MILITARY DRILL MAY BE MADE OPTIONAL HERE

Veteran Legislators Forecast

Forecast that the assembly will pass the bill to adopt optional military training at the University of Wisconsin was made yesterday by several veteran legislators. The bill was introduced recently.

The fact that the assembly is controlled politically by the LaFollette and socialist factions was cited to The Cardinal as a certain indication of favorable action on the pending measure.

Bill Is In Committee

At present the bill is being considered by the committee on education of the assembly. A report is expected from the committee in approximately two weeks.

Elimination of compulsory training would affect 1,600 students at the university annually, Major John S. Wood, commandant of the University of Wisconsin Reserve Officers Training Corps, declared yesterday.

Department Here Rates High

"The ultimate result also would be to reduce the effectiveness of military training here to practically zero," Major Wood stated.

"As to the effectiveness of the military training here, the answer may be given that the war department for the past three years has given the corps a distinguished college rating. Such an honor has been awarded only twice before."

Compulsion Began in 1870

History of the military training corps here was given in a report of the commandant last year. The department was founded in 1862 when a volunteer company of infantry was organized. Drill was given one hour each afternoon. Similar training was given during the Civil War.

Compulsory instruction was ordered in 1870 by the Board of Regents for freshmen and sophomores and made elective for juniors and seniors. This system has been followed by the department to the present time. The armory and gymnasium was built in 1895.

Approximately 1,300 officers were

BEAT OF HEART CAN BE HEARD NOW BY RADIO

Heart beats can now be so magnified as to be heard throughout a large auditorium, due to the radio invention of Prof. R. B. Abbott of the physics department of Purdue university.

The whole instrument is a product of the curiosity on the part of its inventor, and consists of a microphone type of stethoscope combined with a radio loud speaker and vacuum tube receiver.

Several physicians before whom the apparatus was demonstrated for the first time, declared that it will be of invaluable aid in the detecting of heart and lung diseases. As a consequence it is believed it will help save the lives of many patients. It will also be used to make phonograph records of the heart action of a number of athletes and persons with irregular heart beats.

Professor Abbott toyed with the radio receiving outfit and microphone and found that with one vacuum tube amplifier the heart beats could be heard only a few feet, but with two or more they were audible over a large area.

ADVERTISING SOLICITORS

Students interested in trying out for the advertising staff of the Cardinal are asked to report at the business office, in the Union building, 752 Langdon street, any afternoon this week after 2:30. Women as well as men are eligible for these positions.

MUSIC'S LURES CALL SKATERS

A specially adapted five piece orchestra plus a feature flood lighting system are two attractions which will lure many Saturday night fitters to patronize the first night trial experiment of the Athletic department, when dancing to music will be the event tried out.

The scheme under the auspices of the athletic leaders is chiefly designed to stimulate greater interest in ice skating. The rink out on Mendota next to the shelter house, the same used for the ice carnival, is being particularly flooded and prepared for the occasion.

The ticket sale under the direction of Doris Cushman '25, will be of Doris Cushman '25, will be in the form of tags, which the skaters will be requested to wear during the two hours of the performance, 7:45 to 9:45. George Martin, Grad. is supervising the program.

If this introductory entertainment proves a financial success, it will be continued on Friday and Saturday evenings during the rest of the season.

DON'T MARRY CO-ED IS IDEA

Club Against College Women is Organizing Here

That an organization of male students pledged against marrying college women is soon to be established on the campus became apparent yesterday during an interview with several prominent students in the junior and senior classes.

The students, all of them of marriageable age, requested that their names be withheld from publication for the present. They desire to sound out the general sentiment on the campus before completing the organization of the society which will be known as the "Society for the Welfare of Male Students."

Don't Want Co-eds

"The organization is intended primarily to influence men in the university against choosing a woman student for a wife," one of the leaders in the movement said yesterday.

"A number of us who are nearly ready for graduation and who have taken an active stand in university social life since coming to Madison have concluded that women students are not of the type that make for the best homebuilding. The home is the foundation of our country; it is clearly the duty of every college man to frown upon marriages likely to result in divorce or unhappy home relations."

Are Against "Tux" Parties

The society expects to accomplish other reforms on the campus, according to a second student interested in the matter.

"We are strongly against the many "tux" parties which have been given by sororities this year," he said. "Some sororities have given nothing but such parties since school opened. If a sorority girl does not live at the house or within a short distance of it, her partner is forced to rent a taxi for the occasion. After a few dances of this nature the expenses begin to mount considerably."

"It is time for men students of Wisconsin to take stock of themselves and begin to remedy the conditions. Even now, the women are in the majority on all the publications and in many of the activities. Shall this go on?"

Brother and Sister, Hurt

By Toboggan, Convalescing

Edwin Bayley '16 and his sister Eleanor Bayley, who were injured Saturday night when they were struck by a toboggan, have practically recovered from the accident. Merle Jackson, who has been in the General hospital as the result of the accident, is said to be doing well.

20 HIGH SCHOOL JUDGING TEAMS EXPECTED HERE

Enter Tournament on February 23

Twenty high school teams representing a score of districts in all parts of Wisconsin are expected to enter the State High School Stock Judging tournament that will be held at the College of Agriculture February 23.

Elimination contests have already been held in nine high school districts. Teams that have signified their intention of attending the state contest are: Oregon, Janesville, Ithaca, Soldier's Grove, Montford, Neenah, Oshkosh, Holman and Barron.

Elimination contests are planned in the other districts within the next few days, and the winning team in each district becomes eligible to enter the state contest.

Will Award Pennant

A beautiful pennant will be awarded by the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeder's association to the team winning the state contest. The traveling cup was won by the St. Croix Falls high school team, and spirited competition is anticipated by those in charge of the contest for the state championship again this year.

Elaborate preparations are under way at the College of Agriculture for the entertainment of the judging teams and their friends during their stay in Madison. The college will hold a winter farm festival or open house for the entertainment of the student judges.

All High Schools Invited

Invitations have been sent to practically all of the high schools in southern Wisconsin inviting the students to the festival. Visitors will be met at the train, and competent guides plan to conduct parties through each department. All of the eighteen departments in the College of Agriculture will hold exhibits and demonstrations.

Reduced rates have been secured on all of the important railroads leading into Madison. Accommodations are to be made for those who stay over night.

To Give Demonstrations

Demonstrations and exhibits are planned for the greater part of the morning of February 24. In the afternoon, the showing of the fattened and fitted university herd by agricultural students is scheduled.

The climax of the festival will come in the evening when the Wisconsin Little International Live Stock show occurs.

EDITORS OF SCORPION NOT TO BE EXPELLED

Contrary to newspaper reports, the faculty student life and interest committee has had no intention of expelling the editors of the Scorpion, a political fortnightly which appeared on the campus Friday, Dean Scott H. Goodnight said, following a conference yesterday with the students in charge.

"The conference we had with the three editors was purely a friendly one," Prof. G. M. Hyde, acting chairman of the Course in Journalism, asserted last night.

"We simply wished to know why they did not want to make their paper an official student publication. They said they were afraid of faculty censorship."

"Told that the only rules which would apply were those relating to financial supervision, eligibility and censorship of obscene matter, they expressed themselves as now contemplating such a move."

Students who were called into conference with the committee are Jesse Brooks '23, David Sinclair '24 and Wallace White '23.

WEATHER: SNOW

Snow today with cold tonight is the forecast for Madison weather. Tomorrow will be fair, with a temperature falling considerably below zero.

BREEZE WAFTS LENGTHY HAIR

"Way down east in Massachusetts Coach William Joyce, of the Lynn Classical high school, frowns upon the long, wavy locks worn by the modern "he-flapper," and in a lecture on athletics gave vent to his disapproval so strongly that nine youths are reported to have dashed to the barber shop to be shorn, in order to be eligible for school teams.

But not so at Wisconsin. Personal liberty prevails.

"It's silly to make such a rule," T. E. Jones, director of the department of physical education, said yesterday. "If the boys want to wear their hair long, we let 'em do it. There is no regulation against it."

"Athletics are for youth, of course, and it would look ridiculous to see a player wear a goatee, as I once did. As for mustaches, the fellows rarely wear them, for they might get pulled in a tussle. But as for the long hair, the men can do as they choose about that.

"And what's more," he continued, "Samson wasn't strong because of his long hair."

BADGERS MEET WOLVERINES IN TILT TOMORROW

Result to Eliminate One Team

Somebody is going to get a comic valentine tomorrow night, but only the Fates know whether it will be the Wisconsin basketball team or the quintet that fights under the Maize and Blue of Michigan.

The Wisconsin basketball team leaves tonight for Ann Arbor and stacks up against the Wolverines in their first encounter of the season tomorrow. The game was originally scheduled for last Saturday, but was postponed when Wisconsin authorities protested against a game on a slippery, waxed gym floor one night after the Michigan junior prom.

One Team to Be Eliminated

A contender for the Big Ten title will be eliminated with the result of the tilt. Wisconsin and Michigan are neck and neck in the race for second place and both are close enough to third to be uncomfortable. With Iowa racing merrily onward to a possible perfect record and a championship, runners-up cannot afford to drop more than one game.

The Hawkeyes increased their hold upon the top notch when they walked away with a 28 to 11 victory over Northwestern. Michigan is the only obstacle remaining in their path, and if the Wolverines cannot beat Iowa, the official compiler of records would do well to call in all tickets and call off the schedule.

STUART IS FOR SECOND CANAL

He Says Panama is Now Rapidly Becoming Inadequate

Should the United States build another canal in Central America?

This question which is facing statesmen and legislators at Washington today was answered "Yes" yesterday by Prof. Graham H. Stuart, author of "Latin America and United States," authority on Central American political conditions and assistant professor of political science here.

"K geologists can prove that no volcanic disturbance will endanger the proposed Nicaraguan canal, the United States will very likely go ahead with the canal in the near future," Professor Stuart declared.

Postage Stamp Stopped It

Any transportation facility that will aid trade and commerce should be encouraged, in the opinion of the professor who for that reason favors the construction also of the Great Lakes-to-Atlantic canal.

A mere postage stamp checked the building of the Nicaraguan canal in 1902 after congress had adopted the Hepburn bill providing for the project. This unique fact aided Senator John C. Spooner of Wisconsin to put through an amendment to the Hepburn bill that opened the way for the Panama canal route.

Bill Was Passed

The Nicaraguan canal bill had been introduced.

Lobbyists were active in congress for the passage of the bill in order to save hundreds of thousands of dollars sunk in the Maritime Canal company, a wild American project to build a canal in Nicaragua.

The bill was passed finally.

Then came the diplomatic couple that punctured the plans. Mark Hanna and Senator Spooner turned the tables, Professor Stuart related. They found a postage stamp which contained a picture of Mount Pelee in eruption. A photograph was sent to every member in congress.

Was Original Project

The Wisconsin senator then introduced an amendment to the bill providing that President Roosevelt might purchase the French canal company's rights in Panama for $40,000,000.

The Nicaraguan canal project was the original one proposed by the United States government. Recently upon the advisement of Secretary Weeks, war department, the canal plan was revived as a means of national defense and aid to commerce.

Why Stuart Favors It

Reasons for the new canal were cited by Professor Stuart as follows:

DUST IS FOUND IN SNOW WHICH FELL YESTERDAY

One snow bird doesn't make a winter, neither does one winter make a standard, according to Eric Miller of the Weather Bureau, who has labeled the claim that winter weather is growing milder and milder each year as pure news paper propaganda.

"It is true that the past few winters have been very mild," he said, "but they are no milder than certain winters 10 and 20 years ago, and do not mean that future winters will not be colder."

Gulf winds are due that will probably cause a thaw, but freezing weather is again in store for us after the next 24 hours.

Yesterday's snow, though it appeared to pure and white, was filled with dust particles from southwestern United States where strong winds have been blowing the snow this way.

CARDINAL STAFF

Cardinal reporters and special writers and all students trying for Cardinal editorial staff positions will meet at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the editorial office in the Union building, 752 Langdon street. Attendance is compulsory!

FORM U. W. CLUB IN MILWAUKEE

Graduates and Former Students Work For Permanent Organization

Milwaukee grads and former students in Milwaukee and its suburbs have started a definite move to establish a permanent University of Wisconsin club there in place of similar organizations previously attempted, which have disintegrated for one reason or another. Robert N. McMynn, Law '94, is directing the organization.

McMynn, who was elected president of the general alumni association last November, was an undergraduate at Williams. He took his law degree, however, at Wisconsin.

Works on Union

He became a member of the Memorial Union executive committee at the time of its conception in 1919, and since then has devoted practically all of his time to the project.

He accepted his office as president of the general alumni association in order to be better able to present to the association a well organized Wisconsin club in Milwaukee, which has always had a greater number of alumni and former students than any other city.

McMynn, in discussing the proposed organization, declared:

"I have always felt most deeply indebted to the University of Wisconsin for all that she has done for me. Although an undergraduate at Wisconsin, I can in a small way repay Wisconsin the debt I know I owe her."

Compile Mailing List

McMynn with Prof. E. H. Gardner has been at work for the past six weeks compiling a mailing list of 2,000 alumni and former students of the university, in Milwaukee, and in enlisting and organizing 200 workers who are to interview everyone of 2,000 persons preparatory to a banquet to be held at the Pfister Hotel Feb. 19. A dinner for the 200 workers will also be held Monday night to complete plans for the banquet.

A committee on arrangements to nominate officers will also meet Monday night for tentative endorsement, and on Feb. 19 for final endorsement. The committee includes Judge John C. Karel, chairman, Mrs. George Chamberlain, Ralph P. Hammond, Miss Gertrude Jacobs, Robert N. McMynn, ex-officio, and Paul Stover.

A junior University of Wisconsin club has been formed of Milwaukee students active in the university. This organization is to serve as a committee to perfect the senior organization and to give authentic reports on activities here. The committee is as follows: Lee Nichols, Fred Beckman, George Roberts, John Fitzgerald, Elsie Kuehn, Marjorie Severance, Louise Black, Alice Vogel, Dorothy Williams, Ben Pearse, Dorothy John, Ernestine Blatz, Adolph Pabst, Florence Kromer, Karl Maier, Florence Schroeder, William Reed, Maude Killam, Shirley Daxis, Walter Bauman, and Frances Seaman.

Want To Make All Cats Wild Cats And Kill 'Em

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Tame cats will not be made wild cats in Minnesota, at least not by legislative action. This was made certain today by publication of the report of the state senate's committee on game and fish which killed a bill to declare all cats, tame or otherwise, "wild cats" and confer on game wardens the power of exterminating them. It was alleged the felines are a nuisance and disease spreaders but the committee couldn't see it that way.

Retail Food Costs In January Are Lower

WASHINGTON — The retail cost of food in 16 to 19 representative cities of the U. S. decreased between Dec. 15 and Jan. 15, the department of Labor announced today. For the year period which ended Jan. 15, fifteen of the cities experienced increases ranging from less than five tenths of one percent at Omaha to 6 percent at Cleveland. As compared with the average cost in the year 1913, the retail cost of food Jan. 15, ranged from 24 percent higher at Salt Lake to 50 percent higher at Richmond.

Try To Smuggle $38,000 Diamonds Into U. S.

NEW YORK — An attempt to smuggle diamonds valued at $38,000 into New York on Jan. 27, were frustrated, it became known today, when S. Zaidel Rosman, a wealthy restaurateur was arrested by a treasury agent. Rosman confessed that he brought 33 diamonds from Poland and gave them to a friend waiting on the pier as the steamer Bernegia docked. The gems were concealed in a leather handle used for carrying a steamer rug.

Teams have been selected and practice will begin next week for a bowling tournament to be held by the different co-ed classes of the University of Illinois the last part of this month.

TO HOLD FOLK DANCE CLASSES

Miss Burchenal, Author on Folk Dancing, Comes Here

Miss Elizabeth Burchenal, the leading American author on folk dancing, will be at the university this week to give instruction in folk dancing, under the auspices of the woman's division of the department of physical education. Classes will be conducted at 2:30 and 4:30 o'clock daily at Lathrop hall. Members of the department of physical education are planning entertainments in honor of Miss Burchenal.

The classes are primarily for women majoring in physical education, but a few vacancies remain which give students outside of the department an opportunity to enter the classes. Information may be obtained by calling University 67. A fee of $3 will be charged for a series of five lessons.

Miss Burchenal is the organizer and first chairman of the folk dance committee of the Playground Association of America. She is a member of the staff of the National Community service, under which she trains recreational leaders.

Invited by Lady Aberdeen to come to Ireland in 1913, Miss Burchenal went abroad to give a course of training to 600 teachers of physical education in Ireland.

Miss Burchenal is the author of many books on folk dancing. They include "Dances of the People," "Folk Dances and Sing Games," "American Country Dances," "Folk Dances of Denmark," "Folk Dances of Finland," and "Folk Dance Music."

Women of the department of physical education will entertain at dinner in honor of Miss Burchenal at the Woman's building, Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock. A small luncheon will be served at the University club Wednesday noon.

Weather will be made to order for the study of the effect of climate on the disease resisting ability of different plants at the plant pathology department during the winter farm festival that will be held at the college of agriculture, Feb. 23-24.

"Plants, like people, vary greatly in their ability to resist disease," says R. B. Streets, plant pathologist, yesterday. "Plants also vary greatly in their ability to resist disease under different weather conditions."

NEW REPUBLICS CLASH OVER SEAPORT

Business section of Memel, Baltic seaport.

Three nations are vitally interested in the disposition of Memel, Baltic seaport. Inhabited principally by Germans, and formerly under German rule, situated in a Lithuanian district, but coveted by Poland, the city government is being administered by the French. The three first named nations desire control of the seaport, particularly Lithuania, which has but twenty miles of seacoast and but one port. Should the city come under Polish rule the Poles would dominate Lithuania commercially. The port is one of the most important on the continent.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

200 ATHLETES ARE ENTERED IN RELAY RACES

Military Academies Represented

More than 200 athletes, representing 14 outside institutions, will compete in the seventeenth annual Relay carnival to be held in the gym annex next Saturday night. The track meet, which originally was started as an intramural event, is the largest in the Middle West.

In addition to the relays among military academies, sorority teams, fraternity teams, state colleges, and high schools, special open events are on the program and have drawn a large list of entries.

Marquette Will Come

Athletic rivalry between Marquette university and Wisconsin will be carried to one more sport when a Hilltop relay quartet runs against Capt. Ralph Spetz and a trio of mates in a special relay. Track has recently become revived as a major sport at Marquette and with a large number of men reporting for workouts, a good squad has been developed.

20 Sororities Represented

University interest is centered somewhat around the inter-sorority and inter-fraternity relays. Twenty women's organizations have teams entered in their meet, and twelve fraternities will compete for prizes. In the sorority relay, teams of four men will run, with the first man going a half mile, the second running two laps, the third a quarter mile, and the anchor man carrying the baton for a mile.

Varsity track luminaries will run against each other to cop the title for the sorority they represent. Capt. Ralph Spetz and Wayne Ramsay are outstanding cinder-track experts on the Alpha Chi Omega quartet. Wade captains Alpha Delta Pi. Lionel Tschudy, Varsity cross-country runner, is leader of Alpha Xi Delta. Rossmeissel, another "W" wearer, heads the Gamma Phi outfit.

U. of Washington Glee Club Makes Annual State Tour

The Glee club will make its twenty-fifth annual state wide tour. On the tour the club will give programs at high schools and at meetings of alumni associations. After the concerts the club will give dances at which the music will be furnished by the glee club orchestra.

Three Days of Festivities Accompany Michigan Prom

The most brilliant social event of the year, the annual J-hop, was attended by more than 700 couples last Friday night in Barbour and Waterman gymnasium on the University of Michigan campus. John P. Lawton, general chairman, and Elizabeth Childs, both of Hinsdale, Michigan, led the grand march.

Prom itself marked the opening of a three day gala celebration. Teas, lunches, parties and informal dances at Ann Arbor were held in abundance.

Four performances of "In and Out", the school play, were given.

Entrance Requirements is Subject of Society Debate

The Agricultural Literary society debated on the question of entrance requirements to the university at its regular meeting held Friday night. Then negative, argued by R. E. Orr '23 and R. P. Matteson '23, won the decision on the proposition "Resolved that the entrance requirements of the University of Wisconsin be made more stringent." W. T. Renk '24 and V. J. Olson '24 upheld the affirmative side. The debate was followed by a discussion of current news by E. Bunce '24 and an extemporaneous talk on the Ruhr Valley situation by A. M. Ternes '23.

Student Volunteers Propose Changes in Their Constitution

The Student Volunteers met at the Baptist student home last evening after a supper. At this meeting the proposed amendments to the Student Volunteer state constitution were discussed by the state secretary and the members.

MEET TO SHOW OHIO PROSPECTS FOR MAT TITLE

(Special to The Cardinal)

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12.—A direct line on the prospects of the undefeated Ohio State university wrestling team for the Western Conference championship will result from the match with Kentucky scheduled for next Saturday. The Buckeyes will tackle the Kentuckians following the Ohio State-Chicago basketball game in the Coliseum.

Kentucky lost to Indiana 34 to 12. Indiana is the one remaining obstacle between the fast-going Buckeyes and clear title to Western Conference team honors.

Individual titles will be determined in the Western Intercollegiate tournament to be held in Columbus March 16 and 17. Nebraska and Ames, in addition to strictly Western Conference schools, will enter favorites in the championship tourney.

HILLTOP MAY SEND PUCKMEN

Marquette to Come Saturday If It Can Be Arranged

After having proved itself in the game against Minnesota, the Wisconsin hockey team is looking forward to future games with more hope than it has had for some time. As soon as the snow is removed from the lower campuss rink, practice will begin again.

Tentative arrangements have been made for a match with Marquette university team to be held here next Saturday. While the meet is not yet a sure thing, definite arrangements will be concluded within the next few days.

If the Marquette bunch can be brought to Madison, a good match will be assured. The champion Minnesotans have considered Marquette for their schedule.

After the Marquette game, the next opposition that the Badgers will face will be in the form of another two-game series with Minnesota. The games will probably be somewhat faster than those played here last week because of the better condition of the rink at Minnesota.

The game played last week showed in the Wisconsin team a marked improvement and if the men continue to show the same form that they displayed Saturday, a victory at Minneapolis will not be impossible.

OHIO STATE BAND TO GIVE VARIED PROGRAMS

In an effort to present a varied program to audiences in Ohio towns which they will tour April 9 to 12, members of the Ohio State university cadet band are developing an extensive series of specialties.

"Tubby" Essington, rotund drum major, famed for his eccentric strutting at football games, will appear as end man in a minstrel act to be presented by 33 of the bandmen. Milford L. Landis of Columbus, student director, will act as interlocutor. Other features will be a brass quartet, an orchestra, vocal octet, xylophone duets and a saxophone sextet.

Washington U. Seismograph Registers Extreme Shock

One of the most severe and longest continued earthquake shocks in years was recorded by the University of Washington seismograph Feb. 3. It was estimated by University authorities there as being about 1,800 miles distant. Later reports showed it to have been in the Hawaiian Islands.

TWO NEW ATHLETES REPORT TO COACHES

George Gebhart, Racine, Wis., is an addition to the Wisconsin freshman basketball team. He was a football and basketball star with Racine high school. Gebhart plays a guard position.

Another athlete to enroll here this semester is Smother, who was high jumper on the freshman track team last year. He clears the bar at 6 feet.

WRESTLERS ARE PREPARING FOR HAWKEYE MEET

Slight Injuries From Gopher Go

Coach George Hitchcock is giving his Varsity wrestlers a light workout to-day after their splendid showing last Saturday in defeating Minnesota. This was the first victory in 8 years. The men came through the meet in good form with the exception of Schaeckel who suffered a bad arm due to a wrist lock used by his opponent. Hembre has a badly scratched face.

The work today will be in preparation for the meet with Iowa here on February 23. The coach will show the men the mistakes that showed up in the meet.

Templin Must Win

The meet with Iowa will be a tough one according to the coach, but he expects to send in a team that will fight all the way. A great deal depends on Captain Templin's showing in this meet as it will tell whether he will get in to the Conference meet. He has to win one bout besides the Iowa match to be eligible for the conference. The coach also expects to have one or two other men in the conference meet beside Templin. They will probably be Hembre and Benbow.

Wrestling at Wisconsin in the last few years has taken rapid strides. Especially this year since the team has been making such an excellent showing. They have won all the meets they have entered and they won for the first time in eight years from Minnesota Saturday. Since the team is making such a good showing and so much interest is being shown in the sport by the student body, the Athletic Council may give wrestling serious consideration as a major sport.

"The men who are reporting this year will make excellent material for a team next year," the coach said yesterday. "I am working with that end in view."

ELEVEN MEN ANSWER DAD VAIL'S CREW CALL

Eleven veterans from the 1922 squad responded to Coach Dad Vail's call for crew candidates at yesterday's practice.

Although it is expected that many more will report within the next few days, these men will form the nucleus about which Coach Vail must build a crew and upon which Wisconsin must pin its hopes of getting to the Poughkeepsie races in the late spring.

In addition to Commodore Lloyd Taylor, the men who reported include Paul Okerstrom, Don Newcomb, H. E. Johnson, R. J. Scheutz, W. S. Smith, Everett Crozier, T. Bauhus, E. M. Plettner, H. J. Bentson, R. C. Klussendorf and Arthur Platten. Practice will continue every day until late March when the lake will be open for outside work.

Would Name Michigan Building After Yost

Michigan cannot do enough for her grand old man of football, Fielding H. Yost. The students of the University are circulating a petition amongst themselves asking that Michigan's new field house be named after the veteran coach. The field house is nearing completion, and when finished will be among the largest and best equipped in the country. The main room will be the exact size of a regulation gridiron.

U. of Washington Hockey Finds Little Competition

Ice hockey is now one of the principal minor sports at the University of Washington. Most of the games have been played with local amateur teams but it is hoped that there will be more college hockey teams available next season.

German Society Meets Here Wednesday Night

The Deutsche Verein of the university will meet Wednesday night in Lathrop parlors. A program will be held and refreshments served. W. Holderman of the German department will give a reading.

GYM SQUAD IS PREPARING FOR MAROON MATCH

After defeating the Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. team by a tight squeeze Saturday night, the Badger gymnasts are practicing to get in better shape for the meet with Chicago at Chicago on February 23.

"We will have to put in some mighty hard work in the next two weeks if we hope to win from Chicago," said Dean Kitchen, captain of the Wisconsin team last night.

Coach Frank Leitz has been handicapped all season by a lack of material to develop a team from. The men got an early start last fall and have been working hard to perfect their form in the various events.

The next meet is with the conference champions. Chicago has held the gymnastic championship for five years. They lost a number of their last year's team, but reports say that strong men have been found for all these vacancies. The Midway team recently defeated the Milwaukee Y team by a larger margin than did Wisconsin.

STATE TOURNEY ON SATURDAY

Riders From Three States Will Compete at Muir Nnoll

Star ski-jumpers of the Middle West will get another opportunity to compete in Madison next Saturday afternoon. The Badger Ski club is sponsoring the Wisconsin State tournament which will be held on that day, and riders from Wisconsin and Illinois have entered.

"If at first you don't succeed, try again is one reason why we are holding this second meet," said a member of the ski club yesterday. "The national meet was financially unsuccessful because unfavorable weather conditions prevailed." "We want to put this tourney across. We also want to give university students and townspeople a chance to see star jumpers in action under good conditions."

Ragnar Omtvedt, Grand Beach, Mich., representative; Sven Welhaven, Milwaukee, and one of the most graceful ski-riders in competition; Andrew Olson, Stevens Point; and several members of the Norge Ski club, Chicago, have signed their intention to compete here. Sverre Strom '23, and a selected group from the Badger Ski club will also jump.

Strom returned last night from Minneapolis where he won the title of champion college ski-jumper. He finished first with a jump of 78 feet.

NEW TWO-CENT STAMPS SOLD AT POST-OFFICE

Bought any stamps lately? If you are one of the students who writes home once every semester and that happens to be this week you may notice a difference in the two-cent variety that the postmaster hands out for a couple of cents.

A new style of the two-cent denomination is being sold at the Madison post office. It is slightly lighter in color and the whole design has been changed.

The head of Washington has been enlarged slightly, and the name is printed below the figure. The numeral 2 has been enlarged to distinguish it from other denominations of the same color. The wreath around the oval of the old stamp has been replaced by the words United States postage.

No particular reason was given by the local authorities for the change. They were received last week and have been disposed of since the supply of the old style ran out.

Washington U. to Sponsor State Basketball Tourney

A state-wide basketball championship tournament for high schools to be held at the University of Washington is being sponsored by the Associated Students. Sixteen high school teams, winners in their leagues, will compete in the finals which will be held at the University of Washington. The men will be entertained during their stay at the organized houses on the campus.

M. A. C. AQUATIC SQUAD MAY BE BROUGHT HERE

To Come in Place of Michigan

If present plans go through, the Wisconsin swimming team's next meet will be against the team from the Milwaukee Athletic club, according to Coach Joe Steinauer. If the meet is scheduled, it will be held here on Friday.

Michigan was to have been here for a meet next Friday but their team has been broken up and Wisconsin will not be able to meet them. The Milwaukee team will be brought to Madison to fill the date if that is possible.

Ineligibility Hurts Squad
Suffering from losses through ineligibility, the Badger fish took a beating at the hands of Minnesota last Saturday by a 41 to 27 count. Failure to take second and third places in crucial events spelled defeat when it might have meant victory.

Captain Johnny Bennett upheld the reputation he built for himself last year and took first places in his events. His work has vastly improved since the Indiana meet held here when he failed to show his usual form, and at his present rate of speed he will again bid for conference honors.

Ewald Has a Chance
Ewald, dash man who is almost as speedy as Bennett, was declared ineligible on the eve of the Gopher meet and his loss was disastrous. While there is a possibility that he may be eligible later in the season, the chances are that the team will work without him.

A summary of the results of the Minnesota meet follows:

160-yard relay—Won by Minnesota team composed of Hill, Hanft, Lanpher and Gow, time 1:20 710.

Fancy diving—Bird (M), Brunner (W), Morony (W).

40-yard free style—Bennett (W), Gow (M), Hanft (M), time 20 3-10.

200-yard breast—Czerwonky (W) Dinnmore (M), Merrill (M) time 2:45 3-10.

220-yard style—Lanpher (M), Taylor (W) Mulvey (M) time 2:42 7-10.

60-foot plunge for distance—Nutting (M), Sonnesyn, (M) Salstein (W), time 27 4-10.

150-yard back—Holmes (M) Ellicott (W) time 2:01 1-10.

100 yard free style—Bennett (W) Gow (M) Hanft (M) time 56 3-10.

Lange Introduces Bill to Abolish High School Frats

A bill introduced by Senator Herman T. Lange of Eau Claire, to abolish fraternities in the public high schools and grade schools of the state will come before the senate committee on education and public welfare Thursday afternoon. This bill makes it unlawful for any student to be a member of any secret organization in the high schools and grade schools. The offenders are to be punished by expulsion.

Inter-fraternity Council to Discuss Rushing Tonight

The Interfraternity council will hold its regular meeting tonight at the Delta Upsilon house. Rushing will be the chief topic of discussion. "Although the question of deferred rushing has been dropped, other matters concerned with next season's rushing will be taken up," stated Walter Porth '23, president of the council.

ENGLISH 30 AND 33

In conformity with a policy of keeping abreast of, or a little ahead of the educational times, the English department last year devised a new course in English literature, course 33, to be offered simultaneously with English survey, course 30, as a prerequisite to an English major and as a required course for all B. A. degree candidates.

It was thought that course 30 attempted to cover too much ground, that it combined too much history with the actual study of English for its own sake and for the needs of the average student required to take the additional English credits. Course 33 was to meet the difficulty.

Despite the existence of the two courses last fall, a surprising number of students continued to elect course 30. Lecture rooms were overcrowded and class rooms were swamped. Relief was necessary. The best solution to the problem seemed to be to induce students to elect 33 instead of 30.

Advisors urged students—sometimes against their will—to take the newer course, saying that it was virtually the same except that it covered about one-third less work, since two credits were given for 33 and three for 30.

An analysis of the work in the two courses gives some rather contradictory information concerning the amount of work. Students in course 30 studied approximately 9,500 lines of poetry and read about 2,500 more for outside reading work. In addition they covered a little less than 200 pages of prose reading and were required to memorize 10 lines of poetry.

In course 33 approximately 11,000 lines of poetry were studied for discussion and about 80 pages of prose reading in a text. Memory work in the course totaled about 270 lines.

And so, by figures, the total volume of work in 33 is much nearer that required in course 30 than it is "one-third less." Course 30 has two quizzes and one lecture hour each week. The lecture is along the same line as the work covered and is designed to be an aid to the student taking the study. One more credit is the premium for electing 30.

The particular difficulty of the present situation seems to be that not only does course 33 apparently defeat its own purpose by requiring approximately as much work as does 30, but that also the two courses, parallel in nature, are offered for different amounts of academic credit.

The result is natural. Students gravitate toward the course giving the most credit for the same quantity of work.

And then students who are earnestly advised to take course 33 feel that they have been hoaxed when they learn of students getting three credits for doing what is apparently no greater quantity of work.

Course 33 is a good course. It fills a definite need in the cultural program of a student's education. Standing alone without the competition of course 30 with its three credits, it would probably be subject to little criticism.

But certainly there is no surer way of pushing a course out of existence than by offering a better rewarded one like 30 as a substitute and then incurring the ill-will of students, who inevitably pass along the word of their bad choice and ill-success to their fellows.

For the English department the course is an experiment, and a laudable experiment. Experiments are necessary for progress. But first experiments are certain to have faults. Here in the course 33 experiment is a definite fault.

Discounting the possibility that department heads may not expect the excellence of work from students in 33 that they do in 30 and therefore give less credit, it is still necessary to differentiate more between the amount of work required in the two courses or award both the same credit if they are to be placed on the equitable basis that will keep course 33 in good repute and establish its success as a progressive experiment.

The Orph Owl

By R. B. S.

The fact that Orpheus has taken up the little game of "week by week we are getting better and better" has sent us forth bearing a continual glow of optimism. We almost feel confident that it will stick. Funny isn't it? Everything that was presented to us last night to say the least could be termed as "different." And that is a mighty big boost on the path of entertainment.

HEART DARTS

Tomorrow is St. Valentine's day.

The mails will overflow with gaily-covered cards, square white envelopes, and heart-shaped candy boxes—expressive tokens containing sentiments of admiration and affection—perhaps directed to mother and dad.

Both sexes will use scintillating verses as Cupid's arrows to pierce the hearts of unrequited love.

It is the one day of the year given over to lover's festival.

The association of the festival in commemoration of the death of St. Valentine, Roman priest of the third century B. C., seems to be purely accidental.

It was the practice in ancient Rome during the month of February to celebrate in honor of June, goddess of marriage and on this occasion, names of young women were put into a box and drawn by men as fate directed. Such was the promiscuous lottery.

The idea is current that for lack of a better day for lovers to express their affinities, the day on which the death of St. Valentine occurred was chosen in commemoration of his life.

At the time of Chaucer the belief was prevalent that the mating season of the birds began on that day.

But it matters little what the origin and history be. The name bears a significance which does not begin with Roman monks nor cease to exist when the birds remain south.

And so we're sending valentines today.

BEWARE: FLU

The student has a tough time avoiding contact with people. The advice of doctors to stay away from public gatherings when epidemics start can't very well be carried out.

But precautions can be taken.

Flu is reported prevalent in the state. No case have been discovered in Madison, but grippe, an irritating form, is rather wide spread.

Students can avoid trouble by taking necessary precautions via the medicine route and by reporting immediately to the clinic when fever feeling or grippe appears.

Under the chairmanship of Dean David A. Robertson, a committee of faculty members is making plans for stricter entrance requirements at the University of Chicago. The university is unable to provide adequately for all of the students who are overcrowding it.

Someone has advanced the opinion that the letter "e" is the most unfortunate character in the English alphabet, because it is always out of cash and never out of danger.

For some reason he overlooked the fortunes of the letter, so we call his attention to the fact that "e" is never in war and always in peace. It is the beginning of existence and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no meat, no life, no heaven. It is the center of honesty, makes love perfect. It is the beginning of eternity and the end of time and space; the beginning of every end and the end of every place. Without it there would be no editors, no devils, no news.

WESLEY GROUP PRESENT PLAY

Reverend Blakeman Says Dramatics Are Not New Here

Dramatics in Methodist college and universities where Wesley Foundations are active, is not an innovation, in the opinion of Rev. Edward Blakeman, pastor at the Wesley Foundation here. Pageantry and religious dramas have been sponsored at Wisconsin within the past few years, but no attempt has been made to produce any other type of play.

Recently a dramatic club was formed by students of the Methodist Student social center at Ohio State university under the direction of Rev. W. H. Fowler, student pastor. Because of the fact that all students with dramatic talent at Ohio state cannot become affiliated with campus societies, Rev. Fowler said that he feels the necessity for such an organization. It will be confined to giving plays for the social center.

"At Wisconsin," Reverend Blakeman said yesterday afternoon, "the dramatic organizations are sufficient to care for the demands for drama other than religious. However, the Methodists have provided for pageantry and religious drama among the students, and here we have a committee promoting this work. Miss Elizabeth Wilcox of Chicago and a corps of assistants is maintained by the Methodist church for this very purpose. Our committee hopes to bring Miss Wilcox to Madison to direct a religious drama which will be presented after Easter."

The committee promoting dramas at the Wesley Foundation here is composed of Mrs. Elmer Sevinghaus, Mrs. E. M. Fisher and Miss Rowena Brown. Last Sunday the students of the foundation presented a play directed by Miss Marion Chase.

STEBBINS TO TALK ON CHEMISTRY OF STARS

The Wisconsin section of the American Chemical society announces a lecture on "The Chemistry of the Stars," by Prof. Joel Stebbins to be given at 8 o'clock Wednesday in the auditorium of the Chemistry building.

Dr. Stebbins is the new professor of astronomy at the Washburn observatory. He is an authority on the spectroscopy and photometry of the stars. The composition and temperature of the stars is a subject of great popular interest and scientific importance. Valuable contributions to our knowledge of atomic structure and the interpretation of the periodic table are now coming from Dr. Stebbins.

Milwaukee automobile dealers will also exhibit here, showing cars not shown by local firms.

About 80 student engineers busily re-surveyed Devils Lake region again last summer in the annual university field course.

Present indications are that the French policy of prosecuting the wealthiest and most powerful industrial leaders of Germany has failed to win the sympathy of the workers in the Ruhr. Clefe, Thyssen, Kesten, Lenglemann, Weieslenhofer and Spindler have been tried and fined for obstructing production, but the passive policy has continued without letup and workers and employers seem to be united as never before.

COLLEGE TOWNS ARE WARNED OF FLEECING YOUTH

College towns are warned by the Chamber of Commerce of Lawrence, Kan., a clever young swindler who recently fleeced the students and merchants of that town out of hundreds of dollars and valuable merchandise.

At Lawrence the young man of scholarly attainments passed as an heir awaiting settlement of an estate in Pocatello, Idaho, enrolled in the University of Kansas explaining that his necessary credits were on the way to the university register, obtained room and board in the home of a professor, and provided himself with the best of everything in the way of clothing and other goods. He was immediately rushed by three fraternities. The students, clothiers, professors, jewelers, and caterers did not hesitate to cash checks for him.

After a week of rapid rise in social circles, he suddenly received a telegram from Pocatello informing him that his mother was ill. Securing money from a local bank to pay the price of a ticket in an opposite direction, the "student" placed extravagant orders with clothiers, trunk dealers and others to equip him hurriedly. The day of his departure he was accompanied to the station like a football hero or an operatic star by a troop of admiring student friends.

Within a short time the checks made out by the young man began to filter back to Lawrence with the information from the Pocatello bank that there was no one by the name of Conrad Cameron known among the Pocatello bankers and that the person was undoubtedly a mere pretender.

SMITH TO LECTURE AT INDIANA CONFERENCE

Prof. Leonard S. Smith, of the department of city planning and highway engineering will leave Wednesday noon for Lafayette, Ind., where he has been invited to lecture at the Indiana state conference on city planning to be held on February 15 under the auspices of Purdue university. Professor Smith will speak on "Housing and Its Relation to City Planning."

The object of the conference is to arouse a greater interest in city planning and building. Professor Smith will tell of the need of city planning to do away with slums, making the statement that "The fierce resentment toward society by certain classes often has its basis in lack of decent home life."

He says that "Sane city planning will furnish the greatest possible help to furnish wholesome home conditions and to the stabilization of value in all classes of

MODERN SHOPS TO OPEN SOON

Barbers and Confectioners Will Occupy New State Street Building

Two modern shops, one to be managed by students, will open on or about Monday February 16 in the new building just east of the Campus cafe at 714 State street. Ray's barber shop, with H. E. Grenzow and M. P. Haig as managers, will be found in the west side of the building, while the Campus Soda Grill, operated by Herman and Louis Wigonitz '26, will be in the other side. Final equipment was being installed and the last of decorating was being done yesterday.

Grenzow and Haig, old employees of Runkel's barber shop, have an investment of $5,000 in equipment which includes a Wayne water system and a sterilizer. The shop will feature hair-cutting, hair-bobbing, and massaging.

The new confectionery store run by students will contain a full line of confections. $3,000 has been spent for equipment and decorations, and a feature of the store will be the handling of student home town papers. Julius Giller, a confectioner from Jersey City, N. J., is expected in Madison soon to aid the student managers.

MAGAZINE AIDS STUDENT WORK

Educational News-Magazine Made Possible By a Banker

To promote excellence and thrift in school work is to be the aim of The American Student, a national educational news-magazine which is to make its initial appearance March 1 under the editorship of Robert L. Tennis, Buffalo, N. Y.

It is to be a non-partisan, non-political, non-sectarian publication, and is to be started on a loan made by a New York banker, who is interested in education and thrift. It will contain departments for every branch of educational work including separate pages for the National Education association, federal department of education, agricultural schools, normal schools, vocational institutions, private schools, preparatory colleges, high schools and elementary institutions, and material from American possessions and Canadian schools. Teachers' associations, state departments of education, and college instructors will have separate departments for their news. One department will be devoted to athletics. Coaches, trainers and noted athletes will contribute to this section.

Five independent collection sources will provide most of the material for The American Student: a staff of trained newspaper men strategically located to cover the United States and Canada, an exchange arrangement with the publications of schools and colleges, all educational material available at the federal commission of education, the National Education association and state and district educational bodies, leading newspapers; and the contributions of readers. Dr. John J. Tigert, commissioner of education, Washington, D. C., says of The American Student in a letter to Mr. Tennis:

"I am sure you will find educators generally in sympathy with what you are doing, as it has long been recognized that the proper foundation for thrift and economy is in reaching, through educational means, the boys and girls."

Two glimpses of Larry Cheney.

Larry Cheney, who once hurled a mean spitball in the National League, opines that he can fool the wise batters some more. So, after an absence of three years from the majors he hopes to hook up with one of the big league clubs. Larry believes that he would be allowed to use his spit, if signed, due to the fact that he was using that ball before the majors banned the moist delivery. ## COUE METHODS OLD AS HILLS

Authorities Say French Doctor's Popularity is Due to Publicity

That the methods employed and the results achieved by Dr. Emile Coue are as old as the hills and that the man simply rose to the fore because of a vast amount of publicity he has been given, are the opinions of doctors, ministers and psychologists of Madison and the university.

It is only those who think they are sick or crippled, not those who really are that Coue promises to aid and heal. Some people get into a state of hysteria, think that they are not well and are cured when Coue simply extracts them from their state of hysteria by a sort of hypnosis. Such is the explanation advanced by several local men who would be authorities on the subject.

"It is the same psychological treatment which is made in many other similar cases such as mental diseases," Dr. C. H. Bunting, professor of psychology, assents.

"Coue's entire work is built upon faith, the faith which he instills into his subjects," declared Rev. H. C. Hengel. "He works by mental suggestion, a method as old as the hills. His 'Day by day' phrase is the principal thing which has served to make him so popular and well known today."

"Many other men have been doing the same thing which Coue is doing and do not become so famous because they were not given the vast amount of publicity which this Frenchman is receiving."

Dr. Reginald Jackson, of the Jackson clinic, declared that Coue heals the halt and the blind and the sick in much the same way that Christ worked His miracles two thousand years ago.

Prof. C. L. Hull of the department of philosophy, said that although there had been a slight increase in the registration in psychology classes and in the interest of psychological things, he could not account for either increase by the popularity of Coue. He thought that the French doctor had nothing to do with the attitude of students toward psychology.
