Humane Society Obstructing Research, Charges Middleton

William S. Middleton, dean of the medical school, charged yesterday that the Dane county Humane society was obstructing medical training and research. The society has refused to furnish stray dogs to the university medical school in compliance with a state law.

"The Dane county Humane society has willfully interfered with training medical students," Dean Middleton said. "They have obstructed vital research, and threatened the public welfare by their refusal to comply with this act."

Dean Middleton appeared before the assembly public welfare committee to testify in favor of a proposed bill that would require humane societies to turn over stray dogs to the university medical school and the Marquette medical and dental schools. Failure to do this under the proposed law, would revoke the charter and financial aid of any humane society in the state.

Mrs. A. H. Berghager, representing the Animal Protection League of Milwaukee called the measure "a conglomeration of hypocritical ideas. Mrs. Berghager suggested that the kennel conditions were not up to standard at the medical school.

"Go and see for yourself," she told the group. (See column one).

Ernest Deppe, appearing for the Dane county Humane society, offered an amendment to the bill that would clarify ownership of the dogs, and would provide the university and Marquette university with the power to requisition dogs not claimed at the societies quarters.

The university would be required to pay the board costs of the animal from the day it comes under control of the society.

Dr. O. Sidney Orth, professor of pharmacology, told the committee that the use of animals, and es-

$65 Fee Ignored In Regents Report

By BILL MARCUS

Despite a strong university protest against the raising of student fees last week at the governor's budget hearing, the regents failed to ask for restoration of $65 fees in a message to the legislative joint committee on finance Monday.

The committee asked the university, after its budget hearing last Wednesday, to list those items which the governor cut from the university request in the order in which the university would like them restored.

In the message, the university repeated its endorsement of Governor Kohler's budget bill but asked that three items dropped from its original budget be restored.

The university listed three items in the following order:

● Removal of the provision restricting use of funds for recruiting staff members until after students are already enrolled.

● Biennial appropriation of $18,000 for the expansion of the university program of service to small businesses through the school of commerce.

● Restoration of the original budget increase of $115,000 for the re-

"Resolved that intercollegiate athletics should be abolished in favor of intramural athletics" will be the topic of an Oxford style debate today at 8 p. m. in Great hall.

Karl Meyer, Athenaeum editor and Cardinal columnist, and W. A. Morton, professor of economics and opponent of collegiate boxing, will speak for the resolution.

Dave Staiger, a Rhodes scholar and former varsity football member, and Prof. N. P. Feinsinger, chairman of the University Athletic board and professor of law, will speak against the resolution.

'We've Learned Our Lesson' Says 'U' Activities Coordinator

Four students—instead of two—will be recommended to student board as a panel from which next year's freshman orientation co-chairmen will be selected, the Cardinal learned last night.

The increase in the panel came after student board protested the administration's action in the limitation of the chairmen candidates to the number needed to fill the positions.

A student-administration group yesterday reviewed all the candidates who had filed for the orientation chairmanships and then selected four names to be sent to board. Board will select the two co-chairmen, probably at its next meeting.

'U' Recognizes Three Men in Warfarin Find

The university will recognize three men as the inventors of warfarin—a revolutionary rodenticide developed at the university and expected to earn millions of dollars, informed sources told the Cardinal late last night.

In the next "day or so," the university news service will issue a release correcting the impression that Dr. Karl Paul Link, university biochemist, is the main inventor. It will list as inventors the three scientists on the warfarin patent:

● Dr. Mark A. Stahmann, associate professor of biochemistry.

● Dr. Mioshi Ikawa, former university biochemist now at the California Institute of Technology.

● Dr. Karl Paul Link, professor of biochemistry.

The Cardinal learned last night that head of the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation (WARF), the private, non-profit corporation holding the warfarin patent, would probably confer with the inventors as soon as possible.

WARF Pres. George I. Haight, Chicago attorney and prominent university alumnus, will probably try to "iron things out" among the university scientists, it was learned.

Pres. E. B. Fred and News Service Director Robert Taylor had "no comment" on the proposed university statement. The Cardinal learned that the decision to issue the statement came after Link had received recognition in a national publication for the warfarin work.

Haight wired the Cardinal from Board tabled action on accepting the two names at its March 6 meeting. Members charged that acceptance would "show the futility of student government," making board a "rubber stamp for the administration." They indicated that board had been "dictated to too often by administrative clerks."

Student Activities Coordinator Gordon Klopff, a member of the administration personnel group, said after the meeting he was "sorry it hadn't been held three weeks ago. "We've learned our lesson," Klopff added.

MHA To Consider Representation Plans For Cabinet

By JIM MORRISON

Procedure for adopting a new method of cabinet representation was mapped out by the Men's Hall association (MHA) cabinet last night.

The cabinet voted to consider the five plans which have been submitted and select the top two for further consideration. The final selection will be submitted to MHA members for approval later in the semester.

Don Reich, a student board representative, appeared before the cabinet to ask for an appropriation for Legislators' Day scheduled for April 10.

The cabinet tabled action on the appropriation until Reich's committee has worked out a budget for the affair.

Reporter Finds University Dogs Not Mistreated

By HOWARD SAYRE

Charges of improper treatment and housing of dogs used by the university medical school, at a legislative hearing, yesterday, were not substantiated by a Daily Cardinal reporter who made an unannounced visit to the dog kennels yesterday.

The dogs used for medical research and dissection by medical students, are housed on the fifth floor of the medical school. They are cared for daily by an attendant.

Wood shavings sprinkled on the floor of the pens are changed each morning. Dog biscuits and water are always before the canines. The reporter found the rooms clean, and warm, but very noisy with dozens of yapping dogs.

In other rooms of the menagerie, were cages of monkeys, hamsters, guinea pigs, rabbits, white rats, and white mice. All the livestock was well cared for.

UN Patrols Continue Advance As Reds Offer No Resistance

TOKYO—(U.P.)—UN tank patrols plunged to within 15 miles of the 38th parallel yesterday without making contact with fleeing Red troops, while in Seoul, U. S. troops of the third division moved across the Han river in support of South Korean patrols which entered the city yesterday afternoon.

The South Koreans — first allied troops to enter the city since the UN forces abandoned the capital last January 16, were unopposed. They raised the Republic of Korea flag over the Capital, and sent troops toward the northwest in an attempt to make contact with the retreating Chinese.

In the city itself, the Koreans reported finding only a few civilians left — most had been drafted into labor battalions by the Communists, and had been trained to take part in an expected house to house battle for the city.

MacArthur's offensive was unopposed all along the 70 mile front, and in Lake Success, western Diplomats expressed hope that the end of the Korean war might be near. They indicated that if the Chinese intended to pull back into north Korea and established a defensive line, it was unlikely that the UN would push their offensive.

Spanish Dept. Names Heads Of Play Crew

The university Spanish department today appointed Prof. Roberto Sanchez as director and Prof. Antonio Sanchez-Barbudo as narrator of its annual dramatic production, March 26.

Professor Sanchez-Barbudo, who was formerly with the Ministry of Education of pre-civil war Spain, will describe the ministry's efforts in reviving the early theater of Spain, as part of the program.

A primitive "paso," Spanish farce, and two one-act plays by Cervantes will be put on by Spanish instructors and students.

The presentation at 8 p. m. in the Play Circle of the Memorial Union is free.

The cast includes students Connie Schenck, Alton, Ill.; Marilyn Carbon, Manitowoc; Nancy Becker, Monticello; Margaret Evans, Cleveland Heights, Ohio; Gabriel Berns, Yonkers, N. Y.; Cordell MacDonald, Cleveland, Ohio; Ronald Pavlik, Chicago, Ill.; and Ralph Seehafer, Wausau; and Arnold Weiss and Claude Leroy of the teaching staff.

ILS Council Elects Officers

The Integrated Liberal Studies council has selected new officers for this semester. They are: Bob Winter, sophomore, president; Don Abraham, freshman, vice-president; Margaret Nelson, freshman, secretary; and Wynn Williams, freshman, treasurer.

Other members elected to council are: Seymour Handler, Jack Rhode, and John Searle, sophomores, and Bob Lowell, freshman.

The program for this semester includes continuation of the faculty evaluation program, introduction of student-faculty get-togethers, book sale, an ILS banquet, and a spring picnic.

Sen. McCarthy Demands Change In Troop Issue

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Senator Joseph McCarthy jumped the gun on Senate debate on the Troops to Europe issue yesterday with a floor speech in which he demanded revisions in U. S. foreign policy before sending any more troops to Europe.

McCarthy proposed arming Spain, West Germany, Nationalist China, and Japan, and said that Chinese Nationalist troops should be allowed to fight in Korea.

He also said that U. S. troops should be sent to Europe only if General MacArthur is allowed a free hand in fighting the Communists in the Far East.

In other developments: At Key West, White house secretary Joseph Short announced that President Truman had "nothing to say" in reply to a new attack on American military policy by Herbert Hoover Tuesday.

Hoover, who spoke at a secret meeting of Republican congressional leaders, challenged GOP lawmakers to override "infantry generals," and "fight to the end against putting American troops in the Atlantic Pact army."

Senate Republican leaders called upon the Senate to reject President Truman's plan to re-organize the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and to abolish the organization entirely.

The house version though, of the reorganization bill passed by an 18 vote majority.

The Interstate Commerce commission granted freight rate increase of four per cent to eastern railroads, and two per cent to southern railroads.

NEWS BRIEFS

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— The Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Forces committees reported yesterday that it is only a matter of time before Russia stockpiles enough atom bombs to deliver a "knock out" blow to the West. The committees said that the United States would be included as a high priority target, and urged that the United States send six ground divisions to Europe—two more than the number requested by President Truman.

PHILADELPHIA — (U.P.) — Dr. Vannevar Bush, one of the developers of the atomic bomb, said here yesterday that the only thing that has prevented Russia from starting a world war is the knowledge that she would be destroyed by atomic bombing; but warned that Western strategic bombing power will not hold the Russians "behind the lines forever."

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— President Truman warned yesterday that the Western nations must rearm quickly and vigorously to prevent a third world war, and to prepare for such if a conflict occurs.

Truman declared that he hoped such rearmament would discourage Soviet aggression, and eventually lead to a change in Russian tactics that would ease world tension.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Postmaster Jesse Donaldson reported yesterday that his order cutting home mail deliveries has already saved the government $80 million.

Union Public Relations Group Established By Directorate

Union Directorate took final action last week in the creation of a Public Relations committee under the Union vice-president.

The resolution to set up the new committee grew out of recent action taken by the Directorate approving the idea in principle and setting up a committee to work out details for the proposed committee's composition and functions.

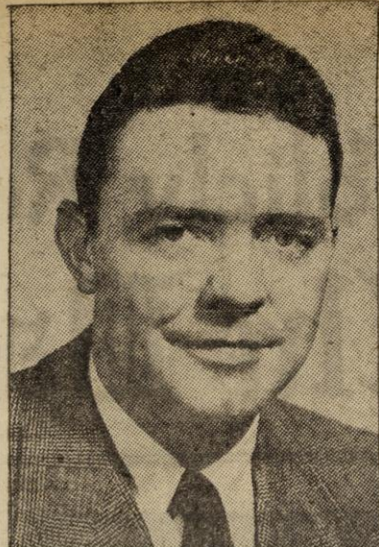

This committee, which brings the Union committee total to fourteen, will handle activities in events staged in cooperation with other campus groups, relations with non-campus groups such as visiting students, and Union regional conventions.

The activities of the committee are not limited in the resolution, however, and further activities may be assigned to it as the Directorate sees fit.

As a result of this action, the 1951-52 vice-president, Duaine Hegg, will interview for personnel for the public relations committee at the mass interview session to be held on March 22.

Wisconsin has a land area of 54,715 square miles, a water area of 11,501 square miles, and a total area of 66,216 square miles. This includes Lakes Superior and Michigan. Concerning the Case of Willie McGee

THE CASE OF a doomed Mississippi Negro scheduled for a March 20 execution for the rape of a white woman—will be dramatically brought to the university campus today.

A representative of Willie McGee, the convicted Mississippian, will be in town to bring into focus the racial conditions in the South.

The McGee representative is touring the nation under the general direction of the Civil Rights congress, an organization labeled as a Communist-front by the attorney general. The local appearance is sponsored by the Young Progressive of America, a left-wing campus group.

The congress information has stressed the fact that McGee is innocent. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP)—a much more reliable organization—says there is "reasonable doubt" as to his guilt.

McGee has been convicted in the courts of Mississippi. And, after granting a stay of execution to give McGee's lawyers more time for appeal, the United States Supreme Court has not seen fit to review the case or the manner in which it was tried.

THERE IS A legitimate question as to whether McGee is guilty or whether the explosive situation of a southern Negro involved in a touchy rape case is being blown up into propaganda for a Communist-front organization.

However, the real issue involved is one of punishment, not guilt or innocence. McGee is being sentenced to death for a crime which ordinarily receives a much milder sentence—when the defendant is a white man.

It is interesting to note that in Mississippi, in the past rape cases, Negroes have been executed, but never a white man, according to reliable sources.

McGEE—BY ALL standards of American equality—does not deserve to die for a crime for which members of other races could pay more lightly. It is a sad commentary on American democracy that if it were not for the exploitation of the case by a Communist front group, McGee would probably have been legally lynched long ago.

Campus groups having a basic interest in the dignity of man throughout this country can justifiably urge Mississippi Governor Fielding L. Wright to show clemency in the case of Willie McGee. There seems no reason why they should shy away from the case, and a man should die unjustly, because his prime support has come from a Communist-front organization.

GOING TO THE DOGS

At Minnesota university the staff of the Agriculture union is wondering if the building is going to the dogs. A black and white spotted dog crawled under a table in the lounge and licked his bloody leg and cried. The veterinary clinic was called in, but refused to help because the dog's owner was unknown. The St. Paul Humane society finally came to the rescue.

BUTANE BUGGY

A Texas engineering student installed in his auto several months ago a motor which runs on butane gasoline. The project has saved him much money, but more than that he wrote a research paper on the project.

The new invention has also brought him membership in several honorary societies. And he says the biggest advantage to his motor is if: "you are riding along and run out of butane you can flip a switch and you're running on gasoline," until you get to your nearest butane dealer. At 12 cents a gallon, could you ask for more?

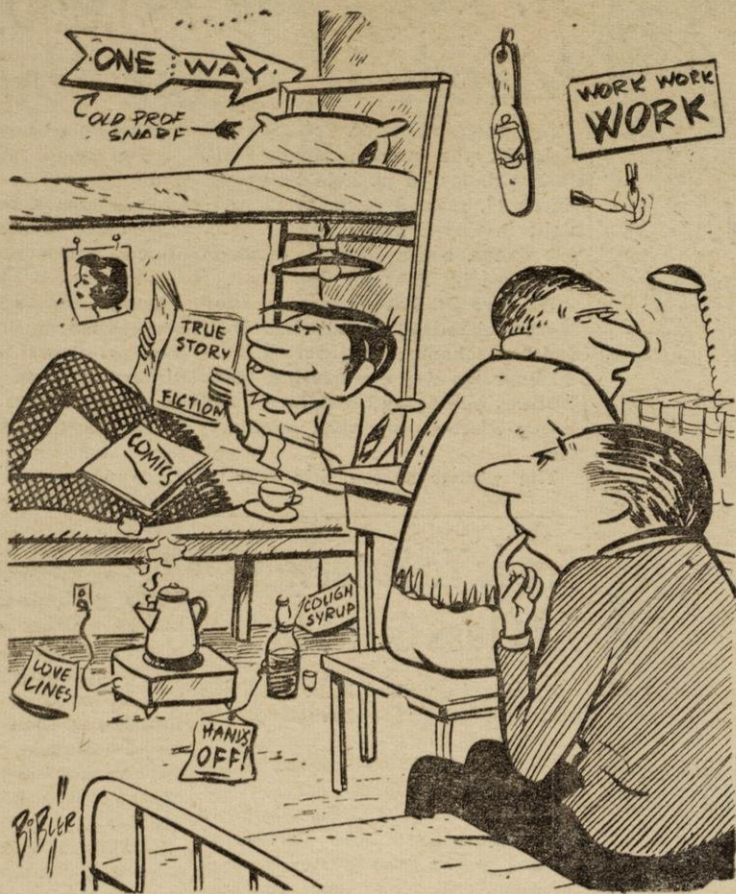

Two University of California students are facing trial for action they took in a disturbance at a local hospital strike. The two threw garbage cans in front of a truck that was speeding through picket lines.

They have been charged with disorderly conduct and assault and battery. They were also arrested for throwing tacks in the street. They will appear before the Berkeley Hall of Justice the Daily Californian reported.

THE CARDINAL MUSIC CRITIC

To the Cardinal:

We have read Marshall Lindsay's recent articles with always the same predominant wish and fervent hope that we could write and criticize even half as well as this so-called "critic". It is seldom that one is able to read an article of such quality as those written by our friend Marshall.

It has been called to our attention, however, that there has been published one such article in the Men's Halls Association's weekly newspaper, The Spectator. Since we should like to share it with Mr. Lindsay and his reading public, we ask that it be published, not with the desire to criticize Mr. Lindsay's past reviews, but rather to help him see the light in the future.

—S. Larry Eberlein

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the Spectator Article, "Critic Pans Concert:"

("IMAGINE THIS APPEARING IN A WIDELY READ CAMPUS PUBLICATION")

"Jean Casadesus' concert Sunday afternoon was inspiring. The Union-Theater was jammed and many were turned away, this critic being one of them."

I didn't actually see the young Frenchman play, but I listened to the concert from the lobby. This, however will not effect my comments on the performance. It is a known fact that it makes no difference if one hears a recital in the concert hall or over a loud speaker system.

"Mr. Casadesus opened his recital with the Liszt Concerto in E-flat major. The pianist interpreted Liszt's concerto with all the glorious youth and vigor of his 24 years. The great Liszt could not have played with more life, more inspiration.

"Beethoven's "Appassionata" sonata suffered from a few insignificant mechanical errors, but the work was captured by the maestro.

"The complex passages of Debussy's "Reflets dans l'eau" flowed from the Steinway smoothly and beautifully, an accomplishment for any pianist. This was French music interpreted by a Frenchman — all the sadness, the gaiety, the youth of France.

LANGDON STREET

(Done in the manner of Carl Sandburg)

Baloney center of Madison,
Pin Maker, Snarker of Meat,
Player with Buicks, and the City's Date Handler, Stormy, husky, brawling,
Street of the Padded Shoulders:
They tell me you are wicked, and I believe them; for I have seen your painted co-eds in front of the houses luring the boys.
Fierce as a fraternity dog drooling for action, cunning as an independent pitted against Greeks,
Smooching,
Quaffing,
Speeding,
Slipping,
Pinning, fighting, unpinning, Giggling the beery, bawdy, leering laughter of adolescence; half naked, swearing, proud to be

THE BAF — D BLONDE

(With profound apologies to John Greenleaf Whittier)

Curses on thee, brazen wench,
Barefaced blonde, with cheek so French!
With thy Quest-shun mark brassier,
And thy sodden drunken leer;
With thy Revlon lip, redder still
Kissed by foolish males behind the Hill;
With the pancake on thy face,
And thy peroxide hair in place;
For my wallet I give thee curses—
And look for a woman who reimburses!

VERDAMNT! DRINK TO MADISON

(Done in the manner of a German stein song translated liberally by the author; to be sung to the tune of "Alt Heidelberg du Feine.")

So toast to Maiden Madison, and her lakish eyes;
To her skirts of willow through which Hammers-ley spies.

Ja, drink, to Fraulien Madison, glory of the skies!

So toast to Maiden Madison, bitte, and her hilly shoulder;

To her coolish personality, may it get no colder,
Ja, drink, to Madison—pretty as a tourist folder.

So! Toash to Maiden Madison (burp) and her rounded, er, chest;

To Kamerad Abe Lincoln, who covers up the rest,
Ja, shlobber it down, and order unodder, Fritz, bitte; ach, such ein fine barmaid, her name ist Freida, dash ish ein gut name, ja? Jush like in Madison—the burgh I liebste best.

ALPHA XI's

(First apologies to Joyce Kilmer. Next, apologies to Alpha Xi, the sorority that best rhymes with tree).

I think I'd rather see
A poem as lovely as an Alpha Xi.

An Alpha Xi whose beady mouth doth roam,
Round a beer mug's sweetly flowing foam.

An Alpha Xi who looks at males all day
And lifts her angora arms to prey;

An Alpha Xi who may in springtime wear
A nest of curlers in her hair;

Upon whose bosom pins have lain
With future prospects on the brain;

Poems are made by fools like me—

Further information about the tournament will be posted shortly in the billiards room.

Employment Bureau Offers Help Getting Students Summer Jobs

By JEAN LOPER

What to do this summer is a problem still bothering many university students.

If the difficulty is that of finding a job, the student employment bureau may be able to help.

Under the direction of Miss Marion Tormey, the bureau last summer found vacation-time work for at least 300 students.

Now it's again handling requests for resort and summer camp employees. Most of these requests come from within the state, although quite a few have come from the East and some have been received from the West. It also reports that a few civil service jobs are available.

The U. S. department of agriculture wants workers for a white pine blister rust control project in the forests of California. It needs supervisory, technical and labor personnel.

A bit later on, Miss Tormey says, canning factory jobs will be coming through.

Students wanting work are urged to stop into the office in room 309 of the Union. There they can find applications to fill out as well as folders containing listings of job openings. The applications are kept on file so that students can be notified if the special type of work they want turns up. Generally, however, it's advisable to check now and then with the bureau as to employee requests that may have come in.

Assistant dean of women Emily Chervenik, who is in charge of vocational guidance, reports that a Milwaukee department store is considering holding a summer training course in merchandising. She suggests that girls who are interested in this possibility leave their names with her.

Miss Chervenik points out that summer jobs need not be considered simply as means of making money. Every job experience counts. She urges that students take along to their vacation-time work a certain amount of curiosity. Waiting on table at a summer resort, for example, offers excellent opportunities in learning how to meet the "public."

Summer work, if undertaken with active interest, can be one of the best bases for selecting one's life-time career, Miss Tormey said.

Mead Announces Second Half Of $1,000,000 Senior Gift Drive

The second section of a two semester drive for pledges to a $1,000,000 fund for a university auditorium was announced last night by Charles Mead, chairman of the senior class gift fund.

Mead, who was appointed by the Senior council to handle solicitations among the seniors graduating in June, announced that eight area captains and 140 solicitors will contact every member of the class of '51. There are approximately 2,000 students in the class.

We'd like to have the contacts made by the end of March," Mead said.

The pledges which the seniors will be asked to subscribe are for an amount of $100 payable over a ten year period.

"The pledge has been set up to make the first payments as easy as possible," said Mead. "The student is asked to pay $1 when he signs the pledge, $3 a year from that date, $5 in two years and so on for a ten year period. The last payment would be for $19," he said.

Even more important than the actual collection of the money right now, however, is educating the seniors to the financial problems of the university expansion program, and emphasizing that the university and its new buildings are largely dependent on their contributions.

Most gratifying of the results of the solicitors so far was Fritz Heise's check to the senior class for $100 which was received several weeks ago by Ann Anderson, a senior living in Cochrane house.

Pledges Offer Plan To Clean Up Library

A group of Langdon st. fraternity boys has offered free labor — someone else's — to help clean off the paint on the skyward reaching beams of the university's memorial library.

Last week, Greek-letter "sportsmen" flew their colors and added their painted insignias to the rapidly ascending library beams. Now, says Phi Sigma Delta pledge president Lennie Star, "we've offered the workmen the service of the fraternity actives to help remove the paint."

WIAA Tourney Opens Today at

DICK SNOW SAYS—

It's Sno' Fooling!

THIS AFTERNOON the 36th annual Wisconsin Interscholastic athletic association basketball tournament gets underway at the Wisconsin fieldhouse. In the past few years, the WIAA gathering of a select group of Wisconsin high schools' cage crop has been a tremendous success. Advance sales indicate that this year will be no exception.

hope that this tournament will be successful for many years to come—not to determine a state champion—but to continue to offer the spectators the same keen competition, courage, and sportsmanship that it has in the past.

Go to it, kids!

TIP FOR THE DARKHORSE OF THE MEET—Three-C winner, Rib Lake. The Rib Lake outfit beat Hurley in the Spooner regional and that takes a lot of doing. They are said to average 6' 1" for 11 players.

PLEA TO TOSA BACKERS—Let's keep the demonstrations down to a mild roar this year. Representatives of the Fox River Valley conference and the Milwaukee City Conference will be here to witness the tournament's operation. The two leagues are thinking of entering their champions in the "Big Show."

SPEAKING OF TOURNAMENT MANAGEMENT reminds me that freshmen football coach George Lanphear is the manager of this year's get-together with Art Lenz handling the tournament publicity and the program. The university is lending its fieldhouse for the meet plus its technicians and officials, etc. Seems like a good deal for the WIAA.

JACK NEWMAN and DON METZGER will divide up the announcing for the ten games for stations WIBA, WIBA-FM, and WFOV-FM. Don is now a "J" school student and Jack use-to-was.

ELEVEN INCHES DOESN'T SEEM LIKE MUCH, but that's the difference in height between Bernard Schobel (5' 6") and Marvin Doubek (6' 5") of the Rib Lake team.

MADISON WEST IS THE ODDS-ON FAVORITE of some of the up-town writers, but Wisconsin Rapids rates the spot for their season's play.

SOME OF THE BOYS from the twin-cities of Neenah-Menasha tell me that Pat O'Keefe of the Menasha Blue Jays will put on a better show than Charley Block did in '48 for the Jays.

THE TOSA SQUAD lost a high-scoring center, Art Matthias, in mid-year, but seem to have gotten along a lot better without him.

ONE THING YOU CAN COUNT ON—Bud Foster has several sharpened pencils in his pockets to "scout" some of the high school flashes.

Gehrmann Says 'Someone' Will Run 'Less Than 4:09.5' Saturday

By HERB ROZOFF

Miler Don Gehrmann predicted yesterday that the Chicago Daily News Banker's mile Saturday night "will certainly be better than 4:09.5 (his winning time last year) because Fred Wilt has done better than that all year."

Was the former Badger track ace counting himself out of the race? No, but he told the Daily Cardinal in a telephone interview from Milwaukee, that his battle with a persistent cold was still going on. "I'm feeling better now than I did last Saturday, but I still have a cold," Gehrmann said.

Gehrmann said he definitely would compete in the event, but would not venture where he would finish in the race. He disclosed, however, that he would not have time for a workout this week — which will put him at a decided disadvantage to the other three entries. Gehrmann will be defending champion Saturday night.

Along with his greatest "follower" —Agent Wilt — Stewart Ray of the New York Athletic club and Finland's Denis Johansson have also told Daily News officials they will be on hand for the paper's 15th annual meet.

Last Saturday night, Wilt out-ran the other entries, and was ahead of Gehrmann by nearly 20 yards at the finish of the Milwaukee Journal mile. Johansson, who ran unattached, but is a freshman at Purdue, failed to make the "win-place-show" columns of the 1,000 yard trek.

Baseballers Hold Lengthy Drills in Annex; Mansfield Greet 3 New Candidates

Despite the present winter weather the varsity baseball team, which again this year may not have outdoor practice before its first game, is continuing long daily workouts in the Armory annex.

Coach Art Mansfield, a little optimistic last week, had his outfielders issued spikes in hopes that his ball hawks would be able to get in a few fly chasing exercises in the near future. But cold weather on top of the recent snowfall might keep the fields closed for weeks to come.

"DYNIE" MANSFIELD ... Going Outside?

The infielders and pitchers, though they may not have a chance to work out doors before the opener, should be in good shape. Mansfield has put his infielders through long workouts during the past week with results. Fielding has been sharp and throwing hard and accurate.

The pitchers, getting plenty of opportunities to throw in batting practices, are working hard on their speed and control. During the recent drills the left handers have been showing plenty of fire.

Ronnie Moore, sophomore south-paw from Lansing, Michigan, has been giving the hitters the most trouble. His sharp breaking curves and hard fast balls have the hitters wondering. Lavern Andrews and Al Suter, two other left-handers and right-handers Ron Unke and Gene Radke are also working smoothly.

Mansfield greeted three more men last weekend, Bob Wolff, Harvey Kuenn and Jim Van Dien, members of the basketball team. Kuenn, slated for the shortstop role has picked up the pace rapidly and looks like he'll win himself the job.

Sunday afternoon, Mansfield held a two-hour blackboard session during which he demonstrated base running and defensive procedures.

All the players ran time trials over the 146-yard distance. Jim Van Dien, captain-elect of the cage squad ran the distance in 16.9 with Jim Szulczewski, an end on the grid team, posting the second best time of 17.3.

Gymnasts Close With Michigan

Wisconsin's gym team closes out its dual season against Michigan Saturday.

The Wolverines are sending eight men. They have one man, Conny Ettle, who is entered in five events —everything except the trampoline. Ettle took fourth place in the all-round event at the Big Ten meet last year. This year, as a junior, he ought to be stronger than ever.

Gordy Johnson, leading Badger scorer, is hoping to duplicate his performance of last week when he took two firsts against Indiana.

Earl Fredrick, Wisconsin high bar and ring man, is out of competition as may be Bob Halfman who works the trampoline.

Fredrick wrenched his back when he fell from the bar last Wednesday. Halfman pulled a muscle in his leg at the Ohio State meet two weeks ago and did it again in the Indiana meet last Saturday.

Add Tennis Match

A dual match with Lawrence college at Madison has been added to the 1951 University of Wisconsin varsity tennis schedule, Athletic Director Guy Sundt, announced here today.

The match will be played on the varsity courts May 8.

List Track 'Event' Trophy Winners

Among the most prized University of Wisconsin athletic awards are the "Event Trophies", donated by former Badger track and field stars and awarded each year to the best performers in their respective events. The awards are made on a basis of the entire year's record of each man. Last year's winners were:

Walker Reid, James Englander, LeRoy Collins, Don Gehrmann, Loid Atkinson, Jerry Welch, Ted Bleckwenn, Ken Huxhold, James Kuehl, William Sullivan, and Dick Kellman.

M. West, Baraboo W. Rapids Favored In 36th Prep Meet

Wisconsin prep basketball reaches the peak of the '50-'51 season this afternoon as the 36th annual Wisconsin state tourney opens at the fieldhouse at 2 p. m.

The "giant" of the afternoon games will be the hometown Madison West's Regents, who paired with the "midget" team from Onalaska.

West has an overall record of 21-2, against the visitors 23-3 during the season. Onalaska has the poorest record in the state with a 1-10 record. The name of the offensive-defensive team while the Regents are just a notch above them.

In the second afternoon game Baraboo and Rib Lake will fight out for a chance at a seat in the semi-finals Friday. Both teams have the same season records, 20-2.

Rib Lake has been tagged tournament darkhorse. The Lake survived the Spooner sectional tourney, which sent Hurley to the 1950 prep king St. Croix Falls Madison.

Baraboo's team averages 58 points with Center Jim Schilstra as the team's tallman at 6'4".

Tonight Menasha and Wisconsin Rapids clash in the 7:30 opener. Menasha Blue Jays average 51.1 points against nearly 6' for the Rapids team. Coach Phil Manders' Rapids have a 21-2 season record, their losses coming in a pair of 100 games, with Neenah and Stevens Point.

Coach Leslie McKay of Menasha, his team matched in the second game tonight with Wisconsin Rapids, told the Daily Cardinal yesterday that one of his first string players was out of the line-up because of a broken bone in his wrist. The jury came in the final game of Eau Claire —the tussle that brought the northern school to tonight's quarter-finals.

"Boss" Bill Walters of Tosa said that he would start regulars Berner and Jim Hamilton at forward spots, and Guards Jim Spicuzza and Wally Jensen, both with Center Al Tetzlaff. The Milwaukee area representatives average 6', giving them a height edge of two inches on Menasha.

Madison West, Baraboo, Wisconsin Rapids, and Tosa have been stilled as pre-meet favorites. Tickets are still available for four games today and tomorrow. Saturday night is a complete sell-out.

Vacation In Miami For Walsh-men

Diamond, Zamzow Replace White, Hopkins in Badger Boxing Lineup

Two replacements have been made by boxing coach Johnny Walsh in the Wisconsin lineup for Friday night's match with Miami at Coral Gables, Fla.

After being out of action for two weeks due to a broken nose, Gene Diamond will replace Jimmy White as the Badger 125 lb. representative. Also making the flight to Florida is Tommy Zamzow, replacing Charley Hopkins at 130 lbs.

The rest of the traveling squad includes: Carroll Sternberg, 135; Pat Sreenan, 145; Capt. Dick Murphy, 155; Wayne Hoffman, 165; Gerry Meath, 175; and Bobby Ranck, heavyweight.

The Badgers will be out for their third dual win of the season—having beaten Syracuse and Washington State in their last two starts. In their first two matches of the season, the Badgers drew with Gonzaga and lost to Penn State.

The team left by plane yesterday afternoon and arrived in Coral Gables at 8:35 p. m. They will leave Miami Sunday and be in Madison around 8:30 p. m.—again by plane.

Koehler Named Chairman UCD

Glenn Koehler, professor of electrical engineering and radio education at the university, has been named chairman of the university civil defense committee's subcommittee on communications, Prof. Lloyd F. Rader, chairman of the committee, announced recently.

Professor Koehler will plan communications that would be operative even in case of power loss during any wartime emergency. He will set up communications control centers on the campus and organize a communications system based on police radio and messenger service, all of which will be tied in with city, county, and state communication systems.

Professor Koehler joined the university staff as an instructor in electrical engineering in 1920 after service with the army signal corps during World War I. He received his bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from the University of Illinois in 1918 and his master's degree from Wisconsin in 1928.

Warfarin...

Chicago yesterday: "The patent is a joint patent for a joint invention. The inventors being... Drs. Link, Stahmann, and Ikawa."

Link, now in Arizona vacationing, brought WARF patent policies into a public controversy Feb. 8 when he charged Dr. Harry Steenbock, another university biochemist, with "sabotaging" one of his projects.

In a public speech to over 200 people Link attacked Steenbock for unduly influencing the WARF trustees on distribution of Link's vitaminized aspirin.

Link said at the time that he was bringing his complaints into the open so that Steenbock "doesn't influence the trustees on any matters pertaining to patents which have my name on them." Link said then he was in the process of negotiating a contract for warfarin net avails (profits).

Link filed brief with Haight Feb. 24 on his plans for distribution of the warfarin net avails. Neither Haight or Link has made public Link's request.

Stahmann and Haight have also consulted on the warfarin net avails, but there have been no reports on any contact between Ikawa and Haight.

In a Feb. 20 newstory, the Cardinal reported that the names of Stahmann, Link and Ikawa were on the patent for warfarin, officially known as Compound 42. The university information had stated that the invention came from Link's laboratory but didn't state specifically who was the inventor.

In an interview with the Cardinal yesterday Stahmann said he "had no comment to make at this time."

A library survey of 15 scientific papers and five articles on warfarin showed the following:

Stahmann is listed on four of the papers in the series on the hemorrhagic sweet clover disease. In a paper published in April 1941, the discovery of dicumarol, the causative agent of the cattle disease is announced.

The other names on the paper include Charles Huebner, another worker, and Link's. Dicumarol is used as an anti-blood coagulant for clinical purposes. It was the discovery of this drug that led to the development of warfarin, the wonder rat poison. It was Huebner and Stahmann, Link says in a paper, who "in a brilliantly executed molecular diagnosis established its (dicumarol's) chemical identity."

Stahmann's name again appears on three other papers in the sweet clover series along with Link's and other workers.

In an April 1944 paper published in the sweet clover series Ikawa's name enters along with Link and Stahmann and seven other research workers. It was this work which first established the more powerful effects of Compound No. 42, warfarin. Another paper signed by the three inventors and titled studies of 4-dihydrocoumarins, included no. 42, warfarin, in its results.

versity were killed, and Feinsinger was injured.

The Rice Company had asked that the court rule that Bard was an "Independent contractor, and not an employee."

In other testimony yesterday, Doctors John Quinlevan and Robert Burns testified concerning Feinsinger's injuries, which he claims have left him permanently crippled. Burns said that Feinsinger's hip, injured in the crash, has shown no improvement, and may get worse.

nor Fielding Wright commutes his sentence, McGee will die next Tuesday.

McGee's case has been fought by the Civil Rights Congress, an organization listed as Communist by the U. S. attorney general's office.

YPA has asked students to send letters of protest to Governor Wright, Mrs. Marianne Hersheopf, social chairman said last night.

Dogs...

pharmacology and anesthesiology, who uses many of the dogs in his classes and research projects, admitted conditions in the kennels were crowded. In some cases, four and five dogs share the same wire pen.

The increased dog population is necessary to accommodate the larger medical classes, Dr. Orth said.

The dogs are used by students while learning how to handle anesthetics. Later each student performs an operation on one of the dogs to test his surgical skill.

The dogs are finally killed by injecting drugs into their bodies by medical students studying the effects of the drugs.

The university has been buying dogs from farmers at $3 a piece. However, the supply of dogs is not equal to the demand, Dr. Orth said.

Last fall the department did not have enough dogs for students to practice on. Dr. Orth gave the department six dogs he had been using in a research project. He had compiled six months data on the dogs, but gave them up so students might continue their studies.

Dr. Orth denied charges of improper treatment, of man's best friend at the school.

"I believe we take better care of our dogs than 90 per cent of the Madison residents take care of theirs," he said.

Medics...

pecially dogs, was essential to medical research. He said treatment of animals is beneficial to humans, and also develops cures for animal diseases.

"Those who will not permit such treatment are literally trifling with our lives," Dr. Orth said.

C. H. Crownhart, state medical society, said in a state of national emergency, medical schools are asked to increase doctors.

"The humane societies are not acting in good faith," Crownhart said. "We're trying to get out trained physicians, and the humane societies have the utter gall to stand in the way."

The regents have brought suit against the Dane county Humane society through the attorney general. The regents are seeking to force the society to furnish dogs to the medical school. The case will be heard March 26 in Dane county circuit court.

member and chairman of the joint committee, both said it was a "very nice meeting."

The committee indicated it would recommend that board select one woman and one man to fill the co-chairmanship. The four students recommended to board are:

Phil Ash, BS 2; Bettye Lail, BA 3; Molly Melham, HE 3; and Audrey Zilisch, SED 3.

Besides Searle and Klopff, the meeting was attended by Art Laun, Rita Baer, and Karl Stieghorst, all board members; Barbara Barnum, 1950 orientation co-chairman; Dorothy Runkel, assistant to the director of student personnel services; David Kanatz, counselor in the student activities office; and Grace Douma, assistant to the dean of women.

amendment to the Wisconsin Men's association (WMA) constitution. This amendment deals with the qualifications of the WMA officers. John Langer, WMA vice-president, explained the proposed amendment to the cabinet.

In the first vote the amendment failed to receive the required two-thirds vote necessary for passage. But the cabinet reconsidered and passed the amendment.

The proposed amendment must also be approved by other men's groups on campus before it goes into effect.

The message said that the governor's budget "was worked out with our full cooperation, and provides for maintaining a strong university. We believe, however, that it will leave undone, some of the things we think need be done."

The message was drawn up by the executive committee of the regents and forwarded to Sen. Foster Porter, chairman of the joint committee on finance, Monday.

Openings Remain On Foreign Tours

The educational division of General Tours, New York, has announced that there is still room for students to register for tours covering Western Europe. These tours will feature a special seminar of 10 days in a Swiss Alpine resort.

Senators Favor Non-Resident Bill

Passage of a bill which would open the residence halls to a small quota of foreign and out of state students was recommended yesterday by the senate committee on education and public welfare.

The bill was passed by the assembly last week. If it is passed by the senate and signed by Governor Kohler, it will become law.

Byron C. Ostby's (R.-Douglas) bill would allow a maximum of six per cent non-resident students in dorms at the discretion of the regents. The present statute gives entire preference to Wisconsin students. If passed by the senate, the bill would admit about 50 non-resident students to the dorms.

Physicists Invited To Research Conf.

Four members of the low temperature physics research team at the university have accepted invitations to attend a symposium on low temperature physics sponsored by the National Bureau of Standards. They are: Dr. C. Keith Meigs, Dr. Joseph Dillinger, Dr. F. A. B. Fowler, and Dr. J. M. Luttinger. The symposium will be held at the bureau in Washington, D. C. March 27-29, and sessions will phase liquid helium, superconductivity and thermal properties matter at low temperatures.
