SOPHOMORES PICK BAG CAPTAINS FOR MATCH SATURDAY

Second Year Men Parade Through Streets After Meeting is Over

Captains of the bags in the annual freshman-sophomore bag rush on the lower campus Saturday afternoon before the Michigan Aggie football game were appointed and nominated at the sophomore meeting last night in Music hall, by Orin Werncke '26 sophomore chairman of the rush committee.

As the sophomore meeting adjourned from Music hall the freshmen poured out of the Engineering building where they were having a meeting, giving cheers for their class. The classes did not come to blows and the sophomores marched down State street cheering and giving sky rockets.

The 10 captains appointed by Werncke are Allen Hardy, Stuart Porter, Russell Gage, Francis Meyer, Herbert Hand, John Robbins, Ralph Merkl, Fred Schnell, Thomas Weiskerch and Watts Finley.

Other captains elected from open nominations at the meeting last night are: Charles Lister, Roger Stetson, Walter Parsons, John Clasman, William Chadwick and Melvin Josephson.

The captains will meet with the members of the sophomore rush committee at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night at the Sigma Nu house. Final arrangements for the rush will be made at this meeting.

"The whole success of the rush depends upon the cooperation of the sophomores and their ability to unite under the bag captains," said Werncke at the meeting last night.

"It is a hard proposition that we have before us as there are more freshmen and fewer sophomores enrolled this year than in previous years. We are planning our part of the rush so that we will not break any of the rules of the game and are working hard to make it a good clean scrap," he concluded.

STUDENT OF LOUVAIN TO STUDY GEOLOGY HERE

Eugene Verhaeghe, of Louvain University, is one of 21 students just arrived in this country on the S. S. Belgenland to benefit by exchange fellowships arranged for them by the Commission for the Relief of Belgian Educational Foundation, of which Herbert Hoover is chairman.

DOROTHY LAWTON PRESS CLUB HEAD

Committees Are Appointed in Plans For Big Year

Dorothy Lawton '24, was elected president of Press club at their first regular meeting held at the Delta Pi Delta house Tuesday evening. Harry Barsante '25, was elected vice-president and Irene Norman '24 secretary and treasurer.

Action was started on the fall frolic to be given by Press club for all journalism students. Harry Barsante '25, Kilbourne Hanson '24, and Edith Porter '24, were appointed on the committee to take charge of the event.

A new membership committee with Chester Bailey '24, as chairman and Marella Neff '24 and Arlene McKellar '24 as assistants was appointed. Applications for membership must be made in writing to this committee.

A winter program of speeches to be given at the regular meetings is planned. It is intended that all speakers will be persons prominent in the journalistic profession.

Following the business meeting a number of talks were given by members of the club in which interesting and instructive experiences in their summer's work on newspapers were related. Various members of the club have been employed during the summer in positions varying from city editorship to feature writer and staff photographer,

"Hash Slinging" Is Not Necessary, Says Old Student

"And You Don't Have to Sling Hash" is the title of an article by Howard W. Roper '25, which appeared in the Milwaukee Journal Sunday.

The article tells how one student has earned and other students can earn, from $5,000 to $10,000 during undergraduate years. The fact given in the article are taken from the student's own experience.

Elimination of unnecessary movements and unnecessary work, and maintenance of efficiency through careful eating, breathing, and enthusiasm are the methods which Roper advocates. The writer contends that a student working his way through school need not "sling hash," rock somebody's baby to sleep, or play barber to a back lawn, for young men or women of college age should find more lucrative employment which will net them larger incomes and better business training.

PLAN HOMECOMING WINDOW DISPLAYS

Art Committee Arranges to Use Jewelry Store For Publicity Purposes

Pictures of Coach Ryan, a Badger football star, and a miniature stadium, will decorate a window of the Archie Tegtmeyer jewelry store at the corner of Grand avenue and Fourth street Milwaukee, if plans made by the art publicity committee for Homecoming reach completion.

The art publicity committee, under the direction of Margaret Callisen '24, chairman, has planned decorations for the window which Mr. Tegtmeyer has donated for Homecoming, and the committee expects to have the window decorated with the Wisconsin display ten days or more before October 27.

Members of the art publicity committee working with Miss Callisen are Michael Stiver '25, Martha Klermer '25, Evelyn Bonniwell '25, and Hank Lathers '25, charge of the Homecoming poster.

The art publicity committee has contest, which has been announced in previous issues of The Cardinal, in the industrial arts department, and in classes on the hill. Posters entered in the contest must be turned in at the office of A. N. Colp of the art department before October 17.

Judges of the posters will be Prof. Wm. H. Varnum, Prof. R. F. Stebbins, A. M. Colp and Doris Wilson of the art department, and Herbert Brockhausen, a graduate of the class of 1923.

The posters will be judged according to their definiteness, their striking appearance, their decorative value, and the originality which they display.

"The posters must have as their theme announcement of Homecoming and invitation to alumni," said Miss Callisen.

They should have announcement of Homecoming, October 27, reference to the Minnesota-Wisconsin game, and they must be at least 18 by 24 inches in size. Larger posters will be accepted. They may be worked in oils, in black and white or in colors.

SENATE, CARDINAL BOARD WEAKENED BY INELIGIBILITY

New Man to Be Elected November 2 to Replace Earle Gill

A vacancy is created on the Cardinal Board of Control by the ineligibility of Earle Gill '24, member of the Cardinal Board of Control and Cardinal representative on the Student Senate, which will be filled at the regular election on November 2, as announced under the heading of eligibility of members at the meeting of the Student Senate last night at the Law auditorium. Another representative from The Cardinal will be appointed by members of the Board of Control.

The committee on student life and interest did not send an eligibility slip for Gill to the senate, and a slip for the eligibility of the representative of another campus publication was not received last night.

It is asserted that the holder of this office who also represents this publication on the senate will be eligible as soon as an incomplete is clear.

Change Law Standing

As president of the class of '26, James Flickinger '26, retains his seat on the senate until the election of the freshman president this fall, but his eligibility slip was not received so this chair will be vacant until after November 2.

Students in Law 1 will vote as juniors and students in Law 2 and 3 will vote as seniors, according to the motion passed and incorporated in the by-laws of the senate last night. A report from a special committee recommended this change and the report was accepted.

Under the system used last year a man completing two years of work in the college of letters and science then transferring to Law was compelled to vote with students in the class below his own, after his change to law.

Will Arrange Election

Members of the Union Board and Student Senate are conferring over the measure passed last spring which deprives the Union Board of the power to recommend workers for election to the board. Attempts are being made by both parties to come to an agreement and the matter will come before the senate in the near future.

The election committee is working on the list of offices to be filled on November 2 and will report on them in a few days. Roll call and reading of the minutes of the last meeting were dispensed with by Senators Lamb '24, Seering '24, Cole '25, and Dawson '25, who composed the quorum.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN CLUB ELECTS AT FIRST MEET

The first meeting of the Rocky Mountain club was held last night in the concert room at Lathrop hall. With a good representation of "Rocky Mountaineers", plans were made for the coming year. Officers elected were George Gilland, president; Emily Sandison, social secretary; Doris G. Gable, vice-president; Don Donahue, treasurer, and Emily Kramer, secretary. The first party of the club will be held November 10, to which all members are invited.

The next meeting of the club will be held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday, October 18.

PLAN FORMATION OF FROSH MALE QUARTET

A freshman male quartet, whose purpose it will be to provide entertainment for social or scholastic gatherings, mostly for the freshmen, is to be organized under the leadership of David F. MacPherson.

A baritone, second tenor and pianist are desired from the freshman class. Tryouts will be held at 6 o'clock on Saturday evening in the fellowship room of the Y. M. C. A.

The quartet will be known as "Mac's Musical Male Monkeys."

Peppy Time For Staff Promised at Cardinal Banquet

The Cardinal board of control is giving a banquet for all members of The Cardinal staff, both editorial and business, at 6:30, Thursday in the banquet room of the Monona hotel.

"We want everybody on both staffs and all members of the board of control to be sure to come," said Margaret Callisen '24, vice president of the board. "It is to be very informal with no particular program. It is a good opportunity for all the members of The Cardinal staff to get acquainted with each other, and to know what all are doing."

A three-piece orchestra will furnish music during the dinner.

All members of the editorial staff who have had one semester's service are eligible to attend but must sign up at the office before noon today.

EDUCATED WOMEN MAKE BEST WIVES

Singer, Who Appears Tonight, Gives Views on American College Girl

"An educated woman makes the world's best wife. Hitch your wagon to the star of a college girl and nurse your romance until it hurts. You will do yourself a grave injustice if you can marry a girl with a brain and don't."

This is the opinion of the American college girl, advanced by Tito Schipa, famous opera star, who arrived in Madison last night for his first appearance here at Christ Presbyterian church tonight.

Schipa, who has burned the midnight oil in several universities in Italy and Spain while pursuing his musical education, picked his beautiful French wife from a bevy of co-eds he sang before at a French finishing school near Paris.

"You can take from me straight from the shoulder, the American girl is wonderful but the American man unless he watches his step will be a secondary factor in every sphere of activity in the course of time. I have discovered that anything in America without a woman in it is not worth while."

Schipa has the distinction of having appeared many times before royalty. King Alfonso and Queen Alexandria of Spain count themselves his special patrons. An incident of one of Schipa's visits in Madrid illustrates King Alfonso's interest in him. The afternoon before his appearance at the royal opera, Mr. Schipa visited a bullfight. From the royal box the king sighted him and, with the expressive gestures of the Latin, signaled him to guard his throat carefully.

Schipa will appear in Madison for the first time tonight and there is every reason for believing that he will receive a warm reception here. According to the local management many of the best seats in the house are still on sale at Albert E. Smith.

Foreign Flashes

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—The German government today took the initiative toward ending the Ruhr deadlock. Through its ambassadors in Paris and London, the Stresemann government asked the allies if they were ready to state definitely what their demands are upon Germany.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 9.—Belgium today made prompt reply to the German inquiry regarding reparations negotiations. M. Jaspar replied that there were two considerations: 1—Ruhr railway men must return to work. 2—Germany must pay for coal used in the Ruhr.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—President Coolidge today rejected plans for a world economic parley. With the present condition of mind existing in Europe, he sees nothing to be gained from an endeavor to hold a world conference at this time.

SOPHS AND FROSH START SQUABBLE, COURT STEPS IN

Loud Evening Ends Harmlessly, But With 4 Facing Prosecution

BULLETIN

The Student court sounds warning to all students whether freshmen, sophomores, or upperclassmen that hazing this year in any form whatsoever will absolutely not be tolerated and that offenders will be prosecuted to the limit of the power given the Student court.

(Signed) T. R. Hannon,
Chief Justice.

The Student court took first steps in screwing down the lid on hazing last night when T. R. Hannon, L. and S. grad, and chief justice of the court, intervened in a near-hazing party on the lower campus and dispersed with the help of several senior groups of belligerent sophomores and freshmen.

The lower campus and university district was quiet with no harm done at 11:10 o'clock following an evening of yelling and repeated calls of "26 out" and "27 out."

The Student court will follow their intervention in last night's mix-up with an organization meeting tonight and consideration in a day or so of the cases of four freshmen who defied sophomores.

The freshmen, Jeff Burroughs, Henry Brooks, and John Wilkinson, all of Louisville, Ky., and an unknown companion, will be testified against by eye-witnesses in the Student court meeting tonight.

First hazing outbreaks threatened at 7:30 o'clock when groups of first year men taking examinations in the Engineering building yelled jeeringly across the Hill at sophomore meeting in Music hall to elect bag captains for the impending class rush Saturday.

Put Through Paces

Sophomores responded to the challenge, but the yearlings scurried to refuge in the Engineering building. The sophs marched on down town, finding stray freshmen and putting them through traditional stunts of singing and posing. One freshman said last night that he proposed to five different girls and kissed one.

Approximately 100 freshmen gathered during the evening.

FRESHMEN WOMEN TO JOIN NEW CLUB

250 Welcomed; New Group System of Electing Members Enacted

A new idea for electing the freshman commission was given the needed support when 250 freshmen women signed cards which will entitle them to membership in the new freshman club last night at a meeting held by the Y. W. C. A. in Lathrop parlors. The women were welcomed by Marion Metcalf, president of the Y. W. C. A., Miss Anderson, and Dorothy Johns.

Groups of 25 will be formed with a member of the sophomore commission in charge of each. In six weeks, the women will elect a leader from their group for the commission. Rena Grubb, president of the sophomore commission, will be in control.

"The Y. W. C. A. means friendship, a very real, true friendship," said Marion Metcalf, while outlining the work of the cabinet. "The women entering this year have a better opportunity to get acquainted than in other years."

"The Y. W. C. A. here belongs to the national group which has a membership of 90,000 and is found in 700 schools," said Miss Anderson. "Besides this, there is a World Student Federation which takes in 42 countries. Wisconsin sent one of the five women delegates allotted to the United States to the convention at Pekin this year. So you see what a big work this is."

PLANS DISCUSSED AT S. G. A. MEET

Registration in University
Automatically Enrolls
Women in S. G. A.

When a woman registers in the university, she automatically becomes a member of S. G. A., hence the annual $1 fee is compulsory. No separate class dues are being charged this year.

At the S. G. A. board meeting tonight, each house chairman will be given receipt blanks for S. G. A. dues. The money collected by the house chairmen from their respective houses will be turned over to the district chairmen, who will hand it in to S. G. A.

Districts have been arranged by streets this year instead of ward-like sections as formerly. It is believed that the change will enable girls living on one street to become better acquainted with one another. District parties for this purpose are being planned.

One district chairman has been appointed for each of the 16 districts. Besides collecting dues for S. G. A., they will help in Y. W. C. A.'s financial drives.

The districts are as follows:

District 1, Barnard and Chadbourne halls; district 2, all the sorority houses; district 3, Langdon street from Wisconsin avenue to Francis street; district 4, Langdon from Francis to Park; district 5, State, Hawthorne court, Sterling court; district 6, University avenue, Huntington court, Spring street, Chandler street, Clifford court; Orchard street, Randall court, Warren street, Lorch court, Mound street, St. James court; district 7, W. Johnson, Dayton, Lake, Mendota, court; district 8, Lake, Mendota, court; district 9, N. Francis; district 10, Murray, Park, Bernard court, Conklin court, Clymer place; district 11, N. Brooks, Mills, Charter, Morris; district 12, W. Gilman, N. Carroll, Wisconsin, N. Pinckney, N. Henry, W. Gorham. District 13 includes streets in the southeastern part of the city. District 14, the eastern part; 15, the northeastern part; 16, the western part, including the Heights and Wingra park.

The district chairmen are as follows:

DEAN RUSSELL WILL ATTEND DAIRY SHOW

Dean Russell left last Sunday for Syracuse, N. Y., where he will attend the meetings of the World's Dairy conference. From Syracuse, Dean Russell will go to Ithica, N. Y. where he will speak next Saturday at the dedication of the dairy building of the State Agricultural college at Cornell university.

This will be the dedication of one of the largest dairying buildings in the country. The cost of the building is estimated at $400,000 and equipment at $200,000.

The new building is another step in the plan which Cornell university launched in 1905 to increase its facilities for carrying the work of agricultural education in the state.

Dean Russell is expected to return to Madison the first of next week.

REPRESENTATIVES OF S. G. A. MEET TONIGHT

A meeting of S. G. A. representatives of the various houses will be called by Lois Jacobs '24, president of the organization, at 7:15 o'clock tonight in the S. G. A. room at Lathrop hall.

"It is urgent that all house representatives attend this meeting, as it is through them that S. G. A. hopes to reach every girl in the university," Miss Jacobs said.

Copies of the S. G. A. constitution will be sent out following this meeting.

PROF. VINOGRADOFF TO SPEAK OCT. 30

Will Talk on "The State as a Subject of Duties"

Prof. Sir Paul Vinogradoff, corpus professor of jurisprudence at Oxford since 1903 and Medieval historian, will deliver two lectures here October 30 and 31 in room 165 Bascom hall.

His lecture October 30 will be on "The State as a Subject of Duties: The Liabilities of the State as to Compensation for Damages." On the afternoon of October 31 Sir Vinogradoff will lecture on "The State as a Subject of Duties: The Control of Administrative Action by French and English Courts."

A Russian by birth and an Englishman by adoption, Sir Paul has become internationally known as a writer, authority and standard on the social and economical history of England. While a professor in Moscow he exerted himself in the spread of instruction in Russia and founded the Moscow pedagogical society and acted as chairman of the educational committee in the city of Moscow.

After resigning his position because of a conflict with bureaucratic authorities, he came to England where he resumed his studies in English social and economical history, and wrote a number of publications and books on the subject. He was knighted in 1917.

At the present time Sir Vinogradoff is in this country, giving two series of lectures. One at the University of California and the other at Ann Arbor, from which place he will come here.

Sixteen years ago, in May 1907, he was at this institution and gave lectures for a period of one month.

While in the city Sir Paul will be entertained by Prof. Carl Russell Fish and will be given a dinner by the combined history, law and government departments of the university.

CANES ARE IN VOGUE FOR SENIOR LAWYERS

Canes are again in vogue for the senior law students. Last Saturday's football game brought them into evidence.

This custom of having the senior law students carry canes originated somewhere in the East and was introduced here three years ago. The senior students are requested to carry their canes from the occasion when the first football game is played until Thanksgiving, and then later in the year from Easter to graduation.

Every senior is expected to carry a cane although there is no penalty for failing to do so.

WISCONSIN DAIRY TEAM PLACES WELL IN SHOW

Wisconsin dairy team took eighth place among the 30 dairy judging teams from all the large dairy schools of the country which competed in the cattle judging contests at the national dairy show at Syracuse, New York.

Wisconsin ranked second in Jersey cows and third in Ayrshire cows. Lester E. Caldwell of Wisconsin took third place in individual placing of Jerseys and Verlyn Sears held seventh place in individual placing of Jerseys, and third place in individual placing of Ayrshires.

This is the first year that as many as 30 teams have competed in the national dairy show.

PLAN KITCHENETTES FOR KANSAS DORMITORY

RYAN PUTS MEN
THROUGH STIFF
OFFENSIVE DRILLSpecial Emphasis is Laid on Passing and Kicking
Ball

Intensive offensive drill, with emphasis on the passing and kicking end of the game, was the order at Camp Randall field last night for the Wisconsin football team.

With the next preliminary game but four days away, and the Conference session but a scant two weeks distant, Coach Ryan is working with his boys every moment possible. Glaring defects in his all too inexperienced eleven were displayed last Saturday in the Coe game, and it is an attempt to polish off the rough edges that Ryan is turning his efforts this week.

A scrimmage session with the All-American showed little more than a general improvement in every phase of the game over the same sort of work last week.

While the line is working well on the defensive it shows itself to be woefully weak at times on the offensive. With the snap of the ball to a varsity back, the All-American linemen begin sifting through the regulars, often to tackle the runner for a loss.

With Taft still on the sidelines, exercising only his toe and his arm, Radke filled the fullback position. A back of average ability on the offensive, Radke gains much prestige through his defensive play. Since the days of "Toughy" Sundt, no fullback has looked as good as Radke does in backing up the line. Diving and tackling fiercely, few plunges are successful in gaining yardage through Radke.

Taft's practice punting last night was a sight for sore eyes after the mediocre kicking in the Coe game by Badger backs. Time after time he sent these long, high, twisting spirals for more than 60 yards.

With Nelson out of the lineup last night with an injured leg, several reserves saw action at the wing position. Walker, Blackman, and Art Johnson all worked at right end for a time. Probably one of the closest bits of competition this fall will result over that position with several men of ability fighting for it.

During the scrimmage a few passes were attempted but only one was successful. Irish nabbed a long one over the center of the line for a twenty yard gain.

In passing practice, George Carlson, who has been out of the lineup for the past week, did most of the work from the sending station. Accurate, fast, and powerful, Carlson looks better in that department than anything fans have seen so far this year.

Eagleburger piloted the team through the scrimmage with Harris and Holmes at the halfback positions. The backfield looks strong when the line is working right, but in every case when an All-American negotiates a passage through the line he succeeds in nailing the runner for a loss.

The freshman team is working daily on foreign plays, and it is expected that the yearlings will take on the Varsity shortly with Michigan Aggie plays. The Aggies will be here Saturday for the last preliminary game before the start of the Conference schedule.

GYMNASISTS WILL HOLD
MEETING ON THURSDAY

All freshmen and upperclassmen who are interested in gymnastics and fencing are urged to attend a meeting of the gym team in the trophy room of the men's gym at 7 o'clock Thursday evening. Men who cannot attend the meeting can get any information from Ted Stevens, F. 2763, captain-elect of the team.

Committees of the board of regents met yesterday in preparation for their regular monthly meeting to be held today, at which meeting plans for the Men's Union building will be discussed. Plans for the building are nearly completed.

CHINESE ORGANIZE
NEW SOCCER TEAMAddition of Three New Men
Will Add Strength to Team

The best soccer team ever organized by the Chinese students of Wisconsin is promised for the coming year, according to Alfred Sun, captain of the Chinese soccer team.

"Though several members left Wisconsin during the summer," said Mr. Sun, "our team will not suffer in the least as some exceptionally good soccer players have been found among new comers who enrolled in the university this fall."

Among the newcomers are three new men who formerly played on the football team of Tsing Hua college, Peking (popularly known as the American Indemnity College), which has the strongest soccer team in North China. They are Frank Liu, K. T. Tan and J. C. Liu.

Other members of the squad are: C. H. Chu, Charles Wu, Peter Sah, L. Tseng, C. P. Chang, W. A. Chin, and C. H. Kao. The last mentioned also played on the famous Tsing Hua team before he came over to America.

The Chinese soccer team of Wisconsin has been known as one of the best teams in the mid-west. It defeated the International club last year and defeated the Chicago Chinese team during the Chinese Students' conference held here last month.

More games with soccer teams around Madison will be arranged so that greater interest in soccer will be stimulated, according to Sun. Last year considerable difficulty was experienced in arranging matches as the game was not very popular in America.

Three Badgers Named
On Forestry Board

Out of 20 leaders in the American pulp and paper industry asked by Secretary Wallace to function as advisory committee in forestry policies, three men come from Wisconsin. They are L. M. Alexander, president, Neekoosa-Edwards Paper Co., Port Edwards; D. C. Everest, vice president, Marathon Paper Mills Co., Rothschild, and O. Bach-Wiig, vice president, Wausau Sulphite Fiber Co., Mosinee.

No special program will be held in the city to commemorate the birth of Theodore Roosevelt, it was announced to Mayor I. Milo Kittleson yesterday. Residents may be asked to display the colors.

RIFLE TEAM INSTALLS
OFFICERS FOR YEAR

The Rifle team held its first meeting of the year Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the gymnasium for the purpose of installing the new officers, W. A. Rorison, president; L. P. Drake, vice president, and G. H. Ross, secretary. Special committees appointed are to take care of publicity, membership, initiation, social plans and the pin.

Arrangements were also made for out of town contests with St. John's academy, Ripon college, and the Janesville rifle club.

Tryouts for the rifle team will be held all this week from 2 o'clock to 4 o'clock under the supervision of Coach Shire. It is reported that 26 men have already applied for membership.

It is understood that the Athletic council is now considering putting the rifle team on the status of a minor sport.

"BULLDOGS" SIGN
CHAMBERLAIN TO LEAD THEM AGAIN

Guy Chamberlain.

Guy Chamberlain, Nebraska football star, has signed a contract to coach and lead the world's professional champion Canton Bulldog football eleven through the 1923 campaign. He arrived in Canton recently and immediately set to work signing many of last year's champions. He piloted the team last year.

PLANS DISCUSSED
FOR SOCCER TEAMCoach Schlatter Talks to Soccer Enthusiasts and Outlines Plans

Soccer enthusiasts, meeting with Coach Fred Schlatter in the trophy room of the men's gym last evening, made plans for a successful season for the great international sport.

With more than enough experienced men to make two teams Coach Schlatter looks for some spirited contests on the lower campus. The field has been put in first rate shape and new goals are being erected.

"Our aim this year," says Coach Schlatter, "is to popularize soccer at Wisconsin. Soccer, as a sport, fills a much more prominent place in European countries than it does with us. For the last few years, however, a movement has been started to get the American people acquainted with the sport."

He went on to say that it is recognized as a major sport in the East and also on the western coast and that it is fast spreading to the middle west.

"High school coaches are recognizing the fact that it is not as strenuous as football and is a more suitable sport for high school boys. Soccer is one of the best forms of exercise and develops the wind and legs especially well," he continued.

Among the men present at the meeting were Hein, Zweiger, Duff, Danies, Resnick, Meckalski, Rosenfels, Nelson, Klevay, McKain, Verhaeghe, Ortega, Murray, Shimanski, Liu, Sun, and Weinrich.

EXTENSION DIVISION TO OFFER COACHING COURSE

To learn the latest football methods without being within sight of a coach or a gridiron seems too good to be true, but that is exactly what coaches and players can do, through a new course which has been prepared by the university extension division.

This new course, as well as others in basketball and track, will appeal especially to principals of high schools who are called upon to coach sports, or high school coaches who may be carrying academic work and have no opportunity to come in touch with the latest methods, and to members of teams themselves.

The football study is to be conducted by Prof. G. S. Lowman, the basketball by Dr. W. E. Meanwell, and that in track and field by Prof. T. E. Jones, all regular var-

Although little importance can be gathered from any early practice, the group of 40 men that turned out for varsity basketball yesterday afternoon looked very promising. All of the remaining members of last year's squad except Harris and Radke, who are on the varsity football, were on the floor. All of them are heavier than they were last year and in good condition.

In addition to these men there were the members of the 1922-23 frosh squad and a dozen or more men of unknown ability. The practice consisted of light floor work and long shots from the corners. Scrimmage will begin next week, as Dr. Meanwell wants to get under way with strenuous practice as soon as possible.

There is still room for more players, and upperclassmen are once more urged to report at the gym.

As is the usual custom, freshman basketball will begin as soon as Coach Driver's freshman football squad has gotten well under way. Coach Harper intends to issue a call for basketball material on or about Oct. 9.

Mornin' folks! Well, I think the Varsity is getting plenty of hard work these few days. Ryan is driving them like a gang of convicts, and they are enjoying it.

You never hear of the men kicking or talking back to that coach. They are all anxious to turn out the best they have, and it remains to be seen what that spirit will do.

The ends are getting the drilling they deserve on running down punts. Watch in the Michigan Aggie game whether the tackles beat the ends down after the punt. Markey is hard to beat down, but after watching them go through their paces last night, a different story is in the offing.

It looks like Taft, Williams and Opitz will get into the lineup next Saturday. That's enough to warrant a better showing right there.

Wisconsin need not be down-hearted over their last game—it was a real test—something the team needed to eradicate any cockiness they might have had.

Judging from last Saturday's scores, Illinois and Michigan look especially strong for honors in the conference this year. When a team composed of practically all sophomores can lick a team with seven veterans like Nebraska—look out.

Dope on how the Varsity looks this week tomorrow.

EXTRA-CURRICULAR PROFITS.

Once more the student body, through its elected medium, serves itself this year; the student body as the Wisconsin Union and its elected medium as the Union board. By the service is meant the concert series, which features every academic year and which supplies us with an opportunity for adding to our pleasures.

Last year the armory was filled time and time again by an audience attracted thither at the prospect of hearing good music; no, not merely good music; masterful music. This year the opportunity will be the same, and students and town-folk alike will be anxious to profit.

Jascha Heifetz, Reinhard Werrenrath and the duet pianists, Guy Maier and Lee Pattison; surely an imposing and attractive list of artists. Here in the wild, disconnected provinces, it would seem an unusual thing to be able to listen to such music as is produced by them. We grind and study away, the bulk of our entertainment being found in the movies and the Orph. What a relief an occasional concert is; what an opportunity to add to our curricular profits. Here can be gained not only pleasure but, with a minimum amount of effort, a slice of education, a slice of that for which we ostensibly have come to Madison to acquire.

MONEY AND BANKING

For years the Madison banks have been fighting a battle against student forged checks. For a time, forging among students was a serious problem and three years ago the banks and local merchants lost more than $4,000 because of it. By adopting an elaborate system of student identification, however, the banks and merchants have been able to remedy the matter so that last year the amount lost was almost negligible.

Now the banks have another case to win: the case of insufficient funds checks. Every year thousands of dollars worth of checks for which the student has no financial backing in his bank have been cashed, only to be returned to the cashier who in turn must get in touch with the indorser in order to have him make the check valid. This is not a case of dishonesty with the student: it is simply a case of carelessness.

The matter of knowing just how much balance you have in your bank is rather irksome. Figures and figuring are nuisances anyhow, and the student, in cashing a check, is usually willing to take a chance that he has enough money in his bank to cover the amount. Instead of knowing, either from the bank balance or his own, just how many dollars and cents he has on hand, he risks over drawing his account by writing a check, although he may have sufficient funds in his or his father's pocket to back the check.

Thus, over and over again, the banks and merchants are required to go through a deal of trouble, getting in touch with the student and seeing that he covers the check, simply because the student is careless of his financial duties.

There is another habit which is annoying to bankers, the habit of writing checks for an amount less than a dollar. If you have ever worked in the home of adding machines and wire cages, you know what it means to handle a vast amount of checks the values of which run from 15 cents to 99. If you haven't, your imagination will tell you what unnecessary trouble this requires.

Surely, the banks and merchants are here to serve us; let us, however, help them to serve us better by serving them better.

SOME CHANGE NEEDED.

Now that the method of selling football tickets has been improved so markedly, it may be well to turn to improving the method of registration. No longer must we stand in line for hours in order to obtain the coveted pasteboard. At first the abomination was partly remedied by a mail order system, and this supplies an idea which might—which will—work in registering.

In fact, the mail order system of registration has worked admirably at Yale. In brief, it is this:

Freshmen make entrance application to the registration office and send in their preparatory credits early in the summer. He then receives a notification that he is admitted if his credits are satisfactory, and with that notice an entire outline of the courses which are open to him, with a list of the subjects which he is required to take. He then makes out his course as he desires it to be and sends it in to the office. There any necessary changes are made and quiz sections assigned, his entire course O. K'd and written out on a class card such as is used here. He receives a card notifying him when he is to be at New Haven and where he is to present himself for his class card. At the appointed time and place he presents himself and, when his name is called in alphabetical order he receives his card and the business is over. He waits, as a rule, only two or three minutes for his card.

Thus at Yale the system requires no long standing in line, waiting in the rain to fill out a registration blank or to pay fees. Students are given until November 1 to pay their fees and if they have not paid by then, they are unceremoniously dropped.

Beautifully simple, is it not? You may say: Well, and Yale has not even half as many students as we have. And what of that? If the enrollment at the University of Wisconsin is larger than that at Yale, it simply means that a larger registration force will be required to handle the situation during the summer. Then, too, the system dispenses with class advisors, thus lowering the number of persons who are required to carry on the registration.

Imitating is not always advisable, but surely it would be in this case. If the abominable queues can be eliminated, if all the drag and worry and bustle of the registration days, the days which start the student out on his university course with such a bad taste in his mouth that it takes weeks and months to sweeten the taste, if the standing in line forever and ever, as it seems, can be done away with in any manner whatsoever, then every effort should be made to do away with it. The Yale system works admirably, people say. Adopted here for all classes, it should work equally as well.

COLLEGE MEN AND LAW OBSERVANCE

(Directors of Athletics of the Western Conference)
That there has been manifested in this country in the last few years an alarming disregard of law no one can dispute. The ability of a people to make good laws and to abide by them determines the degree to which that people is qualified for self government.

College men, knowing that these two statements are true, most assuredly will take the lead in showing respect for law. Here in the Western conference certain laws or rules have been drafted by men who have made a study of athletic conditions. All of the conference colleges have adopted these rules for the administration of athletics.

Some college men do not believe that certain rules, which have been drawn up as articles of agreement for the control of conference athletics, are good rules and, therefore, either violate the rules themselves or uphold those who do. When a man takes this position he is in a class with the thief who steals property and justifies his action on the ground that he does not believe that the laws, which are drafted to protect property rights, are good laws.

The purpose of this article is to suggest to the college men who read this article that a great many people believe that the colleges of this country are not living up to the amateur rules and the rules respecting the recruiting of athletics,—rules, which have been subscribed to by the colleges in question.

The Frosh learned that voluntary means several things including the lake.

LITERATE TO ORGANIZE

To you who have literary aspirations a special invitation comes to meet with other literary inclined students at 4:30 o'clock, Thursday afternoon in room 360 Bascom Hall. Mildred Fish '24, assisted by Mary Zaturenska, the Zona Gale scholar, will be in charge.

The aim of the meeting is to bring out potential writers for the Literary magazine. A goodly number will be added to the staff which will be reorganized in the near future.

It is to the interest of coming contributors to know what kind of material is desired by the magazine. To this everyone interested is invited even though past contributions may have been rejected. Students who have shown some tendency toward literary writing and who have received special invitations are:

Philip Marquardt, Catherine Van derhoof, Eleanor Goodnight, Ivan Clyde Lake, Anatol Kleinst, Bessie

Simpson, Robert Chesley Osborn, Edith Jeanning, R. E. NORMAL INSTITUTE WILL HOLD MEET

Questions Pertaining to Farmer and His Problems Will Be Discussed

"Lime, the miracle working stuff," will be one of the four main sources of discussion at the normal institute conference to be held here from October 22 to 26. The purpose of the conference, composed of the farmers' institute workers, extension specialists, and county agents, is to bring the farmers of the state into closer co-operation with those whose research work will be of benefit to them. The extensive production of lime has brought about a depletion of lime in the soil and the source of agricultural lime, especially the marl deposits of Wisconsin, is scheduled to be the topic of greatest importance.

A cafeteria program has been organized by J. F. Wojta, state leader of the county representatives, and E. L. Luther, superintendent of the farmers' institute. Each of the extension specialists will have a table in the Soils building where he will give out information on the subject of his research. In this way all the specialists will be centered in one place where those attending the conference may find them at regular hours.

Special stress will also be laid upon the boys' and girls' club work, and the marketing of butter and cheese. The junior livestock show will be in session during Friday and Saturday and will give the delegates a chance to see the work of the boys' and girls' clubs. Through the organization of these groups throughout the state, an interest in livestock and farm production has been developed among the children of the grade schools.

MENORAH TO WELCOME FRESHMEN AT MIXER

The first social function of the Menorah society will be a welcome mixer Saturday evening in the Badger room of the Woman's building. This affair will offer the incoming students the first social opportunity to meet the other Jewish students.

Preparations are being made by the committees of the Menorah, and of the Council of Jewish juniors, for many novel mixing stunts.

Dancing to a four-piece orchestra will make up the major part of the program, with various forms of entertainment. An invitation is extended to all Jewish students to attend the affair.

CLEF CLUB WILL HOLD TRYOUTS FOR MEMBERS

"Technique, interpretation, selection, poise and general musical interest will be taken into consideration in judging the candidates for Clef club," said Elizabeth Mason '25, today.

The tryouts are to be held in the near future. Upper classmen women skilled in any branch of music, may make arrangements for trying out by calling Elizabeth Mason, who is in charge of the program.

More than 20 are expected to try out for membership which is limited to 40. Only upper classmen are eligible until February, when special tryouts for freshmen will be held.

Activity Divisions Are Provided By New S. G. A. Ruling

To prevent girls from taking part in too many activities, S. G. A. has divided its activities and offices into three divisions, major, intermediate, minor. Any girl may carry one major activity, two intermediate activities, or one intermediate and two minor activities.

Major activities are: President of S. G. A., Y. W. C. A., W. A. A., Woman's Editor of Cardinal, Woman's Editor of Badger.

Intermediate activities are: President of Castalia, Pythia, Outing club, Barnard, Chadbourne, Glee club, Mu Phi Epsilon, vice-president of S. G. A., Y. W. C. A., W. A. A., or a Dramatic society.

Minor activities, Secretary of Y. W. C. A., S. G. A., treasurer of W. A. A., S. G. A., Y. W. C. A., or vice-president not mentioned above.

The complete list of points for activities may be found in the bulletin of the women's self government association.

GAVELS DISPLAYED IN STATE MUSEUM

Historical Library Shows Old Pieces Used By Famous Men

The finest, the most beautiful, and the most interesting gavels in Wisconsin are on display in the state historical museum on the fourth floor of the library this week.

The finest is a gold mounted gavel used by Postmaster General Henry C. Payne in calling together the great gold convention of June, 1904.

The most beautiful gavel is of onyx, and is ornamented with gold bands. It is broken, and will have to be repaired. This gavel was given to Senator George B. Burrows by the state legislature of 1895.

The most interesting gavel is made out of a tree from the Lookout mountain battlefield, and had a bullet still in the wood. It was formerly the property of G. P. Bushey of the Seventh Wisconsin artillery.

There are seven gavels of interest. An eighth one, that used by the presidents of the state historical society in calling together the annual meeting for the last thirty years, is expected very soon.

FRENCH CLUB ELECTS SEMESTER OFFICERS

The French club held its first meeting of the year last night at the French house.

Officers elected for the first semester were George Darby '24, president; Marjorie Covert '24, vice president; Lucile Salentine '25, secretary, and Elton Hocking '25, treasurer. Mademoiselle Mioche read several selections of French poetry.

Plans were made for tryouts to be held this week. These will be held at 3:30 o'clock Thursday and Friday in room 312, Bascom hall. Those whose last names begin with the letters A to L will come on Thursday and the rest of the applicants will appear on Friday. Those who cannot make the tryout at either time can make arrangements at the French department office in room 309 Bascom hall.

URGE STUDENTS TO LEARN MORE SONGS

Major Morphy Says Crowds Should Know Wisconsin Airs

"If every fraternity and sorority would sing Wisconsin songs after dinner at night instead of playing and singing jazz we could have more singing on the bleachers during our games, more university spirit and enthusiasm, and better games and memories to look back upon," said Major Morphy, director of the bands, yesterday.

"The band plays university songs continually, but the students do not seem to know them. Aside from the "Varsity Toast," "On Wisconsin," and "If You Want to Be A Badger" the students never sing the standard Wisconsin songs," Mr. Morphy continued.

Cheerleader Ezra Crane '24, expressed strong approval of the idea.

"Enthusiasm is very hard to fan at some of our games, because the students do not cheer and sing together as well as they would if they were better acquainted with the yells and songs of their Alma Mater. They should know all of the standard songs of the university, and to know them they must sing them," Crane said.

"Hazy memories of the "Wisconsin Marching song" the "Badger Cheer," "We'll Cheer for old Wisconsin," "Queen of Our Hearts" and other songs can be easily and pleasurable brushed up by means of a little application en masse to the book of "Songs of Wisconsin," and our games will be pepper and more successful for the people along the sidelines as well as for our team," Crane declared.

State Oil Probe To Be Resumed Tomorrow

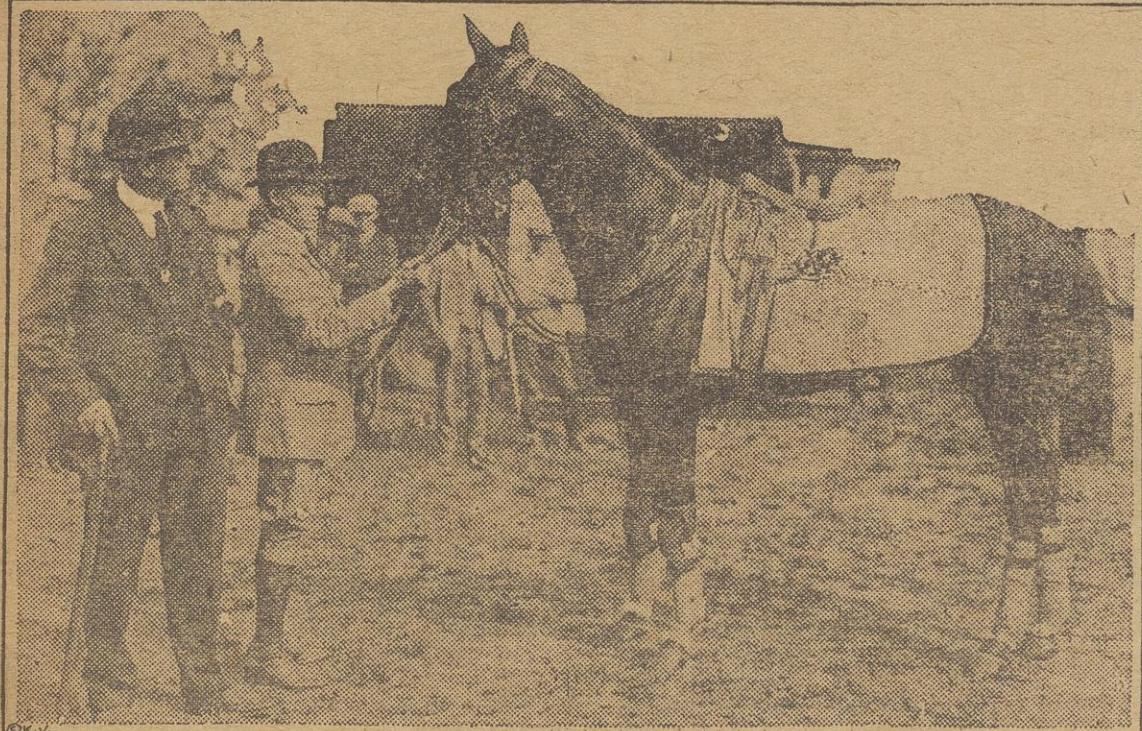

The investigation of the oil industry as operated in Wisconsin, being conducted by attorney general Herman L. Ekern, will be resumed on Wednesday with Gilbert E. Roe as special examiner, the attorney general's department announced today.

A preliminary inquiry was held during the last week in September with officials of the Standard Oil company of Indiana testifying. Adjournment was taken to permit them to obtain figures showing costs of production and distribution of gasoline in Wisconsin.

The attorney general and department of markets expect to obtain information upon which they can base later action should there be a sharp rise in the price of gasoline.

Miles L. Co'lean, Graduate of Wisconsin University, Wins High Praise for Novel, 'Quest'

Miles L. Co'lean, of the class of '21, University of Wisconsin, has sprung into fame in the East as author of a novel, "Quest," published by Dutton, which is creating much comment in literary circles in New York City.

The author is only 25 years of age, and while this is his first novel, the volume has been favorably received by reviewers in the East.

Co'lean entered the University of Wisconsin in 1916, as a freshman in the School of Journalism. He was a member of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity and participated in the organization of a group devoted to the study of literary and political subjects which included Philip F. La Follette, now a lawyer in Madison, and Joseph R. Farrington, correspondent of the Philadelphia Public Ledger at Washington.

The young author withdrew from the University of Wisconsin in 1917 to enter Columbia university. There he enrolled in the School of Architecture, completed his course in record time, and was graduated with high honors in 1921.

For the past two years he has practised his profession in the office of R. H. Dana, one of the best known architects of New York City.

Co'lean came to the University of Wisconsin from Peoria, Illinois, and his novel, "Quest" has Illinois for its setting.

H. W. Boynton, literary critic for the "Independent," one of the leading reviewers of the East, comments on the book as follows:

"I wish I knew something about the writer of 'Quest.' This appears to be a first book. Its author is someone who does not care about current fads and fashions in storytelling, is not concerned whether he belongs to one generation or another, but has a tale to tell and goes about it in his own way. His style lacks grace, is even a little cumbersome; but it has rarer qualities, for our time—namely, consistency and dignity. His mood is melancholy; but he makes no fetish unpleasantries.

"His larger theme has been often and diversely treated by other novelists. It is nothing less than the spirit and body of the Middle West in its secondary phases of development. But this interpreter's method is intensive and personal; he identifies the broader theme with the life-experience of two people, and we are hardly aware, till the story is all over, that there is a broader theme.

"A melancholy book, a searching study of our passionate nineteenth century materialism, of that ardor for pain and effort and their obvious rewards, which is won't to sacrifice the individual in the building up of all new countries and races."

The New York Times Book Review comments as follows on the novel written by the former University of Wisconsin under-graduate:

"It is an earnest piece of work that Mr. Co'lean has done, and it shows an understanding of the hearts and minds of men and women that promises well for future work from the same pen."

Boys do not wish to be wrapped up in the dogmas of old theology. They want an active religion."

Rev. Bell was the chief speaker at the semi-monthly meeting of the club which closed the first year of its activities last evening. Musical numbers were given during supper hour. Although the Nabor Club have already forty active members, they expect to interest other citizens of the community. Both young and old are urged to attend the semi-monthly meetings.

SOPHS AND FROSH START SQUABBLE

Student Court Ends Loud Evening and Warns Against Future Hazing

marched around the square, and turned the tables on several second year men by making them stage proposing and singing parties of their own.

Wandering bands of freshmen and sophmores tramped the streets nearly all evening getting rid of most of their surplus energy with class yells and jibes directed at small groups of their opponents on street corners.

Several meetings were staged on both the upper and lower campus by the second year men without much result until late in the evening when the freshmen, who had been gathering, met their rivals at the corner of Langdon and Park, in front of President Birge's house.

The arrival of the frosh resulted in a general mixup between the two groups which lasted until Hannon arrived and was able to restore peace.

Several reports were current during the evening that the first year men had attempted a raid on the men's gymnasium to get the bags stored there for the class rush. Some of the frosh were later seen taking what appeared to be some of the bags down University Avenue, across from Chadbourne Hall.

Hannon told the sophmores that hazing was now outlawed by regulation, would not be tolerated by the student court this year and that any members of either the freshman or sophomore classes who violated hazing rulings would be prosecuted by the student court.

The climax of the evening came at 10:30 o'clock on the lower campus when four freshmen wearing their caps gave yells for their own class and ended with jeers at the sophs. The sophmores headed by Orin Werneke, chairman of the sophomore rush committee, appealed to the chief justice, asking that the second year group be allowed to punish the four freshmen.

Hannon was firm in his refusal but said that if evidence of the identity of the freshmen could be produced by the sophmores, the student court would function in the case.

Howard Lyman '24, appeared before Hannon and said he could furnish the names of the freshmen who had mocked the sophmores. The names of the students were taken by the justice, who told Lyman to appear at the court meeting.

Another appeal was made to the chief justice to throw a freshman in the lake who claimed to be a loyal member of his class and yet did not wear a green cap. Hannon said that since the wearing of the cap was voluntary this year, no action could be taken by the second year men.

Hannon cited to The Cardinal the last night in support of his action the Student court ruling effective last May which reads:

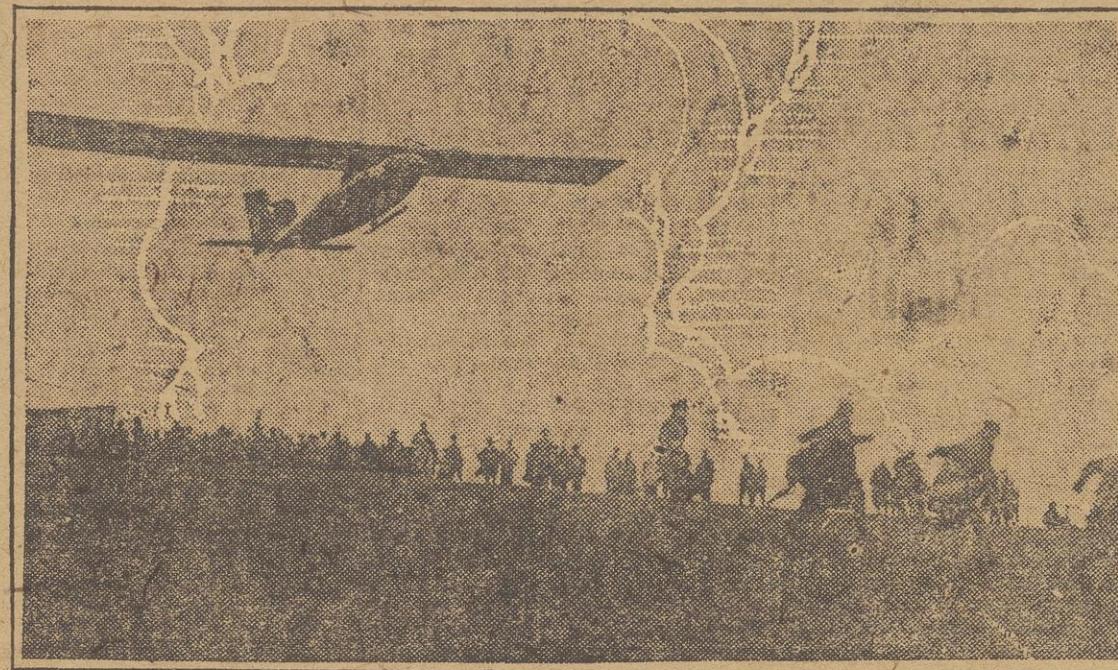

"The Student court hereby holds that any university regulation attempting to compel freshmen to wear any article of clothing against their will is invalid because of being a violation of his personal rights against sound student policy, and unreasonable. This court looks upon wearing of the green cap as a mark of honor, distinction and loyalty to class spirit and to the university and not a matter to be made compulsory."

Hannon also pointed out the senate and court regulations which give the court power to punish hazing and which read:

"Violators of this section that prohibiting hazing be placed on disciplinary probation for not more than one year. When violations occur through action of groups each and every participant shall be liable and the leaders shall be punished by additional penalties if the court sees fit to impose them."

These regulations give the court wide powers in punishing violators of the hazing rules.

Hearing On Roads

Highway Committee Will Hold Final Session Tomorrow

The special highway committee appointed by the last legislature to supervise the expenditure of an appropriation for 2,500 miles of new state trunk highway, will meet in the assembly chamber Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock for a final hearing. The appropriation will be derived from the funds received by the state under the new automobile licensing law.

The number of miles of road to be built in Dane county will be determined. Hearings have been held in all Wisconsin counties. Senator George F. Staudenmayer of Portage is chairman of the committee.

ELECT CHAIRMAN FOR LITTLE INTERNATIONAL

George Sen was elected general chairman of the Little International stock show of the College of Agriculture at the first meeting of Saddle and Sirloin club last week. The Little International is one of the biggest events of the year in the Agricultural college, and although the show occurs late in the semester preparations are already going forward.

Professors Fuller and Humphrey spoke at the first club meeting and stated with the amount of interest being shown in the animal husbandry work a banner year should result. Elaborate preparations are being made by the officers of Saddle and Sirloin for a good series of program meetings to which all students are invited.

MERCHANTS TO AID COMMUNITY UNION

Per Cent of Friday's Sales Will Go to Campaign Fund

Friday, Oct. 12, will be Social Service day in many Madison stores. On Friday stores participating in Social Service day will give five per cent of their gross cash receipts for that day to the Community Union.

This generous step has been taken by a group of Madison merchants, and since the matter was first broached only 24 hours ago, additional Madison merchants have been joining the movement hourly.

The program is outlined at present includes the following ideas:

Representatives of the 14 social agencies will be assigned to the various stores to help the sales people and to stimulate interest in community social work.

Participating merchants will "talk up" Social Service day in their regular advertising.

The Community Union will "boost" Social Service day in its newspaper publicity and through its office and field forces.

Newspapers will lend their co-operation through the news and editorial columns.

It is pointed out that Social Service day need not be confined to retail merchants. Any line of business-making cash sales may participate. The fact that the Community Union will participate in the day's profits can be made a talking point for closing business deals that have been hanging fire.

The plan was suggested Monday morning by Harry Manchester. A hasty canvass of some of the leading merchants showed that it would meet with general approval, and its adoption was decided on by the Community Union campaign committee Monday night.

It has been suggested that mer-
