HUMAN W TO BE FORMED AT BOWL ON HOMECOMING

Display of Red and White Flags is Plan of Committee

Flags waved in October breeze; red flags, white flags; the first forming a huge W, the second the back-ground for the first.

That is the plan of Ezra Crane '24, chairman of the W committee for homecoming and Varsity cheerleader. Students who have seats for the Minnesota game on the Breeze Terrace side of the stadium in the cheering section, will be the mechanics of forming the great W.

Ezra Crane
—Badger Studio

Form Human W

To each seat in this section there will be attached a red or a white flag, depending upon what part of the human W the seat is in. It will be the duty of the holders of these seats to keep the flags out of sight until a signal from Crane, who will be on the field leading cheers.

"At this signal every one in the cheering section will bring out his flag and wave it," Crane asserted yesterday. "The effect, as seen from any other part of the field will be splendid."

"Then when I call for the locomotive, every holder of a flag should wave it to the left on the first 'U', to the right on the 'Rah', to the left on the next 'Rah' and so on back and forth in time with the cheer."

Make Elaborate Plans

Working with Crane on this committee are Robert Nethercut '24 and Robert Bryson '25. It is Nethercut who has planned the human W and laid it out on the stand, where each white flag should be and where there should be a red flag.

The W will extend from the third row from the bottom to the top of the stadium. Not only will there be a white back-ground, but also a broad white border around the W.

All those yearlings who are interested in trying out for cheerleaders should either call Crane at Badger 8 or report to him this afternoon at 12:45 o'clock on the lower campus when the freshmen form to march to Camp Randall for the Coe game.

BAND WILL ATTEND THE CHICAGO GAME

Cheerleader and Badger Mascots Will Be Present at All Games

Students going to the Chicago Wisconsin football game will be glad to hear that the band will also be there in full array. This is the only football game away from the university that the band will attend.

At a recent convention of band delegates from all universities in the big ten, it was decided that each band could attend one outside game.

Major Morphy, delegate to the convention and head of the Wisconsin band, and Major Harding delegate to the convention and head of the Illinois band were both strongly in favor of sending the band on only one out of town trip. As a result of this convention each university has its choice of sending its band to any one out of town game.

Ezra Crane '24 will be the only cheer leader to be sent to all out of town games. He plans on having company as Harold Holmes' two badger mascots will accompany the team on all its games.

Lower Campus is Unguarded; Guns Moved to Randall

The danger of a barrage is past. Wednesday afternoon the last piece of artillery was moved from the lower campus to its customary billet at Camp Randall, and the war-like array of guns which guarded the portals of the University library are now muzzled and doomed to silence until such a time when they will be used by the artillery section of the University military training units.

The guns, in being moved from the lower campus, attracted a great deal of attention as they passed through the streets.

NEW STADIUM WILL SEAT 36,000 PEOPLE

Students Have Until October 12 to Get Their Reservations

Approximately 36,000 people can be accommodated at Camp Randall this year at the Homecoming game. The completion of the horse-shoe adds between 7,000 and 8,000 seats to last year's total. Few will be turned away as last year when more than 13,000 were unable to see the Illinois game.

Mail orders, in accordance with the ruling of former years, close three weeks prior to the game, so that the lists will close at 6 o'clock Monday evening, October 8.

Students have until October 12 to get their reservations at a charge of 50 cents accompanied by a fee card.

If any seats remain after the student and alumni sales, they will be offered to the public during the first part of the week of the game. This public sale is in doubt if applications continue to come in as rapidly as they have in the last few days, according to Paul Hunter. Each mail brings a deskful of letters from all parts of the country. "The curious aspect of the situation is that late comers are university and Madison people who might have secured the best seats some time ago," Hunter said.

NEW DIRECTORY WILL BE OUT IN NOVEMBER

The 1923-24 student directory will not be ready for distribution until around Thanksgiving. Work is being done on the directory now but its completion is not assured until the middle of November according to a statement made in the registrar's office yesterday afternoon.

WISCONSIN GRADUATE IN JAPANESE DISASTER

Hugh Riordan, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and a professor at the University of Tokyo, is reported to have escaped injury in the Japanese earthquake of a month ago. News of his safety was received Tuesday by his father, S. J. Riordan, Port Washington.

Figures from Purdue university show an enrollment of 133 freshmen, 134 sophomores, 51 juniors and 67 senior co-eds this year. This total is slightly smaller than that of last year.

TOMORROW MORNING

JUNIOR COUNCIL WILL VISIT ALL FRESHMEN AT U.

Y. M. C. A. Upperclassmen to Interview Men of 1927 Class

All the freshmen of the university will be interviewed by juniors and seniors before next Tuesday, according to plans being made by the Junior council of the Y. M. C. A.

The object of the interview is to make the acquaintance of the freshmen and to get them interested in the school and in their work. The men who will go out to see the freshmen will endeavor to find out if the man is happily located, if he likes his studies, if he has made any friends, if he has communicated with some church group and if there is any thing of which he is in need.

Is Big Brotherhood

The idea is in the nature of a big brotherhood. Wherever there is trouble, steps will be taken to remedy the situation. If any men are without friends, the juniors and seniors will endeavor to introduce them to others. Questions regarding student activities and campus affairs will be answered.

The work of organizing the interviewers is under the directions of Clifford Franzen '25, president of the Junior council.

"Many men who have now been here two weeks have not met a single friend and are facing an entirely new situation," Franzen declared last night. "By personal talks with these men, we feel that a personal service to Wisconsin and to the men can be accomplished."

Will Visit Frosh

Those men who have been appointed to see certain freshmen have been urged to see their men immediately. It is thought that a unified action on the part of all the workers would make a better impression.

The Y. M. C. A. will also hold a series of lectures on Sunday mornings from 9 to 10 o'clock. The object of these meetings is to present to the freshmen some of the more vital questions and have them put by leading men of the campus.

The program for the next few months is as follows: Oct. 7—"The University As a Preparation for a Successful Life," Dad Wolfe; Oct. 14—"How to Prepare for and Write Exams," Dean Roe; Oct. 21—"Law Observance," Dean Glickman; Oct. 28—"Leadership," Professor Hall; Nov. 4—"The Place of Religion in Education," Professor Kahlenberg.

Foreign Flashes

BERLIN, Oct. 5—It is reported that the Reichstag will remain in session and that four ministers will rule Germany this winter. It is feared that were the Reichstag dissolved, winter elections amid food scarcity would lead to civil war.

EDDYVILLE, Ky., Oct. 5—All efforts to dislodge the three escaped murderers barricaded in the prison mess-hall had ended in nought late this afternoon. Two national guard units and a company of militia from Mayfield have been storming the improvised fortress. Hand grenades and gas will be used in Saturday's attack.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—David Lloyd George arrived at New York today. A special police boat was sent to the Mauretania to take the distinguished British statesman to the Battery where he will first set foot on American soil. He has been reading up on American during the voyage and has just finished "Main Street."

LONDON—Now that Germany has "converted her passive resistance into passive assistance" the British government is awaiting France's next move before determining what her own policy shall be. Foreign Secretary Lord Curzon stated before the imperial conference today.

Rorison Re-elected President of Rifle Club at Meeting

W. A. Rorison '25 was reelected president of the Rifle club at the annual election of officers held Tuesday night in the Armory. Rorison will also be captain of the varsity rifle team for the coming year.

L. P. Drake '26 was elected vice president, G. H. Ross '26, secretary, and C. P. Ludwig '26, treasurer. Staff Sergeant R. E. Shire was reelected executive officer.

Tentative plans were outlined by Coach Shire for the coming year. Three out-of-town matches are scheduled with St. John's Military academy Ripon college and the Janesville Rifle club. Coach Shire also announced that matches would be scheduled nearly every week and that an individual record of each man would be kept for the entire season.

DEAN GIVES VIEWS ON STUDENT CARS

Says University Advocates Only More Regular Habits of Study

"The writer of the editorial 'Texan False Democracy,' which appeared in the Thursday morning issue of The Cardinal, appears to miss the point," Harry Glicksman, assistant dean of the College of Letters and Science declared in a statement given out yesterday afternoon.

"The college and university authorities who protest against student-owned automobiles are not shouting, 'down with the aristocracy!' They are merely advocating a wholesome restriction in the half of better scholarship and more regular habits of study, and in behalf of a more rigid economy among our young people on whom we shall have to rely to revise the present standards of spending."

"Nobody assumes, as the writer seems to think, that democracy implies uniformity. A good many people, however, have come to believe that we all need to be reminded that plain living and high thinking is a highly useful prescription for life," Dean Glicksman said.

"The authorities at the Texas and Oklahoma institutions have perhaps, in their anti-auto legislation, seen fit to give their students that reminder."

SCORPION NOT TO BE PUBLISHED THIS YEAR

That The Scorpion will not be published this year is the statement made yesterday by David Sinclair '24, a member of last year's staff.

"I would be very much interested to see the paper published but I do not feel that I have sufficient time to take charge of the work which it would create," Sinclair said yesterday.

"The fact that last year's editor, J. H. Brooks '23, graduated last June makes it impossible to go ahead with the work."

Maxmillian Cizon, vice-president, Lee Dusanky, treasurer, and Wallace White, secretary, are still in school.

All university students are invited, and fee cards must be presented at the door in order to secure admission.

UNIVERSITY WILL SEND THREE TO CONVENTION

The University of Wisconsin will be represented by Miss Abbey Marlatt, Miss Helen T. Parsons and Miss Mable C. With the referee's whistle at 2 o'clock today Wisconsin will usher in her 1923 football season against the strong Coe college team. The game will be played at Camp Randall.

Greatly improved within the last week when Coach Ryan has kept his charges behind closed doors, the Badgers are ready to meet the Iowa team. Although the lineup will show two former stars, Taft and Nichols missing, a pair of reserves have been developed who can ably take their places.

The freshmen will be upholding a tradition of many years standing when they follow the band to the Coe game this afternoon. Since 1913 it has been the custom for the first year men to march en masse, wearing their green caps, to the first football game of the year.

This year the freshmen will again gather at the lower campus to be ready to follow Ez Crane '24, varsity cheerleader to the opening game with Coe college.

The parade will start at 1:20 o'clock with the freshmen all wearing their green caps. Yearling cheerleaders will lead the freshmen in a lock-step parade around the field between halves.

CARDINAL INVITES D. LLOYD GEORGE

Ask Ex-Premier to Give Short Talk to Citizens of Madison

The Honorable David Lloyd George may still go through Madison, and The Cardinal is doing all that it can to have him give a short talk to the citizens of Madison and the students in the university.

Yesterday the following telegram was sent to the former premier:

Honorable David Lloyd-George,
Biltmore Hotel, New York City.

Could you speak to University of Wisconsin students from car when you go through Madison, October sixteenth?

The Cardinal.
Until an early hour this morning no word had been received from either the former English political leader or his secretary. It is hoped that the leader will comply with the request and talk to the students for a few minutes at least.

The former premier arrived in New York yesterday on the Mauretania. He was given a luncheon by the United Press at the Biltmore hotel yesterday noon.

Lloyd-George will leave this morning for Canada, where he will spend ten days. He is scheduled to speak in Minneapolis and St. Paul on October 15.

RAISE STANDARDS FOR JOURNALISTS

Bleyer Says That English
Journalistic Profession is Better

That requirements for juniors who wish to enroll in the course in journalism in their third year may be raised was suggested by Prof. W. G. Bleyer, head of the journalism department, in an interview on the differences between English and American journalism as a profession. The department has had only one meeting, and has not decided on any definite policy. Juniors may be required to secure a grade of 83 in journalistic courses, and of 80 in other courses. "Journalism is more of a profession in some ways in England than in America," said Prof. Bleyer. "In England, we find organizations of journalists. One of them, National Union of Journalists, takes in 90 per cent of the newspaper workers. These organizations are established on a trade union basis, have chapters all over England, and paid secretaries. They have established a wage scale and raised salaries."

Suppress Scandal

Telling of a school for journalists, started in the University of London for army men, Prof. Bleyer said that no technical instruction was offered, and that the course lasted for two years. Some schools in Germany and France offer journalistic courses also.

"An interest in ethics is manifested among English journalists," continued Prof. Bleyer. "Parliament is now considering a bill to eliminate the publishing of all testimony in divorce cases and to suppress the objectionable details in other case cases. This bill does not aim to prevent the publication of the results of trials or the names of the people concerned in the trials."

Organize Journalists Here

Prof. Bleyer believes that all graduates in the department should join the national organization. He believes that this organization should be organized like the American Medical association. In the department here, the professional aspect of the work is emphasized. The senior class draws up a code of ethics every year.

The requirements may be raised, thus raising the standards of journalists everywhere, and raising journalism as a profession higher than it now stands.

WHAT MAKES BUBBLES IN PHARMACY WINDOW

"What makes the bubbles bubble?" is the burning question in the mind of every thinking student who has passed the University Pharmacy recently. We wondered too, so we went in and asked. There is a vacuum cup at the bottom of it. It is made to go up and down by electricity and this "going up and down" is what keeps the bubbles coming and coming. Now that's about all they knew about the mechanics of it and it's probably about all we could have grasped anyway, so we went out again, wiser, perhaps.

DE PAUW CELEBRATES ANNUAL OLD GOLD DAY

Old Gold Day will be celebrated at De Pauw university by each class wearing some particular distinguishing garb. Brown corduroy coats with suede sleeves will be worn by the senior women, in harmony with the conventional frocks worn by the men.

Blue and black checked wool shirts bearing the class numerals in white are the choice of the junior men. Blue sweater or scarfs and swagger sticks tied with blue are to be worn by junior women.

The choice of the sophomore women lies between black sleeveless frocks and black sweaters. The men will wear gray vests with the numerals in black on the upper right pocket. The traditional green caps will be worn by the freshmen men. Various honorary organizations will wear distinguishing garb of some kind. Old Gold Day is similar to the Varsity Welcome here at Wisconsin.

MENORAH SOCIETY ADDRESSED BY DEANS

"As I understand, Menorah society has two aims; that of sociability and that of the pursuit of Jewish cultural aims. No one will attack or criticize you on the basis of either of them. If you wish Menorah to go forward, put your shoulders to the wheel and push."

This was the point made in the address given by Dean Scott H. Goodnight in the parlor at Lathrop Thursday evening at the opening meeting of Menorah society.

The first meeting far outnumbered any preceding one, according to Harold H. Laskey '24, president who gave the welcome address.

"We are glad to see you gathered here because of pride in the past and for the building up of the future," said Dean F. Louise Nardin in speaking of the broken-up life of college students.

Prof. Selig Perlman of the economics department is the faculty advisor for Menorah. Ben Lieberman, vice-president, presented briefly the program to be followed by Menorah for the coming year. The syllabus, "The Jew and the Modern World" from the Intercollegiate Menorah society at New York, will be used. Attention will be given to the Menorah journal.

The first social event will be a mixer, October 13, in the Badger room.

Y. W. C. A. Invites Freshmen Women to Mass Meeting

Freshman women who are interested in Y. W. C. A. work are invited to attend a mass meeting to be held Tuesday evening in Lathrop hall. This is the first opportunity freshman girls will have to meet the officers of the association and learn about the activities of the Y. W. C. A.

After the mass meeting, the girls who wish to join the Y. W. C. A. will be divided into small groups which will meet once a week at noon in Lathrop hall. These smaller meetings will be in charge of members of the sophomore commission, who will explain the purposes of the association and direct the work of the freshmen.

Members of the freshman commission, which will number about 30, will be elected after the first six weeks of the noon meetings. The noon meetings are for the purpose of allowing the freshmen to become better acquainted.

Marian Metcalf '24, president of the Y. W. C. A., and Dorothy John '25, vice president, will speak at the mass meeting. Rena Grubb '26, will welcome the freshmen, and Miss Marv Anderson, who has charge of the Y. W. C. A. will also speak.

CONFERENCE
WIRE SERVICEFRESHMEN SHOW UP WELL DURING
HARD SCRIMMAGEMcGee and Sauger Star on Coach Jones' Frosh
Eleven

A long, hard scrimmage, featured by the stellar performance of Sauger and McGee, marked the close of the week's activities for Tom Jones' squad of yearlings.

The scrimmage, which lasted well over an hour, showed that the men are fast rounding into mid-season form. The first team gained almost at will, the powerful heavy line opening up holes through which the backs plunged for down after down.

McGee playing at fullback, got away on some very pretty off tackle drives and several times broke through the secondary defense. He is fast, keeps his feet when he hits the line, and picks his holes well.

Sauger and Schwartz, at tackle, opened wide gaps in the line but seemed slow in following the ball. Bononi, who was shifted from center to guard, has plenty of weight for a good lineman but several times got in the way of the backs.

The pivot position is being held down by Wilke, a new recruit. He was laid out with a wrenched knee, but will be back in shape by Monday.

As usual, casualties are hampering the squad. "Red" Kasiska, who has been performing at guard, was injured Thursday and will be out for the entire season. Several other men are out of the game for a week or two, while there is a long list of men with bruised shins and banged heads.

Taken as a whole the team shows more promise than the usual frosh aggregation. The line is unusually heavy, while the backs are speedy and shifty.

The backfield, however, outclasses the line by a large margin. Sauger, Schwartz, and Bononi are big and heavy but have trouble in getting out of the way of the backs.

Coach Jones has a good line on most of the men by this time and seems to have sifted the first team over pretty thoroughly. Postel and Johnson, ends, Sauger and Schwartz, tackles, Hagemeister and Bononi, guards, Wilke, center Bondi and Barnum halves, McGee, full and Berosky quarter, is the present lineup of the team.

EX GRID STAR SPEAKS TO CHICAGO BADGERS

The University of Wisconsin club of Chicago was entertained with a talk on "Football and Experiences" by Walter P. Steffen, former football hero at their regular Friday noon luncheon at the Palmer house in Chicago.

Mr. Steffen was one of Coach Stagg's famous quarterbacks, later successfully coaching football at Carnegie Tech. He is now Judge of the Superior court in Chicago.

The Club announces that plans are being completed for the large annual football banquet which will be given this year on November 23, a week after the close of the season, at the La Salle hotel in Chicago.

HAYDEN WILL ADDRESS
SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

Dr. A. E. Hayden of the University of Chicago will address members of the Social Science club at its opening meeting and annual banquet which is to be held at 6 o'clock tonight in the Y. M. C. A. cafeteria.

Plans will be made at the meeting to bring a number of liberal and conservative speakers here this year. Those who will probably speak here are John Haynes Holmes, Ludwig Lewisohn, author of "Up Stream"; Professor James Harvey Robinson, Robert Herrick of the University of Chicago, Senator Robert M. LaFollette; and Upton Sinclair.

More than 100 men enrolled in the organization last year and it is expected that the membership will increase.

Officers for this year will be elected at the meeting according to H. B. Shier '24, president of the society.

Will It Happen Again at Randall?

Taft Plunging Through Michigan's Line

GOPHER FOOTBALL
PROSPECTS BRIGHTFour Regular Linesmen Will Be in Lineup During Season

(Special to The Cardinal)

At least four of the regular performers in last years line will be seen when the University of Minnesota football team goes into the field for major games this season. This is the prediction of fans although Bill Spaulding, headcoach at Minnesota, is saying nothing.

Cox, Gross, Abrahamson and Schjoll, the last named an end, seem slated to start most of the engagements. Cox seems a fixture at tackle, as he has improved in strength and aggressiveness over a year ago. He also has avoided the injuries which kept him out so much last season. Gross may be used either at tackle or guard, though with Bennett and Gay there seems less use for him in the position next to center than at tackle. Abrahamson has been used steadily at the other guard.

Carl Schjoll's playing has shown marked improvement over what it was last year. On the other wing Eklund, a real star at whatever he does, is showing everything he has in football. Merrill and Just are other ends with whom the leading candidates will have to reckon at the start of every game.

Oster, Peterson, Lidberg, Holmberg, Johnson, Van Duzee, Graham and Ascher are players from whom will be chosen most of the backfield running mates to Captain Earl Martineau. With Foote out for the season, Fred Grose, last year's quarter, Malcolm Graham, and Peter Guzy remain as contenders for the bean position. Of the three Grose is the heaviest and most experienced. Graham is fast, Guzy a formidable passer, but very light. All probably will have a chance to show their caliber long before the 1924 football season is written down as history.

Coolidges Observe 17th
Wedding Anniversary

WASHINGTON—President and Mrs. Coolidge today observed their wedding anniversary. It was the first one in the White House, but it was as simple as any of the seventeen anniversaries that had preceded it. When they were married eighteen years ago, Mr. Coolidge was a struggling lawyer in Northampton, Massachusetts, while Mrs. Coolidge, as Miss Grace Goodhue, had just given up teaching in the public schools of that community.

The above scene is vividly recalled, no doubt, by those who witnessed the Michigan Wisconsin football game last year at Ann Arbor, when Captain Goebel of the Wolverines downed Taft while the latter was endeavoring to carry the ball down the field.

As Wisconsin opens her 1923 grid season this afternoon at Camp Randall, many will wonder whether the same ill luck which ruined her chances at Michigan last year will crop out again this season. Up until the time Gus Tebell was knocked out by a linesman's stake, the Badgers had fought the strong Wolverine aggregation to a standstill, but with the loss of Gus, Michigan walked down the field for a touchdown, before the riddled Badgers could collect themselves.

Yes sir, we claim that the hardest piece of luck that a team can have is to have a star performer downed for the count by a linesman's stake, because it is something that happens only once in a good many times and when it does, the team that suffers by it has lost or forgotten its rabbit paw somewhere.

SOCCER PLAYERS
TO MEET TUESDAYSchlatter to Confer With Enthusiastics on Game's Future

A meeting of all men interested in the development of soccer as a intercollegiate sport will be held in the University gym at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

The meeting will be conducted by Coach Schlatter who has charge of the men's gymnasium classes, and who will coach the soccer team should any develop.

"We cannot be certain, but we hope that soccer will soon develop into an intercollegiate sport, said Coach Schlatter in discussing the future of the game.

"Last year," he continued, "there was some agitation to have a Wisconsin-Minnesota game on the morning of the day upon which their homecoming with the Badgers was scheduled."

Because of lack of time in which to prepare a team worthy of representing Wisconsin, the tilt fell through, but it is hoped that this year a schedule can be arranged which will include both Minnesota and Michigan.

A series of intercollegiate and interclass tournaments will be held early this fall, and from the players who participate in them, the regular team will be chosen.

Soccer received a big boost on its way to becoming a popular sport when a grade school ruling gave it the place which our style of football formerly occupied. With every grade school child knowing it, and playing it its future is almost assured.

Soccer, or association ball, is the original game of football from which both English Rugby and American ball were developed. One hundred years ago some Englishman conceived the idea of picking the ball up and running with it while in a game.

Although this was a gross infringement of the rules, the public was so taken by the idea that Rugby, and finally American style ball resulted from this run.

Coe's great strength lies in her defense, as was shown last Saturday when she defeated Upper Iowa by a 6-0 count.

Unable to score frequently, the Coe team found her power to be in her almost impregnable line and upon that power she relied during the entire fray. Despite her victory over Upper Iowa last Saturday, however, the Coe team is not confident over today's game.

Has Strong Lineup

The Upper Iowa game was somewhat ragged at times, but during the past week the Iowa team has undoubtedly had some of the rough spots ironed out and should today present a strong lineup.

Coach Ryan last night sent his men through light signal drill and through a short drill against Coe plays. Realizing that this is their biggest game of the season, the Coe men are bound to have their bag of tricks wide open, and Ryan is taking no chances.

Harris and Holmes are slated to start at halves today with Stangel at full. Schneider will probably pilot the team at the kickoff. Who will do the punting in the absence of Taft is a question, but both Holmes and Stangel are adept with their kicking toes and one of them will in all probability officiate.

Game to be Test

Coe pins its hopes on Makeever, fast quarterback, and Strong, an able plunger who plays full. In her strong line she hopes to hold the Badgers at a distance from the goal line.

For many of the Badgers, today's game will be a test, for several of them have yet to be under fire in a Cardinal uniform. Stangel, Nelson, Gerber and Teckmeyer are playing their first game for Wisconsin. Miller and Schneider, guard and quarterback have played with the varsity, but they still are comparatively new on the Wisconsin squad.

Lucky Badgers Present

Today's game will be the first to be played in the completed horseshoe stadium at Camp Randall. The seating capacity has been increased to approximately 36,000 places.

Harold Holmes will take his two badgers to the Coe game this afternoon. These emblems of Wisconsin spirit have not been fully tamed as yet but Holmes expects them to make admirable pets in the future.

Boys under twelve years of age who want to see the game today are to meet on the Frosh football field just outside of Camp Randall. A section on one side of the stands is being reserved.

TODAY'S THE DAY

A new man has come to Wisconsin to be the mentor of Wisconsin's football team.

As yet nothing has been said in these columns of the present athletic status at Wisconsin, but today is the day when a new season will be born, new men will be tried, and a new coach will be on display.

Many reports have come from the University's hinterland of the tireless efforts of Coach Jack Ryan in his endeavors the past summer to bring more athletes to Wisconsin and to encourage and inspire more of the state's citizens with the Badger's fame. Reports have come of his talks to Rotary clubs, his personal conferences with business men, his helpful words to high school boys.

Whatever be the ranking of the team that is turned out this year, the athletic department has picked no slouch for the coach's job.

This afternoon the Cardinal eleven will meet its first foe of the 1923 season. Scouts from other schools will be present, a howling mob of youngsters will yell for their Badger heroes, every loyal Wisconsin student should be present.

The men who are sacrificing time and, sometimes, school work to make more glorious Wisconsin's fame on the athletic field deserve the support of every man and woman. Coe college, although small, is a formidable foe. Do your part. Be present. Get back of Ryan.

ONE HOUR A WEEK

Too often the accusation is hurled against the college or university today that they are breeders of irreverence and religious disinclination. While there are some that criticize philosophy courses, academic endeavor and science researches on the ground that their pursuit leads to agnosticism, it seems to be something else that bears the brunt of ecclesiastic censure.

General student attitude of laizze faire, with Sunday morning as a time for much needed sleep and lolling amidst special feature sections, is under most criticism. The universal collegiate proclivity to make Sunday a holiday for movies, card games and social recreation gives ample data for the ever-present calamity howler and pessimist to draw from.

"Modern youth is dancing its way to ruin," he cries, "and Sundays are profaned with utter abandonment." The Puritan is ever on the job, railing at whatever's the mode. Little does he regard the idiosyncrasies of another age, the outlawed enjoyments of this century's grandfather.

But there are a group of men today who sensibly deplore the empty pews in churches and who preserve dignified attitude in their researches to find out the cause thereof.

These men agree that perhaps there is as much religion in a non-church-goer as there is in a man whose pew is never vacant. They sorrowfully admit that there are as many hypocrites in the church as there are out. But yet they uphold the church as an institution. They are agreed that it is only by organization that a good can be perpetuated. In that lies the church's excuse. The grove may be God's temple, but few there are who are strong enough individually or have the opportunity to find Him there. There must be cooperation and unity in seeking weekly refreshment of ones ideals,—therefore the church.

If this is true of an average community, it is doubly true of a university group. Many are here who are away from home the first time. It is easy to lie in bed an extra hour, and the first Sunday's conscience prick soon wears away.

But there are other considerations. Where A may receive no harm, his room-mate, who may be on the fence, topples the wrong way. His influence may be confined to a small sphere, but often the sphere is more elastic than one is aware.

Tomorrow's Sunday. As an experiment, you might try one hour in church and note its effect on the other 168 hours of the week. You may have something to write home about.

ON EVERY HAND

That a university is a cosmopolitan place is one of its most ideal benefits. That men of every station and from every walk of life rub elbows here and wage mental battles in the daily classes is of intensely more educational benefit than the retention of those slippery facts over which they dispute.

On the one hand the man, secluded and sheltered all his life, presents his narrow opinion; on the other, the man of the world casts abroad the informative bits of his experience and by study and application tempers his too free ideas with the saner considerations of the first.

The future merchant meets in class the embryo judge and both develop the same attitude toward human nature, and, one from the other, they gain sympathy with the other's ideas.

The university too is international. Men from every land find Wisconsin's door and mingle with American youth. The benefit is mutual.

Too often those men on the campus from foreign lands are slighted and their own timidity restrains them from obtrusive approach. There is a wealth of knowledge, a fund of wit, a capacity for friendship, and a world-wide knowledge in many of these men whose depths need only the plumbing of some sympathetic friend. Another opportunity unnoticed.

A suggestion to guard against poison booze is to put a caged white mouse over the hip pocket after the fashion of the canary bird on miner's caps.

A new Madison Chief of Police is in charge for two weeks, so students should feel relieved for they are well acquainted with the ways of Davenport.

The expression "French leave" seems to be misplaced in the case of the Ruhr.

Monday, the first bale of cotton was ginned in Illinois. Custom officials at sea ports are de-ginning cotton every day.

Corn played leap-frog with the stock exchange this week, says journalistic slang. Seems to be rather an athletic vegetable.

Houdini isn't the only one who can escape from cabinets. Germany seems to have difficulty in keeping anyone in one.

All the kids in town will be at the Coe game today. Wonder if the student's will bleat as loud as they or whether Crane will have to be the goat?

A consideration of Jack's Pop Corn palace on balcony evenings goes to prove that the frosh-soph fray is not the only campus bag rush.

Some of the soot from the engines of the underground political railway of the university's already smudging the senate's face.

Bobby Costello is now with Singer's. He is rather musically inclined you know.

If the only idea of registration is to break the previous enrollment record, Bosco should have been signed up. He gets as much sleep out of the institution as does the best somnambulist.

The great demand for alarm clocks is a waste of money. A time-clock bomb would be more effective.

Review of "THE BLESSED WISCONSIN LITERARY MAGAZINE" Humbly Submitted by Alpha and Omega

SINCE THE "year's high intent" of the Lit is "to war on stupidity, and to publish good literature," us stupidse do hereby get together (in our mere literary sogginess) and declare war on the Lit.

The Lit is one worthy endeavor on this low-brow campus, bestrewn with low-brow organizations. It is as "a lily floating on a dish of vrunes."

AND YET the lily is a symbol of purity. Now, should we call the Lit pure

"Of course there was evil in the world. There had to be. She hungered for it so, Please God, help her to find it. Please help her to find lots of evil."

CHI PSIS AND PHI PSIS, ATTENTION! PLEASE STAND IN LINE. DON'T PUSH!

PERSONALLY, we would rather be prunes than lillies, any day.

The only good thing in the Lit seems to be without a signature. The writer of "Treasure" need not hide his name in shame; of course the Lit is a disgrace, but it can be lived down.

Mildred Fish's idea of University education seems to be all wrong. Nobody ever told us that the Lit of -Regents recommended four years of college to make butterfly.

Some are born butterflies, some produce butterflies, and some, (such as college professors and the Wisconsin Literary Magazine) have butterflies thrust upon them.

THE LIT REVIEW

Editor the Cardinal:
I note with considerable amazement that F. D. C., in his review of the current number of the Lit, solemnly declares "Six Essays in Sentiment" to be free verse. The mistake is not important in itself, except as it is an indication of the fantastic incompetence of the reviewer. Cannot the Daily Cardinal provide its readers with sounder judgements in such departments?

ISADORE '26.

STUDENTS WILL HAVE EARLY FRENCH EXAMS

Examinations are starting early for the students taking work in the beginning courses of the romances language department. In order to determine whether the student in the more elementary courses is sufficiently advanced for the course, or whether he is too advanced for it, the romance language department will hold examinations within the next week for French and Spanish 1b, 10 a and 10 b. Examinations in French 1b, 15 and 16 will be held at the option of the instructor.

time kind, there were many, and the chorus romped gleefully through its heavy program of breathless numbers. If some of our better musical comedy choruses demonstrated half as much enthusiasm as did these last night, the t. b. m. wouldn't be so t.

It seems a shame that with such good melodies, such dancing, and such a chorus that better settings could not be carried.

All in all, here was much of which I would like to have seen less notably the dialogue between the mayor and his Chief of Police and the feminine solo singing. I could have appreciated more from the four male singers and more from Hughie Walker, a regular Chudnow at the piano. Incidentally, I wonder who gave the drummer in the orchestra a rub down after the show.

Negro Quartet in "Shuffle Along" is Hit of the Show

By DAMAO RAMA

He who would like to go to a glorified minstrel show where there is a surprising amount of Afro-American pep, some mighty tuneful melodies, poor dialogue and a really wonderful quartet, should attend "Shuffle Along" at the Parkway this evening.

For racehorse jazz and galloping syncopation the show with its wiggy-piggly chorus cannot be beat. The cast is the original Chicago company and shows the signs of only a few substitutions. Perhaps because the negro musical comedy is still a new idea (except in "Sunset" and other black and tans which we regard as impossible) the audience last night liked "Shuffle Along" and laughed at the weakest of jokes.

One of the sad parts was the tone deafness of the ingenue. If she could have done her shifting from contralto to soprano between songs instead of between words she would have been better. In fact, all the principles, except for Theodore McDonald, were rather poor. McDonald played the lead and made a good appearance in addition to having a good voice.

The work of some of the lesser lights, however, makes the show. Manton Moland, the eccentric dancer who plays the part of "Onion" was not used much but his occasional whirlwind disorientings and novel sitting dancing proclaimed him a born dancing fool.

But the quartet is what raised the show out of the ordinary. Singing everything from Blues to "Mighty Lak a Rose" and negro "spirituals", these four stopped the show, and proved that the negro was a born harmonizer.

The music all through the show was exceptional, many a popular number having come from there. "Love Will Find a Way" was easily the prettiest and most melodious number in spite of the oscillating rendition by the leading lady "Gypsy Blues" and "Mary from Maryland" were other popular numbers. TEMPERATURE IS FALLING SLOWLY

Scientists Believe That Sun's Heat is Cooling By Degrees

September has been slightly cooler than usual with an average temperature of 61.7 degrees, according to a statement made today by Eric Miller, of the U. S. Weather bureau, who has his office in North hall.

As the average temperature for September during the past forty years has been 62.4 degrees, this is .7 degrees lower than normal. The rainfall for the month was over one-third more than normal, as it was 4.36 inches while the average for forty years has been 3.18 inches.

Past Years Warmer

The past few years, however, with the exception of 1918, have been warmer than usual. The rainfall from year to year oscillates even more as last year it was below normal, and two years ago 7.9 inches, or almost double the normal.

The weatherman said that it is difficult for scientists to decide whether from sun spots, or any other reasons, our climate is becoming warmer because all climatic changes are very slow and gradual.

Water Effects Climate

Weather is always effected by prevailing winds. The temperature of these winds is determined by the large bodies of water. As these are effected by the atmosphere, weighing billions of tons, which is heated by the sun, 800,000 miles in diameter we can see that all changes as everything is on such a mammoth scale, would be very slow.

A report of C. G. Abbot of the Smithsonian Institute, which is on file at the Bureau, shows that there has been a steady decrease in the intensity of the sun's rays during the last two years, a total loss of about 4 per cent. The sun is a mass of gas that is continually boiling. This boiling and the number of sun spots reach a maximum every eleven years. At the present time we have the least number of spots and the least boiling, which may account for our present temperature.

Applied Arts Dept. Has 380 Students Taking Its Courses

Approximately 380 students enrolled in the Industrial Education and Applied Arts department this semester, shows an increase of 31 over last year's first semester enrollment of 349. Out of the 17 available courses in this department free hand drawing has the largest registration with 78.

The Industrial Education and Applied Arts department is practically new, organized in 1913 with a small enrollment.

The department is divided into two main courses, industrial education, consisting mainly of men preparing to enter the field of professional industrial teaching, and applied arts.

The department is located in the Engineering building. Because of the cramped housing conditions classes in lettering and advanced shop are given under the College of Engineering.

One new course is being introduced this year, Barnum's Survey of Graphic and Decorative Arts, a lecture lantern slide course. Because of the increase of students R. S. Stebbins, now in charge of the teachers training course, has been employed.

Still Unconscious

H. Rolfson, Carpenter, Hurt In Fall In Critical Condition

Hellick Rolfson, 51, who was severely injured Wednesday afternoon when a scaffold on which he was working with Gustave Huckle, 59, collapsed, has not regained consciousness since the accident, it was reported by attendants at St. Mary's hospital where the men were taken after the accident. Huckle was reported to be somewhat improved. Huckle probably suffered a fractured skull, while the extent of Rolfson's injuries had not been determined up to a late hour today.

HOME EC GRAD WILL

LECTURE ON NUTRITION

The survey course in home economics, open to all junior and senior women in the College of Letters and Science is being given at 12 o'clock this year instead of at 1:30 o'clock as formerly. The requirement, that the girls taking the course eat the products of their own experiments, made this change desirable, since they will now not only save the cost of lunch, but will be spared the worry over their weight, which would result from eating two meals where one should suffice.

The course is being given for two credits with two lectures only, for three credits with two lectures and one laboratory period, and for four credits with two lectures and two laboratory periods. The lectures are given by Miss Marlatt, and the laboratory is in charge of Miss Braum.

The department wishes to emphasize the fact that this course is not given with the aim of providing training for the girls who expect to marry and wish to prepare for home management.

"It is given as a cultural course just the same as English or history or any other course given on the hill," Miss Braum said in explanation of the purpose of the department in offering the course. "It is given for the girls who wish to broaden out and get university training from all angles."

RHINELANDER—J. Marion Reed, superintendent of schools of Oneida county, announced that the annual school board convention and county teachers institute would be held here on Oct. 25, 26 and 27.

OFFICERS WILL NOT GO TO CONVENTION

Sixth Corps Will Honor Commander of Area at Banquet

None of the officers of the military training department of the university will be able to attend the convention of the Sixth corps area which is to be held in Chicago on Oct. 13, it was announced Thursday afternoon. Though invitations to the convention were issued to the local officers, their schedule of work here will not permit them to be absent.

The Sixth corps area includes the states of Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. The convention which is to be held affords the first opportunity for a gathering of the regular army, national guard and reserve officers.

Invitations have already been accepted by Maj. Gen. George Bell Jr., formerly in command of the area, and Capt. Waldo Evans, in command of the Great Lakes naval station, and by officers of their respective staffs.

A feature of the convention will be a reception dinner and dance in honor of Major Gen. Harry C. Hale, the new commander of the Sixth corps area.

When the war broke out Maj. Gen. Hale was in command of the American army in China with the rank of brigadier general, but was recalled to the United States to organize the 84th division at Camp Taylor, Ky. He took the division overseas, but succeeded Maj. Gen. Clarence Edwards in command of the 26th Division which was made up of the New England national guard. He led this division through the Argonne campaign.

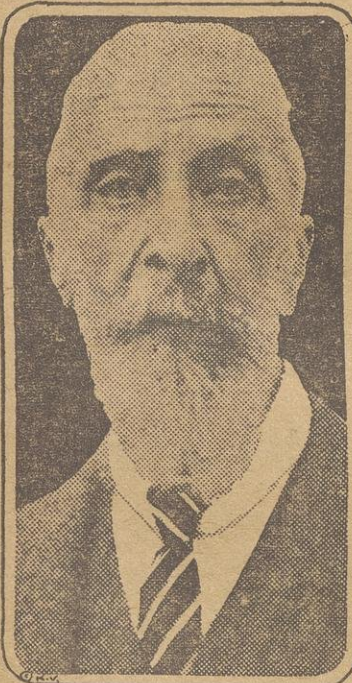

PECKHAM IS REPORTED SAFE IN QUAKE ZONE

Miss Caroline Peckham, Methodist Girls' missionary to Japan, was reported safe in Nagasaki during the earthquake and typhoon which devastated the Tokio area recently, according to word received by friends here on Friday.

Word reached Madison through a letter sent to one of Miss Peckham's friends by her mother who resides in Ironton, Wis. Miss Peckham's father is the pastor of the Methodist church in that place. In writing to her parents Miss Peckham stated that she was safe in Nagasaki where she is teaching in a girls' school, and that a relief ship had been sent from Nagasaki to Tokio soon after the news of the calamity became known. At the date of writing, nothing had been heard from the earthquake sufferers.

Miss Peckham was a graduate student at the University last year, receiving her master's degree in June.

Mayor Proclaims Oct. 7-13 Fire Prevention Week

Whereas, damage by fire in this country is becoming a serious menace, and

Whereas, ignorance and carelessness in fire prevention are the chief causes of the huge waste of life and property, and

Whereas, fire prevention and fire control, is essentially a community problem,

Therefore, as mayor of Madison, and in order to more thoroughly arouse ourselves to the importance of fire prevention, I do hereby proclaim the week of Oct. 7 to 13, as Fire Prevention Week and urge all educational institutions such as the pulpit, the press, the schools, Boy Scout organizations, women's clubs, etc., to co-operate in helping to bring to the attention of our citizens the importance of giving this problem more earnest thought and attention.

I. M. KITTLESON, Mayor.

Thief Finds He Has Robbed Fellow Thief

BERLIN —An hour after stealing an overcoat, in the pockets of which were a number of identity papers, a Berlin thief fell into the clutches of the police when a notorious Berlin cafe was raided in the search for cocaine sellers.

He was overcome with dismay when the policeman who searched his pockets, including those of the overcoat, gave a delighted chuckle and exclaimed, "At last we have caught you!"

Hayes Starts Poultry Culling Contest Again

J. B. Hayes, poultry specialist of the Wisconsin college of agriculture, is off on another swing through the state to conduct poultry culling contests and to get in contact with poultry men along the way. The month of October finds Hayes in Marathon county from the 1st to the 5th. Oct. 8 a culling demonstration will be held on the Frank Peterson farm in Florence county. Mid-month Hayes' poultry activities carries him south into Milwaukee county where he will swing back north holding demonstrations in Outagamie and Brown counties near the close of the month.

Property Owners Seeking Zone Law Change To Permit Building

Change in the zoning ordinance as applied to lots 16 and 16, Breese errace, will be asked of the city council at its meeting next week, in a communication from George Hut-ton and Mary A. Charles, owners of the property. The lots are zoned as class "A," single residence district. The owners wish to have it changed to the "C" residential district, to permit building of apartment houses, on the ground that the present restrictions are blocking the sale to a fraternity, which could not build under the provisions of the law while the property is in class "A." The fraternity contemplates construction of a $50,000 home on the site.

DEAN NEEDED FOR FOREIGN STUDENTS

Professor Meade Says That Strangers Are Neglected Here

Dean needed —7
A total of 191 foreign students enrolled in the regular, dairy and short courses and at summer school last year, according to figures given out by Prof. D. W. Meade on Friday.

These students had no one other than their ordinary student advisor with whom to take their troubles.

The American students do not mix well with the foreigners and as a consequence the latter remain very much to themselves and go back to their respective countries with mistaken ideas about America and her ideals.

Closer Relations Needed

"A dean exclusively for foreign students would alleviate this difficulty very greatly. The foreign students don't receive quite the care and attention that they might if we had a special dean for them. They have no one to go to other than their class advisors. By having a dean for them, closer relationships and interest would be shown, and they would gain a more true conception of the United States," stated Professor D. W. Meade last night.

Cooperation of Fraternities

"The matter was brought up last year but nothing definite has as yet been done. I would like to see such a dean appointed. I am very much in hopes that American students will get more in touch with the foreign students. Invitations to the foreigners to the student clubs and fraternities would enable them to see a great deal more of the home life and social activities of America than they get now. They group among themselves and have no chance to learn our ways as they might with the aid of a dean and the American student's cooperation," Professor Meade added.

COMMUNITY UNION DRIVE NEARS END

Three days remain in which the community union can complete its drive for a quota of $107,929.44.

"Every person should realize that he is asked to give for 14 agencies for 12 months, not for one month, and not for one agency for 12 months," Judge Rosenberry said.

James R. Garber stated that "many of the contributors are not alive to the fact that any sacrifice is necessary to finance the welfare work properly. There is a need for a deep seated interest in the causes represented which will be best expressed by giving until it hurts."

Jimmy Demetral, local wrestler, gave the full proceeds of his wrestling match Friday to the community union.

E. S. Bogardus is Completing Volume For Ross' Series

Prof. E. S. Bogardus of the University of California is preparing a volume on social psychology as a part of the Century Social Science series of which Prof. E. A. Ross is editor.

Seven volumes already have appeared in the series and at least 10 more are under way. Two of the volumes in print, "Principles of Sociology" and "Outlines of Sociology" are from Professor Ross's pen.

"One of the 10 will be called Social Psychology and will appear under the name of Prof. E. S. Bogardus," Ross said. It will be a good sized book, nearly as large as Professor Ross' Principles of Sociology, and more than twice as large as his Social Psychology.

The volume will embrace the enormous expansion of the subject since Professor Ross put out the first book in English bearing that title 15 years ago.

It is hoped that the book will be available early enough to be used next fall in the courses in social psychology.

Killing Frost Blanket All State, Report

Another Frost Predicted For Wisconsin Tonight

A mantle of killing frost spread over central and northern Wisconsin last night when the mercury dropped to 39. Northern Minnesota, Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania were also in the area covered by anti-cyclonic conditions.

Tonight a similar frost, possibly heavier, will occur, according to Eric Miller, meteorologist at the weather bureau. Tomorrow Wisconsin will probably begin to feel the reactions from an eastward-moving "fair and warmer" condition now on the eastern slope of the Rockies.

The scoutmasters conference to be held at Green Lake Saturday and Sunday, October 6 and 7, will be attended by many scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters, and troop committeemen of Madison, it was announced by Ray Overholser, scout executive.

State Candidates For West Point Selected

WASHINGTON — Lyle Seaman, Janesville, was on Thursday designated to take an examination in March, with a view to entering West Point in July, 1924. Arthur J. Rasmussen, Kenosha, was named first alternate, and Arthur Wynn, Honey Creek, was named second alternate. The first cadet ever to be appointed to West Point by President Coolidge also was announced on Thursday, and he is a Badger boy. He is Daniel John Perry, 150 North Michigan avenue, Prairie du Chien, and he also is to enter in July of next year.

Shun Drinkers, Dean Nardin Warns U. W. Freshmen Women

That the University of Wisconsin woman student "is thoughtful of her obligations to help establish and maintain high social and moral standards," is maintained by Miss F. Louise Nardin, dean of women at the University of Wisconsin, in a little booklet, "If I Were a Freshman Again," which is issued by women of the junior class with advice from the office of the dean of women, for the guidance of prospective freshmen women.

Five points are emphasized in "The Code for Wisconsin Women" contained in the booklet, as follows:

"1.—She is loyal to herself. She is careful of her word in all her obligations and in her every statement.
"2.—She is loyal to others. She is thoughtful and staunch in her zeal to make the right things prevail.

"3.—She is scrupulously honest in scholarship—both in every day work and in examinations.

"4.—She refuses to associate with men who have been drinking.

"5.—She conducts herself in such a way that she can be honestly willing to have every girl in the community adopt her standards."

In the greeting to freshmen women, Dean Nardin says that each freshman upon registration assumes an obligation to contribute her utmost to the intellectual standards of the university.

"Your coming to this university is voluntary. Your remaining will be voluntary," Miss Nardin declares.

NEW ASSISTANT TO MISS LITTLE NAMED

Miss Lillian Otto Comes to Wisconsin With Wide
Experience

Miss Lillian Otto, Walla Walla, Washington, is taking the place of Miss Elna Becker as first assistant to Miss Mabel Little, director of Halls and Commons. Miss Otto is a graduate of the Washington state college. Her experience covers several years as dietitian in Chicago at Cook county hospital, in New York, Pittsburg and various places in the East.

Miss Otto's work as assistant is to take charge of the central kitchen at Lathrop and the dormitory dining rooms and to assist in teaching courses in institutional administration.

Other courses in institutional administration consist of classes in quantity cooking, study of implement equipment, a course in house-keeping, laundry management, dietetics, organization, cost accounting and marketing.

The courses are open to juniors and seniors in home economics. Although the number of eligible students is limited there are still opportunities for home economic students with the necessary requirements to enter.

Further information regarding qualifications and requirements can be obtained by getting in touch with Miss Mabel C. Little, Director of Halls and Commons.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED IN BELOIT

The first meeting of Wisconsin alumni held in the city of Beloit took place on October 3 in the city Y. M. C. A., resulting in the formation of a permanent alumni association and a strong endorsement of the Memorial Union campaign, which is now being conducted under the leadership of John Dollard, secretary of the campaign.

H. WOLTERS, GRAD, DIES FROM ELECTRIC SHOCK

Herbert Wolters, a member of the graduating class of the College of Engineering in 1922, was instantly electrocuted by coming in contact with a 110 volt electric current wire while assisting in putting out a fire in a residence in Ray, Arizona, recently.

Mr. Wolters went directly to the Arizona city after completing his course here, and for the past 15 months had been in the employ of the Ray Consolidated Copper company as mining engineer. During the war he enlisted with the students' volunteer-engineer corps. He worked at various places in Madison and self-supported himself entirely while in school.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN CLUB

The first meeting of the Rocky Mountain Club this fall will be held in the S. G. A. Room of Lathrop hall at 7:30 o'clock on next Tuesday night, October 9. All students from the Rocky Mountain region are urged to come as it is an important meeting.

Bygone Events

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY
The annual sophomore-freshman rush occurs tomorrow, occasioned by the first gym drill. The underclassmen are planning means of identification. The "freshies" were victorious last year.

Plans are being executed whereby the university water service will be extended to the dairy buildings. Hydrants are being placed so as to furnish ample fire protection to all the buildings.

"They did fairly well" was Coach Curtis' summary of the work of the team in Saturday's game. Surprising material turned up and many weaknesses appeared.

Engineering Society To Give $500 Scholarship

From the discussion brought about by the address of Prof. J. T. Rood of the college of engineering, "What the University of Wisconsin is doing and can do for the Electric Railway Utilities," given at the meeting of its railway section at Oshkosh in August, The Wisconsin Utilities association, made up of the gas, electric light, power and railway utilities of the state, has just voted to award to the college of engineering an annual scholarship to a student desiring to specialize in work in the electric railway field. The amount of the scholarship is $500 a year, to be awarded as recommended by the department of electrical engineering. Prof. Rood's address has been published in full in the September issue of the magazine of the American Electric Railway association.

WANT A BADGER? CALL CARDINAL AD STAFF

"If you want to buy a badger, just come along to me."

So sung Verle Harebo, 923 W. Dayton street, using The Cardinal classified advertising columns as his means of expression. His ad was answered by Dick Roddewig, a fellow student at the university, and now the badger, or badgers, since there was a pair of the animals, have found a new home.

Mr. Harebo bought the badgers in Washington, Kansas during the past summer. He was passing through the Kansas town and heard that a badger den had recently been discovered and some of the animals captured. He went to look them over and found the two little ones for sale.

FROSH HEAR TALKS AT UNIVERSITY Y. M.

Frederick Clapp and Staff
Speak to First Year
Students

The Y. M. C. A. is putting on a series of short snappy talks for first year students under the direction of Frederick Clapp assisted by a staff of ten men.

These lectures will be held weekly in the Y. M. C. A. parlors, from 9 to 10 o'clock on Sunday mornings.

The junior council will endeavor to see as many men as possible during the next week. At least two hundred of the frosh men are expected to turn out and upper classmen also are invited.

One of the most interesting of the coming lectures will be given by Dean Glicksman, October 21, on "Law Observation," dealing with the Volstead act.

The program for the lectures follows: Oct. 7, "The University As A Preparation for a Successful Life," Oct. 14, "How to Prepare for and Write Exams," Oct. 21, "Law Observation," Oct. 28, "Leadership," Nov. 4, "The Place of Religion in Education."

Student Flivver Drives Faculty to Deep Reflections

"Shall students drive cars while attending school," is a question at least seriously asked of in any faculty group.

Wisconsin students may feel rather jubilant when they learn of the plight of their fellows in other schools. Here, we are permitted to flivver around to our hearts content, while all kinds of restrictions are imposed upon student motors in other schools. Proof of our privilege can easily be seen in the stream of cars which help make up the number 650 which park daily in the rear of Bascom hall.

Home Ecs Must Eat Own Products; Give Course Before Lunch

Mrs. Harriet M. Gordon, a graduate of the department of home economics of the university, will preside at a meeting of the Southern Wisconsin home economics club which will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, October 6 at the Madison high school.

The subject of the meeting will be "Nutrition." The following program will be presented, "Nutrition," by Miss Helen T. Parsons; "Bulletin Board," by Mrs. Ruth Stewart; "Table Etiquette," by Miss Faerberbach.

Gasoline Price War To Be Settled Here

BELOIT—An appeal to the state marketing commission to take a hand in the Beloit gasoline price war was made by independent dealers here Thursday. The case has been set for Monday at Madison, and the question as to whether the Standard Oil is justified in selling "gas" at 12.6 a gallon from service stations will be probed. Independent dealers here are standing pat on their price of 16.5 cents a gallon while the Standard cut remains in force. Independents were in session Thursday afternoon to decide whether they would meet the cut pending the state hearing.

Woodsman, 72, Killed In Fall From Horse

BOULDER JUNCTION, Wis.—John Loughrin, 72, an old-time woodsman, met death at the Eagle Lake camp of the Brooks & Ross Lumber Co., near here, Wednesday when he fell from his horse and struck a stump. His chest was crushed and he died almost instantly.

Thief Takes Suit And "Extras"; Family Gone

ASKED TO EXPLAIN "LEGISLATIVE AID" FOR BUCKETSHOPS

Seymour Cromwell.

President Seymour Cromwell of the New York stock exchange recently appeared before the grand jury in New York city to "follow up" legally charges he has made repeatedly that "office holders" have hampered the exchange's efforts to clean out bucketshops and dishonest houses by demanding huge "retainers" from certain "bucketshops" for protection. These "political pirates," Mr. Cromwell charges, promise to prevent passage of stringent laws at Albany if the brokers "come across."

BLUE GRASS CLUB TO BE ORGANIZED

Kentucky Students Will Hold
First Meeting on Tuesday Night

Kentucky students who are in attendance at the University will organize a club in Lathrop hall at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

Approximately 35 students from the Blue Grass state are enrolled at school and a 100 per cent turnout is expected.

Tentative plans have been made to form such an organization as the students from Kentucky are looking forward to forming a state club.

This organization will vary slightly from the Rocky Mountain club and the Penn State club. For further information students are asked to call Crutcher, F. 1841.

Man Has Foot Crushed, Amputated At Watertown

WATERTOWN—Alighting from a moving passenger train here, Dennis Lynch, Fond du Lac, was knocked to the ground when he missed his footing and his left foot was so badly crushed by the car wheels that amputation was necessary. He was rushed to St. Mary's hospital where it is hoped that it will be possible to save his leg. Lynch is single, about 45.

DRY LAW'S FATE UP TO CHURCH

—John F. Kramer

Must Set Example In Obedience, Says Former Prohibition Chief

Six hundred delegates and visitors at the convention banquet of the Lutheran Brotherhood last night in the Luther Memorial church were almost carried off their feet when John F. Kramer, former United States prohibition commissioner, declared with emphasis that the people who kept him awake nights while he was enforcing the prohibition amendment were not bolsheviks and communists, but the so-called Christians who did not like the law.

"The men of the church ought to be the leaven of the state and nation, setting a goodly example to those who are not as familiar with our institutions as are they, and possibly have not had the same advantages," Mr. Kramer said. "If the churchmen fail to do this and let their passion, their appetites, their desire, their whims, be the guide as to whether they obey law or not, then do not complain if others follow the same guide, and put the lives, property and most sacred rights in jeopardy.

"The institutions of this country are not endangered so much from the liberties taken by the foreigner who is not familiar with our institutions, as they are by those who understand these things and yet do not live and act and think so as to maintain them.

"A man has no credit due him for obeying the laws he likes. Any man can do this. The test comes in the attitude toward those laws which people do not like. If you have the right to disobey the law you don't like, I have the right to disobey the law I don't like, our neighbor has the same right. And as a result of such a course, there is anarchy and not law and order."

$100,000 Endowment O. K'd.

The high point of the convention was reached yesterday afternoon when it was unanimously voted that the governing board should employ a secretary to raise a minimum endowment of $100,000 for prosecution of the Brotherhood work and all delegates pledged themselves to lend every assistance in the raising of this fund. When it was reported to the convention that the Des Moines Federation had already subscribed $10,500 in life memberships at $100 each, Rev. P. O. Borsell pledged an additional $10,000 for the remaining Brotherhoods in Iowa.

A resolution was presented by Dr. S. P. Long, Chicago, in which he made a plea for the support of chaplains in the hospitals for disabled veterans of the World war, U. S. Chaplain J. A. Sinclair of Hines hospital, Maywood, Ill., recently taken over for disabled veterans, spoke of the conditions in his hospital.

Rev. E. C. Bloomquist, Toacoma, Wash., spoke on the resolution, pointing in particular to the needs of the Bremerton Home for soldiers and sailors in Bremerton, Wash.

Gov. Preus in Address.

Just before the business session opened yesterday, Gov. J. A. O. Preus of Minnesota was called upon and spoke to the convention in the interests of the insurance feature of the Lutheran Brotherhood, pointing out that this mutual and fraternal and insurance organization, called the Lutheran Brotherhood, was organized by the Norwegian Lutheran church while the governor was insurance commissioner of Minnesota. In this work he was ably supported by Atty. Gen. Ekern, then insurance commissioner of Wisconsin.

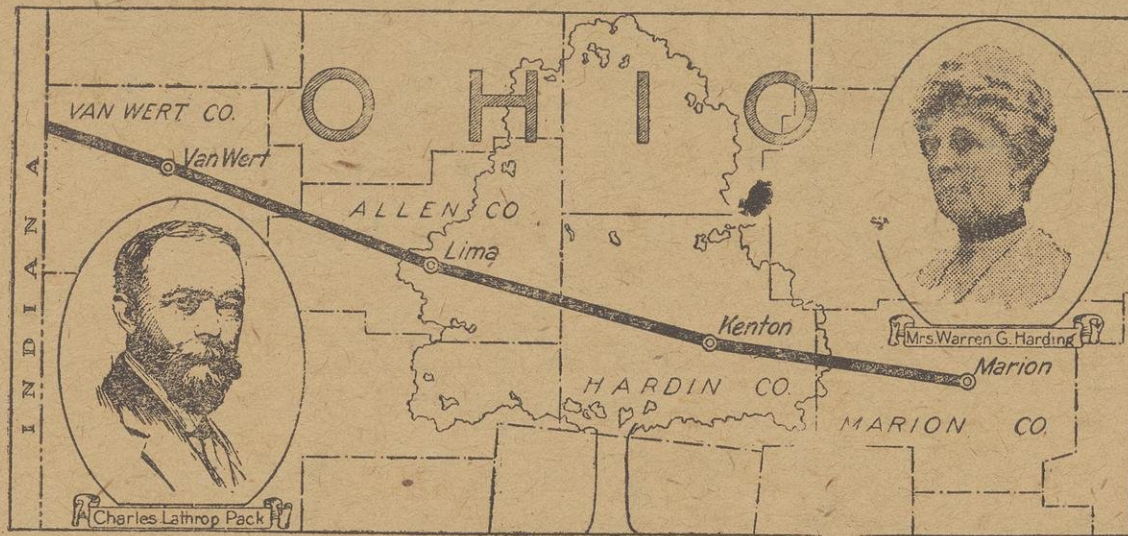

Following the business session of the afternoon, Judge Lewis Larson, Sioux Falls, S. D., spoke on the organization of state federations similar to the one in his home state.

The subject of the college student and the state was presented by Fredrick Schotz, St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., president of the Lutheran Students' Association of America, and Elmer Dahren, Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill. Dr. C. M. Roan, Minneapolis, read a paper on the Men of the Bible and Sunday School.

Committees Are Appointed.

At the conclusion of the session yesterday afternoon, the local committees gave the entire delegation of 300 an automobile tour of Madison and its environs. The following committees were appointed by the president yesterday: Nomination

First Memorial To Warren G. Harding

Ohio children will start the first memorial to Warren G. Harding. It will be a Road of Remembrance starting at Lima, Allen County, and the road will be planted through to Marion, Ohio. Mrs. Harding has been invited to plant the first tree and Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Tree Association at Washington, D. C., will give certificates of membership in the tree planting army to each tree planter. Lynn B. Timmerman, of Lima, will provide six thousand trees for the Harding Highway, a distance of twenty-six miles. According to present plans Van Wert County and Hardin County will continue the highway planting. Allen County's six thousand school children will do the planting under the direction of the Lima Automobile Club and thus join the American Tree Association. A suggestion has been made that the Cannonball Trail out of Chicago be renamed the Harding Memorial Highway and Mr. Pack urges that highway be planted with memorial trees. It is expected the work started in Lima, will be continued beyond the Indiana Line and thus hook up with the Cannonball Trail. Plans are now underway for memorial tree planting from Marion to Canton, Ohio, and the tomb of William McKinley. Thousands are planting trees this Fall and registering them with the American Tree Association. Mr. Pack has just been informed by the French Embassy that the French Minister of Agriculture has awarded him the title of "Commander du Merite Agricole" in recognition of his sending millions of tree seeds to reforest the battle areas.

committee: Otto Schenk, Wheeling, W. Va.; Walter C. Weier, Toledo; Paulus List, Chicago; John A. Benson, Des Moines; Dr. C. M. Roan, Minneapolis; L. H. Larson, Denver; A. N. Graff, Sioux Falls, S. D. Resolutions committee: Rev. E. C. Bloomquist, Toacoma, and Dr. S. P. Long, Chicago.

State Senator Henry M. Benson, St. Peter, Minn., president of the Augustina Synod of Brotherhood, the only synodical organization that has officially joined the national organization as a body also spoke last night.

Dr. Otto Mees, president of Capital university, Columbus, O., proved to be the spellbinder at the banquet. He declared that the signs of the times, with its spirit of social unrest and defiance of the Lord God Almighty in the business world, was one of the challenges to the Lutheran men of America. William F. Miller, prominent attorney of Toledo, was the closing speaker.

The toastmaster of the occasion was Dr. W. A. Granville, director of the educational department of the National Life Insurance Co., Chicago.

Mrs. Catherine Wilham Dies At Hospital Here

Mrs. Catherine Bliss Wilham died at a local hospital Friday morning. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bliss. She leaves three brothers, Charles, Albert and Joseph, all of Madison, and two sisters, Mrs. L. Murphy, Madison, and Mrs. F. A. Robbins, Jersey City N. J. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Landmark Gives Way To Garage Addition

Moving of the Lawrence Franey house on E. Washington ave. to Fourth st., today, marks the passing of another old landmark. It will give place to the addition to the Schoelkopf garage. The house was built more than 50 years ago. The land will be used as part of the new addition and as a parking place. Plans for the new structure are being completed by Alvan E. Sma, architect, and will be ready for bids within a few days. The land at one time was owned by Daniel Webster.
