FOREWORD

A great many individuals are currently researching their genealogy to identify ancestors and learn more about their family heritage. Much research is conducted through historical literature such as this original volume. True genealogists spend many hours each week researching and reliving the adventures and exploits of their ancestors.

There are four basic breeds of genealogist. The first does research for others for financial gain. The second are those who do their own research for their own benefit and refuse to share information or provide assistance to others. The third will share some of the information they have accumulated in the hopes of receiving needed information in return. The fourth breed stands apart. They are the dedicated individuals who will go out of their way to provide information and assistance to other researchers simply for the joy of helping.

This fourth breed is not the type who fails to answer requests or responds with a form letter saying that they have the information but do not have the time or resources to provide it to others. They tend to go out of their way and extend themselves to great lengths in order to surprise you with unexpected information and assistance. They are also the ones who listen to you lament the roadblocks you encounter and try to find other routes to the information you need.

Through our research we were fortunate to encounter Mara Munroe. She is the Historical and Genealogy Librarian at the Oshkosh Public Library. As she does with everyone, Mara has provided us with much valuable assistance and guidance in our research. As time permits, she goes beyond the scope of her job to help those in need, often when they need help the most. While scanning periodicals she has the ability to remember a name and also the name of the person who had expressed an interest in that name. Many times she has called to say she just ran across an article which contains information which might interest us.

After making our research so much easier it was time for someone to make Mara's job a little easier. Much genealogical information is included in this original volume but scanning these pages to find a name wastes her valuable time. As such, I have invested hundreds of hours to compile and provide an index for this volume. I somehow feel that this is inadequate repayment for her assistance but, until I find other ways to thank her for her time and efforts, this index is dedicated to Mara Munroe.

SECTION A

This section lists the names of individuals and businesses which are found in the history and personal sketches section of the original volume. As with the other sections of this index, the spelling contained herein is identical to the spelling found in the original. In many cases it is not the correct or commonly-used spelling of the name but was spelled phonetically or was copied erroneously from written records.

In those instances where the personal sketch lists the name of a President who was voted for or a military officer who was served under these names are not included in this index. If reference to an otherwise famous person is made which identified relationship to a subject of the personal sketch the name has been included in this index.

Several unnumbered pages are contained in the original volume. These pages contain likenesses of prominent individuals or residences. The names shown on these pages have been included in this index. Throughout the index, a page number followed by -a signifies that the name is to be found on the page after the listed page. Thus, an entry for page 40-a means that the name will be found in the original volume on the unnumbered page immediately following page 40.

SECTION B

In this section are identified and listed those entries for residential locations, places of business and commercial acreage as listed on the maps of the six wards for the City of Oshkosh as shown in the original volume. Entries for names concerning divisions, sub-divisions, re-plats, etc. have not been included in this index.

The first entry on each line of this section is the name of the individual or company identified. The second entry is an abbreviation for the type of entry. The third entry on each line is the number of the ward where the name and location are found.

Types of entry are abbreviated as such:

Acr	Acreage
Bus	Business
Res	Residence

Most of the entries in this section will already be found listed in the index for history and personal sketches. This section of the index has been included mainly to satisfy the curiosity of researchers.

SECTION C

In this section are identified and listed those entries for acreage located within the townships of Winnebago County. Every possible effort has been made to maintain the actual spelling as it appears in the original volume. Many of the names included are in fact not the correct or commonly-used spellings of the surnames. Many were spelled phonetically or were copied erroneously from written records.

The first entry on each line is the name or initial of the individual for each tract of land. This is usually the name of the owner of the land but, in the case of leased lands, it may be the name of the occupant. The second entry is the abbreviation for the township in which that name is found. The third entry is the section within the township where the name is found and the fourth entry, when given, is the listed acreage. In several instances there are two sections within a township which carry the same section number. These sections will be preceded with a letter for easier reference. The township numbering sequences are similar so a letter prefix for a section applies to that section within the township which deviates from the normal numbering order.
