VARSITY EIGHT WILL ROW IN DULUTH MEET

Boat Club Plans Western Collegiate Regatta
June 25

With the sanction of the Athletic Board, which will undoubtedly be received at the next meeting, the University of Wisconsin will send two eight-oar shells to Duluth in the spring to compete in a regatta, now being planned by the authorities of the Duluth Boat club. A letter was received by Athletic Director T. E. Jones, inviting the Badger crews to make the trip to Duluth on June 25 to engage in a dual meet with the crews of the boat club of that city. Invitations have also been sent to other schools and universities in the mid-west, where facilities afford rowing to be carried on as a varsity sport. Should these offers be accepted this regatta will become a real western rowing classic, and possibly an annual affair.

The plan of the officials is to include the University of Wisconsin, the University of Minnesota and the Duluth Rowing club eights in the main event of the meet. There will also be a second class race to include a Freshmen crew from Wisconsin, the St. Johns Military academy, the Michigan School of Mines and the Duluth Junior crews. Since the University of Wisconsin has no freshman crew it is probable that a Junior, or second, crew will be sent to compete in this race. The races will be held on St. Louis Bay, one of the best and most well-known courses in the country. Duluth has made a great reputation for itself on the regattas it has staged in the past, and the proposed meet in June will be no exception to the rule. A movement

ECONOMICS HONOR FRAT INITIATES 8

Artus, national honorary economics fraternity, held formal initiation at the State Capitol last night for the eight following newly elected members: S. A. Achenbrenner, G. C. Bunge, J. H. Davidson, L. E. Kaumheimer, N. C. Lerdahl, I. A. Perstein, J. H. Pleck, and Y. L. Yeh.

Clyde Emery, the other newly elected member, was unable to attend because of illness, and by unanimous consent Charles Assovsky, grand master of the local chapter, was instructed to submit a resolution of good cheer and best wishes to him.

The initiation ceremonies were conducted by Assovsky with the aid of Warren Wright and Thomas N. Burke, also officers in the local chapter. After the formal ceremonies, a banquet was held at the Badger room of the Belmont hotel where the grand master held forth as toast master of the evening.

Responses were given by Prof. John R. Commons, Prof. W. H. Kiekhoefer, A. C. Reis '13, and I. Arnold Perstein '21, for the initiates.

ATTIC ROMANCE

Everybody is Going "Up in Mary's Attic" at the Grand

"Go 'Up in Mary's Attic' with Eva Novak if you really want a thrill. Only 28 cents. Buy your ticket right now as there is going to be a crowd and the attic is none too big though we guess the Grand can hold you all."

Thus went the patter heard all over the hill yesterday morning when Paul Fischedick and his ticket sellers started the campaign to get rid of 3,000 tickets for the Prom movie benefit to be shown at the Grand theater January 27 and 28.

The group conducting the sale includes the following members of the Junior class: Earl Miller, Carl Bronson, Phil Nolte, George Borgman, Merwin Howes, Margaret Green, Katherine Grimes, Evard C. Caluwaert, William Blocher, Robert Reynolds, Zirian Blish, Helen Cheetham, Frances Beecher, Pearl Lichfeld, Andrea Kiland, Lydia Hendricks, and Marion Strassburger.

Tickets are being distributed among sorority and fraternity houses and can also be obtained at Morgan's and the University pharmacy.

L. AND S. WINS SWIMMING MEET

Water Basketball Tourney
Goes to "Agric"
Team

Scoring a total of 30 points, the Letters and Science squad of swimmers captured the annual inter-college swimming meet in the gymnasium tank Wednesday night. The Engineers team finished in second place with 24 points, and the Commerce team garnered third place with a total of 11. Agricultural tanksters brought up the rear with 8 points.

The Letters and Science water dogs won their points in the 200-yard swim the 150-yard back stroke, the 100-yard dash, and gathered in a third place in the water basketball tourney. The agriculturists won the water basketball meet.

Harold L. Levy '24 swimming for Letters and Science team won individual honors with 9 points. Hugo E. Czerwonky '24, engineer, garnered second honors with 8 points, closely followed by Byron F. Story '24, commerce, with 7 counters.

The summary follows:
Relay—1st, Engineers; 2nd, Letters and Science; 3rd, Commerce. Time 1:32 2-5.

Diving—1st, Percy D. Gibson '21, agric; 2nd, Clyde I. Nash '21, Engineer; 3rd, Leland L. Karas '22, engineer.

40-yard swim—1st, Byron F. Storey '24, commerce, and Harold L. Levy '24, letters and science tied for first and second; 3rd, James Gibson '24, engineer. Time :22 1-5.

BIG ORCHESTRA IS ENGAGED FOR PRE-PROM DANCE

Only a Limited Number of Tickets Are Still Available

In order that the music may fit the size of the hall the pre-Prom dance committee has engaged a ten piece orchestra for Friday, January 21, instead of a seven piece which heretofore has been the largest that has played in the gymnasium and concert room in Lathrop hall.

The following men have been engaged: E. Carpenter, piano; E. Juster, violin; L. Spring, violin; R. Luhmann, saxophone; W. Olds, banjo; N. Lillis, clarinet; T. Foy, trombone; N. Ivey, saxophone; F. Davies, banjo; E. Kehl, drum.

The floor of Lathrop will be put in condition so that no objection can be raised as to its excellence for dancing. A limited number of tickets still remain and can be obtained from the following: E. P. Caluwaert, B. 4611; "Cap" Rasmussen, F. 890; Bert Ellis, B. 171; Harry Philipps, B. 197; or at the University pharmacy.

Bachelor of arts—Miss Rose M. Durch, Chippewa Falls; Miss Irene G. Conley, and Miss Rebecca von Grneningen, Kiel.

VARNUM SKETCHES AT ART CLUB MEET

Sketching swiftly and easily, explaining his work as he progressed, Prof. W. H. Varnum entertained about 25 members of the Arts and Crafts club by a "Chalk Talk" at the club's regular meeting last evening, in the Manual Arts building. He sketched a series of four pictures, each being examples of some method or color scheme. One, of Picnic Point at sunset, even though hastily sketched, was particularly vivid and realistic.

After the talk by Professor Varnum, a short session was held at which the members decided to meet four weeks from last night, which will be February 16. The regular bi-weekly meeting will not be held because of the semester examinations.

WOMEN'S MEET HEARS GILMAN ON VOCATIONS

Education Should Prepare For Both Life and Living

"If I had my way I'd put English in every semester of every course, for young men and women can not get enough of it. I do not mean only the English of the Letters and Science courses, but I mean the English of all courses and colleges," declared Prof. Stephen Gilman in his lecture, "After College, What?" at the Women's Vocational conference held Wednesday afternoon in Lathrop concert room.

Professor Gilman emphasized the importance of securing a vocabulary that will impress the executive and the outside business world with the idea that such a person would be an asset to them. Such a vocabulary should be carefully acquired in all the studies taken, particularly in economics, psychology, the sciences, mathematics, foreign languages, and English. He also emphasized the point of taking the various courses with the idea of making use of them in after-college work.

"Should Balance Study
"There is the education for life and the education for living. One involves a long range intellectual process involving imagination, and the other a short range operation involving a practical knowledge of the world. The latter form alone gives one a type of business college outlook, the former, an education that fails to bring one down to earth. A well-balanced education is one that takes both viewpoints into consideration, and produces as the final result a product that may be compared to a completed structure with its steel girders filled in with the concrete.

"The attitude of many young college men and women is similar to the child who places his coin in the

DR. ROBINSON GIVES SECOND OF LECTURES

Philosophy and Religion to Be Discussed This Afternoon

Taking as his theme the questions "Is God Man-made? Is God Dead?" Dr. D. S. Robinson of the department of philosophy will give the second of his series of lectures on Philosophy and Religion, in the auditorium of the Biology building today at 4:30.

Owing to the large number of students who attended the lecture last Thursday on the subject, "Is Religion Dead or Dying?" it was necessary to secure a large auditorium.

A special feature of these meetings is the opportunity offered for student discussion after the lectures.

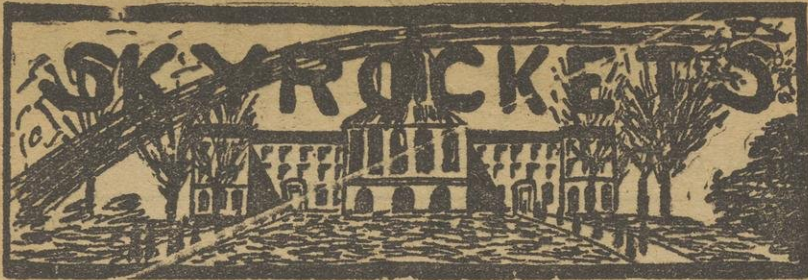

The general public is invited to these lectures which are being given under the auspices of the Congregational Students' association.

TODAY WILL FINISH JANUARY "LIT" SALE

"The remaining copies of the Wisconsin Literary Magazine will be sold at one table in Bascom hall today," said Horace Powell '23, circulation manager. "There are only a few copies of the 'Lit' left and these will probably be disposed of during the forenoon."

The hill sale for the January number of the "Lit" was the largest in the history of the magazine, according to A. J. Fehrenbach '22, business manager. A large number of subscriptions for the balance of the year have been received.

BARBER POLES VS. HUMAN LIFE

THE gentlemen who are re-trying the Lynaugh murder case in letters to Madison newspapers seem to have fallen into confusion as to whether Matt Lynaugh or the University of Wisconsin was on trial at Jefferson last week.

Perhaps no wonder, when similar confusion appears to have been shared to some extent by the jury, thanks to the sandstorm logic of the eminent counsel for the defense.

But all the refinements of speculation as to what various collegephobists would have done if they, and not Matt Lynaugh, had been in the policeman's uniform when the tragedy occurred, will not bring Carl Jandorf back to life among his friends on the university campus.

And the life of a student is no cheaper than that of any other resident of Madison.

Madison citizens, whether favorably or unfavorably disposed toward the university, instead of indulging in attempts to justify an unfortunate act, might more profitably consider means to prevent recurrence of similar embroglios.

Patrolman Matt Lynaugh clearly proved himself temperamentally unfitted for the duties of a policeman in the handling of the whole affair that ended in the Jandorf shooting.

The police commission should order his dismissal. For their own protection, irrespective of whether they have animus toward the university or not, Madison citizens should see that such a step is taken.

The issue is not one of personal feeling one way or another in regard to Patrolman Lynaugh. It rather involves a basic protective right, important to citizens of Madison or any other municipality, to be represented on their police force only by men who have thoroughly studied municipal statutes, who are temperamentally fitted to meet exacting exigencies, who are duly impressed with the fact that in their efforts to preserve order and enforce law they must use a liberal common sense, and that very rare but necessary attribute, cool judgment.

Unless the Madison police commission takes this one lesson from the Jandorf case and sees to it that there are no men walking police beats who are incompetent to draw cool discrimination between barber poles and human life, it may as well be conceded that the martyrdom of Carl Jandorf was wholly in vain.

AFTER COLLEGE WHAT?

THE challenge of the world to university graduates varies with the status of social, political, and economic conditions facing the people at any given time. In cycles of industrial prosperity, standards are forgotten for the sake of maximum production. In times of economic readjustment those forgotten standards come back with a marked degree of certainty, and the demand for leadership takes on a new impetus.

Today, too many college upperclassmen are guiding themselves by the conditions which prevailed during the war. They forget that competition for coveted positions is keener than ever before; that the present period of readjustment is brimful of setbacks and reverses; that the person who builds for the future with the strongest possible foundation is the one most likely to get ahead.

As Professor Gilman put it yesterday at the vocational conference: "The idea of thinking that the getting of a job is the only thing to look forward to is a crude idea. Likewise, taking a course because it is said to be a 'snap' course or refusing to take another because it has a reputation of being hard is the attitude of mind that belongs to the common person who is dropped by the wayside."

College is the place to prepare thoroughly for the work of a lifetime. The man who is well prepared never fails in the examinations which the world has to offer.

CASTALIA MEETING

Regular meeting of Castalia at 7 Friday night on fifth floor of Lathrop. Debate tryouts on question: "Resolved, That the Philippine Islands should be given independence similar to that of Cuba." Contestants may take either side.

INTER-CLASS TRACK MEET IS SCHEDULED FOR NEXT SATURDAY

Track men will be able to win their class numerals Saturday by taking a first place in any one of the events of the inter-class meet which is to be held in the gymnasium annex.

The meet will be open to all other than "W" and "aWa" men, and although there will be keen competition in all of the events, a good opportunity is offered for men who have not won the coveted numerals to do so.

The freshmen seem to have the best chances of carrying off the meet in view of the fact that they decisively defeated the sophs last Saturday. However, the class of '23 won the outdoor inter-class meet last fall, and with the possibility that the juniors and seniors break up the frosh score, may take the indoor meet.

GRAHAM TO SPEAK AT JOINT VESPERS

One of the big offerings of the year will be the joint Vespers meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. which Dr. Thomas W. Graham, of Oberlin university, will address on "Jesus' Program for a New Age," in Music hall, Sunday, January 23.

Dr. Graham was one of the leaders at the Lake Geneva Y. W. C. A. conference last summer. Before entering upon his work as professor of Homiletics of the Oberlin School of Theology, he was pastor for many years of the Andrews Presbyterian church, Minneapolis. In 1915 he was actively associated with John R. Mott in church work.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB CONCERT RECEIVED WITH ENTHUSIASM

A program which was accorded much enthusiasm by the audience was given by the Girls' Glee club in Music hall auditorium last evening. The Glee club was assisted by Leon L. Iltis, pianist, instructor in the School of Music.

The Glee club program was in three groups. The first group, consisting of "The Voice of My Beloved," and "Eastern Song," both by Mabel W. Daniels, revealed a knowledge of difficult technique and a development of good tone quality. By far the most popular group was the second, which included a number of delicate, artistic numbers, carefully and sympathetically interpreted. The last number, "The Tale of the Bell," by Martens, was a cantata, a descriptive tone poem of intricate harmonies. Prof. Charles H. Mills, who directed the chorus, deserves much credit for his excellent control of all parts and his good interpretations.

The two groups played by Mr. Iltis received much ovation. Both of his numbers were characterized by clear, full tones. Thorough knowledge of technique, brilliance, and delightful interpretation marked all three numbers, which were received with enthusiasm by the audience.

is under way to provide for expenses for all visiting crews that make the trip. Rowing enthusiasts of Duluth are making every effort within their power to promote the rowing game in collegiate circles, and deserve considerable credit for the work they are doing along this line.

Coach Jones is intensely interested in sending two eight-oar shells to the regatta on June 25, and will bring the proposition before the next board meeting. At present, there seem to be no obstacles to making the trip. Jones complimented the Duluth officials on their action in this matter, and appreciated greatly the invitation which was given the Badgers. E. G. Forsell, stroke on last season's crew of the Duluth eight, was in the city last week.

Invitations are to be sent to Leland Stanford, and Washington universities on the west coast. In a communication to The Daily Cardinal, L. J. Moore, representing the Duluth Boat club, made the following statement concerning the meet: "We want to make this a rowing classic which will turn the eyes of the West on us, rivaling in importance the famous Poughkeepsie event in the East."

SOCIETY NEWS

Pre-Prom Dance

Most of the fraternities and sororities are co-operating with the committee in charge of the pre-prom dance by postponing house parties to later dates, that members can attend the dance in Lathrop hall gymnasium. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McKay will chaperon the dance.

The special features include a whistling number by Reba Hayden, and a ventriloquist act by "Sparks" Dodge. "Doc" Dorward at the head of a quartet consisting of George Dorsey, John Mokrejs, Frank Davies and himself, will give a clog and dance stunt.

FRENCH PLAYERS PLEASE AUDIENCE

H. B. P.

A rebellious maid and a distracted host and hostess who are expecting a distinguished guest are the central figures in "Rosalie," a one act comedy with which the graduate French players delighted a large audience last evening in the concert room of Lathrop hall. Mlle. Marguerite Treille, as Mme. Bol, the hostess, was easily the star of the evening, although Luther Pfueger, who carried the role of M. Bol, showed unusual ability in the interpretation of his part. Miss Dorothy Johnson, the rebellious "petite bonne," was beyond reproach.

A Marchioness' drawing room furnished the setting for the second offering, "Il faut qu'une porte soit ouverte ou fermee," which was also presented by the graduate players. Mlle. Alice Salvan was an adorable Marchioness, and was wooed and won by Angelo Lipari, a Romeo count, whose amorous proposal was carried on under difficulties.

The Junior French players presented a clever one act farce entitled "Franches Lippees," which, being translated means "Free Meals." The scene is a Parisian cafe, where two couples have come for an after-theater lunch. When the meal is over, and the time comes to settle up, both couples try to avoid paying the bill.

John Irwin '23, and Hannah Krome '22, as M. and Mme. Lecha-peau, and Nadia Levitan '22, and Joe Sherr '21, who took the roles of M. and Mme. Lemu, drew many laughs from the audience. Stuart Hamilton '22, the obliging garcon,
