Y. W. BAZAAR HOLDS SWAY IN LATHROP TODAY

Auction Sale Will Dispose of Many Donated Articles

A change in the plans for the Y. W. C. A. Bazaar of Four Seasons, which will be held from 2 to 11 p. m. today, substitutes an auction to be conducted by Howard M. "Sparks" Dodge '21 as the method of disposing of the donations of the Madison merchants, for the raffling of the articles. The auction will start this afternoon at 4:30, will continue for an hour, and will be resumed in the evening to last until the final contributions are knocked down under the auctioneer's hammer. Ascending and descending bidding will be used.

The program of the various events to occur during the bazaar, follows:

For the Afternoon
Dancing in parlors—2:30 to 5:30.
Program by Red Domino, Men's Glee club, Dancing classes—3:30 to 4:30.
Chinese concert—5:00.
Bull fight—3:00 and 4:30.
Auction—4:30 to 5:30.
W. A. A. Punch and Judy, Mock
Wedding—2:30 to 4:30.
In the Evening
Dancing—7:30 to 11:30.
Program—7:30 to 8:30.
Bull fight—8:00 and 9:30.
W. A. A.—7:30 to 9:00.

The Japanese tea room in the S. G. A. room, and three fortune telling booths, and the Chinese exhibition, will be open continuously. The sales of home made cakes and pies, candy, Christmas gifts and cards, and the drawing from the grab bags will be conducted during the entire afternoon and evening. The Dolphin exhibition, the Hawaiian music, and many side shows also, will be continuous.

"The generosity and spirit of good will which the Madison business men have shown has been fine, and we certainly appreciate it," said Miss Mary Andersen, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., in referring to the number and quality of

FIRST BAND IN CONCERT SUNDAY

The First Regimental band will present its first concert of the season at the university gymnasium next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Under the direction of Maj. E. W. Morphy, for eight years at the University of Illinois, the band has undergone rapid development. The individual members are all highly experienced. John Jaquith, the solo cornetist, served as leader of a 32nd Division band in France, and the first clarinetist, John Rydjqord was a member of the American Headquarters band at Shaumount.

The price for general admission is 25 cents; for reserved seats, 35 cents. Reserved seats may now be obtained at Albert E. Smith's or at Music hall.

WILL RAISE FUND FOR STUDENTS IN CENTRAL EUROPE

Subscriptions for Relief to be Received Next Week

As a part of the nation-wide European student relief movement, which is being carried on in American colleges under the direction of Herbert Hoover, former food administrator, a relief fund will be contributed by students of the university on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of next week.

The student senate, S. G. A., the Y. M. C. A., and the Y. W. C. A. are giving their unqualified support to the movement, and one representative from each of these organizations is on the committee in charge of the fund.

No drive or campaign will be conducted to raise the money, the committee has decided. Contributions are to be entirely voluntary, and receptacles to receive money will be placed at convenient places about the campus.

Contributions of any amount will be welcome, members of the committee say; and as no money is to be spent in raising the fund, it is guaranteed that all the money will go for student relief.

STUDENTS URGE SPEECH COURSE

Organizations Back Move to Start Compulsory

Training

Sentiment in favor of a course in practical Public Speaking to be required of all regularly enrolled students has been crystallized in the form of a petition soon to be presented to the faculty and regents. The movement is being backed by a number of student organizations led by White Spades and Pi Epsilon Delta.

"The need for such a course has long been felt among the students," said George Crownhart, who is directing the campaign among the students. "It is advisable not only as a benefit to the individual students, but as a means of creating a graduate body which will be of greater credit to the university.

Needed for Leadership

"Many students who graduate at the present time are a disgrace to the university when expressing, or attempting to express themselves in public. This reflects on themselves and on the institution which they attended. It also prevents them from being leaders in their work or in their communities even though they be otherwise fitted to assume such leadership.

RAPID PASS GAME DEFEATS KNOX 29-16 IN OPENING TILT

SEVEN JUNIORS ARE ELECTED TO WHITE SPADES

Seven members of the junior class were elected to membership in White Spades, honorary junior activities society yesterday. They are:

Ralph V. Scott, Charles P. MacInnis, Corrington C. Gill, Melbourne Bergerman, Dale M. Merrick, Warren A. Taylor, and Albert J. Knollin.

Scott, who recently won the Pearse trophy for the best tackler of the Wisconsin football team, won letters on three Badger elevens. Sport writers throughout the United States have been unanimous in the opinion that Scott was one of the best tacklers in the country and have selected him on several mythical honorary teams.

MacInnis is news editor of The Daily Cardinal, and chairman of the publicity committee of the junior class. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity.

Gill is associate business manager of The Daily Cardinal.

Bergerman, in addition to being a member of the varsity intercollegiate debating team last year, is a member of the Student Senate, editorial writer for The Daily Cardinal, member of the Badger board, and a member of Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity.

Merrick, who was recently elected Junior Prom chairman, is a "W" man in track. He won his letter as a pole vaulter. He is also a member of Union board.

Taylor, in addition to being captain of the varsity basketball team, was recently elected president of the junior class.

Knollin, a letter man in track, was one of Coach T. E. Jones's mainstays during the past season. He is a member of Athletic board.

FIVE REEL THRILLER IS NEWEST PLAN OF VARSITY MOVIE

Five reels of romance, suspense, and thrills is the latest plan of the Varsity Movie management for "The World's First Student Photodrama."

The management has just decided to make the Edwin Booth movie a five-reel feature production rather than a two-reel special attraction.

On account of the tremendous task in changing the production and the amount of work entailed in the rewriting of the scenario, the picture cannot be released before early April. The production, which is the size of the usual feature show, will, when released, be shown locally and will then circulate throughout the country. Requests are already coming in for bookings both from in-state and from Chicago.

The newspapers of the state are co-operating with the students in putting through this undertaking, which is the first of its kind ever produced.

Badger Defense and Quick
Foot Work Baffles
Opponents

BY C. J. L.

Outclassing their lighter opponents at every stage of the game, the Wisconsin basketball five trounced Knox college in the first contest of the season by a 29 to 16 count.

Using the short pass game to work the ball down the floor to a position under the basket and pivoting and swinging away from their guards in mid-season form, Wisconsin completely baffled the Illinois champs. Hurried shooting at the net cost Wisconsin a larger score, and often two or three tries were necessary before a forward dropped the ball in for a tally.

Badgers Good in Defense

On the defense, Wisconsin guarded closely, dropping back into a five-man defense whenever the collegians threatened. Knox never got closer than the foul line for a try at the basket, and every one of their counters resulted from a long try. Successful long heaves in the second half set the Illinois team into a spurt which, for a few moments, threatened the big lead that the Badgers had gained.

Captain Taylor and Rollie Williams tallied the most baskets for Wisconsin, being responsible, together, for 21 of Wisconsin's 29 points. Taylor dropped in several beauties from the edge of the ring, while his floor game was exceptionally fast. Rollie Williams shared honors with the Badger captain with several sensational baskets after a display of dazzling pivoting and dribbling. The alertness with which Williams handled the ball on the offense together with his close guarding made him a favorite with the crowd.

Al Frogner, at center, played a good game defensively, and was an important cog in the Wisconsin five-man guarding game. Tebell and Caesar at the guard positions, stopped the Knox offense in the middle of the floor. Jack Williams, Fanning, and Horne were injected

JUST A WORD ABOUT THAT MASSMEETING

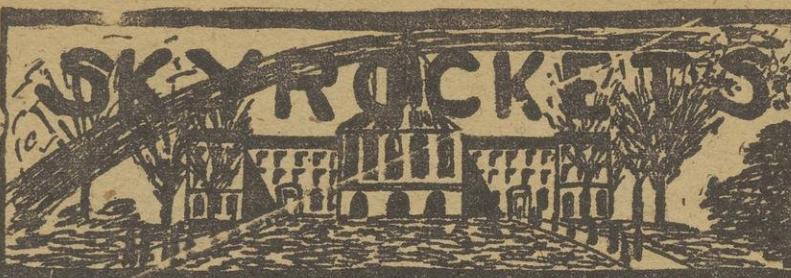

1. Massmeeting for all students Tuesday night in men's gymnasium.
2. Begins at 7 and closes at 8 o'clock.
3. The band will be on hand to provide pep for the occasion.
4. Five speakers will present information of vital importance to every student.
5. Dean George C. Sillery, the only non-student speaker, intends to dispel the scholastic "blues."
6. The meeting is sponsored by The Council of 40 and the executive boards of S. G. A., W. A. A., and the Y. W. C. A., and is intended to be a sequel to the varsity welcome and the first of a series of massmeetings conducted by students.

WE notice that Doris Stein has been appointed on the jamboree prize committee. Might we not suggest a few more like her, such as Helen Kasbeer, to insure a jolly time?

IT'S A DOG'S LIFE, A'RIGHT
I waited in line for dinner;
I waited in line for lunch;
I waited until I was famished,
With the rest of the hungry bunch.

I finally got to the counter,
And asked for potatoes and meat;
Soaked in a spoonful of gravy—
My daily rest-rant treat.

Then corn and bread and tomatoes,
Topped off with salad and pie,
Followed by custard and coffee:
A wonderful meal, says I.

And this is the law of grub-grabbers,

That if you would eat you must pay.
For all that they want to hand you

Is only hot dogs and hay.

How about giving Mother a lovely hand-tooled leather bag this Christmas? You don't know where to find one that will just suit her? Well, let me tell you a secret. I was going down the street, and I saw the most beautiful ones you could just ever imagine at the Madison Leather Company, 416 State street, designed in the softest leather, and tooled in a variety of handsome motifs, such a gift could not fail to win admiration from the most fastidious.

And here you will find everything that your heart could desire in luggage. There are delightful little week-end bags, designed with no other idea than to please your every fancy. Some are lined with a rich French blue, while others boast gayer colors, and array themselves in rose or gold. Surely a gift of one of these will draw many a blessing on your head from the lucky one who receives it.

-- MERRY -- CHRISTMAS

Just as the weird strains of the Chinese lullabies haunt the melodies of our music, so the subtle significance of oriental perfection pervades the newest of all imported perfumes, Coty's-Ambre Antigue. Dainty-little almond-eyed maidens have entranced many a Prince Charming with the delicate odor, similar to Attar-of-Roses, yet attaining a touch of difference that marks it Paris.

I found this charming imported perfume at the University Pharmacy at the corner of State and Lake streets, as well as many others, including a fascinating little bottle of Rigauds, entitled Un Air Embaumer, which seemed to have collected all the freshness and sweetness of Spring, distilling it into the most exquisite of perfumes, in order that December may have some of the joyousness of June.

Houbigant, famous on the Rue de Rivoli, is just as well known with the girl who chooses her perfume with as great care as she selects her gown. Ideal and Quelque Fleurs are proclaimed perfection by those who have known of their excellence. Anyone who has not tried these rare perfumes will be delighted with them.

Quite the best way of settling that perplexing question, "What shall I give for Christmas?" is to visit the Co-op at 508 State street. Into this store has been gathered such a unique and attractive array of gifts, that you can't but find an appropriate remembrance for every single person on the list, over which you have been worrying.

Wouldn't you just love to receive a handsome desk set for your Christmas? I can just hear you say "Of course." Well, there are others who feel as you do. The Co-op has perfectly charming ones, which combine utility and beauty in a surprisingly clever way. One of the lovely bronze ones, which I saw yesterday, would surely be an addition to any coed's room. It included a desk blotter, cut in the latest curve, a lovely perpetual calendar, an ink well for two kinds of ink, a stationery holder, and a rolling blotter.

There are just loads of things here—too numerous to mention—that will make someone happy on Christmas morning.

Little Miss Muffet's sister doesn't stay in the house all day sitting on a tuffet, but goes right out doors with your little sister and keeps her hands all comfry and warm on the coldest of cold days.

She is the prettiest little doll you ever saw all dressed in eiderdown of pink, blue and white, and the tiny little girl will not have her finger tips nipped by Jack Frost if she keeps her hands in this little cloak.

I saw this little doll muff in the window of the Unique Shop on the corner of Dayton and State streets. On going in, I found many other delightful gifts and especially noticed the Fulper Bisque doll heads. These all have such adorable faces that any little girl would love them. They make the old dolly a new one at a very reduced cost.

New and wide is the season's silhouette in coiffures, as well as clothes. Much hair outside the hat, as well as well-arranged waves of luxuriance underneath. Quite the best way. I've discovered, to be sure that you are correct is to patronize the Marinello Shop at 223 State street.

A beauty parlor smartly cognizant of every one of Dame Fashion's subtly alluring beauty secrets, is this little shop. They do the finest of marcelling, and also give shampoos and manicures. It's just the right place, too, if you wish your hair dressed for a dance.

And facials! My! All those tired wrinkles and lines, which come into your face from too much worry and work during the school week, can all be taken away with one of the facials given at the Marinello Shop.

Don't you find this water very hard on your skin? If you'll just try some of the cleansing cream—they call it Lettuce Cream—you'll just never consider using water on your face at night at all. This cream does such awful things to any bits of dirt, which may have collected in the pores of your face, that, after using it for a few days, the effect is simply marvelous. Not only has velvety smoothness been imparted, but all blackheads and skin eruptions soon vanish.

Another Marinello preparation, which you will want to know of, particularly in this season, is Rose Leaf Jelly for keeping the hands smooth and white. It will positively accomplish wonders, and so be sure to try it; for you will want to look your best when you go home for the holidays.

Straight from China comes the adorable teakwood lamp which I saw at the Harloff-Loprich Electric Co., 602 State street this very afternoon. Surely it was designed to bring joy to someone on Christmas morning! The shade was a bower for two lovely blue pheasants, and their gorgeous plumage, and the gayly colored boughs on which they perched, accomplished wonderful effects above the yellow of the lamp. You couldn't wish for a more artistic creation in the form of a lamp.

To be compared only with limpid crystal, amethyst, or Chinese porcelain vases, are some of the other little boudoir lamps which I found here. Many were individually inspired by lacy designs in dainty rose chains, which took form in French blue, gold and rose. Other shades spoke fantastically of oriental loveliness in their appeal of peculiar color. Dull greens, deep blues, lustrous shades of gold, and faint rose vied with each other for attention, and succeeded in completely captivating one.

An electrical appliance—a chafing dish, a curling iron, a grill—will be joyously received, I am sure, for the holiday gift.

The daintiest of pale pink lingerie is ever dear to the feminine side. And even you, who are connoisseurs at this mystic shrine, will have your breath quite taken away by the fairy shimmering, and the dainty creations which the Carolyn Shop at 420 State street has to offer you.

Fashioned in georgette, crepe de chine, and the heaviest of chiffon, the combinations and camisoles are simply bewitching! One little slip-on which says "Paris" through folds of the softest of orchid georgette, proves it by daring to lace at the sides with tiny bands of faintly fair ribbon.

There are just numbers of other exquisite garments that cannot fail to please you. Such lovely things! And best of all—the price is—well, it's so reasonable that you'll be more than surprised.

Only your imagination can limit you when you drop into The Palace of Sweets for something good to eat. For you're just never heard of such a variety of good things as this cozy little shop has to please you. Such hot fudges, and absolutely the very best malteds in town!

In the matter of sweets, this store simply excels. It is notorious that every girl that is truly feminine loves candy, so why not have The Palace of Sweets send out your Christmas greetings for you? Not only will you succeed in giving some one a merry Christmas indeed, but you will save yourself all the worry and bother of doing up packages, and mailing. If you will just stop in and leave your order, all your troubles will be over.

One extreme calls for another. Dame fashion acclaims shorter skirts, and straightway hosiery meets this extremity by designing itself in the gayest of silks and net. Even wool stockings insist on adorning themselves with gay clocks, or colored understitching. The State Street Leader has some very unusual offerings in hose, which come to you straight from England.

And if you have decided to give someone a handkerchief for Christmas you needn't go any further. For this store has the loveliest assortment of hand-embroidered ones that I've ever seen! Some of them have clever little designs in yellow, rose blue, while others dress themselves in the cheeriest of hand-made lace.

Quite an acceptable present in these practical days is a pair of the new jersey pettibockers. The Leader has some lovely ones in rose, brown, purple, green, and oh, just a dozen other shades. And they are only five dollars! Isn't that surprising in these expensive days?

WE have dance and song records, jazzy records, and operatic productions all for OUR amusement on the victrola. But little sister or little brother can't quite appreciate "Cuban Moon" or the "Sextette from Lucia," but will sit and listen with delight to the new Fairy Bubble books that tell wonderful little stories, illustrated by REAL songs.

There's the song of the froggy, who would a-wooing go. This naughty little froggy came to disaster, but enjoyed his little self exceedingly in the process. I happened to hear some of these Fairy Bubble records when I went into Hook Brothers Music Store to buy some music. They so pleased me that I sat down and returned to the days when my favorite recreation was to listen to the songs about the Three Little Kittens, The Three Little Pigs, and all the rest of our Mother Goose rhymes.

A more delightful Christmas gift could not be imagined. And I bought one for my little niece with a double motive—for I, myself, will enjoy it exceedingly.

Good things to eat!

Don't we all miss them while we're here so far from home? And wouldn't you just love to hear of a place where you could get crispy fresh cookies, creamy, luscious cake that fairly melted in your mouth, and just all the other things you used to get in the good old high school days, when you were home?

Perhaps you've already discovered the Woman's Exchange for yourself. All the older students know of this shop, and stop in to purchase some of the "goodies" whenever they are down town. It's right down on State street almost at the square, 113 State, to be exact.

And cookies and cake are not the only things which this versatile little shop has to offer you. By placing your order a day ahead, you can buy anything your heart may desire, from a whole roast chicken to fudge-frosted nut bars. So just stop in at the Exchange, and you'll no longer sigh for delectable food—cause you'll know just where to find it.

A WORD TO THE FOLKS

WHEN classes are dismissed for the Christmas recess one week from today, more than 7,000 Wisconsin students will forget their studies for a brief space of two weeks. But will they also forget their university, its great benefit to them, and its needs, or will they take advantage of a royal opportunity to make their folks, the people of the state who are most vitally interested in the welfare of the university, aware of them?

Seven thousand students can do an unlimited amount of good in the role of publicity agents to bring about a better and closer relationship between the university and the state in general. Articles containing the facts in regard to the needs of the university are constantly appearing in other columns of the Cardinal. Clip them out. Learn the facts in order that you may use them as talking points in your home community during vacation. Send the clippings home. Let your parents and your friends know about the university. Let's see Wisconsin spirit accomplish a truly unselfish and noble victory for the university budget.

Clip the articles and be a hundred per cent booster.

* * *

TOO MANY "FEATURE" STORIES

THE students at Wisconsin are about to undertake a big job. They are going to throw their entire support to the $15,000,000 appropriation being sought by the university. It will be their responsibility to arouse favorable sentiment for the appropriation all over the state.

How effective their efforts will be depends largely on the energy and persistency with which they go about the task. However, there is one factor beyond their control, namely—the pre-conceived opinions of the home-folk influenced by the articles about the university appearing all over the state, in fact all over this part of the country.

The greater part of this publicity is truthful and wholesome. On the other hand, much of it is grossly misleading and decidedly harmful. Stories have been sent out cleverly hinting that co-eds smoke cigarettes and "roll the bones." The dancing situation has been woefully overplayed. Extremes in dress have often been represented as quite the rule.

Now all this makes interesting reading. It swells the pay checks of the correspondents. At the same time it creates a wholly false impression of the university and in many quarters causes actual hostility.

It must stop. Feature writers must learn that it is poor ethics and still poorer school spirit to seize on exceptions and make them into sensations. It is on the border-land of disloyalty to the university. Several responsible organizations have taken the matter up and their actions will be awaited with interest.

At the meeting of Philomathia last night the debate, "Resolved, That the Nonpartisan League is an unhealthy influence in American politics," was won by the affirmative, supported by Harold A. Seering '24, Alvin A. Wegeman '24, and John M. Beffel, Jr., '23. The negative was upheld by R. L. Engelke '23, and Pat Erickson '24. A topic on Compulsory Arbitration was presented by Charles D. Assovsky '21, F. Schnell '23, gave his initiation speech. Instruction on the Art of Brief-making was given by Leslie F. Lamb '23.

The scheduled debate of Ag Literary society for last night was postponed until the first meeting in January. Edward Kuehn '22, gave a reading of "Uncle John and the War." Isaac Weinman '22, rendered several selections upon a Russian musical instrument. J. J. Hanousek, Jr., '21, reported on the International Livestock Exposition held recently in Chicago and A. J. Davidson '21 gave a talk on "An Inspection Trip Through the Swift Packing Plant."

Plans are being made for a debate with Agric Triangle early in January.

STUDENTS ASK FOR SPEAKING COURSE

"It is not our intention to add to what is already a heavy burden of required studies nor to specify any particular year in which this course should be taken. It should be possible to modify some other required studies so that this one might be included without adding to the number of these now enforced. It should also be possible for a student to take the course during any year before graduating."

Backed by Students

The subject of a compulsory course in Public Speaking was first considered by the students last spring and the present campaign is the outcome of sentiment manifested since that time. Nine student organizations have already given the petition unanimous support and as soon as a representative number signs it, it will be presented through the student senate to the faculty.

The petition reads:
To the Faculty and Regents of the University:

The following organizations, representative of student opinion and interested in the welfare of the student body, respectfully petition the faculty and regents to institute a practical course in Public Speaking to be required of all regularly enrolled students, and to provide for enlarging the department to enable this work to be done effectively.

The students have felt the need of such a course in equipping them for leadership and service in their work after leaving school. At the present time many students are graduating who are unable to express their ideas in effective speech that is so necessary to make their influence felt.

Other institutions are meeting this situation by requiring regular work in practical public speaking and we urge that the University of Wisconsin adopt a similar plan.

ates from the university, was discussed at the meeting of the Cadet Officers' Association yesterday afternoon, in the Scabbard and Blade room.

Col. Michael H. Zwicker, '21, president, appointed a committee to look into the matter of such a ring, the design to be decided upon later. As the members are all to be included in the regular military section, the club decided not to have a special page in the 1922 Badger. Maj. Blandford Jennings '22, and Lieut. Col. Joe R. Sherr '21, were appointed to investigate the continued absence of a number of the officers.

HATCH TO TALK ON COUNTY AGENT WORK

Prof. K. L. Hatch, assistant director of the Extension department, will speak to Agric Triangle next Sunday morning at 9 o'clock in the "Y" parlors on the subject, "The County Agent—What he is and what he does." Professor Hatch is probably better informed on this subject than any other man in Wisconsin, and his talk will be extremely worth while. All students of agriculture who are interested in county agent work are invited to attend.

the gifts. "It seems as though everyone, both in the Y. W. C. A., and out of it, has done his utmost to make the bazaar the best one ever given. The university women who have contributed gifts to be sold are especially to be commended for their generous response to the appeal of the Y. W."

"The number of tickets sold amounts to 1,900, and we expect to sell a great many more at the door," said Cleo Parsley, in charge of the ticket sale. General admission is 10 cents, and admission to the various stunts and side shows is the same. The bull fight will take place in the center of the gymnasium and a hat will be passed for contributions to defray expenses.

KNOX 29-16 SCORE

into the fray after Wisconsin had piled up a safe lead.

Campbell and Albro played the best game for Knox, and rang up most of the collegian's scores.

Knox First to Score

Knox scored the first point on a free throw, but Wisconsin came back with a long shot by Taylor after three easy attempts had bounced from the ring. The Badgers followed with two more ringers, but the opponents brought their total to three with a long shot by Albro. From this time on, Williams and Taylor pulled Wisconsin out of the danger zone. The period ended with the Badgers on the long end of a 26 to 6 score.

Knox spurted in the second half, played the tired Wisconsin five off its feet. They ran up ten points in the second period, while Wisconsin was able to score only three on a field goal and free throw. A bevy of fouls called on Wisconsin, and three long baskets by Knox brought the score to 25 to 16. The Illinoisans employed the distance shooting to good advantage, while the Cardinal's attempts missed the mark. Caesar made the last counter for Wisconsin as the pistol announced the end of the struggle.

Fletcher Wheeler, director of the Wheeler School of Music, announces the return of the faculty of Mr. John Penewell, Hawaiian guitar teacher, who has been on leave of absence for the past two years, appearing on the professional stage. Mr. Penewell has appeared in some of the largest theaters throughout the country and has a national reputation as an interpreter of this enchanting music. He received most of his training from Thomas Hennessey, David Kaleiga, and Edwin Shaw. Mr. Hennessey, a native Hawaiian who has taken an American name, was first to introduce Hawaiian music at the Panama Exposition and is considered the best steel guitar player in the country today. He will organize a string orchestra at the Wheeler School of Music in the near future.

100 FRAT MEN COMPETE TODAY

15 Greek Societies Entered in Indoor Track Meet—List 12 Events

The first indoor track meet of the year will take place this afternoon in the gymnasium annex when over 100 cinder men representing 15 fraternities line up for competition. The first event, the shot put, will start at 2 o'clock.

Silver loving cups will be awarded to the fraternities winning first, second and third places in the meet. Keen competition is expected in all of the events since many of the athletes are candidates for the varsity and freshman squads—only "W" men being eliminated.

Because of the large number of entrants, five places will be counted in each event. In the 40 yard dash, the 40 yard high hurdles, and the 45 yard low hurdles, preliminaries will be run off. In case there are too many men for one heat starting in the quarter mile, two heats will be run against time.

The events are scheduled to take place in the following order, and, according to the managers, participants not on hand at the scheduled time will be disqualified.

2:00 p.m. Shot put, high jump, broad jump.
2:20 p.m. 40 yard dash.
2:30 p.m. 40 yard high hurdles.
2:40 p.m. 45 yard low hurdles.
2:50 p.m. One mile run.
3:00 p.m. Pole vault.
3:10 p.m. Quarter mile run.
3:35 p.m. Two mile run.
3:50 p.m. One-half mile run.
4:00 p.m. Relay race.
