CADET CAMPS BEGIN JUNE 15

Offer Intensive Military Training and Plenty of Recreation

Intensive work, together with plenty of play, will make up the day's program at the various R. O. T. C. camps to be held from June 15 to July 27 this year.

The infantry and signal corps camps mobilize at Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich., the field artillery mobilizes at Camp Knox, Ky., and the ordnance department at Aberdeen Proving ground, Md.

From reveille at 5:30 a. m. to taps at 10:00 p. m. the day is filled with activities of every kind at the camps.

The infantry men are instructed in military science and tactics, infantry drill, topography, rifle shooting, musketry, pistol marksmanship and minor tactics, all of which are essential to the doughboy and to the man who would command him.

The field artillery man's instruction at Camp Knox consists in gaining a working knowledge of the handling of horses in connection with field pieces, of the planning and firing of barrages, of the handling of many types of artillery, of the driving and repairing of motor trucks, tractors, and other motor vehicles, and of learning mapping, and sketching and reconnaissance.

Men in the signal corps receive instruction in the practice of practical telephony, telegraphy, radio telegraphy, radio engineering, and in field maneuvers in connection with all these branches.

The ordnance department men are technically trained along all lines necessary for a man who must constantly handle the guns and ammunition of the army.

There is more to the summer camps than training. Athletics take up a great deal of the time. Every company in each camp is represented by a baseball team. Boxing ranks next to baseball in popularity. Track, soccer, football, swimming, tennis, and volley ball, get their share of attention.

Dancing in the service clubs and in the cities surrounding the camps keep the men in trim for the Prom

DARES DEATH TO GET BALL PHOTO

News Hound Smashes Three Records in Wild Race With Time.

Talk about speed!

Say, the news hounds that made the Military Ball picture and special edition possible worked so fast that Mercury resigned his job at 12:02½ this morning, saying, as he laid down his wings, that Ralph DePalma and Tommy Milton had better follow suit. Even these veteran race drivers can never hope to work as fast as the speed artist who rushed the picture from the photographer's to the Print shop and then to the Cardinal office.

Cutting an hour from two previous records set by Sigma Delta Chi, is no mean job when the total time allowed is only three hours, but this is what Delta Pi Delta, professional journalism fraternity, did when they put this issue on the floor at midnight.

The picture was taken immediately after the grand march, approximately 9:30 o'clock, by the Photoart house. It was rushed to the studio, developed, and printed in the least possible time. Without even waiting for the print to dry, the fastest of the professional news gatherers jumped into a waiting taxi and raced to the Print shop, where a zinc cut was made.

The wet print was re-photographed, put on zinc, and etched by a special force maintained at the Print shop solely for this purpose. The whole process of making the halftone took less than half an hour.

The Cardinal forms were ready to receive the plate when it arrived at the office on King street, all the news was in the paper, even the headline for the cut was set, and, with but a moment's pause, the last form was put to bed.

In a few minutes the mat of the page was ready, in a few more the presses were running, and in three more the first copy of the Military Ball edition of The Daily Cardinal was delivered to Cadet Col. Evrard C. Caluwaert, Military Ball chairman.

BLARE OF TRUMPETS ANNOUNCES TENTH ANNUAL MILITARY BALL

STAR SHELLS AT THE MILTREE BAL

Like a frog with cooties, the moon was everywhere except at the vital spot: the governor's box.

They had tanks at Soissons, but here bags accounted for the casualties about the rostrum.

Like the poppy fields at Belleau woods, the blaze of color dazzled the eyes of the Boche and S. A. T. C.

Between the Fond du lac county medals and the Kresgie boiler plate one did not know whether the young man had been a woof woof or a Captain of the Cerebellum. Again, pardon the colloquialism.

The Whiz Bangs were fired direct at Soissons, but the powder was closer than a psycho-hunch round the rostrum.

St. Mihiel was a circus but you should have been snooping about the pillars with the bashful R. O. T. C.

The Marines won the war, but the University band won the ball.

There were no fourregiers at the ball but doughnuts were as prominent as a loose tooth in a limber Jim.

The galleries reminded one of the Argonne after the mine went off; close formation.

Like Pershing at St. Mihiel, Luc Curtis was far, far away, mentally.

ODE TO PINAUDS

He asked me could he kiss me.
So I let him once or twice,
Of course I knew 'twas naughty,
But, Oh, he smelled so nice.

Izzy—It's all right.
Dizzy—What's all right?
Izzy—If a Jane pays six dollars for a pair of silk stockings she has a perfect right to show at least $5.50 worth of them.

Electrical Effects Are Feature of Greatest Cadet Promenade

From a corps of bugles, assembly echoed through the pillared corridors of the capitol.

A crash of cymbals and Cadet Colonel Evrard C. Caluwaert, general chairman of the Tenth Annual Military Ball, accompanied by Miss Helen K. Stillwell, emerged from the governor's reception room. Immediately following were Gov. and Mrs. J. J. Blaine, and the advisory chairmen and their partners; Robert L. Luening, and Miss Sylvia Marlewski; Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Tobey, John C. Fritschler and Miss Lois Duffin; W. A. Field and Miss Caroline Schweizer; Hyman J. Bilansky and Carolyn Strauss, Richard Mead and Miss Ann Anderson.

The long line of gayly dressed girls and khaki clad cadets wound in and about the pillars and up the wide marble stairways. Over the gallery balustrades craned hundreds of spectators all anxious to witness the brilliant procession.

From a flag festooned plateau in the center of the rotunda, reverberated the syncopated march of Husk O'Hare's merry music makers. Variegated lights danced fantastically on the be-streamered dome; gold, green, purple, and orange. The great state capitol was a riot of color and sound.

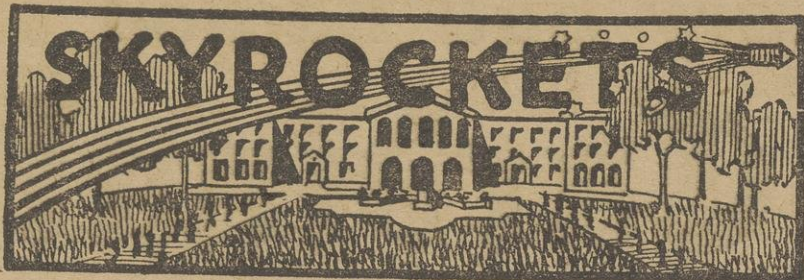

Far into the secluded recesses of the halls danced the sound of sliding trombones and rasping clarinets and chased the fantasy of colors.

After the march ceased, the line of dancers crowded before the camera. At 9:30 the picture was snapped.

Gov. J. J. Blaine then stepped onto the rostrum. He emphasized the necessity of laying all care aside and making the night of the Tenth Annual Military Ball one that will be always cherished.

"For tonight," said Governor Blaine, "be merry. Forget your studies, forget the deans, forget all your troubles and be gay. Dance

NOW if the little girl in the front row will kindly park her lollypop, the show will begin. Thank you!

THE CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE

E. Caluwaert was sober, I think.
Paul Tobey was not, I think.
Or was it reversed?

Well, anyway, the features of the Ball was the several sorority floats (or floaters), bearing their respective slogans which had been retrieved from the dumb waiter chutes for the occasion. In order they were:

Delta Gamma

It isn't the fact that you're dead that counts, but do you make a good looking corpse?

Alpha Gamma Delta

If you don't see what you want ask for it.

Kappa K. M.

We're fresher than the Salt Lake chapter. Amen.

Thetas

Everybody knows our grip.

WE were so disgusted with this brazen display of unprecedented ego that we sought seclusion in the Senate chamber, where the spoofers were spoofing the spoofed.

BEHOLD AND BLUSH

Dave Rowland—A fellow called at the house to beat you up today.

Larry—What did you tell him?

Dave—I said that I was sorry you weren't in.

WILLIE—Honey can I see you apart for a few minutes.

Themla Fleursome — Say kid, whatja tink I am, a puzzle for the barbs?

AFTER listening to these crackers from the cracked we dashed off this petite Bryonian:

He pressed his suit. And so did she.

PASSING the troughs we caught this bit of jargon:

Bilansky—Gosh, this soup is good.

Her—Hearing is believing.

WHILE the couchons were audibly feeding we sat down to read our Hot Dog, our Sigma News, her Whiz Bang, and the Delta Gamma invitation to us alumnae.

From the Sigma News, page 8: (the brothers have a party and this is how they tell the alumnae) Overheard at the Theta House—

Theta No. 1—Going to Sigma Nu party?

Theta No. 2—Darn right kid.

T. 1—A Phi Delt, a Sig Chi, and a Chi Psi asked me to bust the date but not me kid.

T. 2—The Sig Chis are a snooty bunch, ain't they? You know they want to have a summer party but they ain't got enough white pants to go around.

And thusly it runs on, and on, and on. Trust the boys to use the ladies to an advantage.

OPENING the D. G. sob sheet we found this: "Our present aim is such that, before long the people will say, 'You can always tell a Delta Gamma, but you can not tell her much.'" Modest to the bitter end. Do you know any good parlor stories that are NEW?

AGAIN we were moved to verse, or worse, and might we beg to present a few little local limericks?

NOW if Lizzie will quit blowing her nose, we'll give you the Flapper's Ball diary. (Mathematically speaking).

ON our way home we noticed that the Phi Psis have torn down the whole darned house, but haven't George Bunge cached.

We found the quart of Old Crow that we think that we know where it went because, as we were passing the Zeta Psi house we heard this:

Voice without: Does Dave Mahoney live here?

Voice within—Yah, bring him in.

ALL in all, the darned party was the most fun we've had since our dear grandma fell off the silo.

Now if little Izzy will blow taps, we will blow ourselves to a shot of the Sig Chis moon.

GRADUATES HAVE COSTUME PARTY

The Graduate club of the university will entertain its members with a costume party to be given in the concert room of Lathrop hall this evening at 8:30 o'clock.

The club is composed of about 150 members, and is a social organization designed to create good fellowship among the members who are pursuing higher studies in school. About one dance a month is given by the club, the costume party being a departure from the ordinary dances which are generally sponsored.

According to Eugene D. Holden, president of the club, a large attendance is expected and everything is being done by the committee in charge of the music and decorations to assure success for the affair.

Ordinance Grads Are Given Reserve Post

An ordinance department, a new thing in university military training, has been added to the curriculum of the Wisconsin military department. Capt. R. Z. Craine has charge of the course.

This course is open to juniors and seniors in the College of Engineering who wish to continue their military training beyond the basic course. All Engineering graduates who complete the course are given a commission in the reserve.

In the junior year the elements of material, army supplies, ammunition, guns, etc., are studied. The seniors take a course under Prof. R. J. Roak, of the Mechanics department. This course is devoted to the technical drawing and design of guns, and the theory of explosives.

Captain Craine has a class of 25 cadets taking the ordinance course this year.

EUROPE UNDER TWO NATIONS

England and France Control Political Situation in Old World

"The present political situation in Europe is almost intolerable," said Prof. Carl Russell Fish, of the history department, in speaking to the convocation in Music hall yesterday afternoon on "The Historical Background of the European Situation."

"England and France hold control of European politics now that Russia, Germany, and Austria are out and Italy, which was strong enough to be a power among six nations, has lost her influence when there are only two," he continued.

"Whatever policies shall be adopted will affect the United States, whether we enter into the forming of them or remain aloof. We are essentially a European civilization and are closely affected by all that influences the conditions in Europe."

"The great question of the day is what will Europe become? Will she remain the world center or will she become just a continent with Asia and Africa broken away to form a different kind of civilization? These are vital facts which touch our country whether we will or not."

"England and France must today decide all the great problems. It is only natural that they should have disagreements. With only two countries in power and no third country to patch up the troubles the condition can not long exist."

"The league of nations is a potentiality to help these conditions," Professor Fish declared. "By giving not only the powers a voice in decisions but also the smaller countries a more peaceful state of affairs will exist. Things can not long go on at the present rate and it is for us to decide whether we will share in forming the conditions of government which must evolve and will vitally affect us."

"The way to show our interest is by holding constructive ideas on the large central problem of world organization. We must not be pro-German, pro-English, pro-Irish, or anti-German, or anti-English, or anti-Irish, but must think and see fairly with unbiased opinion. It is the first responsibility of Americans to think carefully on the great problems and to be uninfluenced by the prejudices of the press."

BADGERS WIN OPENING GAME FROM BELOIT, SCORE 8 TO 3

PRINT SHOP HAS CONTRACT FOR '22 INVITATIONS

Brockhausen Makes Design of Lincoln Terrace For Cover

The invitation committee of the senior class sent out letters yesterday to all those who expect to graduate in June, to secure orders for commencement invitations.

The committee has contracted with the Print shop to make the invitations which will consist of a 40 page, leather bound booklet. The cover is of high grade maroon calf and has on it a design of the Lincoln terrace as seen from Bascom hall. The design was made by Herbert H. Brockhausen '23.

Besides a list of all who will receive degrees, the booklet contains an invitation to be present at commencement exercises, the program for commencement week, and the list of committees of the senior class. It is illustrated by photographs of Pres. E. A. Birge and of campus scenes.

The invitation committee is handling the sale of these booklets directly. The Kamera Kraft shop, 606 State street, has given the committee permission to use their store in order to handle the sale. The booklets sell for 40 cents a copy. Mail orders are being taken now, and orders may be placed in person at the Kamera Kraft shop after April 24. A deposit of at least one-half the price of the order is required.

"The committee is counting on selling at least 6,000 invitations this year," said G. Fred Brewer '22, chairman of the committee. "We are able to sell them 15 cents cheaper this year than last and put out a better booklet at the same time."

Kiekhofers to Speak At Y. W. Vespers

"College Realities" will be the subject of an address to be given at Y. W. C. A. vespers Sunday afternoon in the Lathrop parlors by Prof. William H. Kiekhofers, of the economics department.

Prof. Kiekhofers will give this same talk to the Badger club in the Y. M. C. A. Sunday evening. He left town yesterday afternoon, April 7, to give an address in Fort Atkinson.

ARTUS INITIATES 12 NEW MEMBERS TODAY

Twelve members will be initiated into Artus, honorary commerce fraternity, this evening at 5 o'clock in the Senate chambers of the capitol. A banquet will be held at the Park hotel following the initiation.

The Sigma Chi-Phi Delt swimming meet has been postponed until this afternoon at 2:30.

BALL CARDINAL SALE SATURDAY

The Military Ball Cardinal will be sold on the streets and on the campus Saturday morning by members of Delta Pi Delta fraternities.

Hold State Line College to Five Hits in Eight Innings

ELLIOTT GETS HOME RUN

Pounding an opposing pitcher for nine solid hits, Wisconsin got away to an auspicious start in its first baseball game of the season and defeated the Beloit college nine, 8 to 3, at Camp Randall yesterday. The contest was concluded at the end of eight innings.

Although it was only the third time that the Badgers have practiced out-of-doors and the first that they have engaged in a real practice game, they showed many flashes of good playing.

Pitchers Are Effective

That Coach Guy Lowman has a pitching staff which will rank with the best in the Middle West was shown when Pickford and Hoffman went the route and held the State Line sluggers to four measly clouts. Pickford hurled the first four frames and was nicked for three hits, while Hoffman, who took up the slab burden in the fifth, stopped the collegians with one safe blow in the last four sessions.

The total of nine loud smacks was well distributed throughout the eight innings. Badger sticklers hit safely in every frame except the second and the seventh. In the third, fifth, and sixth, they bunched wallops and seven runs came galloping over the platter.

Elliott Knocks Homer

"Rowdy" Elliott started his season with a long drive over the cinder track. The ball hit the wooden grandstand and Elliott ambled around the bases for the first home run of the year. The wallop came in the sixth inning after he had singled in the fifth. He was hit by a pitched ball in his first time at bat and walked to first in the third inning. J. Williams was the only other Badger to connect for two safe drives. "Rollie" Williams rapped a two-bagger in the fourth with one down and a man on first, but nothing came of the opening.

Beloit Errs Nine Times

While the Wisconsin nine was holding itself to four miscues, Beloit was guilty of seven errors. First baseman Ingalls was the worst offender with four, two of which came in the same inning. Badger outfielders missed two flies. Poul and Brann collided in the fourth, and what would have been an easy out, was turned into a rally which gave Beloit its three tallies after two were dead.

Winkenwerder, Beloit hurler, whiffed eight men. Pickford and Hoffman took 11 by the air route. Beloit's four hits were evenly divided. (Continued on Page 5.)

LANGUAGE CLUB STUDIES MOLIERE

At the meeting of the Language and Literature club last night in the senior lecture room of the Law building, Prof. C. D. Zdanowicz spoke on "A Study of Moliere's Method of Producing Comic Effect in Connection with Vergson's Theory of Laughter."

Prof. L. B. Wolfenson of the department of Semetic languages also delivered a paper on the implication of the place of Ruth in the canon of the Old Testament.

The club meets six times a year to discuss subjects in connection with language and literature. The meetings are open to all instructors and graduate students of the language departments.

Legion Post Has Largest Membership in Wisconsin

"For God and Country, we associate ourselves—"

So reads the preamble of the constitution of the American Legion. Boasting a larger membership than any post in the state, the university post of the American Legion is taking an active part in affairs "which foster and perpetuate a 100 per cent Americanism."

Providing entertainment for wounded war veterans here, and calling upon them weekly are but few of the activities of the post. For the first time, the university post shares, with Gun and Blade and the cadet corps, the honor of making the Military Ball the most enjoyable affair ever provided by a military organization here.

Although meetings of the Legion are largely social in nature, the university post has taken and is taking an active part in university and governmental affairs. It took a leading part in the recent Memorial union drive and the Memorial day exercises.

An amendment to the Nye bill, providing decided benefits for the ex-soldier was passed largely because of pressure upon legislation in that direction.

Since its organization in 1919 the post has grown to a membership of 365 ex-soldiers from a nucleus of 24 members.

Officers of the university post are: John C. Fritschler, commander; E. L. Peterson, vice-commander; J. E. Sheldon, adjutant; John K. Kolb, finance officer; I. O. Hughes, chaplain.

Commander Fritschler is assistant to the general chairman of the Military Ball.

Its social committee is composed of Dorothy Wiesler, chairman, Viola Knowlan, and H. L. Darnstaedt.

Our Commandant

MAJ. JOHN S. WOOD

Maj. John S. Wood, commandant and professor of military science and tactics, was put in charge of the cadet corps at the University of Wisconsin in 1919. Under his direction the cadet corps has attained a high rank among the R. O. T. C. units of the country, and has grown from an infantry unit until now it includes signal, artillery, and ordnance corps in addition.

The University of Arkansas conferred the degree of bachelor of science upon John S. Wood in 1907, and in 1908 he entered the U. S. Military academy at West Point. After graduation in 1912, Major Wood served in the coast artillery and later was sent to France.

As an athlete he made his mark at West Point, as well as at the University of Arkansas. After his four years on the Arkansas football team, he played as end on the West Point team and was an all-American choice of various eastern critics.

Recent elections to Phi Kappa Phi honorary society, honored Major Wood as one of the three faculty members chosen.

Major Wood is well-liked and his radiant geniality and hearty manner win for him many friends. It has been largely due to his efforts that Wisconsin has received the distinguished college rating for the last two years.

MEN IN SIGNAL UNIT TAKE UP WIRELESS WORK

Modern Methods of Communication Are Studied By 200 Cadets

Telegraphy and radio practice bring students in the signal corps of the R. O. T. C. to an acquaintance with the modern methods of communication. The electrical engineering department of the university is linked with the wireless and telegraphy courses of the military department, thus making this training of commercial use as well as of military value.

Of the 200 students in the signal corps, 17 are juniors and 6 are seniors in the advanced course. The war, and is a graduate of the Army advanced course is taken for creditschool for Signal corps officers.

"Tommy"

"TOMMY" ATKINS.

"Just happened to enlist one day about 30 years ago, and I'm still at it."

"Tommy" Atkins, known officially, as W. G. Atkins, assistant to the commandant of the University of Wisconsin military department, sergeant major U. S. A. retired, had no broken heart to mend nor lure of adventure to coax him, at the age of 21, into his long military life.

"I just happened to enlist," he says, "and after a man has served three or four years, it's the hardest thing in the world to break away and fit himself for something new."

"Those were the days when it took a rugged body and strong heart to stand the gaff," went on Sergeant "Tommy," as he is known to practically every man in the university. "If you weren't a real man to begin with, you had to become one to last."

"Tommy" Atkins has been with the military department here for 14 years, being assigned in 1908, following his retirement from the regular army.

Cadets and former service men alike present their credentials to the sergeant, the former to be divided into companies, and the latter to be excused from drill.

Sergeant Atkins has seen plenty of action, among his engagements being the trouble at Cuba, San Juan, and twice while the United States army was bringing about order in the then chaotic Philippine islands.

and those who complete it are eligible for commissions in the Officers' Reserve corps.

Advancement of radio telephony has given great impetus to the signal corps' training. Sophomores get actual practice with radio outfits every week.

Summer camps, lasting six weeks are held each year for the signal corps. Forty-two electrical engineering students have taken advantage of the training these encampments offer.

Capt. J. A. Ballard has been in charge of the signal corps unit, since it was established here in 1920. He saw active service with the second division in the World War, and is a graduate of the Army advanced course is taken for creditschool for Signal corps officers.

Beloit Has Big Inning

Neither team scored in the first two innings, but one counter came in the third when R. Williams was safe on an error, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch, and trotted home on Foy's single.

Beloit had its big inning in the fourth. The State Liners faced a hopeless task with two, out, but Irving gained first on Poull's miscue. Blatt singled to center and the Beloit hurler did what he could to win his own game with a long two-sack drive which scored Irving and Blatt. He scored after Brann dropped a high fly in center field.

Wisconsin Scores Six

Wisconsin stepped into the lead in the fourth and fifth innings when six runs were counted. Elliott, Barry, and Tebell did the scoring in the former session, and R. Williams, Foy, and Elliott made the circuit in the fifth.

The final tally was driven over in the last frame. Skaife walked and stole second. Elliott struck out, but J. Williams sent his mate across with a sharp single.

ALPHA SIGS BOWL FOR STATE TITLE TONIGHT

The Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity bowling team will meet Alpha Chi, of Marquette university, tonight in the second series of home and home matches which are being held for the Wisconsin intra-collegiate bowling championship. Alpha Sig bowlers won the title in the intra-fraternity league, and Alpha Chi captured the Marquette championship.

The two teams bowled last night at Milwaukee, and will meet here tonight.

Rifle Team May Win Collegiate Championship of the Country

Placing for the national inter-collegiate N. A. R. meet as the result of the good showings made in fourteen shooting contests which have been held this season, the Wisconsin rifle team stands a good chance of winning the collegiate championship of the country when the final scores are checked up on May 31.

In the huge sixth corp area match held this winter which included all the schools of Wisconsin, Illinois, and Michigan, only two teams, Wisconsin and Northwestern were picked to enter the national meet this spring. The Badger rifle squad, under Captain William D. O'Connor, and Sgt. Shire, have lost only to Ripon, Oregon, Minnesota, and South Dakota in the fourteen meets which have been shot off this year, many of which included as many as eight schools from all parts of the country.

Increased interest has been taken in the sport this year, as is indicated by the size of the team which has grown from the five man squad of last season to 15. The present members of the team are: Captain William D. O'Connor, Philip G. Deicher, Theodore B. Godfrey, Frank W. Gunderson, Fred W. Handberg, Jack Jones, Harry J. Katz, Carleton R. Meyer, Harold E. Priess, William Korison, Fred Ruffalo, Rolfe B. Sawtelle, Rodger E. Crabtree, Helmuth G. Kletzien, and Carl J. Bode.

In scoring ability Deicher easily leads the squad with several almost perfect marks. O'Connor ranks a close second, with Meyer third, Bode fourth and Ruffalo fifth in proress. In the national meets, 15 men are allowed to shoot, the scores of the 10 highest counting.

The contests of the season have shown Wisconsin as ranking highest among conference schools as the Badgers have defeated all of the Big Ten teams at one time or another. The meets are conducted in a novel manner, each team doing all its shooting on the home range. Witnesses must sign all the targets which are then sent in to the national recorder at Washington, and the scores figured out there. The targets used are the standard N. A. R. fifty-foot variety, and six different positions are taken in doing the firing. The first shot is fired prone, and then the sharpshooter goes from standing to prone, kneeling to prone, and finishes in a sitting position.

The schools which have met this year include: Arizona, Iowa, Gettysburg, New Hampshire, Nebraska, Pittsburg, Northwestern, Minnesota, Ripon, Tennessee, Montana Agriculture and Mining school; Lehigh, Illinois, De Pauw, Lafayette college; Oregon Agricultural school, U. of Oregon, Cincinnati, Indiana, Georgia, Colorado, Southern California, Northern California, Florida, South Dakota, Michigan, Vermont, Georgia Tech, Alabama Tech, and Purdue.

The big schools of the East have been challenged by the Badgers but have not accepted on the grounds that the sport is regarded as a minor letter branch of athletics in those schools. A meet is scheduled with Ohio on the 25th, and the National championship finals will be completed by May 31.

EDDIE GILLETTE WON SEVEN W'S; WOOD WAS BIG WEST POINT END

Gone are the days when the star athlete used to tread in all his military trappings at the head of the cadet battalion on the lower campus as did the incomparable Eddie Gillette, back about 10 years ago.

Edmund S. Gillette, '13, who annexed seven "W's" in track, football, basketball, and baseball, took time also to win a commission as colonel in the student cadet corps.

But that day is gone, according to Sergeant Major "Tommy" Atkins. Athletes of today haven't the time to spend on the study of military science which has been added to advanced work in the department during the past few years.

When Gillette gave squads left and squads right, there wasn't very much more than that to the job. But now hours of study are necessary.

Gillette was one of the greatest athletes the University of Wisconsin ever boasted. At quarterback, he piloted the 1912 football eleven to the conference championship, after alternating at half and quarter during two seasons and preceding. He won two emblems in track, three in football, and one each in basketball and baseball.

He was graduated from the College of Engineering in 1913.

Arrange Divisions For Frat Baseball

The schedule for the first round of the inter-fraternity baseball tournament, the first game of which will be played Saturday, April 29, will be announced sometime before April 19.

The various teams which have entered the tournament and have paid their entrance fee of $5 are arranged in divisions for the sake of convenience in running off the championship. These divisions are:

DIVISIONS

Division 1—Tau Kappa Epsilon, Theta Chi, Delta Upsilon, Phi Alpha Delta, Chi Psi.

Division 2—Alpha Sigma Phi, Sigma Phi, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Sigma Kappa.

Division 3—Phi Beta Pi, Triangle, Chi Phi, Phi Sigma Delta Phi Gamma Delta.

Division 4—Acacia, Phi Kappa Psi, Alpha Delta Phi, Phi Kappa

TOO MANY WANT TO JOIN RIDING CLASSES

Almost twice as many girls applied for the classes in horseback riding as could be accepted. The classes, of eight persons each, are being held in the stock pavilion on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and Saturday mornings. The registration had to be limited on account of the amount of time which the stock pavilion could be used.

Lambda Chi Alpha.

Division 5—Delta Tau Delta, Delta Sigma Phi, Psi Upsilon, Phi Kappa Sigma, Kappa Sigma.

Division 6—Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Delta Phi, Pi Kappa Alpha, Kappa Psi, Alpha Gamma Rho.

Division 7—Sigma Phi Epsilon, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Theta Xi, Theta Delta Chi, Delta Chi.

Division 8—Sigma Nu, Alpha Tau Omega, Alpha Pi Delta, Gamma Tau Beta, Alif Mim.

CLASSES BEAT EIGHT INDOOR TRACK MARKS

Tuesday, Thursday 11 O'Clock Wins By
2-3 Point

Eight indoor track records were broken yesterday afternoon when the Tuesday-Thursday 11 o'clock class nosed out the Monday-Wednesday 11 o'clock class with the score standing 32 to 31 1-3 points.

Fellows of the Tuesday-Thursday 11 o'clock class, with 15 points garnered from the dash, the low hurdles, the high jump, and the broad jump, was the individual star of the meet. Sun, second high man, ran up a total of eight points for the Tuesday-Thursday 1:30 squad.

From the blow of the first whistle the meet was a gruelling contest between the Tuesday-Thursday 11 o'clock and the Monday-Wednesday 11 o'clock speedsters. The rivalry was especially bitter because the winning team had been coached by Meade Burke and the runner up squad by George Berg.

The special relay event was won by the Monday-Wednesday 11 o'clock class.

The final standing of the teams is as follows:

First, Tuesday - Thursday 11 o'clock, 32 points; second, Monday-Wednesday 11 o'clock, 31 1-3 points; third, Monday - Wednesday 3:30 o'clock, 12 2-3 points; fourth, Monday - Wednesday and Tuesday-Thursday 1:30 classes tied, 10 points each; and fifth, Monday-Wednesday 2:30, 3 points.

Discuss American Writers at Pythia

Modern writers were discussed at the regular meeting of Pythia last night at Lathrop hall. Contemporary American writers were considered as to their style, subject matter, and comparative value of their works. Poets of the present day were discussed by Lillian Jennings '24.

"The Situation of the Modern Drama in the United States" was the subject of a talk by Muriel Edwards '24. Dorothy Long '23 spoke on the modern novel, considering chiefly the contemporary works. A short business meeting followed.

Castalia held a business meeting at 7:30 last night in Lathrop hall.

COLOR DANCES FEATURE 1922 MILITARY BALL

Flags, Mirrors, and Spotlights
Blend in Beautiful
Decorations

The decorations, features and music of the 1922 military ball far surpass the expectations of the dance-goers, especially those who had attended the ball in previous years. Many declared the splendor of the ball to exceed even "The Prom of Proms." Flags, mirrors, spotlights, bunting streamers, and balloons made the dance floor "under the dome," one of the most attractive ballrooms seen at an all university function for years. Five special features besides "gobs and gabs" and streamers only added to the beauty.

A huge circular mirror suspended from the center of the dome, revolved as various colored spotlights flashed on the mirror and cast their bright reflections upon the happy dancers.

Feature Color Dances.

The lighting effects of this year's Military Ball were different than any ever seen at the annual event in previous years. Red dances, blue dances, yellow dances, purple dances, and green dances, were carried out by means of lights which colored the interior of the dome in accordance with the name of the dance.

Indirect lighting was used tonight for the first time here at a big social event. Success of the lighting effects is due in great part to the efforts of Sidney Tlroson '24, who is now electrician at the Parkway theater, and who held a similar position at the Blackstone hotel, Chicago, before coming here.

"Frankie" Klauzen, leading dancer at the Green Mill in Chicago, appeared in three fancy dances that drew applause from the audience. Miss Klauzen looked charming each time she appeared for a new dance. She is exceedingly clever, having at one time been a member of a Russian ballet troupe, besides being billed for several months at the Hippodrome theater, and Amsterdam roof in New York. Miss Klauzen has just finished a year's run at the popular Terrace Gardens in Chicago.

O'Hare Orchestra "Superb."

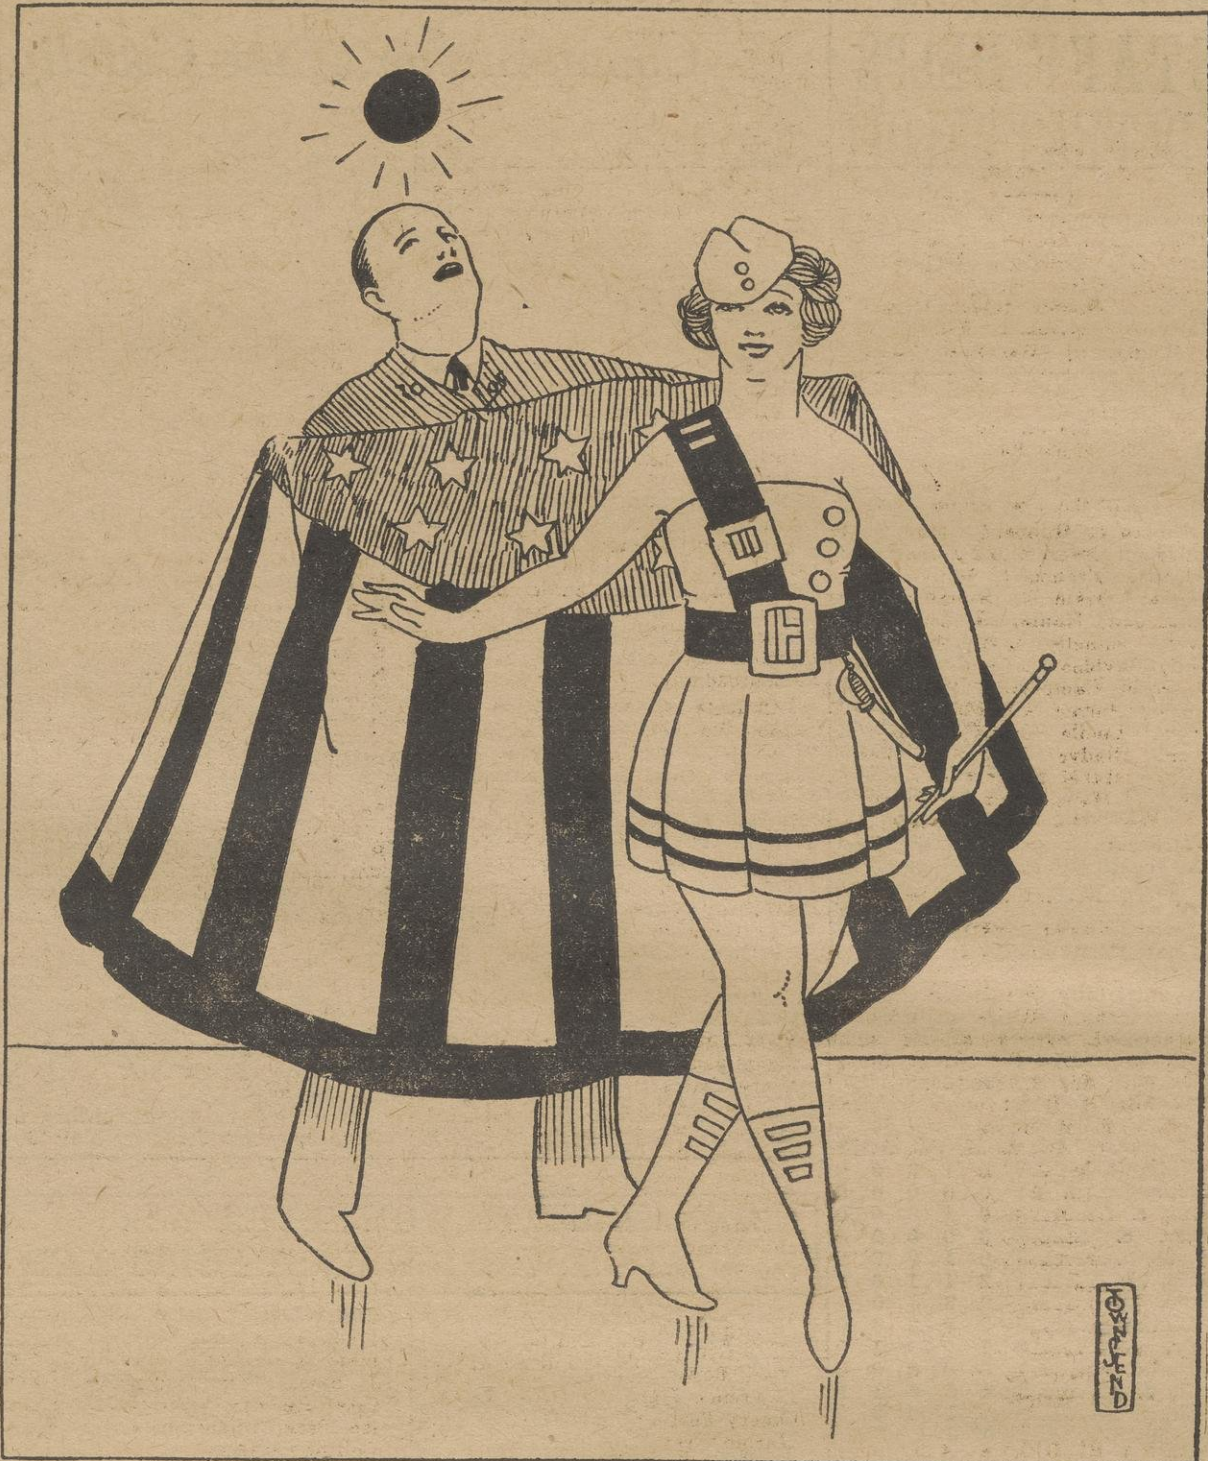

The 12-piece orchestra conducted by Husk O'Hare of Chicago was declared to be superb by some of the dancers. The orchestra, whose members have been designated as the 12 best dance musicians in Chicago, played at the University of Chicago and Northwestern University proms. Their popularity is indicated by the fact that they were asked to play several times for the exclusive Lake Forest Winter club, and for many dances at the Lake Geneva winter resort. O'Hare conducted the orchestra in person, and lived up to his name of the best dance orchestra conductor in the Middle West.

The excellently drilled President's Guard executed a double manual of arms during the intermission that would be a credit to West Point cadets. The feat brought forth a great deal of applause from the audience, and tended to put a military feeling in the air. Bernard Weimer and Henry Klos, both members of the guard, performed an exceedingly difficult manual of arms in addition to the one presented by the entire guard.

DRIPPINGS from the bugle.
Stand from under.

By gosh I like the miltree ball,
I like the miltree dance.
I'd like to see Paul Tobey fall
And rip his grandpa's pants.

Nothing Like Being Proper

A frosh brings an actress friend to the Military Ball. Her concept of the proper clothing.

Our Uniform

It ain't the drill that I dislike,
Nor the class in early morn.
It ain't the bawling-outs we get,
It's just the uniform.

Our caps are really goofy,
And feel so awfully tight.
They're not a bit good looking,
In fact, they are a sight.

But our khaki coat is stylish,
The latest fad for spring.
It has four buttons in the front,
So it's quite the newest thing.

Our trousers have the Chaplin shape,
For every pant leg sags.
They're either too short or a foot too long,
And all of them look like bags.

We wear no "puts" with a pretty shine,
I guess I've told you all.
No decorations or Sam Browne
belts,
Which make the ladies fall.

It ain't the drill that I dislike,
Nor the class in early morn,
It ain't the bawling outs we get,
It's just the uniform.

R. O. T. C. Awarded Honor Rating by U. S. Government

The Wisconsin R. O. T. C. ranks with the unit at Illinois as the only distinguished college in the sixth corps area. Wisconsin has been awarded this distinction in the years 1915, 1916, 1920 and 1921.

In 1917-1918 the S. A. T. C. had been installed here and no government rating was given. The year following the war was devoted to the re-organization of the corps, and not until 1920 was the honor again awarded to Wisconsin.

Only 24 colleges and universities throughout the country were given this honor in 1921. Schools receiving distinguished college rating are allowed to name a certain number of their graduates for commissions in the regular army.

Zwicker Commissioned.

Cadet Col. Michael H. Zwicker of the Wisconsin unit, was named for a commission last year and is now serving as a first lieutenant in the coast guard.

Three staffs from the board of officers are sent out in the spring of each year by the war department to inspect all R. O. T. C. units. The awarding of these honors is then decided upon by the three staffs.

The annual rating of the war department is based upon the general excellence of the units as decided upon by the inspectors. Considerable stress is laid upon the following points:

(a) The number of students commissioned in the Officers' Reserve corps upon completion of the advanced course.

(b) The number enrolled in the advanced course.

(c) The number enrolled in the basic course.

(d) The general appearance of the battalion, including the condition and fit of the uniforms, military bearing of the members, observance of military courtesies by the students, attitude of the students toward the military department, etc.

Drill Facilities.

(e) Facilities afforded by the university for giving military instruction and the attitude of the university officials and faculty toward the military department, and the co-operation of the different departments of the university with the military department.

(f) The academic credit given by the university for students successfully completing the R. O. T. C. course.

(g) The scope and quality of military service given.

MIDNIGHT, APRIL 7, 1922

THE TENTH MILITARY BALL

"AND the sounds of merit and happiness rang out through the stately halls and corridors as jubilant youth danced gayly round the wide rotunda to the titillating melodies that floated upward in the lofty dome."

That in a few words might be the record of the visible and audible portions of one of Wisconsin's finest social events. To those, however, who participate in its pleasures and partake of its merriment it represents something more.

Tonight the entire university stands at attention while the tenth annual Military Ball passes in review, marching all too swiftly on into the annals of history.

Its march has not been unchallenged; its banners have not ever flown in fair breezes; but the little vanguard that each year set out to herald the event has found possible enemy's entrenchments less difficult to vault. They have achieved their success in the name of democratic sociability.

A function that has as its aim the minimum of expenditure with the maximum of joy and pleasure to be derived has come to occupy a place of deservedly high esteem in the minds of university students. Splendor and lavish display are beginning to mean less and less in the social whirl of today, with nothing more than mere beauty and dignity replacing them. Every Wisconsin Military Ball has set this standard for itself and achieved it with merit for ten years.

To enjoy the privilege of using the state capitol as the scene of its gayety has made it possible for the balls of recent years to take on an air of particular significance. That within its walls men and women should gather in recreative mood, who only recently since were engaged in the tasks of perpetuating those ideals for which such a building stands as monumental evidence, is an event worthy of note.

In the manner of conducting the 1922 Military Ball there is a semblance of an alliance that deserves particular mention. Men from every phase of military service have joined hands to make the occasion the greatest one to be remembered. The American Legion post, Gun and Blade club, and the R. O. T. C. have jointly assumed the year's responsibilities of upholding an enviable record.

Tonight no thoughts other than those of sheer enjoyment should be acknowledged by those in attendance. They should participate to the fullest degree in the pleasures to be afforded by the event.

To the "officers in charge" of the grand barrage tonight, salutes are in order.

OUR OWN

WISCONSIN'S corps of Reserve Officers is one of which the entire university is justly proud. The men who fill its ranks are acquiring knowledge through training of a standard that has few rivals. That it is efficient cannot be doubted in view of such evidence as the distinguished rating awarded the institution.

Equipment that permits thorough instruction in every branch of military service is an asset, and a decided advantage when honors are to be achieved, but for permanent all-around good one must look to something else. In the officers now stationed with the corps the university has never been more fortunate.

Heading the staff no finer type of man than the commandant, Major John Wood, could be desired as an example and inspiration for what a gentleman and military officer may be. Just so all down the line of the personnel much may be said of each.

To "Our Own," its leaders and its rank and file we acknowledge both its merits and its achievements.

DELTA PI DELTA

WITH evidence of its handiwork, Delta Pi Delta, local professional journalism fraternity, makes its bow to the public this evening.

Only a few months ago the idea was conceived that Wisconsin was the place well fitted for the inception of an organization that would enable men who saw their futures in the great career of journalism to form those bonds which would not only give them personal strength through contact with their fellow workers, but would also serve as factors in advancing the profession.

The potent influence to make this effective was felt to be found in satisfying that instinct of man which bespeaks his social nature. It was thus that the charter members of the chapter found a home for themselves in which they might meet to discuss their problems and their work. Ethics and principles may be effective from the class-room standpoint, but they are bound to be doubly effective when discussed in a social group.

In a few words, the force behind the organization is expressed in this wise:

"The purpose of Delta Pi Delta is to associate those collegiate journalists who have ideals and ability into a strong brotherhood for the purpose of promoting the social and intellectual welfare of its members and aiding them in acquiring the highest conception of journalism."

It is in such groups as Delta Pi Delta that the cornerstones are being laid upon which the superstructure of a national organization for the profession of journalism will some day be reared.

ECHOES

from the Armory

By the author of "Freshman Follies," "Drill Dilemmas," and "Early Morning Miseries."

Scene: The Armory.

Time: Any Morning.

Characters: Mostly Tommy Atkins.

Tommy Atkins: Fall in! Whad-dye think this is, a tea?

Cadet A: Hooray for the United States!

T. A.: Get that man's name. Hey, you, take that gun out of yer mouth.

Cadet B: Beg pardon, sir, may I be excused at 8:10? I have an engagement..... Hey! I ain't a prisoner. I belong here. EEEK!

T. A.: Drag that man out and don't muss up the floor. The next man that opens his head will be shot at sunrise.....

Chorus of Cadets (To tune of "Hearts and Flowers"): We don't get up that early. We don't get up that early. We don't O the H—l we don't.

T. A.: Now, fellows.....

Cadet C: When did Dad Wolf get a job here.....? Oh, pardon me, I thought I heard Dad calling a meeting to order.

T. A.: All right, now. Put them Cardinal newspapers down and get ready to dress right. Hey, foolish, button up yer coat, take that smile off yer face, and try to look like a sojer.

Cadet D: Hey, Tommy, are we going to have the pack today?

T. A.: You had it every day fer a month, haven't you? What do you expect here, versatility? Unloosen the packs and be ready for inspection. Quick, before I change my mind!

(Cadets make scramble for packs. After the dead and wounded are carried off, they line up for inspection—not the dead—the remainers)

Tommy (Inspecting contents of pack): What's that for?

Cadet E: To carry waffles in, most high and noble sir.

T. A.: Correct. I mean, what did you say? That's right.

Cadet E: Hey, Tommy, what's this thing for?

T. A.: Why should I know? I only work here.

Cadet F: Hey, Tommy, I heard a new joke—nice clean story.....

T. A.: Clean, you say?

Cadet F: Spotlessly, I assure you, quite spotless.

T. A.: Well, don't tell it then. Let's get back to work. Don't any more of you guys pull duds like that one..... Now, what is this container used for? Hurry before you forget.

Cadet G (Yawning): Wa-a-a-ll, let's see. Why, from the shape of it, I should suggest whiskey.

T. A.: Righto. Yer excused. Go out and get it filled.

Chorus of Cadets: Hey, Tommy, I got one too.

(Armory empties out except for a half dozen Y. M. C. A. boys and 14 Deke pledges).

Tommy: You guys get to work marcelling the artillery. When you get through, you can go down cellar and whitewash a ton of coal. By Golly, these idiots will drive me crazy. Hey, whoinell parked their chawin' tobacco in the range-finder? (Looks at clock). Well, it's pretty near 9. I guess I'll go down in the tank and take a smoke before this 9 o'clock gang arrive. I gotta have something to settle my nerves.

(Just then a cadet steps up and makes a question): Have I the honor of addressing Sergeant Atkins?

T. A.: I'll bite, have you?

Cadet: Well, sir, I should like to join your ahmy. What kind of pledge buttons do you have?

(Tommy passes out for no good reason).

Scabbard and Blade Society

Founded at Wisconsin in 1904

Scabbard and Blade represents the peak of military achievement in the R. O. T. C. It is to the military department what Phi Beta Kappa is to the Letters and Science student. It is an honorary military society whose membership is based on actual accomplishment as an officer in the cadet corps.

The society was organized at Wisconsin in 1905 by a group of cadets who felt the need of such an organization. Today there are units in 23 different colleges and universities in the United States, and each year a large number apply for charters. At present there are more than 3,000 members of Scabbard and Blade.

Scabbard and Blade is organized on a military basis. Instead of chapters, the unit is the company. There are three full regiments of 12 companies each, and the organization of four companies is now being completed. Each company has a captain, a first and second lieutenant, and a first sergeant. This organization is entirely separate from Gun and Blade club, an organization of World War veterans.

The officers of the Wisconsin company are Evrard Caluwaert '22, captain; D. Richard Mead '22, first lieutenant; Lawrence Warner '22, second lieutenant; Ralph Spence '22, first sergeant.

Colonel Schutte, a former colonel in the cadet corps at the University of Wisconsin was the first national commander of Scabbard and Blade. The present commander is Col. J. J. Burkett, a graduate of Ohio State university.

Among the prominent military men who are members of Scabbard and Blade are General Pershing, initiated at the University of Missouri, and General Wood, initiated at Purdue university.

Associate members of the Badger organization are Maj. John S. Wood, Maj. Orlando Ward, Maj. Howard P. Mulligan, Capt. John A. Ballard, and Capt. Joseph H. Comstock.

Members in the faculty are Thomas E. Jones, E. A. Birge, V. L. Bohannon, H. A. Schutte.

Active members of the Wisconsin company A 1 are H. J. Bilansky '22, L. M. Boyce '22, W. M. Cross '23, W. A. Field '22, S. B. Green '23, R. E. Hawks '22, R. H. Herrick '22, J. H. Jacquish '22, F. B. Leitz '22, R. L. Luening '23, F. W. Nolte '22, W. D. O'Connor '22, E. A. Ewing '23, S. J. Harris '23, L. M. Johnson '23, Henry Katz '23, John Richards '24.

100 MEN STUDY FIELD ARTILLERY

Tractor Driving, Engine Work, and Gunnery Drill are Taught Cadets

Tractor driving and what to do in case of engine trouble is taught along with gunnery drill to the 400 students in the field artillery unit of the R. O. T. C. Problems of lubrication, care, and adjustment are included in the motors course.

Mathematics taught "on the hill" is used in the trajectory and range finding of gunnery drill, and the curve that a bullet traces in the air is traced out for each different sized gun.

Artillery tactics are taught by means of a sand table and landscape maps. Firing problems in both offence and defence are treated in this manner.

Smoke bombing is a part of the spring program of maneuvers. Men in the advanced course must familiarize themselves with gunnery commands, as well as with regular drill work. They must know how to prepare and figure firing data in target work.

This year for mounted instruction, the artillery has for the first time been furnished with 17 horses. Exercises in equitation are given weekly on Randall field.

Equipment of the department consists of three types of 3-inch field guns, including the French 75 that proved so useful in the World war. For long range work there are two styles of 6-inch guns or 155's.

Summer camps lasting six weeks affording opportunities for students to take special work during vacation are provided annually. This year the camp will be at Knox, Ky. For the advanced students the pay is $30 a month and all expenses, and for the students enrolled in the basic course, all expenses but no extra pay.

First Cadet Company Was Formed During Civil War

There is an old adage that tells us that great oaks from little acorns grow. Even so.

The military department of the University of Wisconsin had its own humble beginning, back in the times of the Civil War. In 1862 the university was given a grant of land by congress for the support of agriculture and the mechanical arts with the stipulation that instruction in military science and tactics be made a part of the university instruction. It was understood that sufficient instruction should be given in military duties to enable students to command troops in times of danger.

A volunteer company was organized the same year, drilling one hour each afternoon.

Adopt Year Course.

Five years later the department of engineering and military tactics was organized under the direction of Col. W. R. Pease, who was assigned to this duty by the war department. A four-year course of instruction was adopted, an armory established, a uniform prescribed, and drills were held three times each week. All male students were required to drill.

The Board of Regents prescribed, in 1870, military instruction for the freshmen and sophomores, and offered it as an elective for junior and senior men.

Physical training was made part of the course under Maj. W. J. L. Nicodemus, and a gymnasium provided. A dark blue uniform, consisting of sack coat, pantaloons, and forage cap was adopted. Each year five students were recommended to the war department for appointment as second lieutenants in the regular army.

Built Armory In 1893.

A marked development came in 1893, when the present armory and gymnasium was built, and the university was designated as a distinguished college for the years 1915 and 1916. A course of intensive military instruction was adopted for juniors and seniors in 1917, in addition to the regular instruction. That same year the department was organized as an infantry unit of the R. O. T. C., and it continued in operation until the organization of the S. A. T. C. in the fall of 1918.

The R. O. T. C. was revived the next year. Signal and artillery units were added, and in 1920, the university again won the distinguished college rating, under Maj. John S. Wood as commandant.

This same rating was conferred upon the university in 1921. Each time the university is given the distinguished college rating, it is entitled to one gold star. Wisconsin now has four, and a gold star appears on the sleeve of every cadet in the corps, representing this distinction.

Offer Advanced Course.

In addition to the basic course, which is required of all freshmen and sophomores, an advanced course in military science and tactics is given. This is elective, and three credits per semester are given for the work, as in academic courses. The government pays about 40 cents per day to persons taking this advanced course, in which there are five classes each week.

In this course is included the attendance at one summer camp, usually at the end of the junior year. When the two years are completed, a commission of second lieutenant is given, or the commission may be deferred for a period of five years.

$2 Down Brings This Corona

When you have seen Corona, written on it yourself, lifted it in one hand, compared its work with that of any $100 machine on the market, then pay only $2.00 down and small monthly payments until you have paid $55 in all. Or if convenient, pay $50 cash.

Nearly half a million Coronas now in use

BUSINESS men keep Corona at home and call it their "private secretary." Doctors, lawyers and merchants use it for office work in preference to heavy "standard" typewriters. Clergymen coronatype their sermons—teachers and professors their schedules and papers—students in every university in the land are turning in neater notes and essays since Corona came. Women use Corona for their personal correspondence. Children are learning to do neat, beautiful coronatyping; invalids are finding it a delightful companion for the long, weary hours. Almost every well-known author, newspaper correspondent, playwright and scenario writer owns a Corona.

The sturdiest of all typewriters

People who do not know, are apt to think that a typewriter weighing only 6½ pounds can't be as strong as a heavy cast-iron machine.

But the fact is that no typewriter in the world has proved itself able to stand the punishment Corona has taken during its 16 years of service.

All through the war, thousands of Coronas were in use on every battle front. Almost every war correspondent carried his Corona.

Small monthly payments

Even though Corona costs only half what you would pay for a big "heavy" machine, you need not pay for it all at once.

The small monthly payments of $5 each month will hardly be missed, and, almost before you realize it, Corona will be fully paid for.

And all the time you are paying, you will have the use of Corona—in fact, you can very easily do extra work with this little typewriter which will pay for it several times over!

We are authorized distributors for the Corona Typewriter Company, and we stand behind every Corona we sell. And behind us is the Corona factory which has built and sold nearly half a million Coronas.

Free service to Corona owners

Although a Corona seldom gets out of order you like to feel that you can get service when you need it. At any Corona store you can buy your ribbons, carbon paper, etc., or have any needed adjustment made. Every Corona is warranted and carries with it a year's free service.

Things you want to know about Corona

1. Corona weighs only 6½ pounds. It folds and is carried in a neat, strong case which is included with each machine.
2. Corona has all the latest improvements, such as visible writing, universal keyboard, two-color ribbon, back spacer, margin release, platen release, shift lock, paper release, marginal stops, etc.

MILITARY BALL RIVALS PROM FOR SPLENDOR

Tenth Annual Cadet Function Is Most Pretentious in History

Crowning with brilliant success nine previous Military Balls, Friday night's event is a fitting wreath of glory for the cadets.

From the first Military Ball of 1913, when Cadet Col. D. R. Mapel led the grand march in the university armory, each has been greater, more pretentious than the last, until the Junior prom, epitome of student social life, is all but surpassed by the Ball of 1922.

Peculiarly enough, the Military Ball found its inception in a desire to find relief from the spirit of Prom in a more democratic, unflowered affair.

Up to last year it has been considered a cadet dance, but in 1921, it was given by the cadet corps in honor of ex-service men in school.

Scope Extended.

This year its scope has been extended, so that in order to make it more representative of the entire university, the cadet corps, Gun and Blade, and the American Legion have united to make the Military Ball the biggest all-university social event of the year.

But now the difference is found only in a mingling of uniforms with "soup and fish." When the regalia of the World war has passed with successive graduations, even this distinction is expected to be lost to a considerable degree. The military feature will never be lost, however.

When the cadets followed Prom last year in its invasion of the state capitol to take advantage of its imposingly beautiful setting for such an event, and when boxes and special features were added, the steady advancement which had been going on toward a par with Prom, became distinctly noticeable.

Rivals Prom

And Friday night's Ball swept almost entirely into the discard, the prestige of the time-honored Junior Promenade. The Pre-Play, Pre-Ball, boxes, special features, a famous imported orchestra, and the Military Ball Cardinal all were there in dazzling splendor, Friday night.

In the dim days of long ago, when military instruction was first included in the curriculum of studies, the forerunners of the Military Balls came into being as monthly hops given at the gymnasium to the blaring tunes of cadet bands.

It was in 1912 that the idea of a bigger, better social event for uniformed students was first conceived, and the precedent of naming the cadet colon elias general chairman was established.

List Of Chairmen.

Since then, the following have led off the grand marches: D. R. Mapel, 1913; F. J. Haner, 1914; F. L. Conover, 1915; K. C. King, 1916; A. F. H. Scott, 1917; A. C. Nielson, 1918; I. J. Greenslade, 1919; P. K. Ayers and R. A. Hewitt, 1920; J. C. Wolfe, 1921; E. C. Caluwaert, 1922.

The capitol was the scene of the 1921 and 1922 Military Balls. Those preceding were held in the Armory.

It has always been the object of the Military department to make the Military Ball a social event within the reach of all. Groups attending are formed on a company basis rather than as fraternity and non-fraternity bodies. Flowers and taxis have always been banned to co-ordinate with every effort to make the attendance price low.

MILDRED GARLICK (Being humped by the C. P. O.)—How gauche!

Tommy Atkins (The stewed C. P. O.)—Fine thanksh how gauche with you?

HELEN Hooper—I'll never trust a man in the dark.

Butcher's Boy—Well kid, it's a cinch you ain't got nothin' to be scared of in the daylight.

After the Ball

You smelled of powder while in the fight;
But not the kind you smelled of tonight.

RIFLE MEN ENTER NATIONAL MATCH

The National Collegiate Rifle association, a recent combination of all R. O. T. C. and college rifle teams, has notified the Badger rifle team that it has been placed in the National Rifle match as one of the two entrants from the Sixth Army corps district, which includes Michigan, Illinois, and Wisconsin.

Last year Wisconsin did not have very strong competition in the Sixth Army corps district, but this year their opponents have shown exceptional ability at hitting the bull's eye.

To its credit this year Wisconsin has 12 wins and five losses. Members of the 1921-1922 team are Carl J. Bode, Philip G. Deicher, Theodore B. Godfrey, Frank W. Gunderson, Fred W. Wardberg, Jack Jones, Henry J. Katz, Carleton R. Meyer, Capt. William D. O'Connor, Harold E. Priess, William Rorison, Fred Ruffolo, Rolfe B. Sawtelle, Rodger C. Crabtree, and Helmut G. Kletzien.

The wins this year have depended very much upon the exception shooting of Captain O'Connor and his two sharpshooters, Deicher and Jones.

Competition with colleges outside the national meet will continue until April 25, at which time Wisconsin will start to shoot in the national meet, which will continue until May 31. If Wisconsin continues to shoot as well as it has in the past, a leading place in the meet may be expected.

Gun and Blade Club Founded Here In 1920 by Thirty Ex-Service Men

"To help up, cheer up, and never give up," is the motivating spirit back of Gun and Blade club, an organization of Federal board men attending the university. From the original group formed here in 1920 of ex-service men disabled in service, there are now 20 similar groups in other schools and universities throughout the Middle West.

Only 30 men comprised the group that re-organized during the first part of 1920 and took the name of Gun and Blade. Now there are 180 members on the roster of the club. Edison M. Boerke was the first president, and through his efforts the idea of uniting the federal board men into clubs was introduced into other nearby universities.

Treat Wounded Vets.

The present officers are Paul T. Tobey, president; Richard W. Austerman, vice-president; Wm. A. Hartman, treasurer; C. S. Hawley, secretary; and Herman Dusterhoft, sergeant-at-arms. Meetings are held twice a month in the club's reading and lounging rooms in the Union building.

Each month, flowers and magazines are sent to the shell shocked and nervous patients in the United States hospital near Mendota, just across the lake from the university. These men from the hospital have often been brought over to enjoy university affairs through the courtesy of members of Gun and Blade.

At present, an employment department of Gun and Blade is being organized in Chicago. The idea of this department is to find employment for men who have completed their training under the Federal board and are ready for work. The Fort Sheridan association turned over $30,000 to help finance the undertaking. Edison Boerke, ex-president of Gun and Blade, is in charge of this work.

Plan Baseball League.

Plans are about completed for a baseball league composed of groups outside of fraternities, and the entire affair is in charge of members of Gun and Blade who have entered a team in the league. That the work being done by Gun and Blade is recognized outside of Madison, is shown by attestations of Colonel Forbes, director of the Veterans' bureau at Washington, in his letters to the president of Gun and Blade.

Both this year and last, Gun and Blade club successfully staged a musical comedy. Last year's production, "The Maid and the Mid-dy," was the equal of any professional-musical comedy played in Madison, and this year's offering, "The Bells of Beaujolais," in the words of the critic, was "an exquisite color combination, with musical numbers, coupled with good acting."

Gun and Blade is one of three groups that is helping to direct the Military ball this year. The other two groups are the American legion of the university post, and the University cadet corps.

After the party Prunella Smarty, joined in a big drinking bout. Her mother was there, but she didn't care, 'Cause ma had already passed out.

You cannot always get across. The best of us are bound to fall. But, 'tis better to have loved and lost Than never to have won at all.

Queen Wears "Military Ball Blue," Latest University Color Creation

Military Ball Blue—the latest university color creation—is being worn this evening by Miss Helen Stilwell, partner of General Chairman Evard Caluwaert, and queen of the ball, and is the result of a compromise between members of Sigma Kappa over the merits of cornflower blue, that too-conventional name, and periwinkle.

It all happened in this way. The color for the queen's gown had to be named, that was vital. Yet there was no one who knew the correct shade—not even Miss Stilwell. So the discussion commenced. "The color's a lavender blue," suggested one.

"Oh, no, cornflower; lavender is a shade darker."

"Cornflower sounds so dumb. Let's name it French blue?"

"That's too ordinary. We want something that will be new and snappy."

The discussion was almost a heated one when—

"Military Ball Blue"—snapped out the bright co-ed, and the sisters accepted it enthusiastically as the product of a most fertile brain.

Never again will any Military Ball queen have the honor of originating Military Ball Blue. Tonight is its reigning night.

The same blue of the dress is found in the satin slippers and silk stockings. The gown itself is of blue georgette draped over satin and is the work of a Chicago modiste. A pearl and beaded spider web design is woven over the entire garment. The panelled back, the round neck give a girlish effect to the costume. The Paris lines, those of the lengthy skirt and the irregular hem, are most effective.

Miss Stilwell's headdress is plain but for the blue band around her head. A black ostrich fan completes the picture.

The gowns of the partners of the assistant general chairmen vary in color. Burnt orange silk crepe which is black radium silk in panels is the gown of Miss Carolyn Strauss, partner of Hyman Bilansky. Jet is draped at the waist. She wears black satin slippers and stockings.

Miss Lois Duffin, partner of John Fritschler, wears a jade green satin gown trimmed with jade green and coral tulle. The tulle is caught at the tight-bodied waistline. Silver drapes hang from the waist, extend below the skirt, and give an uneven effect to the skirt which is corded around the bottom. Slippers and stockings match the color scheme of the evening gown. Miss Duffin carries a black ostrich fan.

Miss Ann Anderson, partner of Dick Mead, is gowned in watermelon pink satin and carries a blue feathered fan. Panels decorate the gown. She is wearing silver slippers and stockings.

Black Spanish lace over a black satin slip is the distinctive feature of the gown which Mrs. Paul Tobey, wife of Paul Tobey, wears. The lace extends below the bottom of the slip, tending to give the ultra long lines. An artificial flower of rose and silver combined adds a touch of color to the somber blackness of the gown. Black satin slippers and stocking are worn by Mrs. Tobey.

A Shot of Grape and the Ball Is On, Says Chuck

By CHUCK.

Sharp burst of musketry, some shots of grape, service men with an interest in every Port, bottled or otherwise, and the Military Ball was on like Tom Mix riding a galloping western cayuse over the rocky road to Dublin in a Midsummer Night's dream.

A 1-o'clock party has more attractions than a 19-year-old flapper, but this Ball beat most of them like Harding beat Cox (ancient history,) like Wisconsin beat Minnesota (mediaeval history,) like "Tommy" Atkins beat the railroad company (modern history.)

There's no more comparison between them than there is between Billie Burke and the bearded lady in a one-ring circus. Some of the prettiest women in the world would look like a crowd of spavined orang-outangs doing a "Doug" Fairbanks out of a sour apple tree beside the collection of fair maidens who dazzled the eyes of soldiers, sailors, and slackers, rubbing each other's shoulders and picking each other's pockets at the Military Ball.

"Tommy" Atkins looked prouder than the father of three pairs of triplets. He had more good spirits than a legion of bootleggers, and his smile was bigger than the lie that Ananias told MacBeth at the Battle of Lexington, 400 D. A. M.

There was more life at the party than there are cooties in a stevedore. There were enough Colonels to fill a 10-cent bag of popcorn. Most of the majors were from the English courses on the hill, and the only things that weren't private were the privates.

If the U. S. army had all the officers that were present, it could step out like a Marmon walking away from a bicycle. If Ziegfeld could have seen the covey of femmes he could put on a show with more kick than there is in Guy Sundt's right leg.

The orchestra sounded like a choir of heavenly angels flying out of Paradise with the speed of a 42-centimeter shell. The crowd cut more capers than a starving Boche in a noodle kitchen. Reminding us that the only thing lacking was enemies.

You gotta admit it was some party. That's all there is; there isn't any more.

CADET GUARD FORMED IN '20 BY WAR VETS

Honorary Organization Is Formally Dedicated to Pres. Birge

The President's guard was organized in 1920 by Robert L. Luening, Cecil M. Russell and Evrard C. Caluwaert, all ex-service men, to give those interested a more extensive knowledge of both close order drill and manual.

It was formed as an honorary organization and formally dedicated to the president of the university. There are 85 picked men in the Guard who meet every Thursday from 7:15 to 8:15. Freshman and sophomore members are permitted to miss one close order drill a week in the R. O. T. C.

The insignia which designates the members of this organization, is a rectangle with a yellow background bearing a red helmet above the letters "U. W."

Luening Is Captain.

Present officers of the President's Guard are: Robert Luening, '23, captain; Roswell Herrick '22, 1st lieutenant; and Henry Klos, '24, 2nd lieutenant. Captain Luening is a member of Beta Chi Sigma and Scabbard and Blade fraternities. He received the Cross of the Legion of Honor when serving as a lieutenant in the French army. Lieutenant Herrick is a member of Scabbard and Blade, and president of the Engineers' association.

Last year the Guard acted as escort of the colors at the reviews—staging a formal guard mount at one of them; escorted Governor E. L. Phillips to the University exposition; put on an act at the 1921 Military ball, and fired a salute at the memorial union drive.

Performs At Ball.

At the 1922 Military ball, two members of the guard, Bernard Weimer and Henry Klos, performed a pleasing, and extremely difficult double manual of arms. In addition to this, the entire Guard executed a double manual of arms which was well received by the audience.

The Guard is undoubtedly one of the best drilled groups in the state and great things may be expected of these men when the team goes to Watertown this spring to meet Oconomowoc, reputed to be the best drilled outfit in the state national guard.

This is the first unit of its kind in the United States, and it has aroused considerable interest among cadet corps in other institutions.

THREE WOMEN ARE MEMBERS OF LEGION POST

Miss Agnes Reid, R. N., Awarded French Medal of Honor

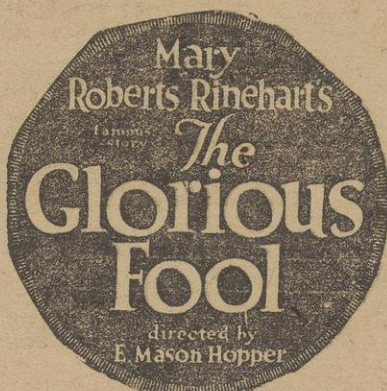

A French decoration, 21 months' service in France, and a "I'm glad I could help," are but high lights in the war record of Miss Agnes Reid, R. N., one of the three women members of the university post of the American Legion. Dorothy L. Wiesler, '24, and Viola M. Knowlan, '23, are the other members.

Miss Reid, who enlisted in September, 1917, was awarded the French Medal of Honor while in charge of Base hospital 36 caring for wounded allied soldiers. She was at Base 9 during the Argonne fighting and also served at Base 90.

Eighteen months' service as a yeoman in the Naval reserve, beginning with her enlistment in March, 1918, is the war record of Miss Wiesler.

Miss Knowlan entered the Army Student Nursing corps at Camp Grant in October, 1918. Caring for overseas patients and influenza victims lent a decidedly serious and war-like atmosphere to her half year in the army hospitals.

"GOOD NIGHT, NURSE"

Of course it makes a difference in the way you say it, if you've married her the night before.

This glorious fool was snatched by Cupid from the very jaws of death, and woke to find himself the husband of the prettiest and youngest nurse in the hospital.

Richard Dix and Helene Chadwick play the fool and the nurse in this original Goldwyn comedy.

WHY SWEATERS ARE SO POPULAR

Very convincing evidence that this is to be a sport season is the variety and complete originality of the new sweater modes. The Navajo style for instance, is ever so much more swagger than anything of last summer. And so are the new striped sweaters in both silk and wool. You've no idea how much more serviceable separate skirts are if you have two or three sweaters which incidentally save greatly on the laundering of tub blouses.

TIN SOJERS TILT WITH TOY GUNS

"My, what are those boys doing over there, wearing large masks and padded suits? And what are those long sticks they are poking each other with?" So asked the on-looker.

"Ah, sir," replied the cadet, "surely you know the purport of those mighty arms? Those wooden sticks are mimic rifles with bayonets attached; the helmet, padding and gloves are to protect the men from the ravages of injury."

"See that jab thrust? That is the way the French do it. Ah! Look at that long thrust. That is the typical American doughboy bayonet warfare. Sir! One of them falters, he lets his rifle fall; methinks he is sorely wounded; he has swooned twice."

"Oh, I see," ventured the on-looker. "Perhaps he is out of condition. Too many cubebbs, I guess."

And so endeth the tale of the bayonet practice.

When Governor Blaine had finished his address of welcome, the orchestra struck into a compelling fox-trot. The dance was on.

After the fifth dance, Miss Frankie Klaussen of Chicago offered a series of interpretative dances. At 12 o'clock the President's guard went through their manoeuvres.

Cadets from these summer camps last year witnessed polo games, the Resolute-Shamrock yacht races, the Kentucky-Army horse show, Lincoln's birthplace, and Mammoth cave. An Ohio river boat ride dance was the entertainment feature at a certain camp.

Attendance in the basic courses is limited. Wisconsin is allowed 30 men in the infantry camp, 20 in the field artillery, and 10 in the signal corps. No limit is placed on the number who may attend the advanced courses.

Transportation to and from camps and subsistence, medical attention, uniform, and quarters are furnished to men in the basic courses. Advanced course men are paid $1 per day beside the above allowances.

A Kappa Psi brought the Porter to the ball in hope of improving his line. No soap.

This being Friday, Fish was planked (but not floored). Sillery was not served. Goodnights were not in order because the party ended with a Fite, when some faculty members tried to Kieckhofer the Roe of bottles which lit up the Hall and the resulting Slaughter sent the gang home ejaculating "Great Scott."

Between the Grand march and the east wing, "The Flour Song" from Minneapolis was rendered by the Pi Phi Blossom. Gestures were on the face.

CORPS ENJOYS RAPID GROWTH IN EQUIPMENT

Government Supplies Now
Total More Than $500,000

From 1908 up to 1922 there has been nearly as great a change in the University of Wisconsin unit of the national R. O. T. C. as there has been in the method of warfare previous to 1914, and to what is possible in war today. From an equipment valued at $20,000 in 1908 to the present supplies worth nearly half a million is no greater change than that in personnel.

One commissioned officer, and Sergeant W. G. Atkins taught infantry drill only in 1908, with the assistance of 25 student officers. Today, Maj. John S. Wood, graduate of West Point, heads an efficient staff of eight commissioned officers and 17 enlisted men, besides 200 student officers.

Only 600 antiquated Krag-Jorgenson, Spanish-American war rifles with belts and bayonets, were needed before the war, where today 1,500 United States magazine rifles, caliber 30, Springfield model 1903 with bayonets, belts, scabbards, packs, knapsacks, and canteens, are part of the costly equipment necessary to outfit the warriors of Wisconsin.

Instruct in Four Branches

While infantry drill only was taught previous to the war now there is instruction in all four branches of the military department, the infantry unit, the field artillery unit, the signal corps unit, and the ordnance department.

The field artillery unit has full field equipment, including four 3-inch American field pieces, complete with cartridges; one 75 mm. American piece; one 75 mm. British piece; one 75 mm. French piece; one 155 mm. field gun with howitzer; two caterpillar tractors; two large motor transport trucks; two motorcycles with side cars, and two reconnoiter trucks. Seventeen horses are now provided for instruction in equestrianism.

Much of the work in the electrical engineering department at the university is being done on equipment supplied by the government for the signal corps here.

1,587 Are Enrolled

In 1917, 1,100 cadets and a regimental band made up one infantry regiment. At present, 827 men are enrolled in the infantry, 262 are taking signal corps work, 474 are studying field artillery, and 24 are in the ordnance department. In addition to these 1,587 regularly enrolled members of the corps, there is a regimental band of more than 100 pieces, which makes a grand total of some 1,700 embryo soldiers. It is easy to see why Vis-

Training in Rifle Firing is Thorough

Under the able instruction of Capt. J. H. Comstock the training of students in rifle firing is progressing rapidly. The course consists of several weeks of careful preliminary work before the actual firing of the guns is allowed.

Particular stress is laid on the position of the marksman while shooting. At present, the actual target-shooting is being practiced, and, according to officers in charge, results are very satisfactory.

Regulation Springfield army rifles, with special attachments making it possible to use .22 caliber shells, are used in the practice. The one-inch bull's eye is used at a firing distance of 50 feet.

Several student marksmen have made almost perfect scores during the course of training. Captain Comstock, who has been in charge of work of this kind for several years, is an efficient instructor, as results of his work thus far have shown.

consin is rated as a "distinguished college" by military experts of the United States government.

At the end of each school year, a number of R. O. T. C. summer camps are held. Last summer the four camps that were held corresponded to the four units of the military department and were located as follows: infantry, Fort Sheridan, Ill.; signal corps, Camp Alfred Vail, N. J.; field artillery, Camp Knox, Ky.; and ordnance, Aberdeen Proving ground, Md. While the work is intensive and strenuous, still it is quite possible to understand how so many college men together manage to make a wonderful vacation out of it.

To see the big inspection and review in the spring, when the lower campus is one solid mass of khaki, will give some indication of the splendid equipment of the military department of the University of Wisconsin.

Hosiery—to be timely—is clocked, or steps out in lace and corded designs in the most alluring new shades.

Gloves take a prominent hand this season by reason of the size of their gauntlets, and their length—sleeves are short, you know, and if they happen to be otherwise, one pulls the glove over them a la mousquetaire.

Ribbons burst into full bloom in the charming guise of quaint corsages or hand-painted roses. And picot edged ribbon is perfectly delightful! Every Co-ed, loyal to her colors, will wear an "On Wisconsin" silk scarf of Cardinal and White, deeply fringed.

To appear most bewitching in a new informal—or formal dress, if you wish—in the new and very recent draped effect, $29.75 up.

Or to seem very practical in the eyes of the home folks in a really dashing suit of tricotine or tweed, beginning at $25.
