The libraries provide public access to a wide range of material, including online exhibits, digitized collections, archival finding aids, our catalog, online articles, and a growing range of materials in many media.

When possible, we provide rights information in catalog records, finding aids, and other metadata that accompanies collections or items. However, it is always the user's obligation to evaluate copyright and rights issues in light of their own use.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a form of Greek or Latin, written on a piece of aged, torn parchment. The text is arranged in approximately 15 lines, though many characters are obscured by damage and staining. The script is dense and flowing, characteristic of medieval or early modern handwriting. The parchment is heavily discolored and shows significant wear, including large holes and tears, particularly along the left and bottom edges.
