Profitable Presswork....

Only perfect printing at high speed will yield a profit in these days of low prices and close competition, and the higher the speed and more perfect the work, the greater are the profits.

The Optimus

Stands without a peer as a producer of profitable printing. No other press will run so fast. No other press will do such perfect work.

The reason The Optimus is unequalled in earning power is because it is perfectly constructed in EVERY particular. It is built of the best materials money can buy; it is provided with every conceivable device to expedite the work of pressman and feeder; its register is absolute; its impression is positively unyielding; every grade of paper and every size of sheet is delivered without change or adjustment, printed side up and under the pressman's eye; geared distributors work the ink up in the finest manner possible before it reaches the form-rollers; all rollers are interchangeable; the bed-driving mechanism is mechanically correct, and bed and cylinder travel in perfect unison, without slip or slur. In fact, the construction of The Optimus is such that it will return a larger net profit than any other press in the world. Write for full particulars.

3000 Papers Per Hour

Owners of daily papers having a circulation of from 2000 to 3500 will find in The Dispatch a press having some of the advantages of a perfecting machine at a much less first cost and decidedly smaller cost of operation.

The DISPATCH

Double or Single Feed

Is built especially for newspapers with circulations of from 2000 to 3500. For those circulating the smaller number the Single Feed would be best; its speed is as fast as the sheets can be fed. But if the full speed is desired (3000 per hour on a six-column quarto) then the Double Feed would be required. The Double Feed requires two feeders, however, only when full speed is used, the change from single to double feed being as simple an operation as throwing a belt on or off. The Dispatch is simple, strong, rigid, and extraordinarily durable press.

It is a machine to be relied on—a press that will give satisfaction. If your circulation has outgrown the capacity of the press you are using, but is not large enough to justify the purchase of a perfecting machine, should by all means send for a full description of The Dispatch, as it is the most profitable press you can buy.

Every-Day Printing

A great deal of the work that comes to every printer is of the "ordinary" kind. It is not "art" printing, but just the common run of every-day work which must be put on the press and printed quickly and well. It is the sort of work that looks clean and neat, but which is generally done at low prices and with the least possible expense.

The Standard

is a drum-cylinder press designed to do just such work. It costs about one-third less than a two-revolution, and will do the work for which it is built fully as well and at a less cost. It is a well-built, substantial press, fitted with every convenience for good, clean, rapid printing. Bed and cylinder work in exact unison; the register is perfect; the impression is unyielding. If you need a press for ordinary work you should certainly send for a detailed description of The Standard.

The REGULAR

The Regular is a drum-cylinder press of the highest grade. It ranks next to the two-revolution in point of efficiency and capacity for high-grade work. It will, in fact, do any work that can be done on a two-roller two-revolution press.

The patent ball-and-socket joint insures an absolutely uniform movement of bed and cylinder—a matter of the greatest importance in good printing, to say nothing of the loss of type due to the continual grind inseparable from the old-style bed movement.

If you are looking for a first-class press at a medium price—a press that will do the major part of the work in every office as well as a more costly machine—do not fail to investigate the merits of The Regular. It is cheaper to buy and cheaper to run, and hence insures you larger profits.

FOR THE Country Printer

In most country printing-offices one press must print the paper and do all the larger job-work, and the work must be done quickly, economically, and well. To meet these requirements we have drawn upon our resources for building higher-priced machines, and in the Reliance the printer will find a modified Standard—modified to meet all the conditions to be found in the country printing-office, yet possessing the features that have made The Standard so deservedly popular.

The Reliance

is a strong, substantially built, high-grade machine. Low first cost and economy of operation make it the most profitable press the country printer can buy. It registers perfectly, has an even, unyielding impression, tapeless delivery, air springs, eccentric roller-bearings, safety grippers, and is by far the best press ever built for the price. Let us send you full particulars.

SUPERIOR COPPER-MIXED TYPE.

Highest Award, World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, 1893

Grand Prix, Paris Exposition, 1900.

NO type made is the equal of Superior Copper-Mixed in any particular. More care is taken in its manufacture; it is made by the most perfect machinery that money and skill can produce; it is finished by workmen of the highest standard; its production is under the supervision of experts who insist on the utmost degree of perfection. These considerations alone would make Superior Copper-Mixed Type the best; but in addition to the painstaking care observed in its manufacture, the metal used—Superior Copper-Mixed Type-Metal—places it far and away in the lead. This metal is the result of years of patient toil, research, and experiment; it contains the greatest possible amount of those high-priced metals which give our type the distinction of being the lightest, hardest, toughest, and most durable in the world.

By buying Superior Copper-Mixed Type the printer gets the most possible for his money. He gets the lightest type made, which means more pieces to the pound; he gets the hardest and toughest type made, which means longer life; he gets the best finished and most artistic type made, which means better printing. A glance through our Specimen Book will reveal the fact that we can furnish a larger number of faces, both body and display, cast on UNIFORM LINE, than any other foundry. We do not charge extra for it. From every view-point Superior Copper-Mixed is the type to buy.
