VOL. XXXIV. NO. 132 UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN, MADISON, SATURDAY, MARCH 28, 1925 PRICE 5 CENTS

SHAWANO, LA CROSSE MEET IN FINALS

250 TO ATTEND BANQUET HELD IN VISITORS' HONOR

High School Athletes Officially Close Tourney With Dinner at 9:30 Tonight

The Wisconsin high school state basketball tournaments finished. the championship decided, the season ended; the players and their coaches will meet at 9:30 o'clock tonight in the Crystal ball room of the Hotel Loraine for a big get-together evening and festive banquet in which 250 are expected to take part.

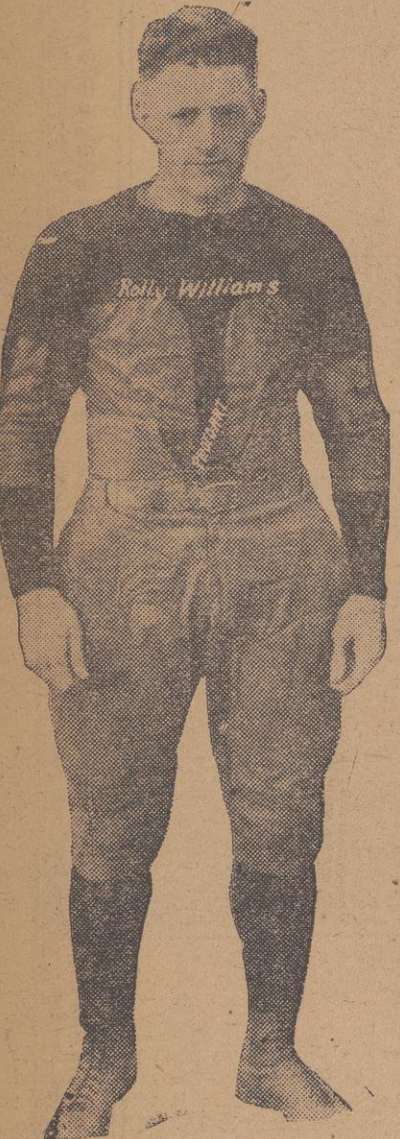

The dinner will follow immediately upon the last game of the championship series and is being tendered in honor of the visiting athletes.

Levis to Preside
George Levis '17, all-western forward, will preside as toastmaster of the affair. Levis was coach of the Wisconsin freshman basketball team this year.

The various medals and trophies will be awarded on this occasion to the winners in the tournament by Coach W. E. Meanwell.

On the program as speakers there are James Brader '23, assistant football coach at Wisconsin; Fred Young, official referee of the basketball championship series; Paul Neverman, secretary of the Wisconsin Interscholastic association; and Marshall Diebold '25, captain of the 1925 Badger quintet.

Tebell's Teammate

Rolie Williams
"Rolie" Williams, star on the gridiron, on the basketball court and on the baseball diamond, was one of the few Wisconsin men to win nine "W's." "Rolie" was the only conference basketball man since 1912 to rate a place on the all-conference basketball team three years straight. With Tebell and Williams Meanwell had one of the best defensive combinations ever developed by any coach.

Star Guard

Gustave K. Tebell '23, captain of the 1923 championship five, who was a star guard for three years. "Fighting Gus," as he was called also played football and baseball for three years on Cardinal teams. Tebell was mentioned on many all-star teams in both basketball and football.

SPOONER MANAGES ANNUAL TOURNEY

Former Cage Star Handles Details For Interscholastic Event

To Dwight "Doc" Spooner '25, former Badger cage star, goes much of the glory for the success of this year's state high school tournament. As general chairman, "Doc" has had a hand in everything relating to the tourney.

Handicapped by the fact that there were no Madison or other nearby teams entered in the meet, the ranks of the spectators were depleted by the loss of the ordinarily big local attendance. The fact remains, however, that this year's crowd has been as large as that of any other year, even though there have been local teams in former tournaments to draw the large crowds.

Housing of the visiting teams has been handled by the committee. Practically all of the men have been taken care of in the various fraternity houses, and have come to feel quite at home in Madison.

But for the fact that "Doc" had participated on the Coe track team in a meet at Knox college before his entry at Wisconsin, he would have been playing with the Badger basketball team this year. It was largely through Spooner's playing in the last two years that Wisconsin annexed the Big Ten cage title, and his loss was keenly felt this year. Two years ago the Cardinal players lost but one game, and last year they succeeded in winning every game in which Doc played. It was in the Northwestern game last year that he pulled his knee, and from that time on played only intermittently through the season.

Spooner came here unknown so far as basketball ability is concerned, but Meanwell was quick to see the possibilities in him, and it was not long before Spooner knew more of the Meanwell system than any other man on the floor. A fast forward and an easy shot, he was one of the best in the conference last year, and his ineligibility this year because of a former year of competition proved a blow to Wisconsin that the Badgers could hardly rally from; for at the beginning of this season it left Captain Diebold as the only experienced man on the team.

DR. MEANWELL'S RECORD AS COACH IS ENVIABLE ONE

"Little Giant" Has Had Uniform Success in Producing Championships

Whenever Wisconsin and basketball are mentioned, the name of Dr. W. E. Meanwell is almost sure to be mentioned as being synonymous with the word basketball at Wisconsin.

The following record of the teams coached by him should be evidence of his ability as a mentor.

Dr. Meanwell received his degree of M. D. from the University of Maryland (Baltimore Medical College) in 1909, and three years later came to the University of Wisconsin as head basketball coach. In 1915 he was made Doctor of Public Health by the university.

In 1918, Dr. Meanwell left Wisconsin to become Director of Athletics and basketball coach at the University of Missouri. Under his tutelage in that year, Missouri won her first Missouri Valley conference championship. After a year in the United States Army in 1919, Dr. Meanwell returned to Missouri and again coached a championship team. Coming back to Wisconsin in 1921, he has trained three championship squads.

CUPS AND CHARMS ARE TOURNAMENT AWARDS

Prizes for this year's tournament offer excellent remembrances for hard earned victories in the 1925 tournament.

The champion team will receive a large gold basketball team trophy, and the possession of the traveling cup, donated by the Milwaukee Journal, for one year.

Second place, third place and consolation winners will receive cups.

Members of the championship squad will be presented with eight gold basketball charms; second place winners are awarded silver charms; third place team members, bronze charms, and the winners of the first and second standing in the consolation series will receive silver and bronze charms.

LA CROSSE PILOT HAS FAITH IN HIS GLASSES

If superstitions have any weight with a basketball team they will be proven tonight when La Crosse and Shawano play for the championship. Captain Bunge, guard on the La Crosse team is a firm believer that his pair of glasses are quite strongly responsible for La Crosse's victories. During the first half of a game Bunge never wears his glasses, but during the second half he dons his glasses with their protecting guard and to them accredits much of the strength of La Crosse. So far his peculiar belief has held.

LACROSSE, SHAWANO AFTER TIGHT GAMES PREPARE FOR FINALS

Badger Mentor

Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, coach of Wisconsin's many championship and contending basketball teams. Doctor Meanwell has had uniform success as a leader and coach of cage teams. Although handicapped by losses and injuries he succeeded in rounding out a smoothly working aggregation this year that upheld Wisconsin's best traditions on the court.

FONDY ONLY TWO-TIME WINNER OF TITLES

Fond du Lac high school has been the only competitor in the state basketball tournament successful in winning two championships.

In 1923 the Fond du Lac team carried off the honors, relinquishing them next year to Wisconsin High and winning again in 1924 by defeating the strong Superior team.

Superior won the first tournament held in the university gymnasium which was in 1920. Superior has competed in each of the five tournaments in Madison and failed to place in the championship series for the first time this year.

Appleton has proven the dark horse in most of the tournaments, winning the championship in 1921 and finishing high last year.

If La Crosse romps off with the honors tonight, it will be a sweet victory for the river city as La Crosse has competed in the final meet yearly and has always lost out before the final game.

Exterior Features In Tilts Important With Badger Coach

Walter E. Meanwell, veteran basketball coach at Wisconsin, is particular about the most minute detail in connection not only with his coaching but also in the way games are run off from an exterior point of view.

Last year a local photographer received permission from "the little giant" to take a flashlight action picture of the Indiana team pitted against the Wisconsin aggregation, with the stipulation that the "action" would be framed and not part of the game.

The tilt was hard-fought and close throughout, but just after the second half had started there was an explosion, and the picture was taken. The infringement on the part of the photographer of the faith which "Doc" placed in his abiding by the agreement resulted in an action which Meanwell said virtually destroyed the morale of both teams. The explosion was such a shock that it was believed by the coach to cause the teams great harm.

Wisconsin won by a single point.

Last Minute Baskets and Clever Tactics Displayed in Interesting Games

La Crosse and Shawano will fight it out for the state high school basketball title at 8 o'clock tonight in what is expected to be the fastest and hardest game of the entire tournament. These two teams emerged the winners in the semi-finals and will enter the final round tonight.

La Crosse through keen basketball sense and headwork won from Neenah in a fast, intense game by a fine bit of stall and a rushing

VETS RECALL PARADE FLOAT ON MEANWELL

Gus Tebell '23, veteran guard and captain of the 1923 basketball team, and Les Gage '23, center on the same team which placed fifth that year in individual scoring in the Big Ten, were talking over basketball days not so long ago. During the course of the conversation they recalled a certain St. Patrick's day parade held by the engineers such as is being held today.

1925 Captain

Marshall Diebold, captain of the 1925 varsity five, has been one of Wisconsin's mainstays for three years. "Marsh," who is a former interscholastic star, was picked on several all-star teams in 1924 and 1925.

NEW GLARUS

A strong team which bids fair to be one of the teams to meet tonight to decide the third place honor. It defeated Appleton the first day 24-8, lost to Beloit the second round 25-12, and won from Eau Claire in the third place series yesterday 20-18.

MONTFORT

A rather weak team which lost its first two games and was thus eliminated from the state tournament. Waukesha handed Montfort its first defeat the first day by a 18-12 score. Wisconsin Rapids eliminated Montfort from the tournament by defeating it for the second time in the game at 7 o'clock Thursday night.

SUPERIOR

A team that was doped to win the state title, but which failed to find itself the first day and was defeated by Eau Claire in the first round 23-18. After defeating Bloomer 40-13 in the first round of the consolation play it lost to River Falls 20-16 and was put out of the running.

MANITOWOC

After losing the first game to Watertown it won its second from Tomahawk but failed to stay in the tournament when Wisconsin Rapids won from it 20-13 in one of the afternoon games yesterday. The team was a bit too light to stand the strain of the tournament play.

TOMAHAWK

Tomahawk failed to show any strength or power the first day of play and was easily defeated by La Crosse. Playing a thrilling game

NEENAH

One of the strongest teams in the tournament which lost a nerve-racking game to La Crosse last night after winning its first two games in real style. Free throws missed lost the game against La Crosse for Neenah. This team is expected to fight it out for third place honors.

LIFE IN ANDES IS TOLD BY BOWMAN IN SECOND TALK

Everything Backward in South America, Geographer Asserts

Presenting views of South American agriculture, mountains, villages, and curiosities, Dr. Isaiah Bowman, director of the American Geographical society of New York, gave his second talk on South America yesterday afternoon.

The theme of his address was man and nature in the Andes. Dr. Bowman used the slides to depict the different aspects of Peruvian and Bolivian life chiefly. He told of the deserts of the West, the driest portion of the world, where for 14 years at a time there has been no rain.

Habitations Vary

"Habitations vary with the people and the location," he said. "In the deserts are the reed huts, on the plateau the mud huts become more common, and, further back, the only habitations are made of huge piles of turf."

"It must be remembered that the South American civilization is distinctly Latin. Everything is backward. One opens a door by inserting the key upside down and turning it backward."

Shows Photographs

Dr. Bowman has taken considerable interest in unusual features and curiosities of South American life and natural objects. He exhibited a rare collection of photographs of jungle and natural life. One particular phenomenon was shown in the picture of a spot where the river flows into the sea. At this spot there is a marked line of foam, so that, with certain conditions of the weather, it is possible to see distinctly the white line where the river is blocked by the sea.

LAKE OPEN 17 DAYS EARLIER THAN 1924

Madison lakes are opening 17 days earlier than last year. Lake Monona was two-thirds open yesterday and the strong winds that were blowing all day released part of the east shore late in the afternoon. March 27 will be the date recorded for this year's opening.

TO HOLD STUDENT CONVO AT GENEVA

June 12 to 22 Set For Meeting; Expect 800 Men From Universities

The annual Lake Geneva student conference will be held at Lake Geneva June 12 to 22 inclusive. At this conference 800 men representing the voluntary religious forces of more than 100 colleges and universities from the nine central states gather to study and train for the application of Christianity in personal, social and international relationships.

Each day the conference will meet as a whole under the leadership of Bruce Curry for one hour, and then break up into 40 small discussion groups lasting for one hour.

Speakers who have taught former conferences will be present, including Bishop McDowell, "Dad" Elliot and John R. Mott. This year a new service to the students is to be started, in which expert counsellors will advise students on problems of life work. Research and training will be afforded in Christian association methods. A faculty conference of 50 professors, deans and presidents will participate in the general sessions.

There will be certain social and discussion sessions in which the foreign delegates assemble separately, but they will participate in all regular program events.

TAXIS FOR ANNUAL BALL DISCOURAGED

Would Spoil Democratic Spirit of Affair, Randall Says

"We are trying to discourage the use of taxis as much as possible for the thirteenth annual Military ball which will be held in the capitol on April 3," was the statement made yesterday by Christian J. Randall L2, operations officer of the general staff.

The use of taxis would destroy the democratic spirit of the ball which the officials are striving for, according to Randall. In past years the custom has been to eliminate taxis except for instances which require the saving of time.

Arrangements are being made to secure a box for non-fraternity men who wish to join some group at the ball, according to Walter Hahn, recruiting officer. Anyone desiring to make reservations with this group are asked to call Leonard Ramlow at F. 1489.

Bad Faiths Trouble World, Preacher Declares in Opening Address

Christianity took on a new meaning to a large part of the audience which packed Lathrop hall last night, after listening for 40 minutes, while Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick gave his views of the needs in modern religion. Embellished with much kindly humor and presented in a straightforward manner, it was different from the ordinary sermon.

"It is not lack of religion, but bad religion which is troubling so many people today. Contemporary Christianity tends to make people quarrelsome and envious, and thus becomes a destructive force," Dr. Fosdick said.

"Religion, like electricity, may illumine an dwarm, or may blast and kill, and it depends upon how we understand and handle our religion as to what effect it will have upon us. The big problem today is to develop our religion which will make us better instead of bitter."

Dr. Fosdick outlined the essential points which should be incorporated in the religion of this generation. This, he says, must be able to win its way on brotherly love, instead of jealousy and envy.

"The essential points of a modern Christian religion, which will establish itself in all fields of leadership, are that it must bring people together instead of ripping them apart; it must be a thing which can be talked about to the

SPRING TOUR OF GLEE CLUB WILL TAKE TWO WEEKS

Bunker Completes Arrangements For Trip to Include Concerts in 13 Towns

The longest spring tour the club has ever undertaken, is the one the Men's Glee club will start out on April 6, according to a statement by R. C. Nethercut '25, yesterday. Final arrangements were completed by George Bunker '27 in the booking tour he made last week.

The club will give 13 evening concerts in the two weeks it will be on the road. A special Easter concert will be given at La Crosse the afternoon of April 12.

Complete Itinerary

The complete itinerary of the trip is as follows:

April 7, Westfield; April 8, Stevens Point; April 9, Wausau; April 10, Tomah; April 11, Sparta; April 12, La Crosse; April 13, Winona, Minnesota; April 14, Iowa Falls, Iowa; April 15, Mason City, Iowa; April 16, Waterloo, Iowa; April 18, Davenport, Iowa; April 19, Chicago, at the Chicago theater.

Twenty-seven men will make the trip. The club is at present handicapped by the loss of four of the members who are confined to the infirmary with the mumps. Any further increase in sickness may cause the tour to be called off said Prof. E. Earle Swinney yesterday.

Continues Practice

The tri-weekly practices of the club are being continued to keep the men in shape for the heavy series of concerts. Several new numbers are being added to the repertoire, Professor Swinney said.

BADGER DEBATERS IN RADIO CONTEST

Talk on Constitution Monday From WHA; Hearers Will Give Decision

Wisconsin's inter-collegiate debaters will reenact the debate contested with Minnesota at Minneapolis and with Northwestern at Madison from station WHA at 9 o'clock Monday evening, March 30, it was announced by the University Extension division.

The subject will be, resolved, that the constitution of the United States should be so amended that any law or portion of any law declared unconstitutional by the supreme court shall be valid law if reenacted by the succeeding congress and signed by the president, or passed over his veto.

The participants in the debates are, affirmative, John D. Sumner '26, Eileen A. Blackley '25, Glen H. Bell '25; negative, Isador G. Alk '26, George W. Mitchell '25, H. J. Sporer '25.

Decision as to which side wins in the radio debate will be rendered by the radio audience, who write their decision over their signatures upon post cards or in letters addressed to Miss Almere L. Scott, department of debating and public discussion, University Extension division.

Parade to Start at 2 O'Clock From Foot of State Street

Flannel shirts, high topped boots, pipes, and whiskers will form an important part of the scenery on State street this afternoon when St. Patrick passes down the thoroughfare followed by the famous Blarney stone and 1,000 loyal engineers, who will attempt to entertain him at the expense of the superficial dignity of those institutions not directly connected with the College of Engineering.

The parade will form on Park street in front of Science hall and the Chemical Engineering building. Promptly at 2 o'clock F. K. Lhotak '26 will step off down State street at the head of a band of 35 pieces followed by a heterogeneous collection of Irish cops, hoboes, snakes, slip stick artists, tractors, jessies, dancing girls, home ees, lawyers, medics and mechanical contrivances of every form and description. State street will once more be

PROFESSORS WILL ATTEND MEETING

American Chemical Society Has Conference in Baltimore April 6 to 10

Prof. J. H. Mathews and Prof. V. Lenher of the department of chemistry and Dr. L. F. Hawley of the forest products laboratory will attend the semi-annual meeting of the American Chemical society which is to meet in Baltimore April 6 to 10.

"The American Chemical society is the largest technical society in the world and it boasts of a membership of 1,600 chemists," Professor Mathews states. "It has members from nearly every important college and university in the country. These men constitute one-third of the society, while the remainder are industrial chemists."

"At each of its meetings some one chemical problem is thoroughly discussed. It generally is one which has never been thoroughly solved and which noted scientists have conflicting views upon. During the coming convention the topic which is to be discussed deals with the causes of the corrosion of metals and how to prevent it. If this particular problem can successfully be solved, it will represent a distinct gain to the industrial world," Professor Mathews stated.

Turtle On Exhibit To Be Part Of Engineers' Plan Of Parade

"Just what do turtles have to do with the Engineers' parade?"

That was the question raised Wednesday noon by the students thronging Langdon street on their way home from 11 o'clock classes. In the middle of the Delta Chi lawn the more fortunate onlookers were clustered into a close circle around the subject of discussion, a mud turtle about two feet in breadth. It drew almost as many spectators as a fire in Bascom hall.

Students passing by peered curiously between legs or over shoulders to see if the object of interest was a dog fight or a badger, perhaps. Then the close-packed circle broke and led out on the end of a stick came an unusually docile and friendly turtle, quite as curious about his surroundings as his guardians were about him.

The engineers were reluctant to divulge any of the secrets of the parade, but they did say that the turtle would take a prominent part in it. It was found in the mud of University bay.

Cross Section Of Hospital One Feature Of Exposition

Actual Work of Institution to Be Shown; Will Have X-Ray Apparatus

A cross-section of a whole hospital will be the feature of the medical booth of the university exposition, which will be held April 16 to 18.

Everything in the large central booth, occupied by the medical department, will be painted white, even the tables and shelves on which the exhibits are placed.

"We want to carry out the idea of the actual work in a hospital as much as possible," said Paul Eschweiler '25, general chairman of the booth. "It is impossible to give a complete exhibition in such a small space, so we are having four trips every day to the new state hospital, where second-year medical students conduct the inspection tours and explain the things to be seen there. These tours start from the exposition at the gymnasium."

Wearing Apparel For "Ivan Ho!" to Arrive Here Today

Costumes for "Ivan Ho!" the 1925 Harefoot production, will arrive in Madison today. Lester, theatrical costumer for many of the country's best performers, will bring the gowns for the cast and choruses here in person and will supervise the fitting and details.

The men in the production will try on the costumes for the first time and will be given a chance to accustom themselves to their feminine apparel in a dress rehearsal tonight at the Parkway theater. The costumes were designed and executed by Lester and are accurate in every detail of the twelfth century period.

Two or three dress rehearsals will be held before the club goes on the annual spring tour next Wednesday. Performances will be given in twelve cities before the club returns to Madison for six performances April 17 and 18 and 24 and 25.

INCESSANT RAIN FEATURES DRAMA

Play Not Great, But Very Effective and Has Tremendous Technique

By CHATTY

Rain, falling with its oppressing insistence, deadening, obsessing, more nerve-racking even because brief lulls accentuate its falling. Rain for hour upon hour drives two people to distraction, one out of her natural self into something she has never experienced, one into his natural self into what he had been trying to cheat nature by doing without.

Perhaps Ludwig Lewisohn is right when he says in his introduction to the book that "Rain" is not a great play. But surely it is an affecting one, and tremendous in its technique.

The company which comes to Madison in the production, despite the fact that only one minor member of it played with James Eagles in New York, is on the whole a capable one. The first act was disappointing, commencing as it did with the prattle of a native of the South Seas who talked as though she had lived her life between twenty-third street and the Harlem and west of fourth avenue and continuing with the appearance of a Sadie Thompson who did not seem to be the kind of a gay, happy-go-lucky kid she should have been.

From then on little more could have been desired. Georgia Lee Hall, who played the famous role, fell into her part and carried it through beautifully. John Waller, as the minister who, to quote Mr. Lewisohn again, "devastates all about him," shattered his ideals in a manner which, if not always convincing, was compelling.

But the play carries itself. And from its interlude let me quote:

"The rain falling very heavily on the hat you stole from the scarecrow—that is life."

BOXERS, WRESTLERS TO VIE FOR HONORS IN GYM TODAY

Annual Contest Expected to Bring Out Fast Matches
This Afternoon

The climax of the boxing and wrestling season will come at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon on the varsity basketball floor when the annual all-university boxing and wrestling tournament swings into action. A record crowd is expected to witness the exhibitions. It is expected the attendance will be swelled by followers of the state high school basketball tournament.

The annual pugilistic and grappling meet dates back to 1922 when, under Coach George Hitchcock and Eddie Borgelt, the first affair was held. The tournament has met with an increase in success each succeeding year, and last year over 1,000 spectators watched the ring and mat enthusiasts perform.

Intensive Practice

When the gong sounds this afternoon it will reveal the result of weeks of intense practice on the part of the athletes. Both the boxing tower and the wrestling quarters have been the scenes of heavy practice sessions for the past month.

The boxing bouts, for which Ray Moore, varsity boxing instructor, is responsible, have been arranged so as to exhibit both scientific ring generalship and slugging, while some of the bouts will be a happy medium between the two. Last night Coach Moore issued the following schedule for this afternoon:

Boxers' Lineup

H. Vogel vs. Emig, featherweight; C. Vogel vs. Minkow, bantamweight; Blanchard vs. Depew, junior lightweight; Derzavitz vs. Lowe, lightweight; Larson vs. Davis, junior welterweight; Shields vs. Campbell, welterweight; Stork vs. Chapman, middleweight; Fabera vs. Alton, light heavyweight; Cole vs. Stipek, heavyweight. Three of the men will defend their titles which they have retained for two years. They are Derzavitz, Chapman and Stipek.

Last night marked the finish of the elimination matches in the wrestling section of the tournament. Coach Hitchcock expressed the view that there will be some fast and strenuous wrestling done by his men for the championship titles.

Matmen Compete

Coach Hitchcock's announcement of the contestants follows:
Cohen, 115, Mussen.
Chao, 125, Randecker.
Shervent, 135, Cramer.
Meyer, 145, Weissmiller.
Kelley, 158, McTharson.
Cole, 175, Brackett.

Fortney, heavyweight, Brackett.
According to Coach Hitchcock quite a number of wrestlers are also followers of the fistie game. Zodtner, captain of the varsity wrestlers, will referee the matches, while Splees and Holmes, also of the varsity mat team, will take care of the timing and judging. The officials for the boxing contests are: Ray Moore, announcer; Joe Steinauer, referee; Dad Vail, timer; Guy Sundt and Jimmy Brader, judges. The admission price for the tournament is 25 cents.

INSPECTION REPORT ON SOCIAL HOUSES MADE

A report on the inspection of fraternities and sororities has been issued by Dean Goodnight's office upon request of the regents of the university. In the report it is stated that each sorority and fraternity was given a, b, or c rating, a being the highest. All of those inspected received one of the three classifications.

In inspecting cleanliness, orderliness, state of repair of the house and furniture, and general conditions affecting the health and comfort were considered.

Personal letters were sent by the dean of men's office to the individual sororities and fraternities telling them why certain classifications were made and requesting betterment of some conditions if they existed.

OLD BADGERS TO GIVE NEW AWARDS

Stiles and Knollin Memorial Contributors

For the past six years Badger weight men have been competing for a trophy left by Arlie Mucks to be awarded to the best man each year in the weight events. Guy Sundt held the trophy all four years that he was competing and now it belongs to Herb Schwarze, Arlie's closest rival, where it looks as though it may stay for another two years.

No longer, however, is this the only trophy to be awarded. This year several more old Badger stars have contributed trophies in various events for undergraduate athletes to strive for.

Al Booth, Al Tormey and Carmen Smith, three crack Wisconsin sprinters in days gone by, have contributed awards to be given to the best man in the 220, 40 and 100 yard dashes, respectively.

Members of the fraternity to which Al Knollin, former track captain and present holder of the record in both the high and low hurdles, belonged, have donated as a memorial to him a trophy to be awarded to the best man each year in the 120 yard high hurdles.

Bob Wahl, captain of the 1914 team and conference record holder in the high jump, has added a trophy to be awarded in the high jump. Phil Stiles, who holds the Wisconsin record in the broad jump, is giving a trophy for the best record in this event each season.

These trophies will be hung in the Trophy room each year with the name of the winner engraved upon it. Such a practice is a great help to stimulating interest in the various events.

Fraternities Sign Up For Annual Competition; Five
Awards Planned

A fine turnout of representatives yesterday resulted in the signing of 42 fraternities for the season's interfraternity intramural baseball race. In the meeting yesterday, a committee was appointed and the schedule of play was drawn up. The committee is composed of Munkwitz, Christoph, Weilano, Kroehnke, and Jenison. It was decided that five cups would be the trophies for the winners.

"W" Men Ineligible

The schedule allows the losers in the first and second round to enter the consolation finals. This system is better than the one which has previously been in general use, for it permits the losers who survive the first set to have a crack at the consolation cup. Formerly, these teams were dropped from play as regular elimination losers.

"W" men, "aWa" men, all frosh squad men, and the first string varsity players, will not be eligible for the interfraternity play. Five inning games will be the preliminary limit, but the finals will consist of regular nine inning matches.

Frosh Tracksters Prepare Now For May Wire Meet

Coach Mead Burke's freshman track team took to the outdoors early this week and have been running on the Camp Randall track along with the varsity tracksters. The ensuing three weeks will be devoted to general condition work, plenty of fresh air, jogging, running, walking, and building up strength in general.

Coach Burke has announced that a telegraphic track and field meet has already been arranged for with the freshmen cinder teams of Michigan and Iowa, and a meet will likely be arranged with either Notre Dame or Minnesota. Besides the intercollegiate meets arranged with the frosh track men of other schools, there will be the freshman-varsity reserve meet, the intercollegiate meet, and several tryouts for Sigma Delta Psi.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA PLACES FIRST IN BOWLING LEAGUE

Team Wins Set of Three Games
From Sigma Phi
Sigma

Phi Sigma Kappa is the Interfraternity Bowling league champion. In the final games, the Phi Sigs defeated Sigma Phi Sigma for the entire set of three games and thereby clinched the title with 20 games won and but one lost. Beta Theta Pi, with 15 won and six lost, took second.

The winning team was composed of King Weeman, Clarence Knutson, Al Michael, Dominic Monte and Harvey Stubenvoll. These men seem to prove the fact that the Phi Sigs are quite adept in handling balls of the bowling and basketball size, for Phi Sigma Kappa also took the free throwing championship.

Psi Upsilon, which ranked fifth at the last reading, also won an entire set in the closing matches. This success places them in third place.

The final standings are as follows:

Phi Sigma Kappa	20	1	.944
Beta Theta Pi	15	6	.714
Psi Upsilon	12	9	.571
Tau Kappa Epsilon	11	10	.524

Shawano Game Fast

In the most exciting game of the tournament Shawano scraped out victorious in a nerve racking game with Beloit. The two teams saw-sawed back and forth throughout the entire game, neither having the advantage of more than two or three points at any stage of the game. The score was tied, then Shawano forged ahead only to have Beloit toss a field goal and tie the score.

The game progressed in this manner until the last minute of play when Krause, brilliant Shawano forward, snatched a pass in mid air, glancing at the basket, sent the ball through the loop for the shot which put Shawano in the final round of the tournament.

Upsets Numerous

Upsets were most prominent in yesterday's round of the tournament. Eau Claire after trampling on Superior, lost a fast and exciting game to New Glarus by a 20-18 score. New Glarus showed real offensive power in this game but the up state men could not over power the driving power of the New Glarus team.

Waukesha toyed with Watertown when it found itself master of the game. Waukesha has a good team and the meeting of New Glarus and Waukesha at 10 o'clock this morning to decide who will go into the fight for third place, is being regarded with a great deal of interest.

Superior Loses

River Falls handed the mighty Superior team its second defeat of the tournament in the semi-final round of the consolation series. The game was another fast and thrilling contest and River Falls displayed read strength during the game.

Wisconsin Rapids won the right to enter the finals of the consolation series when it defeated Manitowoc in an uninteresting game.

Consolation Finals Today

The finals of the consolation round will be played between Wisconsin Rapids and River Falls at 5 o'clock today, and the game is expected to be a close battle. The finals of the all-university wrestling and boxing matches will be held at 2:30 o'clock before this game.

The teams to enter the finals for the run for third place will be decided when the final gun sounds the end of the Neenah-Beloit battle at 11 o'clock this morning, and when New Glarus and Waukesha have finished their duel for the honor to enter the third place finals. The winners of these two games will meet at 7 o'clock tonight to decide the fight for third place.

Tournament Successful

The tournament has been one of the best thus far and large crowds have attended the games at all periods. All of the games have been close, fast, and exciting, and many of the best teams were faced against one another in Friday's drawings.

The final games are regarded as the best of the tournament, however. With both La Crosse and Shawano emerging by one and two point leads from the semi-finals the duel between these two fast, clever teams is expected to be the cream of tournament play. The battle for third place will bring two strong teams together and this contest is regarded with almost equal interest as the first place duel.

New Glarus Starts

Playing a fast game of basketball the New Glarus quintet out-shot the speedy and smaller Eau Claire five for a thrilling 20-18 victory in the first game of Friday's round of the tournament. Starting with a powerful offense New Glarus piled up a comfortable lead by the end of the first half, the period ending 11-6 with New Glarus leading.

With brilliant teamwork, and featuring Gerberton on the offense, Eau Claire opened the second half with a rush and soon brought the score a tie. The work of Giebersen at forward was spectacular, with his tossing of five field goals in the second half this speedy player led the scoring field and was the cause of the rapidly adding score which only the final gun prevented from mounting high enough to bring victory to the fighting Eau Claire men.

The game was a nerve racking contest from the start of the second half until the sounding of the final gun. Derst and Sarbacher of New Glarus tied for scoring honors on their team with eight points each and the floor work of each was excellent. Giebersen was easily the star of the Eau Claire team with six field goals and neat offense work.

The lineup:

New Glarus
Derst..... R. F. Peterson
Sarbacher..... L. F. Giebersen
Harvard..... C. Everson
Zweifel..... R. G. Hezz
Keendert..... L. G. Paine
Scoring—New Glarus—Derst, 8; Sarbacher, 8; Harvard, 4. Eau Claire—Giebersen, 12; Everson, 6.

Superior Loses

Springing a surprise, the River Falls basketball team walked over Superior, the favorites in the semi-final round of the consolation series by a score of 20 to 16. At the half, the Falls team was leading by 10 points, the score being 16 to 6.

Near the end of the game, the River Falls team gave a good exhibition of stalling, and kept the northerners busy trying to get possession of the sphere. Superior fell down in free throw tossing, getting

2 in 15 tries, while River Falls made 6 of 11 tosses. Carish and Segerstrum were the stars for River Falls, while Wicklund played a good game for Superior.

Manitowoc Eliminated

Wisconsin Rapids will meet River Falls in the consolation finals by virtue of a 20 to 16 victory over Manitowoc yesterday afternoon. The count at the half was 13 to 4 in favor of the Rapids team.

At no time during the game was the Rapids quintet challenged. Zager was the star of the day getting 14 points for Wisconsin Rapids. Peppard, flashy Manitowoc forward, was the best on the opposition, but the close guarding of Wisconsin Rapids kept him from garnering a number of points.

Waukesha Shows Speed

Playing an aggressive game during the last three quarters, the Waukesha quint trounced the Watertown five to the tune of 18 to 12. Tolg and Robbins played exceptionally well for the winners, scoring four and two baskets, respectively.

Bischoff showed up well for Watertown, with three baskets and two free throws to his credit in the last half. Frattinger played well at guard for the losers. The score at the end of the first quarter was 1 to 1. The Watertown defense was overcome by the fighting Waukesha quint. Both teams were off form on basket shooting.

Long Shot Beats Beloit

Long basket shots from the floor the majority of the time, Shawano made the long shots count and won from Beloit in the semi-finals last night 16-15.

Krause, Shawano's brilliant right forward, put Shawano in the finals with his perfect long shot only a minute before the gun sounded for the last time.

An Even Battle

'Twas a merry battle throughout and the fast Beloit team was an even match for Shawano. Neither team had more than a two-point lead at any time during the game.

Shawano relied almost wholly upon making baskets from the middle of the floor, while Beloit would dribble down to a nearer vantage point. Krause was high scorer of the tilt with four baskets to his credit, all secured through the long heaves to the basket.

Shawano Leads

At the half, Shawano led 11-10. When the game opened again, Fredendahl, Beloit's left forward, tried Shawano's tactics and tossed in a long shot, then Andrews, towering center from the up-state squad, center from the up-state squad, the score 12-12 as the third quarter ended.

J. Schumacher scored a field goal immediately after the fourth quarter started, placing Shawano temporarily in the lead. German followed with his example with a goal for Beloit and tied the score once more. Then he made a free throw good and Beloit's supporters were jubilant. Krause cut their triumph short, however, and made Shawano's triumph complete.

Both centers played good games. Andrews covered the floor rapidly for Shawano and Johnson was fighting in every play for Beloit.

The lineup:

Shawano	Beloit
Krause..... R. F. Moldenheuer
A. Schumacher. L. F. Fredendahl
Andrews..... C. Johnson
J. Schumacher. R. G. German
Erdman..... L. G. Howell

Scoring: Krause, 8; A. Schumacher, 1; Andrews, 6; J. Schumacher, 4. Beloit—Moldenheuer, 1; Fredendahl, 4; Johnson, 4; German, 6.

A foreigner admits he paid $500 to be smuggled into America. We admit he got a good bargain.

La Crosse Victorious

With both teams exhibiting an almost impregnable defense, La Crosse was victorious over Neenah 11-9 last night in a second semi-final game of the evening, a game that could rank with any championship struggle as to speed and fight shown by both teams.

Free throws proved to be golden chances to score, for La Crosse made seven out of eleven chances. Neenah made four field goals to La Crosse's two but missed all but one of seven chances to toss baskets from the foul line. With the strong defense offered by both teams, free throws counted for much in the game.

Stilp Stars

Stilp proved to be Neenah's star, following the ball like a hawk throughout the game. Miller, all-star forward last year, played a brilliant floor game for La Crosse and Bunge proved to be a guard who could not be easily passed by Neenah's forwards.

Defense was the bulwark for both teams and Neenah exhibited a five-man defense that was hard to penetrate. La Crosse passed the ball better than the opposing team and seemed to have the advantage of the breaks. Neenah had hard luck on shots and could not locate the hoop as they did in the Neenah-Waukesha tilt.

Game in Doubt

Neenah led at the half 6-5 and the victor of the game was in doubt until the very end of the contest. Stilp brought the Neenah score up from 7 to 9, with a pretty basket two minutes before the end.

With the hard fighting at every tip-off the encounter had the semblance of a football game at times. Close guarding resulted in a large number of fouls.

The lineup:

La Crosse	Neenah
Peters..... R. F. Parker
Miller..... L. F. Stilp
Welch..... C. Berendick
	Schneller
Gantenbein.... R. G. Keading
Bunge..... L. G. Koreontz

Scoring: La Crosse—Peters, 2; Miller, 5; Gantenbein, 4. Neenah—Stilp, 4; Berendick, 2; Schueller, 3.

NOW THEN

"Wisconsin should know."

For several weeks excerpts from the alumni handbook, entitled "Wisconsin Should Know," have appeared in this column. This collection of facts about the university as it really is, was reprinted so that students might become better informed about the conditions of the institution. It has told the needs of the university and also some of its accomplishments; it has told the facts about the needs and hoped for still further accomplishments in the field of research.

Now that students do know something more of the actual conditions they should lose no time in telling the citizens of the state the truth. The facts need to be spread broadcast across the state. Wisconsin cannot afford to let its foremost educational institution suffer. It will not afford it if the people of the state know. The people of Wisconsin are not niggardly and they take pride in their state university; they know that economy in education is not attained by stinting the university.

When you write home this week and next and when you go home the following week tell the folks at home the truth. Tell them about the crowded class rooms, the congestion between classes, the inadequate buildings, the limitations on new developments and research, the crowded conditions of the library; tell them that an already overworked instructional staff is poorly paid; tell them that the president has said that the university must have more money or cease to go forward; tell them that it is not enough for them to sit still and say nothing in the hope that someone else will do it; tell them that they must write to the legislature about it.

Wisconsin should know! Wisconsin must know! Wisconsin will not fail if she knows.

PROPORTION

However much a man dislikes to consider life on a mathematical basis, however much he may be disinclined to consider himself as a savory dish, to which must be added a pinch of this and a dab of that according to a set recipe, there is no denying the fact that people may, and often do, become very onesided by the sheer neglect of certain phases of life which should be common to all.

The indifference of large numbers of students toward the addresses of Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick at the annual all-university conference this weekend, is one evidence of the lack of proportion characteristic of so many people.

An educated person should have broader sympathies and a wider range of experience than anyone else. He may well have certain restricted ideas to which he confines himself, and certain narrow paths from which he will not deviate, but at least he should have some first hand knowledge of those things which he excludes from his own program, or else he is not truly educated. An educated man may refuse to join the socialist party, but he does so because he has looked into its history, purposes, and practices, and found them at variance with his own ideas; but anyone who scorns that party merely because of something he has heard in a very vague way, without making any personal investigation, is narrow-minded, unfair, and ignorant. In order to be truly fair in deciding what he wants to do and to believe, a man must study all the alternatives, and then take his choice.

If there is ever any time to make an unbiased study of all sorts of problems, it is while one is in college. He is not only quite free of restraint then, but he is also encouraged, or should be, by the atmosphere of open-mindedness about him. Yet there are certain sides of life which the undergraduate neglects altogether too much, both from the emotional and the scientific standpoint, and not the least of these is religion.

In view of the fact that the spiritual development of the world has always been of major importance in the world's history, it is rather appalling to witness the deliberate indifference of most students to that part of their own education. Refusal to accept the precepts of any faith can be explained and excused when it is based on an honest study and consideration of the whole problem of religion, but it certainly is quite reprehensible when it has no other basis than indifference or fear of what other people might think. In other words, an individual's spiritual nature is an inherent part of his being, and he who voluntarily stifles it for no reason at all is committing at least a form of suicide.

The university program holds out to everyone the opportunity of studying all manner of problems, and of hearing outstanding men speak on all kinds of subjects. To avail one's self of these opportunities is to make the most of one's four years on the campus. Different students will attack different problems with varying enthusiasm and thoroughness; but they all owe it to themselves to keep some sort of balance and to devote a reasonable amount of interest and time to all. With this thought in mind, those students who are really earnest about their education and about the welfare of their religious life are making it a point to hear Dr. Fosdick this weekend.

EXPOSING THE EXPO

"These wild looking orange folders will be passed out to you now, with the provision that you don't read them until after the lecture," one professor announced before distributing the announcement of the university exposition yesterday.

He was right. The exposition should not take precedence over the scholastic program of the university. Doubtless we too often forget that school work comes first.

Admitting this, however, it is high time that the university begins to realize the magnitude of the exposition, both in sizes and in importance. No other campus activity compares with it or is like it. The orange folders were distributed with the purpose of informing everyone just what a big thing the expo is going to be, and to awaken the campus to its opportunity of spreading the good word to their friends and relatives. The folders are made in such a way that they can be sent through the mails. 'Nuff said!

A few more than two thousand people have the opportunity of seeing the championship game of the interscholastic basketball tournament tonight. This game will bring together the two best teams in the state, and will be animated by the added excitement always present in a championship encounter.

This year seems to be the open season for European tours. Student friendship will mean more to American college men and women next fall.

If the Memorial Union building were completed now, it would provide a suitable place in which to hold the religious conference. Pay your subscription.

St. Patrick and his engineers reign supreme today. Here's hoping that the Weather Man smiles on the parade.

Babe Ruth will soon be monopolizing the sport pages of the nation. That's a sure sign that spring is here. Another is that there are political rumblings going on. Yes, elections are coming.

Wisconsin abroad awaits the coming of Haresfoot. This is one tradition that never fails to carry on.

The "heip" seems to have been detained this afternoon—we can't find Stew—He's not hiding, that's a cinch! Try to hide 6 feet 4 inches of grinning adolescence! Perhaps—oh—we may have to drag the lake after this is done—only thing big enough to conceal the chap!

Happy I was born a boy!

What gets us is the vision of some otherwise mature co-ed down at the state basketball tournament in the gym, yelling her head off with some home town high school cheer. After this we are going to laugh right in the teeth of our fair thrill who has been handing us the old Boston accent all year and telling us what a riot she used to cause with the boys from Harvard! O yes—she was a native of back bay—wouldn't even go out in a canoe unless it was named "May-flower." Hch, heh! You should see the noise she was making for Wisconsin Rapids last night.

For Earle May—we suggest a proper cognomen—"Spring time."

"HOW TO WRITE THE COLLEGE NOVEL"
(Not by J. Berg Eisenwein)

To write a college novel requires a stupendous splurge of the imagination—as for instance—the ability to visualize "Peaburns" hawking cerese cravats from a pushcart in Little Italy! (The cheering section will please remain seated).

One can never be successful with the mad-red tale of that roisterous quartet of years on the campus until you have left the place by request—or have to come back and teach there—anything for a grudge, you know.

The hardest thing about the college novel is the terrible effort required on the part of the students—trying to keep up what has been said of them. For example, well—let's not illustrate.

Begin the story with a bit of "locale," as they say. For instance, "When some philanthropic American looks for a place to found a college, he picks a spot easily littered by cigarette butts."

After the smut is written, the thing to do is sart a lecture tour. Now we have ours all planned for—it occurs at 2:30 every afternoon of the college week.

We want to hear Dr. Foodick last night, and found all the Alpha Chi Rho's there, because they heard the admission was free. Nevertheless, Fred Gustorf tried to make everybody think he was taking tickets.

And Now! To the lake, children! The crowd will please keep off the pier—the d—thing is so rotten that even Elsie Evans is afraid to walk on it now (S'all right, Elsie, don't mention it!)

Only Heaven and the dean can tell us what will come of this.

In grief,

GRADS TAKE TWO OF THREE PRIZES

Former Students Win in Wisconsin Federation of Music Contest

Two out of the three prizes awarded by the Wisconsin Federation of Music in the contest held at the School of Music Wednesday, were won by persons who had received their training here.

Miss Margaret Erbe, alumna, Green Bay, won the first piano prize of $50. The man's voice prize of $50 was won by John Warren '25. The third prize of $50 was won by Miss Muriel Joyce Leonard, Eau Claire.

Four professors from the School of Music were among the seven judges for the contest, of which Dr. C. H. Mills was chairman. The others were Prof. E. B. Gordon, Miss Signe Holzt, and Prof. L. L. Ittis. The outside judges include Miss Elizabeth Beuhler, Mrs. Supernau, and Mrs. Withe.

The winners of this contest go to Chicago to compete in the district contest on April 23. Their opponents will be Illinois, Iowa, and Nebraska, although the latter state will enter no contestants this year. The district winners go to Portland, Oregon, where the national prize of $500 or a year's music scholarship with all expenses will be awarded to the national winner.

FISH COLLECTION GOES TO MICHIGAN SCIENTIST

The university fish collection, which is considered one of the best university collections, almost in its entirety, has been shipped to Prof. Carl Hubbs of Ann Arbor, Michigan, who is doing research work on the fish of the Great Lakes. The collection will be retained by Professor Hubbs until he has completed his research.

Tryouts at which the Wisconsin representative to the Northern Oratorical league will be chosen will be held at 4:30 o'clock next Tuesday in 165 Bascom hall. It is not yet too late for entries to be made for the tryouts. The orations prepared for the tournament constitute one of the most important of the year's forensic activities.

WORLD of SOCIETY

Ten Greek Letter Organizations to Entertain Tonight

There are ten Greek letter dances planned for this evening, which goes to show that dancing is the favorite indoor sport on the campus still, in spite of the wonderful weather and the various other attractions in town this week. Spring may come, with all its attendant attractions, but instead of causing a decrease in the number of parties it increases them; spring formals will reign supreme in campus social life from right after vacation until the end of spring. The parties to be held this evening follow.

Phi Phi Phi

A formal dancing party will be given this evening at the Park hotel by members of Phi Phi Phi. Dr. and Mrs. L. Landmann, Mrs. Emily B. Tompkins and Prof. and Mrs. Roland Stebbins will chaperon the party.

Gamma Alpha Epsilon

Members of Gamma Alpha Epsilon will entertain at an informal dancing party at the chapter house this evening. Mrs. C. D. Ellwood and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Summer have been invited to chaperon the party.

Sigma Chi

Sigma Chi will hold an informal dancing party at the chapter house this evening. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morgan will chaperon.

Sigma Pi

An informal dancing party will be given by members of Sigma Pi at the chapter house this evening. Prof. and Mrs. S. L. Miller have accepted the invitation to chaperon.

Phi Kappa Sigma

Phi Kappa Sigma will entertain this evening at a formal dancing party at the chapter house. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Neumeister are to chaperon.

Alpha Kappa Kappa

Members of Alpha Kappa Kappa will entertain at an informal dancing party at the chapter house this evening. Dr. and Mrs. S. G. Briggs will chaperon.

Kappa Psi

An informal dancing party will be given by members of Kappa Psi at the chapter house this evening. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clark will chaperon the party.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Sigma Phi Epsilon will entertain at an informal dancing party at the chapter house this evening in honor of new initiates. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Parker have been asked to chaperon.

Kappa Kappa Gamma

A formal dinner dance will be given by members of Kappa Kappa Gamma at the Lorraine hotel this evening. Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Leake, Mrs. MacLaren and Miss Hill will chaperon.

Initiations

Phi Pi Phi

Phi Pi Phi announces the initiation of Roger Bawden '26, Arena, August W. Einfeldt '28, Oak Park Ill., and Earl G. Frank '26, Stevens Point.

Square and Compass

Square and Compass announces the initiation of: Harold A. Ferhman '26, New London, Wis.; Edgar W. Funk '26, Spencer, Iowa; Merton W. Jones, grad, Ithaca, N. Y.; Edwin J. Koebke '28, Manitowoc, Wis.; Roy F. Korfhage, grad, St. Paul, Minn.; C. Le Roy Mason '25, Blanchardville, Wis.; W. Freeman Whiting '27, Brandon, Wis.; Percy P. Whittingham '27, Arpin, Wis.

Mu Phi Epsilon

Mu Lambda chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary musical sorority, announces the initiation of Alice Johns '26, Leota Cole '26, Dora May Latta '26, Rosemary Rooney '26, Constance MacLean '25, and Myrtle Biehuse '26. Dean F. Louise Nardin, Mrs. Clara Flett, Prof. and Mrs. H. B. Lathrop, Prof. and Mrs. Leonard Ingersoll, Prof. and Mrs. S. A. Leonard and Prof. and Mrs. B. Q. Morgan were initiated as patrons and patronesses.

OUTING CLUB PLANS FOR BREAKFAST HIKE

There will be an Outing club breakfast tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock. The party will start from Lathrop hall at that time, and will hike out along the drive where they will cook breakfast. All members and any women interested are invited to attend. Those planning to go should sign at Lathrop today.

SOUTHERN CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS AT MEETING

At a meeting of the Southern club on Wednesday night the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Hobart S. Cooper, grad, president, Tennessee; Ray Skinner, grad, vice president, Oklahoma; Elinor Horner, secretary, West Virginia; Louis Grew, treasurer, Mississippi; Marion Schaller '26, social chairman, North Carolina; Daniel Young, finance chairman, Louisiana; Mabel Butler '27, membership chairman, Tennessee; Louis Sosland '26, press reporter, Missouri.

Plans are now under way for a gala affair during the spring vacation in April. State groups are now being formed for a broader expression of the club in personal contacts and recreation.

HOSPITAL DISPLAY IS ONE FEATURE OF EXPO

One can see the bones in his hands will be the chief attraction in the hospital unit. Besides X-ray pictures which show fractures and the various types of splints used in setting fractures, two specialists, Dr. Gaenslen from Milwaukee and Dr. G. I. V. Brown, have models of breaks which they will explain to the spectators.

Dolls will be painted on charts to show all the things a nurse has to do during her training, and her duties. One doll will be dressed in the uniform which a student nurse wears during her first year of training; other dolls will show her as she goes through the various tasks assigned to her.

The Wasserman test for determining venereal diseases will be shown in the bacteriology section. Common types of germs will be shown through microscopes, and precipitation tests will be demonstrated.

A live turtle will be etherized and the front section of its body cut off so that people can see its heart beating. The turtle lives only about four or five hours, and then another one is to be treated in the same manner. This same part of the exhibit, under Kendall Elsom '25, contains displays of how blood pressure is taken, and how heart action is charted.

In the histology section there will be a big daylight projection screen on which will be shown the process of tissue mounting and standing. A freezing microtome will also be demonstrated. This instrument is used to cut frozen sections of tissue, such as tonsils.

ROTARY MAKES PLANS TO FETE PRES. BIRGE

C. H. Tenney of the Rotary club was named chairman and tentative plans were made for a celebration to be given in honor of President Birge at a meeting of the joint committee representing Madison's men's clubs at the Madison club today. Selection of a definite date for the occasion was left until the next meeting, which will be called some time soon by Chairman Tenney.

Mask and Wig

By CHATTY

I see that the Haresfoot club is getting pretty highfalutin' with a brass plate on the door of the loft. Looks almost like a funeral parlor.

But don't worry, there's nothing funeral about Haresfoot. Not this year, anyway. I sneaked into the Cameo room 't'other night and watched the piece the club's putting on this year (forgot the name of it, it's been so long since I've heard it) in rehearsal.

Some of those chorus girls are mean steppers, and there's no getting around it. There's also no doubt about the likelihood of your getting a big laugh out of this Nichols man.

The Haresfoot book is quite following the modern trend of musical comedies, plays and movies in that it is hearking back to the middle ages. They're all doing it now, and it seems to be getting over very well indeed with the public.

Then there is the host of movies which are set in the dark ages (not the present age on the drive). Some of them are "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," "Robin Hood," Gloria Swanson's last effort—effort is right.

Anyway, Haresfoot is right up to the times; and it's probably going to be the best show the club ever put on, besides.

Speaking of Gloria Swanson, some one has remarked, in connection with the contest Liberty is conducting for an idea for that lady, that he couldn't see what Gloria would do with an idea if she were given one. The statement might be extended to include the other screen stars who have a chance of getting this big idea.

STRESS U. NEEDS IN WISCONSIN MAG

Professors Write Articles For Next Number; Treats History of University

The entire next issue of "The Wisconsin Magazine" will be devoted exclusively to the University of Wisconsin and will appear on the campus and in the city next Thursday, according to Hardy Steeholm '22, editor. More than 3,000 extra copies will be printed in order to satisfy the university demand.

The history of the institution, past achievements, and the present needs will all be treated, the editor announced.

"Feature stories on agricultural research, the new hospital and medical facilities, student life, athletics, present needs and deficiencies, student morals and activities, the relationships between state and school, and many others make this issue an 'exposition' in itself—an 'exposition between covers,'" Steeholm declared.

Professors J. F. A. Pyre, Max Mason and Deans Bardeen and Russell have contributed articles to the magazine. There are also a series of statements by Theodore Kronsage, president of the regents of the university, and interesting features by other authorities.

The "complete picture of Wisconsin" will be ready just before the spring recess, and will be sold by students in various campus buildings. The magazine, which has 48 pages, will sell for 25 cents a copy.

Voluntary Class Attendance Impractical, Professors Claim

That the practice of voluntary class attendance would be desirable but not practical here is the opinion of many Wisconsin professors and students.

The ideal condition would be to have matters such that professors could leave the question of attendance entirely to the student, to have him feel that only he loses out in not attending classes and lectures. But human nature being what it is, students would revel in their freedom, and only a handful would be faithful to their studies. At least until the reaction had passed, classes would look rather bare.

Many persons contend, however, that, put upon his own responsibility, the student will be more faithful than if he is forever being "policed." Some few will take advantage of the system, it is true, but that is always the case in honor systems.

Samuel Wofsi, Spanish instructor, does not believe in compulsory class attendance, but he does believe that under the present system it is necessary. It is all a question of the particular school, he contends. "Were we to change suddenly," he says, "from our system of compulsory attendance to entirely voluntary attendance, undoubtedly a big reaction would set in, and many students would let all work go until the final examinations." Mr. Wofsi believes in non-compulsory attendance for the reason that it would eliminate excellent students having to go through the same monotonous drilling that is necessary for poor students.

Some professors favor voluntary attendance but with certain restrictions. Professor Root of the English History department says: "My idea is that voluntary attendance is all right for juniors and seniors but I think it's necessary to keep tab on freshmen and sophomores. By the time students get to be upper classmen, they should be left on their own responsibility."

"For undergraduate students a compulsory system is necessary, but graduate students, as a rule, will attend classes even if there is no roll call," believes S. Matsui, graduate, Japan.

However opinions run, present indications do not point to a voluntary attendance at Wisconsin, and students still plod the hill despite the call of spring.

Leading Lady of Mighty "Ivan Ho!"

This is not the latest Coles Phillips masterpiece although the Haresfoot club is willing to stack it up against any of that artist's best. Caught in a demure mood, Byron Rivers '26, leading lady in the club's show, "Ivan Ho!" is shown speculating perhaps on the trials and tribulations of one who has to stay at home in a gloomy castle, while boy friend Ivan is busy rescuing Saracen maids in Palestine.

The dainty limbs, pictured above, would be worth a tidy premium to insure. This was done in the case of Mike Ames, leading lady in the Michigan Mimes show "Cotton Stockings," a year ago. As to Rivers' ability to use them, those witnessing him as star in last year's production "Twinkle, Twinkle," will testify.

British factories produce more than 100,000,000 pairs of boots and shoes a year.

APPLETON

Appleton expected to be a strong team, but it failed in both of its first two games losing to New Glarus in the first round and failing to solve the River Falls offense in the second it lost 11-17, thus being out of the tournament.

BLOOMER

Failing to get started in either the first day of play or in the first round of the consolation series this team was put out of the tournament by the loss of its first two games.

RIVER FALLS

Losing its first game to Beloit 16-11 this team came back in the consolation series and won its next two games from Appleton and Superior and now faces Wisconsin Rapids in the finals of the consolation series this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

BELOIT

Winning its first two contests

the Beloit team appeared to have good chances to place high in the tournament but lost a heart breaking game to Shawano last night 16-15 in the semi-finals. It now faces Neenah at 11 o'clock this morning to decide who goes into the finals of the third place race.

WATERTOWN

Winning the first contest it played the Watertown team failed to come through in its next two games losing to La Crosse and Waukesha. The defeats in these last two games put Watertown out of the meet although it has shown good team work in its games.

LA CROSSE

Playing heady basketball this team has swept its way to the finals of the state tournament and faces Shawano in the last game tonight to determine the state title.

WISCONSIN RAPIDS

Playing the same trick as River Falls this team lost its first contest but outplayed its other two opponents and now faces River Falls in the final game of the consolation series this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

SHAWANO

Not regarded as a strong team this fast quintet has fought its way to the final round of the tournament and meets La Crosse in the final game of the tournament tonight at 8 o'clock. This team is playing fast ball and the final game is expected to be a hard contest.

transformed into a "Mile of Smiles."

St. Pat will be there at the head of the line with all his pomp and dignity in the person of Robert N. Morris '25, civil engineer, who was elected with an overwhelming majority to the position of honor by his fellow classmates in the election of the past week. Donald Corey '25 has secured a brand new second-hand chariot which will carry the patron saint safely around the square. The line of march will extend down State street, around the square, up Wisconsin avenue, and then down Langdon street to the university.

Triang's fraternity reports that they have constructed a float that will be a credit to the original Toonerville trolley with all of its accessories—even including the woodpecker. After the parade the product of inventive genius will be relegated to the department of electric railway engineering.

The American Society of Civil Engineers and the Signal club declare that they have constructed floats which will prove conclusively the superiority of airplanes over battleships in every phase of modern warfare on the high seas. The recent lecture of General Mitchell has proved a source of undying inspiration to the inventive genius of the engineers. Patent rights are reserved for all new and original discoveries.

The Wisconsin Engineer will be there with a jest at the student senate which will serve as an effective and disheartening backset to all proponents of student self government in the university.

Loyal engineers from the ranks of the Y. M. C. A. present the only and original "Four Horsemen" of the Law School with the wit and sarcasm that can be found only in strife between the lawyers and engineers.

Approximately 15 societies have registered their floats with Vincent Thiemann '25, chairman of the committee on floats. Other reports from headquarters indicate that there are to be more and better entries in the parade than ever before, and if the weather man is kind, Madison people will have an opportunity to enjoy all the thrills attendant upon a parade of a travelling circus without the usual accompaniment of painful money extraction.

"We are doing everything we can to make this parade a success," said James Verner '26, "and since we have the cooperation of the business men of Madison it ought to surpass all previous attempts of this sort." Thirty-three prizes have been donated and will be awarded by the judges. Pictures of former prize winning stunts have been on display in the Engineering building during the past week and several new plans have been discussed. A special corps of student cops under the leadership of John Cassidy '25 will aid the police in directing traffic during the parade. Onlookers are requested to keep their cars off of State street or the progress of the parade will be hindered.

The judges of the parade are Prof. P. H. Hyland, Prof. R. S. Owen, Prof. J. T. Rood, Prof. E. R. Shorey and Instructor R. E. Ramsey. Awards will be made immediately after the parade.

A committee under the direction of George Millard '26, will distribute green ribbons and bands to all engineering students this morning in the Engineering building. All loyal sons of St. Pat are requested to wear the "green" on Saturday afternoon even though they may not participate in the parade.

E. S. Peterson '25 will be on hand to censor the floats and individual stunts before they enter the line of march. The customary mental anguish of the dean of men will not feature this parade.

REPAIR EAST CORNICE OF CHEMISTRY BUILDING

University buildings have not been left unscathed by winter. The Chemistry building is having its east side cornice repaired due to the freezing of water in the bricks. A scaffolding has been raised and workmen are removing the damaged bricks and replacing them with new ones. The damage will be entirely repaired by the first of next week.

Thousands of mountains in the west, nearly twice the height of the highest peak in the Appalachian range, are unnamed.
