CAMPUS VOTERS TO ELECT UNION BOARD MEMBERS

Leaders Give Views Regarding Change

The method of selecting Union Board candidates will be changed, all members being elected by the student voters, in place of elections through recommendations of the board, as a result of the passage of the senate referendum, amending Article 7, Section 6 of the constitution to read:

"Each spring there will be elected by the qualified male electors of their respective classes two sophomores and two juniors to hold office for the next two and one years, respectively." In addition there is to be a sophomore elected in the fall, before Oct. 25, to hold office for three years. Nominations are to be made by petitions of 50 or more qualified male voters of the respective class.

Harold A. Seering '24, senate elections committee chairman, expressed this opinion on the change:

"The practical results of the change brought about by the carrying of the Union Board referendum, are not as great as many may be led to believe. The change is not of such a radical nature as opponents of the measure would have it seem. The only practical difference is that elections to the board will now be above reproach on the ground of favoritism.

"Although the board can no longer nominate candidates, it still reserves the influential power, as does every other organization, to recommend candidates on the basis of ability displayed by work done. The students at the polls, however, will no longer be bound by the selections of the board.

"Experience has shown that as a rule students select men best qualified to fill the position. We need but look at Cardinal Board elections where invariably the recommended people are elected. I believe, therefore, that there is little basis in fact for the fears which have been expressed by the members of the Union board and others, that gross incompetency will be the result of the change put through Friday."

Maynard Brown '23, president of the student senate, feels that a preliminary step has been taken to make elections cleaner, but that there is still room for improvement.

"The referendum passed means that in the future there will be no closed members added to the personnel of the board. This will counteract the charge that petty politics play a part in the recommendations of the board, thereby putting some members on who otherwise could not carry an election.

"While I do feel that a beginning has been made to straighten out the elections to Union board, I still feel that there is much more room for improvement. Members of the senate and myself will be glad to get together with Union board, if it so desires, in order to perfect a scheme that would work out even better in practice than the present adjustment."

Wolf Will Discuss Church History Today

The "Origin and Evolution of the Presbyterian church" will be the subject of Frederick Wolf's discussion at the University Y. M. C. A. at 9:30 o'clock this morning. This is one of the talks in the discussion group series on the several denominations of the Protestant church.

Advertising Club Elects 6 Students as Members

The Advertising club elected the following members at its meeting on Thursday: Margaret Baer '26, Cyril Ballam '24, Elsworth W. Bunce '24, John M. Kohler '25, Robert M. Lewin '26, and Earl E. Yahn '24.

SENIORS ARE URGED TO ORDER INVITATIONS NOW
Order blanks for invitations have been mailed to every senior in the university, and R. E. Balliette, chairman of invitations committee, urges that they be filled out and returned to the Print shop immediately. Unless the orders get in without delay the invitations cannot be delivered on time.

The price of the invitations is 40 cents a copy. A check for one-half or all of the total ordered must be enclosed with the orders. Samples of the invitations and proofs of the class list are posted in different buildings on the campus. Each senior is asked to correct any error that may have been made in his name. The lists will remain up until Tuesday.

The invitations may be called for at the Co-op May 24 to 26.

SELECT BADGER WORKERS SOON

Juniors Will Be Given Preference on 1925 Staff

Editorial and business staffs of the 1925 Badger will be appointed this spring in order that the work may be planned and organized during the summer, according to an announcement by Ellis Fulton and Willis G. Sullivan, editor in chief and business manager respectively.

Applications for positions on either staff will be received any afternoon this week, between the hours of 4:30 and 6 o'clock, at the Badger office, second floor Union building.

Preference will be given those who have a real interest in the Badger and desire to make work on the staff their outside activity; and the staffs are being so organized that each person will have a free hand to make his department as great a success as his ability will permit.

The prevailing policy will be to use juniors for the major staff positions, but to utilize freshmen and sophomores in positions where they will have an opportunity to thoroughly familiarize themselves with the work of the Badger and to prepare themselves for larger positions on future books.

On the editorial staff, every encouragement will be offered to editors to introduce new or original features which will add interest to any section of the book. Students with artistic or literary ability or with experience in stenography or photography, are especially asked to apply for staff positions.

DANCE CLASSES GIVE DRAMA ON EVE OF MAY 25

Dance Drama, to be given May 25, will have approximately 50 university women from Miss Margaret H'Doubler's classes in its cast. The performance, which is under the direction of Miss Julia Hanks, will take place in the open air theatre back of Bascom hall.

Dance Drama seeks to combine the dramatic with the rhythmic. The two main sketches will be "Pandora" and an interpretation from Stuart Walker's play "The Six Who Passed While the Lentils Boil." The program will include lesser studies and a number of Mother Goose comedy sketches.

Miss Margaret Gallagher, a graduate of the physical education department, will come from Chicago to assist with the costumes. The complete casts for the sketches will be announced this week.

WEATHER: CLOUDY

The weather will be cloudy today and tomorrow with a probable rise in temperature. It will be cooler Monday. The maximum temperature was 69.9 at 5 p. m. yesterday and the minimum was 42 at 6 a. m.

PARSLEY MAKES SPEECH BEFORE OHIO CONCLAVE

48 Colleges Represented at Meet

(Special to The Cardinal)
Cleo Parsley '23 addressed the national convention of the Women's Self Government Association at Columbus, Ohio, Thursday on "The Large School Paper."

Forty-eight colleges and universities from different sections of the country were represented by 87 delegates. The members of the mid-western schools are the official members of this conference, and other schools are there to gain the benefits of the discussions and talks which are being given.

Lois Jacobs '24, president of the local S. G. A., and Cleo Parsley '23, former president, are the delegates representing Wisconsin. They left for Columbus last Tuesday, and will return next Tuesday.

The business and social sides of the convention are carefully balanced in the schedule of events. The members of the association at the University of Ohio are acting as hostesses to the whole convention.

Wednesday the delegates registered and the officials were chosen. Talks were given on the social activities of the women's self-government associations in the different colleges, and the internal organization plans for the most efficiency. An informal tea followed by a dinner and dance came after the business sessions.

The big sister movement, educational guidance, campus publications and social life, co-operation with the men students and other organizations, and sororities were taken up in discussions on Thursday.

House rules, the point system for campus activities, financial problems, the honor system applied to campus work, and general citizenship were taken up Friday.

The closing sessions yesterday took up all unfinished business of the other sessions, and the sections met individually to take up problems peculiar to the particular vicinities.

Plans for holding a national conference next year were discussed and definite committees appointed.

ANNE SMITH IS SLOGAN WINNER FOR FIELD MEET

"Watch Wisconsin Women" the slogan submitted by Anne Smith '25 was announced as the official slogan for the women's week and by the committee in charge yesterday.

This will be used on all of the publicity for the group of women's activities which are held on May 25 and 26. These include the senior swingout Friday evening on the upper campus in which all of the classes participate, dance drama which will be given in the natural open air theatre back of Bascom hall later Friday evening, and women's field day held at Camp Randall throughout the entire day Saturday.

Anne Smith '25 is the general chairman in charge of field day, and Miss Carol Rice of the physical education department will act as faculty advisor.

The other committees which will work on field day are:

Advisory: Marjorie Severance '23, Irene Clayton '23, Isabelle Capps '23, Lois Jacobs '24, Esther Bilstad '24, Rosamond Nolte '24, Florence Huprich '23, Helen Pratt '23.

WOMEN MEDICS HEAR KAHLENBERG TUESDAY

Michael Faraday, the English experimental genius of the last century, has been chosen by the Women's Medical association as the scientist to be lectured on by Prof. Louis Kahlenberg Tuesday evening at 7:45 at Science hall.

This is one of a series of lectures which the association is conducting on the great scientists of the world. They are both biographical and scientific, and aim to emphasize the greatest contribution made to the world by each man.

"When one thinks of Michael Faraday, one thinks of electro-magnetism," said Professor Kahlenberg for both lay man and professional who interpret the life and works of one of the biggest men of the Royal Institution of London. The lecture will be illustrated with lantern slides. Everyone who is interested is invited.

13 SENIORS ARE IN CAST CHOSEN FOR CLASS PLAY

Parts Given to Graduating Students

Selections for the 1923 senior class play, "The Road to Yesterday," were chosen yesterday by Miss Gertrude Johnson who will coach the play. For the first time in eight years all the members of the cast belong to the senior class.

Each member of the cast plays two roles, that of a modern person and that of an ancestral counterpart. The cast is as follows:

Elspeth Tyrell—Olivia Orth
Malena Leveson—Solveig Winslow

Harriet Phelps—Dora Ingraham
Dolly Poulié—Deborah Olds
Norah Gillan—Harriet Lewis
Jack Gretorex—Rudolph Hohfeld

Will Leveson—Leslie Gage
Kenelm Paulton—Adolphus Berger

Adrian Tomkins—Lee McCandless

Hubert—Wilbur Katz
Nat—Fredrick Beckman
Servant—Kenneth Fagg
Vicar—Vincent Conlin

Rehearsals for the cast will begin Monday afternoon and will be held every day in the open air theater at the rear of Bascom hall, according to Sidney Thorso.

"The Road to Yesterday" will be given twice at commencement time. The first performance is on Thursday and is for students. The Friday performance will be given especially for the alumni who will be in Madison for reunions.

Eighteen thousand notices are being sent out this week to all the graduates of the university announcing the play. Walter A. Frautschi '24 is business manager of the production and has charge of the mailing.

DOLPHINS PLAN NOVEL PROGRAM FOR EXHIBITION

Keen competition and comical and aesthetic stunts with lots of snap is to be the key-note of this semester's exhibition to be given by Dolphin club the evenings of May 10 and 11 in the Lathrop hall pool.

There are to be races of breast stroke, back stroke, side stroke and free style, and in addition to these there is to be a medley relay at the end of the program.

Red, green and blue flood lights will play upon Juliet, played by Helen Parr '26 as she descends from the balcony into the arms of Romeo played by Betty Shafer '23, who is waiting below a wooden wash tub.

A demonstration of the latest methods of Chinese life-saving is to be given by Olga Andersen '23 and Lois Barry '25. An exhibition of the reverse breast stroke will be given by Beatrice Marks '26 and Margaret Andersen '26. These girls who have two of the best breast strokes in the state of Wisconsin have just recently perfected the stroke in its reverse form.

Other features on the program will be Will o' the Wisp, diving, a lantern race, plunging, swimming under water and stunt strokes and diving.

Tickets are 25 cents and may be obtained from any Dolphin member.

German Club Holds Open Meeting Wednesday

The German Verein will hold an open meeting next Wednesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock in Lathrop parlors. The program will be musical. Miss Mildred Rodolph, of the university school of music, will give a piano solo; Max Peterson a violin solo, Miss Barbara Hildreth, a cello solo, and Miss Hidreth Peterson and Arthur Morgan will give piano selections.

ALUMNAE HOLD BIG POSITIONS

Wisconsin Theta Sigma Phi's Are Active Throughout Country

In practically all phases of journalistic work you will find Wisconsin's Theta Sigma Phi alumnae doing creditable work.

KING TUT HEARS JARGON ON TYPE FROM U. W. PROF

Professor G. W. Reyelb, head of the department of journalism at the University of Wisconsin, was granted the honor of lecturing before King Tut-Ankh-Amen in Luxor. He now is on an extensive tour through northern Africa and Europe. "Ethics in American Journalism" was the topic chosen by Professor Reyelb who, following Wisconsin traditions, limited his speech to fifty minutes.

King Tut-Ankh-Amen received the professor in a marvelously gilded chamber where he rested on a sarcophag-like couch surrounded by his retinue and a wealth of priceless furniture of mahogany, ivory, silver, gold, ebony, and cedar wood.

"Please, won't you sit down on that Tripod?" King "Tut" graciously asked Professor Reyelb. The latter, however, refused as he was accustomed to stand while lecturing. He began to talk, now and then throwing a glance at the king and giggling with the trunk keys in his pocket.

Except for a few giggles of irreverent tourists, there was no sound in the chamber while Professor Reyelb spoke. In fact, the king and his retinue seemed to slumber while the professor presented his material in a tone and manner free of disconcerting variety. As soon as the lecture was ended, the king started to ask questions.

"In what hieroglyphs do the men in America write? And who are the high priests of the press service? And what do they aim at, on the whole?"

"Success, your majesty," the professor replied.

"Success? I do not remember whether we had the word in old Egypt. What hieroglyph do you use to indicate 'success'?"

"Money, I believe, your majesty?" was the answer.

"Money? Well, I know that. Now then you aren't so different from us old Egyptians."

"No, your majesty!" And the professor was dismissed, taking with him rich gifts from King Tut.

COUNTRYMEN GREET SEAFARING NOVELIST ON ARRIVAL IN U. S.

Joseph Conrad.

Joseph Conrad, seafaring novelist, was greeted by hundreds of his Polish countrymen when he arrived in New York recently. Conrad is a son of Jozef Korzeniowski, also a celebrated author, and has spent much time on the sea since he was fifteen.

A large number of seniors attended the class hop at the Cameo room last evening. This was the first class activity on the commencement program. Many lower classmen attended as it was not limited to seniors only.

The dance was chaperoned by Mrs. B. P. Reinholdt and Mrs. W. T. Rogers, chaperons of Kappa Alpha Theta and Alpha Xi Delta.

Earle Gill '23 was in charge of arrangements.

Through a misunderstanding the special features scheduled to be given during the intermission were cancelled too late to allow for a substitution.

Title Chasers Count 4 to 1 In Winning Over Badgers

Pitchers Battle Scoreless Until 8th Inning

In a grueling pitchers' battle which remained scoreless until the eighth inning, the title-chasing Illinois baseball team triumphed over Wisconsin on the Camp Randall diamond yesterday afternoon by a 4-1 score.

The victory boosts Illinois on its way to the championship while the Badgers, who have held undisputed fourth place, stay down in the class of mediocres.

Johnson, on the mound for Wisconsin, and Jackson, star Illinois hurler, fought it out for the greater part of the game, both pitching good ball and receiving fair support from their mates. Jackson allowed only three hits during the game while Johnson's service was nicked for five.

Johnson got going for the first time before Badger fans and pitched a no-hit, no-run game until the sixth inning.

While neither pitcher allowed a run until the eighth frame, they were in tight places at various times, and it was only the good support from the field at crucial moments that saved them. Johnson was in hot water in the fourth, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth innings. Jackson had the Badgers well in hand with the exception of the second, fifth and eighth innings. The Badgers threw away many chances to score in these frames when they failed to connect at the right times.

While there were many flashes of brilliancy in the fielding, the general work was hardly up to standard, for errors were frequent and obvious.

Howie Combacker, playing at short, had a big day, both in the field and at bat. His fielding was a revelation, for it was faultless during the entire game, and he made several stops which were almost miraculous. He got a safe bingle in the third inning and he is also credited with a sacrifice hit.

Good Catches Are Made

Gibson and Servatius, Badger gardeners, made two of the best catches made on the local lot in years, and had the crowd all with them, for failure to hold the ball in each case would have meant one or more runs. Gibson went back to the cinder path in deep center after a fly from Vogel's bat in the fourth inning and hooked it on a dead run. Servatius speared a long one in deep right field on a backhand catch in the first inning.

Wisconsin lost its chance to score in the second inning. With Aschenbrenner out, Tebell tripled to deep right. Holm was hit by a pitched ball. With only one out, the coaches mixed singles and the men started a double steal. Tebell was caught between third and home while Holm reached second where he stayed until the end of the frame.

The first hit off Johnson came in the sixth. It was a fast grounder just out of Tebell's territory and into deep short. Combacker made a perfect stop and throw but Roettger beat the ball to first by an eyelash.

Illinois Breaks Deadlock

Illinois broke the deadlock in its half of the eighth, but Wisconsin came right back and tied it up. The Indians dented the rubber when Roettger walked, took second on Dougherty's sacrifice bunt, and completed the circuit when Vogel drove a hot single through Tebell. The ball careened off Tebell's person into left field. It was too hot to handle.

The Badgers evened the count when Servatius doubled to the left garden after Ellingson had flied out. Aschenbrenner was safe on Jackson's third error. Tebell lofted a long fly to Roettger, and Servatius, who had gone to third when Dougherty was guilty of a passed ball, scored. Roettger made a perfect throw to the plate and Dougherty was waiting with the ball when Servatius passed him, but failed to touch the Badger speeder. Illinois players vigorously protested the decision.

Illinois Start With Bang

The Illini started the ninth with a bang when Kuehl got to first on a hit through third. Happenny got to first and Kuehl advanced to second. On Holm's error, Steward made first and the bases were full. Schlappirrzi flied out for the first out, but Kuehl scored after the catch, while the other two men advanced. Tebell threw Jackson out at first. Roettger hit to center field, scoring Happenny and Stewart, but was thrown out by Aschenbrenner at second.

The Badgers made a feeble attempt to tie up things in the ninth. Becker batting for Gibson, was hit by Jackson. He was forced out at second when Combacker drove a grounder to Stewart. Johnson died on a weak hit to Jackson and Williams ended the affair when he lifted a short fly into Kuehl's hands.

WEST VIRGINIA AIDS BUCKEYES

Majority of Stellar Ohio Pitchers Hail From State

COLUMBUS, O., April 28—West Virginia seems to make the best pitchers in the light of Ohio State's baseball lore.

Two of the three best flingers in Buckeye varsity history are now in the big leagues, while the likeliest chucker on the present staff is another West Virginian.

Wayne Wright, who pitched the Buckeyes to the Big Ten baseball title, a few years back, has been with the St. Louis Browns for several years. He was one of the best pitchers in the history of Western Conference baseball. He hailed from Ceredo, W. Va.

Johnnie Stuart, possessed of a long arm, but perhaps better known for his football prowess, jumped from the college ranks to the St. Louis Cardinals where he is starting his second year. He is a Huntington, W. Va., product.

Now comes "Hoge" Workman, a graduate of Ohio State's intramural baseball leagues, and makes good right off the bat as a corking good twirler in his first year as a varsity moundsman. Originally famed for his ability to throw forward passes, "Hoge" bids fair to go down in history as one of the best pitchers of or to wear the scarlet and gray. He has another year after the present season. Like Stuart, he is from Huntington.

WISCONSIN GOLF TEAM TO BE PICKED TODAY

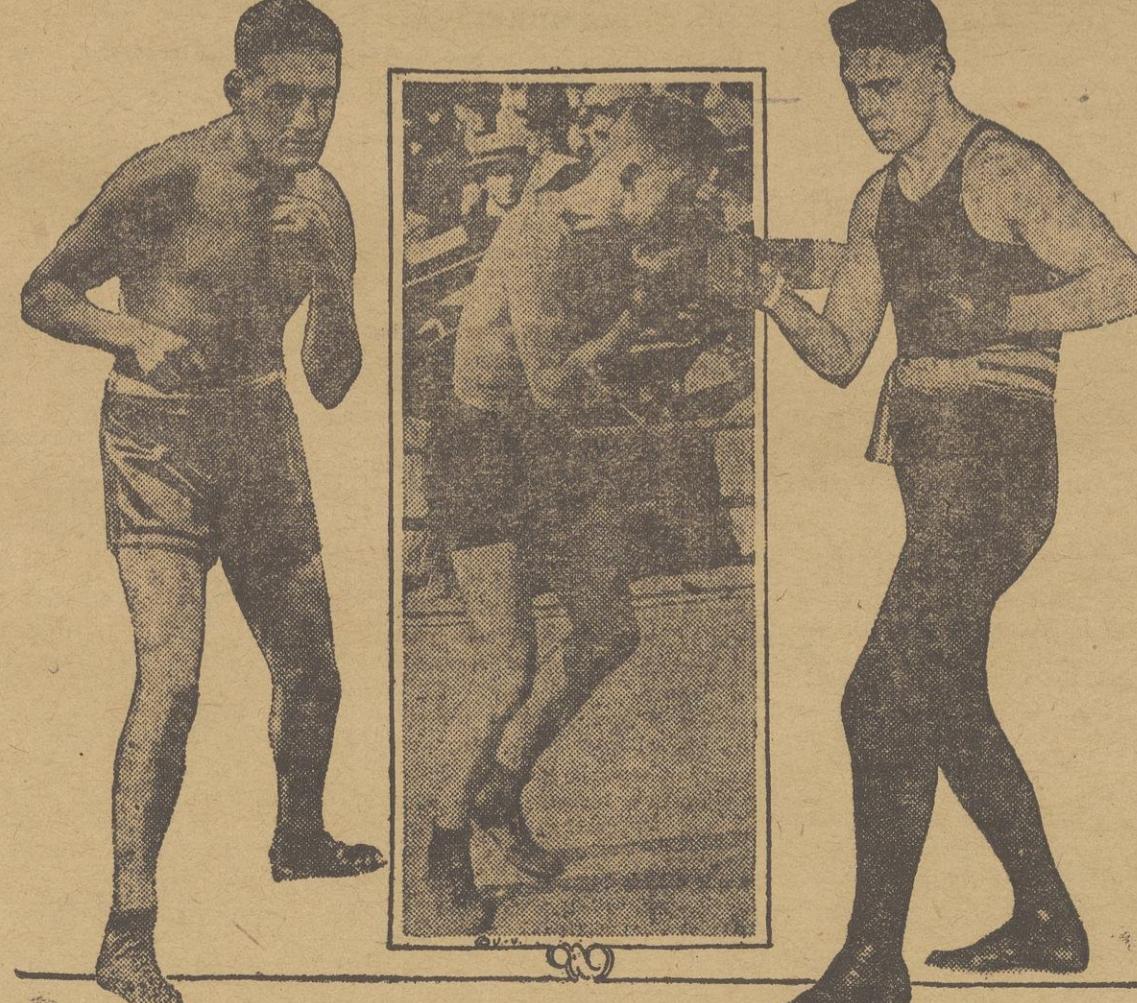

Eight golfers will be picked from a field of twenty aspirants to make up the Wisconsin golf team which is scheduled to meet Illinois here next Saturday. The selection will follow the trials which will be completed this afternoon at the Maple Bluff Golf club course.

Morton C. Frost '23, is leading the team this spring as captain. Two other men from last year's team are making strong bids for places again this year. Captain Frost reports keen competition among the candidates and looks forward to a successful season.

Besides the Illinois match, Northwestern will be played here, and Chicago will be met in Chicago. Wisconsin will also enter the Conference meet held at Chicago in June.

CORPORATION IS TO BE FORMED BY W. A. A. MEMBERS

A corporation is to be formed by the Women's Athletic association for the purpose of raising money for the erection of a W. A. A. cottage on the shores of Lake Mendota.

At the last meeting of the Board of Regents, the plan was discussed favorably, and committees in W. A. A. are now working out in detail the scheme for building the cottage. These complete plans will be submitted to the Board of Regents at its June meeting and when they are passed upon, erection of the cottage will be started immediately.

The W. A. A. corporation will offer shares of $10 each to members of the association. Some of the shares will be redeemable in a certain length of time and others will be life grants.

Margaret Henry, who is head chairman in charge of cottage plans, has appointed three committees which are at work with members of the physical education faculty on perfecting plans. Marjorie Severance '23 is head of the committee on selecting a site, Norma Carl '23 has charge of the plans for constructing the building, and Helen Smallshaw '23 is chairman of the committee for incorporating.

The site, which is being selected by the committee in collaboration with Miss Blanche Trilling and the commissioner of grounds and commons, will be on the shores of Mendota, on either the near or far side of the university tent colony. It will be granted to the association by the university.

"The cottage is to be a place for rest as well as recreation," said Esther Bilstad, president of W. A. A., when discussing the plans.

"One of its purposes is to furnish a quiet place for students to repair to when weary of the toil and toil of university life. Share ownership is not a requirement for membership in the association, and the cottage will be at the service of all members.

FOOTBALL MEN REPORT SLOWLY FOR PRACTICE

Promising Material in Ends and Backs

Varsity spring football practice yesterday was not attended by many of the candidates. The Illinois baseball game, geology trips, and various other things served to distract many of the men who have more or less regularly reported this spring.

The few men who were out were ends and backs, and the practice was conducted for them. The ends and backs were given instruction in passing and receiving long heaves. Several of them looked good and showed promise of becoming good material when the coach has more time to give them some individual attention. The men who worked out yesterday were Fabers, Munkwitz, Tuttle, Collins, and Holenbeck.

The backs were shown some tricks in drop kicking by the coach. The method looks good and if the men master it the team will be assured of some possible points next fall. The men who booted the pig skin were Goodlad, Moore, Radke, and Stangel.

PLAYERS OFFER ORIGINAL PLAYS THURSDAY NIGHT

Two original plays are included in the program for "Comedy Night," the annual spring entertainment of the Wisconsin University Players, to be held in Lathrop Concert room, Thursday evening, May 10. The year "A Matter of Choice" by William Tannevitz, and "Into the Nowhere," a pantomime written several years ago for Red Domino by Marjorie Kinnan and Marie Bollman. "The Robbery" by Clare Kummer and "A Pair of Lunatics" by W. R. Walkes are the other two plays on the program.

Mr. Tannevitz's play is the story of a modern family brought up on self-expression theory with entire freedom of choice in everything. The cast, which is being coached by the author, is as follows: Mrs. Brent, Dora Ingraham '23; Mr. Brent, Laurens Hastings '24; Phoebe, Lillian Bresler '23; Marcia, Pauline Ambrose '23; Jeanette, Reinette Douglas '24; Jean, Calvin Oxford '24; Aunt Margaret, Gertrude Harely '23.

Miss Margaret McCarthy of the speech department is the coach for the Red Domino pantomime. The cast includes: Pierrot, Sara Maxwell '25; Pierrette, Carolyn Hinsell '25; the mournful lover, Elizabeth Stoltz '25; the witch, Katherine O'Shea '24; the parson, Katherine Dietrich '24; coquette, Reinette Douglas '24; the villain, Marjorie Thomas '24; the clown, Martha Semelroth '25; the maids, Margaret Ives '25 and Thelma Wiles '25; the fluffy fluffs, Golda Brandt '23 and Lucile Salentime '25; the jiffy jeffs, Alice Davis '25 and Josephine Young '24.

In "The Robbery" Roberta Louder '23 takes the part of Edie Upton, the girl. The young man, Bob Hamilton, is played by T. Faxon Hall '24. Carlyle Richards '25 and Margaret Moehlenpah '23 play the parents.

"A Pair of Lunatics" takes place in an asylum where two visitors, each under the misapprehension that the other is insane, meet and carry on an amusing conversation. He, otherwise known as George Fielding, is played by Thomas MacLean '24, and She, otherwise known as Clara Manners, by Carol Goodyear '23.

INTER-COLLEGE BASEBALL

The Commerce baseball team caught the Aggies unawares in the final frame of their 5-inning game yesterday afternoon and won the game 9 to 6.

The Aggies got off to a good start and lead 4 to 1 at the beginning of the final inning, but the Clerks rallied and won. The game was one of the best inter-mural games of the season.

Hilberts hurled for the winnrs and Montgomery caught. Small and Kellum did the battery work for the Ags.

SEYMOUR—Mrs. Chris Ganzel was seriously scalded when the handle of a jail she was carrying broke.

Now that Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, has promised to be a good boy in New York state and has been reinstated by that funny board, discussion is ripe as to whom he ought to meet in his first battle. Harry Greb seems to be the favored one. For Pete's sake, let them at each other. If they ever meet the bout can be billed as one featuring "the two most awkward men in the ring." Science will sit outside the door and weep in her beer. Greb doesn't box. He swings his arms like a windmill and dances the Argentine tango. Wilson is just plain clumsy. Next to Greb, Jock Malone seems to have the best chance to meet Wilson.

NO SEX IN LABOR

Economic expansion for women has come to stay.

Gone are the days when Mr. Skeptic and Mrs. Cynic "pouf pouf" the idea of a woman lawyer, judge, congress representative, doctor, chemist, dentist, merchant, insurance underwriter, real estate dealer, advertiser, journalist and, yes, even a woman engineer.

Only this winter a woman minister was in our midst;—a proof to the fact that there, also, is a calling in which women can serve. Maude Royden is the pioneer of England in this field. It is only a matter of time when America will have her first woman minister.

Who does not know of Jeanette Rankin? Of Judge Florence Allen? Of "Jennie June"?

The pioneer days of "Jennie June" were back in the '50's when this first woman journalist declared, "There is no sex in labor, and I want my work to be taken as the achievement of an individual with no qualifications, no indulgence, no extenuations, simply because I happen to be a woman working along the same lines with men."

And because so many women who followed "Jennie June" believed as she did, behold the fruits of their thinking.

Metropolitan dailies and community weeklies employ women as reporters, special editors, society editors, department editors, telegraph editors, and Sunday editors.

Some syndicates and news services employ women on their staffs and in their other bureaus in this country and abroad. One news service which handles news of women only has a staff composed entirely of women.

Women's journals include on their staffs women editors, associate editors, literary editors, reporters, fashion writers, home economics editors, advertising sales-women, advertising copy writers, proof readers, and combined secretaries and editorial assistants.

One of the oldest fields for women journalists is the farm journal. Editorial positions require, usually, some knowledge of home economics and farm life, in addition to journalistic skill. Religious papers employ women as editorial assistants and advertising managers.

Magazines whose circulation is general rather than limited to a trade have women managing and associate editors, proof readers, advertising solicitors, and rewrite women.

In the publishing companies we find women book reviewers, advertising writers, manuscript readers, high-grade proof readers, editors of house organs, research assistants, and writers for reference books.

There is no field of publicity, whether it be commercial, educational, or social service by nature, that has not been touched by women. To do this work successfully, it is necessary to know thoroughly both the daily press and the product to be sold. The publicity director, who now chooses to be called the public relations counsel, must know how to make news of propaganda, and must be able to write compellingly.

The "new fangled" ideas of the woman pioneer in journalism back in the '50s are accepted facts in 1923. Could we ask for stronger morale than that for the modern woman whose talent and training are leading her into competition with men, where there will be "no sex in labor," but where achievement will stand against achievement?

Two thousand girls with a thick coat of co-ed shellac covering 2000 different girls with as many possibilities.

ON TO POUGHKEEPSIE

Faculty decision tomorrow night will determine whether this year's crew will race on the Hudson in the country's premier regatta next June.

Permission already has been granted for the crew's trip east in 1924. The matter simmers down then to the question, "Eventually, why not now?"

The present crew bids fair to be the peer of last year's which beat Manitoba. It is certain to be superior to the 1924 eight, since nine of the regulars graduate this year and the nucleus for next year will be handicapped by lack of training.

Wisconsin can well afford the eastern publicity. Alumni will thrill at the prospect of seeing an Alma Mater athletic team in action again. The men who have rowed and labored four years deserve the trip reward. The reward will be essential if in the future the crew is to attract and hold the great number of capable oarsmen it needs to make it a success as a sport.

The trip will take no time from scholastic work, coming as it does after the close of school. The faculty is confronted with a plain duty. On to Poughkeepsie with the crew.

Predict U. S. Treasury Will Have Surplus

WASHINGTON.—Prediction that the treasury will finish the current calendar year with a surplus of $60,000,000 was made by Director Lord of the budget on the basis of latest estimates of internal revenue and customs receipts today.

THE CO-ED TYPE

One of the most observed facts about a university, any university, Wisconsin is no exception, is the co-ed type.

Why should 2000, or more women, of supposedly average intelligence and stamina, rate the constantly recurring expression, "There goes a typical co-ed?"

Yet it is so and it is said. It is not a case of ideals, school spirit, or development that is censured. The Wisconsin woman is one to be proud of.

It is the lack of originality that comes in for blame or praise. It is the general custom of dress, of mannerism, of speech that tends to be monotonous to the observer.

If Pauline wears a short sleeved tan crepe dress and brown sandals to dance in, then Mary and Jane and Gertrude and Katie appear next week in crepe and sandals. The epidemic spreads. In two weeks the hill is crowded with tan, tan, everywhere. Tan coats, loose style, tan sweaters, tan scoopy hats with colored scarfs, tan skirts! Any other color is taboo. Blue is a depravity.

A year ago Pauline chattered on, "This Side of Paradise." This year she sparkles with, "Town and Gown," and in whispered confabs, "Jungen."

Last year, rolled socks, felt hats, short skirts, bobbed hair were the same angle, same length, same daring swish. Today even the ankle is passe. At least no one can see them. Luxuriant, bought, side waves frolic and curl over pink ears, a la Gloria Swanson.

"How many activities is she in? Wonderful drag with—Big girl, she made—" are well known remarks.

Baby doll type, much make-up, sophisticated type, much fussed; plain ever ready; fusses with discrimination; or, is discriminative against; all dressed alike except the exceptional few that really only prove the rule. Time was when Mary could be detected by her gait, now you do well to have a thumb print.

Two thousand girls with a thick coat of co-ed shellac covering 2000 different girls with as many possibilities.

SCHOOL MONEY EARNED BY 400

Numerous Positions Filled By University Women
Here

Nearly four hundred women at the university are working for part or all of their educational expenses. In many instances women secure part time work to give them extra spending money, although in the majority of cases they aim to realize enough to help out with the checks forwarded from home.

The best paying positions at the university and in the Latin district are those for stenographic or secretarial work. In positions outside of the college, secretarial positions pay from 40 to 50 dollars while in the university offices it is impossible to make more than 25 a month unless the candidate has taken the civil service examination and holds a state certificate.

Typing and clerical work pay less than stenography. Six hours each week is the average amount of time spent for other kinds of work. Many women are employed three days of the week for two hours at 40 cents an hour, making an income of about $2.50 a week doing house work and caring for children.

Waiting on table at sororities, dormitories, tea-rooms and cafeterias, is one of the most sought after of employments by college women.

Business positions and clerking during rush seasons net the girl 50 cents an hour.

Efforts have been made to interest women in salesmanship and agencies. Several women will have sales positions this summer.

While board and room positions are the most numerous, they are the least desirable because such work takes the girl away from companionship and college activities and, in many instances, requires too much of her time. The maximum requirement for girls working for board and room is twenty-six hours.

Report Bank Clearings Here Show Increase

Bank clearings in Madison for the week ending April 28 showed a total of $2,714,866.36, an increase of $1,181,894.37 over the corresponding period of last year when clearings amounted to $1,532,971.99, according to the weekly bulletin of the Madison Association of Commerce.

SPARTA—When F. W. Swartout was taken suddenly ill and fell unconscious at the wheel of his automobile it collided with two other machines near Schroeder's Springs. No one was injured.

Realtors Begin Series Of Inspection Trips

Madison realtors took a trip of the west end of the city Friday afternoon following a short business meeting, and inspected the homes at the end of the city listed with members of the board. These trips will be taken regularly throughout the city until all of the listings are inspected.

The purpose of the trips is to get first hand information regarding the property listed for sale and to enable the realtor to give his prospect better service and information regarding property.

Elks Change Building To Playground

TRANSFORMATION of the Four Lakes Ordnance building into Madison's playground for the week of May 19 to 26, inclusive has been started. At that time the local lodge of Elks will hold their Indoor Circus, Merchants Industrial Exposition and Style Show. Lumber for the booths has been delivered and artisans will start at once putting them in shape for exhibitors.

Demand for reservations of space was keen Thursday afternoon when Oswald Nesvig, chairman of the space committee, threw open his chart to exhibitors. Many contracted for allotments and others will sign up before the week is over. The Style Show is creating a great deal of interest and Madison's tradesmen have sent out word that they will endeavor to make it the greatest feature of the circus.

The Midway will be one of the brightest spots during the week of the circus. Many concessions have contracted for space and others have written asking that space be reserved for them.

Easy to Play Easy to Pay

It is the one instrument that everyone can play—and it wholly satisfies that craving everybody has to personally produce music.

Dan Russo

Director of the Oriole Terrace Orchestra, a Symposium of Superb Instrumentalists playing Dance Records with Buescher Band Instruments and Saxophones.

BUESCHER

True-Tone Saxophone

It is so perfected and simplified that it is the easiest of all musical instruments to master. You learn the scale in an hour's practice, with the three first lessons that we give you free, play popular music in a few weeks, and take your place in orchestra or band within 90 days, if you so desire. Saxophone players are always in demand for dance orchestras.

Free Trial— Easy Payments

You may try any Buescher Saxophone, Cornet, Trumpet or Trombone (Bass or Baritone) in your home without obligation. If satisfied, pay for it on perfectly easy payment plan. Ask for Pictorial in colors of the Nation's Record Makers and a free Catalog of everything in Buescher Band and Orchestra Instruments.

This Is a Musical Age

Music is as necessary to people of advanced culture as was fire to the dwellers in caves and cliffs. You can still live without music—but not nearly so well.

It is the duty and the privilege of every young man or young woman of the present day to learn to play at least one musical instrument well.

Numbers For Fifth Contest Announced

32 Compositions Included In Community Tests For Next Fall

The Madison Community Music Committee, through its general chairman, Peter W. Dykema of the University School of Music, announces that material for the fifth contest has been agreed upon after full consideration by the various members of the committee.

Instead of 28 numbers which have been used in the preceding four years, there will be 32. These, however, need not all be studied by everyone who wishes to enter the contest. There will be three classes, one, group A, containing only 12 selections, the next, group B, containing the twelve of Group A and twelve additional ones, and the final one, group C, containing the 24 of the two preceding classes and eight additional ones. Group A consists of very simple material which may be studied by persons who have very little time to give to it.

It is even simple enough so that children below the fifth grade may become acquainted with this material, and may have a contest of their own. The material in Group B is more difficult and is intended for all persons who wish to take the time for a more advanced study. In the schools, this group will according to Miss Anna Menaul, supervisor of music, be studied by children below the high school. The final group contains some of the finest masterpieces of music, and represent adults and students in the high school. These classifications are, of course, not final, and any person may prepare himself to take the contest in any one of the groups he desires.

Interpretative notes will appear in the newspapers beginning about the latter part of September when the contest opens. Further information may be obtained from the general secretary, Mrs. C. V. Seastone, 134 Gilman street, telephone Badger 2694. Following is a list of compositions for the contest to be conducted in the fall of 1923:

Group A: 12 Selections

From the Land of the Sky-Blue Water, Cadman, American.

Shepherd's Hey, Grainger, Australian.

National Emblem March, Bagley, American.

The Bee, Schubert (Francois) German.

The Slumber Boat, Gaynor, American.

Minuet from Orpheus, Gluck, German.

Narcissus, Nevin, American.

Susy, Little Susy, from Hansel and Gretel, Humperdinck, German.

Selections from Robin Hood, De Koven, American.

Ali Through the Night, Folk-tune, Welsh.

Dagger Dance, from Natoma, Herbert, American.

Waltzing Doll, Poldini, Hungarian.

Class B: The 12 Selections of Class A and the 12 Additional Selections Listed Below

(a) The Year's at the Spring, Browning-Beach, American. (b) Irish Love Song, Foote, American. Invitation to the Dance, Weber, German.

What Shall He Have Who Killed the Deer?, Shakespeare-Bishop, English.

Andante from Surprise Symphony, Haydn, Austrian.

Selections from The Mikado, Sullivan, English.

Minute Waltz, Chopin, Polish.

Tannhauser Overture, Wagner, German.

Danse des Mirlitons (from Nutcracker Suite), Tchaikovsky, Russian.

Poet and Peasant Overture, von Suppe, Austrian.

Papillon (Butterfly), Grieg, Norwegian.

Fifth Symphony, Allegro, Andante, Beethoven, German.

Fifth Symphony, Scherzo, Finale, Beethoven, German.

Class C: The 24 Selections of Classes A and B and the 8 additional Selections Listed Below

From an Indian Lodge, Mac Dowell, American.

My Heart Ever Faithful, Bach, German.

A Song of India, Rimsky-Korsakov, Russian.

Overture, Finlandia, Sibelius, Finnish.

Lift Thine Eyes, trio from Elijah, Mendelssohn, German.

Erlking, Goethe-Schubert (Franz Peter), Austrian.

Songs My Mother Taught Me, Dvorak, Bohemian.

Allegretto from C Minor String Quartet (Opus 51 No. 1.) Brahms, German.

Orpheum Stock Present

"Up in Mabel's Room"

The Dorothy La Vern Stock Company closed its second successful week in Madison by presenting "Turn To The Right" a production that was more than appreciated by all who saw it.

What would you do if, in a thoughtless moment in your younger days you had made an attractive young woman a harmless present and you suddenly realized, with the unexpected appearance of the said young woman, even more attractive than when you last saw her, your wife, whom you really did love, would have difficulty in reconciling her convictions with the facts? That's the Rubicon that faces Carry, the hero, or rather the victim of circumstances, in the tremendously funny Wilson Collison-Bertram Harrison farce comedy, presented on Broadway by A. H. Woods, which will be this week's attraction at the Orpheum starting today matinee. It is called "Up In Mabel's Room" because that is where first Garry, then his man, and then all of the others in the play, go to secure the said gift and Garry.

Next week's play will be the famous production "East Is West" in which Fay Bainter made such a hit.

U. W. Bands Will Unite For Spring Event

For the first time in the history of the university, the first and second University bands will be combined for a concert. At the first outdoor concert of the year which will be given next Thursday, the two bands will be combined, making a total of a hundred men.

Major Murphy, director of the band, is starting a series of concerts this year with the large band for the benefit of the students and the citizens of Madison. The program is expected to be more popular than the series of winter indoor concerts.

Outdoor concerts of the first band have been given every spring for a number of years, but never before has anything on so large a scale as the combination of the two bands been attempted.

The concert Thursday will be given in front of Music hall from 6:30 to 7:15 in the evening.

Plow Tobacco Ground

Now Is Pool's Advice

"Plow tobacco soils now," is the advice given growers in the bulletin issued by the Northern Wisconsin Cooperative Tobacco pool. Plowing a few days before planting results in dried out soil which works up in poot tilth, allows loss of moisture, produces an unsatisfactory condition for the trans-planting and early growth of plants, causes favorable conditions for the development and propagation of harmful insects and for the growth of weeds, the bulletin warns.

REGISTER AIDS MANY IN WORK

Women Are Given Positions on Every Type of Publication

As its means of fulfilling its purpose of broadening the field for woman in journalism, Theta Sigma Phi honorary and professional journalistic fraternity for women, maintains a non-profit clearing house for positions for women in all fields of journalistic work.

The Women's National Journalistic register, inc., founded by action of the fraternity in convention in Madison May 1, 1920, has its headquarters at 53 E. Superior street, Chicago. Its function is to find positions for women on newspapers, on magazines, on trade journals, in advertising and publicity offices; and to investigate the opportunities for women in the entire profession of journalism, the art of writing, and the business of publishing.

Women Pay Fees

The first of these two functions is supposed to pay for itself. Women seeking positions through the Register pay a small registration fee, and pay a commission when the position is obtained, which is paid in six installments in order not to be a drain on the young woman's finances. No profit may accrue to any person or group of persons, and should the income from placements in positions ever exceed the expense, the profit would have to be used for establishing other offices of the bureau, or to make further surveys of the field for women.

The second function, that of investigation and increasing the opportunities for women in journalism, is paid for by the fraternity. The annual dues of the members of Theta Sigma Phi now include $1 to be paid to the Woman's National Journalistic register. In addition to this fee paid by the individual members, each chapter voluntarily gives what it wishes to expand the Register's work.

Among the members of Beta chapter of Theta Sigma Phi and the alumnae of the university who have found positions through the Register are: Marion Strassburger, Marjorie Ruff, Alice G. Edison, George Anundsen, Lucy Rogers, and Esther Van Waggoner Tufty.

The Register also undertakes to furnish speakers on the opportunities for women in journalism for vocational guidance conferences in high schools, colleges, and universities. An article on the openings for women in the profession of journalism, based on the survey of 178 journalistic and advertising offices in Chicago, will appear in the June issue of The Business Woman, a new magazine for the self-supporting woman, written by Ruby A. Black, who was placed as instructor in journalism here by the Register. She was formerly manager of the Register, and while there started the survey of Chicago's opportunities for women.

No Sex Lines

"We believe," said Miss Black, "that the work of the Register has really created new opportunities for women in journalism. Not only have we placed women in positions in entirely new fields, but we have, through talking with editors and advertising directors, shown them what women are capable of doing by pointing out to them what women actually are doing in other places. This has broken down prejudices of long standing."

"Furthermore, we have encouraged women to demand what they want in the profession by showing them that other women have done more startling things than those which they had hitherto thought difficult for women."

"We work on the basis that work is human and is not divided by sex lines."

FRANCES LONDON WILL GIVE RECITAL MAY 10

Frances H. Landon '23, will give her senior graduating piano recital at 8:15 o'clock Thursday, May 10, at Music hall. This recital marks the culmination of the music course, and is substituted for a thesis in the Music school for all of the students in the course. It will be open to the public.

The program will be: Beethoven's "Sonata opus 31," "Number 31" with the movements allegro, allegro vivace, minuetto, and presto; Chopin's "Ballade in G Minor" with the movements berceuse, waltz in G Flat, fantaisie impromptu, and scherzo; and Schumann's "Concerto in A Minor," with the movements allegro affetuosa, andantino, and allegro vivace.

INEVITABILITY IS TEST OF NOVEL

Sophie Kerr Gives Her Views on Literary Achievements

BY M. R.

"Inevitability is the test of a real novel. If the writer succeeds in giving the impression that the events in his story could not possibly have happened any other way and have remained consistent with his characters, he is a successful realist."

Thus does Sophie Kerr Underwood, novelist and short story writer, who attended the Theta Sigma Phi convention as an honorary member of that fraternity, sum up her idea of a truly realistic literary work. Her attitude toward modern writers takes its explanation from this fact.

"That's why 'If Winter Comes' is so impossible," she said. "Practically anything could have happened in that book and been in keeping. Walpole's Russian novels are so successful on the other hand, because he creates such a strong feeling that nothing could possibly have happened any other way."

"Hutchinson's novels are hardly read in England. But over here anything smacking of courage and sentimental bravado takes the people by storm. Bosh, I call it."

"Mark Sabre is certainly an ass. His wife stood a great lot from him. Why on earth should he have wanted his wife to bring in his bicycle. He could have done it himself. There is absolutely no 'inevitable' action in the book."

Mrs. Underwood combines gracious dignity with a delicious sense of humor in her delightful and lovable personality. She was extremely practical with her advice to the would-be journalist to develop their opportunities on home papers, and equally frivolous in numbering, among the things she likes most, comfort, old painted satinwood, amber beads, prize-fights, and having her own way.

"Story writing isn't a matter of inspirations. It's as much a business as newspaper copy. It needs everlasting plugging, and a perfectly business-like attitude," remarked the writer.

Sophie Kerr confessed a love for domestic life when she talked of her cat and kitten, named Useless and Worthless, respectively, both of whom she is unduly fond.

"But they're independent self-supporting creatures. I wrote a story about them which brought enough to keep them in liver and sardines," Miss Kerr, the practical, concluded.

Gale and Willsie Are Featured in 1924 Badger

Miss Zona Gale and Miss Honoria Willsie, honorary members of Beta chapter, are among the prominent women graduates of the university who are featured in the woman's section of the 1924 Badger. This section contains two pictures of each of Wisconsin's best known women, one taken upon graduation from the university, and one especially for the Badger. The section in all contains pictures of ten university women.

UNIVERSITY INTERESTS REFLECTED BY GIRLS

Co-eds differ in their attitude toward things, according to the many representatives who journeyed last week from twenty-five schools to their national Theta Sigma Phi convention, in Norman, Oklahoma.

From Syracuse, New York, and schools of the far west came the strongest exponents of a democratic spirit, while Minnesota and the schools of the middle west were rated by their co-eds as the most snobbish.

"Syracuse girls are strong for bacon bats and skiing. They are interested in all activities. Many girls make their own way through school, said Judith Sargent, women's editor of Syracuse university paper.

In Minnesota, 3,000 co-eds, who specialize in swoopy walks and up-town dates, seldom make their own living, according to Lois Schenck of that school. They do not care for politics.

"Political machines died at Iowa last year. All elections are by boards. The men are worried because the girl seem to be running everything," said Margaret Altman, speaking for her 2,500 sisters at Iowa university. "We are democratic, but not so much so as Oklahoma. There is little interest in politics," she concluded.

In Nebraska, a typical co-ed is known by her bobbed hair, her gay sandals, and campus chatter. She is quite athletic. This is the opinion of Leda Markwell, Nebraska university.

"The popular girl at Oklahoma is an all round sport. She is not a snob," declared Dot Arnot of that school.

"Kentucky girls are jolly all the time, but they can not enter as many school activities as the northern girls do," said Louise Connell of Lexington university.

Private Pipe Lines Expose Views of the Great and the Near Great

In ordinary times, the sleuthiest of nosy newsmen had extreme difficulty in gleaning even meager earfuls of facts about the private life of any well-known character. Running rumors to the ground and clearing them of libelous possibility has always been a mean job.

But when the great, the near great, the would-be great, and the always grating, meet at a convention of journalists, as recently (who try to take themselves seriously) there is good pickings for the sleuth.

Hugh Walpole, for instance, is a tightwad and loves to make (and eat) fat ham sandwiches.

Fannie Hurst is massive, built very big, and impresses one that a boat is bearing down upon one.

Booth Tarkington has a study room with windows placed high enough so the view is shut off, and with extremely maritime decorations about the walls.

Ludwig Lewisohn remarked recently that "marriage is a very good institution, but it lasts an awfully long time."

A. S. M. Hutchinson's books have practically no sale in England, and he was extremely startled at their success in United States.

MATRIX IS OPEN TO ALL WOMEN

Plan Underway to Publish Magazine as a Monthly

A definite step forward in the organization and purpose of the Matrix, the only magazine for women in journalism, was taken at the recent convention of Theta Sigma Phi, held at Norman, Okla., April 26-28. From now on the aim of the magazine will be to get outside of the fraternity and to become a magazine for all women interested in journalism, sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi.

Under this new plan the Matrix will contain news of what various other organizations of newspaper women are doing and, under a new arrangement for associate membership, designed to bring into the organization prominent newspaper women in various states, will endeavor to get more outside subscriptions. Provision for changing the magazine into a monthly as soon as finances will permit was also made at this convention.

Although a magazine such as the Matrix was provided for by the constitution of Theta Sigma Phi, it was not until six years after the founding of the fraternity in 1909 that the publication of the Matrix was actually begun. Previous to that time, news of Theta Sigma Phi was published in The Quill of Sigma Delta Chi, the paper published by the men's journalistic fraternity.

Violent Rioting In Streets Of Vienna

VIENNA.—Violent rioting occurred in the vicinity of Faviten Square throughout last night. The trouble started when the police attempted to protect a meeting of reactionaries. The officers, charged by workmen, armed with clubs, stones, and knives, used their swords to protect themselves.

MANY WRITERS ATTEND MEET

Approximately 48 States Represented at Convention In Norman

By MARJORIE CAPRON

Journalism women from Wisconsin, Washington, from New York, from Kentucky, Iowa, Missouri, Pennsylvania, California, Montana, from nearly every one of the forty-eight states, met at Norman, Oklahoma, April 26-28 for the third national convention of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary and professional fraternity for women in journalism.

Besides the delegates from active chapters, alumni and honorary members were present who have made national reputations in the profession since their graduation from college.

Sophie Kerr Speaks

Sophie Kerr Underwood novelist and short story writer, and former editor of the Woman's Home Companion, was one of the chief speakers at convention. Mrs. Underwood is an honorary member, and was sent to convention by the New York alumni chapter. Ruth Hale, internationally known newspaper woman, less well known as the wife of Heywood Broun, dramatic critic, came from New York to address the convention.

Mrs. Underwood was made honorary chairman of the committee to formulate a code of ethics in answer to many problems which are facing the women in the profession today. Ruby A. Black instructor in journalism here was made active chairman, and with the aid of women from several universities, the code will be formulated and presented at the next convention.

Black is Reelected Editor

To be of service to all women in the profession, is the growing aim of the fraternity as expressed in the changes making the Matrix a monthly publication.

Miss Black, editor of the Matrix for the past three years, was unanimously re-elected. The new national officers of the grand council who will hold office for the next two years are, Mary Kinney, president; Harriet Daily, vice-president; Ruby Black, editor; Muriel Kelly, treasurer; secretary; Muriel Fairbanks Steward; and national organizer, Grace Edgington.

Membership Petitions Granted

Two petitions for membership charters were granted, to Alpha Beta Pi, local journalistic sorority at Marquette university; and to Baylor College, Texas. One chapter, Tau of New York city, was suspended from membership.

The membership of the fraternity was changed to include associate members as well as active, honorary, and alumni memberships. The associate membership is to be conferred upon women who are at present prominently associated in journalistic work in their cities and states.

The fraternity will hold its next convention on the Pacific coast in 1925. The five far west chapters are to decide where it will be held. Three years ago Theta Sig convention met at Wisconsin.

ALUMNAE FIND VARIED CAREERS IN PROFESSIONS

Cheer up, girls! Wisconsin women do almost everything in the professional line, unless alumni records lie.

Over 700 a year join the teaching ranks and the number is on the increase, according to the statistics in the department of education.

Thirteen are lawyers who are practicing.

Ninety-three prefer library work. Seventy crave office backgrounds. Ten are chemists.

One is a judge—in Antigo, Wisconsin.

Seven are physicians and one is a surgeon.

One and only one is a saleswoman—for Detroit Electric cars.

Twenty-five write for news bosses. Two are geologists and one is a botanist.

One is a real estate agent with a big business in Cincinnati.

Fifteen are authors.

Fifty-six are doing social service work, of whom the best known is Jane Adams of Hull House, Chicago.

Two are brokers: one is a cost accountant for George F. Cram company, Chicago, and one is an auditor in the Division of Income Tax Treasury department, Washington, D. C.

MAYOR TO FINE LAKE VIOLATORS IN SAFETY PLAN

Death Toll is Now One a Year

A special campaign to "save" the life of one university student a year—the average toll of student drownings in Lake Mendota—and to reduce the number of canoe accidents each spring and summer has been launched by The Cardinal in co-operation with Mayor I. Milo Kittleson and J. B. Phillips, business manager of the university.

"The city ordinance passed last spring, regulating life preservers, canoes and sail boats on Lake Mendota, will be strictly enforced this year," Mayor Kittleson declared last night.

Co-Operation Necessary

"Co-operation of all boat users and bathers is necessary if the large number of lake accidents can be reduced. I am heartily in favor of any effort to prevent drownings and accidents, and promise strict enforcement of the penalty provision when violations of the ordinance are reported."

Captain Isabel, university life saver for seven years, has rescued four canoers already from the cold waters of Lake Mendota. Four students were saved from possible death last Sunday when Isabel rushed his new speed boat to their assistance.

Provide Penalties

Penalties of from $5 to $50 are provided for violations of the following city ordinance:

Section 1. That all canoes, row boats, sailboats and motor boats shall carry one government inspecting life preserver for each passenger on Lake Mendota.

Section 2. All canoes, 16 feet or under in length, shall not carry more than two passengers. Canoes over 16 feet and under 18 feet shall not carry more than three passengers.

Section 3. That the life guard shall have authority to determine the passenger capacity of all canoes over 18 feet in length, all row boats and all motor boats now already under city inspection, and shall determine the fitness of persons to handle such craft.

Section 4. That all swimmers along the City and University shore shall remain within the buoy line established by the life guard, except when accompanied by a canoe or boat which carries an extra life preserver for each swimmer so accompanied.

Section 5. That no swimming shall be permitted from sail boats when said sail boats are under sail.

Section 6. That any person violating the provisions of this ordinance or refusing to obey the orders of the life guard when said person is on or in the waters of Lake Mendota shall be punished by a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $50.

MARYLAND CHEMIST ADDED TO LAB STAFF

Dr. Francis G. Rawling, Luke, Md., has joined the section of pulp and paper at the United States Forest Products Laboratory. He will assist with the alkaline pulping process investigations and numerous other problems.

Dr. Rawlings was formerly with the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. He is a graduate of Leeds University, England, where he received the degrees of bachelor of science, master of science, and doctor of science. He was an instructor in chemistry at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

After passing the examination for associateship to the Institute of Chemistry of Great Britain and Ireland Dr. Rawlings was made a Fellow of the Institute. Dr. Rawlings has been with the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co., as a chemist and chemical engineer since 1913.

Police Force To Seek Parking Violators

Campaign against parking law violations was started today by the police department upon order of Mayor I. Milo Kittleson. Many complaints have been received lately from business men on State street and the Capitol square that autoists were not observing the 30 minute parking time allotted them on these thoroughfares.

Drivers of cars, if they must park for a period longer than 30 minutes, must do so on side streets or on the park side of the square.

U. S. Summer Camps Now Open to R. O. T. C. Students

Members of the R. O. T. C. who have completed the basic course are eligible for the summer war camps maintained by the war department, and applications are now being made for the infantry camp at Camp Custer, Michigan; the field artillery camp at Camp Knox, Kentucky; the signal corps camp at Battle Creek, Michigan; and the ordnance camp at the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Aberdeen, Maryland.

All applications must be in the hands of the commandant by June 1. Physical examinations and vaccinations for smallpox and typhoid are now being made at the University clinic.

Uniforms will be furnished at the camps upon arrival of the recruits. The list of personal effects is given in a circular issued by the military department. Transportation and the cost of meals en route to the camp will be paid by the government.

The courses open June 14 and will close July 26. The number of students that may go from this university is necessarily limited. More than 90 students may go to the infantry camp, 45 to the field artillery camp, and 20 to the signal corps camp.

Advanced course students receive $21 a month in addition to uniforms, messing and medical attendance, from the day of arrival at camp to the day of departure, both inclusive. All others receive the same except the pay of $21 a month.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL ADDRESSES LAW MEN

The law banquet, the social function of the year for the lawyers, was held Thursday night in the Y. M. C. A. Professor Smith of the law school acted as toastmaster, while Attorney-general Ekern was the principle speaker of the evening.

As the only social function sponsored by law students, the affair was well attended. In addition to the law students, the faculty of the Wisconsin law school, the Wisconsin Supreme court and both the district and federal courts were well represented.

The announcements of elections to Coif, honorary legal society, were made. Only those of the graduating class with the highest 10 per cent are eligible for selection to this society.

Roy Miller Is Sent To Mendota Asylum

Roy Miller, alias Roy Baker, 27, who was arrested by police charged with robbing the offices of Dr. H. M. Kay of a tube of morphine tablets Tuesday night, today began a sentence at the "cure ward" of the Mendota state asylum.

Miller was found mentally incompetent due to ravages of dope after an examination in Superior court yesterday. He is a Milwaukee man.

Plead Guilty To Drunkenness Charges

Three men who pleaded guilty to charges of drunkenness when arraigned in Superior court today were fined $5 and costs by Judge O. A. Stolen. They were Edward Lynch, P. R. Volland and Dan O'Connor.

N. Y. Payroll Bandits Escape With Purse

NEW YORK.—Payroll bandits worked briskly in New York today attacking three bearers of large sums of money and escaping with two of the payrolls. One bandit was shot dead by policeman who pursued him and his companions after they had snatched $4,700 from two messengers and fled.

Further plans for the observance of Memorial day in the city will be discussed at a meeting of representatives of patriotic organizations to be held at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon in the G. A. R. rooms, state capitol. The committee appointed at the organization meeting held two weeks ago will report their activities. Timothy Brown is chairman of the general committee.

Drivers of cars, if they must park for a period longer than 30 minutes, must do so on side streets or on the park side of the square.

All Classes Are Pleased With Present Orph Show

The bachelor, whose penchant is musical comedy, the matinee miss with a fondness for good-looking leading men, and the staid married folks who patronize only the outstanding "hits" of each season, all have an inning during the engagement of "Turn To The Right" at the Orpheum this week closing with Saturday night performance by the Dorothy La Vern Stock Company.

This is a play of laughs and heart throbs which Winchell Smith and John L. Golden leased for stock after record-smashing runs of a solid year in both New York and Chicago, and it appeals to all classes. It can be compared with "The Old Homestead" and "Way Down East" for straight-to-heart wholesomeness; with "The Boomerang" and "The Fortune Teller" for clean, refreshing comedy or with "Ben Hur" for an uplifting touch of the religious. The stage has never known a cleaner play than "Turn To The Right." In its prologue and three acts there is never a line or situation to bring uneasiness to the man who has brought his wife, sister or daughter. Throughout its action it breathes an atmosphere of youth and happiness blended with good old-fashioned honesty.

One week, starting Sunday matinee, the Dorothy La Vern Stock Company will present "Up In Mable's Room," the famous Broadway comedy success by Colinson and Harrison, and one of the biggest laugh hits that Broadway has had in seasons.

Odd Devices Are Used to Announce Engagements

"To-who-o. To-who-o! To you, to announce the engagement of—", and the wise old owl was brought in to announce that most important of all news. A stuffed owl of course, with his message tied around his neck and a ribbon telling of the engagement of Miss B. to Mr. R.

But the owl alone does not have this pleasure. There is the black cat. Brought in in candy bags to the guests at an announcement party, the cat is "let out of the bag" as each guest takes a bag. The cat bears upon his back the names which he announces.

"Lucky white stones," are used for more than nursery rhymes. Hidden in candle sticks, the guest must often hunt out the lucky stones to find the names.

MARY BALDWIN WEDS JUNE 23

Sorority Sisters Will Leave For La Crosse to Attend Affair

The date of the wedding of Miss Mary Baldwin '23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cameron L. Baldwin of La Crosse, and Dr. Gunnar Gunderson of La Crosse has been announced as June 23. The ceremony will be held in the Episcopal church at La Crosse at 8 o'clock in the evening, followed by a reception at Glen Cameron, the summer home of the Baldwins.

The wedding is to be Victorian, and all the dresses will be made with tight bodices and long full skirts, trimmed with garlands of flowers. Miss Baldwin will be attended by Jane Baldwin as Maid of Honor, and Marjorie Severance '23, Helen Smallshaw '23, Betty Thorkelson '23, Helen Kingsford '24, Ruth Merrill '25, and Florence Stolte '23, as bridesmaids. All are members of Alpha Phi. Sigrid Gunderson will act as best man, and the ushers and four little pages and flower girls will be members of the Gunderson family.

Miss Baldwin is a senior in the university and a member of Mortar Board, Omicron Nu, and Alpha Phi. She was Prom queen last year.

Dr. Gunderson was graduated from the university in 1916 and from Columbia School of Medicine in 1918. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi and Nu Sigma Nu.

After the wedding, the couple will leave for New York where they will sail for Norway. They expect to be in Europe a year and will live in La Crosse upon their return.

BANQUET IS GIVEN FOR LUTHERAN STUDENTS

Luther Memorial student association held its first anniversary banquet and election of officers at Luther Memorial church last night.

Officers elected for the following year are: Alfred Peterson '24, president, Margaret Chorlog, '25 vice-president, Mildred Elser '25, secretary, William Haugen '24 treasurer. The new student cabinet will be Richard Kuhns '25, Lillian Soldan '26, Capitol Steens, and Edward Kleist '26 Christian Randall '24, Wilbur Wittenburg '24. Wittenburg is the retiring president of the association.

Dr. Charles S. Bauslin of Philadelphia, college secretary of the national board of education of the United Lutheran church of America was one of the principle speakers at the banquet.

"The Supreme Test of a Man" was the subject of his talk. Others who spoke for the occasion which was in the nature of a senior farewell, were Dr. W. W. Kennerley of Milwaukee, Dr. M. J. Baber of Minneapolis, and Rev. A. J. Soldan, pastor of the church. Toastmaster at the banquet was Wilbur Wittenburg.

Outing Club Has Annual Party

The annual Outing club week-end party at the Dells will be held Friday to Sunday, May 18-20, according to announcement given out yesterday by Anita Haven '24, president of the club.

This is an annual affair and cottages are rented every year for the men who go. The expenses are all borne in a co-operative manner. The party leaves Friday afternoon and returns Sunday.

There will be a mass meeting of Outing club for all of the active members and all women who are interested in good times out of doors. Thursday evening, special talks will be given on past week-end parties, and complete plans will be made for the one this year.

Phi Kappa Psi Holds Council Meet

The fourth district council of Phi Kappa Psi has been held the last three days in Madison at the new Phi Psi house, 811 State street. Aside from the business meetings held daily, entertainment has included a smoker at the chapter house Thursday evening, a tennis match, Friday afternoon, an informal dance Friday night at the Candy shop a baseball game yesterday afternoon, and a banquet at the house last evening.

Y. W. SUMMER COTTAGE OPENS THIS WEEK-END

The Y. W. C. A. summer cottage on Lake Mendota, which was opened May 3, shelters the members of the cabinet this week-end as the first of its series of guests.

This is the third year that the organization has rented the cottage known to those that have been there as "The Shoe", for the month of May. It is located on the lake drive about a half mile beyond the tent colony. Four regular Y. W. C. A. house parties will be held, and the house will be free to any other group of women in the university who wish to hike out and spend the night.

Groups of girls signed up weeks ago for the privilege of using the cottage and any others are at liberty to do so. A calendar for this purpose hangs in the Y. office. Miss Mary Andersen, secretary, is making "The Shoe" her official residence for the rest of the month and will be at home to all comers.

"There has hardly been a night that I have not had a 'full house' since the plan was first adopted," Miss Andersen said last week. "The three mile walk is a pleasant one, even when you have to make an eight-o'clock. I hike in and out every day."

Next week-end the freshman commission will occupy the cottage. The sophomore commission will follow on the week-end of May 18, and the student industrial group will have it for the last week. These are regular annual conferences at which the girls talk over plans for the coming year.

Press Club Members to Go on Picnic Sunday

Press club members who desire to attend the annual outing-picnic at Bernard Park next Sunday are requested by Gene Allemen, president to "sign up" on the bulletin board in South hall as soon as possible. A lunch has been engaged, leaving at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. A baseball game between the "Scribes" and the "Cardinals" will feature the athletic contests. Lunch will be served at 6:30 o'clock. Price for the launch trip and lunch has been set at 50 cents. Press club members may invite one guest for the picnic which will be terminated by a moonlight launch trip leaving Bernard park at 9:30 o'clock.

Teare-Woodworth Engagement Announced

The engagement of Ruth Teare to Douglas H. Woodworth was announced at Tabard Inn last evening. Miss Teare is a senior in the Course in Journalism and a member of Theta Sigma Phi. Mr. Woodworth is a graduate of last year's class in Journalism and a member of Sigma Delta Chi. He is at present telegraph editor on the Eau Claire Telegram.

Cupid Breaks Yearly Record By 21 Margie

In the spring the society editor's fancies lightly turn to thoughts of engagements, and see what she finds.

During the year there have been 76 engagements and 46 marriages announced in the Cardinal. (Of course this is irrespective of the secret ones which are never divulged.)

Cupid has increased his business over that of last year by a margin of 21 in spite of the He-Man organization. At a constant yearly increase such as this—well, do your own mathematics.

But what do Cupid and Calculus think of each other? Look at what the figures say. The three sororities that have had the largest number of five-pound boxes of candy all stand in the last half of the list of scholastic standings. Kappa Gamma heads the list with 11 engagements and 3 marriages, Alpha Phi comes in second with 7 engagements and 6 marriages, and Delta Gamma third with 6 engagements. All three are from 10th place on in scholarship.

On the other hand, the other end of the list is just as interesting and telling. Alpha Gamma Delta and Alpha Delta Pi, who hold first and second places in scholarship, tie for the last place in the engagement list. Each have had one engagement announcement.

It took just one week after school started last fall for the first engagement to be announced. So far, February is the best month, with Prom of course, but wait until the May returns start to come in.

Well, take your pick, girls, grades or candy? You can't have both.

HAREFOOT INITIATES 36 WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The twenty-fifth annual Haresfoot alumni banquet and initiation will be held next Wednesday evening at 5:30 o'clock in the Park hotel.

Many alumni from all over the country will journey to Madison to take part in the initiation of thirty-six new members, to have a good time, reminiscent of college boys, and to discuss plans for the club which in the past few years has grown to be one of the largest and most successful dramatic clubs in the country.

Following the initiation and banquet the entire club will go to the Orpheum for the play "Up in Mabel's Room." The annual Haresfoot serenade with a piano on a truck and sixty voices will tour the university district after the performance.

Steenberg Takes Charge of Best Country Paper

The Algoma Record-Herald received a majority of the votes of the class in editing when the products of the 4 country weekly groups were passed upon. David Steenberg '24 was in charge of the issue that was put out by the student group. The paper was sixteen pages in size, six columns to a page. It was voted best by the editing class because of its make-up. The Rice Lake Chronotype of which Fred Kildow '23 had charge received the next largest number of votes. It was a 22-page 7-column paper.

JUDGE PAM TO SPEAK AT MENORAH BANQUET

Judge Hugo Pam, the eminent Chicago jurist, will be the guest and principal speaker at the annual spring banquet of the Menorah society, to be held in the Woman's building Saturday evening, May 19. This affair will close the year's activities for the society, and plans are being made to make it the most year.

Irving Goldberg, pres., president of the organization, will preside as toastmaster, and will call upon several prominent local men and students for short talks. Tickets are $1.25 a plate, and are in the hands of committee members and others of the society. The committee on arrangements includes Harry Kato-witz '24, Herman Mosher '24, Joseph Schulkin '23, Miriam Wasser-mann '26, Ellia Wain '24 and Irving Goldberg, grad.

The board of visitors of the university met at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the administration building. The meeting was to have been held last week but had been postponed.

Court Dance Held May 19

On May 19, Kappa, Theta, Alpha Phi, and Gamma Phi will hold their court dance in Irving court. The affair which was started three years ago has become a tradition with the four houses. The court will be decorated with Japanese lanterns and a large platform will be built in the center of the court to hold the orchestra. Refreshments will be served on the lawn between the Kappa and Gamma Phi houses.

Rev. and Mrs. O. J. Wilkie will observe the 22nd anniversary of their wedding at their home, 1007 East Johnson street, Monday. No plans for a celebration of the event which is also Rev. Wilkie's 49th birthday, have been made. The couple will observe the day quietly at home.

Rev. Wilkie has been pastor of St. John's Lutheran church for the past 19 years, succeeding his father, Rev. Christian Wilke, for many years president of the Wisconsin district of the Iowa synod.

MAY IS MONTH FOR FORMALS

Taxis and Flowers Are in Evidence For Spring Affairs

Taxis and flowers flood the streets as the influx of spring formals greet university society. May is the month for them, and weekends are crowded from now until the university social restrictions bar them.

Kappa Kappa Gamma is holding their spring party next Friday evening at Rudder Grange on Lake Monona. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Morell of Milwaukee have been invited to chaperon.

Alpha Phi held their formal last evening in the nature of a Hawaiian party. The idea was carried out in decorations, programs and favors, and a special feature was given by a Hawaiian singer and Hula dancer. Mrs. Nelle W. Parham and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip LaFollette chaperoned. Out of town guests were Helen White, Wilmette, Margaret Eulass, Chicago, Alice Evans, Aurora, Ill., Martha Pearce, Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Collins, Rhinelander, and Florence Blish, Fond du Lac.

Next week-end the girls living at Tabard Inn will drive to Tower Hill, where they will spend the week-end at Androscoggin Lodge.

Phi Omega Pi will hold their spring formal at Lathrop parlors next Saturday evening. Wisteria blossoms will be used for decorations. Out-of-town guests will be Genevieve Palmer, Milwaukee, Lorraine Oestreich, Beloit, and Katherine Leitzell, Stoughton. Mrs. Frances Wheelock and Miss Catherine Corbett will chaperon.

Baskets of spring flowers carrying out a color scheme of lavender, pink and yellow will be used to decorate the Pi Phi house for their formal next Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fox of Glenco, Ill., and Mrs. Frettag of Chicago will chaperone. Helen Shipley of Chicago will come for it.

Chi Psi will have their formal next Friday night at the Chi Psi Lodge. Dr. and Mrs. S. S. Bowman will chaperon. Out-of-town guests will be Grace Bennett, Milwaukee, Rachel Bradish, Ottawa, Marjorie Downing, Milwaukee, Jeanette Boyer, Duluth, and Henrietta Johnson, Racine.

Others who are having formals Saturday night are Kappa Alpha Theta and Beta Theta Pi. Alpha Chi Omega is entertaining with their formal Friday night. Phi Delta Theta is having an informal dance Friday night.

TO BAN RUSHING AT FALL PARTY SAYS CHAIRMAN

Committees for the annual S. G. A. party for freshmen women to be held in Lathrop hall the first Saturday after the opening of the university in the fall have been announced by Eleanor Day, general chairman of the entertainment.

"In an effort to eliminate the evils of rushing at these parties," said Miss Day, "the only upperclassmen allowed at the entertainment will be those taking part in the program. The various organizations on the campus, however, as well as the social groups, are urged to co-operate with the committee in offering girls for stunts."

The committees and representatives of various organizations are as follows: general arrangements—Eleanor Day, chairman; Lois Jacobs, Helen Kingsford, Janet Cummings, Marian Metcalf, Alice Corl, Arlene Klug, Mary Burchard, Anita Haven; plays and music—Ida Gilbert, Louise Smith, Mable Jobse; organizations—W. A. A., Esther Bilstad; Outing club, Anita Haven; Orchesis, Reinette Douglas; Mu Phi Epsilon, Lois Jacobs; Glee club, Hilda Schultz; Clef club, Norma Schoen; University players, Roberta Louden.

"The Freshman Hours," a pageant which has been used at the S. G. A. parties for several years, has been elaborated and rewritten by Dean F. Louise Nardin, as a complete program for this entertainment.

RADIO USED IN HUNT FOR KIDNAPPED BOY

Verner Alexanderson.

When E. F. W. Alexanderson, chief engineer of the Radio Corporation of America, Schenectady, N. Y., helped develop radio he little thought that some day this new scientific field would be called upon to help track down the kidnapper of one of his children. But the broadcasting stations all over the country have sent out descriptions of the "big man" who is believed to have lured away Alexanderson's son, Verner, on the plea that he would give the boy some rabbits.

New Officers of Outing Club Installed Thursday

The newly elected officers of the Outing club were formally installed Thursday at the regular monthly meeting.

They are Anita Haven '24, president; Janet Walls '25; vice-president; Doris Burdick '25, secretary; Harriet Green '24, treasurer; Edith Jorris '26, Daisy Simpson '25 and Madge Burt '26, heads of Fall sports, Winter sports, and picnicing respectively. A week-end party at Devil's lake, May 18, is being planned by a committee with Janet Walls as chairman. Plans for a war-canoe picnic are also under way.

George Bennett the newest man on the Badger team, continued his winning streak and won from Beck by 6-4, 6-4 scores. The victory made the fourth in a string for Bennett as he won both in singles and doubles in the Iowa and Minnesota meets.

Despite the fact that the outcome of the doubles match between Tredwell and Aagesen, of Wisconsin, and Bros and Pidgeon, of Minnesota, was not of moment in the final score of the teams, the tilt was easily the feature of the afternoon, for there was seen some of the best talent in the Western Conference in a match which would be hard to equal for thrills.

ACTIVITIES FOR
BETA CHAPTER
RANGE WIDELY

The campus activities of Theta Sigma Phi during the past year covered a wide range. They include a welcome last fall for all women in journalism, new students and old; the bringing to Madison of the best story in the Literary Magazine; and the gift of $100 toward the support of a national agency for the employment of women in journalism, the Theta Sigma Phi "Register," located in Chicago.

The fall welcome, at which a short farce was presented and refreshments were served, was held in Lathrop hall early in October. About 150 women journalism students were present. Homecoming Cardinals were sold on the campus by members of Theta Sigma Phi, at Homecoming time.

Hugh Walpole's novels were the subject of study at the fall meetings, and on January 18 Mr. Walpole was brought to Madison through the agency of the fraternity. A banquet was given for him at the University club, by Theta Sigma Phi co-operating with Sigma Delta Chi, the corresponding honorary and professional men's journalistic organization. Professor and Mrs. Carl Young and Professor and Mrs. J. F. A. Pyre were guests at the banquet, following which Mr. Walpole spoke to a capacity audience in Music hall.

During March, 15 dollars was given to the support of the Matrix, national publication of the fraternity, and in April, one official delegate and three other Wisconsin representatives attended the national convention in Norman, Oklahoma. Mrs. Ruby Black Little, instructor in the Journalism department and editor of the Matrix, also attended the convention, during which the hundred dollar gift was pledged for the use of the Register.

Special emphasis has been placed on keeping in touch with alumnae members, and each active member has written to at least one alumna with regard to her work in the journalistic field, in order that the contact with actual workers in the profession may be maintained.

All abstracts on the new contagious hospital site, E. Washington ave. and Second st., have been prepared and signing of the papers will probably take place early next week, it was announced today by Roman Heilman, city attorney. A settlement of $14,000 has been agreed upon between the city and Juli a Powers, owner.

The Life of the Party

On a picnic, out in the canoe, in your rooms, the Portable Victrola certainly does liven things up. It's such a handy little machine, easy to carry about, taking up but little room, that it has gained instant favor with University students. The Victor people have brought forth the best in portable models as well as in the larger machines.

Of course you will play Victor and Brunswick records—acknowledged leaders. This month's releases will surely interest you. Snappy fox trots for the impromptu dancing party feature in the list, but there are other good numbers too. Stop in and let us play them for you.

AS CO-EDS WERE IN TIMES PAST

Interesting Changes Have Taken Place in Sixty Years

The evolution of the Wisconsin co-ed.

About 60 years ago the young woman who aspired to an education at the university had to come to the university under the pretext of being a prospective school teacher. She lived in her own narrow college world and was excluded at first from attending classes other than lectures in which men enrolled. Bringing of "females" into the university was believed to be undesirable because they would lower the standards of culture.

The board of regents in 1866 declared that "the university in all its departments shall be open to male and female students." The male and female students. The next year an amendment to this clause gave the regents the right to make regulations and restrictions as they deemed proper for the place of women in the university.

The female college was then established as the separate college for women students.

The first co-eds lived in South hall, then the girls' dormitory, under the charge of a preceptress, a teacher of music and a teacher of drawing and painting. After 1869 women were regularly graduated with the A. B. degree but were not at first allowed to attend the same commencement exercises as the men. Classes for both men and women were started in 1871 when a shortage of professors and instructors made separate classes impossible.

That the first co-eds desired student activities as well as studies was proved by the establishment of Castalia Literary society in 1864, the year after the first co-eds moved into South hall, the first dormitory for women.

Ladies' hall, now Chadbourne hall, was open as a residence hall for women in 1871.

The need for physical education for women being realized for some time, the Regents in 1896 provided for equipping Ladies' hall with the necessary gymnasium apparatus. A department of domestic science was established in the College of Letters and Science in 1904, and remained there until 1909 when it was transferred to the College of Agriculture and given the name of home economics.

In a report of President Charles K. Adams, of the university, in 1896, he said, "The old query as to whether the health of young women would bear the strain of a university course has been swept away by the energetic hand of experience; so also has the doubt as to whether scholarship would suffer from the presence of women in the classes."

The co-ed's place at the university is now so well established that it seems always to have been so.

Libby To Give Six Addresses In Madison

Six addresses will be given in Madison by Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary for the National Council for the Prevention of War, before various organizations tomorrow and Monday.

Mr. Libby will speak before the Nakoma Welfare association at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon; the Reconciliation of Peace group at the home of Mrs. William G. Pittman, 414 N. Henry st., at 5; and the Wesley Foundation at 7:30. On Monday he will speak before the Capital Local Teachers' association at 9 o'clock in the morning; the S. SUICIDE THEORY RESURRECTED

Girl Tells of Threat of Northwestern University Student

CHICAGO — The mystery surrounding the death of Leighton Mount, Northwestern university student, whose skeleton was found beneath a pier near Lake Michigan at Evanston on Monday, was deepened on Friday by the questioning in the state's attorney's office of more than 100 undergraduates.

After insisting for days that Mount, who disappeared in September, 1921, after taking part in a class rush, had met his death as a result of hazing and that his body had been hidden by fellow students, officials Friday night said that the theory that he committed suicide "does not now seem so improbable as it did at first."

Talked of Suicide

That a number of times during the summer of 1921 Mount had told her he was dissatisfied with conditions in his life and had a "good notion to do away with himself," was the testimony of Miss Doris Fuchs, a friend of the dead student.

The girl testified that Mount had told her the night he disappeared that the class rush with its attending excitement might give him an opportunity to "do away with himself." "That night he sent me a note in which he warned me to keep as quiet as a snake," she said.

Mrs. J. L. Mount, mother of the dead youth, said that Miss Fuchs had told her of these conversations with her son at the time of his disappearance, but added, that in her worry she probably did not give the words a great deal of attention. "Leighton talked much at all times of his life, his future and his conditions," the mother said, "and possibly he may even have talked about killing himself, but we paid no attention to him."

No Hole In Pier, Claim

A new angle to the investigation was uncovered when evidence was found that there was no hole in the planking of the pier where the skeleton was found. O. L. Olson, the contractor who built the pier, said he had inspected it in December, 1921, and at that time there was no hole through which a body could have been dragged to concealment.

Arthur Persinger, who was a sophomore at the time, testified that he had taken part in the class rush and had been ducked in the lake and tied to a pier a few hours before Mount disappeared. The dead student was a freshman and was battling against the sophomores.

Everett B. Fox testified that he led the band of Freshmen that tied Persinger to the pier.

Left Mount at 3 A. M. "Persinger took it in good sport," said Fox, "and we heard no more about it—there was no thought of reprisals."

R. A. Daugan of Beloit, Wis., the first witness called on Friday by the state attorney's office, testified that he knew nothing of Mount's disappearance, but told of being ducked twice in the 1921 class scrap.

SPRING SPORTS RIVALRY KEEN AMONG WOMEN

Strong competition is now under way in Spring sports in order to determine who shall take part in Field Day exercises May 26. Miss Carol Rice, track instructor, prophesies that many records will be broken.

About 115 girls are enrolled in track, the same number in baseball; 450 are taking tennis, 160 archery, 250 swimming, and 72 horseback riding. About 25 girls attend a riding class at 6:30 o'clock in the morning. Due to the short spring riding season there will be no class competition in horseback riding on Field Day but instead there will be individual demonstrations by advanced pupils.

Baseball squads will be chosen the first of this week. Teams are to be selected next week. Preliminary inter-class track meets are scheduled for Monday and Tuesday when freshmen will compete with juniors and sophomores against senior girls.

Try-outs for tennis teams took place Friday. Elimination contests are being played and four will be in inter-class doubles. The final double and single games between the two victorious classes will take place on Field Day.

Twelve students will be graduated from the physical education department this year. Four received their diplomas in February and eight will be granted diplomas in June.

The tournaments will be started soon after the teams in all of the sports have been announced. Final teams are picked from the squads

Fire Department Buys New Equipment

The new $13,000 combination pumper and chemical engine purchased by the fire department for use at Central station exceeded its guaranteed power in official tests held Tuesday afternoon at Terney Park.

This was the message of Frank R. Daniel, chief engineer of the Wisconsin Inspection Bureau today in a letter to Chief Charles W. Heyl, following the Tuesday tests.

The tests which were conducted by I. M. Parker of the inspection bureau, showed that the pumper lifted 792 gallons of water at 128 pounds of pressure.

Blue and gold will be the color scheme used in decorating the Chi Phi chapter house for the dance being given there this evening. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Pesch will chaperon.

FOR SPORTSWOMEN

ALL outdoors is calling the university woman these days—and to answer she must have the appropriate costume. Whether you find your recreation in tennis, golf, or hiking, Andelson Brothers Company have just the apparel you will need—in the trig lines and light fabrics so favored this season. With the proper costume the pleasure of your favorite sport is increased immensely.

The Ever-Favored Sweater

On the courts, the links, and about the campus the smart sleeveless sweater is much in evidence, for it adds greatly to any costume. We are indeed proud of our large assortment of new and unusual weaves, many with contrasting fronts of plaids and checks while others come in solid colors. Other styles are here for you too. Come in and slip one on.

Knickers

These are really a necessary part of every co-ed's wardrobe for their uses are so many. They come in tweeds, mixtures, herring-bones and checks, so that every individual preference can be satisfied. The assortment is indeed complete.

Sport Coats

Full length or just below the hips, Top Coats on the sports order are always becomingly worn. We have the longer ones which take to plaids so exceedingly well; then, too, there are the short ones with wide sleeves and utility pockets.

The Combination Suit

This garment must have been designed with the college woman's needs in mind. Knickers for hiking or sports and a skirt for wear upon the hill, while the same coat or sleeveless jacket completes either costume. We have these for you too in many shades.

Other Essentials Are Here Too

Sports hose to harmonize with every costume, cocky little sports hats in Milan, felt or silk, jaunty blouses in novel designs, pleasing bits of neckwear of the finest quality—all of these will you find here. Truly, Andelson's has everything to make your sports costume complete.
