C. I. P. A. Lays Plans For Third Annual Meet Here

"Approximately 400 high school students, representing schools in 20 states, will attend the third annual conference of high school editors, which will be held in Madison December 1 and 2," Harold E. McClelland '23 director of the Central Interscholastic Press association, declared last night.

Faculty and student directors of the association announced yesterday include Profs. F. Marion Johnson and H. E. Birdsong, Fred L. Kil-dow '23 and McClelland.

Bjerke Arranges Meet

Plans for the annual convention are in direct charge of Jerome O. Bjerke '25, general chairman. Delegates will be entertained, during their stay in Madison, at fraternity and sorority houses. The annual banquet will be held in Lathrop hall December 2.

Prominent journalists will address the delegates on special phases of the profession. Round table discussions at which members of the faculty and journalism students will preside, will help the high school editors with their publishing problems.

An All-American secondary school publication contest, with entries from virtually every state will be held in connection with the convention. Entries are divided into several classes based upon enrollment, placing competition on an equitable basis. Special awards will be made for the best newspapers and magazines printed in school shops. Magazine cover and cartoon contests also will be conducted.

Editors Receive Official Paper

The winners of last year's publication contest are West High Weekly, Minneapolis; the Scout, Muskogee, Okla.; Senn News, Chicago; the Thistle, Toledo, Ohio; the Weekly Manualite, Kansas City, Mo.; the Black Hawk, Davenport, Iowa; the Unionite, Grand Rapids, Michigan; and the Cardinal, Milwaukee.

The official publication of the association, the Scholastic Editor, is sent to all members. Articles written by prominent journalists aid the staffs of member publications to issue better newspapers and magazines.

The association was organized here two years ago in an effort to raise the standard of journalistic work in high schools and to give the students who are interested in journalism a better insight into the work that is being done at Wisconsin.

WET AND DRY POLL OF MAG OUT TODAY

That more than three-fourths of the students think their home towns are wetter than Madison is revealed by an article in the Commerce Magazine on sale today.

Wisconsin students differ widely in their opinions on prohibition, according to the article. Some are out-and-out wets, but want strict enforcement. Others vote dry and are for strict enforcement of existing laws but will not give information on moonshiners. Some approve of "wet" parties while some claim that milk is their favorite beverage. Nearly all agree, however, that Madison is drier than their home towns.

The opinions in the article were compiled from 1,000 questionnaires filled out by university men and women.

Prof. W. A. Scott has an article on "Aims and Plans of the Course in Commerce," describing the work of the course. "Commerce Men and the Memorial Union," by Prof. E. H. Gardner shows the important part commerce men are playing in the drive for the Memorial Union building.

Willoughby is Elected Press Club President

Al Willoughby '23, was elected president of the Press club at the opening meeting held in Lathrop hall last night. Other officers elected are Edith Porter '24, vice-president and Bernice Bruns '23, secretary and treasurer.

Prof. Grant M. Hyde emphasized the need of converting the Press club into an association for social as well as discussion purposes. A plan was outlined to cement and unite more firmly friendships among members by efficient work of membership, program and social committees.

Prof. E. M. Johnson suggested city editors, press association correspondents, and recent journalism graduates be secured to deliver talks before the club.

MOST BADGERS SOLD BY KOJIS

Katherine Davis High Among Women in Year Book Sales

Ferdinand Kojis '24, with 459 points, won the gold fountain pen offered by the Badger for the highest individual total of subscriptions secured, it was announced last night. Katherine Davis '24, with 162 points had the highest women's total.

The team under Kojis scoring 750 points has the highest sum total of points and each member will receive a gold fountain pen. The team includes W. Cross '23, R. Ludden '24, F. Risser '23, H. Hoard '24, E. Watson '23, F. Leitz '24, E. Risberg, '24 H. Augustine '24, and R. Nethercut '24.

The women's team headed by Jessie Morton '24 carried off high honors with a total of 703 points. The team includes Ruth Merrill '25, Dorothy Crain '24, Florence Fox '24, Margaret Baines '24, Janice Boardman '24, Mildred Redeman '24, Helen Gude '23 and Helen Callsen '25.

The second 10-day campaign, conducted by 20 canvassing solicitors begins this morning under the direction of Kojis. The commissions for solicitors range from 30 to 70 cents depending on the total number sold by the person. The increased cost of the Badger is due to these additional canvassing costs.

Hugo Rusch '23 is at the head of the Engineer's drive and R. W. Ingram '23 will lead the drive for the Agricultural school. After this 10-day canvassing drive is completed, personal letters will be sent to all of the students who have not yet subscribed.

A town canvass of all the business men led by Ike Brader '26, and a faculty drive under the direction of Vaughn Winchell '25, will be started in 10 days in another attempt to bring the total number up to the necessary sum.

TO GIVE BADGER STAFF DANCE ON NOVEMBER 3

Announcement was made yesterday of a 1924 Badger staff dance to be held on November 3, in the Badger room of the Woman's building. Paul K. Robertson '24, associate business manager of the year book, is in charge of arrangements.

"We want the Badger to mean more than a lot of work," Robertson declared yesterday. "The dance will emphasize the social aspect of Badger work and will unify the staff."

Tickets sell for $1.50 and can be procured at the Badger office.

At least one member of each couple attending the dance must be on the staff of the 1924 year book. Sale of the tickets is open to women as well as to men.

New Directories May Be Distributed Today

Student directories will be distributed during the day to classes meeting in 165 Bascom hall if the expected shipment arrives on time. The limited distribution plan has been adopted to avoid confusion and congestion in the corridors. General distribution will be made later.

MEMORIAL UNION LISTS STUDENTS FOR MASS MEET

12 Foreign Countries and 42 States Represented

Fifty-five Wisconsin counties, 42 states not including Wisconsin and 12 foreign countries are represented by new students here this fall, according to the list made out by the Memorial Union committee for the use at the New Student mass-meeting to be held next Monday.

Dane county leads with the largest representation, 418; Milwaukee county has 219; Rock, 55; Walworth, 34; and Douglas, Sheboygan, and Winnebago, 32.

Illinois Leads States

The states which are not represented are Nevada, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Wyoming. Illinois has the largest group of out-of-state students, 273 Iowa has 79; Indiana, 71; Michigan, 61; and Maine, Maryland, Arkansas, Delaware, New Mexico and Virginia, one each.

Of the 54 foreign students, 24 are from China, 9 from Canada, 5 from the Philippines, and one each from Switzerland and Turkey. The foreign countries represented are: Africa, South America, Bulgaria, Canada, China, England, Germany, Japan, Mexico, Philippines, Switzerland and Turkey.

Every group from every locality will have a section at the mass-meeting and a banner to denote its place. The canvassers in charge will be from approximately the same location as the canvassed where it is possible.

Gardner Plans Meeting

"We want to start local competition and see which crowd can turn out 100 per cent at this meeting," Prof. E. A. Gardner, campaign manager of the Memorial Union, said yesterday.

"They must realize the Wisconsin traditions, and realize that the man from Turkey is responsible for this project as much as the man from Dane county," he added.

DODGEVILLE BOY WINS HIGH PRIZE AT STOCK SHOW

Packing Companies Vie For Possession of Blue Ribbon Beeves

Everette Jones, aged 18, Dodgeville, Wis., won the Plankinton Silver cup by exhibiting the grand champion Short Horn baby beef animal at the Junior Live Stock exposition at the stock pavilion yesterday afternoon.

In addition to the silver trophy, Jones won the $25 prize offered by the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeder's association, the $20 prize contributed by the American Shorthorn Breeder's association and the $25 award extended by the Wisconsin Shorthorn Breeders' association.

More than 80 baby beeves were exhibited by the boys and girls in competition for the silver trophy. It is estimated that more than $1,500 in prizes, trophies and equipment were awarded to the winners in the various classes.

The climax of the show was reached last night when representatives of the Madison Packing company, Swift company, Armour company, Plankinton Packing company and other prominent packers bid against each other for the grand champion baby beef animal at the auction sale.

Thirty-two cents a pound was paid by the Plankinton Packing company for the prize winning beef as

Chase is Candidate For Senior Senate Position

Lucius P. Chase announced his candidacy for senior member of the Student senate yesterday.

Chase was chairman of the 1922 Homecoming house decorations committee, is a member of the cross country team, president of the Methodist Student league and a member of the Campus Religious council. Last year he was chairman of the prom ticket committee and worked on the Memorial Union and Venetian night committees. He was a member of the sophomore traditions committee, the sophomore commission, and was sophomore assistant on the Badger.

In his freshman year he played basketball and was a member of the track squad. He is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi.

$1,000 SECURED IN 'Y' CAMPAIGN

Expect Late Reports and Organization Gifts to Swell Total

The total amount reported at 11 o'clock last evening in the Y. M. C. A. finance drive was more than $1,000. The tardiness in reporting by teams and their captains which has retarded the progress of the drive was attributed to the examinations being held this week.

The majority of fraternities have not reported. It is expected the sums given by the fraternities will swell greatly the drive fund. Although there are many teams at work, several more canvassers are needed to solicit the student sections which have not been assigned, according to Harry Augustine '24, drive head.

With $5,000 as the goal and only $1,000 contributed, four or five days more will be needed to make the drive a success. The campaign will continue until the $5,000 is raised.

Y. W. C. A. DRIVE WORK NETS $230 FIRST DAY

A sum of $230 had been received up to late last night in the Y. W. C. A. finance drive.

Approximately 50 women had been reached yesterday by canvassers and it is expected that the sorority subscriptions will surpass those of last year.

The team of Ann Anderson '25, leads with a total of $33. Alice Cockrell '24 has obtained more than $25 in subscriptions, representing the work of one day. The names of team captains and the amount they turn in each day will be placed on the bulletin board in Lathrop hall.

Senior Civil Engineers Are on Inspection Trip

Forty senior civil engineers will meet at the Hotel Gilpatrick in Milwaukee at 8 o'clock this morning for the annual inspection trip under the direct supervision of Prof. L. S. Smith, C. I. Corp and W. S. Kinne of the College of Engineering.

The trip, which will continue to day, tomorrow and Friday, will include stops at city bridges, buildings in the process of construction, North point pumping station, the garbage incinerator, railroad shops, the West Allis works of the Allis Chalmers company and the plant of the Wisconsin Bridge and Iron works. Inspections of various roads and pavements will also be made.

Magic Coffee Pot Puzzle to Gaping Horde at Refec

Where did that endless stream of coffee come from—that one that poured on and on in the College Refectory window last night? It was called "radio coffee", but that name failed to explain the phenomena to the crowd which gathered to watch the magic coffee pot. Various possible operations were discussed, and many speculations made concerning the origin of the stream, but no one has solved the puzzle. The radio pot will be working again to day.

200 ATTEND TO HEAR SENIORS IN POLITICAL MEET

Candidates Talk On Policies in Fiery Session

Candidates for the presidency of the senior class, candidates for sergeant-at-arms, and men and women running for other class offices addressed last night in the auditorium of the engineering building, the mass-meeting called by the elections committee of the Student senate upon petition of 25 seniors. For the first time in many years of university political activity, advantage was taken of the provision of the senate for such a class meeting.

Two hundred seniors, men and women, were present to hear the views of the candidates and to participate in the questioning which followed the speeches. Questions fired from the audience at Leslie Gage, Wayne Morse and Rolland Williams, pertaining to the nature of the issues and the purpose of the platforms, caused considerable commotion and made it necessary for Chairman Robert B. Stewart '23, to call for order on several occasions.

Candidates Explain Policies

Gage, Morse, and Williams, the three presidential candidates spoke. Each of the men outlined his platform and stated the issues of the ticket.

"My object is to explain why I believe I am qualified for the position," said Gage, first to speak. "The issue is not a personal one. I have felt that many prominent and representative men are back of me. I feel that the ticket is the most representative in the field. We are making no promises, we have no platform and we will attempt to clean up politics."

"Platforms are not vote-getters. The candidates should be considered personally and votes should be cast accordingly. I always have been allied with clean politics although not actively participating."

Morse Gives Views

Morse was next to give his address. He said:

"I am out to clean up and to throw open political conditions on this campus." There are three distinct issues upon which I stand. They are, first, to abolish the fraternity caucus; second, to introduce the primary system of nomination; and third, to make the appoint-

KIEKHOFER ADVISES STUDY PRINCIPLES

Prof. Wm. H. Kiekhofer, professor of economics, laid down the basic rules for mastering any college course in a lecture delivered yesterday morning to the economics 1 a classes in Agricultural auditorium. His fundamental principles suggested were: first, understand; second, organize; third, apply; fourth, express.

"A student must understand his subject, must organize his material. He must be able to apply this information to concrete problems and, finally, have the power to express his knowledge in words."

Professor Kiekhofer emphasized that the purpose of a university was to develop "thinkers". The power to think understandingly, then to make these principles fit in when the proper time and place demand, is the foundation for a student who will make his grades at the university, and his mark in the world.

"Impression must be followed by expression. There is a vital distinction between knowing a thing and being able to convey that knowledge to someone else. The thinker leads the procession," Professor Kiekhofer declared, estimating the reward the world offers for the man or woman who applies himself or herself wholeheartedly.

3-STORY TOTEM
RELIC—"IGNATZ"

Pole Too Immense to Place
Inside Historical Museum

"Ignatz", a Haida Indian totem pole almost three stories high, has been placed in front of the Milwaukee museum on a concrete base.

The pole is elaborately carved and painted with somber colors. The figures are frogs, bears, ravens, and other animals from which the Haida tribe are supposed to have originated.

When the pole was erected two weeks ago, local artists and architects declared that it marred the beauty of the museum. Because of the immensity of the relic it could not be placed inside. It will be dedicated in November by the Wisconsin Archaeological society.

Wisconsin Indians never carved animals but instead they pictured their ancestors on poles, canoes and house fronts. Their Indian mounds were built in the shape of animals. Dr. Barrett, director of the Milwaukee Public museum was instrumental in bringing the gift to Milwaukee.

Capacity Houses Fill
Orpheum on Anniversary

Two capacity audiences filled the Orpheum theater Monday eve to witness the first half of the Orpheum circuit Third of a Century Anniversary Program. In keeping with its promise, the Orpheum has booked one of the best bills of the current season, and from the looks of things the last half will be equally as good. "Like Father—Like Son" is the act presented by the Four Camerons, a comedy novelty offering, consisting of singing, talking, and remarkable acrobatic stunts. The Camerons are specialists in everything they undertake and their offering is entirely out of the ordinary.

The Five Ballofs, four attractive girls and an athletic young man present "A Surprise in The Belfry."

Two rich gems in the jeweled crown of vaudeville are Jordon and Tyler, pouring out floods of scintillating melody, ranging from the classics to popular numbers.

Darve Manley as "The Mayor of The U. S. A." unrolls a monologue covering many interesting topics.

A sure fire hit is the offering of Marget and Morrell in "Dancing Around."

ODDS AND EVENS

Editor The Cardinal:

Although the editorial in Friday's Cardinal criticizing the giving of so-called "odd and even" quizzes is based upon a generally admitted fact, namely, that it is practically impossible in certain types of courses to provide two parallel sets of examination questions of equal difficulty, the solution of the problem is not as simple as the writer of the editorial would have his readers believe.

The room situation in the college of Letters and Science is such that one is fortunate indeed to be able to locate an extra room of any considerable size free at the hours when it can be utilized for quiz purposes by the larger lecture courses. Even by making use of the rooms in the College of Agriculture and Engineering the situation can be relieved only in part, and this frequently not without much confusion and loss of time on the part of the students concerned.

It is evident, therefore, that if the principle of alternate seating in examinations is not to be abandoned (and the vast majority of students and faculty members alike agree that it should not be), the only remedy for the admitted partiality of "odd and even" quizzes would lie in the adoption of a complicated schedule similar to the one now in use for final examinations. Such a scheme is, of course, clearly impracticable and undesirable from every point of view.

Attacking the problem from the other side might bring some relief until the much-needed expansion of the physical plant of the university can be realized. That is, the students might take a somewhat more philosophical attitude toward the matter instead of naively indulging in the idea that some people are born under more favorable arrangements of the stars and so always

EATON POPULARIZES MILKY WAY STORY

"A Stroll Down the Milky Way," as near to nature as a book can bring its readers, will become a reality with the publication in the near future of a new book by Dr. E. L. Eaton on popular astronomy.

Dr. Eaton has held the position of instructor of astronomy in the Extension division since 1906 when he was nominated by Prof. G. C. Comstock, director of the Washburn observatory. Dr. Eaton is a resident of Madison, a clergyman and a well known lecturer.

"In preparing his book, Dr. Eaton is meeting the demand for a non-technical treatise on astronomy which people who love nature and respond to the challenge of the open sky want," W. H. Lighty, secretary of the Extension division, said yesterday.

No books have been written on this subject for popular reading. The latest one by Professor Comstock, formerly used in the Extension course, is now out of print since the course does not carry credit in the university, Dr. Eaton has felt free to write in a non-technical style.

The book is to contain a large assortment of illustrations which are now being collected from the greatest astronomical observatories in the country. Photographic prints will enable the reader of Dr. Eaton's book to study stars of twenty-fifth magnitude.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

DOPE INDICATES BADGER, GOPHER STRENGTH EVEN

Teams Run Up Same Score Against Indiana Gridders

Minnesota 20, Indiana 0.

Wisconsin 20, Indiana 0.

With this dope to work on, critics are already trying to do a Hughie Fullerton and pick the winner of the Badger-Gopher football game to be played at Northrup field, Minneapolis, November 4.

A basis of comparison is afforded by the scores which both teams hung up against Indiana. Minnesota defeated the Hoosiers while they were still in the embryonic stage of football development.

Coach Pat Herron, trying to instill his "Glenn Warner Pittsburgh plus" system at Bloomington, was somewhat handicapped in the early part of the season. New men had to learn the fundamentals of Herron's eastern style game, and the veterans had to forget what they knew of Jumbo Stiehm's methods and re-learn the game from another angle.

Hoosiers Easy For Both

The Gophers had comparatively easy pickings with this undeveloped Crimson eleven. Minnesota also is under the tutelage of a new coach, but Coach Spaulding's style of play is kin to that of other western teachers.

When Wisconsin trounced Indiana last Saturday, the Hoosiers had been welded into a good Big Ten outfit with the experience of a Big Ten game, while five Badgers played their first Conference grid battle. Two Hoosiers were not in the best of condition, however, and a consequent shift in the lineup was necessary, T. Smith taking Wilkens' place at quarterback.

Minnesota is practically eliminated from the Big Ten race because of its tie game with Northwestern last Saturday.

Although the Northmen outplayed their opponents and were leading until a miraculous, or lucky, 101-yard run turned the tide, the game is registered in the minds of other Big Ten coaches as virtually a defeat.

Purple Surprises Gophers

Northwestern has been the "weak sister" of the Conference for years. When it reared up and smote the Gophers, it showed Spaulding and his team outside the charmed circle of victorious elevens.

With Myrum, Gros, Martineau, Captain Aas, Schjoll and other good men to fight for Minnesota on the gridiron, Spaulding will have to be reckoned with during the rest of the season.

A two weeks' rest will permit Wisconsin cripes to round into shape and Richards can use his strongest lineup against the Gophers. The two sets of backfield men will be in working order for the first time this year.

Badgers Doped To Win

Gibson, Williams and Taft compose the first string set of backs. Whitten, Harris and Radtke are good enough for Big Ten competition right now, and Eagleburger, Carlson, and Saari are another trio of good half backs.

Early dope points to a Wisconsin win over Minnesota, but enough upsets can occur in two weeks to wreck calculations. While dopesters attempt to pick a winner, the rival coaches continue their attempt to develop a winner.

Chem Engineering Club Has Attendance of 160

Talks, plays, novelties, and eats furnished the entertainment for the 160 people at the open mixer-meeting of the Chemical Engineering society last night.

"You know me Al," a sketch by Prof. N. P. Haugen, played by nine club members, proved to be the spiciest number on the program.

Prof. O. L. Kowalke in a talk on the opportunities of the chemical engineer, outlined briefly what the possibilities for a chemical engineer will be 10 years after graduation and what requirements must be met in order to make use of these opportunities.

Overcoat to be Given to Best All-round Grid man

Members of the 1922 football team have been given an added incentive to work by an offer from the Olson Veerhusen company to give a hand-tailored overcoat to the man who proves to be of the greatest all-round value to the team.

Coach John R. Richards, Coach Thomas E. Jones and Prof. James T. Pyre will judge the team on this basis shortly after the Chicago game. Every man on the eleven has an equal chance to win the coat. Coats of this kind have been offered in the past but never on such a fair basis.

"We want every man to have a chance at winning this coat this year. Our primary purpose in making this offer is to encourage the men on the team to work harder. We want to show the student body that we, as representative Madison merchants, are interested in Wisconsin athletics and Wisconsin success," Mr. Henry L. Metz, advertising manager of the clothing company, said yesterday.

Poultry Judging Team to Be Sent to Chicago Show

Plans for choosing a poultry judging team to represent Wisconsin for the first time at the Coliseum show at Chicago were formulated at the second regular meeting of the Badger Poultry club last evening. The meeting was combined with the meeting of the Madison Poultry club. Tryouts for the team are being held every Saturday and any student is eligible to compete.

To give training to the men who are to go to Chicago, the club will hold a poultry show November 20, 21, and 22. Wisconsin will enter the Chicago show against 25 other colleges and universities.

MORE UPSETS IN GRID FORECASTS BAFFLE CRITICS

Purple Dashes Gopher Hopes and Illini Pull Surprise

Upsets, which in at least three cases absolutely dashed all dope expectations to the earth, were features of the football world last Saturday and critics begin to fear for their dope reputations.

The famous Hawkeye team which a week ago enhanced fame by defeating Yale, 6-0, was held to an 8-7 score by Zuppke's fighting Illini. It was lucky for the Iowa warriors that they were able to return home victorious, for the point by which they won was made by a touchback after a Hawkeye player had blocked a punt.

Palmer a Purple Hero

Minnesota and Northwestern fought a 7-7 tie on the Gopher field, as the result of a fumble in the Minnesota ranks. Chuck Palmer, Northwestern hero of a today, scooped up the ball when it was fumbled behind his goal line, and ran one hundred and one yards for a touchdown.

The run was spectacular, for Palmer was closely pursued by Martineau, who gradually gained on him until, when he reached the 20 yard line, he made a lunging tackle. Palmer deftly evaded the tackler with a stiff arm and crossed the goal line.

With the consequent goal score, Northwestern was able to tie the only touchdown made by the Gophers. Minnesota played the best ball and it is generally conceded that the game was for the most part in her favor.

50,000 Watch Harvard Win

Fifty thousand enthusiasts watched the last game of a series of three between Harvard and Centre, in which the Crimson eleven emerged winners by the one sided score of 21-10.

The loss of Bo McMillan, last year's captain who furnished the brains and a great deal of the running talent for the Prayag Colonels was felt badly, as although Red Roberts, the 220-pound Captain and fullback played wonderful football, he was unable to furnish the old spirit that Bo seemed to instill into the team.

The game was a battle royal from start to finish. Centre was unable to stop the rushes of Coach Fischer's Crimson in the opening period, and from then on they were battling only to hold down the score.

It was Harvard's strong reserves that gave her the edge in the contest. Making strenuous runs in the first part of the game, she was able to replace these men with fresh material of practically the same calibre.

Last Game With Centre

Owen, Gherke, and Chapin made the touchdowns for Harvard, while Cavington scored all the points for Centre by making the touchdown, kicking goal and later making a dropkick. The game was a fight from start to finish, both teams playing their best.

This game is the last of a series of three between Harvard and Centre. In 1920 Centre was overwhelmingly defeated by a score of 31-14. Last year Centre redeemed herself by copping a 6-0 victory.

Princeton lived up to expectations when she romped over Maryland 26-0. The team was piloted by Bob Dinsmore, who played his first varsity game last Saturday. Bob Bestie also seems to be a find for the halfback position. His consistent gains made him one of the features of the game.

The Tiger enthusiasts feel much better since Saturday's performance and when the Princeton aggregation travels to Stagg's field to battle the Maroon warriors, it will have plenteous and encouraging backing. Both Chicago and Princeton look up on the clash next Saturday as the big game of the season. It will be another East versus West scrap.

CROSS COUNTRY MEN OUT AFTER GOPHER SCALPS

Coach Mead Burke Pleased With Work of New Harriers

Defeated by a margin of one point in the cross country meet with Michigan last Saturday, the Wisconsin runners are determined to turn the tables in its next meet with Minnesota.

"I am well pleased with the work of the new men," Coach Meade Burke said yesterday. "Last year Minnesota boasted old men and Wisconsin came back with victory. This year Minnesota has lost their experienced runners. We expect to come out with the big end of the score again this year."

Of the new recruits, Tschudy, Dallely, Perry and Bergstresser are outstanding distance men. The latter three are sophomores and ran in their first intercollegiate contest last Saturday. Snyder and Wade are the only letter men.

A five-mile time trial will be held next Saturday, Coach Burke announced last night. The results will determine the selection of the six men who will take the trip to Minnesota. The meet will take place as a part of Minnesota's Homecoming celebration.

Truck to Carry 20 To Minnesota Game

An opportunity to see the Wisconsin-Minnesota football game will be given to a few Wisconsin men by A. J. Ackerman '24, who will make the trip to Minneapolis in a truck large enough to accommodate 20 men.

The truck will leave Madison at 4:00 o'clock Friday morning and probably will arrive in Minneapolis early Friday evening. It will start on the return trip Sunday morning. The round trip fare will be $8.

Reservations can be made for the trip by calling B-5331. All reservations are to be in by tomorrow.

Michigan Pep Leaders to Have New Costumes

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Cheerleaders at the University of Michigan have adopted a new garb. The uniform is to consist of a white V-neck sweater with "Michigan" across the chest in blue letters. The trousers will be of white flannel with a yellow and blue stripe up the side. A blue and white toque will complete the costume.

Stanford No Longer With Pacific Coast Conference

PALO ALTO, Cal.—Leland Stanford university has withdrawn from the Pacific Coast conference as a result of a post-season football game which is not allowed by the conference.

Last Game With Centre

Owen, Gherke, and Chapin made the touchdowns for Harvard, while Cavington scored all the points for Centre by making the touchdown, kicking goal and later making a dropkick. The game was a fight from start to finish, both teams playing their best.

This game is the last of a series of three between Harvard and Centre. In 1920 Centre was overwhelmingly defeated by a score of 31-14. Last year Centre redeemed herself by copping a 6-0 victory.

Princeton lived up to expectations when she romped over Maryland 26-0. The team was piloted by Bob Dinsmore, who played his first varsity game last Saturday. Bob Bestie also seems to be a find for the halfback position. His consistent gains made him one of the features of the game.

The Tiger enthusiasts feel much better since Saturday's performance and when the Princeton aggregation travels to Stagg's field to battle the Maroon warriors, it will have plenteous and encouraging backing.

Both Chicago and Princeton look up on the clash next Saturday as the big game of the season. It will be another East versus West scrap.

1926 TO BATTLE SOPHS ON GRID NOVEMBER 17TH

Expect Close Score in Annual Interclass Tussle

The annual freshman and sophomore football game will be staged at Camp Randall on November 17 or 18. The exact date has not as yet been determined. The ticket sale for the game probably will be open next week.

The game promises to be close again this year. Both teams have excellent material and are hard at work every night for the big fight.

The frosh with three teams are out every night and expect to shape a machine that will absolutely baffle the sophomores. Although the Frosh have lost three of their best men, Walsh, Williams and Wallace, they are determined to avenge the defeat handed them by the sophs in the bag rush.

No definite lineup has been announced.

The sophomore showing has been rather poor thus far. Only a few have reported and as yet there have not been enough men for two teams. No sophomore will be permitted to play in the game who has not been out to practice at least two weeks before the game, according to Coach Lowman.

Hanny and Tebell Were High School Grid Mates

Captain Duke Hanny of Indiana and Badger Gus Tebell played football together during their high school days at Aurora, Ill. Hanny was a star end on the Aurora high school team, and is now playing the same position on the Hoosier varsity. Tebell is a star All-Conference left end on the Wisconsin eleven. They met on the grid iron for the first time since their high school days at the Indiana-Wisconsin game here last Saturday.

THAT SENIOR MEETING

A FEW members of the senior class got together in the Engineering auditorium last night and talked over the political situation. Candidates spoke and each ticket was well represented with hecklers and fire-eaters. Perhaps a score of independent voters were present for the purpose of getting information.

It was a splendid opportunity for partisans to get acquainted with each other.

Speeches there were aplenty, memorized and impromptu, some studied in their eloquence, others refreshing in their naivete. Explanations there were, direct accusations, vague insinuations in which even the chair took part.

When the meeting adjourned the several groups went their ways, each convinced that each other had shown its assininity and each determined to continue its campaign among the great uninformed.

Open political discussion in open meetings has great possibilities as a means of clearing up campus politics. It is to be hoped that the plan will be worked out in the future so that political issues may be threshed out before representative gatherings.

The Cardinal came in for its share of brickbats at the meeting.

Speakers called The Cardinal "partisan" referring especially to yesterday's editorial on "Cleaning Up Politics".

The function of Cardinal editorials is to interpret campus life and activity to take an impersonal stand on campus problems, to point out fact and fallacy in matters affecting campus life.

When fallacies and irrelevant issues are introduced in campus politics, The Cardinal would be sadly delinquent in its duties to its readers if it did not point them out.

SAVE THE JUNIOR PROM

SIMPLIFICATION of social life at the University of Wisconsin was recommended in a report adopted by the university Board of Regents recently. Should the faculty, through its life and interests committee, take such action, the annual Junior promenade, as well as the Military ball, will be held this year in the men's gymnasium instead of in the state capitol building.

The question distinctly is two-sided.

Social life at the university should be simple and inexpensive. Accessory functions to the large social events should be all-university affairs and within the financial reach of every student who desires to attend. Admission prices should be reduced to a pre-war basis. There should be worked out an economy of student time, energy and money—a saner attitude toward social life in general. All this is granted.

But should the faculty pass a ruling that will relegate the Junior promenade, the climax of university social affairs, to the barren armory of the gymnasium? Must students who enjoy dancing be forced to stumble over the uneven, bumpy floor which serves as basketball court, military drill floor and location for massmeetings? Is the faculty justified in passing a ruling which will place the biggest of all university social events on a plane not above that of an ordinary mixer? We think not.

Use of the capitol building first was granted to the Junior prom committee to make the Wisconsin Junior promenade an event the equal of which is not to be found in any university in the world. Mere use of the building does not entail the expenditure of one cent more than would be spent by the committee in arranging a prom in the gymnasium. Expenses of providing a usable floor in the armory and of decorating the gymnasium appropriately probably would be greater than similar expenses incurred in arranging a prom in the capitol.

Not only to add to its magnificence and splendor was the prom granted the capitol, but also to permit the comfortable attendance of all students who desired to participate in this annual function. The gymnasium is far too small. With a seating capacity of only 2,200 for basketball games, facilities are hopelessly inadequate. Even if the sexes were to be eliminated to provide more space for dancing, the 1,000 couples which annually attend prom would find it difficult to move on the floor. Attendance necessarily would have to be limited and prom would have to pass from the category of all-university events to the list of restricted functions. All these things should be considered carefully when the faculty acts.

AN ANSWER

Editor The Cardinal:

M. F. D., with characteristic naivete, assails The Cardinal editorials on preaching professors and dogmatic preachers as uncalled for. Especially are the rebuttals to Father Hengell's newspaper tirade uncalled for, since, "they attack a series of sermons given in a denominational church to those of that denomination and visitors who come unsolicited."

Pardon me, M. F. D., but who calls for William Jennings Bryan's and Father Hengell's comments? Aren't they also uncalled for, since they attack a series of lectures given in a public class room to those of that denomination and visitors who also come unsolicited? Of course the 1,200 young men and women who listen to Father Hengell are "splendid," but the students who freely choose philosophy courses are poor, misled neophytes who are inveigled by "innocent sounding titles."

Are you game enough to laugh with me, M. F. D.? Isn't your argument brummagem? You admit you are splendid for listening to your pastor; won't you concede that I have a least a little intelligence for listening to, say, Professor Otto? Must I look at life through your spectacles? and why? Since yours are borrowed.

No I'd rather choose my own, and adjust them myself, gladly willing to have a Father Hengell or a Professor Otto polish or regrind the lenses as time deteriorates them. Frankly, would you do the same, M. F. D.? Or do you prefer to make a fetish of your spectacles, and polish them on one side only? I suppose it delights you to visualize a tinted world, frittered and fretted and decorated. Very well; I have no argument with you. But you, in your greatness and magnificence of soul, must save the blind from perdition and an atheistic maelstrom. You flatter yourself, M. F. D.! You are a very modest, splendid young lady. But you have a little to learn.

The editorials were meant for both dogmatists, those of science as well as those of religion. You had better polish up your spectacles; that's exactly what The Cardinal editor wanted you to do. That "congregation of morons and parrots trained in orthodoxy" hit you pretty hard, didn't it? But, you know, it applies to philosophic and scientific radicals as well as religious ones. Our friend, the editorial writer, probably adores neither a personal God nor Nietzsche, but he is willing to learn from the influence of both. Which is the answer to the question: Why is a college education?

Indeed you are a splendid young lady, M. F. D. But one is always learning.

IRVIN M. SHAFRIN '24

ON RELIGION

Editor The Cardinal:

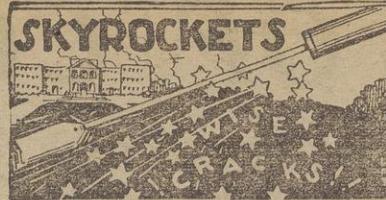

It has ever been a source of disappointment to thoughtful people to observe the shade of gloom which passes over the countenances of certain religionists when someone remarks that he is of a different faith from their own. This attitude ought not to obtain among students; —

For, a college education ought not to teach that Medieval scholasticism from St. Augustine to William of Occam was altogether shallow, or that Martin Luther was only partially sane, so much as it ought to convince the intellect that a belief in God and a hope for immortality are fundamentally propositions which belong to individual temperament. To put the matter succinctly: thousands of intellectual people are convinced that some of the precepts of Christianity are not tenable, but their temperaments recommend a belief in God and immortality.

The Gordian knot of civilization can not be untied by those whose intellectual interests center around petty religious disputes. The silver cord, binding the skeletons of nations, is already under heavy strain; let us strive to prevent its breaking. Nor is this the time to abuse the members of our philosophy or sociology department. No, if the Church of God has a program for the betterment of the world, let no one stop at this time to point out logical difficulties. Surely, with the trouble of the world as great as it is, it should not be the policy of our school paper to initiate further disunion.

ASK REGULATION OF ACTIVITIES TO HELP LEADERSHIP

Stewart Suggests Rules Discussed By Mid-West Conference

Regulation of student activities by the point system which limits the number of activities in which a student can participate was one of the remedies discussed at the Mid-West Student conference for bringing out more leaders in the school, according to Robert B. Stewart '23, secretary-treasurer of the conference, who recently has placed a copy of the minutes of the convention on file in the Library.

"Only a few students in any one class stand out as active in the outside activities of this university," Stewart said yesterday. "Because a few popular students hold all the important school offices, others are unable to take the lead in student activities."

"According to the point system, each position in student activities is graded with a certain number of points, and no student can then participate in more activities than the system allows. This will make it possible for more students to become leaders in student life."

The minutes of the conference by Stewart take up four main subjects in student life: (1) student publications, including the year book, periodicals and daily papers; (2) student discussions, such as dramatics, forensics, the band and musicals; (3) student government, its forms and problems, and how some universities meet them; (4) athletics in the various conferences in the Middle West, including eligibility for participation and the various attitudes taken toward athletics in different parts of the country.

"These ideas have been thrashed out by representatives 30 of the larger schools in the Mississippi valley," Stewart said. "The point system for the regulation of student activities has proved successful in several schools and it will not be long before others take up this idea."

Set Budget Meeting of Committee for Sunday

The first meeting on the budget work for 1923 will be held by the finance committee Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The meeting will be called for the purpose of adopting a policy in the handling of the budget work this year. The city engineering department will be the first of the departments to be called before the committee Monday night. A new plan, including calling of various departmental heads at different times, has been adopted by E. F. Bunn, city auditor, to expedite the work. It is thought that with a separate department heard each night the work will be completed in about two weeks.

Six hundred Polk county people recently organized a county council of social work after a district conference held there through cooperation with the Extension division.

Engineering for the Buyer

It is not enough that electrical apparatus should be carefully conceived, skillfully designed, and exactingly manufactured.

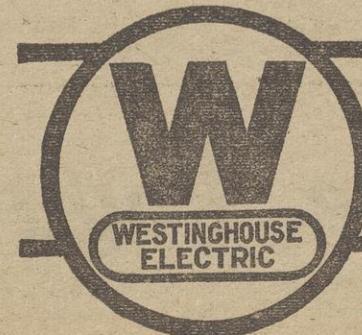

Engineering, to fulfill all its functions, must go beyond these necessary steps and do a still more enlightened service. It must apply the apparatus to its uses, so that not only in design and construction but in service as well, all the conditions that must be reckoned with are fully satisfied.

This function of Westinghouse application engineering covers many fields, and charges itself with many responsibilities. It is engineering that concerns itself with almost every aspect of business, central station, transportation, industrial, mining, electro-chemical, etc. It has the buyer's interest constantly at heart.

Westinghouse Application Engineering works with salesmen, with buyers, with consulting engineers, with contractors, and with service and repair men; it finds and investigates new fields; it checks the behavior of apparatus, old and new; it is a bridge over which information passes freely in both directions between Westinghouse and its thousands of clients and friends.

Be glad that you are to live and work in times when the spirit of service dominates commercial operations. The greatest change that has occurred in business in the last few decades has been in the minds of men. No longer need the buyer beware for it is now known that the seller's obligation reaches beyond the completion of the sale; and that it is both wise and right that every reasonable effort be made to give the buyer full value in both product and satisfaction. The practise of this policy requires engineering of the highest type in research, design, manufacturing and every other phase of Westinghouse operations; but nowhere to greater degree than in the field of application engineering, which is essentially engineering for the buyer.

MISCHA ELMAN WILL MARRY AN AMERICAN GIRL

Violinist Upsets Rumors of Englishwoman as Bride

Mischa Elman, the celebrated violinist, who was the subject of considerable newspaper notoriety in London last summer, in connection with a widespread rumor that he was to wed an Englishwoman, has put an end to gossip by announcing his engagement to one of America's own daughters.

While on his vacation at Lake Placid this summer, Mr. Elman made the acquaintance of Miss Mildred Stone, the charming young daughter of Mr. A. F. Stone, president of the F. W. Grand chain of five and ten cent stores. Mutually attracted to each other, a rapid courtship followed, culminating in the announcement of their engagement.

Miss Stone is 22 years of age and a graduate of the Alpert Preparatory school and the Leit high school. She is a proficient linguist as well as an accomplished musician.

According to S. Hurok, Mr. Elman's concert manager, there will be no changes in Mr. Elman's plans for his trans-continental tour this season. The marriage probably will take place next summer followed by a honeymoon trip to Europe.

Mischa Elman will appear November 1 at the gymnasium as the first number of the Union board series.

CONTEST PRIZES GO TO DODGEVILLE BOY

the auctioneer's gavel descended, announcing the sale of the calf. The animal weighed 930 pounds, October 20, allowing for shrinkage, it is estimated that the animal will sell for more than $250.

The Reserve Champion Hereford of the show, exhibited by Dorothy Orr, Bagley, was sold for 26 cents a pound.

Bidding soon descended to stock yard prices, and the majority of the beevies sold at $11 to $14 a hundred. Pigs that were auctioned off in the ring topped the market at $11.25 a hundred.

Considerable interest was displayed in the Junior stock judging contest in which Jenet Biddick, aged 13, won the contest from a field of 40 entries and secured title to the large ham awarded by the Madison Packing company.

Large exhibits of pigs were entered in the Duroc Jersey and Poland China classes. The swine show included 14 Poland China pigs, 9 Duroc Jerseys and 3 Chester Whites.

Today's program includes: morning get-together, lead by T. L. Bewick, 8:30 o'clock; Trip to Madison packing company, 9:30 o'clock; games in Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 in the evening.

ments by all of the class officers sitting as an executive board.

"Senior class jobs are by no means honorary. There should be work to do. Believe with me or not, I am not afraid to make the fight."

Williams offered no platform, but said: "I was not anxious to participate in campus politics, but have been urged to enter the field. It is entirely up to the seniors to determine the outcome of the election."

Charles Rawson and Gus Tebell, candidates for sergeant-at-arms, were next to speak. Worth Shoults spoke for Lionel Tschudy. The senate ruling, as interpreted, states that only candidates for president and sergeant-at-arms shall be compelled to speak at the massmeeting. Provision may be made for those unable to appear by having someone speak for them.

The only woman to address the meeting was Mildred Downie, candidate for vice-president. Students desiring to appear on the platform other than the candidates required to speak, were privileged to do so. Men running for senior positions on the senate also were asked to state their views.
