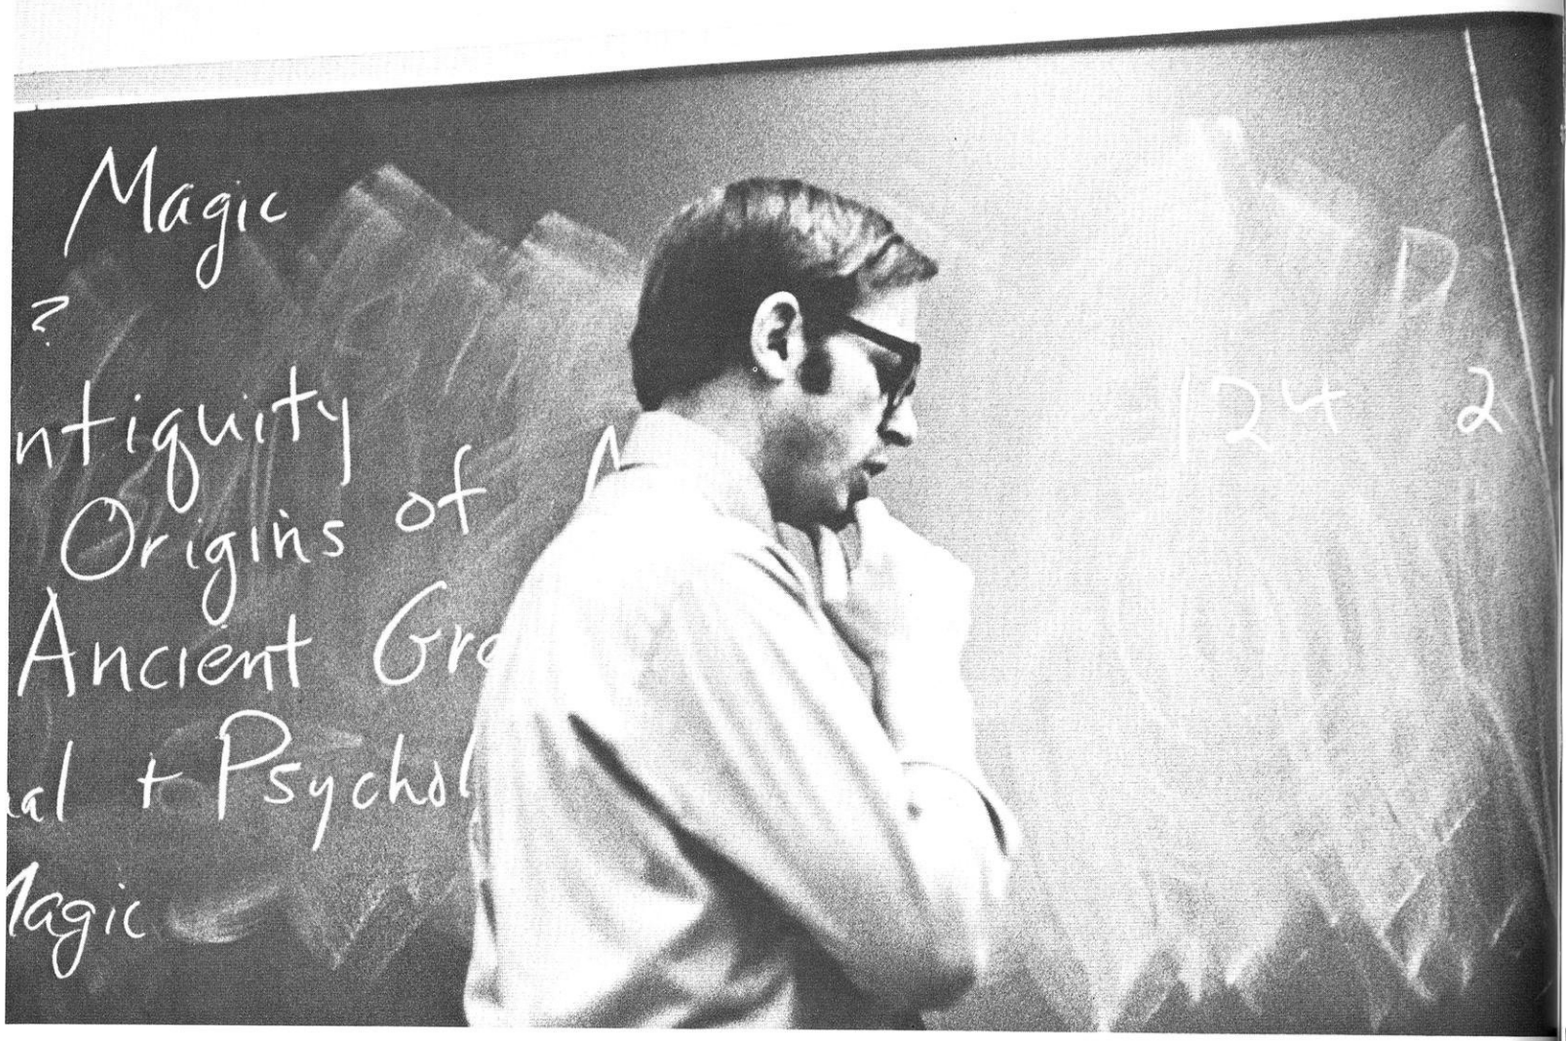
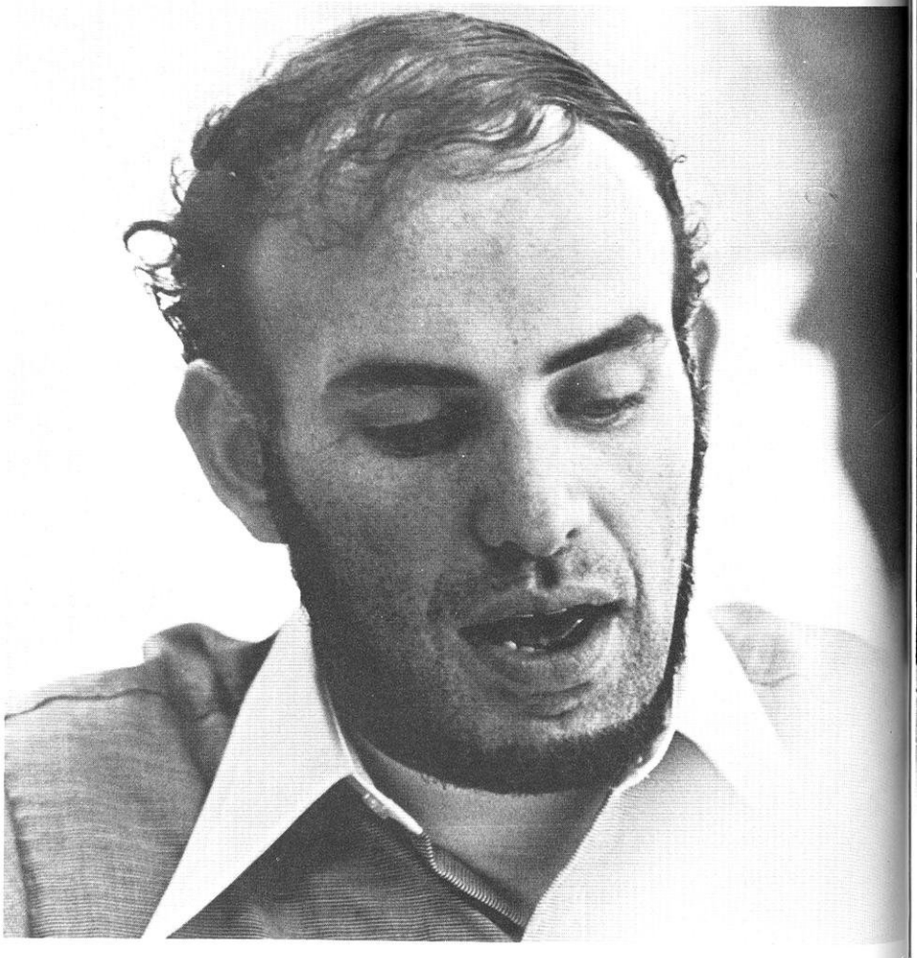
that controls social inter-relations and actions.



David Lindberg — History of Science



Gerald Marwell — Sociology

The intellectual examines, probes, delves into what?
Man changes his environment;
he developes a culture.
Nothing remains stationary.
The environment and culture stimulate man to change again.
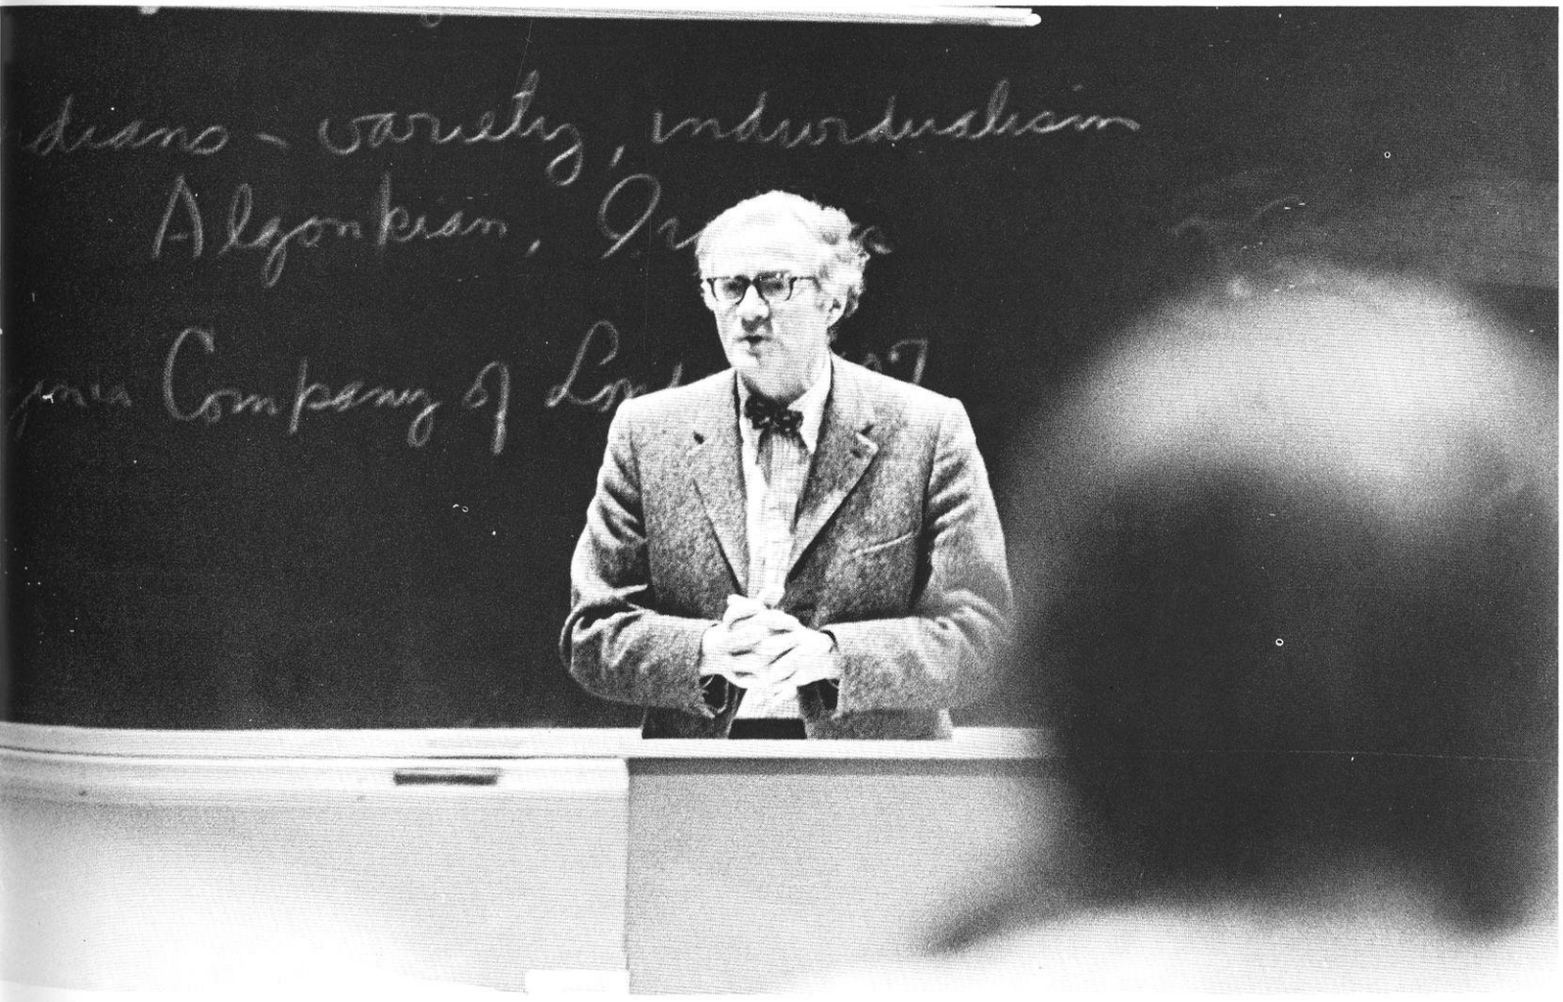
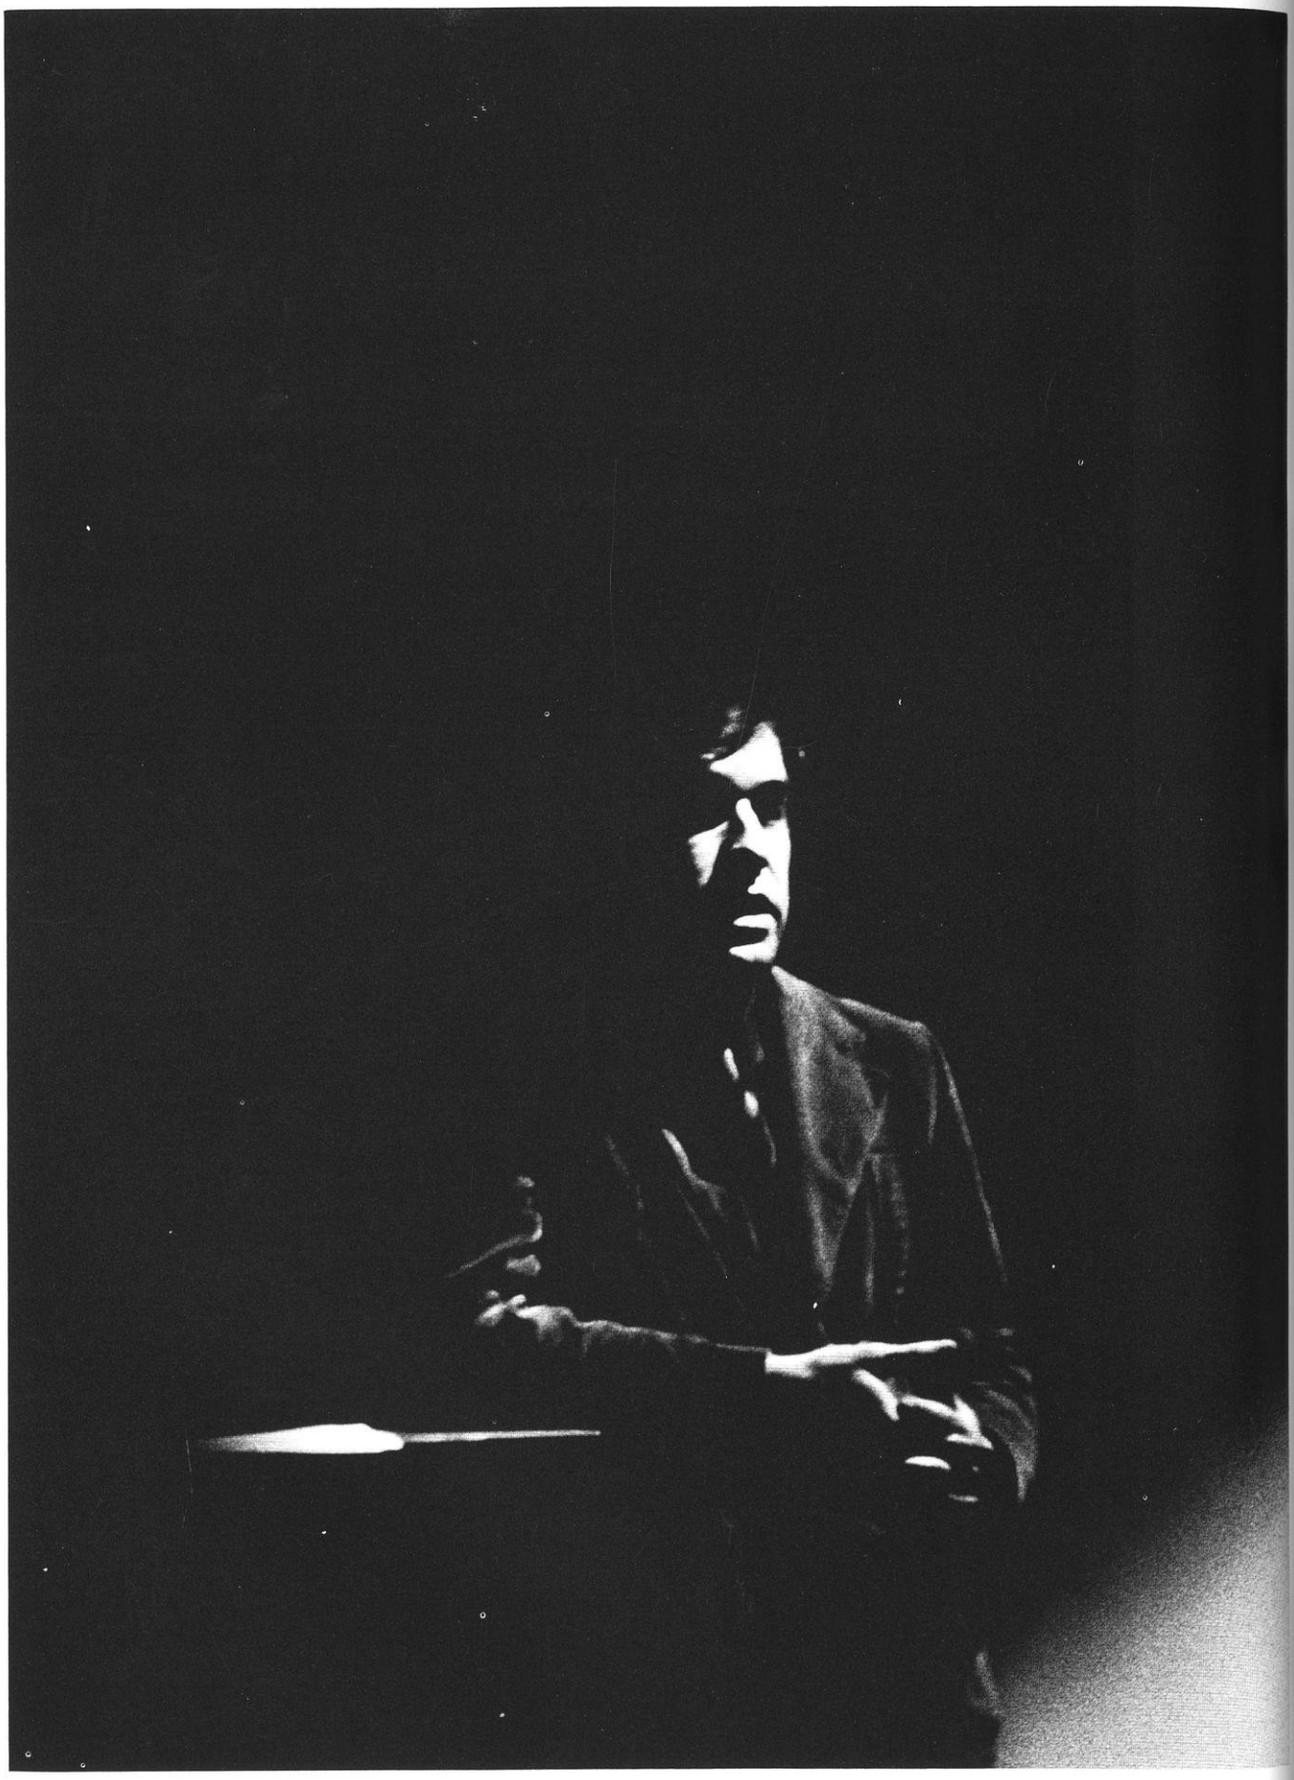
And what are the implications for the future?

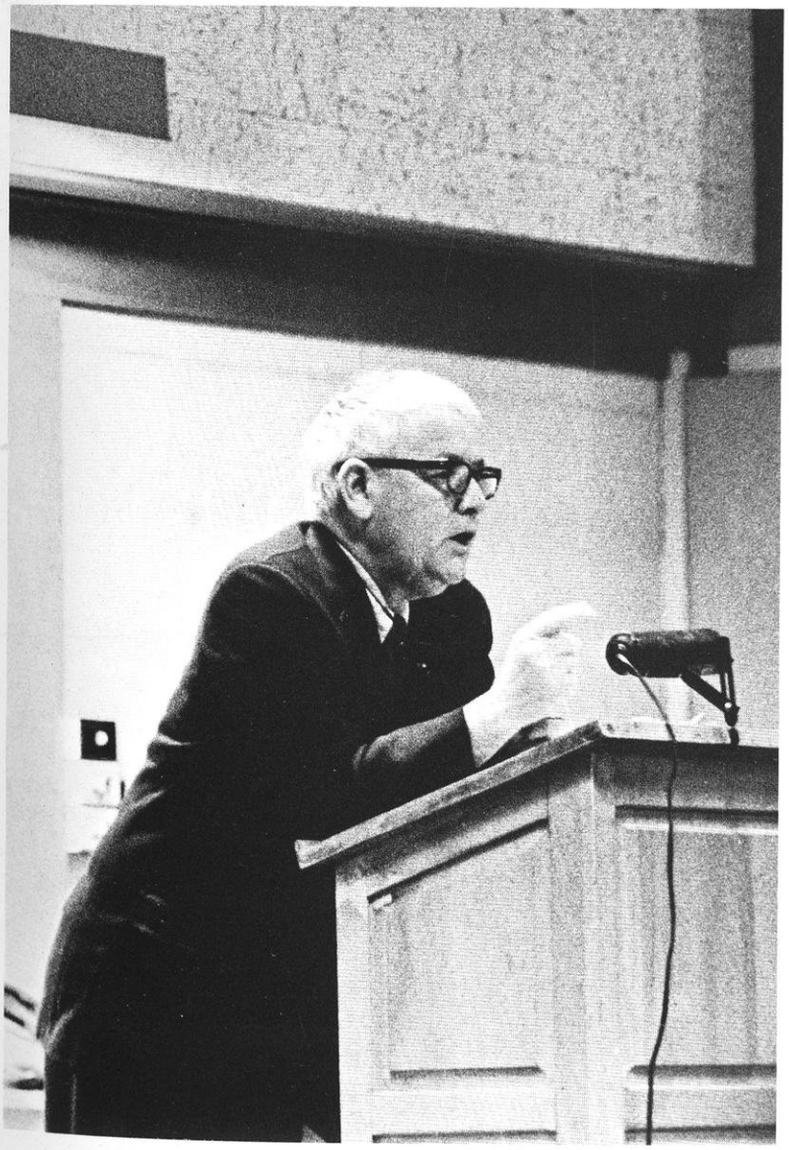


David Lovejoy — History



James Dennis — Art History

Paul MacKendrick — Classics



Ersel Le Masters — Social Work

Warrington Colescott — Fine Art

The creator studies the realities of his environment, his society, and culture and interprets them in abstractions of form, harmony, rythym.
The result is an expression of the minds eye,
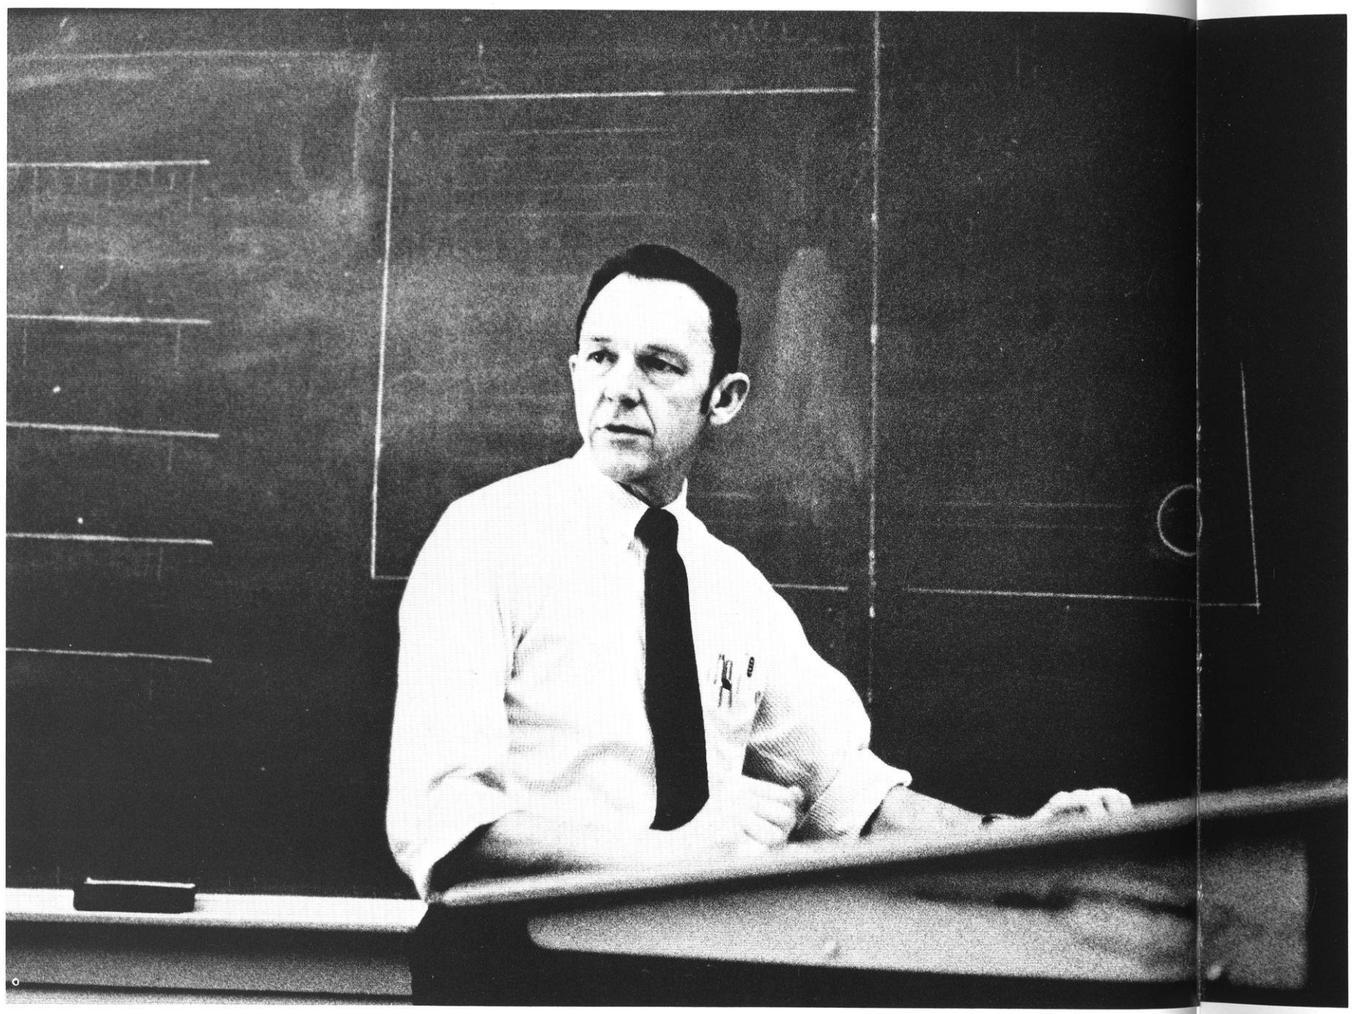
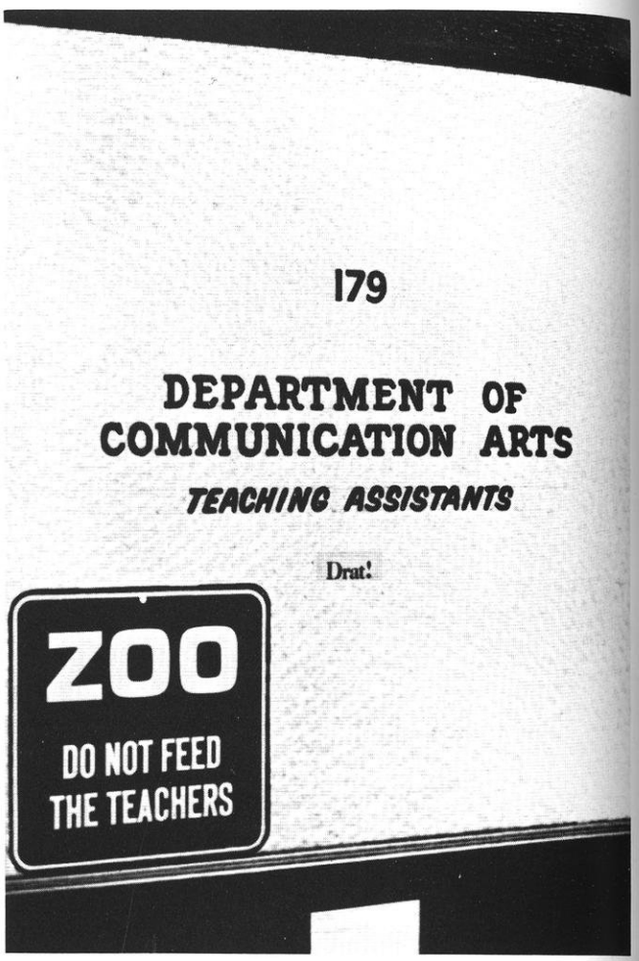
often strangely incomprehensible
to any but that man.

Gunnar Johansen — Music



There are in the quiet recesses of the classrooms, those who are devoted to that which is the University's prime function — teaching, and the stimulation of the student toward an aquisition of knowledge. Here are no flags, no trumpets, no Daily Cardinal activist essays destroying, martyring character, no virtuoso performances, no registration clamor for admission, just a quiet attainment of permanence, stability in the recesses of each students mind. This is a tribute to Robert Phillips, Engineering Graphic 101, and all the many 'unsung heroes' like him.



Teaching Assistants,
indespensible, unsung heroes
with long hours and menial pay yet provided with the privilege to understudy the part of professor.

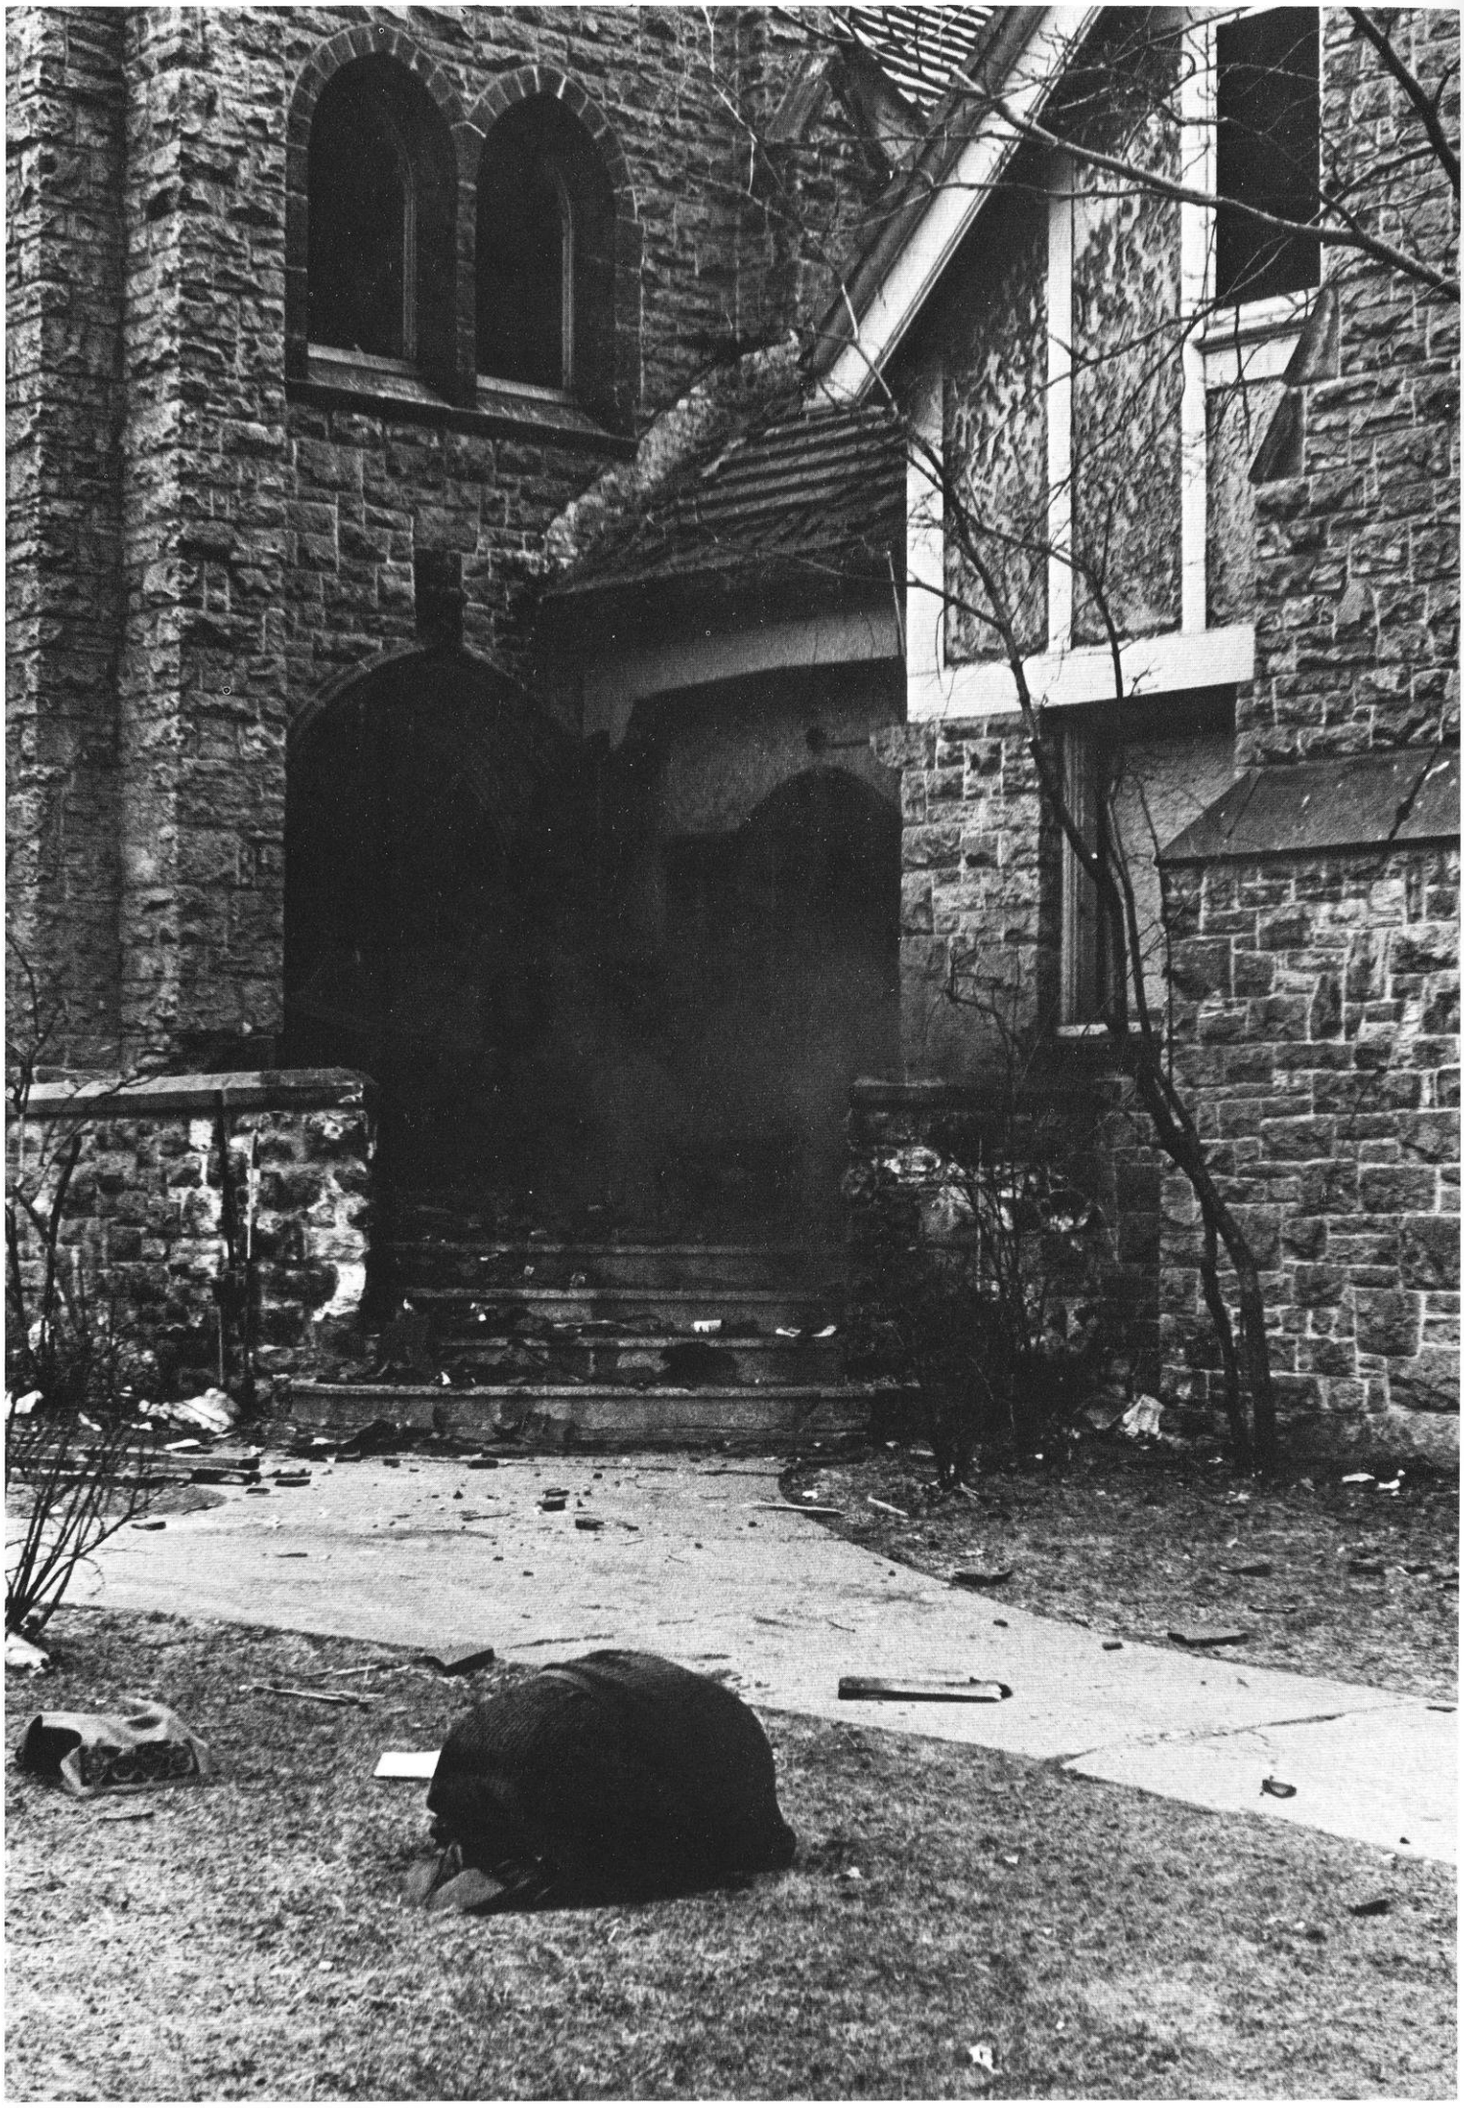
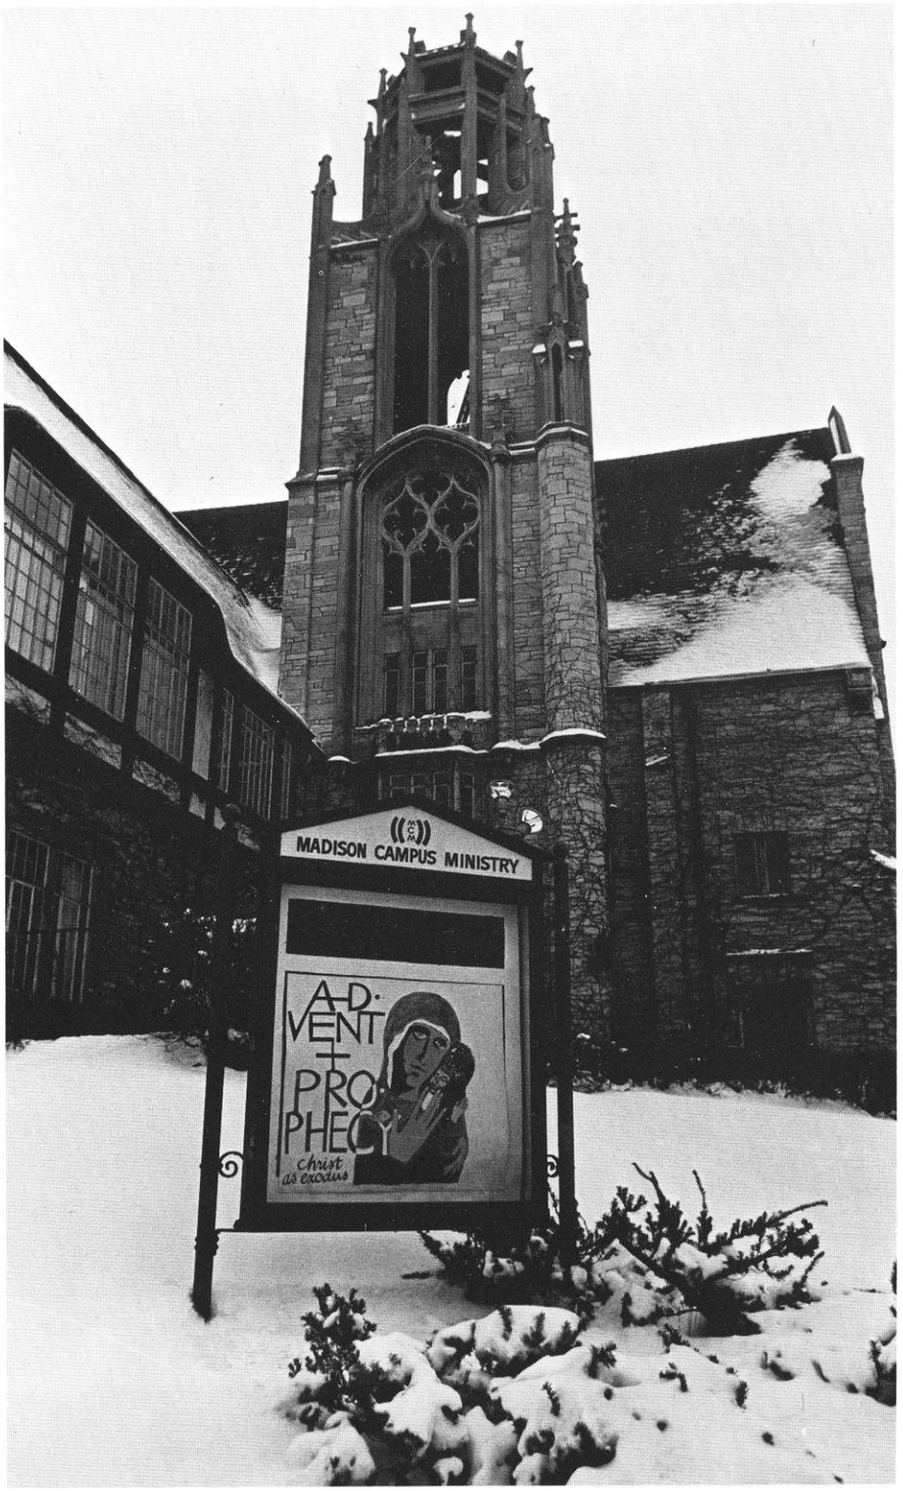
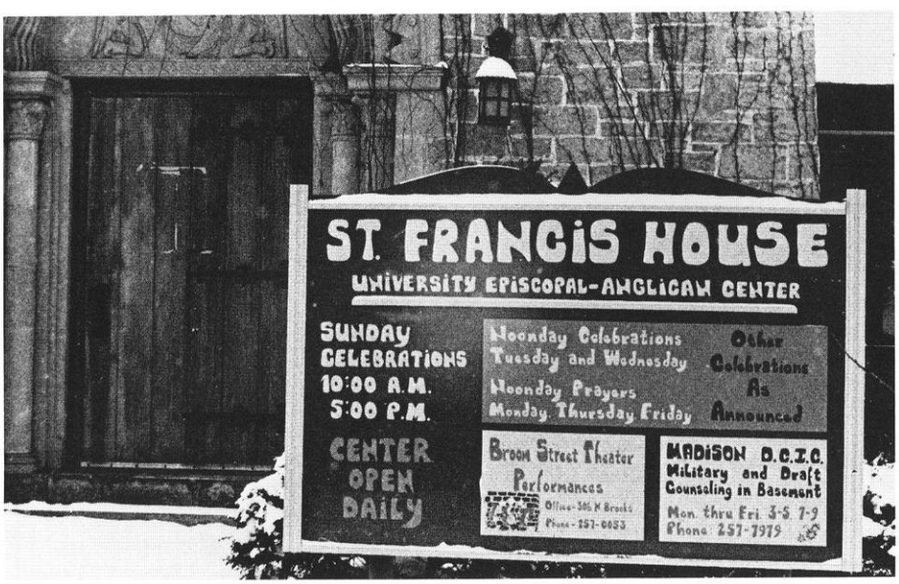
There can be no photograph of a belief.

Religion is to each individual
as is the soul,
separate, single,
devised of dreams, hopes, ideals,
undefinable,
something entirely personal.

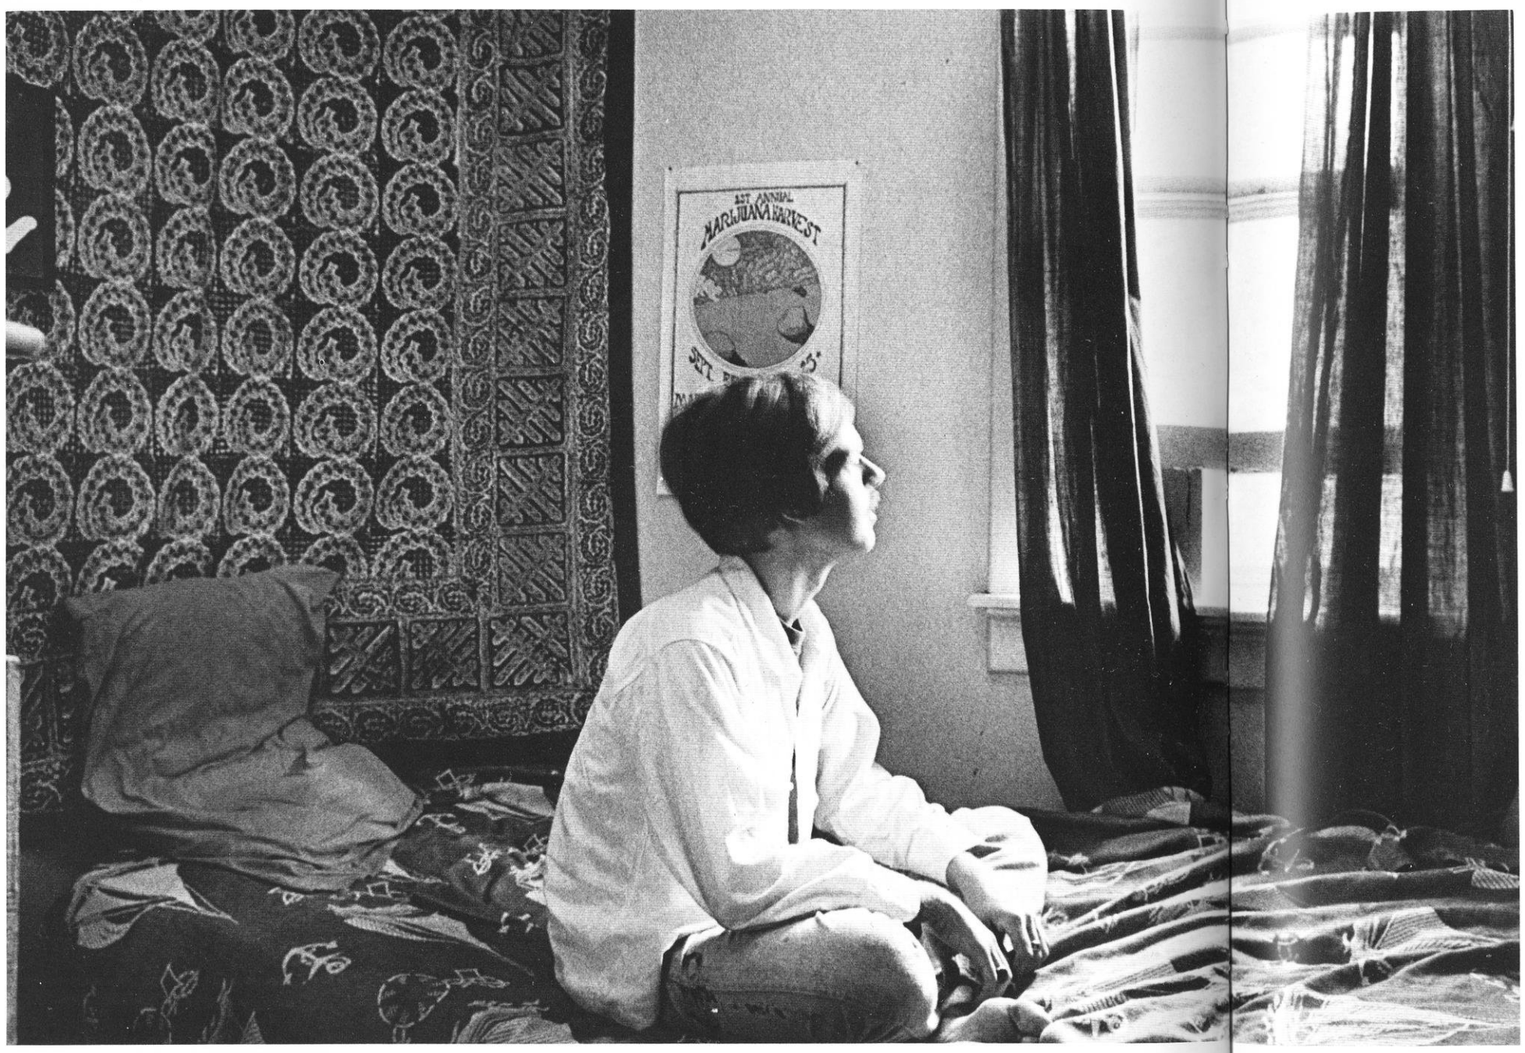


American traditional religious structures are changing . . .





. . . some progressing,
being questioned
being criticized,
and others revised . . .
revived by some,
rejected by some.



"I am a, I am a, I am a, I really do not know."

And then when the edge is in sight
the pattern
the person
begins to gel;
opportunities explored,
thoughts accepted, discarded
the personal totality emerges.

". . . the years spin by and now the boy is twenty,
though his dreams have lost
some grandeur coming true,
there'll be new dreams,
maybe better dreams and plenty before the last revolving year is through
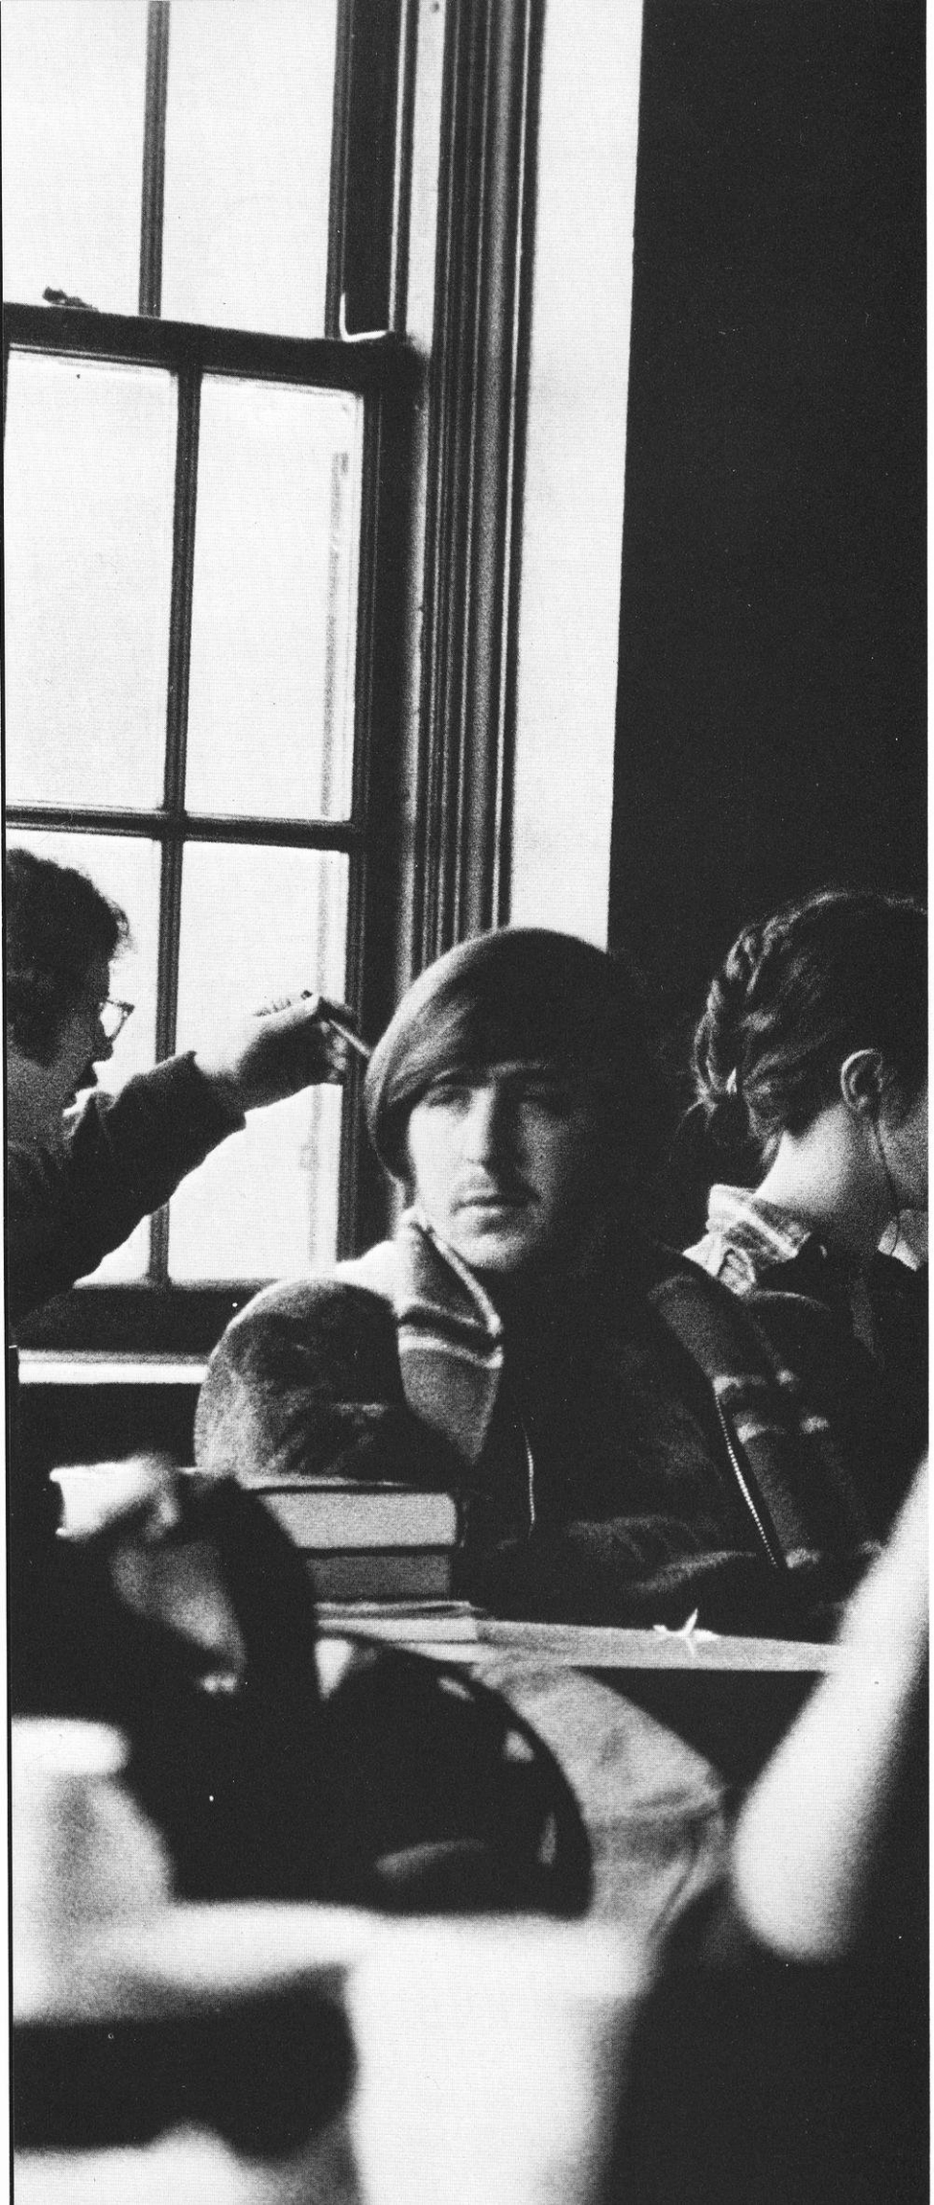
. . ."



"My last year? . . . it was like . . . it all started hanging together, you know . . . all the times, people and experiences started geling. I began to know . . . myself . . . to consider my uniqueness."

"There's a general move away from large groups
large living surroundings . . .
into individual surroundings . . .
into the self."

GRADUATE SCHOOL

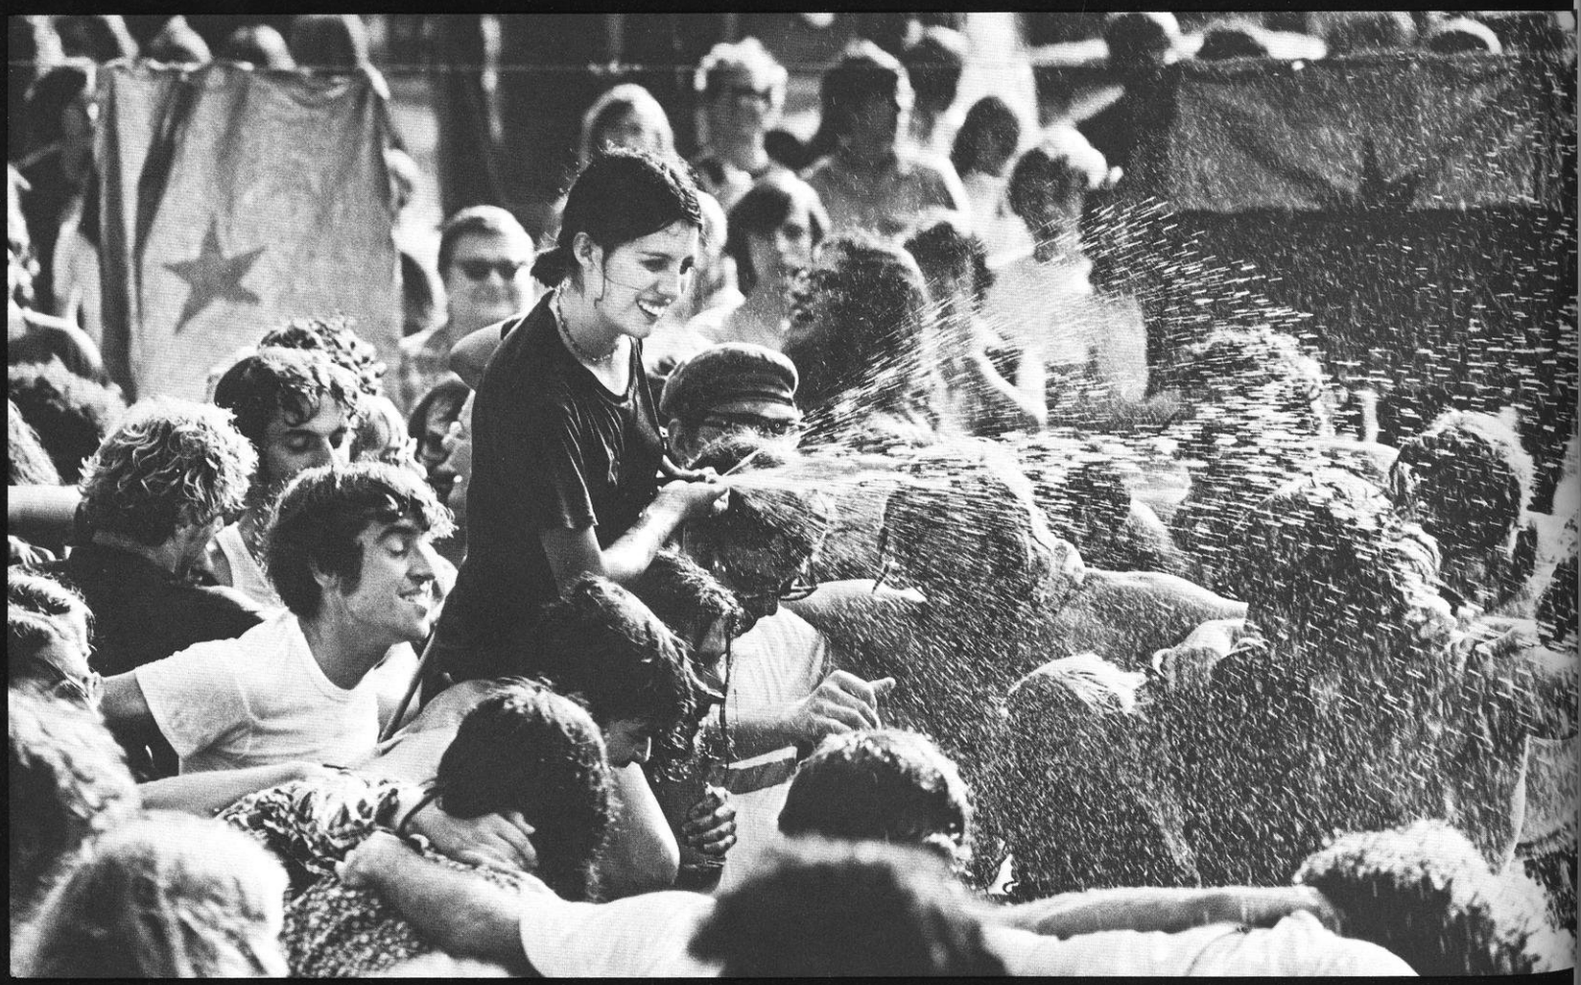
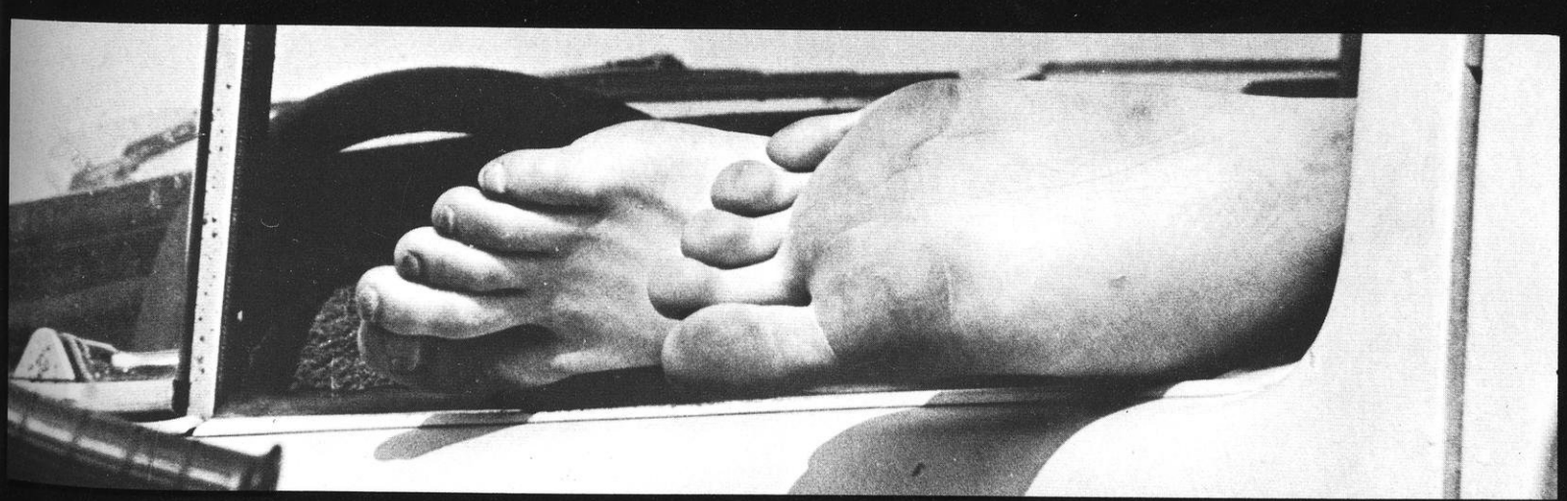
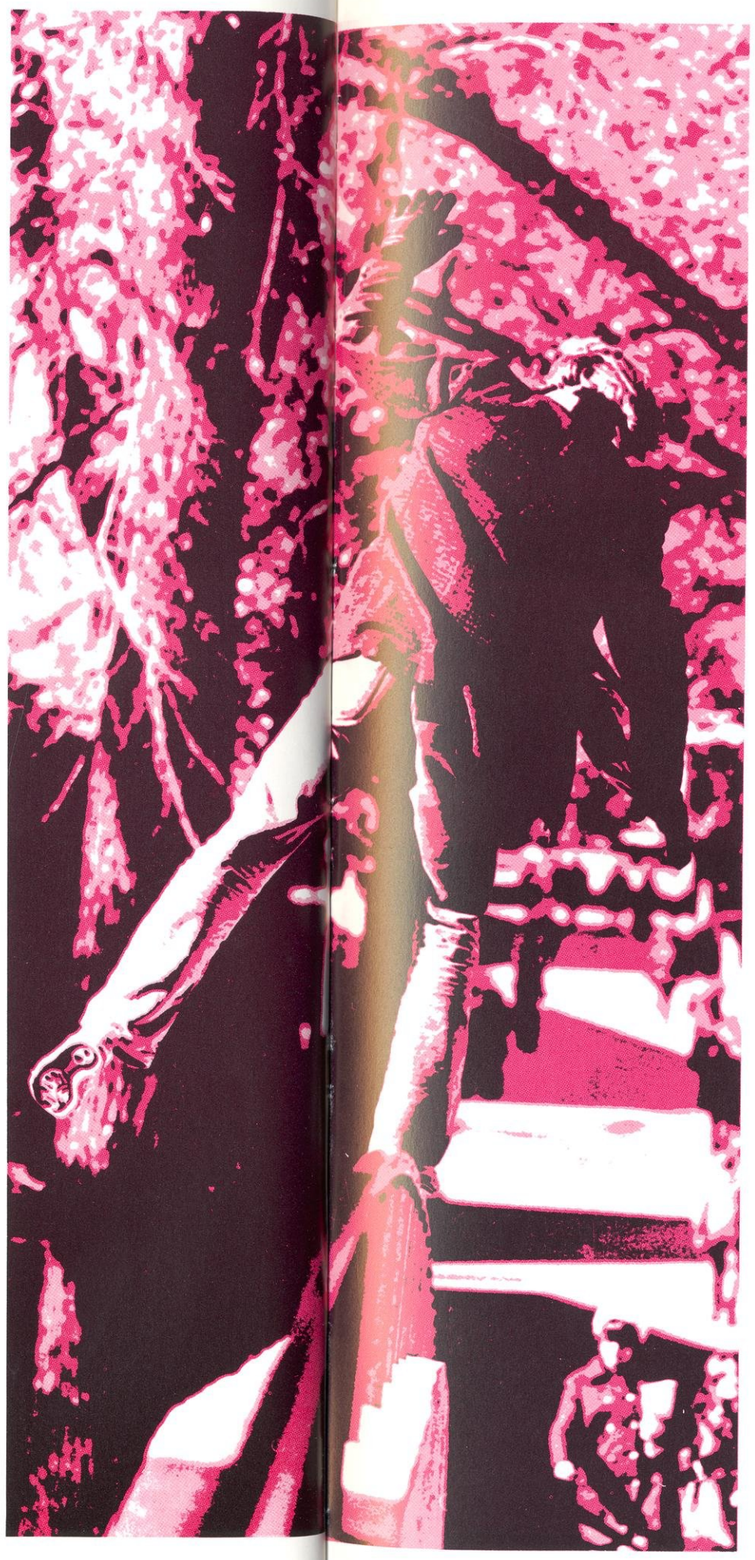
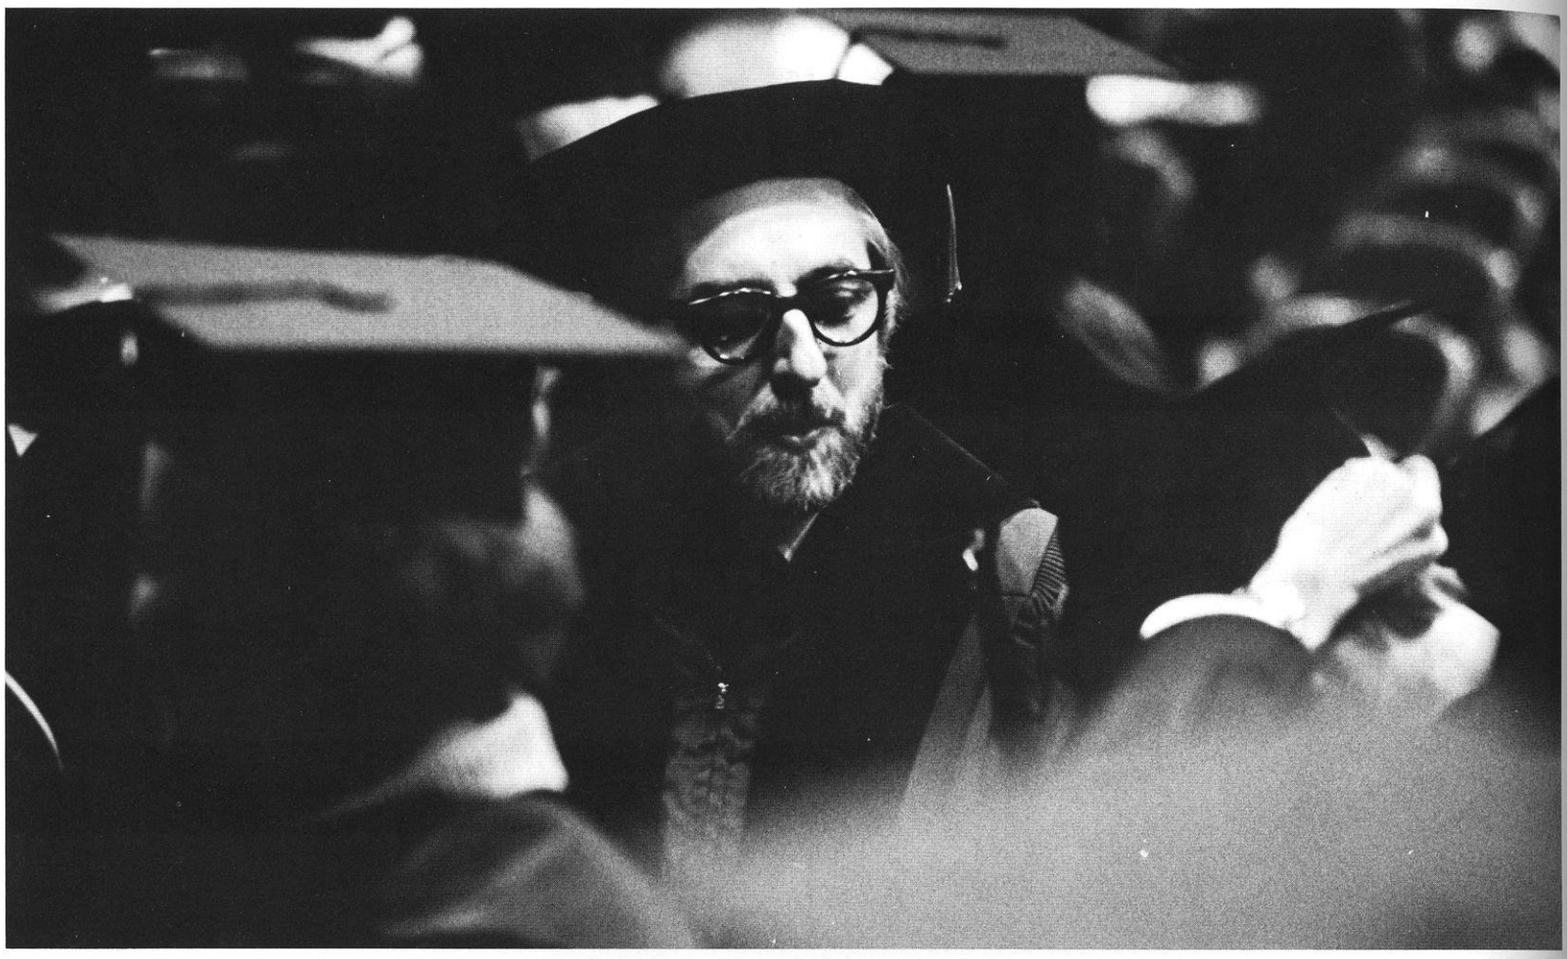
For some people senior year is merely a continuation of their former pattern, for some it is an attempt at salvaging their GPA, while for many it is mental and physical exhaustion, just running out of gas . . .

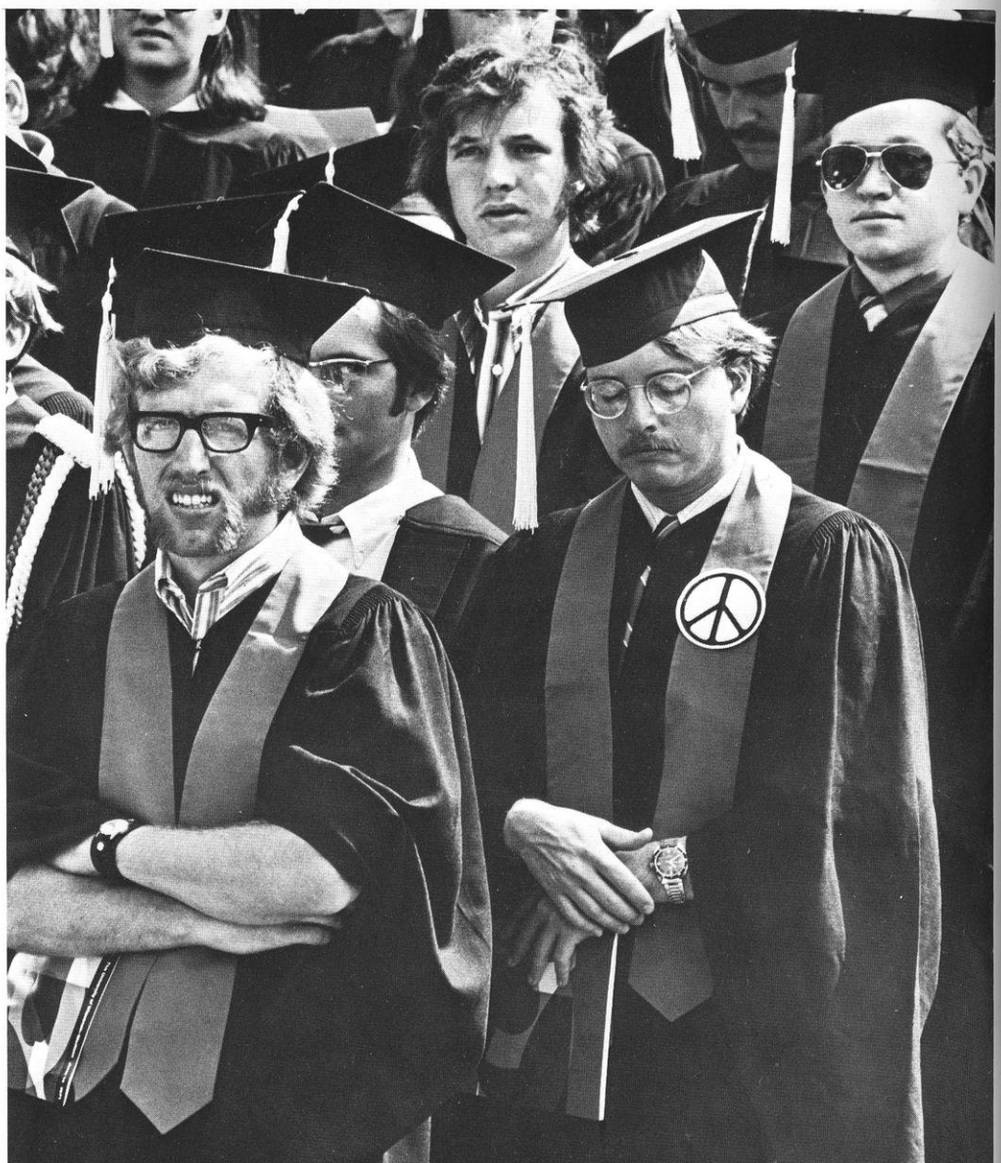


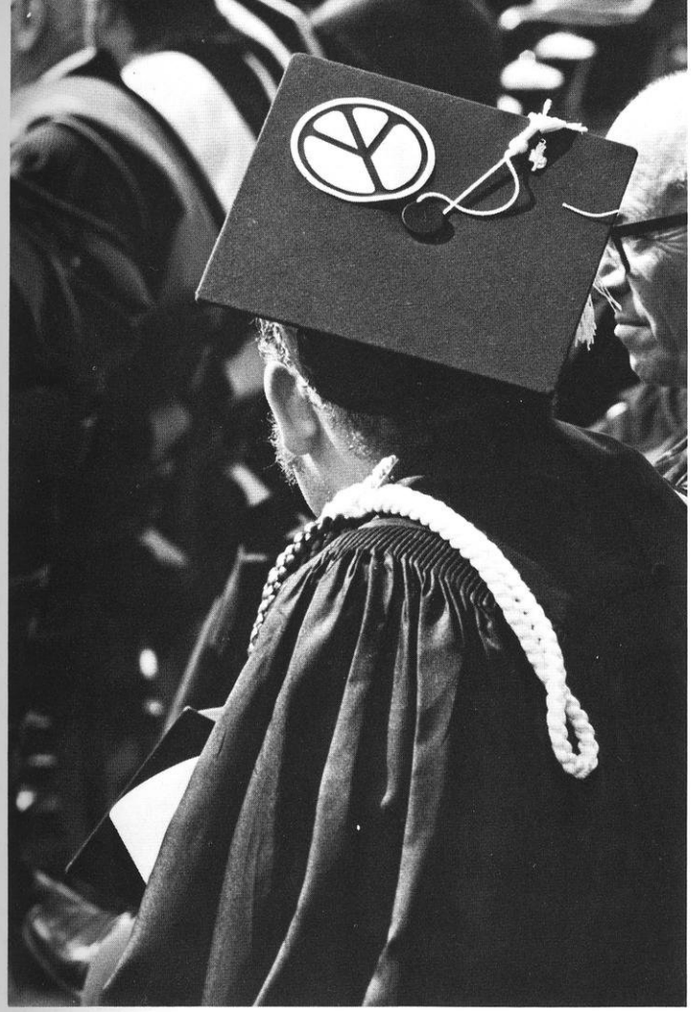


. . . it's somewhere between walking a tightrope and being carefree.









The last revolving year is through.

Transition . . .

The person you were when you arrived,
plus the changes wrought
by the Madison experience,
is ready for the multitude of experiences, and the consequent changes
to be offered by new environments.

You are not the person
you were yesterday,
and you are not the person
you will be tomorrow.

Madison is about to get caught up in a legend.

When you come to the edge
you think you have come to the end —
but you've only come to part of the beginning,
the beginning is the start
for anyone,
you will never come to the end
but keep on going . . .
