USEFUL LIFE IS BEST ASSET OF COLLEGE WOMAN

Dean Nardin Sounds Key-note of Utility in Convocation

"A self that will be useful everywhere."

This is the ideal that a freshman woman should aim to have her college education create for her, is the opinion which Dean F. Louise Nardin extended to the 200 freshmen women who attended the vocational convocation yesterday afternoon. The convention was under the direction of Lois Jacobs '24, general chairman of the students' vocational committee.

"What do you want of your college education?" the dean asked. Her reply was significant. "You want a thorough knowledge of human nature, significant concepts of life, and a useable mind with significant things in it."

Must Use Opportunities

"Abandon the idea of getting by," was her advice. "Make the most of your educational opportunities. Be all around in your activities, but never lose sight of the actual meaning of college-mental setting up excercises."

The general fields in which women may enter now, and the preparatory requirements for these were suggested. The subject of electives and the importance of a careful selection was summed in a clear, crisp manner.

Choose Right Electives

"First, have your selection of studies as liberal as possible. Liberal means free to be true. Second, find out from your grades your particular aptitudes, and then follow up your early inclinations. Third, in the choice of your electives, think of one condition in the present world you would like to improve. Then get some training that will help you intelligently to make a better world."

PROM OCTOPUS TO BE GAYEST NUMBER

The Prom Octopus will be on sale tomorrow, replete with the varied sidelights of Prom.

The cover, titled "Three O'clock in the Morning," was drawn by Hubert Townsend '23, editor. It portrays a dance-wearied couple painfully stumbling to unheard music. The color is peach and black with a background of grey.

"An abundance of art, short stories, and jokes on Prom make this issue the snappiest of any we have put out this year," said Townsend. "It is an education to prom-goers itself, and may be enlightening to particular friends at home."

Octopus advertising has taken a boom this month and is greater than any month previous. One $450 contract was received from the Jordan Motor Car company.

"We expect to have a large sale of the Prom Octopus," said Willard Kirchner '24, circulation manager. "Last month we sold every copy that was printed."

Students Are Penalized For Dishonesty in Class

Five students were severely penalized by the faculty discipline committee of the University of Wisconsin during the last month for dishonesty in classroom work. The action of the committee was reported and approved at the meeting of the university faculty Monday afternoon.

The five students, whose names were not announced, were placed on probation and penalized by being required to earn from 5 to 10 extra credits for graduation. All are men. Two are freshmen, two are sophomores, and one is a junior. Three are in the Course in Commerce, one in Civil engineering, and one in Letters and Science. One was dishonest in history, one in physics, one in speech, and one in topographical engineering. One was penalized for making false statements to the chairman of the committee.

HERB LITTLE TO SPEAK ON U. P. AT PRESS CLUB

"The United Press," one of the world's greatest news services, will be the subject of a talk at 7 o'clock tonight by Herbert B. Little, United Press representative here, at a regular meeting of Press club. The meeting will be at the Delta Pi Delta house, professional journalism fraternity.

Mr. Little's talk will explain the various branches of the United Press service in the United States and in foreign countries.

Tips will be given on the best means of preparing for and breaking into a job with a press association of this kind.

Mr. Little entered the United Press service shortly after being graduated from the department of journalism of the University of Kansas, and later was given the much-coveted post here. The Madison office of the United Press is considered one of the best stepping stones to Washington, D. C., or to foreign service.

While in the University of Kansas Mr. Little was correspondent for a number of papers. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, honorary professional journalistic fraternity.

CIRCULATE 400 DANCE TICKETS

Prom Committee Announces Feature Acts For An- nual Hop

Four hundred tickets for the pre-prom dance were circulated among fraternity houses by the pre-prom dance committee yesterday, Albert V. Stegeman, chairman of the committee, said last night.

The dance, which will be the last university social function before the examination period, will be given Saturday night in Lathrop hall. It is expected that 500 tickets will be sold before Saturday.

"The dance will not be a prom function," Stegeman said. "We want to encourage every one to attend whether they will be at the prom or not. It will be informal and will be one of the kind that is easy to enjoy."

A program of special features to be given at the dance is being prepared by the committee at the present time. The acts, as arranged at the present time, will consist of saxophone numbers by Jimmy Van Altena and "Skeets" Gilmore, and an act by Ida Creery who will offer several vocal and piano numbers. More features will be announced later, according to Stegeman.

Gilmore's 10-piece orchestra will play for the dance. The entire gym will be decorated by a committee being directed by Sidney R. Thorson '24, who was in charge of the decorations of the Military ball and who has had experience as decorator and stage director for Haresfoot productions. Novel decorating effects will be used on the stage for the special features.

Tickets for the dance will be sold at $2. In addition to the fraternity sale, tickets can be secured at Morgan's and at the University Pharmacy.

BIRD AUTHORITY TO LECTURE HERE

William Beebe, noted world ornithologist, zoologist and author will give an illustrated lecture at 8 o'clock Tuesday night, January 16, in the auditorium of the Biology building.

Mr. Beebe has studied wild life in the jungles of South America and other parts of the world and has taken moving pictures of animals and birds in their native haunts. Some of these films will be shown in conjunction with the lecture. People who have seen them declare that they are the most interesting pictures that they have ever seen.

The lecturer has written several books "The Bird," "Our Search for a Wilderness," "Tropical Wild Life" and "Jungle Peace," being the best known.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Jan. 8—By consistent playing and close guarding Wisconsin's net team defeated Indiana here tonight 17 to 10.

Williams, Wisconsin guard, lead in the defense and worked well with his teammates in their offensive plays. Neither team was able to score from the field in the first eight minutes of play.

Gage scored the first point from the foul line. Indiana took the lead in the next few minutes with a field goal by Knoy, who had taken Crowe's place at floor guard. Elsom soon put the Badgers back in the lead, which they retained through the game.

The half ended 9-6. In the second period Wisconsin started with a series of long and short passes which netted them two field goals. Elsom went wild in the second period and annexed three field goals for Wisconsin.

With five minutes to play, the Crimson substitutes started a rally but were soon halted by a strong defense, headed by Williams and Tebell. The Badgers retained the ball the final three minutes of play and annexed a pair of goals which brought their total to 17.

Indiana scored but one field in final period. Gibson was the only substitute made by the visitors during the first period. Both teams used short passes but the Badgers combined passes with a series of long throws almost the length of the floor.

In the first period Indiana missed several close shots and Wisconsin opened their defense several times and offered Indiana a chance to come back but they were closed again before much danger was done.

Tonight's game was the first Crimson conference tilt this year.

SPANISH LOVE FINER ARTS

—SOLALINDE

Lecturer States His Countrymen Lead World in Classic Learning

"Spain pays more attention to art, literature, history and learning than all the rest of the world," Prof. Alfonso Solalinde of Madrid asserted yesterday afternoon, when he spoke for more than an hour to a large audience on "Life of Madrid."

Professor Solalinde will speak again at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in 112 Bascom hall on "Alfonso the Wise," a Spanish king of the Thirteenth century. The lecture will be illustrated by lantern slides. Berta Leonardi will sing Spanish songs of that period, accompanied by Prof. Arnold on the piano.

"Students in American universities don't have the same attitude nor work as hard as the students of the Spanish universities," Professor Solalinde said, claiming that American youths seek only their diplomas.

A number of lantern slides illustrated the important and most beautiful buildings of Madrid and showed pictures of the renowned painters, authors and statesmen of Spain.

WEATHER: FAIR

Generally fair weather for today and tomorrow is the local forecast. No decided change in temperature is expected in the next 36 hours.

Will Suspend Activities Rule For Three Lectures

The suspension of all regular student activities from January 14 through final examinations, January 31, has three exceptions, according to Dean S. H. Goodnight. They are the lectures to be delivered by Bishop O'Connell, Mr. Beebe and Hugh Walpole, scheduled for January 15, 16 and 18, respectively.

S. G. A. rules for women in effect during this period will be 10 o'clock for all nights, but Fridays and Saturdays, when the 11 o'clock ruling will be made.

Hugh Walpole Warns English Not To Miss Lewis' "Babbitt"

English Author Glossarizes American Slang For His Countrymen

Hugh Walpole, English author, warns English readers that they will make a great mistake if they miss reading "Babbitt" by Sinclair Lewis. Mr. Walpole has written an introduction to the English edition of the book and he declares that "Babbitt" is not only a warning but a friend.

Mr. Walpole will appear in Madison January 18 under the auspices of Theta Sigma Phi to lecture on "The English Novel."

"Main Street" seems an ugly book dealing with ugly people to many English readers, says Mr. Walpole, but he believes that "both the heroine of the book and her husband were beautiful characters, most tenderly revealed."

He does agree, however, that much of Mr. Lewis' detail in "Main Street" was difficult for an English reader to penetrate and that it did hinder the reader's view of the essentials of the book. Walpole opines that at first sight "Babbitt" is guilty of the same crime and that the English reader will find the dialogue strange and the American business atmosphere complicated.

In the back of the English edition of "Babbitt" is a glossary of American slang used in the story to make the reading of the book less difficult for the English reader. Several interpretations of the American vernacular are very amusing and the English reader, with this glossary in hand will find the book beset with difficulties. A few random shots from the glossary are:

Booster—one who pulls a thing's value.

Bottlegging—illegal trading in drink, the drink usually carried in a boot.

Bulldoze—to bully with softness.

Dog—side.

Doggone—puritanical euphemism for damn.

Dub—a fool.

Dumbbell—a silent fool.

Flivver—a cheap motor car of delicate build.

Gee—puritanical euphemism for God.

Heck—familiar for Hecuba, a New England deity.

House—brothel. Middle-western for idea.

Ice cream soda—a ghastly hot weather temperance drink.

Phi Beta Kappa—numerous college societies.

Prof.—middle western for professor.

Queen—respectable woman.

Razz—for fair—the heavy censure.

Regular fellow—orthodox business man.

Roughneck—antithesis of high brow.

Saphead—having water on the brain.

Square—middle western for square meal.

Tip my beany to—to take off my hat to.

Tux—American for dinner jacket.

Where you get off—where you are making a mistake.

Wisenheimer—well informed man of the world.

TO GIVE SHORT NEWS COURSE

Journalism Professors Prepare Program For State Editors

A short newspaper course, conducted by the Course in Journalism, will be given Wisconsin editors and publishers Feb. 1, 2 and 3. Mr. John A. Kuypers and Mr. Louis Zimmerman, leaders of the Wisconsin Press association, selected from several offered a list of topics of those problems they wished discussed. The W. P. A. made the following selection:

"New Ideas in Headline Writing, Makeup and Typography."

"Making the Most of Local News Sources, Features and Cuts."

"What to Tell the Merchant in Soliciting and Writing Ads."

"What is the Best Make-up for Weekly Newspapers?"

"How to Get the Most out of Rural News Sources."

"What to Tell the Farmer About Advertising," also "Advertising Rates, Rate Cards, and National Advertising."

"Hints in Handling of Correspondents and Their Copy."

"What is Good News Writing?" and "Making the Most of Pictures and Ready Prints."

"What to Do with the Editorial Columns."

The result is that one 40-minute "class hour" during the Course will be devoted to each of these discussions. Teachers of each subject have been instructed to supply concrete, definite data that editors can write down and take home to put into practice, instead of taking up the subject in a broad, unorganized manner.

The course is gratis, provided reservations are made in advance.

What chance have you got against him?

IT was a cynic who said: "Some men go to college. Other men study."

A slander! But yet there probably are college men whose bills for midnight oil are not large.

And there are men who left school in the lower grades who, along with a hard day's work, put in long hours of study—spurred on by a dream and a longing.

Look out for them.

The achievements of non-college men in business suggest an important fact. Success seems to depend, not so much on the place where a man studies, as on the earnestness of the student.

But, granting equal earnestness and ability, it is still true that the college man has the advantage.

Regular hours for study and lecture, the use of library and laboratory, the guidance of professors, contact with men of the same age and aspirations—all these will count in his favor, if he makes the most of them.

A big "if." The new year is a good time to start making it a reality.

VARSITY TRACK SQUAD ROUNDS INTO CONDITION

Men Are Working Out Daily as Meets Approach

Easy work for the candidates for the varsity track team is a thing of the past for Coaches Tom Jones and Mead Burke are requiring more and more of the men as the first meets are approaching. The runners are required to work out five times a week and the field men four times.

A number of sophomores from the track classes have been added to the varsity squad recently which brings the total number on the squad up to sixty-four men.

Coach Burke has classified the men in the following events:

Sprinters.—Capt. Ralph Spetz '23, Frederick Ellison '23, Sydney Eagleburger '23, Edward Johnson '23, Harry Hill '25, Robert Krohn '24, C. H. Wiseman '24.

Milers.—Wayne Ramsay '23, Wells Sherman '25, George Piper '25, Lionel Tschudy '23, John Bergstrasser '25, G. F. Lange '25, Lucius Chase '23, Russell Stiles '25, Frank Gunderson '24.

Two milers.—Gerald Wade '23, Russell Perry '25, Carl Rossmeissel '23, Alfred Schneider '24, Robert Trieter '25, Everett Swingle '25, Walter Peterson '25, Robert Crubb '25.

Quarter milers.—E. W. Johnson '23, Irving Wade '23, Harry Hill '25, Lee McCandless '23, Leslie McClure '23, Albert Menke '25, George Graham '25, G. A. O'Brien '25, L. G. Holmes '25.

Hurdlers.—Foster Newell '23, Eugene Tuhtar '25, Richard Gibson '24, Edward Gibson '23, Al Schneider '24, Donald Jones '25.

Pole Vaulters.—William Hammann '24, Don Jones '25, George Tomlinson '24, Roy Hestwood '25, Elmer Krieger '24.

Half milers.—Lloyd Valley '25, I. Wade '23, Philip Niederman '25, Tom Carter '25, Don Campbell '25, Bert Hilbert '25, Lynn Stewart '25.

Broad jumpers.—Johnson, Richard and Edward Gibson, LaVern Muzey '25, Smith '25, Forest Pritchard '25.

Shot putters.—Myron Van Ells '23, Lloyd Yaudes '23, John Gilbreath '25, E. B. Donohue '25, Milton Stangel '25.

High jumpers.—Peter Platten '24, Donohue, Tuhtar, R. Gibson, Francis Henning '25, Don Mack '25, John Anderson '25, George Helz '25.

By far the larger number of these men are new on the varsity squad, and are practically unknown quantities to the coach. There are a number of old reliables on the team among whom Captain Spetz, Ramsay, the Wades, Tschudy, Platten, and Van Ells and a few others will figure largely in gaining Wisconsin's points this season.

Burke seems well pleased with shot putters, especially Van Ells, Yaudes, Gilbreath and Donohue. The work of Jones, a sophomore pole vaulter is another encouraging feature.

OHIO U. SOCCER TEAM WINS IN STATE TOURNEY

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 8.—The Rainbow soccer team at Ohio State university is as colorful as its name. Thirteen students from foreign soils and two Ohioans comprise the squad which has just won the university championship from a field of 34 teams divided into seven leagues. The intramural champions veritably swept the field. Not content with merely winning nine consecutive games, the Rainbows added to the impressiveness of their records by blanking all opponents. To make their claim more convincing, the Rainbows trounced an all-star aggregation from the university leagues 5 to 0 in a post-season encounter.

Leland Stanford Loses Four Star Football Men

Four star varsity athletes and five freshman football players were among the 91 students dismissed from Leland Stanford university for deficient scholarship.

Steve Pulaski Will Be Lost to Football Team

The 1923 Wisconsin football team suffered a serious loss when Steve Pulaski, star end, withdrew from school recently. Pulaski, who is married and has two children, lives in Stevens Point. Although he was not a regular until the closing games of the season, Pulaski established a reputation as being one of the best wingmen in the Middle West. He was placed on many honorary teams and was expected to fill the shoes left vacant by the graduation of Gus Tebell.

HOOSIERS HAVE CHAMPION FISH

Moore Holds Five Amateur State Swimming Records

(Special to The Cardinal)

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Jan. 8.—Indiana university has the strongest and best balanced swimming team this year that it has ever had, due principally to the expert tutelage of its new swimming coach, Williams S. Merriam, of Indianapolis, and the stellar work of Captain Henry Churchman and John Moore, recognized as two of the best individual performers on the team and at the present time the holder of five amateur state records: the fifty-yard outdoor, the 100 yard indoor, the 220-yard indoor and outdoor, and the 440-yard indoor free style events.

Last summer young Moore won the Ohio river swim, at Cincinnati, a distance of four and one half miles from 38 competitors and is recognized as the national champion for that event. In his daily workouts he has been swimming all his events in time almost equaling Big Ten Conference records.

Captain Churchman is a close second to Moore and has held several state records in past years. He also swims the 40-yard, 100-yard, 220-yard free style events and the relay and can usually be counted on to place in all.

Thompson and Ashby are two other dash men who are good in their events. Lauter is a back stroke man of three years experience. Lieber is swimming his first year in the breast stroke. In the plunge, Clark and Bradt are both men of three years' varsity experience who last year placed in most of the meets. Only one good man is available for the fancy diving events and the coach is working with several men to strengthen this weak spot.

The strength of the Varsity tank team was first shown on Dec. 9 when the strong Hoosier Athletic club team was defeated at Indianapolis, 38-30. The remarkable swimming of both Moore and Churchman were responsible for the victory. Moore won three firsts and Churchman three seconds in the three events in which they were entered: the 40-yard, the 100-yard, and the 220-yard free style events, making a total of 24 points out of 38.

Indiana meets three Conference teams this year which means keener competition than ever before. Wisconsin, Northwestern, and Purdue will be met during the winter. The Indiana team will take part in the Conference meet at Chicago, on March 15 and 16.

The following meets remain on the Crimson schedule:

Jan. 12—Wisconsin at Madison.

Jan. 27—Northwestern at Bloomington.

Feb. 2—Michigan Aggies at Bloomington.

Feb. 10 or 17—Hoosier A. C. at Bloomington.

Feb. 23—Purdue at Lafayette.

March 15 and 16—Conference meet at Chicago.

Consider Merriam Exceptional Coach

(Special to The Cardinal)

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—In William S. Merriam, Indiana university has one of the best swimming coaches in the state of Indiana. The new coach came to Indiana from the Hoosier Athletic club of Indianapolis whose teams he has coached for several years, and under whose

SWIMMING TEAM HURT BY LOSS OF INELIGIBLES

Six Regulars Barred From Competition on Account of Studies

With the first conference swimming meet but four days distant the old ineligibility hoodoo has cropped out to put a crimp in Badger hopes for a pennant winning team. At least six men and possibly more from the swimming team were unofficially announced ineligible yesterday.

The Indiana team is scheduled to come to Madison to meet the Badgers next Friday evening. While the Hoosiers have not been credited with having a strong team for the past few years, the dope points in a different direction for this winter.

Coach Joe Steinauer put his men through a strenuous workout yesterday afternoon, giving much attention to the fancy divers. There is a great deal of good material for the event, but many rough edges will have to be taken off before winners are produced.

Captain Bennett took a few lengths displaying the same old form in the dashes which played an important part in winning several matches for Wisconsin in dual meets last year. Bennett is considered one of the best swimmers in the conference at the present and will be a powerful factor for Wisconsin again this year.

The water basketball team took a session of hard work and scrimmaged for half an hour. Several good men, among them Shorty Barr of football fame, reported for the water cage team for the first time last night.

tutelage they have made an excellent record.

Merriam is an expert long distance swimmer and is the holder of various records now. He holds the state record for the half-mile event in 12:35 which he made ten years ago in Indianapolis.

He is also the holder of the record for the Bighyon beach two mile swim in 55 minutes. This is a national event held in New York. Since this record was established none have equalled it and only two men have made the distance under an hour. Merriam has participated in the St. Louis river swim for five years and in that time has won it once and in the remaining four times has placed above fifth.

The new coach assumed his coaching duties at Indiana about Nov. 1 and has been getting results from the large squad of swimmers. He knows the fine points of swimming which he obtained from his long experience at coaching and his own participation in the sport.

Former Badger Grid Star Angling For Coaching Job

Hod Ofstie, famous Wisconsin end in 1912 and now coach of Mississippi A. & M., is in Madison for a conference with Coach Thomas E. Jones and the athletic council regarding the position of head football coach to succeed John R. Richards, resigned. Ofstie was an All-Western wingman when Wisconsin had its last championship team.

JORDAN MOTORS OFFERS PRIZES FOR STUDENTS

Edward S. Jordan, president of the Jordan Motor Car company, Cleveland, and a former student of the university, is offering $5,000 in prizes to students who desire to earn part or all of their way through college.

Mr. Jordan says that when he was working his way through college he often wondered why business men did not offer more opportunities for students to earn part of their expenses. Now that he is in a position to help students who are working their way through college, he wishes to do something for them.

The car manufacturer thinks that it would be fairly easy for students to get prospective buyers for his cars during their leisure hours.

With regard to the prizes he makes the following statement: "To the man or woman who succeeds in bringing to us the largest number of prospective purchasers who actually buy Jordan cars, we will give $2,000. For second prize, we will pay $1,500, for third prize, $1,000 and for fourth prize, $500.

Further information regarding the prizes and contest can be obtained by writing to the Jordan company.

STUDENTS WINNERS IN ESSAY CONTEST

Three of the prize winners in the essay contest recently conducted by the Milwaukee Journal were Della O'Geran, grad, Louis Wigonitz '26, and Waldemar Naujoks '24, all university students.

The winning essays, which were written on Eskimo life and customs were selected from a number of 3,000, by a committee of judges headed by Wm. A. Ganfield, president of Carroll College. The aggregate sum of the prizes awarded was $1500.

Miss O'Geran, grad was awarded the sum of $50, Naujoks and Wigonitz each received a $5 prize.

The contest was unusual in that the writers embraced every rank and profession. Neither age nor profession prevented eligibility; writers, college students, lawyers, professors, school boys and girls and doctors as well as mechanists and other craftsmen, were entitled to enter the contest.

MICHIGAN SEES POSSIBILITY OF WINNING TEAM

Basketball Championship Looks Close After Easy Win

Dual championship teams is the hope that is raging in the breast of every loyal Wolverine due to the overwhelming victory which Michigan acquired last Saturday night in its game with the University of Illinois.

Michigan smothered the Illini. A school that was conceded to be one of the strongest contenders for premier honors lost by the score of 30 to 13.

Early season reports were that the Wolverine institution was not as strong as it might be, but the opening tilt makes Michigan loom as the strongest opponent for the Big Ten basketball flag.

Haggerty, playing his first game for the Maize and Blue was the sensation of the game. He sunk six balls in the old gaboon before Illinois knew the game had started. The strong defense put up by the Wolverines was a revelation. Nearly all of the Indian baskets were made from more than the center of the floor.

Coach Mather has a team that is to be feared by any outfit in the Western Conference.

Wisconsin handed Northwestern the usual annual wallop by a 21 to 10 score. Williams stepped out in real form to 10 score, Gus Tebell and Rollie and showed the Purple fans how baskets were shot. The Badgers opened the scoring and their lead was never overtaken.

The Badger team won its second Conference game of the season last night when it defeated Indiana at Bloomington, 17 to 10.

Iowa ushered in its basket shooting season in the Big Ten by a 35 to 23 win over Chicago. The Maroons felt keenly the loss of Milt Romney and were continually on the defensive.

The Hawkeyes have a rare combination on their team in that it is heavy as well as fast. The Iowa school will, in all probability, develop into a real contender for the championship.

Illinois arrived at Columbus yesterday to engage Ohio State in the Buckeye's opening contest of the season. The Ohio State school is not thought to have a strong line up and the Illinois entered the game heavy favorites.

Chicago comes to Madison next Saturday night to avenge the tie which the Badger football machine held the Maroon team. Coach Stagg will do some hard work this week in preparation for the Wisconsin tilt and fans will see a real game this week-end when the two teams clash.

WISCONSIN WINS

W HILE the beginning is never the end, a good start fore-casts a good ending.

And Wisconsin's glorious victory over Indiana last night, closely following the opening triumph at Evanston Saturday night, bids well for a high conference season.

That Coach Meanwell knows the art of basketball is a matter of fact. His remarkable record of championships at Wisconsin and Missouri have made him an outstanding coach in basketball.

Initial defeats in the preliminary contests only served to stimulate the team to greater results, although the best strength and skill of the players are never fully spent.

It's a glorious beginning. May it end as gloriously!

THE CRAZE FOR CRAMMING

W HEN can the mind produce the best results?

Psychologists, seeking research information of practical use to mankind, have made experiments on the aptitude of brain cells to function under different conditions.

Just what the mind is capable of performing is an interesting problem, of course. We always admire the person who can obtain apparently with little effort the remarkable mental results akin to the genius.

The conversation of a certain student was unintentionally overheard last week-end. He was boasting loudly that he had written the best English theme of his university years at 5 o'clock in the morning after a strenuous night of dancing and under the stimulus of beverage stronger than coffee.

If his conclusion would be accepted in answer to the question, we might advise a dance and Bourbon.

But since the student did not explain the natural results of his mental and physical spree, such a conclusion would be certainly incomplete.

In preparation for examinations, students have adopted various methods.

The stimulated fool who produced the cracking good English theme evidently didn't have classes the following day. Nor did he have a series of crucial tests to face after fooling his brain the first time.

Some students, in an frantic effort to cram a semester's knowledge into the mind in a few days, imbibe coffee by the pint, smoke strong cigars and scores of cigarettes, and burn the midnight oil like a reckless speeder.

Others lock themselves in their rooms, and start an intensive 24-hour schedule of studying during the examination period.

If mental telepathy could be received by radio, the jargon of thought waves traversing the campus air at nights in the exam week would perhaps deafen the ears.

Two weeks remain before examinations. The value of a thorough final preparation before the tests themselves offers a study for economists. Students who neglect the opportunity, spend evenings bowling, fussing and otherwise in waste, will place a low value on the two weeks.

The value which the same students, frantic at examination time by the failure to prepare, would then place upon the two weeks, might be startling to a banker.

When can the mind produce best results?

Undoubtedly when the student has properly acquainted it with the knowledge necessary for obtaining them.

JUST $70,000 A YEAR

I F some campus mathematician told you that $10,000 was spent at Wisconsin each week-end on dancing and entertainment, you would probably laugh and ask for facts instead of guesses.

But when the business manager of the university states that $68,572.49 was spent here last year just to provide you with lectures, concerts and convocations, the facts are presented which surprise and astonish.

That nearly $70,000 could be spent on this phase of education is unusual. It is more unusual because it represents one item, out of the $5,249,370 annual expense account, which is extra circulum.

The courses are required, but the lectures and concerts are additional, special opportunities for the benefit of students. It is not until we read the year's bill that the enormity of this extra dish on the menu is revealed.

ANSWERING ESMERELDA

Editor's Note:—The discussion of the subject broached in Esmerelda's sonnet in the Skyrockets column on Saturday morning promises to be interesting; but it exceeds the limits of space in that part of the paper. The following answer to the versifier seems to merit an answer from Esmerelda, or will somebody else take her part?

TO ESMERELDA:

The last line of your sonnet is the key to your problem if there is one. "A wanton kiss is all that they expect." In most cases that is all a girl has to offer. The ones I have dated this fall were not even able to discuss intelligently their own majors.

It seems that the attractive girls do not care to skate, nor do many of them play tennis well enough to afford competition. Evidently you are of the kissable kind or else you have an exceedingly good imagination.

Yet the choice of one of Hugo's characters—that particular one I mean—leads me to think you care not for such indulgences. But now I ask you, what else have you to offer to make our association attractive? Tell the Skyrocket your accomplishments. At least you have read one exceedingly good novel. That is a good beginning.

HOME COLLEGE IS CRITICIZED

O'Shea Discusses Junior University Idea in Sentinel Article

That young people who live at home until they reach the age of 20 lack initiative and resourcefulness when they get out, and are handicapped in adjusting themselves to the social situations which they actually will meet in the world were ideas expressed by M. V. O'Shea, professor of education in an article published in the Milwaukee Sentinel Sunday.

People everywhere are discussing the advisability of establishing home colleges by extending high school courses for several of years. That some advantage would flow from this in certain cities, there can be little doubt; but there are serious objections to it when viewed from the standpoint of developing initiative, resourcefulness and independence in our young people the professor said concerning junior colleges and their proposed establishment.

Complaining that Americans are likely to be too soft and sentimental about their children, professor O'Shea stated it would prove a means of grace to a young person to be placed before he has finished his teens where he can not be lamented over by father or mother when he goes home at night, and thus secure their influence in sidestepping his responsibilities.

One hears it said that a boy or girl should begin college work in a small college as compared with a large and complex institution. For a student who is eager of mind and who is reasonably serious in his interests, there can be no question that the large university offers advantages which could not be duplicated in a small home college.

In the university, a good student will be put in competition with a great many others of his quality, and this will tend to develop whatever ability and stamina he may possess in embryo. Besides, he will have an opportunity to emulate men who are accomplished things in every field of endeavor.

The conventional view that parents can and do watch over their boys and girls when they live at home and protect them from all moral dangers is largely a myth—witness the newspaper reports of irregularities among boys and girls in the early teens. It is within bounds to say that there is more deviltry perpetuated in high schools and home colleges than in large universities in which the current of life moves swiftly and powerfully and the minor forms of misdemeanors at any rate will not be tolerated.

That occasional criticism of poor

BRIEF ILLNESS CAUSES DEATH

President of Local Automobile Concern Summoned Sunday

Bro. Harold Hokanson, president of the Hokanson Oakland Co., died Sunday afternoon at 12:02 at St. Mary's hospital at the age of 33 years.

Death was due to acute hemorrhage meningitis, according to Drs. F. L. Gilbert and W. F. Lorenz of Madison, and J. H. Bertrand of De Forest, who were called in consultation. Death followed a brief illness.

Mr. Hokanson was a veteran of the World war, having spent eight months in the service.

He was born in Blekinge, Sweden, Jan. 19, 1890. On Oct. 9, 1912, he landed in the United States, coming direct to Madison where he learned the automobile business with the Hokanson Automobile Co.

He was married Sept. 14, 1918, to Miss Pearl Eta Bertrand, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Bertrand of De Forest.

He is survived by his widow, Pearl Eta, and his son, Harold Ralph, age 3; three brothers, Rudolph and Emil, of Milwaukee, and Albert of Chicago, as well as his father, who is 80 years old and lives in Sweden.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday, and will be private at the home, followed by public service at Luther Memorial church.

CLUB TO GIVE FRENCH PLAYS

Two Farces on Program to Be Presented Next Thursday

Two French plays are to be presented to the student public by members of the French club at 8 o'clock Thursday evening at Lathrop concert room.

"La Farce de la tarte et du pate" which is under the direction of Mlle. Marie Miocene, is the story of two beggars who under false pretenses are successful in obtaining from a baker's wife a beautiful pie which the baker has carefully baked for a party of a friend.

Edwin Buxbaum '25 and Yussof Zia '24 take the parts of the beggars, John Bosshard '25 the part of the baker, and Mary Chase '23, that of the baker's wife.

The other play on the program is "Les deux Timides." An important character in this play is a father who is so timid that he does not know how to refuse his daughter's hand to one of her suitors whom she does not love. A second suitor is as timid as the father and in his fear, does not know how to ask for the daughter's hand.

Miles, Jeanne Palisse and Germaine Tallandier are coaching "Les deux Timides."

The characters are the father, Benjamin Pearse '24; the daughter, Ellen Flynn '26; a suitor, Frank Bacon '23; another suitor, George Darby '24; the maid, Lucille Salentine '25.

Pearl Hagens '23 is in charge of properties and costumes.

Tickets may be obtained at the door at 25 cents.

Gladice Love Wins Gown, Guesses Cost of Dress

Gladice Love, 24, is the winner of a prize offered by the Vogue shop for the correct estimate of the price of one of the dresses in their window. Miss Love guessed the amount, which was $33.33, exactly. As her reward she will be able to select any dress within the next four months. Catherine Davis '25, came within 8 cents of the correct amount and received second prize.

NO GENEROSITY ASKS ENGLAND

Head of British Exchequer Asks No Alms of U. S.

WASHINGTON — Great Britain wants a fair business settlement of her five billion dollar war debt to the U. S. on such terms as will produce the least possible disturbance in the trade relations of the two countries, Stanley Baldwin, British chancellor of the exchequer declared yesterday in an address before the joint meeting of the British and American debt funding commissions.

"We are not here to ask for favors or to impose on generosity," said Mr. Baldwin. "We want a fair business settlement, a square deal, a settlement that will secure for America the repayment to the last cent of those credits which the U. S. government established in America for us, their associates in the war."

Would Mean Heavy Taxes

"The payment of our debt to you will impose upon us the necessity of levying heavy taxes to meet those payments. From the beginning of the war we were the heaviest taxed nation in the world. The total annual per capita taxation in Great Britain is today still greater than that of any other people."

"Further taxation would decrease the purchasing power of the British working man and reduce our consumption of American products. The effect of additional taxation would be inevitably to depress it. From the consequences of that I do not see how America can escape."

"Out of seven billion dollars worth of goods bought after the United States came into the war we paid for three billion dollars worth, leaving four billion dollars which were supplied on credit. Now, seeing that the debt is a debt for goods supplied, it would be natural to ask why not repay with goods?"

"These goods were supplied in war time at war prices. Prices have fallen so far that to repay four billion Great Britain would have to send to America a far greater bulk of goods than she originally purchased with the money loaned."

"Our wish is to approach the discussion as business men seeking a business solution of what is fundamentally a business problem. For myself I look forward to the meeting of the commission with hope and confidence. I believe that I shall not be disappointed."

Lauded By Sect'y Mellon

Mr. Baldwin's address was in reply to one of welcome by Sect'y Mellon, chairman of the American commission.

The treasury secretary assured the British representatives that the American commissioners were no less sensible than themselves to the virtual necessity of effecting a definite settlement on a basis entirely just to both. He added that the prompt payment by Great Britain of one hundred million dollars of interest during the last three months pending a final arrangement, was to his mind proof of the right spirit of financial integrity which he was proud to say had always animated both of the two great English speaking nations.

Will Repay U. S. Debt

In his reply Mr. Baldwin said: "We have come with the express intention of repaying our debt and it is owing to the practical difficulties of making international payments that we are about to consult with you in order to accomplish the end which we both have in view."

"We meet to settle the largest single financial transaction between two friendly nations, in the history of the world. We are here to arrange the terms of payment of the British debt to the United States. That debt was contracted in a common cause."

"It was the first contribution made by the U. S. to save civilization from being engulfed."

"Then we were enlisted in a common cause, we still have common economic interests. The payment of our debt to you involves much more than the transfer of huge sums from London to Washington. It must affect the future well-being of both countries, and on their prosperity depends to a large extent that of the entire world. The settlement we make here will determine the condition and material welfare of the great mass of wage earners in Great Britain and the U. S., their wives and children."

"Lincoln Co. Farmers Sent Me Here for Democrat Seed," Says Lone Democrat of Session

Richard Kamke

RICHARD KAMKE, the only democrat in the next legislature, arrived in Madison this morning from Merrill to represent Lincoln county in the assembly.

"The farmers of Lincoln county decided to send me to the legislature for seed," said Mr. Kamke today. "They haven't so much confidence in the republican party and they believe that it would be a good thing to keep the democratic party alive."

"While I may feel lonely in this legislature, you watch the democrats in 1924," continued Mr. Kamke. "The republican party has shown its inability to handle the affairs of the nation and the democrats will capture the nation again."

Mr. Kamke says that he has no bills in view which he will introduce. He expects, however, that state democrats will ask for introduction of measures in conformity with democratic pledges.

Mr. Kamke is a popular young man in Lincoln county. He is modest and a representative of The Capital Times had considerable difficulty in obtaining his picture and in getting him to discuss his plans. He is 39 years of age and has lived in Merrill since he was a year old.

No man in Lincoln county has a larger acquaintance with the farmers of that section. Kamke is in the farm implement business and it was the vote of the farmers that returned him a winner. In spite of the fact that La Follette and Blaine carried Lincoln county by 3,500 votes Kamke succeeded in defeating the republican candidate for the assembly.

Mr. Kamke has been on the common council at Merrill for the past ten years and at the present time is the president of the common council. He is married and has one child.

HUNDREDS OF POOR BOYS EARN WHILE THEY LEARN

Truly a poor boy's college is Indiana university where 65 trades and professions are being practiced by hundreds of students going through on their own resources.

From banking to window washing is a far cry, but the spirit of democracy prevails, and no honest way of making a living is regarded too high nor too low by any of the 3200 students enrolled. Although exact figures on the students' incomes are not obtainable, the W. M. C. A. employment bureau reports earnings of $7,000 by men students doing odd jobs in period of two months.

Poor boys and girls are attracted to Indiana university first by the fact that no tuition is charged.

The contingent fees amounting to $50.00 a year, are lower than in most other educational institutions of first rank. Economy with the student body is the rule not the exception. Probably most of the students spend, exclusive of railroad fare and clothing, from $350 to $500 a year. That these conditions have made a wide appeal is indicated from the fact that twenty states and eighteen nations are represented in the present enrollment.

To provide for all some of the comforts and social life which rich men's sons and daughters enjoy at school, 27,000 alumni are raising a fund of $1,600,000 with which a union building for men, a model dormitory for girls and an athletic stadium will be erected. These will be constructed of Indiana limestone in conformity with other buildings on the campus.

Among the occupations listed at the university's various employment bureaus are: carpenters, pharmacists, chauffeurs, sign painters, plumbers, bankers, paper hangers, and painters, automobile mechanics, piano tuners, musicians, clothes pressers, clerks, typists, gardeners, farmers, furnace tenders, yard men, housekeepers, bootkeepers, electricians, tutors, soda fountain boys, barbers, shoe shiners, waiters, boarding house purveyors, elocutionists, swimming instructors, stenographers, social secretaries, assistant librarians, dressmakers, seamstresses, laundrymen, office secretaries, accountants, window washers, corn huskers, dishwashers, waitresses, cooks, bakers, cobblers, grocery drivers, nurses, movie operators, news boys, sheet metal workers, telephone operators, bell boys, stenographers, typesetters, linotype operators, cistern cleaners, baggage men, coal handlers, butchers, riding instructors, caddies, porters, time keepers, apple pickers, wood choppers,

RUSSIAN WOMAN TO SPEAK HERE

Mme. Ponafidine Will Lecture on Experiences in Soviet Country

Mme. Pierre Ponafidine whose letters in the Atlantic Monthly in 1918 caused so much interest, is to speak at 7:30 o'clock Friday night in Music hall under the auspices of W. A. A.

Madame Ponafidine was born of American missionary parentage in Persia. She married a Russian diplomat with whom she lived for many years in various countries in Asia and Europe. She then settled on his estate between Petrograd and Moscow in 1903 and lived there among the peasants until she escaped with two of her three sons in February, 1922. She brings to the American platform a most interesting story of what happened in the Sovietizing of her husband's estate.

Her story of her escape across the river, stepping from cake to cake of ice, with the Bolshevik searchlights playing on her from all sides has been described by those who heard her as thrilling in the extreme.

When she arrived in America in February last year she learned for the first time of the death of Colonel Roosevelt. Not only was this information kept from them in Russia, but to show how the government controlled press and misinformed the public, she and her son were led to believe that America was on the verge of a bloody revolution, as a result of the recent railroad strikes.

Albert H. Lybye professor of history at Harvard, says in tribute to her. "Madame Ponafidine has many interesting stories to tell out of her experience in Russia before and during the war, in the time of the revolutions of 1917, and under the Bolshevik regime for more than four years. She has an excellent command of effective and idiomatic English, and depicts the scenes she has witnessed with great clearness and force."

Graduate is Successful as Chicago Opera Singer

As Olivia Monona, talented opera singer, Mrs. Oscar Hanks, daughter of Mrs. S. Goldenberger of this city, has become one of the best choristers of the American stage. Mrs. Hanks is a Madison girl, and was graduated from the University of Wisconsin with the class of 1909. She received a good musical education, but was not educated for opera. Shortly after her graduation she signed with the Chicago Opera company to sing in the chorus, and she has had a successful musical career in this field.

SONGS AND DANCES HEAD ORPH BILL

Evelyn Phillips and company, programmed as a speedy song and dance cycle, are holding down the feature spot on the Orpheum bill for the first half of the week. Two male members exhibit their eccentric steps to advantage and Miss Phillips proves an all around entertainer.

"Her Bashful Romeo" is the title of the comedy skit by Frank Fisher and Eldridge Gilmore. Their offering supplies an opportunity for bright patter and song.

A genuine novelty, which includes feathered creatures 124 years old is offered in the Bird Cabaret. More than 50 birds are introduced in the act.

Offering a song, then a joke or two, or perhaps a brief snatch on monologue, Billy Doss, "The Tennessee Roustabout" is making Orpheum patrons laugh the first half.

Wainman and Barr are presenting a musical treat that is far away from the ordinary. A gifted pianist and a violinists beyond the average, make it a diversion that reaches the "hit" class.

"An Artistic Diversion" with Bob Snell and Ernestine Vernon comprising the personnel of the duo, is an act of amazing and daring feats.

PRODUCTS LAB TO TEST 1,000 BOXES

The Forest Products Laboratory has received recently 26,000 feet of yellow pine, from northern California. Approximately 1,000 boxes and crates will be made at the laboratories from this lumber. After the manufacture of the boxes and crates they will be tested as to strength and ability to stand the strain of shipment.

Tests will be made to determine the proper thickness of material and nailing, to show flaws in the design of the wooden crates that these may be corrected, and to work out the best form of metal strapping and other bindings.

Each will also be tested in the drum wheel, that it may be determined how many hard knocks the boxes will be able to withstand before breaking.

Information derived from these tests will be turned over to the shippers of the country in order that waste through the breakage of containers may be more nearly eliminated.

That this laboratory activity is very important is shown by the fact that the box and crate industry here is the second largest in the United States, and that about four and a half billion feet of wood are used.

Rev. Dawson Leaves To Attend Convention

Rev. William Dawson, executive secretary of the Milwaukee diocese of the Episcopal church, left today in company with Rev. Reginald Williams, Milwaukee, for St. Louis where they will attend the international meeting of the executives of the church, Jan. 9-11.

Plans for raising the $21,000,000 during the next three years of the nation-wide campaign will be taken up at the meeting. Representatives from China, Japan, Alaska, and other foreign countries, will attend.

Enrollment at Minnesota Expected to Reach 8,750

The new total enrollment at the University of Minnesota is expected to reach approximately 8,750 in collegiate courses. Several new instructors have been added to the staff, to care for the additional students.

Milwaukee Dance Clears $300 For Memorial Fund

The Memorial Union holiday dance at the Hotel Pfister in Milwaukee was attended by approximately 300 couples and cleared $300 for the fund instead of $150 as was reported previously.

Hold Vocational Convocation in Madison This Week

The twelfth annual convention of the specialists in Manual Arts and Vocational occupations is to be held in Madison on January 11, 12 and 13. It is called each year by Dr. William T. Bowden, United States Commissioner of Education. The plans call for three sessions each day, to be held in round table manner. One specific subject will be discussed at each session, and will deal with appropriate and timely questions. The complete program with the names of the speakers and discussions will be ready for publication shortly.

With just the slightest touch of apology in her voice, Miss Nardin said "I may be old fashioned when I maintain that regardless of her present plans, every girl should take some courses that she can take into the home with her if need be, courses that will better fit her for an interesting companion to her children, courses that will remain with her as permanent possessions."

All the qualities that made up a model student type were women in to her interesting narrative about Mr. Successful Man who possessed just the right conceptions of physical health, mental balance, and breadth of interest, combined with the proper proportions of reason, judgment, cheerfulness, energy, refinement, originality, and efficiency.

"Why aren't you a more interesting person? Don't let your present traits be final. Make an honest self-analysis of yourself with a view towards necessary adjustments," Miss Nardin said.

The annual convocation is held to inform the freshmen women of sources of faculty and student help in planning their vocations and the most suitable pre-requisite courses.

I want to give $5000.00 to deserving college students

TWENTY years ago I was a student working my way through the University of Wisconsin.

There were only three jobs which were available.

One man ran the college paper and made some money.

Every other man had to wait on table or collect laundry.

I often wondered why some real business man did not give deserving college students an opportunity to make some money in their leisure hours.

One or two did, but the job was always that of selling books from door to door. I never considered that to be a real job.

Nearly every big university and college in the country is now maintaining a school of business administration.

Every student in that department of the institution will have to know something about selling.

I have made up my mind to give an opportunity to any number of students who care to take advantage of it.

Any student who has a little energy and a desire to pay a portion or all of his college expenses by doing a little work in leisure hours, can make enough money to accomplish this result.

In my opinion, the greatest business in the world is that of transportation. Because the demand for motor cars exceeds the supply, an automobile is the easiest thing in the world to sell.

There are eleven million of them in use in this country today, but only a few hundred thousand of them are enclosed cars.

The open sport models are just coming into vogue. Every college student knows someone who is going to buy an automobile of some kind.

The Jordan Motor Car Company will pay $5000 in prizes to those college students who show the best results as salesmen between the first day of January, 1923, and the first day of September, 1923.

In addition, the Jordan Company will pay a cash commission to every student who actually assists in selling a motor car.

We are not advocating the purchase of motor cars by students actually attending college. We are simply giving to the students in these institutions an opportunity to make some money to assist in paying their expenses in ensuing years.

Prizes are as follows:

First prize, $2000 to the man or woman who succeeds in bringing to us the largest number of prospective purchasers who actually buy Jordan cars.

Second prize—$1500.

Third prize—$1000.

Fourth prize—$500.

It would be impossible in this advertisement to give all the details. A little booklet describing the whole plan in detail will be sent for the asking. It is called, "Learn How to Sell While in College."

Just send me a postal or letter, giving your full name, home address, college address and the college you attend, and complete details will be forwarded immediately.
