UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN, MADISON, FRIDAY, MAY 9, 1941

THREE CENTS

Mardi Gras Theme For Senior Ball

Hundreds of colorful Venetian lanterns will adorn Great hall of the Memorial Union in a Mardi Gras theme this Saturday for the gala 1941 University of Wisconsin Senior ball, King Gerry Bong, senior class president, announced yesterday.

The lanterns will carry out the Venetian night motif which will be in full swing on and along the banks of Lake Mendota that night. The colorful lanterns will be lighted brightly from all angles and will completely fill Great hall, according to Decorations Chairman Robert Schmitz.

A huge sign, "Senior Ball of 1941," in Mardi Gras colors, will be displayed prominently on the back wall above the orchestra in Great hall.

Pinky Tomlin and his famous band will swing out in Great hall for the student dancers. Tomlin and his orchestra have just completed long engagements at the Biltmore Bowl in Los Angeles, the Muehleback in Kansas City, the Tunetown ballroom in St. Louis, and the Trocadero club in Evansville, Ind.

VERSATILE TOMLIN

The versatile band leader, who is a composer of many songs such as "The Object of My Affections" and "The Love Bug," has won many friends at the Drake hotel in Chicago, the Jung hotel in New Orleans, and the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles.

Senior ball is the biggest summer formal dance of the season in the Union and will be coordinated with Venetian night, a colorful carnival-pageant on Lake Mendota.

At intermission during Senior ball, float awards for the best fraternity or sorority float, the best dorm float, and the best independent float will be presented by Ed Jones, chairman of Venetian night. Immediately following this the king and queen of the (Continued on page 8)

Phil La Follette Will Speak at 8

Making his first public address at Madison in several months, Philip F. La Follette, former governor of Wisconsin, will speak on "Peace or War for America" at a meeting to be held in Music hall at 8 o'clock tonight.

An advocate of isolation, La Follette has spoken at several universities during the past few months and is scheduled to appear next week at the University of North Carolina. He also plans to deliver an address in Miami, Fla., on May 17, but as yet permission to do so has not been granted him by the city council.

Heard tonight under the sponsorship of the university Progressive club, he will be introduced by Sen. Philip E. Nelson, Progressive floorleader from Maple. Nelson is a veteran Progressive legislator who last fall was a candidate for governor and who is one of the isolationist leaders in the state senate.

During the past few months La Follette has debated foreign policy with Frank Knox, navy secretary; Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior; and Upton Sinclair, author and leading California liberal, on forum radio programs. Regarding La Follette's Miami speech, Page Duffy, Florida chairman of the America First committee, announced that the ex-governor intends to speak, whether granted permission to do so or not, "even if he has to talk in a cow pasture to do it."

CARDINAL WILL MEET IN UNION

The entire Cardinal editorial staff, including news, sports, and society departments, will meet today at 4 p. m. in Top Flight in the Memorial Union, it was announced last night.

At this time, new recruits for the Cardinal news staff will have an opportunity to be placed in positions in the university department under Editor Margaret Schindler. Gertrude Baikoff, personnel director, urged all freshmen who have not worked on the staff previously to attend the meeting.

Sports Editor Mary Rand and Society Editor Janet Lillegren will also be on hand to sign up new members for their staffs.

HITS HOSPITAL, NOT MENDOTA

Robert Bohn was thrown off the Alpha Phi pier Wednesday, but he never hit the water.

In fact, Bohn was only thrown half way off the pier and is currently recuperating in the Wisconsin General hospital with a possible broken back.

The accident occurred when one of the two fellows who were swinging Bohn in the air preparatory to the immersion forgot to let go and Bohn struck a corner of the pier.

Unable to walk, Bohn was carried to the hospital.

Students May Complete Course Prior to Draft

Professor Nathan P. Feinsinger, student adviser on selective service deferment, speaking for the university committee on occupational defense, yesterday issued the following statement:

On the basis of recent announcements by National and State Headquarters, every student who has registered for Selective Service and received his questionnaire, regardless of his major or the length of time spent in the university, is advised that he may request his local board to defer him until he has completed some significant stage of his course (for example, the semester in which he receives his questionnaire) or possibly his entire course. Every student, whether or not he intends to request his local draft board for deferment, should request the chairman of the department in which he is majoring (or intends to major in) for appropriate forms to send or take to his local board for such action as they may wish to take. For additional information see "Advice to Students" posted on all bulletin boards.

Professor Feinsinger stated that those men in the sciences or technical schools have an especially good chance of deferment.

Directs Music Fete

BUD BRUEMMER, retiring chairman of the Union concert committee, is one of the directors of the second annual Spring Festival, being held on the campus for two weeks, starting this Saturday. Bruemmer is in charge of the Dorothy Maynor concerts, which headline musical attractions in the Festival. Miss Maynor, sensational young Negro soprano, sings at the Wisconsin Union theater this Sunday and Monday. Tickets are still available for the Monday night recital, Bruemmer said.

Betty Hillis and John Wilson announce that all former assisting staff members must report for interviews at the activities bureau office in room 301 of the Union by Friday if they wish to apply for Union and student government committee positions. All other students interested may also apply. Interview hours are from 1:30 to 5:30 every afternoon.

Helen White Is Appointed New AAUW Head

The American Association of University Women, now meeting in its biennial national convention in Cincinnati, Ohio, unanimously elected as its president Prof. Helen White of the University of Wisconsin English department.

Miss White, who is a nationally known authoress, will leave this morning for Cincinnati to attend the convention banquet tonight.

Her novels, "A Watch in the Night" and "Not Built With Hands" are her best known works, but she has also written several English text books. She is now preparing a critical book on the 16th century English religious background.

Under a Guggenheim fellowship award in 1928-29, and a grant in the summer of 1930, Miss White did research work concerning the 17th century English religious literature. She also received a Henry E. Huntington Library research fellowship in 1939.

A graduate of Radcliffe college, Miss White received her Ph.D. degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1924. She taught at Smith college from 1917 to 1919, and since that time has been a member of the Wisconsin English department faculty.

The AAUW is a national organization of approximately 70,000 university and college graduates. Encouragement of women's research work, advancement of women's opportunities for advance education, and the maintenance of standards in these fields are the main interests of the association. The organization gives numerous scholarships for research work.

Law Conference To Open Today

Shady Group To Plant Own Shade Tree

Despite yesterday's unmasking of the "Young Foresters of America" and "Paul Pendarvis, government Conservation expert" as a hoax, Paul Pohle, leader of the group, announced yesterday that plans for a "forestry court of honor" and Arbor day celebration would be continued as announced.

Pohle, who was apprehended for creeping out of a Psychology 50 lecture on his hands and knees last week, has gained somewhat of a reputation as a campus prankster, and never been associated with conservation or forestry prior to this time.

Late last night Pohle was busy telephoning sororities, lodging houses, and women's dormitories to secure candidates for the "court of honor"—which he will select personally—and would make no statement other than "everything will proceed as planned."

PINE MEMORIAL

According to present plans, a lone white pine seedling (which retail at about 50 cents a thousand) will be planted somewhere in the vicinity of the Carillon tower as "a memorial to those who have reforested Wisconsin."

The forestry court of honor, Pohle announces, will parade down Langdon street carrying symbolic branches to the site of the planting where a brief dedication ceremony will include the singing of "Trees." Following the dedication, the "young foresters" plan a trip through the Forest Products laboratory, after which they will adjourn, appropriately enough, to the Rosewood room of the Union to conclude the festivities.

As far as the Cardinal can determine, neither Pohle, nor Ed Scheiwe, vice president of the organization have even the most elementary knowledge of forestry.

Off to Kansas

Union Theater Head To Take Kansas Post

Walter Roach, for the last three years stage manager and play director at the Wisconsin Union theater, will leave here Sept. 1 to direct college theatricals and teach speech and dramatics at Kansas State college, Manhattan, Kan. However, he plans to be here for the summer school session.

He has directed several of the Wisconsin Players' successes, and, since the opening of the new Union theater, has been stage manager.

Not only a director and manager, Roach has acted in a number of Players' productions, notably Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," in which he played the part of the newspaper editor, and has done sketches for various productions.

His last show as a director was "George and Margaret."

Weather—

Fresh and continued cold.

Theta Phi Alpha Senior Receives Service Award

For the third time since the institution was inaugurated in 1935 a member of the Wisconsin chapter of Theta Phi Alpha has been chosen to receive the sorority's national senior service award.

Louise Bachhuber Lane was named one of the four girls in the national organization receiving the award this year. The selections are based on scholarship, character, extracurricular activities, and service to the sorority and are made by the sorority's national board of trustees.

The award was made at the sorority's Founders' day banquet held Sunday in the Memorial Union. Also at that time Ann Bardeen was named winner of the active chapter's scholarship cup for the last year.

Officers for the coming year who were installed at the banquet include Dorothea Shaw, president; Kathryn a stage before. It shouldn't be missed, if possible, because it is part of the four years' liberal education at Wisconsin. But more important, it offers a good two and a half hours of entertainment and almost miraculous chorus work.

The Ziegfeld Girl, currently running at the Capitol, will fill the weekend bill at that theater. The show has a lot of glamour, including Lana Turner and the incredibly exotic Hedy LaMarr. Like most other Hollywood extravaganzas, there isn't a lot of story to the thing, but the spectacles make it worth seeing.

Karberg, vice president-secretary; Jean Lewis, treasurer, and Joyce Krieg, rushing chairman. Retiring officers were Louise Bachhuber Lane, Grace Zakrzewski, and Clara Soehnlein. Grace Zakrzewski, retiring social chairman, was toastmistress for the event and the speakers included Kathryn Rupp, alumni president, Mrs. Harold McCormick, member national board of trustees, Dorothea Shaw, and Zera Tabacchi, pledge representative. Included among those present were Mrs. Charles R. Bardeen, honorary member, Mrs. Julia Hill, Mrs. F. X. Ritger, and Mrs. W. L. Dowling, patronesses.

CHAMPIONS AND BIG TEN
It has been known for many years that one of the world's greatest (?) newspapers doesn't think any too highly of the Big Ten, or Western conference. Instead they tabbed it with the label, Big Nine, following the withdrawal of Chicago from league grid wars.

But as far as we're concerned, on any basis it can be considered, this same conference (be it Big Ten or Big Nine) consistently has the firmest holds on championships in national competition. If you're not convinced take a look at this:

Football and basketball are considered to be THE two major sports in intercollegiate competition. And aren't both title-holders in these two sports within the folds of the conference? Minnesota was declared the national champs of the gridiron, and our own Badgers, after winning the crown in the league, went to Kansas City to add the national toga, with typical ease, from the more highly-rated Washington State Cougars.

REPEAT CONQUESTS
Another successful defense of its NCAA tank title made Michigan tops in national swimming and gave the Big Ten another jewel for its crown. Illinois and its gymnastics troupe won the national crown in the spectacular "flying trapeze" acts; and to end the indoor season, Northwestern walked off with the national fencing tournament.

Going back to last fall again, Indiana's hill-and-dalers jogged to the national cross country title. This title consistently reverts to Big Ten members.

Not that it needs mentioning here, but we all know that the Badger boxing team had trouble even finding competent opposition.

PARTING SHOTS
One may say, "Well, what about some of the other sports?" There aren't many left, at least not enough to disprove our original contention. But just as a parting shot, it is generally acknowledged that the Big Ten conference couldn't even be bat-boy for the eastern schools.

Why? Because it is just as generally acknowledged that these schools like Holy Cross, Dartmouth, etc., are merely farm "systems" for major league scouts operating in the East. Their scholastic duties are over early in June, but their schedules call for baseball play until July.

PICKING 'EM
The grid season opener is less than 2,880 hours away, so it is only natural that some of the sports prognosticators have started to name their All-? selections. Perhaps the world's greatest "let me out on a limb-er" is the Chicago Daily News' Francis Powers. But he held himself in check this time and merely named an all-Western conference team.

One of the unique aspects of it all is that one of his nominees, Charley Anderson, Ohio State, isn't even scholastically eligible. Another man, Indiana's Hillenbrand, hasn't played his first game of intercollegiate competition yet. Perhaps Powers isn't to be censured — wasn't Bill DeCorrevont named an All-American while still trying to graduate from Austin, Chicago high school?

GIVE THEM CREDIT
You have to give these authorities credit for two things—the courage of their own convictions and a certain "insight" which is correct, surprisingly often. In the Big Ten there are over 300 football players to choose from. In the nation there must be some 7,500 or 10,000 men to judge when making All-American selections. Thus the job of selecting the correct 11 is fairly simple—as any Mendota-ite can plainly see.

So you have to admire these daring long-term forecasters. Baseball experts have only 256 combinations to pick from when they select the order in which the American and National league teams are going to finish. Then one team gets hot, the "experts"

Which Is Best Boat, Freshman or Varsity?

Wisconsin Crews to Row for Venetian Night

To settle "once and for all" the dispute that has been raging all season between "Skipper" Allen Walz' varsity and first freshman crews as to who is the better eight, these two all-season rivals will meet on Lake Mendota Saturday evening, May 10, as a feature of the Venetian night program.

This race will serve as a tune-up for the varsity and freshmen who pull ahead into their respective schedules on the following Saturday.

The race will be held over a 2,000 yard course beginning in University bay opposite Picnic Point with the finish line directly in front of the Union terrace.

Coach Walz' men have a "long hoe to row" between the race Saturday until the season's grand finale in the Poughkeepsie regatta on the Hudson river June 25 including races with the Springfield Rowing club of Springfield, Ill., and the Lincoln Park Rowing club of Chicago here and with the University of Washington's mythical national champions at Chicago on June 15.

May 24 will find the first and second frosh crews down at Culver in an effort to repeat last year's victory, while the "lightweight" Badger freshman boat will stack its 150 pound average against St. John's Military academy here.

The Decoration regatta, May 30, will pit the Badger varsity against the Lincoln Park Rowing club's strong varsity, while the first and second freshman will meet equally strong eights from the club.

A four-oared shell race is being planned between fours from Lincoln Park, Wisconsin's varsity, and the all-university intramural champions. Assistant crew coach, Jack Gunning, who is training the intramural crews reports that all pre-existing records are sure to be broken in the scramble between the 16 fraternity and eight dormitory shells for the right to match strokes with the varsity and Lincoln Park.

Coach Walz plans to fill in two more races between the 30th of May and the Washington race June 15. Tentative dates with the Detroit boat club and another big school are still being negotiated. The crew is to leave for the regatta immediately after the Washington race in Chicago in their 44th quest for the Poughkeepsie title which has never stood on the Badger mantle.

The freshmen are slight favorites in the race coming up this Saturday for they have been beating the varsity regularly all year and are coming along steadily. However, the more experienced but lighter varsity has the capacity to turn on unexpected power and speed when the "chips are down" so to speak. Coach Walz looks for a close race in what seems to be a "natural" in regard to rivalry and crowd-pleasing ability.

Track, Nine Active This Weekend

Card Thinclads Host To Iowa Saturday

By "RIP" PERUSSE

The Badger trackmen took their last heavy drill on a wet track yesterday in preparation for their outdoor home debut on the Camp Randall track at 1:30 Saturday with a strong Iowa contingent.

The Badger hopes were dampened a bit, too, when Coach Tom Jones announced that Johnny Towle, speedy sprinter and low hurdler, would not run Saturday. The Milwaukee lad pulled a muscle on the crusty Drake track two weeks ago, and although the injury is healing, Jones has decided to take no chances and will keep him out of competition until the all-important Western conference meet at Minneapolis next week.

Here is how the two teams compare: Pole vault—Williams (W), thrice Big Ten champion, should take this event. He has done 13 feet 10 1/2 inches as compared to the 12 feet 9 inches of his nearest Hawkeye rival, Steinbeck. Foster (W) also should score.

High jump—tossup among Kuhl (I), Harter (W), Moreau (W), and Timmerman (W). Kuhl has jumped 6 feet 1 inch. All the Badgers have bettered this height, but not in recent meets.

Javelin—duel between Chapman (I) and Hadley (W). Chapman boasts of a 194 foot throw and Hadley has approached this mark several times.

IN CLASS OF OWN'
Shot put—Beierle (W) and Paskvan (W) are in class by themselves, both having approached the 50 foot mark. Kuhl (I), also high jumper and discus thrower, can put the shot 45 feet 6 inches.

One mile run — Ever-consistent

Back in Form?

GEORGE PASKVAN

Schoenike, (W) is the favorite in this race, having run a 4:23 mile only last Saturday. Stafford (W), Pitts (W), and Vacik (I) will battle it out for the other two places.

440 yard dash—The Hawkeyes are exceedingly strong here. W. Todd (I) has done the distance in :48.8; R. Todd (I), :49.5; Wolf (I), :50; Markovitz (I), :50.6; and Lapham (I), :51. The Badgers count chiefly on Byron Zolin, who ran the race in about :49.4 last Saturday in taking second at Minneapolis.

HARD TO FIGURE
100 yard dash—The three point-winners will probably be Novak (W), Soergel (W), and Schlauder (I), but the order of finish is hard to determine because all three are consistent 10-second dash men.

120 yard high hurdles—Here are the

Play Softball Games in Mud; Teams Move Up

Pi Lambda Phi took over first place in their division in softball yesterday noon when Al Greene pitched a no-hit game against Beta Theta Pi which ended 8-0. The game was played, along with the three others on the lower campus quagmire, which slowed the games up considerably.

Greene struck out five in the first two innings and issued one pass while his mates piled up a seven run lead, led by homers off the big bats of Bobby Goldsmith, second sacker, shortstop Albert, and third baseman, Flanner. Greene's total strike out list stood at 12 when the game ended, and four men reached base on walks. The Pi Lams added their eighth and final run in the fifth frame.

Pi Kappa Alpha won a 1-0 forfeit from the Alpha Deltas, Chi Phi and Sigma Phi Epsilon went to work in the quagmire and when the mud had been scraped off the scorecard the Chi Phis held a 15-11 advantage. At the end of the third the boys were tied 9-9, but the Chi Phis pulled away in the last two frames.

The SAE's took an easy 10-2 game from Theta Xi in the last of the muddy battles. Beierle homered for the winners.

The Madisonians met their first real test yesterday, and came to grief for first time at the hands of Cuba Club 3-2. The Madisonians had a two to one lead going into the last half of the fifth, but Jim O'Leary fed home-run balls to Klabunde and Horn to send the Madisonians down to their first defeat.

The Badger Beauties kept their slate clean by defeating the Casa Paloma Tigers 2-0 behind Houston's two-hit pitching. Ralph Bennett's first inning circuit clout with McCormick on base provided the margin of victory. Pres House forfeited to Murray House.

Hillel, another undefeated team, defeated the Lutheran Students 7-1, behind Stein's two hit pitching. The only run for the losers was unearned. Christensen held Hillel in check until a four run rally in the fifth sewed up the game for them. Ritz and Sigunick homered.

High hurdle results of the indoor meet, March 21: Won by Harter (W); second, Eiel (I); third, Bobber (W). The order should be about the same Saturday unless Kelso (W) or Lyons (W) come in for points.

Golfers, Netmen Play Gophers

While Wisconsin's baseball team is meeting the Golden Gophers at Camp Randall, the Badger tennis and golf squads leave today for Minneapolis where they face the U. of Minnesota teams tomorrow.

The Card courtsters fresh from a 9-0 win over Marquette will send a squad of Sherwood Gorenstein, Capt. Art Neilson, Ed Koehl, Bob Negen-dank, Bob Bruce and Armand Schudson against the Gophers.

6 MEN SQUADS

Coach Joe Steinauer's tee-men, who dropped a 16-11 match to Northwestern on Monday, will send a squad of six men to the twin cities. Capt. Burleigh Jacobs, Walt Atwood, Bob Alwin,

This afternoon at 3:30 on the Camp Randall baseball diamond will be determined which of two teams—the Wisconsin Badgers or the Minnesota Gophers—has the right to further aspiration toward the 1941 Big Ten baseball championship.

Unless rain douses the playing field, half past three o'clock will find Card moundsman Bob Van Sickle swinging them over the plate to start off a two-game series this weekend against the northerners. Today's contest is the first conference game of the season in Madison for the Badgers.

HAVE SNAPPY DRILL

Thursday afternoon's drizzle forced the squad inside the field house for the final light practice. A diamond was laid out over the tennis courts marked on the ground of the big shell which is the University of Wisconsin field house, and a particularly snappy infield drill ensued.

The boys were picking up the scorches deftly and were flinging the ball straight and hard to the mark. Typical of the bantering spirit which reigned was catcher Bob Willding's remark when shortstop Ken Bixby muffed a ground-ball: "Get that corset off, Grandmaw!"

WE'RE READY FOR 'EM.

Coach Art "Dynamite" Mansfield grimly declared after the practice: Well, we're ready for 'em.

Coach Mansfield does not underestimate his opponents, however; nor is it wise to do so, since the Gophers last weekend twice defeated Iowa, 4-3 and 3-2, and Iowa had been tied for first place in the Big Ten until that time.

A revenge motive is present for the Cardinals, since Minnesota last year handed out two shut-outs, 7-0 and 1-0, to the Wisconsin team. And the pitcher facing the Badgers this Saturday will probably be Big Bill Anderson, who punched out a hit last year in the ninth inning against Wisconsin to win his own game, 1-0.

A ship model testing tank has been built at the University of California.

Frosh vs. Varsity Grid Game Saturday Badgers to End Spring Practice

With weather conditions the poorest they have been all spring, Coach Harry Stuhldreher sent his Badgers through their last heavy workout before Saturday's freshman-varsity game. A light drill today will precede the contest which will wind up the spring training campaign.

A light rain falling on a boggy field hampered the activities of the squad. Stuhldreher used a backfield of Anderson, Ray, Damos, and Granitz concentrating on spinners and reverses. Timing was stressed in the drill, but the muddy footing made it hard for the boys to work smoothly.

GAME CLOSED TO PUBLIC

A scrimmage which followed the brief drill saw a second-string team make little headway against a reserve outfit. Stupka and Hanson were at the ends, McMann and Mucks at the tackles, Dunn and Steele at guards, and Vranesh at center. The backfield was composed of Diercks at quarter, Jefferson and Riewer at halves, and Zevnick at fullback. Once again conditions held back both teams.

Tomorrow's game will bring to a close the spring training season. The game will be closed to the public. The switch horses and decide that that is the team to beat.

But it's always interesting to watch their selections. They aren't always right (they probably consider 10 or 15 per cent a healthy average) but in the "off" season it makes for lively conversation.

showing of a number of promising freshmen coupled with the flock of good veterans combined to make the drills some of the most successful in years.

Among the freshmen who should be watched with particular interest on Saturday are Pat Harder, Milwaukee fullback; Frank Riewer and Frank Granitz, Milwaukee halves; Ashley Anderson, Milwaukee quarter; and Dick Loeffe, Milwaukee tackle. The latter has been particularly impressive this spring.

Phi Gams Drop Betas In I-M Hardball, 5-0

In the only hardball game played Thursday afternoon the Phi Gams beat the Betas 5-0. The game featured very fine fielding by both teams in spite of the fact that the field was still wet from the last three days' rain.

Bill Graebner, pitching for the Phi Gams marked up his first shutout of the year, holding the losers to two hits, both in the third inning. The Phi Gams reached Ed Morse for four base hits, two in the second inning and two in the third when all their scoring was done.

A novel situation was presented when the AEPis and Theta Xis both failed to appear for their game. The Dekes also did not show up so the AGRs won their game by default.

Gally Miller, Willard Vea, and John Gosin comprise the squad. Previously to the Northwestern defeat the team had won 12 straight over a two-year period.

Both squads will leave this afternoon on the same bus. The Daily Cardinal will publish complete results of the matches in Sunday's paper as Joe Steinauer is to telegraph the results as soon as they are complete.

The golf and tennis matches along with the baseball games, the track meet with Iowa at Madison on Saturday and the football game make this weekend one of the busiest on the spring athletic schedule.

Blind Man Directs Haverford

Herfurth Award

The days are past when college graduates were tossed out on a tough world crammed full of "book-larnin'" and little else. Now the university graduate prides himself on his self-dependence and efficiency.

Theodore Herfurth's efficiency award, therefore, is entirely in the spirit of the new university that turns out young men and women who are more than scholars.

It takes a special kind of mind to achieve notable success in the scholastic world, and too often that is the only virtue of a young man. But when the scholastic mind is coupled with an efficient manner of doing things, the ability to lead other people, and the character to use one's gifts, the person in whom such a combination is found is indeed a valuable citizen.

Mr. Herfurth's award will do much to stimulate the qualities of good American citizens on this campus. The eight men, named by Dean Goodnight as candidates, are excellent examples of the values sought in the people to whom we shall look in future years for leadership and guidance.

Educational Pioneer

The presentation of two national first place awards to University Station WHA for outstanding educational programs proves again its top-ranking position among public service broadcasting stations of the nation.

Unique in having a very small staff of only seven regular full-time members, aided by more than 60 part-time student and faculty assistants, WHA has developed high calibre service and entertainment programs of a type and nature available from no other station.

WHA is the oldest station in the nation. It was licensed on January 13, 1922. From the first it has, in conjunction with the university, played an outstanding part in service broadcasting throughout the state. The College of Agriculture has, in particular, used its facilities to divulge first-hand information and research results to Wisconsin farmers.

Since it is financed through the state budget as a public service device, WHA is unhampered by the necessity of pleasing sponsors, and has been free to experiment in every field of broadcasting. Recently it invaded the field of education by radio. Since then WHA school and college of the air programs have made expert supplements to regular instruction available to hundreds of thousands of students throughout the state.

A staff of talented workers headed by Director Harold B. McCarty deserve credit for offering programs representative of the finest ideals of the university and the state.

Unbeatable Democracy

"We've got to be made more aware of what America means, what it stands for. We've got to be made to realize what America meant in the beginning, what it means now."

When Coach Harry Stuhldreher made that statement the other evening at Elizabeth Waters hall in discussing citizenship-building, he was thinking about what it means to be an American.

We in America have a lot of things to be thankful for. Citizenship is becoming an ever-greater privilege.

In the totalitarian countries, young people are trained from childhood in the ideologies of dictatorship. If democracy is to be made unconquerable, we in America must stress with increased earnestness the teaching of democracy to young people.

Democracy must prove its worth. Our problem today is that of building faith. It is at faith that the subversive elements are launching their attacks. Citizenship programs are more important than ever before in building that trust in all that democracy stands for.

The citizenship committee on the campus has done much to give Wisconsin a vital citizenship program. This work must continue. We must build an unconquerable faith in the social order in which we live.

Tomorrow's democracy will depend upon it.

A Parade of Campus Opinion

Collegiate editors scowl at American Youth Congress, say it must prove itself.

By ASSOCIATED COLLEGIATE PRESS

Few young people's organizations in recent weeks have received the press comment that has been showered upon the American Youth congress. The organization's gathering in Washington, D. C., during congressional debate on the lend-lease bill drew the national spotlight once more and filled the editorial inkwells to overflowing.

"What," asks the Aztec of San Diego State college, "is the American Youth congress? Is it a truly American organization, sincere in its aims for youth and democracy, or is it the hotbed of communism and radicalism that Gene Tunney insists?" The Aztec concedes that "in any organization there may be undesirable elements," but it insists that "there remains much to be clarified in the situation. The AYC must, in the interests of the American young people it claims to represent, prove itself 'red, white, and blue' as its leaders assert."

The Vidette at Illinois State Normal university comments as follows: "For some time after its founding we favored and followed with interest the activities of the American Youth congress. But gradually, following each of the congress' succeeding adolescent capers, we have come to the firm conviction that its members are nothing more than misdirected, irresponsible young radicals who know little or nothing of what they have and less of what they want. Typical of their tantrums was their marching to Washington 'to take an active hand in government legislation.' Undoubtedly their help was a great asset—about as constructive as the commotion Youth congress members caused in the foreign affairs committee meeting which resulted in the expulsion of 50 of their members. Dr. George Gallup reports in a recent survey that the contentions and aims of the congress are entirely at odds with the opinions of the majority of American youth. Obviously, then, the Youth congress, in claiming youth representation, is flying false colors. Like so many other small groups of would-be intelligentsia, the congress appears to be little more than a group of young radicals who haven't learned that the quality of youth's ideas fails to keep pace with the quantity. Points aren't won by assumed authority, false representation, loud public demonstrations, and asinine conduct in general."

The Harvard Crimson says that ejection of the Youth congress representative was "a disgraceful travesty on the democratic spirit which is supposed to prevail at open hearings." An editorial in the Ohio State Lantern reviewed the committee session and ordered that Senator George of Georgia, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, violated the free speech amendment, in spirit if not in law.

These and other editorial comments in the college press indicate that American students want the Youth congress to enjoy all its constitutional rights, but that they are beginning to question the motives and sincerity of the organization as a self-acclaimed representative of youth.

Editor, The Daily Cardinal:

I have been a patient at the student infirmary from Feb. 14 to April 8 inclusive. During the time I received service and treatments, from both doctors and nurses, which has put me back in the way of good health.

During this time, I also had many experiences with students who came to the infirmary telling the doctors of their ailments expecting to be cured in a day or two because as they put it, "they did not want to miss many classes."

The attitude and disrespect toward those who wished to help them on the part of the students was entirely unbecoming to such as profess to be students of higher learning.

These students must learn that a little more patience, courtesy and consideration will have an influence upon the doctors to do better and speedier work.

Giving credit where credit is due, I find that I must give praise to the doctors and nurses of the infirmary for the wonderful work they do accomplish under such trying circumstances.

From the Ivory Tower

We have heard much in the past few months about transforming America into a near dictatorship in order to combat dictatorships. Most Americans wholeheartedly reject the idea. Nevertheless, the Wisconsin legislature yesterday morning passed a bill that might well be the first step in a program which would eventually establish a dictator in this country—or at least in this state.

The Gettelman bill barring the Communist party from the Wisconsin state ballot was undoubtedly motivated by the good intentions of the legislators. There are a lot of important war industries in the state, and Communists, by virtue of their suspect affiliation with Soviet Russia, are the least liable to be good American citizens. Barring the Communists from our elections might superficially be considered a very patriotic gesture.

But is it? Members of the Communist party have to be regarded in two different lights, as American citizens and as potential saboteurs. As saboteurs who use violence as an instrument of policy to gain their ends, as possible agents of a foreign government working for the destruction of our democratic institutions, the Communists must be arrested and treated with—wherever they are actually caught committing acts of sabotage or taking steps to overthrow our government. As American citizens, they must be allowed every civil right that every other American enjoys. The right to run for public office is one of those rights.

Democracy can't be considered an absolute, a static thing that can be protected from its enemies by such legislation as the Gettelman bill. Democracy is a process, a way of living, that can only be bulwarked by the actual exercise of its rights, responsibilities, and duties. According to such a view, barring a political party, no matter what its policy may be, is one of the surest ways of stopping the process of democracy.

There is no thinking, intelligent citizen who will doubt that the threat of sabotage to our defense industries should be nipped at its source. And the Dies committee, as well as the several "little Dies," has turned up a lot of cogent evidence that Communists are planning sabotage. But stymieing saboteurs and repressing political parties are two different things, even though they stem from the same root.

Mr. Biemiller of Milwaukee, was right when he said in the assembly that the bill was only barring the Communist party, not the Communists, and that the bill would force the Communists to enter other political parties subversively in order to attain their ends. A common result of such legislation as the Gettelman bill has been that it drives the persecuted minorities underground, making them therefore many times more dangerous.

Finally, passage of the bill is an indication that the legislators of the state of Wisconsin are so unsure of their native brand of democracy that they forced out of the state elections a party that in the last two elections has polled a total of 4,591 votes.

As Assemblyman Biemiller said Tuesday, "That's a nice situation."

Psi of Theta Chi Is Reestablished At Wisconsin

During the weekend of May 3 and 4, exactly 23 years after its original initiation into Theta Chi, national social fraternity, Psi chapter of Theta Chi fraternity was re-established on the campus of the University of Wisconsin.

Frederick W. Ladue, national treasurer and acting executive secretary, and James C. Bell, the regional counselor, with the help of Madison and Milwaukee alumni, initiated and installed Edwin A. Meier, William R. Rosenberger, Robert O'Nicol, William Nelson, Robert Wilson, George P. Henry, Andrew Esterly, William Hanson, Kenneth Gerhart, Robert Meyer, Elgin Jacobson, Earl Aiken, and Edward Drayton as the charter members.

From early afternoon until late that evening, the new members went through the initiation ritual at the Madison club. Following Psi chapter traditions, Dean Goodnight, who had been the principal speaker at the original initiation dinner in 1918, again gave the principal address at the initiation banquet which followed. He expressed his belief and conviction that fraternities are not passing out of the picture at Wisconsin, as some people think, but rather, the fraternity future is considerably brighter than the past has been.

In the election of officers which followed the initiation, Edwin A. Meier was elected president; Kenneth Gerhart was elected vice president; William Nelson, secretary; Robert O'Nicol, treasurer; and William Hanson, Marshal.

The purpose of the function is to raise money for the Solalinde scholarship fund. An undergraduate will be awarded a scholarship of $125 later this month to attend the summer session of the University of Mexico.

A high light of the evening will be a floor show with Russel Jensch acting as master of ceremonies. Helen Samp will sing, the Montemayor brothers from Janesville will present several selections in Spanish, and the musicians will provide novelty numbers. Also featured will be Maria Luisa Hurtado Delgado who will perform several Spanish dances.

DEPLORABLE

is the word for the recent legislation at the DYpsilon house.

Along about this time of the year, you know, every fraternity on the lake puts up a pier. These piers are primarily intended for pleasure. But not at the DU house, no sir.

The other night a few of the fair haired lads decided to hold a party with the usual refreshments. The only trouble was that the rest of the house wanted to study, as usual.

The guilty seven were called up before the chapter court for disturbing the peace, and it is rumored that a measure has been passed in the chapter meeting, limiting the future parties to one a week. Ain't that dandy?

LAST TIME

we had a rather senseless item about Jeanne Purmort in the column. That's because part of it was left out.

She was interviewed on this radio program because the managers of the spot received two cards from different towns requesting her.

The cards were signed with male names and written in a gal's hand, the same hand. That's one way to get yourself into radio.

IS THERE

someone in the grippe ward you would like to see? Just ask Claude York.

He wanted to have a talk with Dorie Block when she was tied down last week, so he walked in with a W sweater and told the nurse he was brother Joe from Washington State.

He got upstairs when he met Shorty recuperating from the cabin.

"Hi, Shorty."

"Hi, Claude."

And Claude was on the way back down.

has been dug up regarding Patty White, recently pinned to Gagnon.

She, too, was out in the grippe ward and our infirmiry correspondent tells us of the eight (8) separate and distinct personages who carried on long talks with Patty from outside on the ground.

Patty sat in her window, a vision, dressed simply in German measles.

Along with this is the story of SAE Bud Garrity who was led to believe that one of his brothers had fixed him a date with Patty.

He shaved, showered and shifted in to high out to the Rock to pick her up where they told him Patty was off with the measles, which is probably all for the best.

prolonged and much needed vacation.

OH YES

Hugh Jones, president of I-F board and irrepressible baseball player, owes us two bits which he borrowed four months ago.

Not that we need it but he always laughs in a sneering manner when we see him and people are beginning to think we owe it to him.

That's an inconsequential thing to put in the column but it adds a sort of intimate touch, don't you think?
