BASKET TEAM PREPARES FOR CHICAGO TILT

Men Getting in Shape for Hard Game Next
Saturday

Returning from Ann Arbor victorious in their second conference game of the year, the Badger basketball squad started on a week of hard practise in preparation for the Chicago game, scheduled for next Saturday at Chicago. Coach W. E. Meanwell called his men out yesterday afternoon for a long drill, and will keep them going every day this week. Meanwell believes that a victory over the Maroons Saturday will put his team in a class with the title contenders.

Wisconsin enthusiasts were more than pleased at the outcome of the Michigan game last week. The Wolverines recently returned from a tour through the south with a long string of victories to their credit, and had not been defeated until last Saturday night. Then the Wisconsin combination came from behind, and overcame a six point lead, which their opponents had gained in the first period. Ragged basket-shooting, which lost the initial contest of the season to Northwestern, was not in evidence at Ann Arbor. It is believed that the Badgers have routed this jinx, and that in the future the scores will be even larger.

Chicago is Strong

The Maroons have every member of their 1919-20 championship five on this season's team with the exception of Hinkle, the former captain, who has left school and is playing with the Bloomington professional team of Bloomington, Illinois. Coach Stagg expects to take another championship this year with this strong aggregation, and has gotten away to a good start. In the ten games that Chicago has played thus far, they have not once been defeated. Most of the scores have been decidedly top-heavy, proving that the Maroon basket-shooters are hitting the hoop with their usual accuracy.

Stagg has a tight defense with which to worry the Badger attack.

UNIVERSITY STUDENT DIES AT MILWAUKEE

Word has been received of the death of William D. Neilson '23, Sunday at his home in North Milwaukee, Wis. The funeral will be held today in Milwaukee and will be attended by the members of Theta Chi fraternity to which he belonged. Neilson was a member of Agricultural Literary society, the sophomore commission, and on the advertising staff of the Country magazine.

PAUL V. GANGELIN '23

Paul V. Gangelin '23 has been elected editor-in-chief of the Wisconsin Literary magazine for the rest of the school year, filling the place left vacant by the resignation of Dudley Brooks grad, who leaves at the end of this semester.

Since last semester Gangelin has been a member of the Literary magazine board, and he was recently appointed assistant editor. He has been a constant contributor, chiefly of poetry, during the last two years. The sketch "What's the Trouble," which appeared in a recent issue, was one of his contributions.

Gangelin was on the Badger board last year, and belongs to the Stranglers. During the summer he has done newspaper work in various places.

SHOP PRACTICE TO BE SHOWN IN FACTORY MOVIE

Advertising Club Secures Film
of Gisholt Company

A five-reel motion picture showing the entire plant of the Gisholt Machine company in operation and also showing some of Madison's unique municipal features, will be presented Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Engineering auditorium, free of charge, by Ellis F. Muther, sales manager of the Gisholt Machine company, under the auspices of the Advertising club of the university.

Many ultra-modern manufacturing methods, the result of a varied experience, including that obtained in the manufacture of munitions during the war, will be demonstrated on the screen. Details of shop practice will be illustrated.

Views of Madison will also be thrown on the screen.

"Madison has a unique geographical location," said Mr. Luther in discussing this part of his motion picture. "Located on the four lakes, it is surrounded by some of the most beautiful scenery in the country. It is perhaps the only city in the United States whose railways approach through the 'front yard' instead of through back streets and alleys. Madison is the only city in

LYNAUGH, ON STAND, SAYS SHOOTING WAS ACCIDENTAL

DICTIONARY!

A Multitude of Meanings
May Be Uncovered in the Word "Jamboree"

Jamboree—a frolic or spree. Yea, brothers! That's what the dictionary says—together with a lot of other interesting things that maybe you didn't know.

Do you know what "jamb" means? Well, it may mean a side-post or it may mean "a cheek or side of helmet or shield." And the committee wants to make it very plain that at this ball there is not to be any "jamb-to-jamb" dancing—not by any means.

Another meaning of that first syllable which we are going to pass over quickly and not leave you too interested is—"leg." Let us hasten to say that we pursued the subject further until we found that when the word is spelled with an "e," "jambe," is means "armor for legs," and this is the part we are emphasizing.

The floor committee noticed the following meaning of the term: "a lone hand in euchre, played only by agreement." And then they passed out the very special advice to come early enough on Saturday night not to have a lone hand to play, because they're worse in jamborees than in euchre,—and other places. But in the jam at the Jamboree there won't be chance for many.

ANNOUNCE JUDGES OF JOINT DEBATE

Judges for the joint debate between Philomathia and Hesperia Literary societies as announced by the Forensic board are: Gov. John J. Blaine, Chief Justice Robert G. Siebecker, Judge John Vinge, Judge M. B. Rosenberry, Prof. E. B. Skinner of the mathematics department, and Edward A. Fitzpatrick of the state board of education.

Charles D. Assofsky '21 will open the debate, speaking for Philomathia in the affirmative, and F. Halsey Kraege '22 will be the first speaker for the negative. Robert B. Stewart '23, and Ralph E. Axley '23, will be second speakers for the two sides. Sterling H. Tracy '22 will be the closing speaker for Philomathia, and Leo H. Kohl '22 will be closer for the Hesperians.

The meeting will be called to order by Governor Blaine at 7:30 next Friday evening in Music hall. The discussion will be on allowing Japanese resident in the United States full American citizenship.

ADVERTISING STAFF TRYOUTS

Tryouts for positions on the advertising staff of The Daily Cardinal will be held this week. Anyone wishing to enter this tryout to fill staff vacancies should interview the advertising manager at the Union building from 4:30 to 6 p. m., today or Wednesday.

Admits That He Was Angered by Crowd

JEFFERSON, WIS., Jan. 10.—Matthew B. Lynaugh, Madison policeman, who shot and killed Carl E. Jandorf, university sophomore, last May 28, took the stand at 2 o'clock this afternoon and gave, perhaps, the coolest account of the story of the killing, claiming that he had no intention of shooting anyone and that as Jandorf's "blow hit, the gun went off."

State's attorneys, however, believe Lynaugh's testimony will tend to convict him, because it can be used to show motive for the shooting. Lynaugh declared that between the Phi Delta Theta house and the corner of Lake and Langdon street, he was "tripped four times" and on cross-examination he told John F. Baker, for the state, that each time he became a little more angry.

Six character witnesses were called to testify late this afternoon; and it is expected that the case will be closed sometime tomorrow, with a possibility that the state will make its opening argument to the jury before court adjourns tomorrow night.

Lynaugh Cool

Lynaugh sat cool and composed, throughout the two hours or so that he was on the stand. His hands were clasped in his lap except for intervals when Mr. Baker gave him the revolver to demonstrate the movements he made in warning the crowd on the day of the fatal shooting. He broke into tears when he took his place beside his wife during the 15 minutes recess this afternoon, but when he again took the stand he showed no sign of emotion.

The plausibility of Lynaugh's accident plea was considerably strengthened this morning when Dr. W. W. Gill, the physician who performed the post mortem examination, testified that "the bullet passed through the boy's body in a downward direction, making its exit five inches lower than it had entered."

It was felt that a group of representative women, with two years of university experience, would be of service in supporting and aiding campus enterprises and in furthering the Wisconsin spirit, despite the

FORMER BADGER
PROFESSOR HAS
TREASURY POST

Professor T. S. Adams is Chief Advisor on Matters of Taxation

Prof. T. S. Adams, formerly of the economics department, is now acting as chief adviser for the United States Treasury department on financial matters of tax legislation and administration, according to Professor W. O. Hotchkiss, state geologist, who recently returned from Washington.

"At the declaration of war with Germany, the United States government called to Washington many of the leading professors of the country," said Professor Hotchkiss.
"Expert assistance and advice was sought by the various department heads to aid them in that period of emergency. The treasury department called from the University of Wisconsin Professor Adams, who is the recognized authority on matters of taxation.

"Emergency taxation measures which were adopted by the government during the crisis of the war were in a considerable part due to the advice and opinion of this Wisconsin expert. Professor Adams' services throughout the period of the war were found to be so valuable that the government is retaining him indefinitely.

"Reconstruction measures in taxation which will likely be legislated upon by the new administration under the direction of President Harding will be matters of study for Professor Adams. Many important matters such as the excise tax law and a general revision of the federal taxes may come before him."

SAYS SHOOTING WAS ACCIDENTAL

Claim Accident

The contention of the defense is that the gun was discharged acci-dently when Lynaugh's finger muscles tightened as he brought his hand down, from above his head, to protect himself from the blow which was about to strike.

Lynaugh testified that he cautioned Jandorf to mind his own business and to behave four times.

"He only sneered and laughed at me," said Lynaugh. "Near the corner he tripped me a fourth time.
Near the Grady house, he approached me and put his hand on my shoulder and told me I had the wrong man."

"I reached out my fist to shove him away and at the same time brought my hand to his left shoulder and gave him a push. He wouldn't obey my warnings and I thought that he would take away my gun if he got a chance, so I then raised my hand above my head."

"He raised his hand and struck me in the left eye and from the effects of the blow my hand must have clutched, and the gun went off."

Testifying as to what he feared from the crowd, he said:

"I expected that they would either give me an awful beating or throw me in the lake."

He denied saying anything about shooting in "self-defense," and declared that the only reason he didn't wait to see whether he had killed Jandorf was because "there was no use trying to explain to that crowd of boys. They wouldn't listen to me before the accident and so I thought there was no use to try now."

BIG SCHEDULE IS PLANNED BY PUCK CHASERS

Five Veterans Will Form Nucleus of Hockey Squad

Although the lower campus will not be flooded for use as a hockey rink this season due to the continued open winter, Wisconsin will have a varsity hockey squad playing a schedule of at least five games.

John L. Murdock '23, who was elected captain of the varsity septet, will pilot the squad throughout the 1921 season. Five veterans of last year's team will report for practice as soon as the squad takes to the ice. The men who are expected to make up the nucleus of the squad are John L. Murdock '23, Archibald H. Fee '21, Robert L. Banks '23, Adolph O. Teckmeyer '21, and Gilbert G. Grieves '22.

Four tentative dates for games with the University of Michigan, two to be played at Ann Arbor and two carded for Madison, have been arranged by Coach Thomas E. Jones. The present schedule calls for the Badgers to play at Ann Arbor on February 18 and 19, and the return contests will be played here on February 25 and 26. Wisconsin will travel to Houghton, Mich., for two games with the Michigan School of Mines on March 4 and 5. There is also a possibility of scheduling a game with a septet from Northwestern university.

Class Tournament Saturday

The 1921 hockey season will open on Saturday, January 15, with the inter-class hockey tournament to be run off on the lake rink at the back of the gymnasium. Captains of the class teams who have been appointed by Coach Jones are as follows: Adolph O. Teckmeyer, seniors; Gilbert G. Grieves, juniors; John L. Murdock, sophomores; William W. Deadman, freshmen.

The tournament will be opened on Saturday at 2:00 p. m., with the senior septet playing the junior squad. The sophomore-freshman contest will follow at 3 p. m., and the winners of the two contests will meet at a later date to decide the inter-class championship.

Athletic authorities have devised the plan of an All-University ice-boat race to be held in conjunction with the hockey tournament on Saturday afternoon. The race is open to all university students or organizations who are owners of ice-boats. Entries must be received by Coach "Tom" Jones at the gymnasium before 5 p. m.

THURSDAY WILL BE TRYOUT DATE FOR PRESIDENT'S GUARD

Members of Drill Unit Will be Picked by Competition

Because group pictures for the 1922 Badger must be turned in before the middle of January, the formal tryouts for membership in the university cadet corps President's guard will be held Thursday, January 13, at 7:30 p. m., in the gymnasium annex, instead of January 20, as was previously announced.

All privates and non-commissioned officers who wish to try out for guard positions must appear in uniform at the specified time. The work to be covered will be the facings, the marchings, and the manual of arms. Maj. John S. Wood, the commandant, and his two assistants, Maj. Orlando Ward, and Maj. Howard P. Milligan, will act as judges of the "drill-down."

The three drills of the guard held thus far have been exceptionally well attended, over 100 men being out each time. However, all men who turn out Thursday night, will be placed on an equal basis, regardless of any former experience or rank, and only the cadets making the best showing in the tryout will be picked. The men who are ruled out in this selection will automatically be placed on a waiting list, and will become members as soon as any vacancies occur.

Rifle racks in the armory will be open from 7:20 to 7:30, and the cadets will supply themselves with rifles and form for drill in the annex. Announcement of the men picked for the guard will appear in an early issue of The Daily Cardinal.

ROSENBERY WILL SPEAK AT BANQUET

Justice M. B. Rosenberry of the state supreme court, will be the chief speaker at the Lutheran student banquet to be given at Luther Memorial church, Tuesday, January 11, at 6 p. m. The banquet will be presided over by Miss Marion Neprud, student secretary, as toastmistress.

An address of welcome will be given by Nels Fedderson, president of the student cabinet, the Unit system will be discussed by Leo Kohl, and the Rev. A. J. Soldan will give a talk. Impromptu speeches and informal singing will be a feature of the banquet.

Reservations may be made by calling Selma Albrecht and Irene Staab, who are in general charge of the affair, or by calling B. 7855.

BASKETBALL PROSPECTS

THE victory of our basketball team over Michigan last Saturday night is the cause of considerable optimism among the students in regard to the season's prospects. The victory is not without significance. It warrants a certain optimism, a feeling that Wisconsin will put up a good fight for first place this year, and that the time is not far distant when first place will be considered Wisconsin's permanent location.

The victory over Michigan does represent a considerable achievement. Michigan was reputed to have a strong team, a team that was heralded as a conference winner. On the other hand, the Badgers entered upon this season handicapped by injury. Two veteran stars were out for the season. The Badger players lacked weight. They were, moreover, playing a style of game which, at the beginning of the season, was unfamiliar to most of the men. The victory Saturday means, then, that the team has made tremendous progress in mastering Coach Meanwell's short pass game. It means that the team is ready to stand with the best. It means that the team is capable of development which will send it far toward first place.

The students are expecting big things of our basketball team this year and in future years. The students are willing to give the team their whole-hearted and enthusiastic support. The students are hoping to see, and believing they will see, the Cardinal in the lead of the Conference.

SOUTHWICK

THE bringing of Henry Lawrence Southwick, president of the Emerson College of Oratory, here next Tuesday is the second of a number of high class entertainments to be brought here by the Forensic board.

Among the dramatic readers of the country, Mr. Southwick ranks exceptionally high. His style of reading brings out the characters and dramatic situations in all their fullness. His interpretation is excellent. His sense of appreciation is unsurpassed.

Mr. Southwick is not unknown to University of Wisconsin audiences. He has appeared here on two previous occasions, two years ago in a reading of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," and last year in a reading of Sherman's "The Rivals." His vivid character impersonation, his unerring interpretation, and his pleasing personality are still remembered.

Next Thursday night, Mr. Southwick will read Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night." The selection was chosen from a large repertoire because of its familiarity to most people, because of its universal popularity, and because of the superb manner in which Mr. Southwick reads it.

The Forensic board is to be commended in bringing artists of Mr. Southwick's class to the university. Entertainers of this type are scarce enough these days. Efforts to bring genuine artists to Madison are to be congratulated, and should receive the student support.

MENTAL TESTS

Students on Probation at U. of M. Examined to Determine Mental Capacity

Mental tests are being given to all probation students of the University of Michigan in order to determine why they have been unable to keep up in their studies and also to discover whether they are mentally capable of university work.

The examinations are given with the view of determining who among those taking the tests are really industrious students lacking ability, and who, on the other hand, are merely behind in their work because of lack of interest in it, or because their interests and energies are expended in fields other than that of their university work.

PAINTINGS AT MUSEUM HAVE MYSTERIOUS, DREAMY QUALITY

BY P. C.

There are good dreams and bad ones, but always there is a peculiar dream-like quality about the paintings of C. Bertram Hartman, now on exhibition at the Historical museum.

These paintings make me think of fairyland—not the lands of elves and little people, but a grown-up fairyland, the land of the lotus-eaters, unreal, impossible, gorgeous, and greatly desired.

A single barge floats on vast magic sea, with its graceful rose-colored sail making splashes of color on the waters, which are always calm. A woman, the witch Circe, perhaps, stands in the prow, combing her long dark hair. Miles away, towering purple and yellow cliffs lift themselves abruptly out of the lake. Red flamingoes flying over, are reflected in the shining water. Here is barbarism, passion, charm, splendor, and "the foam of perilous seas, in fairy lands forlorn."

The paintings at the end of the room are mostly bad dreams. Green dancing-girls, purple elephants, and green and orange monkeys give the atmosphere of a not too-unpleasant nightmare.

Paintings Have Charm

There is a charm about these paintings, in the subjects, the decorative quality—for Hartman is primarily a mural painter—the coloring, and the technique. I was simply fascinated by the way the paint is laid on. Much purple and yellow is used, and in almost every picture there are surprising touches of bright vermilion or cerise.

In two or three cases the same subject is done in watercolor or tempera, and in oils. The watercolor is evidently the preliminary, and the treatment of the second painting in oils is strikingly different.

Hartman is an American, born in Kansas in 1882. He studied at the Chicago Art institute, and at the Royal academy, Munich. He has done many mural decorations, and has just finished twenty batiks for the decoration of the Hotel Commodore, New York.

Spicuzza Exhibit Different

On the north wall is another exhibit of paintings, very different indeed from the idealism of Hartman. I think they suger by the contrast. They are mostly bathing scenes and landscapes, with a few still-lifes, done in a rather bold style, with splashy strokes. There is not the careful attention to detail that there is in the Hartman paintings. The subjects are more familiar. Some people will prefer them because they are more comprehensible than the rather baffling mystery of the other exhibit, but I did not find them nearly so attractive.

The artist is Francisco J. Spicuzza. He was born in Sicily but has lived most of his life in Milwaukee. He studied first at the Wisconsin School of Fine and Applied Arts.

Spicuzza's style is vigorous, his coloring is good, and the subjects are interesting, but they would seem much better in combination with an exhibit less magnetic than Hartman's.

RUGH PRAISES WORK IN CHINA

Tells of What Childs Has Accomplished With Students

"Jack Childs is a masterhand in every detail of student work and has the biggest student job in the world," declared Arthur Rugh, Y. M. C. A. secretary to China, who spoke on "The Solution of the Oriental Muddle," Sunday afternoon at Music hall in behalf of the campaign which is being carried on this week to raise $3,000 among the men and $1,800 among the women to support the "Wisconsin-in-China" fund.

That Childs has accomplished remarkable things in China working under most difficult conditions is the opinion of Mr. Rugh. It is the belief of Mr. Rugh that the future of China depends principally on the young student class and that this is more true in China than any other country nation, because traditionally students have been the political, educational and social leaders of the nation.

Students Formerly Radical

Peking, the city in which Childs is located, has more than twice as many college men, over 15,000, as any city in China. According to Mr. Rugh, it was at the time of the beginning of a movement known as the "Renaissance" with its motto, "save the nation through science and democracy," which swept the entire student body of China when Childs took up his work in Peking. The students were filled with all sorts of radical theories. Especial emphasis had been laid on the teachings of Bolshevism and all the tenets of modern French syndicalism. Along with this movement has gone an under-current of skepticism of everything religious, and the demand to abolish all the regularly accepted customs and methods of action of old China.

Working with an inadequate staff he started to lead the Christian forces of the city in meeting the social, moral, and intellectual needs of the most important group of college men in the nation, at a time when this group was in a state of spiritual and intellectual chaos. Mr. Rugh says that he has reorganized the original inter-church union to include more adequate student rep-

She was a class officer in her sophomore year; is actively interested in Y. W. C. A. work; and plays on class basketball teams. Her home is in Milwaukee.

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the past 24 hours was 33 at 4 p. m. and the lowest was 28 at 7 a. m. Sun sets at 4:43.

Southerly winds and warmer weather prevail in the lake regions in an area of low barometer that is moving toward New England. The wind reached a velocity of 40 miles an hour in Duluth. North winds and colder weather follow on the plains, and zero temperature was reached this morning in the Saskatchewan Valley.

resentation, and has led the largest student conference ever held in China. He has been instrumental in pioneering the first modern Christian magazine, exclusively to meet the spiritual and intellectual problems of the students.

The campaign being conducted at Wisconsin started yesterday when 200 students under the leadership of David Lacy '21 started to solicit among the fraternities and rooming houses. The campaign will end Friday.

PRESS CLUB WILL HEAR FEHRENBACH

"From the Rhine to the Pacific in Newspaperdom," is the subject of a talk which will be given by August J. Fehrenbach at the regular meeting of Press club this evening at 5:20 in Lathrop hall.

The policy of the club for this year, as it was announced earlier in the semester, is to secure speakers from the Press club members themselves. Many of the journalism students now in the university have had extensive experience in newspaper work, and their problems should interest those who are just starting out in this field.

After a cafeteria supper the program will be given in the S. G. A. room. It will close promptly at 6:45, in order that those who wish may attend the piano recital in the armory.

Reception for Miss Mayhew

Misses Abby Shaw Mayhew, Lelia Bascom, and Mary Andersen were guests of Chadbourne hall at dinner, Sunday, January 10.

Following dinner, a reception was held in the parlors for Miss Mayhew, who is in Madison in the interest of the Wisconsin-in-China drive. After dinner coffee was served.

Miss Mayhew was mistress of Chadbourne hall during the years 1900-03.

Engagement Announced

SALVATION OF CHINA IS IN STUDENT BODY SAYS MISS MAYHEW

"In her student body lies the strongest salvation of China today, and that is why you can do nothing more wonderful than to make possible the education of the two Chinese girls who have come to America to learn our civilization," said Miss Abby Shaw Mayhew, speaking before a large number of university women at Vespers Sunday afternoon at Lathrop hall.

The meeting was in connection with the Wisconsin-in-China drive to which university women are asked to contribute $1,800, which goes to the support of the two Chinese girls who are now at Mills college and who may complete their two years of university life in America at Wisconsin next year. These girls will return to China, where they will take positions on the faculty staff of the Normal School of Physical Education in Shanghai.

"We want to show the way so that the Chinese can walk themselves in the highest and best light," said Miss Mayhew in speaking of her work. The object of the school in Shanghai is to build up strong and mentally alert girls and to bring them into contact with Christianity.

"The need of China today is a body of educated Chinese who can go out and teach their countrymen how to live and govern themselves," she concluded.

A vocal solo by Doris Stein '24, with Ruth Beebe '23 at the piano made up the program of special music.

DAIRY ASSOCIATION WILL MEET TODAY

The 49th annual meeting of the Wisconsin Dairyman's association, which commences this morning, brings many prominent agricultural editors and speakers to Madison. A. G. Glover, editor of "Heard's Dairyman," will speak this morning on the "History and Work of the Association."

In the afternoon Dr. James S. Healey, of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, and Dr. O. H. Eliason, state veterinarian, will address the meeting.

The present session of the association lasts from January 11 to 13. All meetings will be held in the Agricultural Chemistry auditorium.

The association is entering its fiftieth year of dairy achievement and is considered in large measure responsible for Wisconsin's rank as first among the dairy states.

Among other interesting features of the session is an address on Wednesday evening by Professor C. H. Eckles of the Minnesota College of Agriculture, and a milk publicity campaign, showing how milk consumption can be increased.

TWELFTH NIGHT PLAY TO END IN SURPRISING WAY

"The Rushlight," by Barry Monica O'Shea, will be the tragedy in the group of three plays which Twelfth Night will produce in Lathrop concert room Wednesday evening, January 17. The situation is very tense, and the ending is quite different from what might be expected.

When the play opens, Shaun, one of the leaders in an Irish revolt, has been captured. Although he is the only one who has a complete list of all the conspirators, the governmental authorities decide to hang him rather than to try to obtain the names in question.

A soldier brings a message to Shaun's wife and mother, in which he says he will be free the next morning. He asks that they send him his wallet, indicating that he wants the money in it to bribe his jailers. Kathleen, Shaun's wife, discovers the names of the conspirators in the wallet, and knows he wants that to help save himself. Here a surprising event takes place, which entirely turns the tide of events.

The cast for the play is as follows:

Mother, Frances Ellen Tucker '21; Kathleen, the wife, Alice Frick '23; the soldier, James Peterson '22.

The other two plays which will be presented the same night are: "Fourteen," by Alice Gerstang, and "The Dear Departed."

At The Theaters

AT THE ORPHEUM

The bill at the Orpheum this week is surprisingly good. Flo Lewis is the headliner, with a "cullud" maid, Ja Da, some very clever patter, a little singing and dancing, and a stunning costume. Her act also includes her partner behind the stage, who is purely imaginary, and the entire Orpheum orchestra. Miss Lewis' personality is extremely attractive; her act is well-presented, and it gets away big.

"The Brazilian Heiress" is an interesting little skit. The work of the principals is good, particularly that of the heiress, who says herself that she is "natty." There is plenty of singing and dancing, with a thread of plot to hold it together. The action is very amusing. The chief fault is in the chorus, which is a bit faded.

The other side of a saw—not the business side—played with a violin bow, makes music in the hands of Sargent Bros. Their act includes music on all possible kinds of instruments. The music is good and the syncopation is very pleasing—they do jazz it well.

Ned Norworth, assisted by Evelyn

Wells, puts on an act including some rather coarse comedy. He has plenty of pep, and seems to make a hit with the audience. El Espe, another man and a plump damsels, has a performance including singing, dancing, and some dangerous-looking juggling. We found out, though, that the water bottles were corked. But it is a good act.

Something new and different in acrobatics is presented by Snell and Vernon, in "An Artistic Diversion."

AT THE STRAND

That Miss Wilson as a bride in tears is quite charming is proven in "A Full House," Bryant Washburn's new Paramount picture which is playing at the Strand theater for the last times today.

The play was scenarized from the uproarious Fred Jackson stage farce of the same name under the direction of James Cruze. As the young groomsman, Mr. Washburn is called out of town on the day of his wedding to get a package of love letters from a woman. Many complications ensue and in the subsequent scenes he has trouble to explain to his sobbing wife how a stolen necklace got into his possession, and because of which the bridal home is filled with policeman until the system is cleared. The situations throughout are decidedly humorous.

There will also be shown a Mack Sennett comedy entitled "A Quack Doctor."

J. Parker Mead, Jr.'s latest production, "Love," in which Louise Glaum is playing the leading part, intelligence for the screen version. Then there is added a bright sense of life's laughable incongruities which finds expression in the nervous anxiety of two leading characters and the amusing stupidity of two others. Out of a comparatively simple situation there is evolved a succession of mirth-provoking incidents seemingly endless, and so thoroughly have they been worked out that the wonder only is how much has been extracted from so little.

FAMOUS RUSSIAN PIANIST TO PLAY AT GYM TONIGHT

BENNO MOISEIWITSCH

The people of Madison will have the opportunity tonight of hearing one of the best concerts of the season when Benno Moiseiwitsch, the famous Russian pianist, will appear at the gymnasium in recital.

The program will be opened by a group of four seventeenth century compositions: "Pastorale et Capriccio," by Scarlatti; "Sicilienne," by Bach; "Cocou," by Daquin; and "Gavotte con Variazione," by Rameau. The second group of the program will consist of Schumann's "Carnival Scenes, Op. 9." This beautiful composition is descriptive of different scenes of a carnival and is written in the sympathetic Romantic style. The last group will comprise of Ravel's "Jeux d'eau," Debussy's "La fille aux Chevaux de lin," and four Chopin numbers. The Chopin works include two études, Valse in C sharp minor, Nocturne in E minor, and Scherzo in B minor.

The program is quite well balanced; not too heavy for the average layman, yet not too light for the most ardent music lover. The classical, the romantic, and the modern schools are represented in the program, and the public is being given some of the treasures of each.

FARM BUREAU IN CONVENTION

Federation to Name New Officers at Meeting Today

The Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation is holding first state meeting today in this city. Charles A. Peterson, Rosendale, secretary, is in charge of the program. The sessions are being held at the Capital house; state headquarters will be maintained in the Pioneer block.

A successor to George L. Hull, president and leader of this movement will be elected today. Other officers will be chosen and a permanent organization will be effected. The Farm Bureau federation, aims to reform bad markers. It cooperates with the federal agencies, with the state department of agriculture and the state division of markets.

Mr. Peterson is also president of the Wisconsin Dairy men's association, which will open a three days convention Tuesday at the auditorium of the chemistry building.

$55,000 HAS BEEN PAID IN UNION FUND

The collection of funds for the Memorial Union building has raised $55,000, according to the latest returns from the building committee. A total of $290,000 is now pledged to the memorial. This figure is an increase of $10,000 over the total of November 15.

Collection among alumni has been under way for some time and the first call for student pledges was made in November. Quarterly payments will continue, the next payment date to be February 15. Checks should be taken to the secretary in the second floor of the Alumni building on State street.

JAMBOREE PRIZES ARE ON DISPLAY

STUDENT OF RURAL PROBLEMS IS HERE

Dr. Paul L. Vogt, head of the Rural Church department of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal church will be in Madison today, in co-operation with Wesley Foundation for the purpose of securing an adequate presentation of the opportunities open to trained men for leadership in the church of the small town and of open country.

Dr. Vogt's presentation will be the result of a broad experience with rural problems, and will be made with the vigor indicative of his earnestness in dealing with the present shortage of men trained for rural service. He will speak to a selected group of graduate and undergraduate students at Wesley hall this evening at 6 o'clock.

BADGERS MEET MAROONS NEXT

The Princeton five, which invaded the Maroons' camp a few weeks ago, were able to count but 11 points on the Chicago guards. Coach Meany will spare no efforts in putting his team in the best shape possible for the coming game at Chicago, or he believes that it will be the crucial test of Wisconsin's strength.

Badger Coaches Indiana

Madison basketball fans were interested in learning that Coach "Windy" Levis, former Madison high school coach and "W" man at the University of Wisconsin, easily won his first conference game of the season. Levis is basketball coach at Indiana, and last week trounced Ohio State by more than 20 points. This game proves that the former Badger star is making good in the Big Ten and has probably rounded up a team which will be a title contender.

Mr. Muther offers, in addition, to explain in detail the part the motion picture is beginning to play in modern sales management. He will also answer questions and explain details of shop practice and manufacturing and sales methods.
