GREEKS COMPETE FOR LOVING CUP ON GRADE BASIS

Revolving Trophy Will Finally Rest in Memorial Union Building

An alumnus of Wisconsin, whose name has not as yet been made public, will donate an interfraternity scholarship cup to be competed for by the social fraternities.

The cup will be of sterling silver. At the present time the donor is having it engraved in a suitable design. As soon as it is completed it will be sent to the dean until it is awarded.

All social fraternities will be eligible to compete for this trophy and it will be a big incentive for fraternities raising their averages. It will be awarded at the end of each semester and the name of the winner will be engraved upon it. When the cup is covered with names it will be placed upon permanent exhibition in the Wisconsin Memorial Union building.

In speaking of the matter, Dean S. H. Goodnight said, "It is a superb thing which this alumnus has done. A no more dignified trophy exists on the campus today and there is not one which a fraternity can more justly be proud of. It should be the worthy ambition of every fraternity to have its name engraved on this trophy."

The dean's office has sent each fraternity a list of its members grades and also a list of the averages of all of the organizations.

CONSERVE IN LEAN YEARS, SAYS DEAN

Advises Castalia Members to Find Time For Worth While Things

"In the lean years a woman's ability to converse will be a bigger asset than a knowledge of the latest dance steps. A man at 32 years is tired of dancing," declared Dean F. Louise Nardin in speaking before members of Castalia literary society on "The College Woman and Activities" last night.

The ability to get a margin in life, to find time and place for every worth while thing, and the formation of business like and concentrative habits that will carry on were pointed out by Dean Nardin as the most important advantages to be gotten out of participation in outside activities.

These activities can be divided into four groups: physical, intellectual, artistic, and political.

Initiation for the newly elected members of Castalia will be held November 16. The organization is planning an extension observance of its sixtieth anniversary in which all campus societies will be invited to participate. The event will take place early next semester.

A Building Will Be Finished on State Street Some Day?

It's a frame up, and so far, little else exists in the 600 block of State street. Built up slowly, part by part, but not yet in such form to challenge the usual observer, this thing takes shape in a strange manner.

The affair chiefly concerns the investment of Mr. William Quiner, in an establishment in which to carry on a business in electrical supplies, upholstering, and repairing. The money seems to be going, as the saying has it, "into the hole." There exists small chance that it will not continue to do so, for Mr. Quiner means to complete the structure which is in process of construction, between Lawrence's and the Art shop.

Besides the business mentioned Mr. Quiner will handle an agency for the Baldwin and musical instruments.

3 Prom Chairmen Wonder; But Teck Pays For Dinners

Three prospective prom chairmen are wondering which one is elected this morning. And 7,600 students are speculating likewise. There's just one clue. The three candidates, Lester Kissel, Clifford Nolte, and Oscar Teckemeyer, agreed last week that the winner was to pay for steak dinners election night. The dinners were ordered, eaten, and paid for. Teckemeyer paid.

But.....we're stuck again. All three men say there's got to be some reimbursing when the recount results are announced this morning, that is, if Teckemeyer's optimism isn't too well founded.

Until then Teckemeyer is out $5.25.

"ENGLISH CLINIC" NOW IN OPERATION

Department Begins Second Year of Work to Aid Students

"The English clinic" is now open for its second year's work, according to R. R. Auner, secretary in charge. It is ready to receive calls from students of all classes whose English is somewhat sick and needs expert diagnosis and advice.

The committee on student English, which was established a year ago to assist students whose written work in various courses is handicapped by difficulties in English, is this year under the guidance of R. R. Auner, instructor in English. The committee was established by the university faculty with representatives from various departments, in an effort to improve the quality of writing done by university students in all of their courses.

"The job of our better English committee is not to police the English of the university nor to inflict penalties upon students whose knowledge of English is doubtful," said Mr. Auner yesterday. "We are simply a clinic to which students may go for first aid when they find that their written topics, thesis, reports, and other papers are marred by weakness of grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, and the like."

Professors in all departments are planning to send students to the English clinic for assistance. Mr. Auner is this week giving talks to the faculty members of various departments, explaining the manner in which his committee may assist their students. The research paper that fails to make its results clear, the thesis that is delayed by composition troubles, the history topic that does not say what its author meant to say—such papers as these will come before the committee. Even the student who fails in foreign language because he does not know English grammar will be offered help.

GRID-GRAPH TELLS STORY OF BIG TEN BATTLES TODAY

Special Western Union Wire to Gym is Only Complete Service

The Athletic department has arranged to receive detailed reports by wire of the Chicago-Illinois and the Iowa-Michigan games this afternoon. At 1:30 o'clock the doors will open and the results of the Chicago-Illinois game will be portrayed on the grid-graph erected in the gymnasium, with each player's name shown and the progress of the ball indicated, while the reports of the Michigan-Iowa game will be read off play by play.

"I have had so many requests to install the grid-graph for these games," declared Frank Nickerson yesterday, "that we have made special arrangements at both of the institutions to secure the results of these games play by play by special wire from the respective fields. This arrangement at the gymnasium will be the only complete and detailed one in town Saturday."

The department has arranged a double set of wires with the Western Union so that there will be no delay in receiving the reports from both of these games at the gymnasium. All arrangements have been made to sit a full capacity crowd, whether it is rain or shine. The admission is 25 cents.

Y. W. Drive Over Center Mark; $1,200 Solicited to Date

Mary Atwood '25, chairman of the Y. W. C. A. financial drive, announces that $1200 of the $2000 quota has been solicited up to yesterday noon.

"We hope to get the remainder of the $2000 during the week end. The drive will close on Tuesday noon. Committees will be chosen later to see all the girls in the university that we have been unable to reach in this campaign," she said late yesterday afternoon.

Several teams of girls have been working for the drive in different sections of the city. The team that has obtained the most funds will be entertained at dinner Tuesday night, by Miss Mary Anderson at her apartment. The teams headed by Dorothy Strauss '26, Alice Clark '25, and Marcella Neff '24, are now in the lead.

GRADS WILL SPEAK AT FORENSIC BANQUET

The main forensic season will start at 5:45 o'clock Tuesday evening when all those interested in forensic activities will meet at a banquet in the Woman's building.

Tom Amlie Law 3, will act as toastmaster. Attorney Mike Olbrich, one time winner of the N. O. L. and noted debater, will deliver an address, and Alvin C. Reis will speak; Professor Weaver and Professor West of the speech department, will conclude the graduate addresses.

Henry Blake Law 1, will speak for the undergraduate representatives of forensics, and Harold Seering Law 2, will present a history of forensic activities at Wisconsin.

PROF. MICHAEL GUYER IS ABSENT ON LEAVE

Prof. Michael F. Guyer, zoology department, is on a leave of absence this semester. After teaching at the University of Washington last summer, he suffered a nervous breakdown and is now under doctor's orders to take a rest.

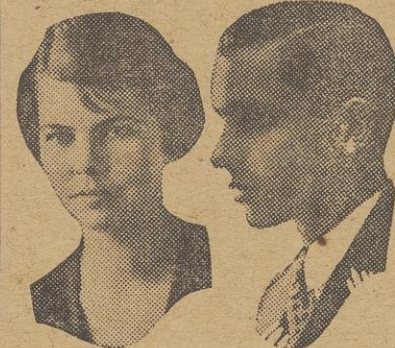

He will leave shortly for Arizona and from there travel to New Mexico and will do no research work during his absence.

BADGER HARRIERS GAIN HIGH HONORS

Seven of Ten Ranking Men on Team Have High Scholarship

Seven of the ten ranking men on the varsity cross country team have to their credit some variety of scholarship honors. The team members are ready to claim a conference scholastic championship if their legs fail them.

Capt. George Finkle '24, is an honor student in Eta Kappa Nu, honorary electrical fraternity. John Read '24, is a member of Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity. Russell Perry '25, has been awarded sophomore honors in the Ag school and George Piper '25, holds sophomore honors.

John Bergstresser '25, Lloyd Valley '25, and Walter Link '25, all crossed the half way mark in their university courses carrying sophomore scholastic honors. The remaining three gallopers rank high, but not quite high enough to hold blue ribbons.

Coach Mead Burke completes the formidable lineup of intellectuals who face Chicago in a dual meet today. He set a good example for the boys' way back when he won the conference medal for combined scholastic and athletic achievement in the days of '17.

FACULTY MEMBERS EDIT SIX NEW TEXT BOOKS

The romance department of the College of Letters and Science is now using six textbooks written or edited by members of the faculty. Two of these are Spanish composition books written by Prof. Charles D. Cool, associate professor of romance languages. A French reader written by Prof. Hugh A. Smith, professor emeritus and Jenne H. Greenleaf, former instructor, are now being used in the elementary French classes. Treuillit's "Le Jeune Homme Pauvre", as edited by E. T. Owen; Bourniers "La Lizardier" as edited by R. B. Mitchell, and Dumas' "Le Dernier Monde" as edited by H. A. Smith and R. B. Mitchell are other text books arranged by the department's staff.

Frautschi and Metcalf Sweep Senior Election With Split Ticket

The chairman of the Junior prom is still unknown.

Because of the close results of the junior class elections yesterday a recount of the votes cast has been ordered by the student senate elections committee and final results will not be known until late this morning. There was some question as to the accuracy of the count. The results of the junior class offices are being withheld until the recount is completed.

Walter A. Frautschi, Madison, was elected president of the senior class. Marian J. Metcalf, Esther Bilstad, George H. Finkle, and Hugo E. Czerwonky were elected to the respective offices of vice-president, secretary, treasurer and sergeant-at-arms.

When the result of the recount has been determined, it will be given to The Cardinal and may be learned by calling the Cardinal office B. 250.

Cole, Dunlap, Returned

Andrew Leith was returned winner in the race for the sophomore presidency. Margaret Patch, vice-president, Mildred Rogers, secretary, George Schmidt, treasurer, and M. Harry Simpkins were the other officers elected in that class.

H. R. Hermann was elected president of the freshman class. A. V. Sinclair, K. F. Linden, A. H. Alexander, and H. C. Klement were elected to the offices of vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and sergeant-at-arms respectively in the same class.

Llewellyn R. Cole, Jr., Harold A. Crane, and Wes W. Dunlap were elected junior members of the Student senate, and John F. Manierre was chosen junior member in the College of Letters and Science to serve on the Student senate.

Stevens Slid In

The referendum empowering the Union board members to make recommendations for election to the board in the sophomore and junior classes was passed in the affirmative by a vote of more than five to one. This vote places election of men to the board on the same basis as it was last spring.

The complete vote by offices was as follows:

Student senate, graduate member, Robert L. Rundorff, elected by default.

Student senate, senior members, Theo. H. Field, Harold R. Maier, Alfred W. Peterson, Edwin H. Rohrbeck, and Wilbur Wittenberg, all elected by default.

Student senate, junior members, Max N. Cizon 125, Llewellyn Cole Jr., 325, Harold A. Crane 247, Wes W. Dunlap 323, Hampton K. Snell 215, three highest elected.

Gridiron Battle In Front of Gym Is Real Thriller

The western football championship was at stake. All afternoon the teams battled fiercely up and down the field but the score still stood 0-0. At last, in the growing darkness it seemed that one team would score. "Red" White's warriors had only two yards to go to make the coveted six points.

After a brief consultation "Red" himself took the ball, crashed over the line, and won the game. The grandstand went wild. Cheering students carried the mighty "Red" on their shoulders while the defeated eleven skulked home in the dark.

Thus did Washington Grammar school triumph over the Wisconsin elementary school eighth graders in a great fight on the impromptu grid-iron in front of the gym yesterday afternoon.

DROPPING COURSES DISCUSSED ON HILL

Students Have Varied Reasons For Necessary Changes In Classes

The matter of "dropping courses" has been a subject of much discussion on the campus since the examinations!

The reasons brought before the overwhelmed advisers have been on account of failure in work, to get new instructors, and, unfortunately indeed, for the reason that the abused student thinks, "My instructor has it in for me."

This semester, dropping courses has been common. Advisers have counseled pupils who do not find a congenial atmosphere in a certain course to show a little "stick-to-it" spirit, and make the best of the deal for one semester. The next semester may bring better luck in the selections of instructors and courses.

Students who drop courses are those who are actually not fitted for the work, those who have too much work and those who are disinterested or have failed.

There are two kinds of dropping courses; one, on account of failure in work, the other, on account of sickness or some unavoidable cause.

If it is necessary to drop a course, the advisers are glad to give their opinions and recommendations which are sent to the dean. After a certain date, the copy of the drop is marked favorably or otherwise, and the matter is settled.

COMMERCE HEADS TALK AT WOMAN'S BANQUET

"The woman is the business side of the family," said Prof. William A. Scott, director of the course of commerce at the Commerce Woman's banquet at 6 o'clock Tuesday night in Lathrop parlors. "The more ability she has in running the family the nearer she approaches being the ideal wife. It is she who must plan the expenditures and spend most of the family income. It is business training more than anything else that develops that ability in a woman."

Lois Livingston, chairman of the advisory commission, welcomed the new women into the department.

Prof. Karl F. McMurray gave the second speech. He talked on the stepping stones in a business career. Prof. Charles Jamson talked on the important place of women in pioneering today in the business world. Prof. Edward H. Gardner was the last speaker.

DOCTORS ENTERTAIN PRE-MEDICS AT MIXER

The medical students entertained the pre-medics at a mixer at Science hall from 7:30 to 9 o'clock last night. Dean Bardeen of the Medical school and Theodore Hannon, were the speakers of the evening. Harold Lampman had charge of the arrangements.

Club Women Hear Professor's Views on Civic Questions

Prof. J. L. Sellers, department of political science, will speak on "The History of the Constitution" at the meeting of the Womens' club on November 23.

The Womens club is studying civics during the winter months. As stated by Mrs. Edith E. Hoyt, assistant professor of education, their work is "to study the essential features of the federal, state, and local constitutions, especially with reference of legislature to human welfare, and to make an analysis of the present inadequacies in the government and their remedies."

"The Relations between State Government and the Problems of Welfare and Education" will be presented by Prof. J. L. Gillin, department of sociology, on February 5. The meeting on March 7 will be devoted to a discussion of "Government in Municipalities—City, Village, Township, and County."

Prof. Ford H. MacGregor will address the meeting on "Some of the Problems of Municipal Government" on March 1. After each of these lectures opportunity will be given for questions and discussion.

SADDLE AND SIRLOIN

ADMIT SEVEN NEW MEN

Seven men were admitted to membership in the Saddle and Sirloin, and 16 names were voted upon for admittance next time, at the regular meeting of the club Thursday night at Agricultural hall.

Prof. V. C. Finch, associate professor of geology, gave a talk on "Animal Husbandry from the Standpoint of a Geographer," showing the salient features and changes in the history of the meat industry in this country.

Men admitted to membership Wednesday night were: W. T. Logan, M. M. Schnurr, Martin Thorson, R. C. Pinkerton, Floyd Wolberg, H. G. McFarland, and Carrol Wilsee.

Cross Country Men Race Maroons

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM OFF FOR CHICAGO TODAY

Meet in Second Race This Season For Varsity Harrier Squad

The varsity cross country squad left this morning for Chicago where they will engage in the second dual meet of the season with the Maroon harriers at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Ten men made the trip, including Coach Mead Burke and Black, manager of the team. The runners who will compete with the Chicago team include Captain Finkle, Bergstresser, Schneider, Sherman, Piper, Read, Swingle and Valley.

Of this number, Captain Finkle is the only letter man on the squad. However, the new members of the team have been performing in a most credible manner thus far, and if they continue to show the same form throughout the remainder of the season, Coach Burke will have nothing to worry about.

Purdue Ties Maroons

Bergstresser, who placed second in the meet with the Gophers last Saturday, is certain to be one of the first runners to cross the tape this afternoon. Captain Finkle, Schneider, and Sherman can also be counted upon to appear among the early arrivals, while the remainder of the squad has been improving continually. With such an array of formidable runners, the varsity squad should make a strong bid for honors again this afternoon.

The Maroon lineup includes Bourke, Levine, Hasse, Beck, Witrock, McNeal and Farley. The eighth man has not yet been picked, although the coach has a large list of reserves from which to make his choice. Of this number, Bourke and Levine are the only letter men. Both are experienced runners, so the choice for first place dwindles down to practically an even chance between these men and the first four men on the Cardinal team.

Run on Short Course

Wisconsin defeated the Maroons in the distance race last year. First five places went to bearers of the Cardinal, sixth place was won by a Chicago man, and the next three positions were awarded to Badger runners. Judging from this record and from the comparative showing made by the two teams this year, Coach Burke's proteges should repeat this afternoon. The best the Maroons could do in their first dual meet with Purdue last Saturday was to emerge from the grind with a tie score, 28-28.

If the Badger harriers are returned victors this afternoon, they will be considered seriously as one of the strongest teams in the conference. Only one meet remains on the Cardinal schedule before the conference meet at Ohio State, that being with Michigan.

The Wolverines always present a strong front, and this year is no exception, as even now they are rated among the best. In the meet last year the varsity harriers lost by the close margin of one point, and from recent reports, they may again prove to be a blocking stone in the path of the Badgers.

The length of the course is four miles, which is about a mile shorter than that over which the varsity men have been working. The local course covers approximately 4.9 miles.

COVERS GAME

Hary Barsantee, sport editor of The Cardinal, left for Iowa city last night where he will witness the grid game between Michigan and Iowa State. He will write a first hand account of the game, thus giving The Cardinal on tomorrow morning readers a better idea of the Wolverines, who are considered one of the strongest aggregations in the conference. Michigan plays Wisconsin November 17, in a game which promises to be one of the hardest on the

Freshmen Appoint Petaja Captain of Distance Runners

John Petaja, Ahmeek, Michigan, was elected captain of the yearling cross country team at a meeting held by the freshmen in the annex of the men's gym Thursday evening.

Petaja has been working out with the varsity cross country team since the opening of school and has displayed unusual ability. His best showing was made in one of the time trials when he finished second out of a field of 20 runners. With a year's coaching, he should develop into excellent material for the varsity team.

The meeting was attended by 20 freshmen, all of whom have been working out faithfully for the past few weeks. The list includes Cassidy, Stearno, Marty, Weismiller, Ihland, Shafer, Hochberg, Peacock, Romea, Schwenger, Dennis, Vezina, Mortenson, McArthur, Church, Marshall, Chucha, Frendenberg, and Cooley.

Stanley Kalisch was appointed manager of the squad.

L. AND S. GRIDDERS BEAT COMMERCIALS

Winners Appear as Strong Contenders For Inter-College Honors

The Letters and Science team defeated the Commerce team 12 to 0 at Camp Randall last night in the first game of the inter-college freshman football tournament which will decide the inter college freshman football supremacy.

The Letters and Science bunch with such men as Bonni, Sauger, and Schwarze out weighed their opponents 10 pounds to the man, but the Commerce men were game and they put up an excellent exhibition of football.

Barofsky, quarter for the winning team, was a power on offense. Time and again he shot through the line and around the ends for long gains. The scrappy little quarter looks like excellent varsity material. Barofsky was elected captain of the freshman squad at a meeting the night before last.

Although Barofsky ran the ball down the field it was Albrecht, left half, and Tappert, fullback, that went over for the touchdowns.

The desperate passing game which the Commerce men employed in the last few minutes of play proved ineffective and when the game ended it was Letters and Science on the 50 yard line.

The next game of the series will be played next Monday afternoon at Camp Randall.

Time Trials Show Dirth of Material For Yearling Fish

Excellent freshmen swimming material was brought to light last night when speed trials for the yearling candidates were held in the men's gymnasium. As a result of the trials the squad will be cut from 70 to about 25 members, and Coach Steinauer will point these men towards an early practice meet with the varsity swimmers.

There was some exceptionally good time in the 40 yard dash, with R. V. Ratcliff, C. T. Grigsby, H. Monihan, and H. P. Stevens showing up best. These men swam the event in a little over 21 seconds.

Powell, Hotter, Brayton, and Bardeen were best in the 100 yard breast stroke, negotiating the distance in 1:26.

C. T. Grigsby was the star performer in the 80 yard back stroke trials, with time of 1:10. Parker and Crowell were also good in this event.

R. V. Ratcliff was far ahead of the field in the 100 yard swim. He made the century in 1:09. Other men who performed well in this event were D. Alexander, D. Thomas, and T. M. Hodges.

Coach Steinauer feels that he has a very excellent squad of freshmen swimmers this year and expects some good additions to next year's varsity squad.

By ORIE

Today is the day set aside for many upsets in the football world. They're due folks, so watch the scores tomorrow.

Illinois-Chicago, Michigan-Iowa, Cornell-Dartmouth, Northwestern-Minnesota, Yale-Army, and Penn State-Syracuse games hold the center of the gridiron stage today.

Our team will be resting today—or rather working in preparation for the big game with Illinois next Saturday—while our scouts will be on the job watching the important battles.

With one more week of work, and more dope on the teams yet to be met, Wisconsin should develop into something hard to dope out. It's a darn good bet that Ryan has designs on winning the Illinois encounter, and we hope he's right.

This column dopes the following results on today's games:

Illinois will defeat Chicago.
Michigan will defeat Iowa.
Minnesota will defeat Northwestern.

Notre Dame will defeat Purdue.
Indiana will defeat Hanover.
Ohio State will defeat Dennison.
Center will defeat Kentucky.
Cornell will defeat Dartmouth.
Syracuse will defeat Penn State.
Georgetown will defeat Boston College.

Harvard will defeat Tufts.
Carnegie Tech will defeat Lehigh.
Princeton will defeat Swathmore.

Yale will defeat Army.
Tulane will defeat Tennessee.
Georgia Tech will defeat Alabama.

Vanderbilt will defeat Mississippi A. and M.
California will defeat Nevada.
Wash. State will defeat Oregon.

Navy will defeat Colgate.
Amherst will defeat Wesleyan.
Columbia will defeat Middlebury.

Chicago-Illinois Game Holds Interest of Conference Fans

The fate of football contenders in the Mid-west and the East hangs in the balance today.

The outcome of the Chicago-Illinois and Michigan-Iowa games in the Middle West and of the Dartmouth-Cornell and Yale-Army in the East will go far to determine which team cops the championship in its respective section.

The eyes of the conference are turned to Urbana, where Coach Stagg's Maroons will battle the fighting Illini in one of the deciding games of the Big Ten race.

Suckers Depend on Grange

Both teams have been pointing towards this combat since the beginning of the season and are straining every nerve to win. Grange, the fleet Illinois back, will be the center of a whirlwind of passes and open field plays that are to feature the Sucker's attack.

He is probably the most highly feared back in the conference and the job of stopping him rests largely with Bill Zorn, Stagg's great defensive fullback. The Maroons have developed a strong offensive and the game belongs to anyone until the final whistle.

Michigan Meets Iowa

Michigan, with a team about on a par with Illinois, travels to Iowa to determine whether or not it remains in the fight for honors. The Wolverines have one of the strongest backfields in the conference and have demonstrated their power by winning all their games easily.

Jones' Hawkeyes have been beaten only by Illinois and are in good condition, after wrecking Ohio last week, to spill the Yostmen's hopes. If Michigan does trim Iowa it has still to reckon with Wisconsin and Minnesota, either of whom may beat it.

Thrice defeated, Northwestern goes to Minnesota with the avowed intention of winning its first con-

Crew Discontinues Workouts on Lake Until Next Spring

The daily workouts of the crew on Lake Mendota have been discontinued. Both the varsity and the junior team will lay off until after the Christmas holidays when they will start light workouts on the machines in preparation for the annual spring grind. Work of taking down the crew pier will begin immediately.

The new shell, which the athletic department has contracted for, will probably be ready in time for the spring season. Plans for the boat have already been sent to George Pocock, who is to build it. The new shell is patterned after the Washington boat which raced here last season. It is 60 feet long, 24 inches wide, and 10 inches deep.

Although the varsity material will be idle except for occasional spurts on the machines, Coach Vail will be busy with the frosh who are working daily on the machines. When the football season closes, he expects a rush to get in the rowing classes, but he will limit the new arrivals to men weighing 175 and 185 pounds.

GRID TICKETS MAILED TO NEIGHBORING CITIES

Chicago and Milwaukee football fans who have been clamoring for tickets for the Michigan game on November 17 will have an opportunity to purchase tickets in their home towns.

Mr. Paul Hunter has sent 100 tickets to Chicago for the Michigan game, which will be put on sale at Spauldings. A like allotment was sent to Milwaukee. The Milwaukee tickets will be put on sale at the Second Ward Savings Bank.

The fans of these two cities have always been clamoring for tickets for football games, so this new system has been adopted.

Brown will defeat St. Bonaventure.

Compare the above dope sheet with the scores in the Sunday papers, and find out for yourself whether or not this column is right.

VARSITY SQUAD TAKES IT EASY OVER WEEK END

Reserves Scrimmage All-Americans While Several Regulars Are Absent

With many of the first string players gone to see conference games today, a general easy workout holds sway at Camp Randall for the weekend.

The remaining men, and a team of reserves, took the rough work last night, scrimmaging the All-Americans until dark. For the first time since the Minnesota game, the regulars took the offensive for a considerable length of time.

Sid Eagleburger, playing at quarter, opened up against the ineligible, and crossed the line for three touchdowns in rapid succession. Several passes were worked, a fair number of them being completed.

While Wisconsin rests today, most of the other conference teams are playing hard games, and some of the leaders are certain to take a fall. Wisconsin scouts and players will see some of the big games.

Practice in earnest will begin the first of next week, when the last lap of training before the Illinois game starts. The all-Americans, under the tutelage of Guy Lowman, have become adept at the Illinois style of game, and they will scrimmage the varsity using the enemy plays. Still more information will be gleaned on the Indians during their battle with Chicago at Urbana today.

SOCCER POSTPONED TO LATER DATE BY COACH

A bad field and failure of the new goal posts to arrive, are causes attributed to the postponement of the soccer game that was to be played next Saturday, according to Coach Schlatter. The game was to be played between the varsity soccer team and the Chinese team. It promised to be a real contest as the varsity is developing well and the Chinese are champions of the Chinese conference.

"At present we cannot determine a new date for the game," said Coach Schlatter, as it depends on the arrival of the new goal posts and the possibility of finding an open date.

There is now a full team practicing daily on the lower campus, but any new candidates who would like to play soccer are welcome. Practice takes place at 4:30 o'clock daily. The field is in rather bad condition from the past rains, but it will be graded and leveled soon.

LAW STUDENTS HAVE STRICTEST CUT RULES

Students who entered the Law school this semester come under the jurisdiction of the new rule governing absences adopted by the law faculty on February 15, 1923.

A student whose total absences amount to 15 in any one semester will lose one hour of credit, and for a greater number of absences a proportionate reduction of credit will be made.

Johnny-on-the-Spot Snuffs Smoke Blaze

The smoke menace was evident in Madison, and in no less place than at the top of the hill near Bascom hall. The fire started in the usual way with the usual lighted match and for a moment threatened to burn the co-eds' fur coats and completely destroy the favorite resting place of Boscoe.

Being like the famous blotter which gets everything, but gets it backwards, let's begin over with the lighted match. The match found a happy home in a bunch of leaves lovingly scraped together by one of the janitors who forgot what he had decided to do with them.

The leaves smoldered, and soon burst into a merry blaze. While every one who stood near, gazed on with horror, one brave hero dashed forward, and with remarkable presence of mind, stamped on the leaves and put the fire out. So there's the hero, and here's the end of the story.

THE SEMI-ANNUAL BRAWL

Another election and another howl from candidates and their friends about ballot box stuffing, unlawful persuasion of voters, and lax administration at the polls! Every year we hear it, always loud, but seldom as loud as it was yesterday. Complacent hushers-up smile sympathetically and remark that conditions always seem worse than they actually are because people are excited and wrought up at election time. They use the original argument that affairs seemed scandalous last year and the year before and so on ad infinitum, but that, in spite of seeming corruption and inefficiency, the school goes on just the same.

Yes, but elections have never been anything to be proud of. No serious scandal has ever arisen, but why? Because the tricks and counter tricks of the competing factions have operated to strike a fair balance in spite of confusion, and so no one has been in a position to register a kick.

Student elections were never intended to be a free for all, catch as catch can scrimmage. They were intended as a dignified adult method of selecting officers and deciding policies instead of a puerile pinching of the other fellow when the teacher is not looking. It is not necessary to go on describing the all too obvious faults in yesterday's election. We are all too disgustingly familiar with the petty methods of influencing voters as they mark their ballots. We are no longer surprised to see a campaigner herd a group of students into a corner and dictate their voting in a wholesale manner. Why call a fight anything but a brawl when hits below the belt are allowed and kicking and gouging part of the game?

Then there is the point of administration. It is pretty certain that there was entirely too much administrative negligence.

Election booklets were not out until the night before elections, making their use almost of no value since voters had no time to look over the candidates.

It is claimed that in some buildings the polls were not opened until ten or ten-thirty.

Many have complained that at certain booths there were periods when there were no officials in charge.

The feeling was general that everything was run laxly and in a hit or miss, extemporaneous manner. The main check against crooked voting was not the overseeing by officials, but the careful watching by opposing factions, each acting as a check to the other. As a number of upper classmen have said, the whole thing was a mess.

ATHLETES AS SCHOLARS

While many athletically inclined students are refraining from donning the moleskins through fear of becoming scholastically ineligible, the announcement is made that a former center on the varsity team has been awarded the Third Year Prize for receiving high grades in the Yale Law school. Another news item states that seven of the ten ranking men on the varsity cross country team have received some variety of scholarship honors.

Many high school stars of last year are not playing on the freshman football squad this fall because they fear being dropped from school. As a result, when they report for duty next spring or next fall they will not have the advantage of the kind of coaching that is being taught at Wisconsin this year. Is it not possible that this is one reason why Wisconsin teams do not hit their stride until late in the season?

Not so long ago an Oxford student decided to give up rowing because of the pressure of his studies. His instructors quite unexpectedly advised him against such a move. It is much simpler to obtain high grades if you are in good physical condition, they said.

Wisconsin coaches will breathe easier when a few more of the big, muscular fellows wearing out the over-stuffed furniture in front of a snug fireplace report for duty. It takes a little determination to get there, of course, but the rewards are great.

Remember, many of the most active studnets are the best scholars.

VOTING FOR THE VOTERS

When we arrived at the voting booth yesterday, and found that someone had kindly cast our ballot for us, we failed at first to experience that sense of gratitude which is due to those who endeavor to save us trouble. In fact, our first emotion was one of distinct irritation. We are under no illusion as to the value of our vote. We would sell it for a very small sum. We would give it to anyone who would take the trouble to ask for it. But we don't care to have it casually appropriated, like a stray puppy, or a worn necktie.

The election officials regarded us with a mingling of suspicion and boredom, when we expatiated on our inalienable rights of franchise. For their suspicions, we honor them. They did well to look askance at a prospective voter whose name had already been scratched off. That their suspicions happened to be without justification is beside the point. But the fact that they were bored seems a trifle ominous. We can't help wondering how many times before they had heard the same story. We wonder just how many others have come to vote and remained to argue. We are curious to know how many of these assiduous persons there are, that save us the trouble of casting our own vote by doing it for us.

Other Editors Say—

CAPABLE ENGINEER, OR PLODDING TECHNICIAN?

Startling it is, how uninformed the average undergraduate is in regard to business methods.

Because of attending a technical school such as Purdue is, where intimate association with other students results not so much from a common desire to master the complications of science or engineering or whatnot as from a mutual desire to surpass in athletics, class politics, organizations and publications, the development of the student's knowledge of human nature, which is, after all, the essence of modern business, is better fostered than in a college which has for its purpose a liberal training in the humanities.

What strikes the student more than any other blasted illusion, perhaps when he starts to work during a summer vacation or, more unfortunately, when he finally graduates, is his utter ignorance of the simple language of business system—not the human nature part of it—the bills of lading, discounts, corporation organization, ordinary bookkeeping analysis of stock quotations, these things with which he will have to deal daily.

It is granted that a half year of economics is studied by engineers, representing possible two per cent of the entire course, but the question is not "Is this enough," but rather, "Shall this university give more thorough training in business methods in the four years assigned, or shall the graduate spend additional time taking a one or two year business course after graduation."—The Purdue Exponent.

MAIER AND PATTERSON CONCERT IS POSTPONED

Holders of season tickets for the Union Board concert series yesterday received cards announcing the postponement of the concert of Maier and Patterson, duet pianists, from November 7 to November 20.

CHURCH CAMPAIGN STARTS MONDAY

$2,000 to Be Raised Among Presbyterians For Ensuing Year's Work

A campaign to raise $3000 for the Presbyterian church and for general expenses for the ensuing year will be started among the Presbyterian students November 4 and will continue until November 8. One thousand dollars of the amount is paid by the synod of Wisconsin while the remaining $2000 is to be raised among the students.

Ten captains under Edward Wilson will be assisted by seven students for the campaign. A flying squadron of ten is working under Miss Gladys M. Haskins, a former student.

Part of the money is used for the church expenses which includes congregational expenses, music fund, property, and visiting ministers. The rest is for the general expenses for repairs on property, equipment, campus religious council, socials, and sundries. Each student will receive a detailed itemized expense list.

A thermometer will be placed outside the Presbyterian house on State street to register the advancement of the campaign for each day.

The four workers whose salaries are paid by the synod of Wisconsin are:

Rev. M. G. Allison, university pastor; Rev. M. R. Olson, assistant pastor; Mrs. Annie Taylor, house mother and Miss Gladys M. Haskins.

Doctor Robinson Will Talk About His Asiatic Trip

The wonders of ancient classical cities of Asia Minor will be discussed by Prof. David M. Robinson, professor of Archaeology and lecturer on Greek literature at Johns Hopkins university, in an illustrated lecture to be given at 4:30 o'clock Monday in room 165 Bascom hall.

Personal experiences on several trips to Asia Minor will be the basis of Professor Robinson's lecture. Places to be discussed, many of Biblical as well as classical interest, are Laodicea, Hierapolis, with its wonderful cascades, Sardes, the city of Croesus, Smyrna, both before and since its destruction, Pergamin and its "altar of Satan" Ephesus, site of the temple of Diana of the Ephesians, Priene, a Greek Pompeii, and Miletus, with its theater that rivals in interest the Colosseum at Rome.

The lecture will be given under the auspices of the Archaeological Institute of America, of which Professor Robinson is vice president.

During his stay in Madison, Professor Robinson will be at the University club. He leaves Tuesday for Milwaukee, where he will lecture.

BIG SPECIAL READY FOR ILLINOIS GAME

Million Dollar Train of C. & M. & St. P. Will Make Trip

Students who plan to make the trip to the Wisconsin-Illinois game at Urbana, November 10 will have the benefit of the "Million Dollar Special", the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad.

This special is to be a duplicate of the train run to the Michigan game last year, which was declared by veteran railroad men to be the finest "equipment on wheels." When it was taken to Detroit from Ann Arbor to be turned around and cleaned, more than 800 people inspected it, and a Detroit paper gave it a two column write-up. The special consists of 16 cars, most of which were sleepers or parlor cars.

Present plans by the Milwaukee road provide a schedule for the Illinois special of leaving Madison at 10:30 o'clock Friday, November 9 and arriving at Urbana at 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning. It will leave at 11:50 o'clock allowing plenty of time for all social affairs. It will arrive in Madison at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The round trip fare will be $12.32, or one fare and one third. This does not include sleeper reservations.

A. B. Beatty, of the C. M. & St. P., has announced that more than 175 reservations already have been made. The Kopesetic club, an organization of grads and loyal rooters, is going 60 strong, and has engaged a first class orchestra to provide entertainment for all during the trip.

The ALL-STAR CONCERT SERIES
Adrian Scollen—Director

ANNA CASE

will sing for you at Christ Presbyterian Church, next Wednesday evening, Nov. 7 8:15 p. m.

Read what noted critic of the New York Journal says about Miss Case's New York recital:

"And there is much reason for Miss Case's success and popularity. She is a very beautiful young woman, she has a charming manner as she sings, her pretty voice has a peculiar smoothness and easy flow in delivery, and she knows how to put together interesting programmes. Thus last evening Miss Case sang some gracious, beautiful old songs of the eighteenth and even of the seventeenth century and her choice of these was not only well out of the usual round, but also was made apparently for the worth of the melodies themselves. And she sang most of them with a delightful simplicity, absence of fuss—prima donna fuss."

And the New York Times critic writes this:

Anna Case sang in Carnegie Hall last evening to an audience of Metropolitan quality, recalling her 'prentice days of opera, but in eager cordiality more like the concert throngs of her own transcontinental tours. A stage set with flowers, Sembrich footlights and a Jenny Lind gown, made a picture instantly applauded when the slender singer appeared. She sang unaffectedly, vivaciously or plaintively by turns, the voice flute-like in its lightest flights, faint but not forced, and the sheer youth, beauty, and charm of it disarming and captivating every one of her hearers.

1923 Homecoming Profits Show Gain of 400 Per Cent

Homecoming this year made a profit of $1,500, practically four times that of last year, Allan W. Walter '24, general chairman announced yesterday.

The financial report, according to Calvin Oakford '24, chairman of the finance committee, was a surprise to Homecoming workers, Walter said, because of a reorganization made this year to conduct the event on a bigger scale than was ever attempted before. "Twenty-two committees had to be organized this year," Walter said. "This is seven more than there were last year. All twenty-two were spending money and the strictest economy had to be practiced by all committee chairmen to make results approximate the budget. I am happy to announce that every Homecoming function and feature was a success financially."

POLICE FOLLOWING TIPS ON COAT THEFTS

The Madison police have received a tip that may lead to the recovery of $1,500 worth of fur coats that were stolen from the cloak room at the Park hotel during the Homecoming festivities last Saturday night. An auto said to carry a license issued to an Oshkosh man, is the one in which the thieves are attempting to make their escape, it is believed. The car left the city early Wednesday morning, shortly before the information was given the police.

NO TRACE FOUND OF THETA DELT ROBBERS

No trace has been found of the person who robbed the Theta Delta Chi house a week ago of $150, according to the members of that fraternity and the police.

The pickpockets who lifted $200 from the Minnesota special also have disappeared without leaving the slightest clue. The police are still looking for these men although hope has been about given up.
