APPROPRIATIONS CUT

UNIVERSITY BILLS TRIMMED BY COMMITTEE ON CLAIMS.

New Agricultural Building Given $150,000 Instead of $175,000 as Originally Asked For.

The committee on claims last night reported to the senate a number of large appropriation bills, including the university appropriation bill and the measure granting state aid to graded schools. The university appropriations are somewhat reduced, $150,000 being allowed for a new agricultural building $30,000 for the college of engineering, both of which are to be taken from the general fund. An increase in the annual income of the agricultural college of $10,000, $7,500 for the engineering college and $3,500 for the college of commerce, is allowed. All of the latter amounts are to be raised by direct tax levy.

How much the committee has cut the appropriations can be seen when these figures are compared with those in the original bill. The amount asked for the new agricultural college building was $175,000 and the amount for equipping the new engineering building was $65,000, while the increase asked for in the fixed annual incomes of the different departments was as follows: College of agriculture, $15,000; college of engineering, $10,000; college of commerce, $7,000.

The bill providing for the annual appropriation to the normal school fund was cut from $225,000 to $215,000.

The appropriations for teachers' institutes was reduced from $20,000 to $14,000, and the bill providing for state aid to graded schools was cut from $75,000 to $60,000.

In this morning's session of the assembly when the Hatton bill, relating to auditing of bills of the state board of control, came up, Judge Orton took occasion to make some very pertinent remarks regarding the auditing of bills of the board of regents of the University. The gentleman from Darlington expressed himself in favor of requiring the University bills to be audited by the governor the same as the bill under consideration required regarding the bills of the board of control. Judge Orton referred to the state board of control and the University as the most expensive young men in the family of the state. The bill was laid over and it is thought probable that an amendment will be introduced incorporating Judge Orton's suggestions into the bill.

The bill appropriating money to the state geological survey was amended and laid over until next Tuesday.

TAU BETA PI BANQUET.

Engineers' Fraternity Feasts and Initiates Dean Johnson.

The Wisconsin Alpha chapter of Tau Beta Pi held its third annual banquet at Keeley's hall last night. During the evening Dean J. B. Johnson was initiated into the fraternity. About thirty members were present. A bountiful menu was served in seven courses after which the assembled fraters were treated to another feast in the shape of a program of after dinner speeches. Professor A. W. Richter presided as toastmaster in a faultless manner. His ever ready wit employed itself in introducing the speakers so as to keep the banqueters in high spirits.

Professor J. G. D. Mack started the flow of eloquence with a speech on "Raw Material." Budd Frankenfield associated his remarks around the subject, "Grounds." "The Trestle Bent" was the subject of Harry Severson's toast. Professor F. E. Turneure responded in a very able speech to the sentiment—"The Engineer in Politics." He mentioned the frequent necessity for city engineers to become active in the political field. Frank W. McCullough spoke on "Riding the Goat." The program of toasts was concluded by Dean J. B. Johnson who presented a graceful and pointed speech on "The Finished Product." He urged his hearers to become broadminded men and not limit their activity to the mere practice of engineering. The festivities were prolonged into the early morning hours.

The Tau Beta Pi fraternity is to the the engineering school what the Phi Beta Kappa is to the departments of letters and science of colleges and universities. Membership in Tau Beta Pi is accorded only to those students who stand highest in scholarship and who possess the qualities of good fellowship. To be voted into this fraternity is one of the greatest honors that can come to an engineering student.

VARSITY DEFEATED

Costly Errors in Sixth Inning Gave Hawkeyes a Lead Which Badgers Could Not Overcome.

Upper Iowa was responsible for the first defeat administered to the Varsity this year, the Badgers going down by the score of nine to six. Up to the sixth inning, proverbially fatal to Wisconsin, the locals had a safe lead over the Hawkeyes. In this inning the visitors harvested five safe hits off Reedal which, coupled with errors by Brobst and Schreiber, netted them three runs. Only two men got passes to first during the game, Mathews being responsible for one while Young threw four wild ones in the fourth. Wisconsin's biggest bunch of runs came in the fourth when with the bases full, two men out and three balls and two strikes marked against him, Captain Bemis Pierce lined out a hot one to the left garden which scored Schreiber and Brobst. Ware's three-bagger immediately following this brought in Leighton and Pierce.

The stick work of the Varsity showed great improvement over previous games. Schreiber secured four safe ones out of as many times at bat while Ware distinguished himself by making two three-baggers. Harkin Pierce and Brobst were responsible for the other safe hits. Young of the visitors made two two-baggers and a single off Reedal but was unable to touch "Matty's" curves, being fanned out in the eighth.

The Hawkeyes played a fast snappy game, and showed a remarkably strong infield.

Score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Varsity	1	0	1	4	0	0	0	0	0-6
Upper Iowa	0	1	0	2	0	5	0	1	x-9

—The date of the funeral of Mr. Harry E. Clausen, who died at his home in Fox Lake Tuesday afternoon, has been changed from to-morrow to Saturday at one o'clock. The Phi Gamma Delta fraternity will attend in a body.

—Morris Fox, '04, is still unable to attend classes owing to an attack of the mumps.

TENNIS TEAM

RULES GOVERNING SELECTION FORMULATED TODAY.

Possibility of a Triangular Tournament Between Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

A meeting of the leading spirits in Wisconsin tennis circles was held this afternoon for the purpose of formulating rules governing the selection of the Varsity tennis team. The resolutions are as follows: The team shall consist of four members. The two qualifying for the finals in the annual home tournament and the defender of the title of champion will constitute three members, the fourth to be the winner between the two defeated in the semi-finals. The spring tournament shall commence on the fifteenth of May, entries for which must be in by the tenth. Any member of the team may be challenged for his place prior to June 1st, provided that any member of the team defeated after said date may defend his position by rechallenging the person defeating him. All players must vacate the court at the end of the third set. No deuce set shall be played when there are others wishing to play. After the team has been picked the management shall select a team court which must be vacated whenever the members of the team desire to play.

Enthusiasts in tennis are practicing daily, preparing themselves for the home tournament which will occur about two weeks before the inter-collegiate tournament. The inter-collegiate tournament which will be held at Chicago will probably occur the first week in June. The winners of the singles and doubles at the home tournament will represent Wisconsin at Chicago. Of course any man on the team can be challenged and if defeated will be succeeded by the successful player. This opportunity to challenge holds good for a limited time only, so that those on the team can spend more time in actual practice as the tournament draws nearer rather than devote the time to playing with greener and more inexperienced players.

The management is in receipt of a letter from Upper Iowa University suggesting a triangular tournament between Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Upper Iowa wishes the meet to be held here but it is not likely that it shall as the tennis players here feel that they do not have the support that would make the venture a financial success. At upper Iowa last year the crowd that turned out to witness the game with Wisconsin proved that they have good support there and that it would be best to have the meet there this year also. The representatives for Wisconsin last year were Beye and Seaman.

A tournament will be held with Beloit in the latter part of May. It is very desirable to meet these other teams as different styles of playing are met with.

There were formerly six men on a team but last year the rule was changed making the number four. This rule will hold good this year.

There are four good courts in shape now for those who care to play. In a short time the city steam roller will be employed to pack the ground better and make it more level and smooth.

New Star Disappearing.

The new star of which so much has been written of late is now low down in the northwest and although still visible to the naked eye. For a fortnight past it has presented a curious series of oscillations in brightness, being alternately brighter and fainter, although never brighter than the fourth magnitude. Last night it could hardly be seen and gave only about a third as much light as on the preceding evening. The reasons for this are speculative and the theories advanced now for this curious phenomenon will need time to prove whether they are right or wrong.

WILL ELECT BOARD

Class of 1903 to Meet Tomorrow for Purpose of Choosing Editors for Their Annual.

A meeting of the sophomore class has been called for to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at which meeting the 1903 Badger Board will be chosen. A considerable number of candidates have announced themselves as desirous of an opportunity to assist in editing the annual and these men and their friends are doing a good deal of scurrying for support among the members of the class.

At present it seems as if the election would pass off very quietly indeed. It is said that an arrangement has been entered into whereby each literary society is to have two representatives on the board, the young women six, and the engineers will be represented by nine. This leaves four members to be chosen from the class at large.

In former years the Badger Board election has been the occasion of much political scheming and "combines" galore have resulted. Sometimes the engineering students would unite with the women to cut down the representation of the h.l. men and sometimes the latter have joined forces with the women to defeat the engineers. Not infrequently two literary societies would conspire against the third. Such features as these were often the cause of the most bitter feeling being engendered and the best candidates were frequently defeated by men of mediocre ability whose main qualification was their presence on the slate of the "combine."

Last year, however, all these bickerings were eliminated from the election by the adoption of an agreement whereby each division of the class was allowed to select its own representatives upon a pro rata plan. The election proper then became virtually a ratification of the nominations of the various divisions of the class.

Prof. Ely to Address the Graduate Club.

The April meeting of the Graduate Club will be held on Friday evening, April 26, in the music lecture room of Library Hall. The principal part of the program will be a talk by Professor R. T. Ely. There will be a short musical program. Members of the faculty, as well as all graduate students and their friends are invited to attend. A. A. Young, Sec'y.

—A party of the Milwaukee members of the legislature and their friends visited the observatory last evening and looked at the moon, Mars and several of the fixed stars.

Hide It.

The editor read in a magazine the other day an article on the decoration of factory yards and the improvement of working men's cottage lots, which was brought about in a certain manufacturing district by the action of a corporation somewhat less soulless than usual. The article was accompanied by numerous illustrations showing the difference made in the appearance of blank walls and ash barrels by covering them with vines.

The editorial mind, by some strange association of thought, at once flew to the laboratory and shops on the most prominent point on the lake shore. Then came a feeling of having solved a problem—not to make those eyesores beautiful, but to somewhat ameliorate their ugliness.

Why Hide These?

The reasons as published in the Cardinal, for removing those statues from Library Hall, are good and sufficient. The reasons for putting them in the attic of the new building are not so evident. Perhaps there was no other place. The ideal location for such a statue as the heroic one of Minerva would be at the center of the end of a large room, three stories high, broad and long in proportion, decorated in classic style. Such would be the ideal place in all the world for such a statue, and such a room is the big reading room in the library. At the center of the north end of the room, just where one would desire to put such a statue, is a large round radiator. This might be removed and a dry-goods box, wrapped in second-hand bunting, substituted and used as a pedestal. Or why not put the statue on the radiator itself? It is the right height, the right size, substantial in appearance, and in exactly the right place. It is infinitely better and more congruous than its predecessor. It is flanked, at the proper distance, by others that would serve the same purpose to the other statues. All this would give the statues a dignified and beautiful place. It is not believed that the heat would injure them. They would be seen by all students at frequent intervals. The library is where such works belong.

PRINCE ENTERS COLLEGE.

Ceremony at Bonn Marks Entrance of Frederick.

Bonn, April 25.—The ceremony of matriculation of the crown prince, Frederick William, at the university here yesterday occurred in the presence of a brilliant company of military officers, civil officials, university authorities and clergymen. Emperor William and the crown prince stood at a table on which was the roll of the university and the prince's card of membership. Prof. La Valette welcomed the emperor and referred to the years his majesty spent at Bonn, and the brilliancy with which he fulfilled the bright hopes of which he had given promise as a youth. Just as the emperor, as a student, won the hearts of all, he said, so would the crown prince soon learn how truly and warmly all hearts beat in unison with his.

The crown prince entered his name on the register and Rector La Valette grasped the hand and greeted him as the youngest member of the university, expressing the wish that he, like his father, would unite serious study with the buoyant spirits of youth.

The rector called for "hochs" for the emperor which were vigorously given. The emperor shook hands with the rector, and greeted several other persons. His majesty, the crown prince and suite subsequently joined in a procession to the gate of

LARGE BIRD CLASSES.

Many People Take the Saturday Morning Trips.

The opportunity which is offered by Dr. O. G. Libbey's bird class for the study of Madison birds is being taken advantage of by a considerable number of people. Last Saturday 120 were in the various squads.

The fine native woods on the University grounds along the first part of the drive are the home of a great variety of Wisconsin's best birds.

The bird class starts from the University every Saturday morning at about six o'clock and is back at eight. It is under the supervision of five leaders, Messrs. Zimmerman, Denniston, Winkenwerder, Denehl and Dr. Libby. While the course is given by the University, it is open to all who care to start so early in the morning. The class walks out through the woods and along the driveway; the leaders name the different birds seen and also note the number and describe to the class the markings and songs or calls of each one. The class is too large to allow lecturing while on the trip. After the class returns there is a lecture given at half past ten treating of the observations of the trip and illustrated by lantern slides and stuffed specimens. Mr. Winkenwerder is preparing his thesis on the subject of Nocturnal Flights of Birds and will lecture on that subject next Saturday.

The course will be continued every coming Saturday morning, but the time of starting will be made progressively earlier, in order to exclude those who have no real interest in the class. The object of the class is observation and a love for birds, and in this the success is remarkable.

It is the custom to give the course during the summer session of the University. It is found that it does much good, as the teachers who take the course carry away with them the spirit of the study and impart the enthusiasm to their pupils. Moreover, the Audubon society of the state sends for the instructor in the course to give lectures throughout the state and in this way, too, the good work is spread. Professor Libby wishes it to be especially noticed and advertised that it is against the rules of the regents and also against the law to pick flowers and break shrubs along the drive. This careless habit, if continued must mean the breaking up of the class, a result that no one, even the lawbreaker himself desires.

Prof. Kehl's dancing class meets every Tuesday evening. Private lessons to suit pupils. Finest dancing floor in the city. Hall to let to private parties. Fine bowling alleys in connection.
