CLOSE TO 500 FANS SEE GRID STARS CLASH IN SCRIMMAGE AT CAMP RANDALL YESTERDAY

Coaches Prepare for Lawrence Game; Morning Practice Eliminated

Between 450 and 500 spectators crowded the sidelines of the varsity practice field at Camp Randall yesterday afternoon to watch Coach John Richards' men clash in the first real scrimmage of the season.

From now on with classes starting today, there will be no morning workout for the squad, which means much training will have to be crowded within the short time between 3:30 and 5:30, and that scrimmages will be longer and more intensive during the few remaining days before the first game.

Coach Richards is working to whip a squad into shape in time for the game with Lawrence a week from next Saturday. "It will be necessary to obtain a large degree of efficiency in footwork and get-away in order to win the early games," he told his men. This is evidently the reason for holding scrimmages so early in the season.

Eliminate Setting Up Exercises

Without taking time for setting up exercises yesterday afternoon, after the players had warmed up, two teams were picked for scrimmage after a short session of calling signals.

The first team began play with Allen Davey as pilot; Sundt at full-back; Elliott right and Collins left half; Captain Weston and Knapp played the end positions; Scott and Stark, tackles; Rankin and Nelson, guards; and Bunge, center. After about the third play Collins was laid out when tackled and was replaced by Gibson.

Elliott showed up true to his old form by making big gains through the line every time he was given the oval. Scotty is gradually pulling his cork and getting his 220 pounds in a condition to be handled easily on his feet. The big trouble comes with "Fat" Rankin. The Coach can't get him mad enough to put a little fighting spirit into his play.

Barnes and Tebell Look Good

"Shorty" Barr did a good job of calling the figures for the second outfit, making his best gains against the first squad with forward passes, in which Barnes and Tebell were used to good advantage. These two men proved themselves a pair of speedy ends who will make strong bids for places on the varsity crew.

Dopesters are finding it difficult to prophecy as to the final personnel of the team since there are so many old and new men to choose from, and because the doubtful eligibility of a number of the men. Many cons and incompletes are to be gotten out of the way. However, by the end of the week Coach Richards will probably have begun boiling the squad down to a better working basis.

"Y" ENTERTAINS 350 NEW MEN AT FROSH BANQUET

Students Explain Old Traditions to Entering Class

The annual Frosh Banquet at the Y. M. C. A. building last night brought together the largest number of first year men who have attended this affair in the history of Wisconsin. The sale of over 350 tickets before yesterday noon made impossible the use of the parlors, where the banquet has always been held, and resulted in its removal to the cafeteria rooms, which can accommodate 150 more men. In spite of the change, freshmen asking for tickets in the afternoon could not be accommodated.

The excellent program which followed the dinner was under the di-

COMMERCE PLANS TO GET TOGETHER AT MIXER FRIDAY

Sophomore Advisory Commission in Charge of Ticket Sale

If all commerce students will notice the signs on the lower campus tomorrow they will see one like this: "All-commerce mixer, Friday, October 1, in men's gym."

Freshmen are especially urged to attend this "get to know each other mixer," since it will be the outstanding feature of the year insofar as they will have an opportunity to meet other men in the course. How to get acquainted with people at the university is one job that each incoming freshman has to overcome, and the purpose of the mixer is principally to help first year men in commerce to get acquainted with the men they will be associated with during their four or more years at school.

President E. A. Birge will give a short address of welcome to the assembled students. "Dad" Wolfe will welcome them in behalf of the Y. M. C. A. Prof. W. A. Scott, director of the course in commerce; Prof. S. W. Gilman, Prof. F. H. Elwell, Prof. E. H. Gardner, and others will take on subjects of vital interest to commerce students.

Those who have not obtained tickets to this big get-together mixer are requested to do so before next Friday so that definite arrangements can be made by the committees in charge. Tickets will be sold, next week, at the door of every large lecture room, in main hall, and on the campus. Tickets are now available and are being sold by members of the sophomore advisory commission.

ELECTION DATE SET BY SENATE AS OCTOBER 29

Plans for Single Big Drive to Replace Tag Days Discussed

October 29 was set as the date for the fall election at a meeting of the student senate held yesterday afternoon. Members of the student senate, class officers, and Prom chairman will be elected at that time and vacancies on the several boards will also be filled. The committee in charge of the election is composed of Clyde Emery, chairman, Foster Strong, Reuben Chadbourne, Leon Kaumheimer, and Morton Frost.

The senate also discussed plans for the establishment of a budget system with one concerted drive to take the place of the many money raising campaigns and tag days that have caused so much complaint from the student body. Maurice Field and Thomas Coxon were appointed to investigate the feasibility of the project. It is proposed to formulate a definite plan, assigning quotas to the several organizations and submit it to the vote of the student body some time this fall.

Means of instructing freshmen in the traditions of the university and the penalties for violations was another topic of discussion. In all probability the system adopted last spring will again be used, and leading students will speak to the first year men in their drill periods within the next few days.

Steps were taken to confer with the athletic department to fix the date of the class rush and make regulations for its conduct.

Higher Room Rent—Shorter Skirts; the Dears Must be Economical, You Know

"Say, guy, didja see that girl? That's what I call classy!"

We overheard said remark as we were sauntering down State street, and turning, we beheld a co-ed, with much-embroidered suit, and a much-marcelled coiffure, and a rather, yes, a VERY short skirt.

The co-eds are emerging in their fall plumage, as per custom. Yea, though the sun shine upon the asphalt with tropical heat, and the thermometer register 98 degrees in the shade, still would they bedeck themselves in serge and tricotine and fur. And Solomon in all his glory—but you've heard that before.

The skirts are short: yes. But what can you expect? With room rents so high we have to economize on something; why not on wearing apparel?

But we almost forgot to mention the men's clothes at all. We don't know much about male attire anyway—it all looks about the same to us. But from all observations we are pretty sure that the clothiers and tailors aren't going to starve this winter. Here's to 'em.

CITY PLANS TO TAKE PART IN BIG WELCOME

Justice Rosenberry to Address Students on Madison's Behalf

The city of Madison has caught the spirit of the great Varsity Welcome to be held tomorrow morning and has asked to be permitted to take an active part in the program. In accordance with this request, the committee has secured Justice M. B. Rosenberry of the state supreme court to welcome the students on behalf of the citizens of Madison. The city and the business men will cooperate to the limit, according to Louis Hirsig, one of the members of the mayor's committee which is working with the university. It is expected that 500 business men will be present.

The first part of the program will be the marching of the classes. The freshmen, escorted by the seniors, graduates and law students, will move up the center of the campus toward Lincoln terrace, where they will pass between the sophomores and juniors to their position. The "white patrol," 24 girls dressed in white, will lead the procession. Faculty members and members of the Council of 40, distinguished by cardinal badges, will direct the formation and the marching. A diagram of the line of march is printed on Page 7.

After the university hymn has been sung, the program of speeches will be opened by Dean G. C. Sellery, who will preside. The complete program follows:

Preliminary Pageant of Classes
March of sophomores and juniors to position on Lincoln Terrace —
The band plays: "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

March of seniors, graduate and law students, escorting the freshmen to position—Band plays and students sing: "On, Wisconsin."

University hymn, "Light for All"—
By the assemblage, led by Dr. Charles H. Mills.

Introductory—By Dean George C. Sellery.

University Salutation — Varsity toast—By the students.

Address of Welcome—By President Edward A. Birge.

Address on behalf of the citizens of Madison—By Justice M. B. Rosenberry.

Address on behalf of the faculty—
By Prof. Aronld B. Hall.

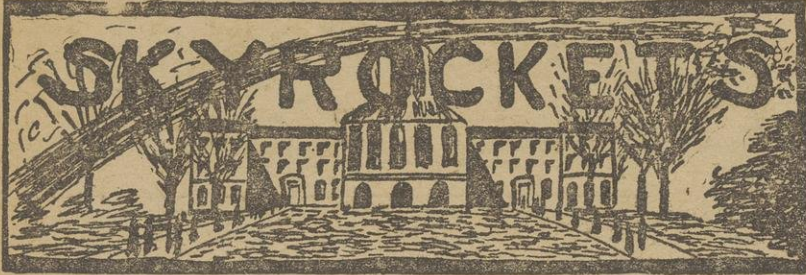

Address on behalf of the upper-classmen—By Clyde B. Emery, '21.

The National Hymn—"America."

NO GREEN CAPS FOR OVERSEAS VETERANS

Much discussion has arisen over the question of whether ex-service men are to be required to wear the traditional green cap. According to a ruling of the student senate made last year, men who served overseas for one year or more do not have to wear the green cap if they make application to the senate and the request is approved. This rule does not apply to men who have only served in this country.

tensive equipment offered by the new shops. Last year two or more students were obliged to work at the same piece of machinery because of the lack of space and material.

The buildings were begun early in the summer. At present only one large shop will be finished but later plans will be carried out for a central building constructed on the same architectural lines as the Forest Products laboratory. The sawtooth roof construction and other details common in industrial architecture are features of the new structure. The old machine shop building will be used by the electrical engineering department and the signal corps of the university.

PROF. DUDLEY HEADS GROUP PREPARING FILMS

W. H. Dudley, head of the visual instruction bureau of the University Extension division, is chairman of a commission which has been appointed to enlarge the service and plans of the Ford Educational Weekly moving picture films. The commission, working from its central headquarters in Detroit, has produced so far, 40 reels on definite school subjects designed for classroom use.

Some of the subjects which have been worked out are: regional and industrial geography; American history; civics and citizenship; health and sanitation; and agriculture. These reels are prepared in a special film laboratory in Detroit and the films are taken by expert camera men sent out to all parts of the country. By application at the bureau of visual instruction of the university of Wisconsin, school boards and teachers throughout the state may procure the reels.

GREEK PROFESSOR SAILS FOR ATHENS

Prof. Charles Forster Smith, professor emeritus of Greek and classical philology at the University of Wisconsin, has just sailed for Athens, Greece, to serve as professor in the American School of Classical Studies.

Professor Smith has been a member of the Wisconsin faculty since 1894 and, before coming to Wisconsin, taught at the University of Arkansas, at Wofford college, at Williams college, and at Vanderbilt university. Since 1917 Dr. Smith has been professor emeritus.

Professor Smith has been known to the public as a contributor to classical journals and literary reviews of classical philology, modern literary and educational topics. He has also published several books.

GUN CLUB FOR CARP REMOVAL

Members Favor Cleaning up Four Lakes; Prof.
Cole Speaks

Last night the Four Lakes Rod and Gun association went on record as favoring the removal of carp from the four lakes as often as the state conservation commission deem it necessary.

The meeting was called by Dr. A. S. Heggen, president, at the offices of the Association of Commerce, and there was a full discussion of the problem, practically all of the 25 attending taking part. Harry Williams, secretary, reported a membership of over 225 in the association.

The members spoke of the importance of developing fishing in the four lakes region in order that tourists might be encouraged to remain in Madison. It was the almost unanimous opinion that when carp become so plentiful as to injure game fishing that they should be taken from the lakes.

Those who are interested in the work the Four Lakes Rod and Gun association is doing to develop fish and hunting on the lakes, and who desire to become affiliated with the association can secure application blanks from Harry Williams, at the Kroncke Hardware store. The annual dues are $1.

BADGER BOXING COACH RETURNS TO FIGHT RING

"Johnny" Neu, Encouraged by Success, to Battle for State Title

Wisconsin students who were in "Johnny" Neu's boxing classes last year have shown much interest in the determination of the university boxing instructor to fight his way up in the ring game.

Neu is this year, as he was last, a registered student at the university and he is continuing his work of instructing students in the manly art. Boxing, under Neu's tutelage, last year attained great popularity and an all-university boxing tournament was staged. This year, interest in the art bids fair to become even greater as a large number of students have elected boxing as a means to working off their gym requirements.

Great Lakes Champion

At Great Lakes naval training station, Johnny Neu battled his way to the bantamweight championship, and was made boxing instructor at the station. After leaving the service however, Neu dropped the professional end of the game and came to Wisconsin. During the summer he acted as matchmaker for the Monona Athletic club, a boxing club formed by Jack Boyd of the Candy Shop.

Boyd induced Neu to re-enter the ring. He was in perfect condition when he met Young Abe Attell in Madison Labor day, and although outweighed, scored a clean knockout in the fourth round. Encouraged by his success Neu decided to go as far in the game as he could. His first goal was the state title. There are but two contenders in the state capable of contesting the title. One is Herzog of Oshkosh and the other is Grayjacket of Milwaukee.

Meets Johnny Herzog Next

Neu will meet Johnny Herzog in the Monona auditorium Tuesday night, September 28, in the semi-windup bout of the boxing show arranged by Boyd, and if he wins Boyd has promised him a bout with Grayjacket. After that there remain only Pal Moore, Jack Sharkey, and Jimmy Wilde. If predictions run true to form and Neu continues to show the form he exhibited when he knocked out Attell, Wisconsin university may have a boxing champion among her registrants.

LITERARY MAGAZINE STAFF

A meeting of the business staff of the Wisconsin Literary magazine will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the "Lit" office, Union building, third floor. Students interested in the positions of advertising manager, circulation manager, and business assistant are asked to report promptly at that hour.

CHEMICAL RESEARCH SUBJECT OF PAPERS BY WISCONSIN MEN

University Represented at Annual Chemical Society Meeting

Several of the important research papers read at the annual meeting of the American Chemical society, which was held in Chicago recently, were contributed by members of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin. This year's convention was called "the reconstruction meeting."

Prof. A. S. Loevenhart, Wisconsin professor of pharmacology and toxicology, read a paper on the subject which attracted the most interest from the members—"Chemistry's Contribution to the Life Sciences"—dealing with the application of chemistry to medicine.

Prof. Louis Kahlenberg of the chemistry department, spoke on "Separation of Crystalloids from One Another by Dialysis" and "Cellulose Content of Various Compound Celluloses."

E. C. Sherrard and G. W. Blanco, of the Forest Products laboratory read papers on "Acid Hydrolysis of Sugar Cane Fibre and Cotton Seed Hulls" and "Preparation and Analysis of a Cattle Food Consisting of Hydrolyzed Sawdust." S. A. Mahood and D. E. Cable, also of the Forest Products laboratory, spoke on "Comparison of Wood Cellulose and Cotton Cellulose."

The committee of national research council held important conferences on the uses of selenium and tellurium. The work of this committee, of which Prof. Victor Lenher of the university chemistry department is a member, continued its meeting in Madison. A large number of graduate students at the university are carrying on experiments for the committee.

THE GRAND

"Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway," the Charles Ray picture which will today close its engagement at the Grand, was originally written to save expenses. Shortly after Cohan and Harris formed as producers in 1904, they placed Miss Fay Templeton under their management. Hers was one of the first contracts executed by the young firm, and Miss Templeton, then in the zenith of her fame, succeeded in having a merry little clause inserted into it, which made her salary active with or without acting, and as this weekly stipend was no small amount, it behooved Cohan and Harris to provide a play for her as soon as possible. As they had nothing to suit her talents it was up to George M. Cohan to get busy and give Miss Templeton something to play with besides his money. Mr. Cohan set to work and worked all the time until the play was finished, and the result was that actor, author and producer always claimed that it was the very best play Mr. Cohan ever wrote.

AT THE STRAND

The terror of the unknown plays a large part in "The White Circle," a new Maurice Tourneur picture, which is now showing at the Strand theater. According to the story, adapted from Robert Louis Stevenson's "The Pavilion on the Links," an old London banker escaping with the absconded funds of an Italian secret society is overcome with fear of his pursuers, though he has no evidence that they are on his trail, and in the old country home on the lovely Scotland coast, where he takes refuge, he is obsessed by strange visions and dies a thousand deaths through fear.

"The White Circle" is a thrilling story of love and adventure, done in the best Tourneur style. Spottiswoode Aitken, Janice Wilson, and Jack Gilbert are included in the cast. It is a Paramount Artercraft. There will also be shown a Mack Sennett comedy "By Golly."

Ask the Commerce students—they know that the real merchants cut their margin of profit to the lowest possible point and work for volume. That's what Hart Schaffner & Marx do. That's what we do and the advantage is yours.

We want you to know we're doing our level best to serve you. That's one of the reasons we're talking to you frankly in this way. We want the students to know that we're playing square with them and with our big and growing trade. That's why it's big and growing. We want students to know that we pass the advantage of our good buys along the line. Narrow margin—big volume, that's our policy and we believe you'll like it.

PLAN SHOWING LINE OF MARCH FOR FRESHMAN PAGEANT FRIDAY

The arrangement of faculty, students, and spectators for the Freshmen Welcome at 11 o'clock Friday will be according to the following plan.

The freshmen will meet at the foot of the upper campus on Park street according to the above diagram, with the women grouped in front and the men on both sides. The junior class will meet on the south side of the campus in front of the Law building, and the sophomores on the north side around the Engineering building.

As soon as the band strikes up "The Stars and Stripes Forever," and Professor Corp gives the signal, the sophomores and juniors, led by their file leaders, will start marching along the line indicated in the diagram and arrange themselves on either side of Lincoln terrace.

After the juniors and sophomores have crossed the walk that runs between North and South halls, the seniors, graduate and law students will start marching down to meet the freshmen, and at the same time the freshmen lines will start moving up the hill to their position on the upper part of the campus. The seniors will follow the freshmen until they reach the walk near the top, at which point they will separate to the right and left of the juniors and sophomores and come to a halt with the freshmen at the Lincoln monument. The spectators will line up on the walks leading up the hill.

TRAFFIC RULES FOR BASCOM MALL WILL AGAIN BE ENFORCED

Regulations Last Year Saved
Confusion and Disorder;
Posters Mark Way

The same traffic regulations which were put in force in Bascom hall last year to avoid confusion and congestion in the corridors and on the stairs will be enforced again this year.

The observance of these rules during the past semester resulted in a minimum of wasted time, crowding, and pushing in entering and leaving the building and in ascending and descending the stairs. Signs and posters directing old and new students will be returned to the corridors and freshmen are especially requested to pay strict attention to regulations. The traffic rules were adopted at the request of students and are not authorized by the faculty.

The rules are as follows:
All students shall enter Bascom hall by means of the center entrance. Either one of the center stairways shall be used to ascend.

The stairways and entrances at the ends of the building shall be used for outgoing traffic.

Students having classes in Room 165 shall leave through the emergency exit at the front of the room.

AT eight strokes of the bell in Music hall tower this morning thousands of young hopefuls fortunate enough to have an early morning class will be in their seats answering to the first roll call of the year.

Like the bell in Macbeth, the one this morning may summon hundreds of students to heaven or elsewhere so far as their life at the university is affected. Whether the bell summons them to the land of scholastic bliss or to a homeward journey on the "Sore Eye Special" depends on the attitude they take towards their work from the beginning.

The old adage of winning the race on the home stretch may still hold good on the track, but the theory has been exploded long ago in the class room. The proverb that illustrates the truth more nearly is the one of the hare and the tortoise. In recent years Wisconsin has had too many hares and too few tortoises. As a result, some of the fleet-footed have raced 'up to the goal in the end, but many more have come up just in time to be too late.

The course of wisdom, then, is to start out from the first with a dogged determination to do an honest day's work for an honest day's pay. Sounds like the slogan of the big business barons, but it applies to the student as well as to the union labor man. In a sense, every student is working for a material return. His reward is in direct ratio to the amount of effort put forth that day. He may hit his exams all right by a sudden feverish spell of work at the end of the semester, but he loses the benefit of calm and earnest application day in and day out. This is the only kind of work that will get him by in the school of business and professional life, and he cheats himself if he does not contract the habit in the university.

By the way, following out this course is certain to prevent that tired feeling experienced on those February mornings after burning the midnight current too freely in an effort to assimilate the lectures of four months in four hours.

* * *

THE COURSE OF LEAST RESISTANCE

TODAY marks an epochal event in the lives of thousands of university students. Freshmen from all points of the world are here to realize the ambition of a lifetime—a college education. They come from all walks of life; they seek all of the varieties that a great state university can offer; they are earnest in their desires to get the best that we can give; in the large majority, they are real students.

With all, however, a peculiar trait of human weakness has made itself manifest from the day of registration. It is hard to understand why freshmen, inadvertently or otherwise, want what in campus terms is known as the course of least resistance.

Why do they object so strenuously to eight o'clock, afternoon, and Saturday classes? Especially so when 90 per cent are here with plenty of ready cash and enough time to think of nothing but studies.

A right start consists largely in avoiding these shortcomings of the average beginner. Picking a program for the ease it affords does nothing more than lay a foundation that is certain to crumble. After all, strict attention to the business of study during the first year shows the best way toward blending pleasure and work at the university. That should be the aim of every incoming freshman. Constant application brings the desired results.

It might even be put down as axiomatic that the best way is not the easiest. Don't be afraid of a little extra work or getting up early enough for an eight o'clock. For after all, the most ambitious of us can seldom find more work on the hill than can be carried with due justice to all of it. Remember always that a good start is half the race.

SOPHOMORE COMMISSION

The Sophomore Commission of the Y. M. C. A. will meet Friday evening, September 24, at 7:30 in the Green room at the Y. M. C. A. building.

COUNTRY MAG. SUBSCRIBERS

Country Magazine subscribers are requested to report change of address to the Country Magazine office, Room 21, Agricultural Hall.

COMMERCE COMMISSION

The Sophomore Commerce Advisory Commission will meet in Room 402 Bachelor Apartments, at 7 o'clock tonight. All members are requested to be present.

GRADUATE CLUB SUPPER

The Graduate club will meet for its first "acquaintance supper" Monday evening, September 27 at 5:30 in the S. G. A. room on the first floor of Lathrop hall.

AGRICULTURAL LITERARY SOCIETY

First meeting of new year. All members out. Ag. Hall auditorium 7:30 p. m. Friday.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB TRYOUTS SCHEDULED FOR THIS WEEK

Tryouts for sophomore, junior, and senior membership in the Girls' Glee club will be held Thursday and Friday afternoons at 4 o'clock in Music hall. Marie McKittrick, president of the club, has announced that freshmen entering their first semester may not try out until February.

AGRICULTURAL WOMEN MEET

The Agricultural Women's association will hold a meeting at 7 o'clock tonight on the fourth floor of Lathrop hall.

BONUS DRAFTS NOT OUT UNTIL NOV. 15

Contrary to a previous announcement in the Cardinal, bonus students will not receive their first drafts until November 15. These drafts will cover the month of October and the few days in September.

It was decided that the added work necessary to have the first reports out by October 15 was not warranted since they would amount to only $10. All reports must be in the Secretary of the Faculty's office by the first of the month and this material could not be compiled in time. Consequently, if the student enrolls on or before September 20, his combined drafts on November 15 will amount to $40; for each day's delay after the 20th one dollar will be deducted.

Bonus checks are always made out one month late, the fifteenth and sixteenth of the month being pay days.

WOMAN ADDED TO JOURNALIST STAFF

Mrs. Genevieve J. Bourghner of St. Paul, Minn., has just been added to the staff of instructors of the Course in Journalism at the University of Wisconsin, the fifteenth year of which begins this week. Mrs. Bourghner is an experienced newspaper woman who had been connected with St. Paul and Minneapolis papers for six years and has also done magazine and syndicate work.

Mrs. Bourghner will assist in the courses in newspaper reporting and the writing of special articles and will give a new course in departments of interest to women readers in newspapers and magazines.

800 DYNAMITE CAPS STOLEN

Believe Children Committed Theft; Caps Highly Explosive

Eight hundred dynamite caps have been stolen from the little wooden hut belonging to the state highway commission in the stone quarry at Sunset Point, it was discovered yesterday by B. M. Mauer of the commission.

The theft is thought, following an investigation by Mr. Mauer and Under Sheriff McCormick, to have been committed by small boys playing in the vicinity. If an adult had committed the theft, it is believed he would probably have taken a whole carton, which would not make a very large package. Furthermore, while these caps are more highly explosive than dynamite itself, or even T. N. T., the explosion they would cause, would not be of sufficient strength to blow up a building.

Parents are warned, however, that these caps, thrown or dropped even a short distance, will explode, and are capable of shattering the limbs of a child or adult.

Ford Products Are Cut To Pre-War Price Level, Is Statement

Henry Ford Announces Reductions of From 14 to 31 Percent

(By the Associated Press)

DETROIT—Re-establishment of pre-war prices on all products of the Ford Motor company effective immediately, was announced today by Henry Ford. The price reductions range from approximately 14 per cent on motor trucks to 31 per cent on small automobiles.

In announcing the decision of the company Mr. Ford, in a formal statement, said:

"Now is a time to call a halt on war methods, war prices, war profiteering, and war greed. It may be necessary for everybody to stand a little sacrifice but it will be most profitable after all because when we get the business of the country back to a pre-war condition, progress, prosperity and contentment will occupy the attention of the people.

"For the best interests of all, it is time that a real practical effort was made to bring the business of the country and the life of the country down to normal. Inflated prices always retard progress."

The announcement said the price reductions were made despite unfilled orders for 146,065 vehicles.

There will be no reduction in wages at any of the Ford plants, it was announced.

Sororities Entertain with Tea

Yesterday afternoon the rushing season for sororities was officially opened with a tea served at the chapter lodges of each Greek letter organization. Today festivities will continue with dinners, picnics, and parties.

Alpha Delta Pi, which has recently been installed, will entertain informally with a buffet supper this evening, a Royal dinner Friday, and Saturday an informal dinner-dance at the new chapter house on North Murray street.

Phi Mu, established on Langdon street, has arranged a picnic across the lake this afternoon, a Pierrot supper for Friday evening, and a dinner for Saturday night.

Prof. A. B. Hall to Remain

Prof. A. B. Hall, associate professor of political science at Wisconsin, who has had under consideration for several months the acceptance of a college presidency in a neighboring state, has decided to remain at the university. The possibility of Professor's Hall's leaving aroused much comment not only at the university but throughout the state.

Y. M. C. A. Banquets Freshmen

Several hundred new men were entertained at the annual Frosh banquet given by the Y. M. C. A. in the "Y" parlors last night. Prof. A. B. Hall who has presided over the banquet for many years, was again in charge, and introduced Prof. Carl Russell Fish as principal speaker.

U. W. Man Honolulu "Y. M."

Executive Frank I. Ambler, former Wisconsin student and member of the college Y. M. C. A. cabinet while in school, has been chosen as the new executive secretary of the Nuuanu department of the Honolulu Y. M. C. A. Mr. Ambler succeeds Lloyd R. Killam, who recently became general secretary of all Y. work in the city and throughout the territory.

Graduate Club Supper

The Graduate club will meet for its first "acquaintance supper" Monday evening, September 27, at 5:30 in the S. G. A. room on the first floor of Lathrop hall. Besides the informal get-together, the new governing committee for the year will be selected. The Graduate club is the only organization in the university exclusively for graduate students.

104 WISCONSIN MEN IN NEW "WHO'S WHO"

The new 1920 edition of Who's Who in America lists the names of 104 members of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin. Of this number, two are women, and most of those listed are nationally known because of their publications or their work on governmental committees.

The departments of the university which have the greatest number of representatives in Who's Who are: Modern and classical languages, 12; College of Agriculture, 11; English, 9; Medical school, 8; College of Engineering, 6; history and physics, 5 each; Law school, chemistry, mathematics, and philosophy, 4 each. Some 17 other departments are also represented.

Besides containing the names of the president, business manager, and deans of men and women, Who's Who lists the names of the deans, directors, or chairmen of practically every college, school, or course embraced in the university.

The two women professors named in Who's Who are Miss F. Louise Nardin, dean of women, and Prof. Abbey L. Marlatt, director of the Course in Home Economics.

rection of Professor A. B. Hall, who has been chairman of the banquet for many years. Representatives of various phases of student Y. M. C. A. work and of general campus activities began the talks. Frank Weston introduced members on the senior council, and briefly explained the work of each one. "Bud" Follett touched upon the university traditions, giving an insight into Wisconsin spirit, and an understanding of what is back of the traditions which the freshmen are asked to uphold.

Wesley Travers spoke of the fellowship meetings, and what they can mean to a man in developing his ability to meet other men on a friendly basis of good-fellowship. Frank Kuehl made a strong appeal for forensics. Milt Borman outlined the work done by the Y in acquainting would-be entrants of the university with some of the ideals and spirit of Wisconsin.

Prof. Carl Russell Fish was introduced as the representative of the faculty. He discussed the dangers and benefits to be obtained from university life. The final talk was made by "Dad" Wolfe, who emphasized all which had been said and asked the men to work into their lives here at Madison the things which would gain them leadership in the years to come.

HOW MUCH WILL BONUS COST CITIES?

How much various Wisconsin cities were taxed under the two soldier bonus laws is indicated by tables just prepared by the municipal information bureau of the University of Wisconsin Extension division. The tables show the amount of the cash bonus surtax and the educational bonus surtax in each of the 132 Badger cities.

Among the 8 cities of more than 10,000 population, the largest amounts levied under the two laws were: Milwaukee, $2,507,208 cash bonus surtax and $562,216 education surtax; Kenosha $721,130 and $144,266; Racine $307,217 and $61,451; West Allis, $292,932 and $58,586; and Manitowoc, $220,577 and $44,114. The smallest amounts levied were: Stevens Point, $6,456 cash bonus surtax and $1,318 educational surtax; Ashland, $15,788 and $3,157; Marinette, $23,114, and $4,623; Wausau $53,153 and $10,627; and Fond du Lac, $55,712 and $11,142.

Among the 17 cities of between 5,000 and 10,000 population, the largest amounts levied under the two laws were: Cudahy, $89,649 cash bonus surtax and $17,929 educational surtax; Neenah, $80,904 and $16,180; Waukesha, $39,201 and $7,860; Menasha, $31,813 and $6,362; and Grand Rapids, $30,549 and $6,110. The smallest amounts levied were: De Pere, $2,729 cash bonus surtax and $545 educational surtax; Antigo, $3,734 and $746; Oconto, $5,596 and $1,113; Portage, $10,424 and $2,084; and Menomonie, $11,894 and $2,379.

FIRST LAW REVIEW APPEARS OCTOBER

The first issue of the Wisconsin Law Review, which is to be published by the University of Wisconsin Law School, will be ready for distribution on October 1. The publication will be edited quarterly during the school year and will contain a discussion of questions of law which are of particular interest to Wisconsin.

Among the contents of the first number will be tributes to the late Chief Justice John B. Winslow by Judge Burr W. Jones and Dean H. S. Richards, an article on Tax Title at Wisconsin Law, by Prof. J. D. Wickhem, and notes upon recent decisions contributed by the board of student editors. Students will be given an opportunity to have the results of their research work published in the Review.

The editorial board of the Law Review is composed of a board of faculty members and a board of students. Prof. W. H. Page is the faculty editor-in-chief and Lean J. Foley, Grand Rapids, is editor-in-chief for the students.

LATE AD COPY IS FAULT IN MADISON

So Says W. L. Miller; 40 Attend Ad Club Booster Meet

Putting across his own name and his own service is what the local retail merchant wants of his advertising man, declared W. L. Miller, managing editor of the Wisconsin State Journal, who leaves this week to accept a position on a Tulsa, Okla., paper now owned by Richard Lloyd Jones, former owner of the Journal.

"You cannot depend upon a small-town merchant to get behind any one product," he asserted. "He wants to sell the goods his buyers have purchased." Mr. Miller also talked briefly on late advertising copy, characterizing it as one of the evils of Madison advertising.

Richard Brandon, advertising manager of The Capital Times, was appointed chairman of the membership committee, and it was decided to appoint a committee to investigate advertising schemes that come from outside sources and from the university. This committee will work with the Association of Commerce.

BOYS' CONVENTION HERE THIS YEAR

A conference of the Older Boys of Wisconsin will be held in Madison beginning Thanksgiving Day and lasting until the following Monday, it was learned here today. Every year for the past 18 years such a conference has been held in some Wisconsin city, Madison being chosen this year.

Plans for the conference were discussed by the Y. M. C. A. Committee of Boys' Work this noon. This committee is, however, only a part of the general committee in charge of the conference, which is not being held under Y. W. C. A. auspices. Members of the Y. M. C. A. who attended the meeting were Judge A. C. Hoppmann of the superior and juvenile courts, F. O. Leiser, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Volney G. Barnes, principal of the high school, Louis Hanks, L. L. Olds, A. W. Siemers of the vocational school and C. P. Cockrell of the Y. M. C. A.

The above list of acts, six in all, will make up the new vaudeville program which opens at the Orpheum tonight, with two performances and continues for the balance of the week including the three performances Sunday. The double feature of this program will be Elsie Williams and company in the sketch, "Who Was to Blame?"; and Joe Darcy, a black face comedian. "Who Was to Blame?" is a wholesome domestic comedy, giving the patrons an insight into the first quarrel of the Newly-Weds. Joe Darcy, is a singing songwriter, who hidden behind a coat of burnt cork, breezes along merrily with a line of stories and songs. Next on the bill will be seen Earl and Sunshine, two clever ladies in a comedy character presentation called "Today and Yesterday," and following will be found Burke and Betty in a music and talk act. The Great Libby, thrills and fun on Tires, and The Baltus Trio, Novelty Equilibrists complete the bill.
