PROGRAM FOR JUNIOR PROM IS COMPLETE

Will Distribute Preliminary Programs Containing List of All Prom-week Events

The program of events and dances for the 1923 Junior Prom has been completed. Preliminary programs giving all the data as to the time and place of Pre-Prom play, the taxi arrangements, supper arrangements, and every possible item of interest will be out the first of next week. These are being published by the Photoart, and will be distributed at all the fraternities, and placed at the University Pharmacy.

Reception on Feb. 3

At 8:30 on the night of February 3, the reception will be held in the governor's reception rooms. At 9:15 the grand march will begin, led by James L. Brader and Mary C. Baldwin, and this will be followed by the Prom picture and the address by Gov. John J. Blaine.

The first dance will start at 10:15 o'clock and the dances will follow every 15 minutes until 12:30. At this time the special feature acts will be put on by the Campbell sisters. A platform has been built this year so that all those present can see the act.

Three Supper Hours

Supper, consisting of chicken patties, Saratoga chips, hot rolls, peppermint patties, and ice cream and cake, will be served in three installments—at 11:30, 1, and 2 a. m. The dancing will be resumed at the end of the feature act and will continue until three o'clock.

At 11 o'clock, after the fourth dance, the Prom fox trot will be played. Each taxi company has been assigned to a special entrance.

Senate Appoints Brown Chairman Of 1922 Jamboree

The first action on this year's Varsity Jamboree was taken last night at the meeting of the Student Senate, when that body elected Maynard W. Brown '23, general chairman of the event. No date was set for the affair.

Arthur Kinnan '22 suggested that the Jamboree be conducted under the auspices of the Union board, as such activities naturally fall into the sphere of that organization's work, rather than the Senate. The decision of this matter rests entirely in the hands of Chairman Brown, and will be decided shortly by him.

The proceeds of the Jamboree will be placed to the credit of the Awk, which left a debt some years ago when the magazine, a humorous monthly publication, became bankrupt.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

Those persons changing addresses between semesters should notify the circulation manager at 752 Langdon street promptly with a postal card in order to secure regular delivery on February 7.

Regents Are Opposed To Open Forum Proposals

Deny Right of Student Groups and Organizations to Bring Speakers to University Without Consent of President

Denying the right of any student group or organization to bring a speaker to the university to speak from a university platform without final censorship by the president of the university, the Board of Regents went on record as opposed to the open forum proposal advanced by the Social Science club in its regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon.

Regents to Take Action

The following resolution was adopted after the open forum proposition was presented by Samuel Sygman '22, president of the Social Science club:

"The regents have certain duties and responsibilities placed upon them by law. Among these have always been included the ultimate control of university buildings and a measure of responsibility for the speakers who speak from a university platform. The regents can not, consistently with their duty, divest themselves of this control and this responsibility."

Sygman and Thomas Amlie '22 presented a strong plea for an absolutely uncensored forum to which any group or organization might invite speakers, though they argued in the main for this right for their own organization. George P. Hambrecht, member of the university Board of Visitors, followed these two students with an argument favoring unqualified free speech.

Senate Favors Student Board

A Student Forum board, consisting of six students and one faculty member appointed each year by the Student Senate, was advocated by Ralph E. Axley '23, chairman of a special committee of the senate appointed to submit a solution of the forum problem to the regents. The board, suggested by the Senate, should have absolute control over the acceptance or rejection of any speaker appearing on a university platform; each member of the board should have one vote, and a majority decision should decide the issue.

The investigations of this board should be carried on in an unbiased manner by obtaining information from various members of the departments of instruction in whose field the subject of the speaker might lie. The primary basis for determining the fitness of a speaker should be determined by the educational value of the material which he might present and the state of national standing of the individual, with the provision that political affiliation should not of itself exclude any speaker.

Regents Table Proposal

The articles of organization for this board were left with the regents for consideration at their next meeting, and it is probable that a committee from the regents may meet with the Student Senate committee to present a final revised plan. It is understood that the women of the university will also be represented on this board.

Several members of the regents and Pres. E. A. Birge spoke favorably on the forming of such a board, with the final authority, should dispute arise, resting with the Board of Regents.

Would Trust Student Opinion

That an erroneous theory could not gain a foothold in student minds was the position taken by Mr. Hambrecht in asking for the admission of speakers without censorship. Both Mr. Hambrecht and the Social Science club representatives pointed out that speakers are required to keep within the law of the state and the nation in regard to the right of public expression, and that these regulations would safeguard the public and the students. Mr. Hambrecht wished the university officials to permit the use of the gymnasium as the use of any public hall is granted, with the university disclaiming its responsibility for principles set forth by the speakers appearing there. He felt that advancement could only be obtained by the toleration of ideas with which the majority of society (Continued on Page 6)

Girls Extend Time Of Childs' Campaign

"With about half of the money for the girl's share of the Wisconsin in China fund collected, we will continue the collection until the end of the week," said Gladys Webber, general chairman of the drive.

Miss Mayhew who was to arrive during the drive telegraphed yesterday that she could not come till next week.

The captains of the teams which are in the lead are Ethel Mae Smith '24, Maurine Hall '24, Peg Murray '24, Nine Faris '24, and Martha L. Castles '22.

All the captains will meet in the Y. W. office in Lathrop on Friday at 12:45.

Pre-Prom Play, Feb. 2, Will Be Informal

For the benefit of people who are still uncertain whether formal or informal clothes will be worn to the Prom play the night of February 2, Edward Aschenbrenner '23, who is managing the play has announced that the performance will be informal.

Mail order ticket sale will open tomorrow. The tickets are listed as follows: downstairs, $1.00; lower balcony, $1.50; upper balcony, $1.00; loges, $2.50; matinee, downstairs, $1.50; lower balcony, $1.00; upper balcony, $.50; loges, $2.00.

WHITES SEIZE LANDS FROM DARKER RACES

Are Guilty of Exploiting the Earth Shamelessly, Says Editor of Negro Magazine

The methods, which the white race are guilty of using in the exploitation of the earth were told in an address on "The Future of the Darker Races" by Prof. William E. DuBois, managing editor of The Crisis, a negro magazine, and former professor of history at Atlantic university, last night in the gymnasium.

That whites are seizing the lands of the darker races in a shameless manner, which they excuse by saying that individuals are not guilty but groups of individuals and groups are moved by a cosmic force or a manifest destiny which is pushing it on, was a statement made by Professor DuBois.

Guilt is Individual

"Guilt is individual," he said. "Such things become the work of a group only when enough individuals are inclined that way. Each white person is responsible for the group action."

White people absolutely dominated India because it was easy for their superior brains to make a way for them. They found China a little more difficult because higher civilization was prevalent there. China was finally obtained by the use of five different methods. The seizure of land very near where trade could be carried on, as the taking of Hong Kong by the British, was the first. The second method of exploiting the East was the making of white foreigners privileged in these countries. As an example, Professor DuBois told of how foreigners, regardless of their crimes, need not be tried in Chinese courts.

Co-eds' Secrets Are Feature of New Lit On Sale Tomorrow

What goes on above the first floor of any sorority house? In an attempt to satisfy this interest, or, to say it otherwise, in an effort to give a realistic picture of co-eds alone and unabashed after hours, Elizabeth Katz has written "One-Tenth Cat" for the February issue of the Literary magazine, which will be on sale tomorrow.

There is something for the "heart-breaker" to read in this story. At least, he can get a line on how his subject works out her plan of action regarding him,—how she perches on radiator and dresser, and connives with her sisters upon the downfall of another sister and, incidentally, poor unsuspecting man.

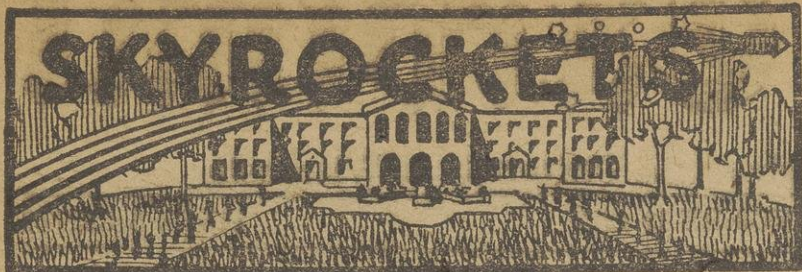

In the same issue, there is to be found a long-awaited and needed indictment of the "campus high-brow." In a satirical essay on culture, Earl Hanson captures nearly all of the members of this class and pins them on paper where everybody can look at them.

THE OCTOPUS

At first glance you can tell it is Prom-time because both front and back covers have a Promish atmosphere. Two great artists have contributed this month: Townsend the front and Leyendecker the back. Mr. Leyendecker shows much talent and the business manager looks forward to further contributions by this able sketcher. Very little introduction is needed by Mr. Townsend. His stuff shows both ingenuity and technique, with a little inuendo thrown in for good measure. About the latter we shall elucidate in order to clear up the mystery brought about by the lack of title.

FRONT COVER

IN an atmosphere of black and pink we behold a man and a lady. It cost enough. The man's left hand right out in public, but she doesn't care because it is Prom. It must be about 5 o'clock in the morning because all the other Promers have gone home. They are alone. He is telling her how good she looks and she is thinking that she ought to—it cost enough. The man's left hand is cleverly hiding his hip-pocket, but that's nobody's business. The girl isn't hiding anything, and if she sneezes, there will be no 1924 Prom—that's everybody's business.

BACK COVER

THE TITLE of the back cover is "Prohibition Agent Stepping Out." He is such a beautiful person that he ought to be in the movies or the Follies. Take a look at his mouth—he has cached a Life-Saver. If it were a three-color cut, his eyes would be blue, but it ain't, and so they are just black. He is looking off into space watching a couple of persons shimmy. He almost wishes he had a girl. He gets a clever idea—he will arrest a Chi Psi and steal his girl.

THE INSIDE DOPE

Between the covers we find several cuts and a bunch of Heinz Rubel jokes. All of which proves that there is no death, there is no doubt.

THE COMMERCE MAGAZINE

REGINALD Garstang's statistics were the bane that made most of us fork over for "The Amateur American Magazine." The stuff looked all right, but to us it didn't mean anything. Here is one list they left out:

THEIR psychological tests were quite interesting, and after we figured out our status, we decided to sue them for slander. Next month they are going to run a feature article entitled, "YOUR CLOTHES: WHAT THEY MEAN AND WHO CARES."

A FUSSEER had been waiting down stairs in a sorority house for a girl. After a terribly long time, he halted one of the girls and demanded,

"Do you know whether Marjory expects me or not?"

"I guess she must be, she is upstairs taking all the pins out of her belt."

BILL FURNELL SEZ: Clothes certainly do NOT make the woman—otherwise after the Haresfoot trip some of the fellows would know all about girls.

The Prom Picture

Prom favors are "taboo" this year, but in their stead we suggest that you present your partner with a large photograph of the prom itself. No other token could be nearly so pat as a souvenir of this great Wisconsin social event as a picture of the very event itself.

By special arrangement and by virtue of a big outlay we have provided for an all-night force to print the pictures in time for the sale of them here in the Capitol while the prom is still in full swing.

Our ambition is to actually have the pictures on sale within an hour after the making of the flash—so that you take your Prom Picture with you when you leave.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

BASKET MEN WORK TO HOLD FIRST PLACE

Practice Strenuously
For Gopher Game
Saturday

Full of determination not to be forced out of first place in the Big Ten conference, the Wisconsin basketball team is practicing strenuously this week in an effort to appear at their best against Minnesota, Saturday night.

The workouts this week are directed with a view of correcting the faults that were evident in the past games. Considerable attention is being devoted to shooting, and an improvement may be seen.

The team is in better shape than it was last week. The substitutes are physically improved, and a couple of them are hitting a stride which may warrant using them for a portion of the next few games.

This is especially true of Gage, whose development this season has been remarkable. At the beginning of the season his work was not up to par, and it looked as though he had little chance of making the first squad. During the preliminary season, however, he seemed to find himself, and of late has been playing a high class brand of ball. He was used for a portion of the Iowa game, and his timely basket was largely responsible for the victory. "Les" is particularly valuable on account of his being able to play any position, especially during the present season when fit substitutes are lacking.

The Gophers five differs in many respects from the quintet that represented the northern institution a year ago. While the famous Oss-Arentson combination no longer exists, there is little question but that the team is better off, for teamwork was then unknown, and it is a certainty that five individual players can no longer win conference championships.

Hultkranz, who was the sophomore center on the Minnesota five last season, and Kearney are the only veterans playing with the Gophers. The former has been shifted to guard, and Hanson, a new man, is at the pivot position. In the two games played thus far, he has shot seven baskets, while the consistent Hultkranz has caged six field goals. In the meantime, the spectacular floor game, of Doyle, another newcomer, has featured the Minnesota games. Thus it will be a well-balanced aggregation that will line up against the Badgers, and they will display a different brand of basketball than a Gopher team has shown here for several years.

The game with Minnesota on Saturday night will be the last performance of the Badgers until February 10, when Illinois comes here. That game will mark the home stretch of the conference championship race, and is certain to be one of the crucial battles of the season, as the two teams are considered as being the strongest in the conference this year.

The fact that it is the last game for a time probably means that tickets will be even more scarce than they were for the Wolverine tilt.

Ticket Sale Opens For Students Today

Ticket sale for the Minnesota basketball game to be played Saturday night will open for Wisconsin students at 1 o'clock this afternoon and will continue until 6 p. m. Two tickets will be sold to each student presenting a fee card. Open sale of tickets will begin at 1 o'clock, Friday, and the booth will close at 6 p. m. Sale will be resumed at 9:30 on Saturday morning.

Presenting-- "DUKE" CEASER

Carl F. Ceaser '23, Boise, Idaho, has the distinction of being captain of what promises to be a championship Wisconsin basketball team this year.

Carl, or "Duke" as he is better known to Badger fans, began his basketball career by winning his letter for three consecutive years on the Lincoln high school team, of Portland, Oregon. Two of these were championship teams. In 1918 he entered the university, and won letters on the freshmen basketball and baseball teams.

This is Ceaser's third year of Varsity basketball competition. He has played all three positions, but is now permanently stationed at forward, from which place he leads the complicated Badger attack. No former Wisconsin captain has surpassed Ceaser in the way of being valuable to his team, for, while not a brilliant or spectacular player, his consistent hard work keeps the team on its feet, and consequently keeps it turning in victories.

Besides having made three letters in basketball, "Duke" will, in the Minnesota Skiers to Meet Wisconsin Team in February

Negotiations with the Minnesota athletic department have resulted in setting Saturday, Feb. 18, as the day of the annual ski meet with the Gopher team. Coach C. B. Roemer and five Minnesota men are to make the trip to Madison.

The Badger team will be handicapped in the meet by the graduation this semester of Taranger and Kvaven, two skiers who would probably be a part of Captain Gude's team. Minnesota's five is also at a disadvantage, for its slide is five miles from the university, making frequent practice difficult. Members of the Badger Ski club anticipate close competition at the meet and hope that sufficient snow will at that time cover Muir Knoll.

Recent placing of the ski sport on the list of intra-mural sports by the Athletic board will give an added impetus to the sport's popularity. Objections that engineers would have insufficient competition from other colleges since most of the Norwegians are members of the engineering college, was overcome by barring, from intra-mural competitions, the five engineer skiers who are to compete against Minnesota.

Ohio University Arranges Games

Since the meeting of the coaches of the Ohio conference teams held in Columbus during the first part of December, some changes have been made in the schedule due to the changes of some of the other schools' schedules.

Some talk has been circulated in regard to a game with Cornell. Director Grove, stated that the Ithicans had filled this date before his reply had reached them.

For several seasons the southern Ohio schools have made an effort to meet the northern Ohio schools, thus making the conference race more even. This year this was accomplished, Miami meeting Oberlin, and Ohio playing Reserve.

The Ohio schedule as it now stands calls for the following games:

Sept. 30—Wilmington at Athens.
Oct. 7—Baldwin Wallace at Berea.
Oct. 14—Denison at Athens.
Oct. 31—Reserve at Cleveland.
Oct. 23—St. Xavier at Athens.
Nov. 11—Bethany at Athens.
Nov. 18—Otterbein at Athens.
Nov. 25—W. Va., at Morgantown.
Nov. 30—Marietta at Marietta.

spring, win his third letter on the baseball diamond. He has been active in various lines of school activity, being a member of Iron Cross, Ku Klux Klan, Star and Arrow, and of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

HOCKEY TEAM PLAYS GOPHER SEXTET FRIDAY

Engage Northerners in Pair of Games This Week-end

When the Wisconsin sextet of pucksters meet the Gopher hockey squad in the pair of games scheduled for Friday and Saturday on the lower campus rink they will face two of the hardest tasks of their short season. While Coach J. V. McDonald of Minnesota has lost some of his best men through ineligibility, Capt. Chet Bros of the northerners' team, who plays defense, is a veteran of ability and is backed up by a substantial nucleus of experienced players.

While the Wisconsin team has experienced a defeat at the hands of the Milwaukee athletic club, the Minnesotians have been successful in the two games which they have played thus far. In their first game they skated rings around Hamline, and in their second trial they had no difficulty in beating the team from the Minneapolis Mechanical Arts high school.

Fighting with a lineup weakened by the loss of two of his crack puck chasers, Coach Viners squad will enter the fray again, the much heralded Gophers on Friday afternoon with the characteristic Badger spirit to win in the face of odds. The two men lost from the Wisconsin string through ineligibility are T. S. Woods and Johnson. Both of these men have shown wonderful ability on defense work, and their loss will be keenly felt by the team. Johnson was ruled out on account of an insufficient period of residence. There is a chance that Woods may again become eligible by overcoming some slight difficulties on the Hill.

After meeting the Minnesota squad here in a pair of games this week, the Badger squad will journey to Minneapolis for a return match on February 3 and 4. The game in which the Milwaukee athletic club substituted for the absent Michigan team has been offered again to the Wolverines on February 11, the game has not as yet been assured, however. Another tentative game is with the Michigan school of mines.

O. D. Ferguson, holder of the indoor mile record (4:37 4-5), has reported for track, and expresses his desire to break his own record.

In making its 1922 football schedule, Columbia University has dropped Ohio University from its list.

THE REGENTS HAVE SPOKEN

THE Board of Regents has formally declined to approve the formation of a student forum board to pass upon the appearance of speakers on university platforms. The regents declare that the law places the control of university buildings in their hands and that they cannot rightly surrender this control.

No one can question the legality of this claim. Under the law the regents are responsible for the policies underlying the entire administration of university affairs. In fact, however, the regents exercise their control in many of the most important phases of the university by delegating powers. The president is vested with great authority in the administration of the school. The deans are given wide powers. The vast field of extra-curricular life is left to the students themselves under a charter of self-government granted by the regents. In delegating these separate powers the regents have not surrendered their control of the university. Nor do we believe that the regents would be surrendering control if they delegated the selection of university speakers to a forum board representing both faculty and students. This board, like the athletic board and the forensic board, would be finally responsible to the regents.

At present the regents have left the whole matter in the hands of the president. It is a precarious job for one man. It is inconceivable how the president can exercise his authority without displeasing large groups of people. Every decision is likely to subject the president to criticism from one element or another.

We believe that the best solution lies in the forum board with student and faculty representation. This board should be selected by the Student Senate and clothed with the power of passing on each speaker invited by any campus organization to address the students. The constitution of this board should state clearly and unmistakably the standards to be used in judging the fitness of speakers. These standards should be liberal enough to include representatives of all shades of thought, thus guaranteeing to the students the right to hear all sides of important public questions discussed in a fearless manner. Unless these standards are clearly set up by the regents, no satisfactory solution is possible under any system of forum administration.

Meanwhile, it might help some if the regents would announce some standards which they expect the president to follow in passing on speakers.

TAKE CARE OF THE CAPITOL

THE box committee of the 1923 Prom sent out notices to all groups participating collectively in the festivities next month, calling attention to the necessity of taking perfect care of the various rooms used by parties on the night of the dance at the capitol.

It would seem that such notice is not needed. However, in the past serious complaints have been registered against the carelessness displayed in the treatment of the offices turned over to Prom groups. In many cases the furniture and fixtures have been damaged. In some cases actual destruction of property has been reported.

This year the box committee is holding every group responsible for the perfect order of the rooms occupied. This is the only way to handle the situation. The Prom-goers should accept the ruling cheerfully, abiding by it in letter and spirit.

It is a rare privilege to be able to hold the Prom in so magnificent a building as the state capitol. The university can show its appreciation by carrying out the sensible ruling of the Prom box committee. The success of this feature will go far toward realizing the slogan, "The Prom of Proms."

DRAB WORK?

Listen! If you don't like your work better than any other activity on the campus you don't belong here. Your work is the fundamental reason for your coming here, and if it is not the first thing in your heart's desire you are out of place in this or any other university.

If you are a journalist and you would rather go to a show than write a story you shouldn't waste any more time here. If you are a chemist and do not take real pleasure in the pursuit of an illusive unknown, you should pack your trunk tomorrow. No matter what you are doing, you should like it or leave it.

The university is no place for unwilling work. Just consider the ordinary hand laborer, the unwillingness with which he picks up spadefull after spadefull of earth in his daily toil. That's just what you avoid by coming to the university. Here you have the opportunity to choose the kind of work you wish to do, the kind you are most adapted to. Do your work cheerfully, glad of the opportunity of gaining knowledge in your chosen field or go home and give another person a chance.—"U." of Washington, Seattle.

CURIOSITY SHOP MIND

Occasionally one meets a man with a mind like an overstocked curiosity shop, a mind cluttered with countless shabby, dusty facts, a dingy mind unlit by the sunlight of rich human sympathies and common sense that life-contacts yield. Such a man can perhaps tell you Alabama's cotton production for 1897, or maybe the middle name of Buchanan's minister to Denmark, although if he is that good he is doubtless in vaudeville. More likely his feats are less spectacular, and he is a laundry driver or clerk.

Regents Reject Forum Proposal

did not agree at the time at which the ideas were advocated.

Birge Backs His Stand

Maintaining that he had not censored speakers for their opinions, but had merely withheld his sanction of revilers and abusers of society as represented in the university. President Birge defended his action in refusing the use of the gymnasium to Scott Nearing last fall and his refusal to allow Upton Sinclair and Kate Richards O'Hara to appear here this spring. He felt that Mrs. O'Hara expressed ideas which were insulting to the men in the university who had seen service in the late war, and that Upton Sinclair's attacks on journalism could only be fairly expounded if a representative of the Associated Press, or other organized journalistic body, were present at the same time to answer Mr. Sinclair's arraignments of the press.

Liberality Is Favored

The majority of the board appeared willing to sanction the appearance of speakers with liberal ideas, but did not seem willing to relinquish entirely the power of the regents, through the president of the university as their representative, to control the choice of such speakers. Theodore Kronsage, Milwaukee, recently appointed to the board by Gov. John J. Blaine, spoke favoring the utmost liberality in the sanctioning of speakers, and urged that the same consideration be used as have been used in retaining men on the instructional staff who were accused by some groups as being radicals. Ben F. Faast, Eau Claire, felt that a student forum board might well be intrusted with the selection or rejection of such speakers, but felt that the regents should continue to direct the general policies underlying such choices. Gilbert E. Seaman, Milwaukee, stated that he did not feel that the majority of students would care to hear the ideas of many radicals who might be brought here, and felt that such ideas as free love or birth control would be repulsive to many, as not being in accordance with the generally accepted canons of society.

COMMERCE MAG ISSUES ARTICLE IN PAMPHLETS

Two hundred reprints in pamphlet form of the Wisconsin Mirror, an article showing the result of the survey of Wisconsin life which appeared in the January issue of the Commerce magazine, will be placed on sale either Friday or Saturday of this week, according to Humphrey Desmond '22, editor of the magazine. The reprints will be sold at 10 cents each.

"The excessive demand on the part of the students and faculty has made it necessary to order a reprint of the article," said Desmond, yesterday. "The drug stores have asked for more copies, and the Memorial Union committee has ordered a number of copies to send to their executive office." Those desiring copies of the reprint should sign up for them at the drug stores.
