TWENTY-FOUR TO FOUR

WAS THE SCORE IN THIS AFTER-NOON'S GAME.

AND WISCONSIN WAS VICTOR-IOUS.

Almost A-Walk-Over for Our Team.

The men lined up as follows:

Wisconsin	C. A. A.
Alexander	Left tackle.	Corbin
Kull	Centre	McLeod
Jacobs	Right guard.	Stone
Silverwood	Right tackle.	Hart
Major	Right end.	Lucas
Lyman	Quarter.	Slater
Karel	Right half.	Van Duzer
Richards	Full back.	Andrews

Wisconsin, with the ball in its possession started off with a kick taking the ball to Chicago's 25-yard line. Chicago got the ball however and punted down the field. Richards caught it and by successive gains Wisconsin advanced it again to the 25-yard line. Chicago got possession of the ball on a fumble but was forced to punt after two downs. Karel then advanced the ball twenty yards for Wisconsin and Silverwood followed with a like distance. Richards then went through the center but made no gain. Chicago got the ball and Van Doozer made a twenty-yard gain. Hamlin lost three yards however and on Andrews attempting to punt, the ball was kicked out of bounds but Chicago retained it. Here Van Doozer got the ball and with a long run of eighty yards made the first touch down for Chicago. Andrews failed to kick the goal. Score, C. A. A. 4, Wisconsin 0.

Wisconsin kicked off and Van Doozer advanced the ball ten yards. Wisconsin got the ball on a fumble and sent Nelson and Richards through the line for successive gains. Karel taking the ball across the line for Wisconsin's first touch down. Lyman kicked goal. Score Chicago 4, Wisconsin 6.

Chicago kicked off and Richards got the ball on the 25-yard line. Nelson, Karel and Richards made successful and steady gains for Wisconsin advancing the ball at every down. Karel took the ball to Chicago's 10-yard line by two splendid runs and after another advance by Silverwood, Nelson carried the ball across the line for Wisconsin's second touch down. Lyman kicked goal. Score, Wisconsin 12, Chicago 4.

Chicago kicked off when time was called. Score, Wisconsin 12, C. A. A. 4.

Chicago kicked off in the second half. Karel gained on it, and on the second line up advanced the ball 12 yards. Good gains by U. W.'s tackles followed, and then Karel went round the end for 10 yds. In the scrimmage which followed, Major was hurt and Dickinson was substituted. Steady gains followed, five and ten yards at a time until Alexander, assisted by good interference particularly by Nelson went over for the third touchdown from which Lyman kicked the goal and the score stood 18 to 4. The Chicago team looked rather disconsolate when they lined up for the kickoff. Andrews sent the ball into touch the first time but on the second attempt made a good drive which Nelson secured. Wisconsin then gained steadily and Nelson broke out of a wedge for 10 yards.

When the next wedge was formed Karel followed suit for another 15 yards. In a moment however Chicago secured the ball on a fumble and Hamlin went around the left end for 10 yards, stopped by Lyman. Short gains by Chicago and then U. W. secured the pigskin on a fumble and on the second play Karel helped by fine interference gained 18 yards. Lyman was hurt here but continued to play a few moments. A few minutes of hard play and Alexander was shoved over for another four points to which Lyman added two by a goal kick. Score U. W. 24, C. A. A. 4.

Andrews kicked off well as usual, Karel securing the ball and giving twenty-five yards around Chicago's end on the next play short gains and then Richards punted. Andrews muffed the ball and Sheldon secured the ball. Wisconsin's tackles carried the ball to Chicago's ten-yard line and time was called with the score 24 to 4 in favor of U. W.

ENGINEERING SOCIETY.

The first regular meeting of the U. W. Engineers' Club was held last night in Science Hall. The above name was chosen for the society, and a constitution was adopted. After some discussion it was decided to limit the membership to the engineers of '97; though engineer students of the other classes, if interested, are invited to attend and take part in meetings.

After the business was concluded, Prof. John D. Mack addressed the members in a few words showing them how to give a condensed account of what the current engineering magazines contain. The meetings of the club will be held every Friday evening at 7 o'clock in room 29, Science Hall. The membership is very large and all are enthusiastic over their organization.

CITY LECTURE COURSE.

This course held in the M. E. church will be a rare treat.

The first entertainment will be given by the Shuman Quartette and Music company, Oct. 25. Jacksonville (Fla.) Daily Citizen said after an entertainment given by this company, "It would pay one to go 100 miles to hear such a concert." John De Witt Miller comes Nov. 16. The Kansas City Capitol places Mr. Miller first on the platform today. "The Chicago Rivals will appear Dec. 1st. This company has Miss Losey, Miss Shoemaker and Mr. Rollans, three artists of national reputation. Booker T. Washington who captured the Likeside Assembly comes Jan. 25. Hon. Ignatius Donnelly will deliver his best lecture in February. Rev. F. W. Gunsaulus D. D., the prince of orators has set his date March 10.

Tickets for this course $1.00. Single lecture 50c. All desiring tickets can secure them from Mr. Beffel, S. R. Dudgeon, Bert Greenbank and E. S. Hanson.

NINETY-SIX ARE VICTORIOUS

GAME DISTINGUISHED BY MANY ERRORS.

Freshmen Try Two Pitchers.

The freshmen were a bat first and started the game with one run brought in by Gregg. The juniors fell on to Aston's curves with a great show of familiarity and Runkel, Kennedy and Hayden each succeeded in crossing the plate with a score. In the second inning Hayden was wild and Aston, Mills, Spence and Swaty, with lucky hits and bases on balls got in runs. Aston retired the juniors in one-two-three order this innings. In the third and fourth innings neither side scored. In the fifth inning Jackson was put out in a high fly, Fabrick was caught off first and Aston stuck out. McCully and Hayden succeeded in getting in two runs this inning. In the sixth the freshmen were unable to score. As the juniors went to bat the freshmen changed pitchers, putting Parkinson in the box in Aston's place. Beebe was first to bat for the juniors. He made a safe hit, but was caught off third and put out. Roberts also made a safe hit, but was nipped at second. Runkel was next to bat and made a nice hit. Here the fun commenced and Kennedy, McCully, Hayden and Karel fell onto Park's curves for singles and doubles. They might have been batting yet had not Thompson taken pity on the poor freshmen and purposely struck out. In the last inning Gregg, for the freshmen, scored.

The juniors defeated the freshmen yesterday by a score of 11 to 7. The teams were made up as follows: Juniors—Runkel c; Kennedy 1st b; McCully c f; Hayden p; Karel 2d b; Scott ss; Thompson r f; Beebe 3rd; Roberts 1 f; Freshmen—Parkinson ss; Gregg c; Gould c f; Jackson 1 b; Fabrick 1 f; Aston p ss; Mills r f; Spence 2d b.

FENCING CLUB.

The U. W. Fencing club met yesterday afternoon at Library hall. Nearly all the old members and a number of new fencing enthusiasts were present. It was decided to continue the club during the coming year, and the next meeting will be held a week from today at 4 p. m. As the election of officers takes place at this meeting and other important business, relative to securing a room, will be transacted a full attendance is desired. Mr. F. E. Heim, the instructor of the club, who made such a creditable showing with his men at the last mid-winter meet, intends to organize a ladies' fencing class in the near future.

—W. L. Macauley, Princeton, '94, is coaching the Michigan football team.

RECEPTION TO DR. ELY.

There was a large attendance at the reception given to Professor Ely by his friends at the Congregational church last evening as over 600 invitations had been issued. The ushers were Professors Benjamin W. Snow, G. L. Hendrickson and C. N. Gregory and Messrs. O. D. Brandenburg, L. M. Hanks and A. P. Wilder. The reception committee consisted of President and Mrs. Adams, Dr. Ely, Mrs. Lucius Fairchild and Mr. and Mrs. George Raymer. Lemonade and ices were served by the Misses Fairchild, Young, Burdick, Vance, Butler, Bryant, Johnson and Mrs. Kerr.

The floral decorations of the parlor were unique and exceedingly pretty. The center piece was "the Old Oaken Bucket" done in red roses, smilax and tube-roses. This was directly beneath the center chandelier. On either side of this was a large pyramid of palms and at the extreme ends of the room were single palms. The small rostrum was a mass of flowers and ferns. A large parlor lamp of exquisite finish stood at each lemonade table. The tables where the ices were served were also beautifully decorated.

A few of the many present were: Prof. and Mrs. J. B. Parkinson, Prof. and Mrs. G. L. Hendrickson, Prof. W. W. Daniels, Justice and Mrs. A. W. Newman, Mrs. S. L. Sheldon, Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Sheldon, Regent B. J. Stevens, and Miss Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Warner, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Thorpe, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Brown, Gen. E. E. Bryant, Dr. and Mrs. L. S. The attendance at the literary societies last night indicated that the interest in this branch of which Wisconsin has always been justly proud, is not falling off. Wisconsin has always stood foremost in the lines of debating and it is to the lower classmen who are now working in the halls of the societies that we look for the continuance of this high position.

The game this afternoon was of great benefit in showing the weak points of our eleven. In practice against the second eleven many little things will pass unnoticed and the work will degenerate in some particulars on account of the weakness of the second eleven. But against a new and strong team such things are brought out. Any weak points in the play which were noticed this afternoon can be remedied next week and we can meet Purdue stronger than ever.

Our football team is to be congratulated on its victory this afternoon. Success was hardly expected against such a veteran team as that of the Chicago Athletic Association. Many of its members are old and experienced players from the leading colleges of the country. This game will also furnish a basis of comparison between our team and the eastern teams as the Chicago team intends to take a trip through the east, playing games with the leading colleges. The winning of this game will give our men confidence in themselves and will go a great way toward winning the future games. We again desire to extend congratulations to the team, U-Rah-Rah, Wisconsin.

ROMAN LITERATURE.

The subject of Professor Hendrickson's lecture in Roman literature yesterday was the poet, Lucretius and his famous work "De Rerum Natura." As regards the author's life very little is known upon which we can place any reliance. According to St. Jerome, however, Lucretius in his eagerness to become a man drank a love potion, the effects of which led to insanity and finally ended in his suicide during the forty-fourth year of his age. The dates between which he lived are likewise a matter of considerable dispute, from 99 to 55 B. C., however, being those given by the best of authorities. The contemporaneous history of Lucretius is very slight indeed, and it is scarcely ever that he is even mentioned by his contemporaries. This was probably due to the fact that he lived a retired life, such as was taught by the Epicurean philosopher and thus very seldom came into contact with his fellow men.

Many of the characteristics of his inner life are nevertheless portrayed in his great work. His affectionate and passionate nature, the sadness with which he looked upon human life as there shown, stand in marked contrast to the nature of Catullus's works.

De Rerum Natura contains six books. It is probably however not entirely the work of Lucretius since his death is supposed to have occurred some time before the last book was completed. The first one is the only one that can be called thoroughly his; the others were very probably completed by one of the Ciceros. As regards the subjects treated in the different parts, books three and four deal almost exclusively with the soul and nature of the mind. Herein he teaches that man, like all other things is composed of an infinite number of minute atoms and that hence when man dies, not only his body but his soul is dead. In other words it is impossible for the soul to exist apart from the human body. Books five and six treat of the most high system of heaven and the universe. He acknowledged the existence of the gods but strange to note, denies that they have any power over the management of the universe. "Nothing is ever gotten out of nothing by divine power," is the substance of the philosophy of Lucretius. He sought to free the people from the fear of the gods and the terrible punishments of the gods, as preached about at his time. The subject of the first two books is that of the physical theory of the Greek philosopher, Democritus, whose teachings were afterward adopted by Epicurus. Lucretius dedicates the first part immediately succeeding the invocation to Epicurus, to whom he owes so many of his ideas.

Divine tranquility seems to pervade the entire work as the most cherished thought of Lucretius. In all his trials of life, his one consolation is that after death he will be free from the troubles of the universe.

IN REGARD TO PROF. ELY.

The following from the Boston Advertiser in regard to Prof. Ely's trial shows the opinions held by one of the leading eastern papers in regard to the matter:

"One of the most noteworthy events of recent times is the trial, and its results, of Prof. Richard T. Ely, of the University of Wisconsin, on charges of economic heresy. Yesterday's news contained an abstract of the report of the committee of the board of regents, to which committee was assigned the task of acting as judges at the trial. The prosecution, as is well known, collapsed ignominiously. The report exonerates Professor Ely on every charge and every specification. The committee 'can find no foundation for the charges.' That is not all. The report goes further, and in a spirit of noble protest against ignoble prosecution, it unqualifiedly commends the respondent for ability, integrity, scholarship and eminent services to the cause of economic science. As a personal vindication nothing could be more complete. It is not, however, in that light that we are chiefly concerned to view the subject. The really important thing is the grand championship, the notable triumph of the principle of freedom along the lines where the principle was assailed by Superintendent Wells and by a lot of snapping, snarling creatures that took up the hue and cry as soon as he had begun to lead the pack. Here is a paragraph from the admirable synopsis of the findings:

"The committee finds no foundation for any of the charges preferred against him, and expresses encouragement for all discussion on any subject taught in the university, for only through discussion is any progress made, or visionary schemes of the present made great truths for the future. It would be narrowing the curriculum of the university if every writer of the institution were to be criticised or dismissed by the committee because some one in some quarter shou'd disagree with the writer. Over 200 books, pamphlets and magazine articles are published every year by the professors of the university, and it is but natural that some should disagree with them."

"The name of the members of the committee are H. W. Chynoweth, John Johnston and Dr. W. B. Dale. All honor to them! Let their names be inscribed on the roll of fame. They have rendered a signal service to all people, in Wisconsin, in the whole United States, and in the whole world. We are not in the least degree exaggerating the magnitude of the matter. This was a test case, the first of its kind, either in this country or in Europe. Prosecutions for alleged theological heresy there have been in abundance. The history of religion is blurred and blanckened by their shameful record.

At length Christendom has become weary of them and disgusted. Their effect has been to hinder religious progress and bring religion into undeserved contempt. But never before was there a trial for alleged scientific heresy. Teachers of science, like Galileo and Roger Bacon, have, indeed, been accused of heresy, but in the name of religion, never in the name of science. It would have been a most unfortunate event if the attempt to brand Dr. Ely as a heretic on account of his economic teachings and beliefs had succeeded. A staggering blow would have been struck at independent scholarship and at the entire system of higher education under public auspices. The danger was great. How great they realize who have noted with apprehension the outbreak here and there recently of signs that an attempt would be made as soon as certain classes of narrow minds could muster the courage of their malevolent selfishness to put a gag in the mouths of such college and university professors as were taking the lead in building up the new science of sociology. The attack on Dr. Ely was but the opening move in the conspiracy. Let us all rejoice, not only in the victory achieved by and for Richard T. Ely, one of the wisest, bravest and most far-seeing of the teachers of the new gospel to humanity, but yet more in the vindication of the rights and liberties of scholarly intelligence."

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There was as usual a good meeting at Athens last night. There were several new members initiated into the society and officers elected. The first debate, as to the annexation of Canada was decided for the negative. The second debate, Resolved that the movement of the A. R. U. in the Pullman strike was justifiable was also for the negative.

A large and enthusiastic audience was present at Philomathia hall last evening. The freshmen were initiated thus swelling the number far above that of any previous year.

The first debate "Should the United States own and operate its telegraph lines?" was won by Daniels, '96, over Burgess, '96, on the affirmative.

The second debate "Was the Pullman Palace Car company responsible for the late strike?" was very spirited and showed thorough preparation. It was won by the affirmative led by Liebenburg, '97, in spite of the able debate of Schmidt, '96, on the negative.

The upper-class men of the College of Engineering are discussing the advisability of organizing an engineering society. Evidently the action of the Sophomores is contagious.
