BIGGEST STORM IN TEN YEARS HITS MADISON

Street Car Service is Stopped

Madison is enveloped in the heaviest snow storm in 10 years. The March lion has devoured the lamb of the first balmy days of the month, and the city is thinking of coal, goloshes, and snow shovels to dig themselves out.

The storm has swept the entire country in the form of blizzards, tornados, and heavy gales causing millions of dollars of damage to property, and leaving in its train death, fires, and demoralized traffic.

Cars to Run by Night

"If it doesn't snow anymore and the temperature falls no lower all street cars will probably be running again tomorrow evening," said Dudley Montgomery, of the Madison Railway company. "We have been able to run only from the car barns to the capitol today, running on three streets, and have not found time to even consider clearing the other seven-eighths of the line."

Up to six o'clock last night the cars had not been running for over eighteen hours. The sleet and snow interfered with the power Sunday night for an hour and when the current was on again the drifts and snow had packed the tracks so that it was impossible to continue service.

Worst Storm in Years

"This is the worst storm we have experienced since February 22, ten years ago, at which time street car service was suspended for three days," according to Mr. Montgomery.

Prof. J. F. A. Pyre, Prof. C. K. Leith, and others were unable to reach their classes because of the road conditions. Professor Pyre said that the roads were not opened until late yesterday afternoon.

Trains Are Behind Schedules

Trains on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul were not seriously delayed, although snowploughs were busy Monday keeping the tracks clear. Trains from Chicago found the tracks worst at Chicago and Milwaukee, the storm being heaviest between these two cities and decreasing toward Madison. Telegraph lines and telephone wires are reported to be down between Milwaukee and Brookfield and between Chicago and Milwaukee.

"Traffic was seriously delayed today," said F. J. Zoelle, local agent of the C. and N. W. railway. "Trains from Minneapolis were from an hour to an hour and a half late; those from Chicago from an hour and a half to two hours late; the morning train from Milwaukee

Lawler Elected New Head of Journalistic Fraternity

Joseph F. Lawler '24 was elected president of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, at a meeting Sunday evening at the Delta Pi Delta house. Other officers elected are Oscar W. Riegel '24 vice-president; Porter F. Butts '24, secretary; Harold R. Maier '24, treasurer; and H. Eugene Alleman '24, corresponding secretary.

Chadwick to Lecture on Christian Science Tonight

Clarence W. Chadwick, Omaha, Neb., will deliver a lecture on "Christian Science" at 8:15 o'clock this evening in Room 165 Bascom hall. Mr. Chadwick will speak under the auspices of the Christian Science club of the university.

Monday might have been another spring day. But Monday wasn't. And those who waded through knee deep snow to eight o'clock classes were pioneers in a new world. They discovered that every branch of the trees had its own puffy white coat and that going to an eight o'clock wasn't as bad as it might be.

The morning's march was made Indian file with many leaps and jumps until the snow pushers and a host of boys with shovels came to heap up the snow in ordered piles.

Spring on Sunday, winter on Monday, but what will Tuesday be?

ALPHA PIS BUY NEW PROPERTY

Will Occupy Chapter House Early in the Fall

One of Wisconsin's newest national sororities has purchased a new home.

Alpha Mu chapter of Alpha Delta Pi, established here in 1920, now owns the Burr W. Jones home, 112 Langdon street, with lot front 140 feet on Langdon and extending back toward Lake Mendota sixty one feet, according to an announcement by the sorority yesterday. They will occupy their new home September 1.

The deed to the property was transferred from the Acacia alumni association to the sorority Saturday. The deal was made through the H. H. Koss, real estate company. The present home of the sorority at 135 Langdon street has been sold as a private residence.

The house committee, consisting of Marjorie Delbridge '23, Mildred Riesterer '24, and Bernice Rhode '24 say that the house is in such good condition that only a few minor remodelling changes and a small amount of redecorating will be necessary.

The house overlooks Lake Mendota. Chapter members expressed their approval of the home yesterday which is ideally suited to the needs of the sorority.

Acacia alumni association, from whom the property was purchased, are planning on building a new fraternity home on the lake shore with the aid of the active chapter of Acacia to be located adjoining the new sorority house.

The purchase prices of the sorority home was withheld in the announcement.

Law Student Co-ed Breaks Ankle on Slippery Sidewalk

Miss Gena Thompson, Law 1, slipped and fell on the icy sidewalk at State street and Irving court yesterday, breaking her ankle. Miss Thompson was taken to the university infirmary. The break is not especially serious.

Press Club Meets Tonight to Discuss Pi Nite Plans

The Press club will hold a meeting tonight at 7 o'clock at 501 North Henry street. Plans for Pi Nite will be discussed and other important business will be taken up.

PLAYERS ELECT

The Wisconsin University Players announce the election of Katherine G. O'Shea '24, Thomas A. Mac Lean '24, Carroll E. Roach '25, Carlyle F. Richards '25, Kenneth S. Gardner '25, George T. Bunker '25.

MAY 25 IS DATE SET FOR SENIOR SWING-OUT

Senior swing-out will take place Friday, May 25, according to the announcement made yesterday by Janet Marshall '24 and Lois Jacobs '24, co-chairmen of senior swing-out for this year.

The university band has been secured to play for the different lines of march, and will begin at about 6:30 on the upper campus.

Swing-out will immediately precede the Dance Drama which is scheduled for May 25 also. The Field Day for women's athletics will take place at Camp Randall Saturday, May 26, throughout the entire afternoon and early evening. All of the class championships in the different sports will be decided by final games on that day. Suppers will be served from a special booth under the direction of W. A. A.

The committees for Field Day have not yet been announced.

FRENCH CLUB WILL PRESENT "LA VOLEUSE"

An open meeting of the French club will be held in Lathrop parlors tonight at 7 o'clock. Members who have not paid their dues for the second semester are asked to bring the fifteen cents arrears with them.

The first part of the program will consist of an adaption of a modern comedy in one act called "La Voleuse". The cast of characters is: Monsieur Dupont, George S. Darby '24, Madam Dupont, Emily Francois '23, Monsieur Dubois, Elton C. Hocking '25, Madam Dubois, Doris Koeneman '24, La Bonne, Berenice Polasky '23.

Following the play, Mlle. Marie Mioche, of the French department, will read two stories, "Le Veau" by Alphonse Allais and "Le Petit Malade" by Georges Courteline.

Refreshments will be served and everyone who is interested in French is invited to come.

DARK HORSE LEADS IN BEARD CONTEST

"Dark Horse" has taken the lead over the rest of the candidates in the race for the office of Saint Patrick. Although he is not known at the present time, his fictitious name is on lips of every engineer.

Dame rumor says that he is now in the process of growing a beard for the parade, and that he will enter 10,000 votes after his name tomorrow morning. Even though votes are selling like "Russian Rubles," the leaders in the race are becoming uneasy in their positions.

At the close of the poles yesterday the standings were, Arthur Rabuck '23, 8300 votes, William Gluesing '23, 5720, John Cassidy '25, 800, John Rutherford '24, 400, Roman Brumm '25, 450, Dark Horse?

The voting booth in the main hall in the Engineering building will be kept open from 8 o'clock to 4:30 every afternoon until Friday, when the winner of the contest will be announced. The winner of this contest will ride in Saint Patrick's coach, and he will lead the parade on Saturday afternoon, March 17.

Several of the engineers who appeared with a scanty beard a few days ago are now stroking long whiskers.

POST-SEASON GAME LOOMS WITH HAWKS IF RULE IS CHANGED

Indiana Coach Says Badgers Should Be Able to Defeat Iowa

Badgers Crush Indiana in Season's Final Game By 35 to 17

By CHAS. J. LEWIN

Victory perched on the Cardinal banner of Wisconsin and Coach Walter E. Meanwell's Varsity quintet sailed into a tie for the Big Ten basketball championship when it trounced Indiana, 35 to 17, in the final game of the season here last night.

By walloping the Hoosiers, Wisconsin took unto itself a Conference title, finishing the schedule with a record of eleven victories and one defeat.

After the battle, the crowd which packed the gymnasium gave Dr. Meanwell and his basketeers an ovation, and Varsity village is quietly celebrating the victory today. "This is the best Wisconsin basketball team that I have ever coached and the best that has ever played on this floor," Coach Meanwell said in a short talk following the game.

Indiana Outclassed

Indiana was outclassed, outplayed and outlucked by five super-basketeers who rode roughshod over the Hoosiers. The team of "giant-killers" that had blasted Iowa's hopes for an undisputed Big Ten title was no match for the speeding Badgers and Wisconsin finished the season at the top of its form while Iowa ended its schedule by doing a dive cellarwards. Wisconsin lead by a 17 to 5 score at the end of the first half.

Three of the best players who have ever donned the Wisconsin uniform ended meteoric careers on the basketball floor last night. Capt. Gustave K. Tebell, Leslie R. Gage, and Rollie are the men who will compete no more on Badger teams. The trio has blazed a never-to-be-forgotten path across the athletic firmament.

Les Gage closed his season with what was probably the most brilliant game he has played. He caged six field goals and was instrumental in several more made by his teammates. Gage's floor work was excellent and never was economy of motion more effectively demonstrated than by the right forward.

Tebell Gets All Free Throws

Capt. Gus Tebell, "Fightin' Gus" played in his usual incomparable style. In addition to his defensive work, he took up the free-throwing burden and dropped in five throws without a miss from the foul line. Rollie Williams tossed three baskets, coming down from his guard position to score. The Badger flash started many rallies from the back court. He dribbled around the floor going through, around, and past the yielding Indiana defense.

By holding the Mannmen to 17 points, Wisconsin maintained the defensive pace it has been setting and broke a Conference record. No opponent of the Badgers has been able to score 20 points against their defense this season. Although Capt. Tebell and Williams have been the main cogs in the Meanwell guarding system, Les Gage has also been one of the strongest defenders of the Badger goal. In previous games, he has been directed to watch the opposing high point scorers and has held their total down while he netted two or three field goals himself. Gage is the most consistent forward that has represented Wisconsin in recent years.

WEATHER: CLOUDY

Cloudy weather has been predicted for today and probably fair tomorrow. There will be no decided change in temperature. The maximum temperature yesterday was 28.2 at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and the minimum was 24.2 at 8 o'clock in the morning.

IRONMEN WILL CONVENE HERE

Wisconsin Foundrymen's Association to Hold Meet April 4-5

The first state-wide gathering of the Wisconsin Foundrymen's association will take place in Madison on April 4 and 5 in the form of a "Metals Convention" at which some 302 foundries in 82 Wisconsin cities are expected to be represented. This convention will be in cooperation with the department of mining and metallurgy of the University of Wisconsin.

The American Foundrymen's association is giving its support to the Badger state convention, according to a letter from its president, C. R. Messinger of Milwaukee, who says: "I want you to know that I think this will be a fine thing for the foundrymen of the state. The foundry industry is an important one to the state of Wisconsin, but in the past has been loosely organized."

A huge exhibit of foundry machinery and equipment will be held in the University stock pavilion during the convention. A program including six technical sessions and visits to Madison manufacturers and the Forest Products laboratory is now being arranged.

The society for Steel Treating, with members in many middle-western cities will hold a meeting at the university at the same time, and will have a separate exhibit of steel-treating methods, appliances, and results.

The Wisconsin section of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers will also convene then.

A special program for wives and daughters, including meetings in the University home economics department, visits to the capitol, and historical museum, exhibits of swimming and other sports by the women's physical educational department and a banquet is also being planned.

POSTPONE CLUB MEET TO STRESS ATHLETICS

In an effort to bring together the representative agencies of Chicago to consider a plan for the greater and more intensive athletic development of Chicago, the Tuesday meeting of the Chicago Rotary club has been set aside for an athletic meeting. John L. Griffith, western conference commissioner, will address the club on "Chicago's Athletic Development." The club has set aside this day to recognize and emphasize the importance of athletic development, and also to create public interest in Chicago as a future world's Olympic meet city.

SPANISH CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS; GIVES PLAY

The new officers of Spanish club, elected at the regular meeting of the club recently, are, president, Fernando Sola '23; secretary, Margaret Sickels '23; and treasurer, Alfred Jensen '23. A burlesque on Don Quixote, directed by Doris Koeneman '23, was presented by several members of the club. Those who took part in the stunt are: Hul-Cee Acton, instructor in the Spanish department, Jacob Bernal, grad; Louis Mrkvicka '25; Robert Dunstan, grad; and Fernando Sola '23.

Borgman Made Assistant Engineer on Highway Board

George J. Borgman '22 recently was named assistant division engineer of the Wisconsin state highway commission. He will be located in Madison. Borgman received his training in the College of Engineering here.

Y. W. C. A. Reduces Prices of Professor's Pictures

Pictures of the prominent professors of this university may be obtained at the university Y. W. C. A. office for 5 cents apiece. They were formerly 10 cents apiece.

Although incomplete, the supply is to be restocked and pictures of other professors will be added to the collection very soon.

Those now in stock are of Professors Bleyer, Otto, Hall, Jastrow, Schlatter, Haake, Scott, Lescobier, Kieckhofer, Leonard, Smith, Gilman, Elwell and Deans Bardeen, Russell, James, Sellery and Turneaure.

GODS INFLUENTIAL IN KING TUT'S TIME

"The gods of the Egyptian religion at the time of King Tutankhamen played a large part in the daily life of the people," says W. G. Payne, instructor in the department of philosophy.

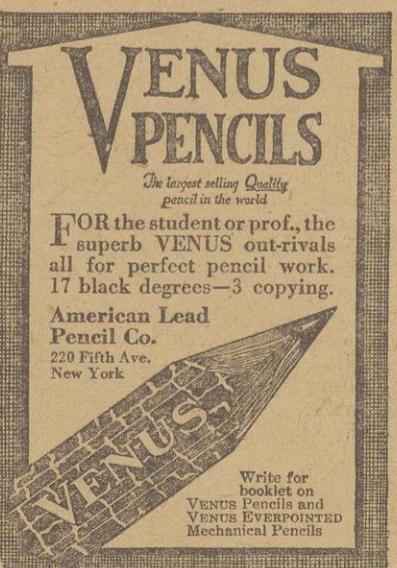

"The very abundance of rods made their religion a vivid influence in their lives. Though they did not comprehend the presence of an all-powerful God, they realized the existence of conditions beyond their control, and hence the gods of rain, wind, earth, sea, and fire were worshipped to avoid evil or harm to their family or property, besides numerous others."

"The Egyptians never abandoned an old god for a new one, but simply added the new god to their religious museum," said the Rev. Robert S. Loring, of the First Unitarian church in Milwaukee. For this reason, the religion became overstuffed with strange and useless gods."

COLLEGES GAIN IN ATTENDANCE

Enrollment Everywhere Shows Increase Over Previous Years

Attendance at American universities and colleges for the present collegiate year exceeds past records in all except a few instances, according to a detailed report of 140 approved institutions in the current issue of "School and Society," written by Raymond Walters, dean of Swarthmore college and an associate editor of the journal. The increase over last year in full-time regular students was two per cent. In grand total enrollment (including summer school and part-time students) the increase was 14 per cent.

The measure in which attendance has soared since the war is shown in statistics of 25 typical universities which now have 56 per cent more full-time students than in 1918 and 87 per cent more in grand total enrollment.

The largest institution in the United States in number of full-time regular students is the University of California with 14,061. Columbia university is second with 10,308, Illinois third with 9,285, Michigan fourth with 8,703 and Minnesota fifth with 8,586. Wisconsin is eighth with 7,241 students.

Counting all resident students, full-time, part-time and summer school, Columbia leads with a grand total enrollment of 27,339. California is second with 20,983. Next in order are the University of Pennsylvania with 14,584, College of the City of New York with 14,067 and New York university with 12,386. In this list Wisconsin is ninth, with 10,770 students.

NORTHWESTERN MAN "SEES" WITH NERVES

Blindness has proved to be only a slight handicap to Carl Bostrum, a student of journalism at Northwestern university, whose sensitized facial nerves enable him to "feel" his way about. The delicate variations in air pressure indicate to him the presence of buildings, trees, streets and other objects, he says.

"You recognize buildings by the light rays emanating from them," he declared. "I know them by their influences upon the air about them."

Bostrum finds his way around the campus buildings without aid and the only difficulty he experiences is when storms prevent his "seeing."

ROSS LEAVES FOR SON'S FIRST CONCERT IN U. S.

Prof. E. A. Ross left Madison for New York last Saturday on a ten day trip to attend his son's debut in American music. Gilbert Ross, the son, recently returned to America after having made a six months concert tour in Germany. He will appear in America for the first time in Aeolian Hall, New York City, tonight.

The son of the great sociology professor, after studying for a period of years under Prof. Leopold Auer, violin master of New York and Chicago, left last summer to tour Germany, accompanied by his mother and brother Frank A. Ross. He played in Berlin, Hamburg, Leipzig, Munich and other large German cities.

Critics who have heard Ross are unanimous in their praise of his ability as a violinist. While in Germany, Frank Ross, a graduate of Harvard Law school, '21, studied law. Mrs. Ross and her two sons returned to America about two weeks ago.

First Orchestra Tryouts For Haresfoot Tonight

Tryouts for the Haresfoot 15-piece orchestra will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in room 1 of the Law building.

Joseph L. Rosenholtz, grad, will conduct the orchestra this year. Rosenholtz was a leader for two years of the Albany symphony orchestra and conducted a 25-piece broadcasting orchestra on station WHAZ.

The Haresfoot orchestra will consist of the following pieces: two first violins, one second violin, piano, drum, cornet, trombone, French horn, tuba, flute, clarinet, and cello.

Librarian Urges Right Use of Reading Rooms

"We look forward to the day when we can have a reading room for the men and one for the women," L. C. Burke, assistant librarian declared when he read that the University of Pennsylvania was to have separate reading rooms for its co-eds.

"I think the idea is sound basically, but practically impossible for us now. If we had reading rooms large enough and other facilities it would work, but with our space one room probably would be crowded one day and empty on the next.

The most practical thing to do now would be to change the sentiment of the students. The library is the hub of the university, and if they come here to study, other features ought to be eliminated. That every one should realize that to give a square deal to his neighbor he should allow him to study, was the remedy suggested by Burke.

Vilas county is represented at the university this year by 12 students, including three women and nine men.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

CAPT. TEMPLIN AND HOLMES TO MAKE OHIO TRIP

Conference Meet to Open Friday

Wisconsin will have two of her star wrestlers entered in the Conference meet to be held in Columbus, Ohio, Friday and Saturday. Captain Templin and Bob Holmes are the men that are certain of entering.

By winning all five of the bouts in which he started, Captain Templin has an undisputed right to enter the 175 pound division. Bob Holmes lost only one of his four contests.

Heuer Out For Season
Wilbur Heuer won four straight matches and then was so seriously injured in the Chicago meet that he was not able to participate at Ames last week, and, according to Coach Hitchcock, will not be fit to enter the Conference tourney. He has a cracked collar bone and a shoulder that is practically useless.

Capt. Templin was the only man to gain points at Ames, taking a fall from his man in short order. The meet was more determinedly contested than the score of 20 to 5 indicates. Three matches went overtime before the Ames men could win by short decisions.

Lose Two Good Men

The team was handicapped by the loss of two strong men, in Hembre, 145 pounds and Heuer, 158 pounds. Heuer was almost certain of the Conference championship belt in his class, but is now entirely out of the running.

The team all came out of the Ames meet in excellent condition. Coach Hitchcock reports that the treatment of the team by the Ames team and students was unapproachable, which was directly opposite from the treatment received at Chicago the week before.

N. U. CHOOSES BEST ATHLETES

Two Captains Are Favored By Northwestern Students

Northwestern has named its best all-around athletes of the year. Among them are the captain of the football team last year, the captain of a swimming team, and a first class baseball player.

Each of them has special claims to distinction. The six chosen by Dana M. Evans, director of athletics at the university, are Miss Hester Abbott, Miss Matilda Shelby, Miss Helen Schleman, Charles W. Palmer, James Paterson, and Stewart Crippen.

Football Captains Star
Palmer is the hero of a 192 yard run in the football game against Minnesota last year, tying the score and saving the game for Northwestern. Another mark of his all-round ability in sports is pitching a no-hit, no-run game for Northwestern last summer. Palmer has won three football letters, two baseball letters, and two basketball letters, and two basketball letters.

Paterson was captain of last year's football team. He is also president of the senior class and is one of the most popular men in the university. He has two football letters to his credit and expects to get his third letter in basketball later on in the season.

Women Are Versatile
Crippen's special field is track. He is one of the most distinguished all-around track athletes that Northwestern has produced.

The three girls excel in basketball, baseball, and hockey. Miss Schleman is a tennis player of note. Miss Shelby is a track star. The president of the Women's Athletic association at Northwestern is Miss Abbott. Also she is captain of the swimming team.

Idaho U. Captures Pacific Basketball Championship

The basketball team of the University of Idaho won the Pacific coast championship for the second consecutive season by defeating the University of California 29 to 25 one night last week.

BADGERS TAKE FINAL CONTEST

Victory Brings Another Conference Tie to Wisconsin

jumped the lanky Mr. Parker, Indiana's 6 foot 5 inch center. Gibson dropped four baskets and held his towering opponent scoreless. Young Dwight Spooner, sophomore forward who has risen to the height of a Varsity star, played the last game in a fashion which augurs well for next year. Spooner has fitted naturally into the Meanwell system and he should develop into one of the outstanding Big Ten basketeers next season.

Kendall Elsom, versatile forward or center, and Byron Barwig were given an opportunity to "produce" in the concluding game. They kept up the dizzy pace that Wisconsin had been setting and prevented Indiana from getting within shouting distance of the Badger total score.

Nyikos Held to 3 Baskets

Nyikos, the man who beat Iowa almost singlehanded, scoring 21 of his team's 23 points, was the only Hoosier who kept his team in the running. He netted three field goals and made two free throws out of nine attempts. Thomas, right guard, sneaked through the Wisconsin defense for two baskets and played a good defensive game, but he was unable to stop the spirited runs of the Badger title-chasers. Wisconsin took an early lead over Indiana and gradually increased the gap until the game was safely pocketed.

Gage Scores First

Gage led off with two field goals, and Rolie Williams followed with another after he had recovered Parker's shot from the bounding board and had dribbled unaided the entire length of the floor.

Gibson duplicated Williams' exhibition by dribbling to the center and looping a "long 'un" through the net. Indiana broke the spell Nyikos scoring the first lone tally on a free throw after Gage's foul. Tebell's free throw and a basket by Elsom, who replaced Gibby, put Wisconsin far in the lead. Gage connected for three more field goals before the half ended, and goals by Noy and Nyikos gave Indiana its five points.

In the second period, Spooner and Williams started the fireworks with a pair of baskets. Nyikos countered with a field goal for the Hoosiers and then followed with a free throw, but Gibson, Gage, Gibson again drew far ahead with three consecutive baskets. Indiana made a late rally and ran its scores up to 17 points when Thomas tossed in a pair of field goals and Nyikos counted a basket and a couple of free throws.

TANKMEN LOOK TO LAST MEET THIS WEEK-END

Nine Teams Working Hard

Nine conference teams are pointing their men hard toward the conference swimming meet at Chicago on Thursday and Friday of this week. The meet in the Maroon tank promises to be a close one that will wash some of the teams entered up on dry land. There are some stellar fish in the conference and some records are in danger of being broken.

"Minnesota looks like the best bet to me," Coach Joe Steinauer said yesterday. "It was only through a tough break that they lost to Northwestern. They have the best balanced team in the conference."

Breaks Cause Defeat

Minnesota, in their meet with the Purple swimmers, had the meet practically won when two of their men in the deciding event had to be dragged from the tank in a serious condition. The break cost them the meet.

Wisconsin has been badly handicapped this year by the tardy completion of the new gym tank, yet has made a good showing, losing but two of the dual meets entered. The team would have had a higher average had Michigan not cancelled its meet here. Bennett is Wisconsin's best bet to hang up winning markers in the coming meet. If Wisconsin had shown the form in the Northwestern meet that was displayed at Chicago, there is no doubt in the mind of the coach concerning the outcome. At the present time the coach considers his men on a par with Northwestern who heads the conference swimmers.

Breyer vs. Bennett

Breyer of Northwestern is one of the fastest dash men in the conference, but if he enters the same races with Johnny Bennett the coach is certain that the Purple man will not come out in the lead. Another strong man is Robinson of Chicago. Captain Bennett easily left behind, in the last meet here.

The outcome of the meet rests to a great extent on the breaks, according to the coach, but barring all unlooked for accidents the coach looks for the Gopher sharks to cop the flag. It is, however, an even break between the Gophers, Northwestern and Wisconsin. The Maroons are the uncontested water basketball champions and will probably come out on top in that department.

ROCKNE ENTERS MEN IN BOXING TOURNEY

Knute Rockne, athletic director at Notre Dame university, announced at the Illinois relay carnival that he would enter men in at least four classes of the amateur boxing tournament, which he held by the Chicago Tribune on March 21, 22, and 23.

The Tribune is holding the tournament in an attempt to encourage and promote boxing as a major sport in the institutions of learning.

Rockne has long been an exponent of the pugilistic sport as a medium by which to develop football players. He claims that boxing makes his players quick and active on their feet and that it teaches them to feign opposing players into positions to be easily tackled or dodged.

TRYOUTS FOR WOMEN'S ATHLETIC HONORS TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Last tryouts for apparatus honors which give the W. A. and the W. A. A. will be at 9 o'clock in Lathrop gymnasium. High honors give 75 points and simple honors give 50. For honors in the first group of the ten offered a girl must pass four tests and for advanced honors four more. For the second group the contestants must pass one test for simple honors and two tests for advanced honors. Additional information may be secured from Florence Hupprich '23, who has charge of the tests.

"Pat" Page Has Gridiron Men Wrestle and Box

H. O. "Pat" Page, director of athletics at Butler university of Indianapolis, is among the college athletic authorities who believe in the value of wrestling and boxing for the football man, according to Walter Eckersall of "The Chicago Tribune." "Like many other coaches, Page believes boxing and wrestling are of great value to football players, in that the man to man competition teaches them to be quick and active on their feet, and to use their hands skillfully while playing on the defense," Eckersall declares.

GYM SQUAD TO FINISH SEASON

Haye Good Chance For the Title This Year; Go Friday

The gym team will leave Friday noon for Columbus, Ohio, where they will participate in the Western Intercollegiate Gymnastic, Fencing, and Wrestling association meet Saturday night. Ten men will accompany Coach Linden on the trip.

The men who are going are H. Dean Kitchen '23, captain; Frank Kubosh '23, H. W. Schmidt '25, Frank L. Bumer '23, M. E. Hansen '23, Theodore Stevens '24, Walter E. Porth '23, Norman F. Koch '24, Albert W. Thompson '25, John G. Reinholdt '24.

Badgers Have Clean Slate

Wisconsin has won all of its dual meets this year, and the win over Chicago two weeks ago was the first time that a Wisconsin gym team has defeated Chicago in five years.

Although the meet will be hotly contested, it is probable that the race for honors will be between Wisconsin, Chicago, Minnesota, and probably Purdue. The following are some of the results of the dual meets in the Conference this year: Minnesota defeated Iowa, Iowa defeated Illinois, Purdue defeated Illinois, Chicago defeated Illinois, and Wisconsin has defeated both Chicago and Minnesota.

Kitchen Has Good Record
The men on the varsity team who are certain of placing in the meet are Kitchen, Hansen, and Porth. Kitchen has won first place in tumbling for the last two consecutive years, and Hansen placed second in the side horse event at the Conference meet last year, and won first place in the same event in all of the dual meets this year. Porth also made himself known as the meet last year. He won first place in the parallel bars, tied for second place on the rings, and won second place in the club swing.

ATHLETIC REVIEW WILL PRESENT TRAVELING CUP

A silver travelling trophy, 22 inches high, will be awarded by the Athletic Review to the team showing the best sportsmanship and fighting spirit at the state high school basketball tournament on March 22-24, according to Allan Walter '24, associate editor of the magazine.

The Athletic Review always has sponsored clean sportsmanship," Walter said yesterday. "We are offering the trophy as a means of instilling the proper spirit among the players on the high school teams."

The judges for the awarding of the trophy will be the same as those picking the all-state team, Walter said.

Charles Paddock Will Not Take Part in Penn Games

Charles Paddock, world's champion sprinter, has been barred from taking part in the Penn relay in May by the executive committee of the I. C. A. A., due to the tabling of the membership application of the University of Southern California, for a year. He expects to beat the best eastern runners if allowed to enter the Drake relay at Des Moines late in April. His entry at Drake will be permitted, according to Kenneth L. Wilson, athletic director there.

TRACK SQUAD IS PREPARING FOR BIG TEN MEET

Start Heavy Training Today

With the last indoor dual meet victory safely tucked under their belts, the Badger track men are turning their efforts to getting ready for the annual Conference meet to be held next Friday and Saturday in Patten gym at Evanston, Ill.

The men worked lightly yesterday after the strenuous work they did against Notre Dame Saturday, but today they will get back to hard work.

Wisconsin Chances Brighter

No ill effects are felt from the Notre Dame meet with the exception of a slight injury to Hammann, pole vaulter, hurdler and shot putter. Hammann wrenched his back on one of his first jumps Saturday and withdrew from further competition. He will be back in condition by the week end and will be ready to work against other Conference teams.

Wisconsin chances look considerably brighter since the results of last week's meets. While the Badgers were defeated at the hands of Iowa several weeks ago, comparative victories show that Wisconsin is at the present time at least as strong as the Hawks.

Expect To Make Good Record

Wisconsin won from Notre Dame by a much larger score than did Illinois. Illinois trounced Iowa decisively last Saturday and so Wisconsin looks better than either Iowa or Illinois. The fact that Wisconsin runners worked in a strange gym at Iowa City had much to do with their poor showing.

While victory for the Badgers in the Conference meet next Saturday is hardly to be expected, they should finish with a good record.

Michigan Is Probable Winner

Michigan, by virtue of its excellent indoor record this season, looks good for first place at Evanston, but the competition will be close with 10 fast teams competing.

The great number of entries in the Conference meet will necessitate the running of a few preliminary races on Friday evening. Preliminaries of the half mile and the quarter mile runs are scheduled to be held on Friday and Badger athletes who work in these events will leave Madison Friday morning. The other men will go Friday afternoon to be in good shape for competition on Saturday.

BIRKS ELECTED TO LEAD

Michigan Cagers Next Year

Howard M. Birks, of Chicago, was elected as next year's pilot of the Michigan basketball squad on Monday. For three years he has been a team member, playing both guard and forward. He was awarded a varsity "M" at the end of this season.

YALE AND CORNELL FIGHT TO DETERMINE EASTERN CHAMP

Yale and Cornell, active contenders for the Intercollegiate Basketball league championship, will meet at Ithaca on Saturday night. Up to the present, Yale ranks first, Cornell second, Princeton and Columbia tied for third place. Dartmouth fourth, and Pennsylvania last.

STATE HIGH BASKET CHAMPS TO CLASH

State basketball champions from all over the country will compete in the national interscholastic tournament which will be held at the Midway April 4, 5, 6 and 7. University of Chicago officials in charge of the meet have received entries as far east as Connecticut and as far as Washington.

State title holders from Montana, Idaho and Washington have entered. Distance will not deter the Washington five which has been promised the trip by the state high school athletic association.

Teams from Kansas, Nebraska, and the Dakotas will be present. The east will be represented in part by New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Connecticut.

CHAMPIONS

Coach Meanwell paid highest tribute to a group of abashed cardinal-sweatered men last night saying, "This is the best team that ever has represented Wisconsin on a basketball floor" and deafening cheers of hundreds confirmed his assertion as those same cardinal-sweatered men left the floor, champions.

The personal achievements of the men on this year's team as glorified by their coach last night need not be retold here. Wisconsin knows them and Wisconsin appreciates the men behind the achievements, both as men and as champions.

The game last night was significant in the careers of three of the players. With it ended their regular Conference competition for Wisconsin. Two of those men, playing side by side in the three major sports at Wisconsin for three years, have become recognized familiarly as "the best pair of athletes in the country." For Wisconsin they are and ever will be tradition. The third, lacking a physique naturally superior, has fought through three years until he has entered the starry constellation as "the equal to any forward in the Conference" in Coach Meanwell's own words.

The names of these three men are inscribed here in imaginary honor roll. They will live.

LET'S SETTLE IT

Wisconsin tucks a championship away in basketball history today but not with the secure feeling that that championship is entirely its own. Despite the favorable indications of comparative scores, Iowa shares those honors equally.

That we regret. And Iowa doubtless shares our regret to the same extent that it shares our honors. But we do not wish to stop with regretting an unfortunate situation. We want to see it changed. We want to see a post-season game played this season between Wisconsin and Iowa and we want to see post-season games played in the future when ties in basketball cause complication, disputes, general dissatisfaction, and prevent a winner from being a winner.

The student body here and the members of the team itself, highly favor a post-season game. Coach Meanwell and Athletic Director Jones rightly support the conference policy on the matter, but were that policy changed, they undoubtedly would be just as willing to support the changed policy and have so expressed themselves. We would not wish that a conference policy be violated, but rather that the conference policy be modified.

There seems to be every reason in basketball to justify a modification.

Championship ties in basketball are not an uncommon thing. Five have been recorded in Big Ten history since 1905. Wisconsin has figured in four. They occurred in 1906-7 between Wisconsin, Minnesota and Chicago; in 1907-8 between Wisconsin and Chicago; in 1916-17 between Minnesota and Illinois; in 1920-21 between Wisconsin, Michigan and Purdue, and in 1922-23 between Wisconsin and Iowa.

Under the present system of each institution dropping different teams each year, future ties are inevitable. It is to be hoped that they will be avoided by setting new conference precedent this year—that of permitting post-season games.

The conference appears to assume a rather inconsistent stand in its rulings on basketball contests in that it provides for playing off a tie in a single game, thus assuring a win by one side or the other, but does not carry the arrangement to its logical conclusion and provide for playing off a championship tie.

The attitude of the conference officials, it seems, is that there are no such things as championships in the Big Ten and that the games are played for the sport of the contest. Theoretically, that is true.

The conference awards no championships. But practically, teams play to win and not solely for the fun of it and the winner of the most contests is without exception proclaimed champion. Otherwise there would be no accounting for the $5,000 and $10,000 salaries that are paid coaches to produce winners.

Perhaps the most decided justification for a post-season game lies in the facility with which it could be staged. It is not like football, which requires great outlay and preparation by managers and players.

A series of three games could be played, one at the home of each contesting university and in the event of a tie, the third at some place agreed upon by both. Iowa's players, while probably out of training now, could undoubtedly be in condition within two weeks and would want to be for the sake of settling the question of superiority.

To sum up, then, a post-season game is wanted and a post-season game could easily be staged.

It remains, apparently, for the conference to modify its present policy, which it is at liberty to do, before the game would be countenanced. A telegram asking what the possibility is of changing that policy has been forwarded by The Cardinal to John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics. Another has been sent to the Daily Iowan to sound out Iowa sentiment.

Unless valid, water-tight objections can be submitted for not allowing a post-season contest, the student bodies of both Wisconsin and Iowa and the general public have a right to expect the settlement of the present unsatisfactory

Editors Say—

FADS IN MEN'S CLOTHING

We generally think of men's clothing as being more free from fads, more stable, and consequently costing less than women's. Yet the Custom Cutters, leading tailors and style-makers all over the country have just announced that "to be well dressed at all ordinary occasions, a man must spend $4,662 yearly for clothes." This does not include special social functions, but is only for all ordinary occasions. This is inconceivable.

Yet it must be that there are a number of men, idlers probably, who spend this much annually to satisfy their vanity. It is also true that a great number of people spending a great deal less than this present just as good if not better appearance at all times than the idler.

The statement that "clothes do not make the man," has been proven many times. As long as a man dresses neatly he need not fear for his appearance anywhere. Conservatism is a virtue in this case. We have been comparatively free from the fads and styles which have been prevalent both in other universities and in the outside world, and should strive to remain that way.

Knickers, sport vests, and Rudolph Valentino trousers are to be discouraged because they are extremes which set the wearer apart rather unpleasantly, from the rest of the student body, and tend to destroy the democratic spirit of the campus.

WILL RYAN BE A FULLTIME MAN?

Editor, The Cardinal:

I note from two articles appearing upon the sporting sheet of the Milwaukee Sentinel of March 8 that Jack Ryan has been appointed football coach at Madison, but intends to remain a Milwaukee resident, inasmuch as "the Madison position will take only part of his time each year and he will look after his other interests when not required to be at Camp Randall."

The articles also inform us that the football berth at Madison was raised to the dignity of an associate professorship and that "it is an all-year position and will carry with it a salary of $6,000."

Mr. Ryan apparently has all the qualifications to turn out successful teams at the university and I was very happy indeed to note that he was an associate professor and was awarded a salary large enough so that it could be expected that he could give all his time to that position. I note with regret the statement that he does not intend to become a resident of Madison and that he will continue to give his time to other matters and make it impossible to turn all his attention to his new duties.

Many alumni regretted that former Coach Richards could not be at Madison throughout the year to give all his time to football matters and getting with the boys and were happy to think that we would now have a man who would live right at school and give his entire time to the position. Here we are immediately informed that conditions will not change, but that we are again to have a coach who will not live at the university and only give part of his time to the position, although the position has been dignified and a liberal salary attached to it. I hope that the Regents or other proper authorities will see fit to demand the coach's residence at the university and to give all of his time to this position.

Hundreds of Milwaukee alumni feel this way. We like Ryan—but we do want a coach "who is going to be on the job."

UNFAIRNESS OF COMPULSORY DRILL

According to a statement in The Cardinal a few weeks ago, sixty-two per cent of the male students are earning part or all of their expenses while they are here. Yet under the present system, they are required to take military training regardless of the hardships they may be enduring in order to attend the university.

There is no doubt about these boys having a hard struggle to get a college education. Many of them find it difficult to give sufficient time and attention to their regular college studies. Since military drill robs them of three class periods a week which they need for work, rest, and study it makes their difficulties so much worse. We all know that without compulsory military training, a university education could be acquired with less effort, and would even be attractive to more people.

One should also remember that a great many of these students came here to acquire an education in regular college studies, not for military training something that can be got in the National Guards, at summer training camps, in the regular army, and in many other places where even pay is given with it.

To impose military training upon these boys at such a critical period in their lives, is nothing less than a crime against them and against the country at large which receives benefit from college trained men.

PHONE MEN TO MEET SENIORS

Bell Telephone Officials Visit University From March 14 to 17

A group of representatives of the various organizations of the Bell Telephone System will visit the University from March 14 to 17 to make the acquaintance of this year's graduates and confer with them about the opportunities in the telephone business.

According to Mr. Gefke of the Wisconsin Telephone company, the Bell System, which is composed of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, the associated operating telephone companies and the Western electric company, has available this year a considerable number of positions, affording a wide choice of work and location, for qualified college men. These positions are in the fields of research and technical development, application engineering, accounts manufacturing, installation, sales, and distribution.

The rapid growth of the telephone industry and the increasing complexity of the telephone art constantly calls for new potential leadership in its technical, administrative, and commercial fields. During the last three years the net assets of the System have increased from about one and one-half billions of dollars to over two billion; its annual revenues from about three hundred eighty million dollars to nearly five hundred fifty million; and its owned and connected telephone stations from eleven and three-quarter million to over fourteen million.

The estimated growth of the next five years exceeds all previous records for a like period. Such a rate of expansion entails the most searching study of the telephone market, careful engineering for the most economic results from the annual expenditure involved, and effectively coordinated supervision of the manufacturing, construction, maintenance and operating activity that will follow.

Rieder Tire Shop Heavily Damaged By Sunday Fire

Fire of unknown origin in the Rieder Tire shop, 615 University avenue, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, caused damage estimated at $5,000.

Firemen from the Central station arriving a few minutes later extinguished the blaze.

The shop is owned by Charles Rieder.

A thorough canvass of the five districts of the state with needs and problems, brought many suggestions and ideas looking to the most complete and effective organization of the various dry elements in the life of the Badger State.

Student Relates What Went On At The Gym

THE ZERO HOUR

An experience in getting tickets for the Wisconsin-Indiana basketball game. A true tale.

By JAMES E. OSTRUM '24

The music tower clock striking the hour of 10 this morning seemed to say to me:

"Hie thee to the gym. The lines are forming for their battle to obtain the privilege of letting some stranger's knees try the art of therapeutics up and down your spine while Wisconsin battles Indiana. Hurry or those few square inches of space that you desire will be allotted to some one else."

I promptly heeded the call and although several hundred yards separated me from the gymnasium I covered the distance in nothing flat.

MILITARY DRILL BY JAZZ

Four students, who had persuaded the janitor to let them into the building before the milkmen had finished with their early morning rounds, were the first ones I noticed when entering the armory. They were playing poker in close proximity to the ticket window. Others who had turned over for a few more winks of sleep were lined up on the stairs, some playing cards, many of them trying to get acquainted with English history by studying Cheney, and still others were reading of the happenings of the last 24 hours by reading the morning papers.

Several hundred students encircled the arena on the second floor. Here again were students playing cards, endeavoring to study, or trying to catch up with belated correspondence. One youth had brought along a victrola and was sending out over the multitude the wildest jazz while the freshmen military classes were going through with "Squads right."

"Where is the end of the line?" my partner asked a husky looking chap.

The drill prevented the formation of a single line and many students were gathered in little groups around the room without much semblance of order.

SKYROCKETS GIVEN

At 11:45 papers and books were put away, cards were discarded, dollar bills were pulled out of the vest pocket and each person arose to his feet ready to surge forward when the time came. Classes had dismissed and some order was being established but horrors, there were two lines forming four abreast. I got as close to the wall as possible and soon was hemmed in on all sides.

With a yell our line moved forward and with a half twist to my right. I shot out the door like sausage out of a balogna machine and I was on my way down the stairs. How good it felt to breathe with my own organs again. Fresh air never felt better. As I grabbed two tickets that were handed to me in return for a much ruffled eagle. I noticed that our friend of the bobbed hair had survived and was coming down the stairs. How she did seem to swell up when she took her first good breath for several minutes.

"I wouldn't go through a line like that again for 500 tickets," were our mutual thoughts as she powdered her nose and I pulled the broken button off my coat and hitched my belt around so that the buckle would again be in front.

But I got tickets and saw that Indiana game.

WATER BOARD MAKES REPORT

Superintendent Says That Increased Rates Are Not Expected

An increase of $22,220 over the amount of business done by the city water department in 1921 is reported for the department in the audit of the books for 1922 by James L. Dokr, certified accountant. This figure is also in excess of the amount earned in 1920 by $9,000. The net profit for the year totaled $79,744.34 on a valuation of $1,688,318.

Receipts for the past year ending Dec. 31, totalled $223,887.42, of which $112,855.76 was for operating expenses, $19,572.12 for taxes, $14,568.10 for depreciation, leaving a net profit of $79,744.34. The city retained about $8,000 in clear profit after having paid all water and hydrant rentals.

One of the main reasons given by L. A. Smith for the decrease in operating expenses last year was the very efficient service given at the station and the excellency of the meter service, very few leaky or stopped meters existing in the city. The machines have been operated more to capacity at the pumping station and the entire plant has been brought to the best condition possible.

The city was paid about $100,000 of which amount $25,395 was paid on bonds and interest, $52,306.28 paid on hydrant rentals, and water rentals of about $92,000 all of which when subtracted from the amount turned over to the city left a profit of about $8,000 which was turned in to be used by the city for other purposes.

The issue of $40,000 in bonds for improvement and enlargement of the department during the past year is not included in the annual audit.

Audit of the books during the past year indicated one of the best financial showings ever made by the department in past years. The fact that the rates fixed in 1918 still are sufficient to show a profit for the department during the past year indicates that no increase in rates will be needed for sometime, L. A. Smith, superintendent of the department said today.

Herman J. Steffen, tenth ward alderman, reported having seen a flock of wild geese flying over Madison this morning. The geese were flying low and northward. Others reported having seen a flock Sunday over Third lake.

ELECTIVE BODY HAS HARD JOB

Impossible For Them to Do Work Effectively, Says Wilcox

The various state commissions are performing functions that can be carried out in no other way, according to Fred M. Wilcox, head of the state industrial commission, who spoke at the Kiwanis luncheon at the city Y. M. C. A. this noon.

"I challenge any one to have the industrial laws of the state effectively administered by an elective body," said the speaker. "No other department of our state government is willing to take on our work. The enforcement of such laws should remain in the hands of a responsible commission."

"Much of the complaint that is coming to our department should be directed against the legislature which makes the laws. We can only enforce these which have been made."

The magnitude of the commission's work was indicated by some figures given by Mr. Wilcox. During the last year 18,000 compensable accidents occurred. This represented nearly 2,700,000 days lost by workmen, equivalent to 3,669 working years. To investigate such accidents is only a part of the industrial commission's work.

"With the introduction of new machinery and the speeding up of laborers, more accidents are occurring every year," said the commissioner. "The need of our commission is increasing in a corresponding manner."

The following were initiated into the club at the luncheon: Herman L. Ekern, state attorney general; John Sawyer, of the Electric Bakery Co.; James A. Hamilton, of the French Battery Co.

University Is Seeking Million And A Half

A total of $1,650,500 will be asked of the state legislature by the university for the next two years in a bill to be presented in the legislature Wednesday. According to data filed by the university with the finance committee practically no increase of appropriation is asked for the operating over that of the past two years.

The largest problem to confront the law makers will be an appropriation of $600,000 for dormitories for men.

Students Turned Down—Not Enough Shovels

Every available shovel of the street department was put into use this morning by Peter H. Walsh, street superintendent. Many students applied for jobs shoveling snow but were turned away because of the lack of shovels.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology

SCHOOL OF CHEMICAL ENGINEERING PRACTICE

A graduate school offering a course of study leading to the degree of Master of Science, with field stations established at six different companies located in Bangor, Maine; Boston, Mass.; and Buffalo, N. Y. These companies produce sulphite and soda pulp, paper, caustic soda, chlorine, heavy acids and salts, sugar, coke, gas, steel, ammonia, benzol, etc.

The more important operations of Chemical Engineering, as typified by the above processes, are studied systematically by means of tests and experimental work on full scale plant apparatus. One of the objects of this work is to fix in the mind of the student the principles of Chemical Engineering and to correlate these principles with practice.

The work is non-remunerative and is independent of control by the plant management, and therefore the whole attention of the student is directed to the study of Chemical Engineering.

The total number admitted to the school is limited and the students, studying and experimenting in small groups, receive individual instruction.

Before admission to the School of Chemical Engineering Practice, all students must have adequate preparation in chemistry and engineering. The able student can complete the requirements for the Master of Science degree in one and one-half years.

At the present time, thirty-one colleges and universities are represented among the men attending the School of Chemical Engineering Practice and these men comprise over one-half the enrollment.

"Lava," wrote the Freshman, "is what you use to shave with"

AND perhaps the Freshman was not so far wrong at that. He may have been thinking of lather that rolled down his cheeks, dried on his face, and erupted his feelings in the process.

Today, there is something better—Williams' differs from any shaving lather you ever used. For Williams' Shaving Cream contains a certain ingredient that is distinctly beneficial to the skin. And Williams' is easier to shave with. It softens whisker resistance with a speed that takes all the tedium out of the shaving process. Get a tube of Williams' today and begin enjoying its helpful care.

Blinking Owl
Enjoys Half
Of New Bill

By R. B. S.

The Owl enjoyed himself last night, (he had dined well). As an owl does have to puzzle and ponder over something, we must confess that he did get pretty well gummed up at the way that the audience persisted in cheering like mad at any and every act no matter what it had to offer. But maybe it was his old friend "Good Show" back again and he just didn't recognize him after all this time. We'll see.

The Gay Deceiver:

For the most part Harold was clever. His parlor magic was unusual and amusing but he'd better have somebody else write a new line of patter for him or take pantomime.

The Boys From Hollywood:

They had the personality that the "Gay Deceiver" lacked and a corking good act besides. With voices that were suited to popular jingles they sang a good selection.

The Jarvis Review:

This act is probably labeled such since Jarvis had a greater interest in the act, but certainly the audience had the very slightest in him and they find that the whole puddle is really Reaves who might be even called the review. The chorus has much to hope for in these last few years and only one voice. This fortunately has been observed and a solo is included to give a chance.

"Horses:"

He-Haw—Ho-Hum—Dumb.

Claude and Fanny Usher:

This was a very obvious little drama to draw the tear and the laugh at once." It drew them. Yes, even from us, but we won't say when. "The best that vaudeville has offered in years" is a dame of many summers in the role of a ten year old orphan, and not very well "roled" at that.

The Spider's Web:

We'll give them a Fair. So many people were leaving that we really couldn't see much that they had to offer.

Cast For "Leave It To Gloria" To Be Chosen

Two committees of the Madison Industrial Athletic association will meet at the city Y. M. C. A. this week to prepare for the play, "Leave It to Gloria," to be presented in the Central high school auditorium April 20 and 21.

The cast committee will meet at 7:30 tomorrow night and the publicity committee at 7:30 Wednesday night.

Future Scoutmasters
In Session Tomorrow

Students in the scoutmasters' classes being conducted Tuesday evenings at Woodman hall will meet for their second session Tuesday night. The class will follow a dinner given by the Knights of Columbus at 6 o'clock. Instructions in first aid work will be given by Dr. J. C. Elsom. About 70 men are enrolled in the course.

Hurley Gunmen Rob Official Of Tax Fund

HURLEY, Wis.—Upon the information given by William West, treasurer of Carey, Wis., who was recently held up and robbed of $1,500 of the township tax fund, Iron county officials are conducting a search for the two lumber-jack bandits whom West said took the money at the point of a gun.

MIDDLE WEST IN GRIP OF STORM

was four hours late; while the evening trains from the east were only twenty minutes late. Many of the other afternoon trains ran on schedule.

"If there is no more snow or wind tonight, we hope to operate our trains on schedule tomorrow," Mr. Zoelle continued in commenting on the prospects of train traffic today.

Schools Dismissed Yesterday

Yesterday's storm started in the southwest and traveled through Kansas and Missouri, growing more severe as it swept northward, according to Eric Miller of the weather bureau. From Missouri the storm center moved north directly over Madison dropping a blanket of snow which is from six inches to two feet deep. The gale attained a velocity of 42 miles an hour at four o'clock yesterday morning which fell to 22 miles by 9 o'clock.

Schools were dismissed because many of the pupils could not reach the buildings when street cars were not running. Many university students failed to make their early classes although the university snow plows were out before 8 o'clock and continued work all day trying to keep the drifts from growing unmanageable.

The Nakoma bus broke through the drifts, opening the road to traffic, and reached Madison only five minutes behind schedule. Those from Middleton and farther west failed to get through Monday.

OFFERS COURSE IN SCOUT WORK

Will Be Conducted For Girls
Interested in Leadership

Miss Marion Trott, assistant director of Camp Andre, the National Girls Scout camp at Briarcliff New York, will be brought here by the department of physical education April 23 to take charge of a course in scout work.

The course will be an extensive study in the activities of girl scouts, and will be conducted for those interested in becoming leaders," says Miss A. Brownell, instructor in the department.

"The work will be carried on in a troop, just as the girl scouts are trained, and one hour every day for two weeks will be devoted. If more than thirty-two girls sign up each troop will meet three days a week for three weeks."

Work of this nature has been done by Miss Trott at Smith, Vassar, Radcliffe, Cornell, New York University, and Mount Holyoke. Girls who intend to become leaders in summer camps, or who expect to do recreational work in stores or factories will find the course of value.

Miss Brownell desires that all girls sign before spring vacation, and a slip for this purpose will be posted on the bulletin board of the department first floor Lathrop hall.

Steam Roller Request Breaks Up Good Dream

John Cullinaen was aroused from peaceful dreams this morning when members of the city engineering force asked for a steam roller to be sent to the eastern end of the city. The storm has blocked further street work by Cullinaen's gang who started completion of last year's street program last week.

Chief of Police Thomas Shaughnessy today sent a letter of thanks to the village of Verona thanking the officials for the $100 reward given local police for the capture of the Dane county bandits.
