BASE RUNNING IS POOR

The Wisconsin baseball team, playing one of the most erratic games ever seen on the local field, downed the Notre Dame nine on the local diamond yesterday afternoon by a score of 10 to 4.

Coach Lowman's proteges appeared to have forgotten all that they ever knew in the line of baserunning, but they had their batting eyes and converted 16 hits into 10 runs, enough to win almost any baseball game, regardless of all the foolish things that players sometimes do en route around the sacks. The Notre Dame boys did not have any trouble in getting to two Wisconsin pitchers, Pickford and Hoffman, for nine good sound clouts.

Rowdy Elliot won his way into the good graces of the fans when he walked up to the plate in the fifth inning and bambinoed the first ball pitched to him so far into center-field that he was able to negotiate his way all around the bases before the pill was returned to the infield. He was the first man up in that frame, and it was the only tally that the inning brought.

Wisconsin Scores First

Wisconsin tasted the first blood in its half of the initial round. Rolie Williams waited out a walk, and was sacrificed to second by Piggott. Ceaser's hit sent him home, but the latter died on second when Elliot struck out and Jack Williams fled to the second baseman.

Notre Dame came back with a bang. Blievenicht, first man up, sent a fast grounder through short, and Castner was ruled safe on a bunt. Thomas was hit by a pitched ball. D. Foley hit a grounder out to Rudiger, who threw the ball home in time to catch Blievenicht at the plate. Murphy bunted, scoring Castner, and Thomas trotted across the pan when Barry dropped the ball. The side was retired without any further scoring.

Wisconsin threatened to score in practically every inning. Barry and

American Legion to Take Census

The Madison posts of the American Legion, in cooperation with a nation-wide movement of the American Legion, are devoting this week and next to the task of taking census of all ex-service men situated in this city.

The census in the first and fifth wards is being made by the university posts, but the university Gun and Blade club is in no way connected with the university post. It is, however, the Gun and Blade of the Capital City Commercial College which is connected with the Legion.

The purpose of the census is to ascertain as near as possible the exact status of all ex-service men in Madison. Their record of service, possible claims against the government, views regarding the adjustive compensation plan will be laid bare. It will be found out how many of them have continued their government life insurance, how many are entitled to the compensation and, most important of all, how many are out of jobs or need assistance and who these are.

Sinclair, Johonnet and Edison Matters Are Expected to Come Up

DECIDE ON POLICIES

The open forum issue which has been hanging fire all year and which came to a head last week when Upton Sinclair was refused the use of a university hall for a speech, will be considered by the board of regents at a meeting in the Administration building at 10 o'clock today.

Regent members of the student life and interest committee met last night to discuss the advisability of an uncensored open forum. The committee is expected to make recommendations on the Student Senate proposal which provides for a solution of the problem by a joint committee of regents and students to pass upon the merits of the invited speakers.

Scott-Edison Affair

Whether university officials exceed their authority in ordering the dismissal from the university of Robert Johonnot '24 and Doris Moses '23, who were secretly married some weeks ago, and whether the letter of Prof. W. A. Scott to Thomas Edison should pass unnoticed by official action are other questions to be decided upon by the regents today. The regents are also confronted with the expelling of two senior students on a charge of theft and the threatened expulsion of a woman for being less than 5 minutes late on a "11 o'clock night."

The Edison episode has in a way been disposed of. Upon receipt of the letter from Prof. Scott, Mr. Edison sent copies of his questions, and Prof. Scott's answer, not only to the members of the board of regents but also to the members of the board of visitors and many of them offered personal regret that it had occurred, and Prof. Scott, it is said, wrote a letter of apology to the distinguished savant. However the fact that Prof. Scott will ask for a year's leave of absence may bring the matter to an official head.

In main the two questions to be decided at the present meeting will be the Upton Sinclair question and the right of the faculty to discipline students for matrimonial alliances. Whether there will be any discussion of the charges that the university authorities have been neglecting students, particularly freshmen, that instructors and professors may devote their time to individual research work, and that as a consequence a large number, alleged to be some 700, the actual figures being refused by the authorities, were dismissed or placed upon probation

Tuttle Reported To Be Recovering

Physicians Do Not Attribute Illness to Initiation Stunts

Neal Tuttle '25, who is reported to have been injured at the initiation of Skull and Crescent, is being taken care of at the Methodist hospital and is doing very well, according to Dr. J. A. Jackson.

Tuttle denies that his illness was due to the initiation and attributed it to indigestion. He was not taken ill until six hours after the initiation, and then fainted in the bathtub, injuring his skull.

Officers of Skull and Crescent asserted that the initiation was not violent and could not have any serious results. Dr. Van Valzah of the clinic said that indigestion appeared to be the cause of the illness.

SILENTLY, without the introduction of petty campus politics or the screeching publicity of a beauty contest" Neysa McMein and Hap Powell snuck around and selected the eight most beautiful women on our jolly old campus. We, for two, were completely surprised by the pictures in last night's Capital Times. We actually knew two of them and had heard of one of the others. Why did they stop at eight, we ask you?

All kidding aside, though, wait until Dean Nardin finds out what Neysa and Hap have been up to. Promiscuous publicity, that's what it is! Hurting the feelings of 2,492 coeds by actual count (We counted them as they came into the University Pharmacy the other afternoon.) to glut the pride of a mere handful—or armful—of eight armful. Tsawful.

SPEAKING of beauty contests, have you voted in the Commerce Magazine's latest pestiferation of the public yet? They're going to select not only the most beautiful girl, but the most beautiful man! Here's your chance, boys; don't crowd.

To the victor we dedicate a tooled tin vanity case and a one-way ticket to some place it's hard to leave, perhaps to Richland Center, that city of the unburied dead.

LET'S HAVE NO BOASTING, MR. BLEYER

IN the Theta Sig Cardinal, Mr. Bleyer speaks as follows about the secrets of Theta Theta Sig, of which he is the only male member:

"I have either forgotten them or confused them with the rituals of the seven other Greek letter organizations of which I am a member."

WE'VE heard that some paper a couple of thousand miles away was printing a weekly column edited by our rotund friend Heinz Rubel, but we didn't expect him to get away with it right here in his home town. He is. There's a column in the State Journal, with Heinz's picture on it. Here's a sample of what's in the Journal besides Heinz's picture:

OUR PRESPIRING REPORTER

Q. Is love eternal?
Margot Asquith: Yes
Q. Oh, I see, you don't hate yourself, do you?
And Heinz gets paid for that.

THE UNCENSORED REGENT

THE Capital Times is just full of gore. Listen to this. One of the Regents, asked by a reporter what he thought of kicking students out of school for getting married said: "It seems to me rather funny that they should get expelled for getting married. That is a new one. From what I learn, apparently there are a great many more around here who did worse than get married. I can't see anything wrong in getting married."

Well, neither can we. But then, we've never been married.

BACK ALLEY BLUES

Roll on, thou spotted squares of ivory, roll! Ten thousand bucks have come and gone through thee. Sev'n marks my pile with ruin; my control
Ends with an ignominious four and three;
So hear my prayers, cubes of iniquity,
I want not Little Joes or e'en Big Dicks,
For my initial bid was doubled three, A four-and-two, or five-and-one will fix
New shoes upon the kid; roll for me a six.

THERE'S a most beautiful dog contest, too. We suggest that when they pick the most beautiful man, the most beautiful woman, and the most beautiful dog, the man and the woman get married and buy the dog. Wouldn't that be nice?

Relics Of World War Are Placed In Separate Room

In striking contrast to rooms filled with relics of the past is the World War room set aside in the State Historical museum for souvenirs of the last war.

The first case is filled with French and German helmets, some with ragged holes through the crown and some camouflaged with reds, blues, and mud. One helmet designed to be worn by the Germans upon their triumphant entry into Paris was placed between a worn French cap, used in the trenches, and a torn gas mask.

A wicker basket for carrying shells in the trenches, shoes weighing five pounds, field telephones and articles picked up upon the battlefield comprise another case. The gilded saint and the beaded garment of a priest came from a ruined cathedral in France.

Jagged bayonets, steel darts, which were rained by the thousands upon soldiers from airplanes, star shells, hand grenades and a cross section of a large shell are contained in another case.

Rubber, shaped like onions in which form the Germans tried to smuggle rubber out of the country is shown in a case which also contains different varieties of money, food cards, and medals of honor.

This group of war trophies is the basis of a larger collection to be shown during the reunion of the Thirty-second Division in August.

June 9 will be the opening day of the engineers' surveying camp of the university at Devil's Lake. About 80 students will attend and the camp will be held for six weeks. Prof. Ray S. Owen is in charge.

"Way Down East" Is Griffith's Best Allegory

By P. H. J.

"Way Down East," master melodrama, bears all the earmarks of the D. W. Griffith genius of photodrama. It abounds in all the careful detail work, the minutely delineated characters, the homely pathos, the suspense, and the comedy element which the great producer loves to inject into his work.

The characters each depict one quality so obviously as to convert the old play into a pictured allegory. Lillian Gish as the betrayed maiden stars, and as usual is given opportunity to use her wiles to effective advantage. The principals are well supported by a vast number of persons with minor significance to the story.

The big feature of the picture, the ice scene is done with superb finish, and the suspense engendered thereby is tremendous.

A special orchestra performs a special "Way Down East" musical score and this adds materially to the atmosphere of the picture, and its enjoyment.

AGRICS REACH OUT TO STATE SCHOOL GROUPS

Plans that may result in the organization of many local associate chapters of the Country Life club in the Agricultural high schools and rural districts of the state by members of Agric Triangle will be outlined by Prof. E. M. Tiffany, of the Agricultural Educational department, at the regular meeting of Agric Triangle, at 9 o'clock this morning.

"The Country Life Club as a Connecting Link Between the College and the Rural Community" is the subject of Mr. Tiffany's address in which he will enumerate the opportunities for organizing country life clubs in the agricultural high schools of the state.

"The time is ripe for such a movement in Wisconsin," declared Mr. Tiffany. He also stated that country life clubs had been organized in the high schools of many states, notably Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Hope to Bring Closer Reunion
"There is probably no more significant movement among the rural high schools today than the organization of such clubs," says a representative of the Pennsylvania State College in a report on the growth of the movement. The organization was placed on a national basis through the efforts of the University of Illinois. About 20 colleges are affiliated with the National Country Life Association of America.

It is thought by members of Agric Triangle, Wisconsin Chapter of the Country Life club, that organization of local associate high school country life clubs will bring the university closer to the high school students and the people of the state. High school students will have an opportunity to become acquainted with university representatives, and learn of the opportunities which Wisconsin presents. Incidentally, university students can counteract propaganda that is being spread against the university.

Success of Programs Shows Need

"The success of the rural community programs thus far has demonstrated the need for such a movement," states Theodore B. Manny, in charge of rural community programs. "At the program, held at Mazomanie, members were flooded with questions about the university. The Wisconsin chapter already has five rural community programs and 10 community play days on its list.

"It seems as if the only limit to the number of programs that may be given is the membership in the organization. Enlarged opportunities for rural service will require greater membership; for obviously, a small number of students cannot conduct very many rural community programs."

Any student who is or has been enrolled in a course in agriculture is eligible for membership in the organization, according to the constitution. Agric faculty members are also eligible for membership. Majors in agricultural economics, rural sociology, agricultural Extension, and agricultural education are urged to join the organization. The public is invited to hear Mr. Tiffany's address this morning.

Betty Blythe Puts Pep Into New Fox Feature

By F. H. J.

If the Fox film, "The Queen of Sheba," showing at the Parkway for the present week, makes any distinct impression, it will be on account of the acting and charm of one person, Betty Blythe.

Without her the photodrama would be merely a tremendous turmoil of film footage, punctuated now and then with chariot races and diverting episodes. With Miss Blythe, the picture is interesting as long as she is in the foreground, but let her be absent for a change of costume, and the "Queen of Sheba" drops into a mere parade of expensive sets and movie lavishness.

The story is too long and involved to hold the interest of an audience which has been accustomed to the rapid action of the usual 5-reeler. In parts there is plenty of action, but when one views the entire picture, one finds his interest lagging and his senses clouded with ancient atmosphere and procedure.

But when Betty Blythe enters, things suddenly come to life. All the interest centers around her, and a better cast person for the part of the queen would be hard to find.

Although all the other major characters are quite well interpreted, none need especial mention. Most of the acting is somewhat strained, in an effort to portray the modern conception of historic deportment.

In spite of these shortcomings, the "Queen of Sheba" is worth seeing if only to gaze upon the magnificent sets and the extravagance of modern movie productions.

Fifty Attend State Language Meet Here

The ninth annual convention of Wisconsin Association of Modern Foreign Language Teachers, held here Friday and Saturday, was attended by fifty language teachers from Wisconsin colleges and high schools.

Yesterday afternoon papers were read by various members of the association. A dinner was given last night for all members in Lathrop hall. After dinner songs in German, Italian, and French were sung and a Spanish play was given which was written by Florence Lowe '23.

A resolution was passed Saturday morning asking all superintendents of the state schools to require that at least one foreign language be required in the high school curriculum.

The following officers were elected: President G. D. Deihl, Milwaukee; vice-president G. C. Cast, Appleton; editor Miss Laura B. Johnson, Madison; secretary and treasurer, C. F. Gillen, Madison; executives, Frank Colucci, Beloit; Mrs. C. H. Greenleaf, Madison; Miss Caroline Young, Madison; Miss Jeanne Zennses, Manitowoc.

Haresfoot Scores Are Being Sold Thruout Country

Orders for the scores of the 1921 Haresfoot musical show, "Kitty Corner," are being received at the Haresfoot office in the Union building. Copies of the score will be mailed to any part of the United States for gift or personal use. The score can also be obtained from Hook Brothers music store. The price is $1, the same that it has been for years.

William Sale '22, director of the score sale, yesterday said, "We are constantly selling copies of the score for 'Kitty Corner' and people all over the state who have bought scores have written telling of how much they have enjoyed the book. Many persons are buying copies to send home or to friends."

"The music to 'Kitty Corner' is the best that Haresfoot has ever produced," said Walter K. Schwinn '22, a member of the dramatic club, "and the brisk demand for copies of this year's enlarged score evidences its popularity."

CAMPUS FILMS WILL BE SHOWN TUESDAY NIGHT

The first showing of the new university moving picture, "Wisconsin Memories," scenes for which have been taken around the campus in the last few days, will be at the regent-faculty dinner Tuesday evening, May 2, as part of the program of entertainment.

One reel only, the third, will be shown, depicting Justice Burr W. Jones, impersonating John Oldgrad, coming to the university to ask President Birge what can be done to establish a closer relation between the more than thirty-five thousand graduates and former students, and their university. In answer the president tells the story of the Memorial Union, the home of Wisconsin Spirit, and the way in which it will bring alumni back at Homecoming and Commencement, as well as at other times during the year. The story is illustrated with scenes that depict Wisconsin's grave need of the Union, if the spirit of the university as the student body grows in size is to remain as vigorous as in the years of Wisconsin's glorious past.

A novel feature of the film is that at the end Gus Tuckerman is shown leading the audience in the "Varsity locomotive." As the film will be shown to alumni clubs throughout the country, "Gus" will have the honor of acting as cheer-leader on the screen for many thousands of Wisconsin men and women scattered from Maine to Los Angeles.

"Gus" Leads Cheers

Two reels of the film will be shown on Friday, May 5, before the noon meeting to the Chicago alumni at the Palmer House, as the first step in the new campaign for the Memorial Union. Extraordinary efforts are being made by the Chicago Wisconsin club to get out a large percentage of fifteen hundred or more Wisconsin men and women in the city. A committee under the leadership of R. F. Schuchardt, president of the Wisconsin club of Chicago, Israel Shrimski, president of the Alumni association, and George Haight, is organizing the campaign.

Schuchardt Wrote Play

The play "On Wisconsin," written by Mr. Schuchardt and to be given the evening of May 10 in the Aryan Grotto, is expected to bring out the largest number of alumni ever gathered in Chicago. Special trains are to be run from suburban points, and from Milwaukee.

"A special message to the students at Madison," said Prof. Gardner, who has just returned from Chicago, "was sent by the committee, asking them to write their parents in Milwaukee or Chicago urging them to attend the performance, which presents a series of scenes of student life somewhat in the form of a pageant, drawn from different eras of university history."

It will add to the interest of the play, said Prof. Gardner, that some of the alumni thus presented will be in the audience, and will hear from the lips of actors impersonating themselves, conversations which actually took place many years ago.

The theme of the play is the growth of Wisconsin into a premier position among state universities, and the increasing need for a get-together center such as the Memorial Union will provide. The campaign is to begin in Chicago on Thursday morning following the performance. Seats for the play are on sale at the Dearborn street entrance of the Commonwealth Edison Electric Shop. President Birge and other members of the Wisconsin faculty will attend the performance, which as a pageant of university history has probably never been equalled.

Park Hotel Appoints House Detective

To disprove rumors to the effect that improper use is occasionally made of the accommodations for guests of the Park hotel and that sometimes students are rumored to be among the offenders, Manager A. M. Wilson on Saturday announced the appointment of a plain clothes house detective who will patrol all parts of the building and bring any irregularities to the attention of the management.

Would A Thirteen Month Year Have An Appeal For You

A nine-day week and a thirteen month year will be the latest innovation in calendar reform if the American proposal is accepted at the International Astronomical union now meeting at Rome to discuss ways of improving the calendar.

"I am not in favor of that American proposal because it destroys the only stable time measure we have at present—the week," declared Prof. George Cary Comstock at Washburn observatory Saturday. Pope Gregory XIII gave the calendar to the world in 1582. He based his calendar on the one formulated by Julius Caesar before the coming of Christ.

"Thirteen months? I do not consider that a wise plan. Our entire economic system is based upon a year of four quarters. No banker, no business man would accept such a change of the calendar," said Professor Comstock.

Another American plan attempts to get rid of the inequality in the length of months. According to the proposal the year would have 12 months divided into four quarters each. The third month would have 31 days, and in this way a year would contain 364 days. The extra day would be converted into an international holiday.

"Stick to the uniform week measure and try to reform the irregular features of the Georgian calendar. The only urgent reform I would suggest for the calendar is a new arrangement of the leap years," said Professor Comstock.

Chinese Stones On Exhibition in Museum

Charcoal rubbings from ancient Chinese stones, collected and brought over from China by R. E. Barber, of the Economics department, are on display this week in the State Historical museum. Mr. Barber was formerly stationed at Christian college, Canton.

A valuable record of early Christianity in China, and also an account of the emperors who favored the creed is contained in the oldest monument the Nestorian, from which a rubbing was taken. The Nestorian monument which was erected in 781 A. D. at the height of the Nestorian Christianity in China, is ten feet high and weighs two tons.

Rubbings were also taken from the Confucius stone, from the Goddess of Mercy, and the sacred mountain tablet.

"Chinese experts place specially prepared paper on the tablet and trace the marking of the stone upon it," said Mr. C. E. Brown of the State Historical museum yesterday.

GIVE THE SYSTEM A CHANCE

THE president of the freshman class has addressed a splendid letter to every first year man urging him to comply with the edict that the green cap be worn voluntarily as a mark of class pride and university loyalty. This letter evinces so commendable a spirit that it deserves to be read by every student. It follows:

"Dear Class Mate:

"In case you are one who has not taken advantage of the opportunity presented under a recent ruling of the Student Senate to identify yourself not only as a dyed-in-the-wool member of the class of 1925, but also as a loyal Wisconsinite, I wish to urge your reconsideration of the question.

"Our class found itself in a rather peculiar predicament, as regards the green cap problem, following as we did the disastrous Cap Night of last spring. But the student body of Wisconsin, as a unit, signified their belief that the green cap was not only a Wisconsin tradition, but a badge of honor to those who wore it, and urged that it be voluntarily worn by every freshman.

"No threat accompanies this final decision. If you don't wish to wear the emblem of our class, you will not be compelled to do so. But as a sign of your individual sportsmanship and loyalty as well, as an indication of your pride in your class and love of Wisconsin, I ask you to uphold our school's oldest tradition. If we uphold the tradition it will live for our successors as well. It is up to us! If you are not wearing yours, have it on tomorrow.

"Yours under the green lid of 1925."

"JACK A. LARSH."

Thus the question is put squarely up to the honor and sportsmanship of the men of 1925. They have the opportunity of establishing the green cap as a tradition in the true sense of the word. No tradition worthy of the name needs to be enforced by the club or by duckings in the lake. A tradition is a practice handed down from generation to generation and made inviolate by free will observance. Will the class of 1925 respond?

Wisconsin is one of the last great universities of the country to turn its back definitely upon the odious system of indiscriminate hazing. Other universities rid themselves of this nuisance and at the same time placed their legitimate traditions on a higher plane. This is the task which now faces this university.

The freshmen have in their hands now the settlement of this question, which has already absorbed too much attention. The Traditions commission, the Sophomore tradition committee, and the Student Senate have taken their stand that the green cap should be maintained as a tradition and that it should be worn voluntarily as an expression of pride in class and loyalty to school. The only two alternates are the complete abandonment of the cap or a return to the compulsory system. The students have made it clear that their sentiment is overwhelmingly for the green cap, so that abandonment is out of the question. A return to the compulsory system will lead inevitably to indiscriminate hazing with its train of rioting and death. This the university administration and the people throughout the state will not and should not tolerate.

Give the voluntary system a chance.

A TALE OF THE NORTH

FRIDAY evening the Forensic board is bringing to the university one of the best attractions of the year. Vilbjalmur Stefansson, world famous explorer, will give a lecture on his experiences in the Arctic. Besides the fact that he is a noted personage, Mr. Stefansson is an exceptionally interesting speaker who has a reputation for holding audiences as few lecturers can. In short, the university is very fortunate in having him come here, and it is hoped that the student body especially, realizing the value of hearing him, will turn out in force Friday evening.

Wisconsin students have always been fortunate in having the opportunity to be entertained by worth while people, but seldom the chance to hear a man of the calibre of Mr. Stefansson. He has had remarkable experiences from which to make not only a fascinating story, but a valuable educational talk as well. He knows the Arctic, and it is his purpose to describe it as it is, to dispel illusions and to give novel facts concerning it. When one remembers that on his last exploration, for five years Stefansson and his party were practically lost and entirely unheard from, does any one doubt the interesting adventure of his story? Furthermore, it may be the last chance that Wisconsin will have to hear this noted explorer for another period of years, since he is to make a race for the north as a representative of the British government as soon as the season permits.

Friday evening's feature is well worth attending; that is obvious. It also deserves a record attendance because the better the support given, the more able will the Forensic board be to bring more speakers here next year, and at proportionately more reasonable prices. It will cost only fifty or seventy-five cents to hear a famous man tell of extraordinary adventures in the mysterious land of the far north. Don't miss hearing Stefansson's talk at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the gym.

The Indian is said to have crossed the shores of Lake Mendota when the white men drove him out, saying that it would claim seven lives every year. Until three years ago this prophecy is said to have been true.

Of those applying Mrs. Belmont's personality was considered the best suited to the role to which she was assigned. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Andrews, of New York and New Port.

Whole World Sick Politically, Says C. E. Buell, Madison, Just Back From Tour Around Globe

Dark Races Under Leadership of Japan Ready to Renew Struggle of Orient Against Occident, He Says; Chinese Condition Bad.

"The whole world is sick politically and is apt to be much sicker before it is better unless the Genoa conference accomplishes more than would seem possible," C. E. Buell, Madison attorney, who has just come back from a trip around the world, declared in an interview today. Mr. Buell and his wife spent some time in India, visiting their daughter.

"I am delighted to be back in Madison," said Mr. Buell. "We have had a wonderful trip, have seen many peoples, but there is no land and no people like America and the Americans."

"England and the United States are the two great steady forces in the world today and our civilization and the supremacy of the white race depend upon there being the utmost good feeling and cooperation between them."

"The dark races, under the leadership of Japan, are ready to renew the struggle of the Orient against the Occident. Japan theoretically is allied with England and the United States to preserve peace, but unfortunately no one, at least in the far east, has any confidence in her. Her ambition is to be the Germany of the far east and to be the dominant force in world policies."

"The situation in China is bad. While in theory they have a republic, it is such only in name and when there, we could clearly foresee the struggle now going on for the supremacy of one or the other of the military factions."

"The situation in India is far from reassuring but is not as bad as one might think from reading our American newspapers. England's aim is to extend to the Indians complete control in local affairs, with representation in parliament, as fast as they are fitted for it, making India ultimately one of the independent units of the British government. This court meets with the approval of the intelligent and reasonable Indians but is not satisfactory to the radicals of the Ghandi type, who demand complete independence. It would be most unfortunate for the people of India and almost a world calamity to have the English forced out of India at the present time. There has been a good deal of bloodshed in India the past months, due largely to religious fanaticism, and I would not be surprised to see more, but I think the English government has the matter in hand and is prepared to cope with any situation. I heard great criticism of the government because of its failure to earlier deal vigorously with the situation, but I have become convinced that it was because of its desire to give the Indians every opportunity to demonstrate whether or not they were capable of governing themselves to the extent to which they are entitled under the present laws. If the counsel of the wisest and most intelligent of the native Indians prevails, matters will improve rapidly; if not, much bloodshed will follow."

U. S. Officer Wounded in French May Day Fest

MAYENCE — During a May Day demonstration here today a captain of the American army was wounded by the manifestants. A column of May Day demonstrators was marching through the Rhein-strasse when, through a mistake in steering, the American captain's automobile ran into the procession. The machine was stopped immediately but it was surrounded and attacked by a crowd which began to mount the car. The captain, believing his life in danger, drew his revolver. One of the men in the crowd tried to disarm him, but the revolver was discharged and the officer sank back, wounded in the shoulder. French gendarmes extricated the American car and made several arrests.

Must Teach By Being Not By Rote—Dawson

"The emotional appeal is the only means of approaching the non-intellectual," said Prof. F. M. Dawson of the university, before a meeting of the Jewish students Sunday evening. He discussed several branches of the religious system, declaring that institutional religion leads to uplift of certain groups and restrains and retards other groups, because of their emotional diversities.

Tobacco Pool Drive On In So. Wisconsin

An Intensive Membership Campaign Launched This Week

An intensive membership drive among tobacco growers in the large producing section of southern Wisconsin will be put under way this week by the proposed Northern Wisconsin tobacco pool in an effort to contract for 75 per cent of the total producing acreage of the state before June 1.

Organizers from Kentucky, headed by James C. Stone, president of the association in that state already handling the greater part of the crop of the Burley tobacco district, are counted on to push the membership campaign among the Wisconsin tobacco farmers.

They face their chief problem in the southern growing section where most of the 60,000,000 pounds of the product is grown annually. Already a large section of the farmers in the northern tobacco section have contracted to dispose of their crop through the proposed pool.

One month is set as the time limit for the drive, if the 1922 Wisconsin crop is to be handled cooperatively. It is because of this that the experienced Kentucky organizers are asked to lend their aid.

Varsity Quartet Serenade Closes Concert Season

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

KNOLLIN THIRD IN HURDLES AT PENN CONTEST

Thompson and Barron,
Two Champs, Place
First

Albert J. Knollin, Badger track captain, survived the preliminaries of the 120-yard high hurdles at the Penn relays Saturday out of a large field of entries, and in the finals, pitted against the best hurdlers in the country, placed third behind Earl Thompson of Dartmouth, world's champion hurdler, and Barron of Penn. State, winner of second place in the high hurdles in the last Olympic games.

Thompson, the Dartmouth wonder, flew over the high sticks in the fast time of 15 seconds flat; Knollin deserves much credit for placing in a race with the world's speediest hurdler.

Ties for Third

Dale Merrick, the only other Wisconsin entry at the Penn classic, tied at 12 feet 3 inches with three other athletes for third place in the pole vault; but without his customary good luck, Merrick lost out in the toss up.

Gardner of Yale was the winner of the vault with a jump of 12 feet 9 inches. The Badger star, evidently, was having an off day as he had cleared the bar at 12 3-4 inches in the indoor relays at Illinois this year.

Sundt Second

Guy Sundt and George Stolley were the Wisconsin representatives who scored in the special events at the Drake relays last Saturday. Sundt did remarkably well by placing second in the shot put and third in the broad jump; he was beaten by conference men in these events and consequently should count heavily against Illinois in the dual meet to be held next Saturday at Camp Randall.

Stolley proved himself to be a worthy running mate for captain Knollin in the hurdles when he finished second to Ernst, Michigan Aggies, in the 440-yard low hurdles. This race is said to be one of the most strenuous of track events and was clipped off by Ernst in the excellent time of 54 2-5 seconds.

Fourth in Relays

In the two mile and half-mile relays Wisconsin teams placed fourth. Hohfeld, Wade, Ramsey and Wall made up the two mile team. The fact that the outside lane was drawn was a great handicap in this race; and, although Hohfeld running first man led the field to the tape, the Ames, Minnesota, and Iowa teams passed the Badger runners in the latter part of the two mile grind.

The men who passed the baton in the half mile relay were Spetz, Johnson, Ellingson, and McClure. Spetz also worked up in the finals in the 100-yard dash but missed placing by a few inches.

Meet Illinois Saturday

Coach Thomas E. Jones has his entire squad working hard for the meet here with Illinois next Saturday. According to Coach Jones the Suckers have the best college team in the country at the present time, and, perhaps the best college aggregation of all time. Records were broken in the four mile relay, the javelin, and the high jump at the Drake meet by Gill's veterans. Sborne in the high jump performed without removing his sweat clothes until the bar stood 6 feet 2 inches; then he continued to sail over, reaching a height of 6 feet 6 inches.

The Badger's best chances to score next Saturday will be in the hurdles, the dashes, the weight events, and the pole vault; in the distance runs, the high jump, and javelin the Illinois stars are almost unbeatable. The Wisconsin squad will be doing well if it gives the invaders a tough scrap.

To Select Best Varsity Swimmer

The first all-university swimming meet will take place this afternoon at 4:30 in the gym tank. Three medals will be awarded to the men placing highest as all-around swimmers. A separate meet will be held for freshmen, in which three additional medals will be awarded.

This meet will be in the nature of a five event championship. Each entrant will be allowed to choose three events in which he thinks he is most capable; out of the remaining five events, the coach will select two others, and the man who gains the greatest number of points in the five events will be acclaimed the best swimmer in the university.

Half of the meet will be completed this afternoon, and the remaining events will be run off tomorrow.

Golf Team Goes Into Action Next Saturday

Eleven candidates for the Varsity golf team played a second round of 18 holes at the Maple Bluff course yesterday in preparation for the first match of the season with Beloit college at Beloit next Saturday.

The men who qualified also played 18 holes on Saturday. They are: Bauer, Capen, Bock, Stegeman, Gunther, Schils, Pope, Frost, Hook, Collins, and Hendra.

Athletic Director Thomas E. Jones, Norton C. Frost, and Henry Pope will select the Varsity squad on Wednesday.

Wisconsin is negotiating for matches with Northwestern university and a return match with Beloit in addition to the one scheduled to be played with the University of Chicago team on May 13.

Record Crowd Sees Wolverines Triumph

The biggest crowd that has witnessed a Wisconsin baseball game in the last 10 years saw the Badgers go down to a 9 to 2 defeat before Michigan at Camp Randall last Saturday. It was said at the athletic department that 3300 persons attended.

"We were glad to see the spirit shown by the students and townspeople," said Athletic Director Thomas E. Jones yesterday. "Additional bleachers had been erected to handle the crowd and there was room for everyone. More seats will be placed around the field for the Illinois game here next Saturday."

Fraternity men Make Good
Time in Individual
Events

Winning three first places, two seconds, and a third, Gibson, Alpha Gamma Rho, was easily the star of the annual interfraternity track meet which was held at Camp Randall last Saturday. Twenty-two points, two-thirds of his team's total, were annexed by Gibson and it was his work that put the Alpha Gamma Rho outfit ahead of Pi Kappa Alpha in second place.

Three Firsts

He took first place in the 100-yard dash in 10 2-5 seconds, won the broad jump with a jump of 19 feet 4 1-2 inches, and captured javelin throw with a heave of 126 feet. He took seconds in the 120 yard hurdles, the shot put, and won third in discus heave.

Pi Kappa Alpha scored 28 markers to finish second to Alpha Gamma Rho with 37 points. Lambda Chi Alpha was third with 21 counters, and Sigma Nu was a close fourth. It scored 20 1-2 points.

Frosh Tennis Fans Will Meet Today

Freshmen interested in tennis will report today in the trophy room of the university gym at 1 o'clock. Plans for this year will be discussed and arrangements for the freshman tournament made.

Men wishing to try out for the frosh squad must be at this meeting without fail, declared Coach Geo. E. Linden yesterday.

BADGER NINE TROUNCES N. D. BY 10-4 SCORE

Lowman's Charges Indulge in Wild Bating Spree

Rudiger both hit safely in the second frame, but the latter was caught trying to steal second. Christenson then hit, and Barry stole home while the former was stealing second. Rollie Williams' walked and Piggott's single allowed Christenson to cross the plate before the side was retired.

Base Running Poor

Wisconsin's worst exhibition of base running came in the fourth frame. Christenson's single and Pickford's triple scored a run before anyone was out. Pickford was tagged out at home after Rollie Williams' single. Piggott hit safely, but Williams got caught trying to steal third. Ceaser struck out and thus ended a chance for Wisconsin to have scored at least three or four runs.

The Badger rally in the seventh looked good for several runs when Elliot and Barry scored on Christenson's triple. The lone pair of tallies had to stand, however, as a popfly and a strike out totalled the necessary three out.

Coach Lowman sprang a surprise by sending Harvey Piggott out to guard the second base territory. The newcomer had a great day, getting three safe hits out of four trips to the plate.

He displayed wonderful headwork in the second inning by backing up Williams on Pickford's overthrow to first, and preventing Castner from getting an extra base. In addition he was credited with two put outs and as many assists. The Badger mentor has been trying out a number of men at the second base position, Fox, Skaife, and Combacher all having had a try at it. Yesterday was Piggott's first attempt, but he performed in a manner which probably put him on the inside track for the assignment in the next game, at least.

Barry likewise had a heavy day with the stick. The Badger catcher hit safely three times, and brought in two of Wisconsin's ten counters.

Coach Hallas switched his lineup around several times in the last few innings in an attempt to net a few runs, but the Badgers always managed to tighten up when the climax arrived, and no serious damage was done.

The manner in which the invaders kept swatting the ball caused Coach Lowman to send Paddock out to warm up during the eighth inning. Hoffmann managed to struggle through, however, allowing only one run in the eighth and none in the ninth.

Regents to Decide On Policies Today

at the end of the first semester, is uncertain as yet but arrival of members late this evening will determine this point.

It is interesting to note that the revised statutes expressly provide these regent meetings must be open to the public and press and the wording of the law is so plain that it will be interesting to note whether they will dare to take decisive action behind closed doors and keep the public in the dark as to final decisions. The law reads:

36:05 University Regent Meetings Public. The meetings of the board of regents of the university shall be open to the public and the press, and all records of such meetings and of all proceedings of such board shall be open to inspection by the public and the press at any reasonable hours thereafter; provided that said board may hold executive sessions, the findings of said executive sessions to be made a part of the records of the proceedings of said board.

Today a few members of the board are in the city attending special committee meetings preparing for the regular session tomorrow, and while the majority of them are reticent to discuss matters which may come up tomorrow several have been most outspoken in their personal opinion that the session will be vital to the future of the university and that there are many questions that should be seriously discussed.

Ever since the disclosure of the high handed methods by which students were dismissed from the university, the lack of equality between the cost of maintaining Wisconsin students and those from other states and countries, the fact that hundreds of freshmen were being looked after by "immature instructors" while those "higher up" devoted their time to research work, and the general spirit of unrest among the students themselves, the faculty has been most diligent in preparing for any questioning or investigating that might come.

One member of the regents said today: "I cannot see how the board of regents can fail to act on these important questions if they wish to keep the university out of politics in this campaign year."

AT THE ORPHEUM

In the ever popular "Way Down East," on view at the Orpheum Theatre this week, the acknowledged master of the silent drama has excelled himself. No stronger or more human and appealing story has ever been presented upon a screen. Griffith has taken this simple story of plain people and infused into it the charm of New England homesteads with their quaint surroundings, dreamy perspectives of enchanting roadways, meadows and hills, old fashioned barn dances, sleighing parties, and bucolic humors.

Lillian Gish and Richard Barthelmess head an unusually fine cast.

Preceded by the announcement that it is the costliest and biggest film play ever made "Foolish Wives" by and with von Stroheim, will come to the Orpheum next Monday matinee succeeding D. W. Griffith's "Way Down East" which will hold feature position at the former vaudeville house the week starting today. "Foolish Wives" comes to Madison following a record two weeks' showing at the Butterfly theatre in Milwaukee and also a simultaneous showing at forty Chicago theatres.

AT THE GRAND

This week's feature at the Grand is a wiz!

A freckled faced genius stars in it; Marshall Neilan, who knows how to direct, directed it, displaying great humor and taste, and Booth Tarkington, who sure knows boys from the ground up, wrote the stories from which the screen version has been made. It's the sort of picture old and young will cry for—and chuckle at from beginning to end.
