GREAT INDOOR MEET

MOST SUCCESSFUL HELD IN HISTORY OF UNIVERSITY.

Three Records Broken—Large Enthusiastic Crowd—Inter-Fraternity Race Highly Exciting.

The indoor meet of Saturday evening was without exception the best that has ever been held at the University. From start to finish the events were run off without hitch, and in all cases the races were closely and gamely fought. Three new indoor records are the results; the previous marks in the quarter-mile run, two-mile run and high jump being shattered. The crowning event of the evening's entertainment was the inter-fraternity relay race. The natural yet friendly rivalry that exists between fraternities added to the usual excitement incident to relay races caused unusual interest in the contest. Each team was vociferously supported by its loyal brothers and at the finish of the final heat the winners were carried off the track by enthusiastic friends.

The winning team, representing Phi Rho Beta, was awarded a loving cup as a trophy, presented by the Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

The attendance at the meet was far in excess of any crowd seen on a similar occasion in the gymnasium, it being estimated at from seven to eight hundred.

As a result the management netted in the neighborhood of $150, which is nearly four times as much as has been taken in at a previous indoor meet.

The program started with the thirty-five yard dash. The large field in this necessitated a heat race. Poage won both his heat and the final easily. This was but half of his evening triumph. In the four hundred and forty yard run he not only distanced all competitors but broke the former indoor record as well. In view of the fact that this was his first appearance as a quarter-miler his performance was excellent and Coach Kilpatrick certainly has there a runner of great promise. Both victories were popular with the crowd, the winner being generously cheered. In the shotput Webster, interscholastic champion of the United States last year, won easily with 36 feet 11 inches with Schreiber second with 32 feet, 6 inches.

A second new record was established in the high jump. Hughes and Schule being tied for first place at 5 feet 9½ inches. This mark is especially good for indoor work and promises great things for the outdoor season.

The two-mile run, which takes the place of the mile walk, resulted in one of the prettiest races of the evening. Ex-Captain Bredsteen, holder of the western intercollegiate walking record, appeared in the event for the first time as a distance runner. Although winning the event handily he was closely followed by Smith and McEachron. The former made one of the grittiest and most determined finishes even seen at Wisconsin; he barely succeeded in taking second place from McEachron in the last few yards of the race. The half-mile also furnished good sport. Hahn was again victor but was closely pushed by McGillis and had the later used better generalship, he would have given Hahn one of the hardest fights of the evening.

The relay races were the most exciting events of the evening. The inter-fraternity event was run in heats seven fraternities starting. The first heat was won by Beta Theta Pi from Delta Tau Delta and Phi Gamma Delta; time—3:11 1-5. In the second and third heats Sigma Chi and Phi Rho Beta won from Psi Upsilon and Chi Psi respectively. The final heat was fiercely and closely contested and was finally won by Phi Rho Beta through greater endurance. The time was 3:12.

The other relay races resulted in victories for the Dairy and High School teams and in neither cases was especially close.

During the evening exhibitions were given on the parallel bars by Bradley, Ishikawa, Echelman, Hibbard and Knoff, and with the Indian Clubs by W. Hibbard. Tratt and Schreiber also did some excellent tumbling.

From President Adams.

Acting-President Birge received a letter from President Adams this morning stating that he and Mrs. Adams were in their usual good health. The letter was dated, St. Remo, Italy, January 10th. President Adams said that the general cold wave which swept over Europe reached there, killing tropical plants of thirty years growth. The weather at the time the letter was written was again very pleasant.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION

HISTORY OF THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THIS DEPARTMENT.

System Inaugurated in 1891—Twenty-four Courses of Lectures Offered—Great Instructional Value.

In the autumn of 1891 the University inaugurated a system of University Extension of the English type—it being among the foremost in America to start such work. The department was conducted separately for several years under the supervision of a secretary and then in 1897 was made an adjunct of the newly formed School of Education.

The work has been much the same from the very beginning. Lectures are offered in courses of six, all given by the same instructor or assistant. These six lectures are upon one general subject and cover that branch of learning with which the lecturer is conversant. Thus a community may by obtaining a course, have the pleasure and profit of six lectures given by some man who is an authority upon his subject and in many cases is among the highest of all authorities in his particular subject.

The instructional value of a series of lectures by such men is almost beyond comprehension. President Adams reported in '98 that "these lectures have furnished and are furnishing a great intellectual stimulus to thousands of persons; they are the means of inducing young men and women to attend the University and other educational institutions; and are doing much to stimulate better methods of living and thinking." These are high words of praise but certainly do not overstate the true case.

The courses offered by the department are twenty-four in number and are given by fourteen professors and instructors. The subjects treated are education and philosophy, economics and sociology, political science, history, the English language and literature, French literature, Greek, astronomy, geology, bacteriology, chemistry and commerce—twelve in all.

The history of the department is rather checkered. The work started out with a great boom and an unhealthy progress was the result. The financial stringency from '92 to '97 had a blighting effect upon it and in fact almost caused it to pass out of existence.

This year's work is the critical point in the history of the department and it will without doubt now take a new lease of life. Some lectures have already been given.

When on innovation this work was eagerly taken up by various committees, especially by their high schools and literary clubs. The relapse was due to the educational character of the work, which required the six lectures to be on the same general topic. This made competition with entertainment bureaus very difficult.

The six lectures of the course are given a week or a fortnight apart. A fee of $100 is charged for them together with the lecturer's traveling expenses, his board and the cost of lantern illustrations if there be any.

If the community desires it, classes are held immediately before or after the lectures and thus opportunity is given to meet the lecturer and question him concerning his subject. Any one may take a written examination at the end of a course if they have attended the lectures and classes, read the required books and sent in the required papers.

The final examination, if passed, permits the issuance of a certificate which has a recognized value on the University records. Very good work has been done by many individuals working in this manner by correspondence, personal instruction and outside work.

NOT GOING TO INAUGURAL.

Students Will not be Sent to Washington March 4.

It is entirely unlikely that the University of Wisconsin will be represented at the inaugural exercises at Washington, March 4, in any official way. The faculty has received an invitation from the committee on arrangements to send a body of students to represent the institution at the inaugural parade and ball, but is averse to accepting it, on the grounds that it lies outside the functions of the University to send its students at a very busy time of the year, to participate in public parades and social functions.

Auditorium of Engineering Building.

This Auditorium will seat three hundred and sixty persons. It has a sloping floor rising rapidly toward the rear of the room and is beautifully lighted. The lighting is so arranged that no lights come within the range of vision. The room is very high, nearly two stories and is thoroughly ventilated. It is the most commodious and comfortable audience room in the University. This room is at the service of any department of the University when not in use by the College of Mechanics and Engineering.

J. B. Johnson,
Dean College of Mechanics and Engineering.

Dean Johnson "At Home."

Although the indoor meet attracted many, about 25 freshmen engineers attended Dean Johnson's "at home" Saturday evening. The evening was passed very pleasantly in singing and conversation. Four young ladies assisted Miss Johnson in entertaining. Dean and Mrs. Johnson are very much gratified at the success of their innovation and will continue the receptions throughout the year.

Englishmen May Row Us.

The board of stewards of the Inter-collegiate Rowing Association of America has extended an invitation to the winner of the Oxford-Cambridge contest to take part in the inter-collegiate contest between Wisconsin, Columbia, Cornell and Pennsylvania on the Poughkeepsie river on July 3. In extending the invitation to the winner of the dual university race, the stewards agree to pay all the expenses of the visitors.

Y. M. C. A.

The subject of Rev. Colestock's discourse before the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon was "Looking for the Unseen." He stated that science and religion are closely allied that the laboratory is used but for the manifestation of God. In fact the ultimate good of education is to live and see the unseen. All research work whether by the chemist, historian or engineer is merely looking for and comprehending the unseen.

—The Short Course students have just finished judging fat cattle and sheep. They will now commence judging dairy cows and swine,—the first year students from 2-4, and the second year students from 11-1.

A Correction.

The Cardinal regrets the error which led it to state in last Saturday's issue that there would be no debate with Iowa. The return from Columbia was incorrect, this society having voted for the debate, which will accordingly be held. This circumstance, however, does not affect the fact that Wisconsin's debating society is in an unstable condition and that it ought to have the serious consideration of the student-body. It is hoped that the agitation of the question will stir up public sentiment and lead to some steps in the matter.

Keep off the Rink.

Attention is again called to the fact that ice-boats are being run across the skating rink at the foot of Francis street. Of course good skating cannot continue if this is persisted in. Consideration for the club, which has devoted considerable time and expense towards getting the rink into shape, ought to lead owners of ice-boats to keep off of this small patch of the lake.

Saturday's Athletic Meet.

The athletic meet last Saturday night surpassed even the expectations of Coach Kilpatrick. The men seemed to have been trained to the hour and their work was a credit to themselves and to their coach.

It is three years now, since Wisconsin won the Western Inter-collegiate Field Meet. Many students can remember how in those days, it was only a question of how many firsts we should take. Since that day, pessimists have told us that interest in athletics here is steadily decreasing, that all we can do is to win a few points. The showing of some of the men Saturday night should be an answer to these critics. Years of study, persistent training and coaching are now beginning to bring forth their fruits.

Coach Kilpatrick in two years has done wonders in developing new and untried men and it is no vain and empty hope that every Wisconsin student now possesses, that next June our athletes will again bring back the banner to Wisconsin.

in the decorations and in the souvenir programs. Refreshments were served during the evening, and all present enjoyed themselves thoroughly. Ad-
