5 CENTS

BADGERS WILL BE GIVEN OUT AT MUSIC HALL

Distribution Commences at Eight O'Clock
Tomorrow

Tomorrow at 8 o'clock the first 1922 Badger will be given out to the first in line at Music hall. All throughout the day distribution will continue lasting until Thursday night at 5 o'clock. In two days 5,000 Badgers will be distributed to those presenting their stubs.

The hours of distribution are between 8 and 5 on Wednesday and 8 and 11 in the morning and 12 and 5 in the afternoon Thursday. People who have lost their stubs can straighten their accounts by calling at the Badger office tomorrow afternoon between 4:30 and 6 o'clock.

Just 50 Badgers can still be ordered by 50 people who have not yet gotten around to do so but "Cap" Rasmussen '22, business manager, advises immediate attention to the matter as there are more than 50 students who have been depending on this last minute opportunity. Some one will be in the Badger office at the Union building tomorrow to take last minute orders.

An efficient scheme of distribution has been perfected by Roger Russell '22, distribution manager. Purchasers will enter Music hall at the north door, that is the one leading out on the hill, and exit through the south door. Those who have paid for their Badger in full, either the $4.50 this semester or the $5.00 the second will present their stubs at a table placed at the farther door above which signs will be placed dividing this group into three sections as follows, A-E, F-N, O-Z. After the stubs have been stamped they must be presented and filed in order to obtain the Badgers themselves.

Those who have paid only the $1 deposit will present stubs at tables placed under the balcony dividing the purchasers into the following groups, A-C, D-G, H-K, L-N, O-R, S, T-Z. The balance due and the receipted stubs must then be presented at the table at the other side of the auditorium where the Badgers will be given out.

ENGINEERS' "MAG" IS 25 YEARS OLD

The May issue of the Wisconsin Engineer marks the twenty-fifth milestone in the history of the magazine. Hence the special interest of the feature article for this month, which is a tale of the struggles and successes of the founders of the magazine and their successors down to the present day. The article contains much of historical interest, reminiscent of old Wisconsin men, and many points of benefit to staff workers on any campus publication.

The part played by the College of Engineering in the University Exposition is set forth in detail, illustrated by photographs, in the second article of the issue. If you didn't understand some of the engineering exhibits, read this article and have your questions answered.

For those with a philosophical turn of mind, some material abstracted from notes on "The Fundamentals of Electrical Engineering," by Profs. Edward Bennett and H. M. Crothers, entitled, "The Necessity for Precise Ideals," will offer food for thought.

Another account of a "Successful Wisconsin Engineer," together with the usual editorials, campus and alumni notes, etc., complete the last issue for the year, and make this number uphold the traditions of 25 successive years of sound engineering and journalistic practice.

Edmund V. Cooke Here Thursday

EDMUND VANCE COOKE

"Since Whitman there has been no other poet who so surely gripped the vital things of democracy as Edmund Vance Cooke," said Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, when asked to comment on this great American poet, who will make his appearance at Music hall, Thursday evening, May 19, under the auspices of Forensic board.

Reports from leading people and newspapers prove the genius of Mr. Cooke as author, wit, philosopher, and impersonator. Said the New York American, "He is a poet of rare ability and unusual cleverness. Mr. Cooke is really a genius."

"The Impertinent Poet," as he is sometimes called, is known the world over. "The Uncommon Commoner," "Chronicles of the Little Tot," "Rimes to be Read," and "Impertinent Poems," are among the dozen books which he has written. Mr. Cooke will delight the audience Thursday evening with a selected number of his own poems.

It is stated that he is the most widely quoted and the most frequently imitated of any American poet of today. He has filled over twenty lyceum seasons and has appeared in hundreds of the best courses in every state in the union except one, and in England and Canada.

Approximately eighty monthly and weekly periodicals have received articles from him.

From one paper comes the following report, "The humor of Mr. Cooke contains a seed thought of keen, clear meaning. He leaves his audience smiling, refreshed, and with new courage for the day."

The price of admission is 50 cents and tickets will be on sale at the University pharmacy, Hook Brothers, and Bascom hall.

NAMES

They Tell the Story of the
Y. W. Cabinet Girls' House
Party

About 30 Y. W. C. A. cabinet girls took their annual sojourn at a Haven on Lake Mendota where they spent several Winter Knights in great Blish. The windows had no Winchell although the door had a Whitlock. The wind howled so much that they feared a Storm and for some time it was quite Arey whereupon they became Wise and piled on Moore blankets. Once Auta Lyman laughed so much that Mil Rogers had to Wheeler out and the mirth provoker was put out and had to Parkinson in a Correll all her own. When it came to meals the cooks didn't Cheetham any and even Parsley and Kasbeer were there. There wasn't any doubting Thomas that a good time was had by all and when it came time to leave many a Shaw arose, and so the story of another Y. W. week end may be written.

Miss Mary Andersen, secretary of the association, chaperoned the party. Among the visitors and guests were Anna Birge, Dean Nardin. Miss Abbey Marlatt, Miss Sterling and Dr. Sarah Morris, members of the advisory board.

BADGER TRACK TEAM IN MEET WITH ILLINOIS

Varsity Will Compete at Urbana on May 21

The Wisconsin track squad will engage in the most important dual meet of the season when it meets Illinois on Saturday, May 21, at Urbana. After their victory over Minnesota in which the squad won thirteen first places, the Badgers had an easy practice session last night.

Wisconsin is now credited with two wins on the track, having vanquished Chicago 105 to 80 and swamped Minnesota by a 104 to 31 score. Illinois, the Badgers' next opponent, has not lost a dual meet during this season. The Illini easily defeated Notre Dame, which has one of the strongest teams in the Middle West. Illinois upset Michigan by an 83 to 52 counting a dual meet last Saturday. With Michigan out of the way, the Wisconsin track and field squad is the only Big Ten contender which can offer serious competition to the Illini.

In the conference indoor meet at Evanston, the Suckers took the championships by a safe margin over Michigan. Wisconsin finished in third place, two points behind the Michigan squad. In the outdoor meet, the Illinois squad demonstrated unquestioned superiority over Michigan. Eleven first places were gathered in by the victorious Illini, and slams were scored in the mile and two mile runs and the 220 yard low hurdles. Dewey Alberts, Illinois' holder of conference indoor record, established a new Illinois record in the broad jump and defeated Walker, Michigan, in the high jump with a leap of 6 feet 3 3/8 inches.

Brede broke the American intercollegiate javelin throw record with a throw of 192 feet 9 inches, over 7 feet further than the former mark. Albert J. Knollin '22 will meet Prescott in the 100 yard dash, and the two Wallace brothers in the 220 yard low hurdles and the 120

DATE IS SET FOR SENIOR SWING-OUT

That Senior Swing-out should always be held on the first Friday in June, and that no other all-university functions should be held on that date, was set as a tradition to be followed from next year on, at the Keystone meeting yesterday, as the result of a discussion concerning this year's Swing-out.

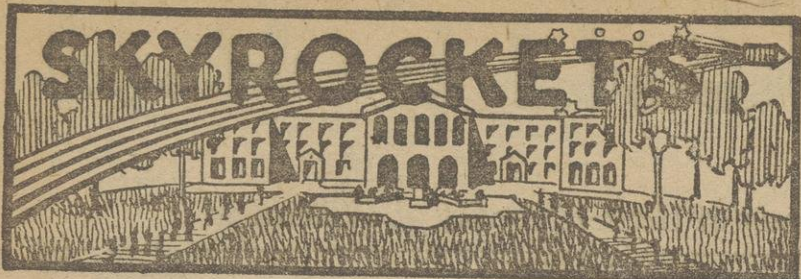

In order that seniors and juniors might carry away the spirit of the ceremony, it was decided that the whole evening must be given up to Swing-out.

Pictures of candidates in the Blue Dragon, Yellow Tassel, and Red Gauntlet elections will be posted on the bulletin board in Lathrop hall, it was announced, in accordance with a suggestion made at the S. G. A. convention. The election date was set for June 7.

IF you've ever experienced the messiness of a late spring cold, you know the agonies that the ed. is experiencing these days. What with our eyes, ears, and nose all running, we're in something of a bad way.

GRISELDA, the more or less muse, passing by, has just given some of the best gleanings of a week-end's observation. She tells us that the Pi Phi party was, as usual, made up of Frank Wolfe, and the Kappa Sigs.

DOES it make any particular difference to you that the refreshment committee for Field day is headed by Helen Kasbeer?

WE lost our canoe from the pier last week, and gave it up for lost. Sunday we found it tied out near Picnic point, repainted a brilliant green, varnished, and with a new paddle. We gave our proper thanks to the Lord, and paddled it home. Today we wish we'd left it for a day or so longer; we might have got some cushions.

CONSIDERING all things, we believe that the Chi Omegas have set the spring record for engagements, three having been announced at the formal Friday. "And that ain't all," says Griselda, at my side, "They've still two or three others coming strong."

Signs of Old Times

Dear Ed:

In the town of Peysin there were three emporiums for the dispensation of good cheer to a population of 50. On winter day, one of the enthusiasts broke down, halfway up the hill, and a short distance from one of the e. f. d. g. c. The town constable, driving by saw him. He couldn't hold up his head, I am told. The constable loaded the fellow into the cutter, however, and drove to the saloon, opened the back door, and threw in his burden, yelling to the saloon-keeper, "Here, Carlson, your sign fell down, up there on the hill. I just brought it down to you."

TRACY TO ADDRESS STATE LEGISLATURE

Members of the legislature will be given an opportunity to hear Wisconsin's winning N. O. L. orator when Sterling Tracy '22 delivers his prize oration on "America and Britain for Civilization" before a joint session in the Assembly chambers at 8 o'clock tonight. Speaker Riley Young will preside. He will present Alvin C. Reis '13, who in turn will introduce Tracy.

The solons were soimpressed with Tracy's victory that Assemblyman Fowler introduced a joint resolution last week requesting him to address both houses. Although the meeting tonight is planned primarily for members of the legislature, several hundred Madisonians are expected to jam the galleries and the Assembly's sergeant's force is making special arrangements to accommodate the crowd anticipated.

To the winners of the events will be awarded prizes, valuable, appropriate and otherwise.

CADET CORPS ON SHOW MAY 26-27

The annual inspection of the university cadet corps will be held on Thursday, May 2, and Friday, May 27. Col. W. D. Chitty, Sixth Cadet Corps area, will be the inspecting officer.

Regular work, including everything covered this year, will be carried on by the different companies and batteries on May 26, and the yearly individual competition, company competition, and review on the lower campus will be held on May 27. As in previous years, a sham battle will be a feature of the inspection.

The President's review, which comes at the end of each academic year, will be held on June 3. At that time, Pres. E. A. Birge will officially present the commissions for commissioned officers, warrants for non-commissioned officers, and the various prizes offered by the department for military proficiency.

MADISON HIGH WILL PRESENT 'SHERWOOD'

Madison high school students interested in dramatics will present "Sherwood" in the high school auditorium Friday, May 27. This play is a very costly production and the high school dramatic department is making every effort to make "Sherwood" the greatest play ever presented by M. H. S. students. Over one hundred students are included in the cast and executive staff. The actual cast consists of over 80 students. The largest number of students that have previously taken part in any one play was about 45.

The executive staff consists of a business manager, publicity manager, stage manager, production manager, and electrician.

Tickets for the play will be placed on sale within the next few days. For the first time, reserved seats will be sold. This will be necessary, as the high school auditorium will seat only about 1500 people and present indications are that the demand for tickets will exceed this.

Alif Minn Pitches Tent at
Head of 1922 Badger
Distribution Line

Alif Minn wanted the first 1922 Badger.

They wanted it so much that they sent two representatives out to get it. Accordingly, Earl Weitemann and Sumner Harris made their way up the hill on Sunday afternoon to secure the place at the head of the line. There was a set determination on their faces. Alif Minn could not fail!

It is a long wait from Sunday to Wednesday, when the Badgers will be issued, but they came well prepared. In their equipment no detail was left out, for each carried a full military kit. They pitched a pup tent and even built a fire. The situation looked favorable for Alif Minn.

Then, Dean Goodnight saw the tent and its occupants on his way up the hill on Monday morning. The fire was going well and he smiled as he visioned a small army encamped on the campus waiting for the coveted Badger.

After the Dean had passed, "Cap" Rasmussen saw the campers. Instantly his mind was filled with the same humorous picture as the Dean's. "It would have been a waste of too much time and carrying the thing a little too far to have let the campers stay there, so I called the contest off," said "Cap," speaking of the affair. Nevertheless it has been decided to give them a Badger, and so on tomorrow Alif Minn will get the first 1922 Badger.

high hurdles races. Handicapped by the cold weather on Saturday, Knollin won the low hurdles race in 25 3-5 seconds. H. S. Wallace, Illinois, went the distance in 25 flat against Michigan.

The well-balanced Illinois squad is strong in the distance runs. McGinnis, Patterson, and Wells tied for first place in 4 minutes 32 seconds against Michigan. Mark H. Wall '22 led the field in the Wisconsin-Minnesota meet and broke the tape in 4 minutes 30 2-5 seconds under adverse conditions.

Wharton, Allman, and Dusenberry comprise a two mile combination that has defeated everything in the conference. They negotiated the longer distance in 9 minutes 49 seconds last Saturday, and at the finish the trio was tied for first place. Weiss, Illinois, is one of the best shot putters in the conference. He also hung up a mark of 136 feet 1 1-2 inches in the discus throw.

The Wisconsin-Illinois dual meet on Saturday will be a contest between two well-balanced teams, with Wisconsin strong in the hurdles, the mile, and middle distance runs, and Illinois excelling in the long runs and the field events.

THE MANAGEMENT of the FULLER THEATER wishes to announce that has been favored with the booking of the greatest musical comedy of two seasons, "THE SWEETHEART SHOP," with Harry K. Morton and the ENTIRE ORIGINAL CAST AND CHORUS.

"THE SWEETHEART SHOP" will play in Madison next Saturday for two performances, matinee and night. It is en route to Chicago, where it will begin a summer run there early in June. This is one of the very few cities where it will be seen for less than a week's engagement.

FOR SEVERAL weeks the Fuller Theater has been trying to get this attraction and only yesterday by long distance telephone was the booking arrangement completed.

IT IS also important to note the prices which have been placed at a very low price to give all lovers of good musical comedy a good seat at a pre-war price.

THIS COMPANY travels in four railroad cars carrying two carloads of silken scenery. The same musicians who played the scores in all big eastern cities will appear in Madison. The cast and chorus is positively the same as seen in Chicago all last summer.

IRON CROSS ELECTION

IRON CROSS has again made its election and has inscribed upon its scroll of honor the names of men whose character and ability have been tried in the conflicts of undergraduate life. It is only proper and fitting that we recognize these men for the services they have so willingly and gladly given for their fellow students and the university.

These men have had a strong and definite purpose; a great aim and possessed attitude, ability, and perseverance to attain it. They have met obstacles and overcome them. They have given their time and energy for the upbuilding of all that is best in student life. They believe in the gospel of work, and their records show that they have done things.

The ambitions of students are many, but no ambition is more commendable than the desire to give the university all the time that one can spare, that through it the standards of student life may be raised and efficiency in activities developed to the highest degree. The greatest joy in student life is the joy derived from giving.

These newly elected men have learned how to lead and they have led well. They have had convictions and they have stood by them in spite of student opposition and censure. Such men we want. Let the spirit of these men live on and be ever a force for a greater and more harmonious Wisconsin fellowship.

AN ALUMNUS.

THE CREW "W"

ONE of the most commendable efforts to better Wisconsin athletics was the recent decision of the Athletic board to revive the crew "W". This action means that the university will again officially recognize work on the varsity crew as worthy of the highest reward in our athletic activities.

The "W" award for crew should have a stimulating effect on the men who report for rowing work in the future. While it is true that more men will work and work harder when there is a "W" that they may wear as a final reward, this is not the only benefit that the university will derive. The very fact that the work on the varsity crew has been so recognized by the Athletic board raises the prestige of that sport and gives increased incentive to place among the chosen eight.

Wisconsin hopes to put a crew in the Poughkeepsie races before a great while. The crew that bears the cardinal colors in these races must be of rare ability, for the competition will tolerate no second-rate eights. If Wisconsin is to hold as high or a higher standard as she did in the past when she sent shells to Poughkeepsie, rowing as a sport must be given its due prestige, and the men who respond to the call for crew must be properly rewarded.

The "W" for crew work is a step in the right direction.

THE 1922 BADGER

THE 1922 Badgers are here. Tomorrow "The Year-Book with a Mission" will find its way into the hands of thousands of interested and inquisitive students. The distribution of the Badger is a long expected and heartily welcomed event.

And why? Because Badgers in general, and the 1922 Badger in particular, express the life, spirit, and purpose of the university.

Wisconsin is proud of the 1922 Badger, because it, as its predecessors, gives ample expression to the life and spirit of the university. Practically every organization and every agency that is contributing to the greatness of Wisconsin is set forth. The more important activities—scholastic, athletics, forensic, dramatic, journalistic, military, and social—all mirrored forth in these pages. What the campus, the campus life, and the university as a whole means to the students is embodied in the Badger. Throughout the entire book, runs the far-famed Wisconsin spirit. The Badger is, in reality, the epitome of Wisconsin life and spirit.

The 1922 Badger does more than express the life and spirit of the university as we know it. It also sets forth the fundamental aim of the university—service. The 1922 Badger portrays the indissoluble connection between the state and the university. The university was born and thrives because of the bounty of the state. The university, in return, gives back to the state a noble service—a service which makes for the mental, material, and spiritual progress of the people of the state. The state and the university have reached a point where their welfare is inter-dependent. A portrayal of this inter-dependence of state and university is the primary mission of the 1922 Badger. In the achievement of this mission, the book has well succeeded.

The student body awaits with interest and expectation the distribution of the Badgers tomorrow.

PROBE DEATH
OF M'GILVARYEastern Officials Inform
Investigation

BOSTON—Although insisting that they were strongly inclined to the belief that Lieut. Paton C. McGilvary, former overseas flier, committed suicide, police officials today were engaged in running down several details connected with his shooting a week ago.

The Back Bay alley in which the aviator's body was found was raked over again in a search for two pistol shells that were reported missing. The body bore four bullet wounds while only two discharged shells were found.

As the ownership of the pistol was questioned by relatives and friends of McGilvary, who said he did not keep one, officers were sent to Worcester in the hope of tracing the weapon from the factory to the purchaser.

The family here have received several messages from the east stating that the investigation is being pushed by the police of both Boston and New York.

SCIENTIST?

Everybody is When All the Facts Are Printed Out Before Them

"He has a posterior air tube," remarked the learned looking one, peering through heavily tortoiseshell-rimmed gloms at the funny little insect in the glass case of the biology building's weekly common animal exhibit. "A water-scorpion, I believe."

Lucille the Cubbess, filled with awe, mechanically noted down his utterance on the address side of a post-card. He was so evidently a real naturalist!

"A posterior air tube?" she faltered, hopelessly, giving him an appealing look.

"To breathe with when he is under the water," said the glommed one, gently. "The water-scorpion lives in wet, marshy places."

"Yes, I see," said Lucille, who had discovered a little card of explanations on her end of the exhibit shelf. "You may call this a bug if you like, because it really is one."

"Of course!" cried the naturalist, with a look that marvelled at her intelligence. "Are you taking biology?"

"No, just writing up the menagerie. But a journalist has to know everything. See,—its forelegs are modified for grasping prey in accordance with its habit of feeding upon small aquatic animals."

"Wonderful!" cried the scientist, melting away in the direction of the door.

The Cubbess gazed worshipfully after his retreating figure. How marvellous to have talked to someone who knew all about posterior air tubes on water scorpions!

Alas for illusions! Walking around to the other side of the exhibit she discovered that he, too, had been reading from a card!

At The Theaters

AT THE STRAND

The first of the five-reel feature comedies in which Roscoe Arbuckle, the famous heavyweight star, is to appear, by arrangement with Joseph M. Schenck, is "The Life of the Party," adapted from Irvin S. Cobb's story of the same name. The picture is being shown at the Strand theater for the last times today.

The story reveals the adventures and love affairs of an affable young lawyer, Algernon Leary, in his efforts to break the Milk Trust. Leary's powerful adversaries attempt to ruin his reputation by sending a notorious "vamp" to blackmail him, but he not only succeeds in withstanding her charms, but beats out the corporation's candidate for mayor at the polls. The picture is declared to be rich in laughs, one of the funniest situations being when Leary attends a masquerade party attired as a child of three and, through a misunderstanding, is chased all over town by indignant citizens and policemen.

The added attractions are a comedy cartoon and the latest news weekly.

Thomas Meighan in "Conrad in Quest of His Youth" will be the feature picture at the Strand Wednesday to Saturday.

AT THE GRAND

"Down Home," the Irvin Willat picture now showing at the Grand, is replete with touches of real life. A high point of comedy is the wild ride of "Cash Bailey's Traveling Emporium," driven by Babney Todd and faithfully followed by the village fire department, dragging their hand-drawn engine. ore laughs and fun have been packed into this, than in all the slapstick comedies ever filmed. It is genuine humor, the fight between Chet and Doover musses things up considerably and will please all who like tests of strength. The picture will close its run at the Grand today.

AT THE GRAND

The Grand theatre announces as the featured attraction, beginning Sunday, "Down Home," the first independent production made by Irvin V. Willat, the young director responsible for "Behind the Door" and "Below the Surface." "Down Home" was adapted by Mr. Willat himself from the Frank N. Westcott novel, "Dabney Todd."

It is a story of New England, and has a homely appeal—the appeal of the clean, wholesome life of the country, of one-horse chaises and modest, vine-covered cottages, of country lanes bordered with wild flowers, and country maids in gingham gowns. The characters are as simple as their surroundings. Bright flashes of humor relieve the deeper, more serious, vein of this story, and through it all are found the thousand and one homey touches that make such a strong appeal. The cast is a notable one, and includes Leatrice Joy, Edward Hearn and Robert William Daly in the leading roles, and Frank Braidwood, Aggie Herring, James O. Barrows, William P. Lockney, Florence Gilbert and others are seen in roles which they are said to interpret admirably.

COMING TO THE ORPHEUM

The word is abroad in the land that Orpheum patrons may look forward with more than the usual measure of expectancy to the forthcoming season of vaudeville entertainment. Martin Beck, has just returned from a tour of the European capitals, whose music hall boards he has scrutinized for features calculated to tickle the hair-trigger sense of humor of the American variety audience. No attraction likely to add to the gayety of the vaudeville commonwealth is said to have escaped his vigilance. And when it is recalled that the Orpheum president has been making similar expeditions to Europe over a period of 25 years, and that his prizes have embraced, among others, "acts" as varied in appeal as Sarah Bernhardt and Singer's Midgets, this lately arranged bookings must be regarded as holding exceptional interest. New faces, new personalities, new effects are promised, with new and painless methods of enticing the lurking chuckle and guffaw from its human shell. The artists engaged by Mr. Beck are reported to cover every spot in the bill from opening to closing. It is expected that an announcement of some of the more important names will be made in the near future.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Many a gruelling race has been won or lost on the home stretch. Johnny Hardwick lost what he thought was the big race of his career when his cherished "Honeyblossom" crashed, a struggling heap, into the dust of America's most noted metropolitan track. When the same "Honeyblossom" romped home an easy winner in the feature event of an obscure county fair, Johnny thought that the big race, and the little girl, of his whole existence had been won—but they hadn't. Into the five reels of "The Home Stretch," Douglas MacLean's latest Paramount comedy, which comes to the Majestic Sunday, are crowded more clean, wholesome, hilarious humor, more gripping drama, and more thrilling action than any picture in which he has appeared since the unforgettable "Twenty-Three and a Half Hours' Leave." The Excel Trio of Harmony singers. A two reel Mermaid comedy, latest news weekly complete the program.

AT THE FULLER

Black Beauty, the most famous horse in the world's literature, had a number of interesting human acquaintances. The wonderful horse, whose autobiography as recorded by Ann Sewell has run through countless editions and been read by millions in the past forty years, knew many things about these humans, and related them, but could not know or relate the intense drama going on indoors. In the preparing the motion picture version of "Black Beauty," Mr. and Mrs. George Randolph Chester have added the human story, to supplement the "Story of Black Beauty." The "Indoor Story," however, has been kept entirely separate from the "Outdoor Story," which Anna Sewell had Black Beauty tell. The film version has been completed at last, in spite of almost insuperable difficulties, as a Vitagraph special production, and will be shown at the Fuller Theater starting today with Jean Paige in the leading human role. The visualization of "Black Beauty" was no small undertaking, but the splendid result has justified all the thought, energy and money expended in its accomplishment.

SPANISH DANCING HEADS ORPH BILL

With a medley of song and dance, Brown, Gardner and Barnett headline the Orpheum bill for the first half of the week. Miss Brown is an attractive girl who can dance. Her partner, a graceful young Adonis, is best liked in his whirling, Spanish dance. Barnett, the pianist, proves his versatility by singing as well as he plays.

An old and popular entertainer, Harry Cooper offers his genial line of jokes and songs. His personality is no small asset.

With her troupe of capably trained monkeys, Anita Diaz opens the bill. The monkeys scramble up and down poles, swing from a trapeze, and juggle miniature barrels.

Dora Hilton, "The Girl with the Golden Voice," plays around in the treble clef with an ease that makes her audience sit open-mouthed.

With some extraordinary feats of strength, Dare brothers, two powerfully developed athletes, conclude the bill.

U. S. CONTROL OF ROADS HIT BY FINLEY

N. W. Road President
Warns U. S. to Guard
Its Waterways.

That the people of this country should jealously guard their facilities for water transportation for future use, was the warning issued by President W. H. Finley of the Northwestern railroad, speaking before 300 Kiwanians at the Y. M. C. A. Monday noon.

"I am in favor," said Pres Finley, "of water transportation, but only when the population approximates that of continental Europe and not any sooner. Then it will do much to solve our transportation difficulties."

"Now as to our railroads—nothing is so vital or means so much to the people than our railroads and their rates. You ask, are they treating the people right? I want to say, that there has been more money wasted on the waterways than would capitalize all the railroads of the United States."

"The railroads don't enjoy the privilege of dipping into the U. S. treasury. We did it—it had to be done under federal control. The adventure of government control is only comparable to the Adventures of Alice in Wonderland. But, if present conditions continue, if the railroads have to continue to spend more than they earn, then there is only one solution and that is government control. You must consider well before you enter that."

"The railroads are steadily increasing their bonded debt. If it continues to increase and the railroads are only able to earn the interest on their bonded indebtedness and none for dividends, we will be driven to government control. The railroads need money today, but they can't get it.

"The Northwestern has never been classed with the Wall street roads. We have never been anything but a railroad. Our directors have been and are railroad men. We realize that we are dependent upon the good will of the people. We must treat them right."

"Railroads have the largest investment per dollar of any business in the world. At the same time they have the lowest return on the capital investment, the lowest capitalization, and the highest taxes in proportion to income."

"The rates on the light shipments today are only 25 per cent higher than the lowest rates ever known. There is a propaganda being waged to fix the stagnation of business on the freight rates of the railroads. I want to say that it costs three times as much to produce transportation as it did in 1913. The cost of operation alone in 1913 was two and a third billion while in 1920 it had raised to six billion."

"There is no water in our valuations as have been alleged. The rates would have been just as high today if the Transportation act had never been written on the statute books. There is a 197% increase in operating expenses since 1912 and labor costs have increased 230% in the same period."

"The day is coming when the railroads will not be able to pay more than the interest on their bonded indebtedness. Trying to get a living without earning it is the primal economic problem of today."

"Our officials are working and giving their best for the public and the public must take a broad view and aid their greatest single institution."

Over twenty officials of the N. W. road attended the dinner. Among these were Marvin Hughitt, V-P.; A. C. Johnson, V-P.; W. A. Hayes, Div. Supt.; and George W. Hand, Asst. to the President. Justice W. C. Owens, as president of the Kiwanis club introduced Mr. Finley.

WASHINGTON—The requirement that the prohibition amendment be ratified within seven years by three-fourths of the state does not invalidate the entire measure, the U. S. supreme court today ruled.
