BRUTALITY IS OUTGROWTH OF DARWIN IDEA

—BRYAN

Commoner Declares Farmers Must be Protected From City Gambling

Scoring Darwinism and its attendant denials of a personal God as the cause of a preponderance of brutality over brotherhood in present day life, William Jennings Bryan, Democratic standard-bearer in three campaigns, wound the spell of oratory about an audience of 2,500 persons in the university gymnasium last night.

"The Great Commoner," apostle of free trade, free silver, world peace, and prohibition, whose plea for free silver swept the Democratic convention of 1896 and won him the presidential nomination at the age of 36, held the platform for an hour and a half with a scathing arraignment of godless cruelty in modern life.

Blaine Introduces

Governor John J. Blaine, presented by Charles D. Assovsky '21, president of Forensic board, introduced Colonel Bryan. President E. A. Birge also sat on the platform.

"The doctrine that man is a descendant of the lower animals is responsible more than any one thing for the brutishness of men and their getting away from God," declared

CHINESE RELIEF FUND ADVANCES

University Contribution Yesterday Raises Number of Lives Saved to 237

Two hundred thirty-seven victory flags tell the story of the Chinese relief as it stood last night.

With most of the fraternities and sororities still unheard from, the prospects for going over the top by Saturday are exceedingly bright. Prof. E. A. Ross feels confident that Wisconsin will live up to its standards.

"The student body should not get the wrong impression about our success thus far," he asserted. "With practically all of the fraternities and sororities still unheard from, our prospects are very encouraging. I believe that the student body as a whole has not yet considered the relief fund in a personal way. The quota which we have pledged was on the basis of 25 cents per student; with many students giving a dollar it should not be difficult to live up to our pledge.

A Privilege to Help

"If we would all reflect for a few moments on the importance of keeping people from actual starvation, we could not help feeling it a privilege to do our share," Professor Ross said. "Students should bear in mind that this is not a drive but an attempt to stimulate student interest in a worthy cause."

The Mining club turned their regular monthly dinner into a light luncheon, the difference, $21.50, being turned over to the fund as the club's contribution. Prof. D. W. Mead spoke on the results attained thus far, and the necessity for appreciating the serious conditions among the poorer classes of China.

Word has been received from the University of Iowa that their quota has been contributed; also that the University of Minnesota has pledged $4,000.

COUNCIL PASSES LAKE ORDINANCE

Appoint New Committee for Investigation of Mendota Conditions

City councilmen last night voted to place on the statute books an ordinance concerning lake conditions, which consisted in the main of a revamped former ordinance, and two or three new points, added by the investigating committee composed of Aldermen Quinn, Stock, and Mason.

No provisions were included for co-operating with the university life-saving station in view of the fact that the situation there does not at present permit the presentation of a definite policy, but with plans for the adoption of one.

Upon the insistence of Alderman Behrend and the suggestion of Alderman Groves, Mayor Milo Kittleson authorized the members of the committee who conducted the investigation to compose the basis of a new committee to confer with university officials as to advisable procedure in correlating the efforts. Aldermen Behrend and Groves were appointed to the committee, and Prof. H. J. Thorkelson and Coach J. C. Steinauer will compose the faculty membership.

Previous to the vote on the ordinance, the discussion included the presentation of a number of suggestions by Mr. Steinauer.

Censors Fail to Criticize Movie in First Showing

"Nothing to censor and all to praise" was the verdict accorded to the Varsity movie by Dean S. H. Goodnight, Prof. S. W. Gilman, and Mrs. S. Blanton, assistant professor of speech hygiene, at the first run off of over half of the film "Not Responsible," at the Strand theater yesterday at 6 o'clock.

"I am all enthusiasm for the production," declared Professor Gilman. "The film reflects real university life and shows unusual ability in its production. The scenes are beautiful and the movie should have a wide appeal throughout the country to the alumni and friends of Wisconsin."

"Great initiative has been shown by students putting on the film," declared Dean Goodnight. "At a recent convention I told the assembly of deans of this first university movie. The photo play is a credit to its producers."

"Professional," Mrs. Blanton pronounced "Not Responsible." "For its beautiful scenes, gowns, and for its handsome men and lovely girls the film is remarkable."

Staff Sees Showing

Some members of the production staff viewed the film, taking notes of changes to be made in the continuity and slight flaws to be corrected. The entire film will be carefully gone over, and on Wednesday, May 11, at the Fuller the first showing of the Varsity movie will be made. From Madison it will go to fulfill engagements in other cities throughout the country.

The producers of "Not Responsible" are confident that every student in the university intends to see the picture. But owing to the fact that over 12,000 may see the production and should see it in order that expenses may be met, 3,000 tickets are to be sold directly to town people.

Paul Dye '23 is conducting the campaign and with the assistance of over 100 students will canvass all the business places in town. The remaining 9,000 tickets will be sold in the usual manner at the Fuller box office. There will be no reserved seats, and all seats are selling at 50¢.

EDITORS FROLIC!

Typewriters Gather Dust While Cardinal Staff Has Picnic

Pencils will be relegated to their resting places behind the editorial ears and typewriters will be pushed aside Sunday at 4 o'clock when the scribes of The Daily Cardinal staff will start for their picnic at Bernard's pavilion. It is the seventh annual affair of its kind and about 50 or 60 are expected to attend.

The editorial staff has been so trite as to challenge the business staff to a baseball game which will be umpired by Irwin Maier '21, the journalistic "boy-co-ed." Corrington Gill '22 will captain the business staff and Carson F. Lyman '21 will lead the editors provided he hasn't eaten too much, due to his Mac-Swiney preparation for the affair.

"There'll be much good food," said Marion Goodwin '21, chairman of arrangements, by way of appealing to those of the stronger sex, "and we want all past and present helpers on the staff to be there."

Will Deliver Speech To- night at Music Hall— Plan Reception

Wisconsin scored her greatest forensic victory in the past decade when Sterling H. Tracy '22, with his masterful oration, "America and Britain for Civilization," last night won the thirty-second annual Northern Oratorical league contest at Iowa City, before a packed auditorium. Second and third places went to Illinois and Northwestern, respectively. Other contestants were Minnesota, Iowa, and Michigan.

Tracy's victory marks the first time in eight years that Wisconsin has annexed highest honors. First place carries with it the Lowden testimonial of $100.

Accompanied by Prof. J. M. O'Neill, of the department of speech, Tracy will arrive in Madison at 9:20 tonight over the Northwestern road and will be met at the station by members of the Forensic board and a large delegation of students. He will then be escorted to Music hall where the student body will be given its only opportunity to hear his prize winning oration.

Reis to Preside at Meeting
In the meeting at Music hall, which will start promptly at 9:45 and be concluded at 10:15, Alvin C. Reis '18, the last Wisconsin man to win the N. O. L., will preside. The Forensic board has completed all arrangements for the reception and meeting and announces that no admission will be charged at Music hall.

Tracy's victory offers a marked coincident in N. O. L. circles. Senator R. M. La Follette, who was the first Wisconsin man to win the contest, also won at Iowa City, in the same auditorium in which the present Badger entrant carried off the honors.

In accordance with the custom in vogue in the Northern Oratorical League, the winning oration will be published in pamphlet form together with the orations of the other contestants.

During the thirty-two years of competition in the league, Wisconsin has won first place only five times, including the victory last night. Other Wisconsin victors besides La Follette and Reis, were Max Loeb and Charles Pearce.

SENATE APPROVES PLAN FOR COURT

To Provide for Immediate Trial and Sentence of Offenders

The plan for the establishment of a noon court to try and sentence freshmen who violate traditions, which was approved on April 7, was formally adopted by the Student Senate at its meeting last Wednesday evening, and will go into effect as soon as the clinic permits lake parties.

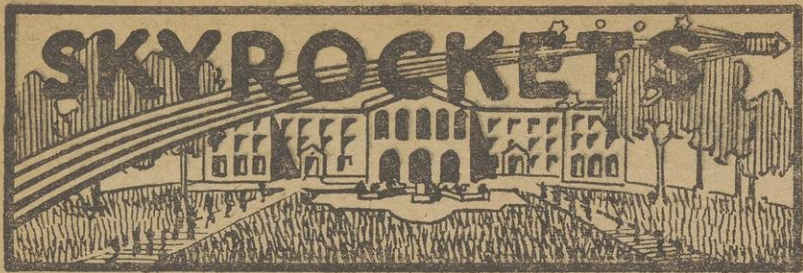

The provisions of the plan follow:

The court will be composed of two members of the Senate judiciary committee.

The court will be held every day at 11:50, Monday to Friday inclusive, in the Union building.

Cases of clear violation of the following traditions will be tried: the wearing of green caps, the showing of due respect to upperclassmen, no smoking of cigarettes on the campus by freshmen, and no loitering on the steps of university buildings.

The penalty in every case of conviction will be a lake party.

BY Decoration day, we fancy, the Chinese cemetery will look like a G. A. R. burying ground on the first of June.

WE was lying in the barber's chair, swathed in steaming rags and inhaling witch hazel, in fact had almost passed out, when Ralph Socc comes breezing in, and says to Ray, waking us from our slumber thereby:

"Say, Ray, did you get a letter from the Standard Oil company today?"

"No," says Ray, cutting our jugular vein with the razor, "I don't correspond with John D. Why?"

"I sent your name in a long time ago," comes back Ralph.

"Whadja do that for?" queries Ray, dropping our ears into the waste basket.

"Oh," ohs Ralph, as he breaks a Victrola record, "They're looking up all these stray oil cans."

THE next production of the Varsity Movie will be shown a week from Saturday, entitled "Georaiana Returns to the Kappa House" in three reels, supported by Sid Bliss.

INTELLECT NOT SUPREME FORCE SAYS COMMONER

Bryan Defines College Purpose in Middle Temple During Speech

"The mind should not be the master of the man. It should be the servant. Character, ideals—these are the true measures of worth."

This was the keynote of an address delivered by William Jennings Bryan before an audience of state officials, university professors, and students at a dinner given at the Madison club last evening. The dinner was given in honor of Bryan by Middle Temple, local fraternity which was recently granted a charter by the national chapter of Delta Chi, of which Bryan is an honorary member.

"The value of college life does not depend entirely upon book knowledge, nor upon intelligence, or great mental development," the speaker said. "It depends upon the purpose and character instilled and developed in the man by coming in contact with professors of ideals."

Stressed Dignity of Labor

He stressed the importance of dignifying labor, and pointed to the fact that an American college boy may work his way through school and retain the respect and honor of his brothers. This dignifying of labor is one element of the superiority of our civilization over that of foreign countries.

In emphasizing the danger of proceeding through life without purpose or without idealism, Bryan said:

"I saw a ring in the ceiling of Tolstoy's home where he expected to hang himself. He was wealthy, had a fine education, and wrote fine books. He had property and social standing. He was a success according to all the standards of the world. But still at the age of 48 life had palled upon him. And the only thing that changed his life was the fact that he was born again."

"Now if you can assemble idealistic professors around you who teach you what is right and instill in you purpose and character, and if you take these ideals out of college with you, you will have an opportunity for greater accomplishment and bigger achievement in the world."

FACULTY SUSPENDS TWO STUDENTS FOR CHEATING IN WORK

During the period from April 4 to May 2 the faculty committee on discipline took the following actions:

A junior in Letters and Science was found guilty of gross dishonesty in Zoology 104a, and was indefinitely suspended from the university. On an appeal the action of the committee was sustained.

A sophomore in Commerce was found guilty of dishonesty in Physics 1a. As it was his second offence he was indefinitely suspended from the university.

A freshman in Commerce was found guilty of dishonesty in Mathematics 7. He must do eight extra credits toward graduation.

AT THE ORPHEUM

That old theory that a girl can't be beautiful and athletic at the same time, has had a severe knock on the head by the lovely little bathing beauties who appear in Bothwell Browne's twentieth century revue.

Nowhere in the world could one expect to run across daintier, more wholesome girls, and yet each and every one is an experienced athlete. They all came with Mr. Browne from sunny California and have grown up in its great outdoors. Nearly all of the bathing beauties are under twenty years of age. They may be said to be types of a new race that California is giving the world. Coming to the Orpheum for one solid week opening Monday night.

LIT SOCIETIES HAVE DEBATE

Naval Aircraft and Nonpartisan League Are Subjects

Debates on the Nonpartisan league and appropriations for naval aircraft are on the programs of Athenae and Agricultural literary societies tonight. Philomathia will hold a legislative session concerning cancellation of the war loans. Prof. John R. Commons will address Hesperia.

Whether the United States should compel payment of war loans to European nations will be discussed by members of Philomathia in legislative session tonight. Speakers in favor of canceling the debts will be Frank J. Drobka '22, Herman L. Sinaiko '21, Victor von Zeliski '21, Emory M. Heuston '24, Fred Schnell '23, and Hyman J. Bilansky '22. Speakers favoring compulsory payment will be James B. Peterson '22, Harvey Hanlon '22, Herbert L. Wilbe '22, Lyman B. Kinball '24, Leslie C. Sims '22, and Robert B. Stewart '22.

John R. Commons, professor of economics, will speak to members of Hesperia at a meeting tonight. John Slezak '23 will talk on "The Trial of the Immigrant." "Some Interesting Biological facts about Human Beings" will be presented by Seymour W. F. Kletzein '24.

Parliamentary drill will be conducted by a committee of which Henry M. Blume '23 is chairman, and other members are Herbert D. Hentzen '23, Robert P. Gerholz '23 and Frederick Risser '23. Election of officers and other important business will be presented at a closed session following the program.

That the funds appropriated for the construction of capital ships under the present United States building program shall be used for the construction of and experimentation with naval aircraft will be the subject of a debate before members of the Agricultural society.

That the Nonpartisan league should receive the support of public opinion will be the assertion of Martin R. Kriewaldt '22 in a debate before Athenae. The negative will be supported by S. S. Jordan '22. Melbourne Bergerman will present points valuable in judging a debate.

The society will go into senate session to discuss a bill to repeal the excess profit tax and substitute a sales tax. I. Arnold Perstein '22 will speak on "Gems of Athenae," and Edgar J. Smith will discuss the Yap controversy.

TROPHY SEEKERS MUST REGISTER SOCCER SCORES

Unless soccer teams from the colleges competing for the Nelson trophy report to F. E. Slaughter, gymnasium instructor, on or before Monday, May 9, the Engineering college will be awarded by default the 15 points which ordinarily goes to the winner of that competition. This would give the Engineers 144 points, a lead of 14 over their nearest rivals, the Letters and Science college.

With this lead the Engineers could take second place in all of the remaining competitions and still win the trophy. As the remaining contents are in minor sports, the number of points given to the winner does not equal that obtained in previous engagements.

The winner of the Nelson trophy in past years had to exceed a total of 200 points in order to get the prize.

The standings of the different college teams at the present time are, Letters and Science 130, Commerce, 129½, Engineers, 129, Agrics, 73½, Medics, 54, and Law, 6.

SOPH DANCE AT ESTHER BEACH IS HELD SATURDAY

The sophomore dance, which will be held on Saturday, May 7, will be the last private party to be held at Esther Beach. Lee McCandless '23 has promised something novel in the way of a special feature, and the music for dancing will be furnished by Thompson's orchestra.

Because of certain concession privileges which have been wanted, the dance committee found it necessary to give up the idea of serving refreshments during the party.

"Instead of limiting the dance to the members of the sophomore class," said Daniel C. O'Neill, class president, yesterday, "we have made it an all-university affair and hope that all students who are planning to dance Saturday night will attend our function."

Tickets are on sale at the University pharmacy, Morgan's, the Badger pharmacy, and the Park hotel. The price is $1.50 plus war tax.

TRACY'S RECEPTION

STERLING TRACY returns from Iowa City at 9:20 this evening the victor in America's greatest intercollegiate oratorical contest. He brings to Wisconsin the most significant forensic honor that can come to any university. It is an honor which it has not been our privilege to boast of for the last eight years, and with the return of the victor the student body is to be given a chance to do him justifiable homage.

Single handed, possessed only of an indomitable desire to do his best for his alma mater, our representative in the N. O. L. carried all that Wisconsin personifies, and the results indicate that he scored a signal and noteworthy triumph.

If any student on this campus says that he is behind worthwhile efforts on the part of another student—and there is not a Wisconsin student who does not belong in this category—he will be on hand to meet Tracy when he arrives this evening. For, after all, the glad hand and the pat on the back which are so emblematic of all that is truly Wisconsin is the greatest reward that the best loyal Badger son can receive.

Tracy deserves such a welcome.

In still another sense, a royal welcome for our N. O. L. representative is not an individual proposition; it merely shows that the student body appreciates an institution which had its inception almost simultaneously with the start of the university.

The welcome will offer its reward to the welcomers. Immediately following his arrival, Tracy will be escorted to Music hall, where the Forensic board has arranged to have him give his prize winning oration—the same oration with which our representative was last night adjudged America's greatest undergraduate orator.

CHINESE RELIEF

CHINA is a long way from Wisconsin, and well supplied purses are myths in the Wisconsin student body.

If for no other reason, the committee in charge of the Chinese relief drive is to be commended for an attempt to raise thousands of dollars in the face of such odds.

But there are other reasons, and nothing else perhaps could bring it home to us as well as the miniature graveyard, which the committee here and the starving Chinese of the famine districts, implore us to replace by that symbol of life, rather than starvation—the American flag.

The money exchange with China as well as with all other nations, favors us and for three of our pennies we can for a day keep one soul in China this side of eternity. With this opportunity to invest in human life the small sums that otherwise slip out of our hands unnoticed, can we fail? Substitute our national banner for that mass of fast becoming permanent headboards.

BULLETIN BOARD

Candidates for membership in Edwin Booth Dramatic society should confer with the tryout committee in the Rest room, Union building, from 3:30 to 5 p. m., Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday.

NOTIFICATION TO STUDENTS

Let it be known that Captain Isabel has the power to prohibit boating on the lake at any time according to his own judgment; that he has the authority to call in all boats from the lake whenever he believes boating dangerous, by raising the red flag or using the red light on the watchtower, and by use of the siren signal at the power house.

GARDNER TALKS TO COMMERCE GROUP

Commission Elects 18 Junior and Five Sophomore Members

The need of co-operation and good fellowship in the Commerce course was urged by Prof. E. H. Gardner at an open meeting of the Commerce Advisory commission, Tuesday evening. He expressed the confidence of the faculty in the Commerce commission, and suggested the part which it is to play in developing fellowship spirit through its freshman advisory work next fall.

Further emphasis upon the value of service and leadership was made by Robert B. Stewart '23, vice-president, who explained the plan of training which is to precede the commission's contact with the incoming Commerce freshmen.

After the dismissal of visitors the commission re-convened for a regular business meeting at which the following men, having made duly qualified application, were elected to membership:

Juniors: Ralph Falstad, G. R. Falk, Arthur N. Lorig, Philip C. Lawson, H. W. Capen, E. W. Chapleau, Wm. J. Koehler, R. M. Hickey, Howard I. Smith, Harold Groth, H. F. Zimmerman, Victor S. Omderson, W. C. Flinn, George C. Davis, Neil S. McKay, Wm. Griffith, N. R. Schomisch, L. A. Solitt.

Sophomores: Germain Williams, H. O. Walther, George P. Ruediger, Harold C. Smith, Frank V. Collinge. Dean F. W. Roe will address the Commerce commission on May 11.

SENATORS REPORT ON CONFERENCE

David Lacey '21, president of the Senate, who attended the Mid-West Student conference of colleges and universities at Columbia, Mo., held recently, and Senator Thomas Coxon '22, delegate to a similar convention at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Cambridge, gave reports at the Senate meeting Wednesday night and commented on the conference.

"Wisconsin was very well thought of at both conferences," Lacey said. "The University of North Dakota is now instituting a self government system modeled after ours. I came back very well pleased that I was a Wisconsin man."

Lacey pointed out that very one of the 22 self government associations represented at the conference except Wisconsin was backed by funds, raised by a blanket tax, dances, or sale of song books or buttons. He told of the system of representation in the Senate of colleges rather than classes used by some universities.

Coxon, in his report, outlined the discussion topics of his conference, and stated that he received many queries regarding the Wisconsin system.

HESPERIA

Hesperia will meet a half hour earlier than usual on Friday, at 7 o'clock, in an open session. One of the features of the program will be a talk by Prof. John R. Commons. Important business and election of officers make it imperative that every member be present. Visitors are always welcome at the open session, Room 451, Bascom hall.

BRYAN SCORES DARWIN THEORY

Mr. Bryan after giving many examples of brutality in present day life. "They have not found a fact in 50 years that would justify a statement that God did not create man and put him on the earth for a purpose. Give me a fact and I'll accept it.

Darwinism Guess

"The Darwinian hypothesis is a guess and the missing link has not been found. I don't believe in any guess if it takes away my belief in God." He spent several minutes in ridiculing the Darwinian explanations of adaptation and natural selection.

"The other day I read in a Sunday school paper a statement, by a man supposed to represent science, that the greatest day in history was when a water-uppy crawled out on the land and decided to stay there. If we ever find what that day is we'll have it for a national holiday.

"I am told that a professor in this college told a class that the Bible is a collection of myths," Mr. Bryan continued. "A girl in that class burst out crying. She felt like Mary Magdalene when she said, 'They have taken the Lord away and I know not where they have laid him.'

"Stop Gambling and Robbery"

Speaking of the cruelty of men in war and of the necessity of the pure food law, child labor laws, and anti-trust laws as examples of brutality, he declared that the big question now is to stop gambling and robbery in high finance.

"The farmers make up a third of our nation and we cannot protect them from a handful of gamblers," he said, citing statistics to show that farmers are losing money through gambling in the cities. "Don't you think it time that our lawmakers quit defending robbers in the city and protect the farmers?"

"The coal operators have robbed the people of one and a half billions of dollars in a year. It seems that we should divide larceny into three kinds: petty larceny when we always punish men, grand larceny when we sometimes punish them, and glorious larceny when we never do."

LAMONT REPLIES

HARDING MAY PICK M'ELROY

Robert McNutt McElroy, professor of history at Princeton university, is the likely appointee as American minister to China, according to dispatches from Washington, D. C., which say that President Harding has decided upon McElroy as his choice. McElroy, who has lived in China as an exchange professor in a Pekin university, has a good understanding of Chinese affairs, it is said.

Madison people will remember McElroy's visit to Madison in the spring of 1918, and his address here at which he publicly characterized the university as "pro-German" and which aroused so much feeling among the student body that McElroy was burned in effigy on the lower campus soon after. Richard Washburn Child, author and magazine writer, will be named ambassador to Japan, it was learned.

CO-ED SWIMMERS PLAN LIFE-SAVING DEMONSTRATIONS

University Branch of Red Cross Will Conduct Classes

Next week will be Life-saving week for women at the University of Wisconsin. Demonstrations will be conducted by a group of girls who are organizing a university branch of the national Red Cross Life-saving corps. These girls will have full charge of all women's swimming classes during the week. Visitors are welcome to these classes which will be held from 10 a. m. to 12 m. and from 2:30 to 5 p. m. daily in the swimming pool at Lathrop hall.

The following will have charge of all swimming classes: Miss Mary Brownell, Mrs. Gilbert Smith, Olga F. Anderson '23, Frances M. Beecher '22, Miss Esther Sargent, Patsy Watson '22, Kathryn G. Ely '23, Ima Winchell '22, Marcia W. Hinkens '21.

The program will consist of lessons in proper methods of rescue work, including the four standard carries and the breaking of the four strangle holds; what to do when being rescued; resuscitation; and demonstration of proper beach clothing.

On Friday, May 13, an inspector from Milwaukee will arrive to test the applicants for membership in the National Life-saving corps. If enough candidates pass the test, a branch of this corps will be established at the university. All girls who possess necessary qualifications should try out for membership immediately. Full information can be secured from the bulletin board at the Lathrop tank room, from Miss Brownell, head of the group, or from Miss Anderson, chairman.

IT'S A LONG, LONG TRAIL FOR THESE REFUGEES OF KRONSTADT REVOLUTION

Russian refugees arriving in Finland from Kronstadt.

"The real losers in the Kronstadt revolt," is what this picture might be labeled. Above are three mothers and a father with children in arms arriving in Finland through the snow from Kronstadt, where the peasants tried to overthrow the rule of Lenin. These women were left without food or shelter when the revolt collapsed. With their babies they started for Finland in the hope of obtaining nourishment. The baby in the arms of the woman at the left was born on the trail.

At The Theatres

"STRINGS" IS BEST
ACT AT ORPHEUM

Good Bill Includes Singers,
Jugglers, Acrobats, and Fat Dancers

"Strings," featuring Ezra Mathews and Olive Blakeney, with the same old prohibition and don't-you-remember jokes livened up, and with extremely pleasing personalities, was the best piece on the program at the Orpheum last night. They said and did some really clever things, and were very attractive.

With a real Parisian accent and a voice that could imitate Galli Curci as well as famous baritones, Lucien Lucci won his audience completely. His piquant French airs alleviated the earnestness with which he delivered the varied songs.

Funny without always meaning to be, the musical comedy, "Now and Then," starring Will Stanton as John Barleycorn, gave many opportunities for laughter through the acrobatics of the drunkard, the singing and dancing of the cabaret girl, and the waiter violinist. The latter played some good pieces.

Johnson, Baker, and Johnson juggled with nine-pins and hats. They were very much superior to the usual run of jugglers, and Baker, as the comic man, was amusing just to look at.

The acrobats, Jas. and Etta Mitchell, were also very unusual, doing very spectacular and original stunts in the air.

The two fat entertainers, Nelson Story and Elsie Clark, pleased the audience with much shimmying and rather risqué jokes, intermingled with their popular airs.

AT THE STRAND

In "Deep Waters," Maurice Tourneur's new Paramount picture which is now being shown at the Strand theater, that same producer again takes his audience through smoothly running photoplay, fabric to the happy ending of a delightful story. The tale was adapted by Jack Gilbert from F. Hopkinson Smith's book "Cabel West, Master Driver."

The scenes of "Deep Waters" are laid along the New England Coast. The action revolves for the greater part around the girl wife of Cabel West, an expert deep-sea diver who is working on the lighthouse foundation. She tastes the fires of love when she nurses young Billy Lacey back to health after his injury. West loves her like a daughter, and she returns his love in the same manner, so when Lacey pays her attention, she reciprocates with the inevitable result that they run away. But luckily she returns the same day, thus saving her honor, and making possible her return to Caleb West.

The added attraction is Buster Keaton in "The Haunted House."

AT THE GRAND

"The Plunger," featuring George Walsh, the athletic star, is scheduled at the Grand for today and tomorrow. As its name would indicate "The Plunger" is a story of Wall street. It is said to be a highly dramatic tale of a former office boy who became a millionaire broker and by his spectacular operations on the stock exchange won for himself the name of "Take a Chance Schuyler." Of unusual interest is the fact the scenes in Wall street were completed in the exact spot where the explosion occurred, and—according to report—only a few hours before the fatal blast.

The picture was made with but one object in view—to please the spectator. It tells the story of a one-time plucky office boy who made a million and had the satisfaction of buying the home of a former employer. George Walsh has as dainty and pretty a little leading lady in the person of Miss Virginia Valli, as one would wish to see.

ST. PATRICK'S
AWARDED PRIZEPhonograph in Music Memory
Contest Goes to School

By ADRIAN SCOLTEN

The phonograph, one of the prizes in the Music Memory Contest has been awarded by the committee to the St. Patrick's school. The marks for awarding the phonograph were based upon the two large ideas which controlled the contest. These were (1) the idea that as many people as possible should be involved in the listening to the music; (2) getting these listeners to develop accuracy in recognizing the composition heard and in giving the name of the composer.

The marks were based upon; (1) the percentage obtained by dividing into the number of children who actually took part the total number who might have taken part in any school, namely, the children enrolled in the fourth to the ninth grades of that school. The second mark was obtained by considering the total number of points made in each school. This number was divided by the total number of points which might have been made had each contestant made a perfect paper.

In addition to the 2600 who took part in the contests in the schools, there were approximately 300 University students and other adults who took part, making the grand total of contestants in the neighborhood of 3000.

The following is the tabulation of the marks of the schools:

The figures in each column represent percentage based on total enrollment.

TALENTED CAST WILL PRESENT FACULTY PLAY

"Tragedy of Man" is Superior
Production by Curtain
Club

With a cast, many of whom have had superior dramatic experience, the Curtain club, faculty dramatic organization, expects its production, "The Tragedy of Man," by John Masefield, to be one of the most artistic stage presentations that has appeared in Madison for some time. The play will appear at the Fuller theater Tuesday, May 10.

"The Tragedy of Man" is a play of rare artistry, according to reviewers of Masefield's works. In a criticism of this play, the scene of which is set in the kitchen of a small tenant farm house in England, The Academy, London, says: "Nan" is one of the few plays of the present day of which one can truthfully say that it cannot be permitted to die easily. That it should be possible only to see it at rare intervals is a thing that makes one fear for dramatic art."

Have Talented Cast

The leading roles in the tragedy, Nan Hardwick and Dick Gurvil, are to be played by Miss Mavis Chubb and Jack Harding. Miss Chubb was Bunty in the successful Red Domino play of 1918, "Bunty Pulls the Strings," and since that time has had dramatic experience with the Theater guild of St. Louis.

Mr. Harding will "appear in person" in "Nan" the night before he is presented in the same theater in the Varsity movie, giving theatergoers an opportunity to see him appear in both forms of dramatic interpretation. He has played the leading roles in "Justice," "Pigeon," "The Fortune Hunter," and this summer he will play with the Little theater company of Indianapolis.

The roles in the play of secondary importance are Mrs. Pargetter, Jenny Pargetter, and William Pargetter. These parts will be taken by Miss Flora K. Filtzer, Miss Margaret McCarthy, and Prof. Eugene H. Byrne.

Miss Filtzer played for two years with the Little Theater company, Milwaukee, and had the leading role last fall in the Red Domino-Edwin Booth joint production. Miss McCarthy is also a former member of Red Domino and a graduate of the Emerson School of Oratory, Boston. Prof. Byrne is known for his work in the leading role of "The Importance of Being Earnest," last year's Curtain club play, in Shaw's "How He Lied to Her Husband," and in "Two Gentlemen of Verona."

Gaffer Pearce is another important character in the play, which part is portrayed with remarkable skill by Davis Edwards, according to Prof. J. F. A. Pyre, director-in-chief of the production. Mr. Davis was a member of Black Friars, University of Chicago, and is now an assistant professor in public speaking at Oberlin college.

The rest of the cast is as follows: Artie Pearce, Prof. B. Q. Morgan; Tommy Arker, "Bob" Williams; Ellen, Miss Janet Van Hise; Susan, Miss Riah Fagan; the Rev. Mr. Drew, Prof. B. Q. Morgan; Captain Dixon, Prof. O. J. Campbell, and the constable, C. D. Leake.

Y. W. WALKOUT IS SCHEDULED TODAY

Supper at the Y. W. C. A. cottage on Lake Mendota will be served by the girls of the Sophomore commission to any university co-ed who obeys that impulse and joins the Y. W. Walkout tomorrow afternoon.

Parties leaving from Lathrop hall at 4:30 and 5:30 will hike to the cottage, which is the second cottage beyond the university tent colony. Anyone who wishes to go may sign up on the bulletin board in Lathrop. Supper will cost fifty cents. This celebration marks the end of the end of the Y. W. "Get Acquainted week."

The cottage has been rented by Y. W. C. A. for the month of May, and will be in use all of the time. It will be used by Y. W. C. A. organizations over week-ends, Sophomore commission occupying it this week-end, and Cabinet council next week-end. Any group may reserve the house for week nights.

REEL ROMANCE

Discarded Movie Signs May be Used as Conversation
Aids

Whether or not the realities of romance as epitomized by old rouge, make up, eye brow pencils, yellow powder, waste film, megaphones, and other properties lying around collecting dust in the Varsity movie office destroys one's belief in the beautiful effects created in the production "Not Responsible," still it is interesting to conjecture what is going to become of these relics now that the film is finished.

Signs ready-made with anything printed on them from "Sorry, George, I am broke," to "I'm going to settle down to write a line to mother," are some of the valuable properties to be disposed of. It has been suggested that nothing could be more useful than a complete stack of these cards. Conversation would be facilitated, or rather made unnecessary. For example the last quoted sentiment about writing to mother could be hung on the outside of the door of one's room; and the first one, "I'm broke," hung around one's neck on tag days would save much idle persiflage. Other little gems include, "Tom, dear, meet me here at half past three," "Room? No little girl this is a fraternity house," "Got a light?" and "A couple of ham sand wiches, and some coffee, please."

Know a member of the Varsity movie by the bits of waste film he carries about! For it has been divided up among all the participants, and they will all ostentatiously, on demand or not on demand, display these choice bits,—a sort of miniature exposition stunt with no admission price, that all may know of the Varsity movie.

KEYNOTE OF MAY COUNTRY MAG IS NATURAL BEAUTY

Conservation of Wisconsin's natural beauty and resources will be the theme of the May special feature of the Country Magazine which will appear on the campus during the week of May 9.

"We have a mission to fulfill with this issue," says John Pinney '21, editor. "There are few states in the Union which have such varied and charming scenery—that are so richly endowed by nature with forests, streams, and mineral wealth—or have so many scenes of historical interest as Wisconsin. Yet our high speed civilization and our commercial greed are rapidly obliterating these many treasures."

"One striking example is that of our forests. Less than thirty years ago Wisconsin was the leading state in lumbering. Our pine was considered inexhaustible—today it is nearly gone. Not only are we cutting our trees four times as fast as they are growing, but we have to import lumber in order to supply our needs. There is a great need for more conservation measures in Wisconsin."

The "Wisconsin Beautiful" number of the Country Magazine was well received last year, and the May number this year is a follow-up with a plea for conservation of these things which make our state beautiful.

Special writers are covering many phases of conservation, and beauty spots, will illustrate the magazine.

Would Teach Crippled Tots in Houses Near U. W.

The finance committee gave consideration Thursday to a proposal for having two of the houses near the university utilized for the teaching of children from Sparta who are sent to the university hospital for special treatment. Sen. Al C. Anderson seems to be the moving spirit back of the proposal and there is every indication that the plan will be adopted by the finance committee. About 25 children from the Sparta home are now being treated at the clinic. Schools are maintained at the institution for these children.
