O'NEIL GIVES TESTIMONY IN LYNAUGH CASE

Patrolman Accused of Shooting Carl Jandorf on Trial at Jefferson

(Special to The Cardinal)

JEFFERSON, Wis., Jan. 4.—Taking the stand as a star witness for the prosecution in the trial of Matt B. Lynaugh, Madison patrolman, who shot and killed Carl E. Jandorf, university sophomore, on May 28, last, Daniel O'Neil '23, this afternoon told the jury that Lynaugh deliberately pointed his revolver at Jandorf and "took aim for at least two seconds" before firing.

O'Neil's testimony was conceded to have a vital importance in the trial of the case, and was by far the most complete account of the shooting told by any of the nine witnesses heard.

Courtroom Filled

The courtroom was filled to capacity throughout the day. Attorney James M. Clancy, for the defendant, and Assistant Attorney-General John F. Baker, chief prosecutor, completed the selection of a jury this forenoon and the trial began after 11 with the calling of Phillip Hintze, Dane county surveyor, who explained a drawing which he made of the property in the vicinity of the intersection of Lake and Langdon streets, where the shooting took place.

The jury which is to decide the case is composed principally of Jefferson county farmers. Members are:

O'Neil Testifies

O'Neil and E. J. Frawley, sophomore at the university, told practically the same story of the incidents prior to the discharge of

'21 BADGER BANQUET TO BE HELD JAN. 7

Plates Served for All Staff Members at Dinner Dance in Woman's Building

The entire business and editorial staffs of the 1921 Badger will be the guests of last year's Badger management at a banquet and dance to be held at the Woman's building, Friday, Jan. 7, at 6:30 p. m. Frank W. Kuehl '21, business manager of the 1921 Badger, will make his official report at the banquet.

Arrangements were completed through a committee appointed by the business manager shortly before Christmas, Elizabeth Chandler '21, chairman.

The banquet is only for those people who held positions on the staff last year, but for the dance every man and woman present may invite a partner for the evening who was not on the staff. The expense will be born entirely by the Badger management.

A number of people who took a keen interest in the 1921 Badger and who contributed their assistance to both the business and editorial managers are also invited. They in-

Pre-Prom Dance

A musical song and dance act by W. G. Dorward is the headline of the features planned by Reginald Garstang for the Pre-Prom dance to be held Jan. 21, in Lathrop hall. "The act is unusually clever. It is a fifteen minute skit and will include clogging, singing and dancing," declared Reginald Garstang. George Dorsey, Eugene Etz, and John Mokrejs are the three others in the act. A whistling act by Reba Hayden will be one of the features, and "Sparks" Dodge, with the help of "his young son Dennis," will offer a new line of patter in his ventriloquist stunt.

"We are limiting the number of couples to 300," declared Harry Philips, in charge of the dance, "and thus we think we have eliminated the possibility of any overcrowding, since over 400 couples were accommodated at the Homecoming dance without difficulty."

Tickets can be obtained by calling one of the following: E. P. Calawaert, B. 4611, Cap Rassmussen, F. 890, Bert Ellis, B. 171, or Harry Philipps, B. 197. The price including war tax is $2.00. Open sale of tickets will start on January 14.

CAP ISABELL WARNS AGAINST THIN ICE

"Keep off the ice," warned Captain Isabell yesterday. "The ice is only two or three inches thick and these thaws have in addition made it rotten. Two girls broke through Friday afternoon and it is to prevent any future occurrences of this sort, which might result in more serious consequences, that I am giving this early warning."

VACCINATION URGED BY MEDICAL STAFF

The prevalence of small pox cases throughout the state and adjoining states has caused the University clinic to issue an urgent request that all students who have not been vaccinated have this done at once at the clinic. Those who have not been vaccinated recently are requested to have the serum administered again.

BUTLER APPOINTED TO REGENT BOARD

Harry L. Butler of the law firm of Olin, Butler, Stebbins and Stout of Madison has been appointed to fill the vacancy on the board of regents for the university.

Mr. Butler will take the place left vacant through the death of Henry H. Vilas. This is Mr. Butler's first connection with the University of Wisconsin, even though Madison has always been his home.

COACH RICHARDS TELLS WHY OHIO IS NOT ON BADGER 1921 SCHEDULE

BADGER QUINTET LOSES GAME TO PURPLES, 13-12

Poor Shooting Cause of Defeat in First Conference Game

The University of Wisconsin basketball team received its first defeat of the season at the hands of Northwestern University at Evanston Monday night by a 12 to 13 score in the opening conference game for both quintets. Although the Badgers played the Purple players off their feet with a smoothly working machine, Coach Meanwell's men could not locate the basket and they made only a small proportion of their attempts at goal.

Northwestern scored first when Captain Saunders dropped in a long shot from the center of the floor. The Purple maintained a slight lead throughout the entire first half and led 10 to 8 when the period closed. In the second half the Badgers tied up the score and had a two point lead until a few minutes before the end of the game. Then the Purple caged a long one tying the count and when Wisconsin fouled in the last minute of play Saunders tossed in the winning free throw.

Caesar and Taylor Work Well

Captain Taylor and Caesar scored two baskets apiece for Wisconsin, while Saunders was the chief point gainer for the Purple. Rollie Williams played a good floor game for Wisconsin while Frogner and Tebell worked well in the Badger machine. The Wisconsin center was put out of the game early in the second period on four personal fouls and Fanning was sent in. J. Williams soon relieved Fanning, however, and worked well on the floor.

It was poor shooting alone that lost the game for the Badgers. Had they made a fair proportion of their attempts, Meanwell's men would have made a far better showing. The Wisconsin squad returned to Madison Tuesday morning and immediately set to work preparing for their game at Ann Arbor next Saturday against Michigan. The Wolverines have a strong aggregation this season and they are out to make up for their dismal showing of last year. Wisconsin will face its hardest opponent in the Michigan quintet.

Summary of the Wisconsin-Northwestern game follows:

Wisconsin		Northwestern
Taylor	R. F.	Saunders
(Capt.)		(Capt.)
R. Williams	L. F.	Lyman
Frogner	C.	Holmes
Tebell	R. G.	Patterson
Caesar	L. G.	Palmer

Substitutions: Wisconsin, Fanning for Frogner, J. Williams for Fanning; Northwestern, Palmer for Lyman, MacKenzie for Palmer.

Field Goals: Saunders 2, Patterson, Holmes, MacKenzie, Taylor 2, Caesar 2. Free throws, Saunders 3, Taylor 4.

TWELFTH NIGHT TO GIVE SHORT PLAYS

Three one act plays will constitute the program for the open meeting of Twelfth Night dramatic society which will be held Thursday, January 13, at 8 o'clock in the concert room at Lathrop, it was decided at the meeting of the club last night.

"The Rushlight" by Monica Barry O'Shea, coached by Dorothy Latta '21, will be the "heavy" part of the evening's entertainment. "The Dear Departed," under the direction of Dorothy Dwight '21, and Alice Gerstenberg's "Fourteen" were chosen to complete the program.

Denies Newspaper Stories Circulated Regarding So-called "Break"

A true explanation of the reasons for the elimination of Ohio State university from the Wisconsin 1921 football schedule, and a denial of newspaper stories in which he was quoted, are contained in a long letter to The Daily Cardinal from Coach John R. Richards, in which he makes a clear statement of the altercation which he and Coach Jack Wilce were said to have had at the recent meeting of conference football coaches in Chicago.

It is Coach Richard's first statement of the affair and was written, as he says, "only because it goes to a publication of the university and to people who have a right to know what I did while representing Wisconsin at any meeting."

The case is well known to students and alumni of Wisconsin. The so-called "break" between Wisconsin and Ohio and the "word battle" between Coach Richards and Coach Wilce were given nationwide newspaper publicity. This publicity, however, was highly colored and tended to place Wisconsin in a bad light. Coach Richard's statement is the first presentation of the Wisconsin side of the argument.

The letter follows:

"I left Chicago a day or so after the football representatives of the conference universities made their schedules. I am not familiar with much that may have been said regarding the Ohio-Wisconsin matter, but because several clippings and letters have been sent to me, I am sending you this statement of the case as I see it. I have made no statement heretofore and was not the author of the accounts of the case, published in the Chicago papers. They were all written by reporters who picked up the story in the usual way and they reflected the situation as it was sensed by those present.

TWO SWIMMERS SELECTED FOR ALL-AMERICAN

Varsity Squad Defeated by Milwaukee Club in Close Match

The selection of two varsity swimmers, Robert Benson '20, and John Koch '21, for the All-American swimming team, by Frank J. Sullivan in the Inter-Collegiate Guide, comes as a bit of encouragement after the tank squad's defeat at the hands of the Milwaukee Athletic club by a score of 48 to 29. The Guide also contains the announcement that Biersach, former Wisconsin star, still holds the record for the 200-yard breast stroke. Biersach's time of 2 min., 45 sec., was made in Patten pool. Northwestern university.

"The Wisconsin swimming team needs no alibi for its 48 to 29 defeat at the hands of the Milwaukee Athletic club squad," declared Coach Joseph Steinauer Tuesday afternoon. "The men made a fine showing, and Tom Larkin, Milwaukee gym director, said that the Badger swimmers furnished keener

FAMOUS PIANIST TO APPEAR HERE ON JANUARY 11

Benno Moiseiwitsch, one of the leading lights among the world's great pianists, will be heard at the university gymnasium on the evening of Jan. 11.

This brilliant player, though scarcely more than a youth, has achieved recognition that would warm the heart of a veteran performer. He has been hailed "a second Paderewski." From coast to coast he draws out enthusiastic press notices.

For several weeks Moiseiwitsch has been playing in the Pacific states, every appearance a triumph. This season he is the soloist with the Chicago, New York, St. Louis and Boston symphonies. The Chicago Tribune, for Nov. 20, says: "With perhaps one exception, there is no artist before the public today who is so irreproachable in his serenely impersonal musicianship and technical infallibility."

The Wisconsin Union board used splendid judgment in selecting this pianist to appear on their artist recital series. The two preceding concerts, given by May Peterson and Fritz Kreisler, were tremendous successes, both artistically and financially. The coming performance promises as much. Close to two-thirds of the house has already been sold, and there are still several hundred season-ticket coupons that have not been sent in. Mail order sale, which began Dec. 15, will be contin-

RICHARDS EXPLAINS TROUBLE WITH OHIO

what I did while representing Wisconsin at any meeting.

"At the outset I wish to say that my personal disappointment at Jack Wilce's attitude did not influence my actions in the case. If ever one man had reason to expect square dealing from another, I had reason to expect it from Ohio's coach; if ever a university had reason to expect fair dealing from another university, Wisconsin certainly had reason to expect it from Ohio. According to my judgment, which was concurred in by the other Wisconsin men present, we did not get it.

"It is possible that Ohio's representatives did not intend to do more than look after their own interests and failed to comprehend the rights and interests of others and acted in the thoughtlessness of new members of the conference. At any rate they had no consideration for Wisconsin in any way when this became apparent it was necessary for me to tell them that no team that I coached would ever play Ohio State.

"I have no desire to dictate Wisconsin's policy and have no authority to do so, but I am a free agent and I can resign as coach whenever Ohio goes on Wisconsin's football schedule. That is all I meant to convey by my statement and as long as Wisconsin authorities agree with me and want me, I'll continue to coach.

Wilce Refuses Offer

"The facts of the case stated briefly are these: I offered Wilce one of the best dates in November and he replied in his usual evasive manner, 'I'm afraid J. R. we can't play you next year.' I was considerably surprised and asked for reasons. He said they had no home games excepting Illinois and therefore couldn't go away to play Wisconsin. I suggested that in view of the fact that Wisconsin put them on her schedule when they were begging for games, some other team should be dropped. He thought it preposterous to consider Wisconsin before Michigan and Chicago, but said if Purdue would come to Columbus, he would come to Madison. Well, Purdue is on their schedule at Columbus, Ohio goes to Michigan and Chicago, and past relations, favors and genuine regard on my part were of no weight in the matter.

"I told Jack Wilce what I thought of his conduct and I hated to do so, for it is not a pleasant thing to revise your estimate of a man you have liked and misunderstood and tell him about it.

"Ohio had no reason not to play Wisconsin for we have taken them in our lean years and our fat ones. She had no contract with other universities to prevent it and indeed did not ask Chicago to let them drop this game, I'm sure. We had no notice or suspicion of the act and it was done because in the mind of Wilce and possibly Mr. St. John (their director) also, Wisconsin was not as important to them as were the others.

Zuppke's Attitude

"In striking contrast to Wilce's consideration for Wisconsin, his alma mater, Mr. Zuppke of Illinois twisted his schedule all about last year to give us an important November game. He did it again this year in order to play us at all. Mr. Yost, of Michigan, came to Madison after I had agreed to play at Michigan and he rearranged his schedule to give us a chance to play Illinois on the day he had fixed with Mr. Zuppke to meet them.

"Football is only worth while, as an intercollegiate sport when mutual regard and sportsmanship prevail between the universities. There has often been discernable in the middle west a disposition, on the part of institutions just arriving athletically, to consider athletics a standard of excellence in the whole gamut of university duties. They indulge in a specie of self-adulation and lose sight of many things essential. Visiting coaches are treated to insulting remarks; visiting players are subjected to abuse from the students; the visiting team is hedged in on the side-lines by a crowd wearing sideline badges while vacant seats exist in the stands; the officials are instructed and brow-beaten; the local press likes to ridicule the members of visiting teams and wax facetious about their nationality—all of which is perhaps a phase but most conference universities have long since passed it. Wisconsin saw all this at Ohio last fall.

"Football is a fine game, but it is only a game. Wisconsin so regards it and keeps it subordinate to required university work and will allow its team no foolish notions or national aspirations or coast jaunts—and we could have had the latter.

"I am very proud of the 1920 team; it was composed of gentlemen. I was much pleased by the interest of the alumni and faculty in this team and if the system now underway does not make Wisconsin the leading football university of the conference I will be disappointed.

VARSITY SWIMMERS MAKE ALL-AMERICAN

competition than the Northwestern natators did a few weeks previous to our meet."

The comparative strengths of Wisconsin and Northwestern cannot be reckoned by the results of their meets with the M. A. C. swimming squad because Milwaukee entered three new men, Beckstein, Boemer, and J. Thompson, against the Badgers. These men gathered in seven points, which if subtracted from the M. A. C. total show that we are a better team than Northwestern, which went down to a 48 to 34 defeat.

The Wisconsin squad of natators made a strong showing in the breast stroke, 100-yard swim, the diving events, and the 440-yard swim. The Badgers captured firsts and seconds in the breast stroke and 100-yard dash, and seconds and thirds in the dives and the 440 swim. The squad was weak in the 50-yard dash, the plunge, and the relay. Wisconsin won the water basketball contest by a 6 to 0 score.

Meets with the Milwaukee Athletic club will be made annual events, with the Wisconsin teams traveling to Milwaukee for two swimming contests each year. This

Wisconsin swimming authorities are planning to arrange a meet with

BEST WISHES

WITH the inauguration of Governor John J. Blaine a new administration takes charge of the state's affairs.

The Daily Cardinal greets Gov. Blaine and the other officials who have been chosen to serve their commonwealth. This paper wishes them well. They come in pledged to policies of progress. Now that the wrangles of campaigning are over, all of them realize that the welfare of the whole state transcends every partisan and factional consideration. Gov. Philipp, who passes out, has earned a vote of thanks for his friendship toward the university.

Naturally, the students are interested deeply in the attitude of the governor and the legislature toward the university. They feel that the university is closely linked up with the whole state and that all the good accruing to this institution will result in good to all the people of Wisconsin.

A budget measure will come up for consideration. This measure provides for badly needed improvements and for a program of expansion to care for activities that have grown more and more complex with the passing years.

The students fully appreciate the generosity with which the state has supported the university in the past, making it the pride of the nation. That this same spirit will prevail in the future cannot be doubted.

THREE WEEKS

WELL, it's all over with the high revelry, the sleepless nights and the sleepless mornings. We have returned to academic normalcy. Most of us have come back with high resolves to mend our scholastic fences. It is the season for turning over new leaves and affixing signatures to well meaning resolutions.

New Year, like many of our national holidays, has lost much of its force because it has become too much conventionalized. With us, however, there is a wholesome deterrent to this tendency, the deterrent being none other than the institution of final examinations. It should be an easy matter to keep New Year resolutions when these soul-trying ordeals are distant little more than three weeks.

These three will be the most fateful of the semester. The scholarship standard of the university and the achievements of the individual students will be helped or marred by the developments of the next three weeks.

FEWER MEN ENROLL FOR SHORT COURSE

The enrollment of 320 men in the short course in agriculture for the second term shows an increase over the first term, but a slight decrease compared with last year's enrollment.

The short course men will be welcomed with an "Ag" mixer in Lathrop, Friday, Jan. 7.

DEAN GREETES MEN

The season's greetings and a happy New Year to the men of Wisconsin!

In prospect, it threatens to be a hard year financially. All the more favorable for the cultivation of the homely old virtues of thrift and industry which have lost none of their value or their potency for having been somewhat neglected of late. "Crime waves" are sweeping over our cities. All the more essential that we should all order our steps with unimpeachable integrity. College men are accused on every hand of frivolity, Bohemian extravagance, disrespect for women, and dissipation. All the greater reason for redoubled vigilance on our part that neither our own reputations nor the fair name of Alma Mater shall be sullied by thoughtless or reprehensible conduct.

One thing is certain, 1921, will be a year in which men of training, men of character and judgment, college graduates who have put their whole hearts and brains into their work are going to be tremendously in demand for the big jobs of the world. The same will be true of the years to come, too. My New Year's wish, then, is that one year hence, we may be able to look upon a year which contributed much to our character-development because of the real work we accomplished and the self-discipline we practiced, as upon one which brought us no vain regrets because of follies indulged, and as upon one which was productive of genuine and lasting happiness because we can feel that we have grown in wisdom, strength and courage for our future work in life. Sincerely,

S. H. GOODNIGHT.

O'NEIL ON STAND FOR PROSECUTION IN LYNAUGH CASE

Lynaugh's gun. Frawley was on the stand when Judge Grimm adjourned the case this afternoon and will probably take the stand the first thing tomorrow morning.

O'Neil told the jury of having seen the officer coming across the lower campus, where the cadet corps was on dress parade, and having followed in his wake to see him chase Julian Lunney, student, into the Phi Delta Theta house, Lake street, and having seen Lynaugh bring Lunney out the front door and proceed up Lake street, followed by "between 9 and 12 students."

"He had his revolver in his hand and yelled, 'keep back,'" O'Neil testified.

"What, if anything, were the boys saying," asked Attorney Baker, of the prosecution.

A. When Lynaugh turned the corner onto Langdon street, one student said, 'Isn't he a fine policeman!' Another said, 'I wonder if the gun will shoot water,' and another, 'I wonder if there is anything in his gun.'

Q. What did Jandorff do?

A. When they neared Miss Grady's house Jandorff touched the policeman on the shoulder and said, "You've got the wrong fellow."

Q. And what did the policeman do?

A. He said, "You keep back." He swept his gun back and forth in front of him, and then brought his fist down, striking Jandorff in the face. He kicked Jandorff at the same time.

Q. Then what happened?

A. Jandorff struck the officer and both stepped back a little. It was at least two seconds later that the officer raised his revolver and fired. Jandorff grabbed his throat, staggered in a half circle and fell down.

At this point Mrs. Charles Jandorff, who with her husband sat in the front of the court room, burst into tears. Only on one other occasion during the day had she manifested any distress. That was when Coroner W. E. Campbell, who took the stand earlier in the day, opened the package which contained the clothing of the dead boy.

Among the others from the university who were present at the trial and who will act as witnesses are: Lawrence Hall, Alfred J. Bauer, Dr. Robert Van Valzah, Sloan Barclay, Harry Margoles, Miss Irene Striker, and Miss Esther Burke.

What Is Vacuum?

IF THE traffic policeman did not hold up his hand and control the automobiles and wagons and people there would be collisions, confusion, and but little progress in any direction. His business is to direct.

The physicist who tries to obtain a vacuum that is nearly perfect has a problem somewhat like that of the traffic policeman. Air is composed of molecules—billions and billions of them flying about in all directions and often colliding. The physicist's pump is designed to make the molecules travel in one direction—out through the exhaust. The molecules are much too small to be seen even with a microscope, but the pump jogs them along and at least starts them in the right direction.

A perfect vacuum would be one in which there is not a single free molecule.

For over forty years scientists have been trying to pump and jog and herd more molecules out of vessels. There are still in the best vacuum obtainable more molecules per cubic centimeter than there are people in the world, in other words, about two billion. Whenever a new jogging device is invented, it becomes possible to eject a few million more molecules.

The Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company have spent years in trying to drive more and more molecules of air from containers. The chief purpose has been to study the effects obtained, as, for example, the boiling away of metals in a vacuum.

This investigation of high vacua had unexpected results. It became possible to make better X-ray tubes—better because the X-rays could be controlled; to make the electron tubes now so essential in long-range wireless communication more efficient and trustworthy; and to develop an entirely new type of incandescent lamp, one which is filled with a gas and which gives more light than any of the older lamps.

No one can foretell what will be the outcome of research in pure science. New knowledge, new ideas inevitably are gained. And sooner or later this new knowledge, these new ideas find a practical application. For this reason the primary purpose of the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company is the broadening of human knowledge.

girls with reasons why they're qualified for love parts."

Villains are asked to begin growing mustaches. Those wishing to try out for character parts need not be deterred because of the absence of mere physical beauty. Beauty is only a skin game, anyhow. Those signing up to try out for hero parts, however, will be accorded as much consideration as possible.

An interesting rumor is going around that the Varsity movie will furnish young ladies for practice in tryouts, but George Crownhart, production manager, indignantly denies that this is so.

"We are very sorry for the disappointment that we must cause," he says, "but owing to lack of co-operation on the part of S. G. A. we are forced to use dummies from Keeley-Neckerman's."

WOMEN TO PICK MEN FOR VARSITY MOVIE

"The most discriminating co-eds on the campus are to be in charge of the men's tryouts for the Varsity movie," firmly states Foster Strong, chairman of tryouts. "Why? because women know how to pick out the right type of a man for hero parts."

"We're going to have some good tryouts, too," he smiled mysteriously. "Men wishing to try out for love parts will have to abstain from smoking and onions for at least three days before trying out. We don't want to take time to try out those who are not fitted for that kind of a part, either. We'll require specific recommendations from three

OCTOPUS DEADLINE SET AS JANUARY 10

"We hope that the first New Year's resolution of every student was to get his or her Octopus jokes and pictures for the next issue in before January 10, because we set that as the deadline," said Cicero, the Octopus office boy, speaking for the board, the managing editor, the business manager, and the chief stenographer.

The board has called for all kinds of material, but it wishes to limit the subject matter. Contributors are advised to avoid "booze" jokes and other time-worn subjects, and submit work in a new field of humor. Pictures, ideas for pictures, short and long jokes, and poetry are all acceptable if they are original and humorous.

DON'T MISS THIS

BACK AGAIN

Business of Dusting Off Text Books and Visiting Libe

Back to dust-covered text-books and tomes with "Happy New Year," "Did you have a good time?" "What train did you come on?" and "Wasn't vacation short?" greeting you on every hand.

Upstairs in your room smelling of fresh varnish and sapolio, you open your suitcase and tenderly take out the volumes you carried along from force of habit, and fully intended to study, but actually didn't.

Then some of the "bunch" drop in, and you give an account, exaggerated and embroidered a trifle to heighten the effect, of immense dinners, endless parties and dances; harrowing experiences on December 31; wonderful dates on S. C. A.-less nights; and, alarm-clockless mornings.

Someone suggests going downtown to a movie. You go most willingly and in a delightfully benevolent frame of mind feign to laugh with the plebeians when attempts at humor or cleverness on the screen are sufficiently apparent. After "malted at Frank" or the Chocok'e shop, you think of your resolutions in regard to bucking, decide you are too fatigued by your journey back to school, and will put said resolutions into effect early next morning. By evening you realize that exams come in four weeks, that pale soup and hash are not exactly as palatable as turkey, mince pie, and some of the numberless things you wanted to eat and didn't have capacity for while at home.

Just the same, the thrill of the unexplored is a great as ever, the Libe is still comfortable, and Prom approaches!

MIXER IN LATHROP SATURDAY EVENING

The Union board will give its fourth all-university mixer Saturday night, Jan. 8, in Lathrop gymnasium, as a reunion after the Christmas recess. The same plan of introductions which was used at the last mixer will be carried out again, by a reception committee of fifteen girls.

"This banquet and dance is being arranged for all of the 1921 Badger staff, and I don't want any of the men or women to feel that the stiffness or formality of the occasion will spoil their good time," said Frank Kuehl. "The party has been planned in all details, all formality has been thrown aside, and I am sure that every man and woman present will have a good time."

"A plate is being reserved for everyone who held a position, and since it is a party for only the staff members, I shall be greatly disappointed if the 'official roll call' does not show everyone present."

AT THE ORPHEUM

Variety features the present six act vaudeville fill at the Orpheum, for there is singing, dancing, acrobatic, trained animals and a playlet all on the one bill. The two feature acts, "The Champion," a one-act playlet, and Forde and Sheehan in an artistic dancing act, are followed by Watsika and Understudy, two marvelous trained seals, who perform and juggle almost as well as human beings do. Tracy, Palmer and Tracy have a very neat singing, dancing and piano offering, while Steve Freda and his Guitar goes big with every audience. The Six American Belfords, in a Risset acrobatic turn, are about the best of their kind seen here in a long time. The Kinogram and Topics of the Day pictures are most interesting and entertaining. This program will be offered today, at a matinee and the regular two evening shows for the last times.

The next vaudeville bill starting tomorrow night and continuing for the balance of the week, will be featured by Bayonne Whipple and Walter Huston; Billy Shone; Meryl Prince Girls; Marie Dorr; Ambler Brothers and Wellington and Sylvia.

AT THE GRAND

Once more Charles Ray has demonstrated in the delineation of rube characters he is by far the peer of motion picture stars. This time he proves his superior talent as a por-trayer of "hick" parts in a screen version of Sol Smith Russell's one time stage success "Peaceful Valley" which is showing at the Grand.

Ray takes the part of Hosiah Howe, a hard working farmer lad of happy disposition, with a widowed mother and younger sister to provide for. It is no exaggeration to say that in this role he has contributed to the screen a character that ranks as one of the most noteworthy achievements of his career.

The picture is filled with humor and pathos; it is one of those wholesome clean-cut cinema productions that never fail to leave the audience thoroughly refreshed. "Peaceful Valley" will be shown for the last times tonight.
