1,000 Delegates

bers for the fifth annual Central Interscholastic Press association convention, which will be held here, November 28 and 29, were announced yesterday, following a meeting of the association board.

general chairman; Maurice Baker
'26, arrangements; C. R. Bush '25, entertainment; Ellis Fulton '25, exhibit; Margaret Patch '26, convention hostess; Gordon Brine '26, carnival ball; and Irene Norman '25,

the convention.

Timmons Heads Registration

The registration committee, on whom will fall the task of registering more than 1,000 delegates this year, will be headed by Ralph Timmons '26. His committee includes John Burnham '27, John Larch '27,
Mark Belanger '28, and Alice Colony '26.

Helen J. Baldauf '25 is chairman of the conference committee. Those

CARNIVAL TRYOUTS SET FOR TUESDAY

Two Cups, For the Acts Winning First and Second Places

Activities of homecoming carnival will begin at 7 o'clock Tuesday night when tryouts for the entertaining feature of returning alumni will be held, according to Gordon Arey '25, chairman of the carnival committee. The tryouts will be held in Room 1, Music hall.

"Appeals have been sent out to fraternities and other organized groups to produce acts for the carnival," Arey
said last night.
We hope to obtain an excellent
grade of vaudeville for the entertainment of alumni returning to Madison for homecoming.

"Two cups, for
the acts winning
first and second place, are being offered. As neither Haresfoot, Wisconsin players
nor any other dramatic production
group is eligible for competition, although they may enter acts, incentive is offered other groups to enter acts."

The carnival will be held the night of November 14 in the gymnasium. "We expect a large crowd of people to attend the carnival.
Eight of the best acts offered will be picked," Arey said.

Action Pictures of Today's Game to Be Shot By Diemer

The action of the Wisconsin-Michigan football game at Ann Arbor today, will not be missed entirely by the Badger stay-at-homes.

M. E. Diemer, university photographer, left yesterday for the scene of action, with camera, films, and all the other necessary equipment to obtain the most exciting views of the Badgers in action against the Wolverines.

Immediately after the game, Mr.
Diemer will get the first train back to Madison, arriving here at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. He will have the film ready for the first show at the Strand theater, Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Three hours,—the time required
for the actual finishing of the films,
if accomplished, will be a new record for quick photography and developing in Wisconsin. The football views will be shown as the regular supplement of the Daily Cardinal-Strand theater news reels.

PEP BAND PROVES WORTHY ADDITION

—MORPHY

Sport Organization Introduces
New Functions; Personnel Announced

"The place of the Pep band in university activities was proved by its performance at the team's send-off, Thursday afternoon," said Major Morphy, yesterday. "We feel that the band so far has well repaid the effort which has been expended upon it."

The new organization made its first appearance on the campus this year. For a long time a need has been felt for a band which can be used to arouse enthusiasm for athletics and activities which can not be done in the program of the regimental bands.

This year, under the direction of Major E. W. Morphy, band director, and Paul Faust '26, the organization was formed. Regular rehearsals have been held up to the present time and will be continued throughout the winter.

The athletic department has supplied the band with uniforms of specially designed sweaters. The Pep band endeavors to present something entirely different from the work which is put on by the regular university bands, according to Major Morphy.

The distinctive rhythm employed by the band on the march was purposely worked out by Major Morphy and the drummers, so that everyone can know when the Pep band is coming.

The following are the members
of the band:

Tom Merar '27, clarinet; A. Kiesling '28, cornet; Walter Pagen-kopf '26, trumpet; Gordon Janecek
'28, trumpet; Ben Zenoff '28, trumpet;
P. Jachimthal '28, clarinet; John Stehn '28, trumpet.

G. Harder '28, clarinet; Frank Wood '26, drums; Bob Gardiner '28, drums; Kieh Beggs '28, drums; G.
Egbert '28, cymbals; N. Dundin '28, base drum; Valentine Lindner '28,
saxophone.

Edward Rikkens '28, trombone;
Sam Kotzin '28, saxophone; A. Reinert '27, trombone; Harrison Smet-son '28, saxophone; Fred Ford '28, tuba; A. Adams '28, baritone;
P. Owens '28, tuba.

J. Blatecky '28, clarinet; A. Engebreton '28, alto horn; Kenneth Barrett '28, bugle; H. Goodell '26, clarinet.

OLBRICH TO ADDRESS
WOMEN ON POLITICS

M. B. Olbrich, a prominent Madison lawyer, supporting the Progressive party, will discuss the La Follette platform at a meeting of the Collegiate League of Women Voters, which will be held at 7:30 o'clock, Wednesday, October 29, in Music hall. This is the last of a series of meetings planned to acquaint university women with the three national political parties and to interest them in voting November 4. The Republican and Democratic tickets were discussed at the two former meetings.

TRIBUTES TO "HERB"

THE PRESIDENT

The tragic death of a young man like Opitz brings not only grief to his friends and his university, but also a great loss to the world. There are too few men like him—able, active, and helpful in carrying the burdens of society and pushing forward its work.

E. A. BIRGE.

HIS FRATERNITY

The passing of our dear brother leaves a deep sorrow with us who have lived with him for the past four years. To us he was an example of true friendship, sterling character and high moral standards.

We will always remember him for his constant cheerfulness, his high ideals, and his determination to accomplish.

PHI OF THETA XI.

HIS CHUM

The playtime of life, that time on the way to school, that time between classes, that time when good fellows get together on the front steps of the Engineering building,
is now a time of reflection and sorrow. Herbert C. Opitz has passed from our midst.

Whatever the tie that binds, whatever it is that makes friendships and secures them—Herb had lots of it and used it as though the twine were endless.

He was the type of fellow who would bring two chairs over to his drafting table instead of just his own—always looking out for his partner. No one could wish for a finer fellow, a greater friend than
"Opie."

HERBERT SCHMIDT '25.

ATHLETIC BOARD

How silently moves the hand of God! Suddenly into our very midst there comes a call: a call for one we have learned to love, a call for one we have learned to respect. It is hard for us who have remained behind to understand, and yet we must recognize our frailties, and realize that those who have passed into the great beyond have gone to even greater things than those which fill our mundane existence.

How true it is that a man's deeds live on, and though the earthly inheritance may pass, there remains that beautiful attribute of imperishable spirit. Even on his dying lips there came the murmur of Wisconsin. It was typical of Herbert Opitz.

Those who fought against him on the football field know, perhaps, his physical courage, but it is those who work beside him at the laboratory bench, those who lived with him from day to day, who counselled
and received counsel from him,
who knew best his greatest courage
and staunchness of spirit.

He was more than a man; he was a gentleman. Modest, perhaps too much, if that be possible, but always ready to help a friend—for friendship was his most cherished possession.

He is not gone, for the memory of Herbert Opitz will live as long as the spirit of Wisconsin lives—
and the spirit of Wisconsin is eternal.

FOOTBALL SQUAD TO ATTEND RITES FOR HERB OPITZ

Team Will Stop Off at Elkhorn
on Its Return
Journey

By FRED GUSTORF

The entire varsity football squad
will stop off at Elkhorn on the return from Ann Arbor tomorrow, to attend the funeral of their comrade, Herbert C. Opitz '25, who died here Thursday afternoon following a severe electric shock which passed through his body.

Six of his closest friends, among the grid men, will carry "Herb's" body to its final resting place. The remainder of the team will act as honorary pallbearers. Parents of the dead boy, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Opitz, requested of Athletic Director T. E. Jones the privilege of having the team at the service.

Team Wears Mourning Band

Opitz was fatally injured shortly before noon on Thursday while he was taking down an experiment in the electrical engineering laboratory. A large capacity condenser discharged through his body when he accidentally touched both terminals. Death came within an hour following the accident when his heart, which had gone into a state of fibrillation, failed to respond to tireless efforts by nurses and physicians to keep it beating.

A narrow black band probably will be worn on the sleeves of every man on Ferry field in cardinal jerseys. The armband will serve as an inconspicuous, silent tribute to the memory of the man who would have piloted Wisconsin against the Wolverines for a part of the game today.

Members of the team have stated that the death of their mate will not have a demoralizing effect upon their game, but will inject into them fight and determination to win for "Herb" as well as secure victory for Wisconsin.

Elkhorn Mourns

Opitz's body was taken to Elkhorn, the residence of his family, Thursday night. The burial service will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday, in the First Lutheran church. The Reverend Reimann will preach a short sermon.

The town of Elkhorn, where "Herb" has lived since a small boy, is grief stricken by the tragedy, according to statements received last night from prominent citizens and friends of the Opitz family.
They were expecting much from their boy on the football field this year, and his career at the university was a source of pride and comfort to his family and his town.
Elkhorn mourns.

But Elkhorn is not alone in her grief. Those who knew "Herb" and worked with him say they can not yet realize that he is gone.

MICHIGAN'S HOPESHaggerty, Cherry, and Doyle
Are Nucleus For Mather's
Cage Prospects

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Coach Mather's varsity basketball squad is slowly whipping into shape and October 24 will see the 50 men who reported for initial practice cut down to 35 or 40 with another slice to follow. Mather is faced with the problem of building a new team around the three letter men held over from last year: Haggerty, an all-conference forward, and Cherry and Doyle, guards.

Michigan's basketball schedule this year consists of 15 games, the hardest the Wolverines have faced since returning to the Western conference, and four nights a week are being used to whip the quintet into shape before the opening game with the Michigan Aggies on December 18.

So far two reserves, Landre and Kressback, guards, have impressed Mather favorably and out of the freshman team of a year ago, Rasnick, Line and Chambers, forwards, look good. Swan, guard on the freshman squad, is expected to survive the preliminary cuts.

So It Seems

The Wisconsin grid men will go to Ferry field this morning to get acclimated for the scrap this afternoon. Ryan gave his men some practice at Jackson yesterday to knock off a few rough corners and with a good rest last night they should be in fine trim.

The Michigan tackle who draws the assignment against Schwarze will have his hands full trying to keep the giant Badger lineman from breaking up the Maize and Blue attack.

Polaski and Blackman will put up a real game at the flank positions, and Coach Ryan is looking to them to break up the famed Michigan end runs. Both men are ready on punts and should prove to be no end of worry to the Yostmen's safety.

Callahan, Briggs and Hornbarger of the Michigan crosscountry team made the trial run last Saturday in 22 minutes 8.2 seconds. Both finished strong and were not extending themselves on the home stretch. Captain Shenefield also ran well but is slow to get in condition. The Michigan harriers are fast, and look for victory Saturday, but they may be over confident.

Badgers at Ann Arbor Play
Tilt on Pavilion Gridgraph

BY KEN COOK.

It's Wisconsin's ball, the play starts, it's a long run, the crowd is on its feet yelling madly, "Keep going." The ball is 10 yards from the goal, five yards, two yards, and over it goes. Pandemonium reigns.

But there are no players in sight, no referee's whistle can be heard, and most peculiar of all there is no stadium to be seen. The gridiron is a sheet of glass, the ball an electric light shining through the glass, the players mere names each with an electric light by it.

This is the gridgraph which portrays all of Wisconsin's football games on foreign fields. In the gridgraph, fans who have been unable to follow the team to an outside contest have the next best thing to a real game.

By means of electric lights the gridgraph depicts the game play by play. The spectator is able to know in as great detail as he is able to at the field just how the game is going. Reports come directly from the playing field to the gridgraph over a special telegraphic wire. A corps of three men operates the gridgraph.

This is the third year of service for the gridgraph. In former years telegraph wire reports were announced in the gymnasium. Originally the gridgraph was operated in the gymnasium where every showing was attended by a capacity crowd of 1,800 persons. Tomorrow the gridgraph will make its initial showing in the Stock pavilion at 2 o'clock where 4,000 to 5,000 persons may see it comfortably.

Gymnasts; Tumblers Show
Form and Ability

"There is more and better gymnasium material this year than we have ever had before," stated Coach Schlatter, after the first tryouts, held yesterday afternoon. "There are no men of outstanding ability," said the coach, "but there is a wealth of fair material, and all the prospects in the world for developing a winning team from them."

More than 30 men have worked faithfully since the opening of school on the bars, rings, side horse and tumbling. The best showing at present seems to be among the tumblers, who include several gymnasts of real ability and form.

Interclass, intercollege, and frosh-various contests are scheduled, and great interest is being shown by the men. The squad was not depleted noticeably by the tryouts yesterday, and very likely about 28 men will be retained.

Approximately 5,000 tickets have been sold at Notre Dame for the Wisconsin-Notre Dame game here November 8, and 5,000 more have been sold at Madison to the Catholic partisans, according to Paul F. Hunter, director of ticket sales.

There will be more partisans of the opposing team here for the game than ever before attended any Wisconsin game held at Madison. Several special trains will arrive in Madison Saturday morning just ahead of the team.

The whole school is coming to Madison to cheer for the Notre Dame gridders. Professors, instructors, and students will join together to make Randall stadium echo with yells.

Badger Coaches

No. 7—Fred Schlatter

Coach Schlatter of Badger gymnasium teams is a graduate of our own university. He was prevented from participating in any intercollegiate sports because he earned his way through school as a professional wrestler. While wrestling Schlatter won fame as a champion. After graduating from Wisconsin Schlatter went to the Los Angeles State normal school as head coach. Later he accepted the position of assistant superintendent of physical education in the public schools.

During the world war Coach Schlatter was boxing instructor for the 90th division at Fort Huston, San Antonio, Texas. Schlatter's boxers were among the best in the service.

In 1918 Schlatter came back to Wisconsin as head gymnasium instructor. Schlatter's gym teams have taken one conference championship and have always ranked high in other years. For two years Schlatter turned out a championship fencing team.

Since his return to his alma mater the gymnasium department has been placed on a higher scale than ever before. Required physical tests have been given all the male students, and the standard of physical efficiency has been raised to a standard that ranks along with the best colleges and universities in the country.

Coach Schlatter has turned out some stellar gymnasts for Wisconsin, the chief among these being Huck Schmidt. Schmidt, aided by Schlatter's careful coaching, won the conference all around championship at the meet last year.

OHIO GRIDDER
TANGLE CLEATS

Buckeye Student Body
This Afternoon

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 25—After a week of hard practice sessions Coach Wilce's Ohio State gridders are prepared to tangle cleats with Coach Stagg's Chicago eleven on the stadium gridiron here today in the annual Dad's day event.

Although the Maroons are conceded to have the advantage both in weight and in experience, the Buckeyes will enter the fray in a fighting mood and will put forth their best efforts to carry out the slogan of the student body, "Crush Chicago!"

Ward Is Pessimist.

Grant Ward, Ohio State scout and line coach, who watched the Stagmen defeat Brown and Indiana, declares that Chicago should beat the Bucks by a score of at least 20-0. Ward, however, is noted for his pessimism in regard to the local eleven's gridiron chances and the Wilcemen's spirit is not much dampened by his prediction.

Ohio State may be handicapped in that Marty Karow, star fullback, has been suffering from a charley horse this week and may not be able to start the game.

Unless a tie results, the contest will eliminate one of the two teams from the championship race. Both have 1,000 averages so far.

MICHIGAN RUNNERS'
PROSPECTS OF WIN
IN RACE IMPROVE

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 24.—After the good showing the men made in the trials last week for the Badger race Saturday morning here, the prospects for a victory over the strong Wisconsin harriers is much brighter. All the men on the team have been showing improvement during the last two weeks, and stic practices will help them make the best possible showing against other veteran teams of the conference.

ATHLETICS IN THE
COLLEGIATE WORLDBADGERS BATTLE ON FERRY GRIDIRON FOR PIGSKIN SUPREMACYCoach Ryan Expects Game to Hinge on Success of Kickers

Wisconsin has never beaten Michigan on Ferry field. That is the assumption on which Wolverine backers are basing their hopes, and that is the cry that is spurring the Maize and Blue team on to overcome the odds that are being placed against it in the coming encounter.

The team arrived at Jackson yesterday and took a light work-out in the afternoon, spending most of the time in running signals and in practicing punts and drop kicks.

That Coach Ryan expects the outcome of the game to hinge on the success of its kickers was evidenced by the care with which he groomed his backfield in this department, more so since news has leaked out that Tod Rockwell, Yost's only reliable punter, is hobbling about on crutches and will be unable to start this afternoon.

Badgers Feel Good.

All the Badgers are in good condition to start, and none of them is suffering from more than the ordinary contusions that are incident to the game. Nelson and Burrus are back in the harness and both may be selected to start, though the coach may elect to start Blackman at right end and replace him with the lank Louisville boy later.

Wisconsin's line is expected to outplay the Wolverine forwards, especially if the coach has succeeded in finding a man that will strengthen the right side of the line at the tackle position.

The left side, with Bieberstein, Nelson, and Polaski, should rush Michigan's forwards off their feet, and Bieb especially is expected to disrupt the Wolverine attack in his territory.

Miller, at right guard, has been playing his man on more than even terms so far, and should give a good account of himself today, although he is opposed by Slaughter, 200 pound Michigan guard. Teck was rated as one of the best centers in the Big Ten last season, and succeeded in playing Blott to a standstill, so the line, from left end to right guard is strong enough to hold up its end in good shape.

Right Tackle Weak.

Right tackle and end are probably the weakest points in the team, but if Burrus is in shape to replace Blackman, and if Schwarze and Straubel show improvement, the right flank will not prove so easy to penetrate as it was last week.

The same backfield that faced Minnesota will probably start today. Harris, Leo Harmon, and Larson will undoubtedly start, while Doyle will have the call over Eddie Williams and McAndrews. Both of these men are likely to see action at left half, however, as Doyle was unable to gain the ground in the last game that was expected.

The probable lineup is as follows:

Polaski, le
Nelson, lt
Bieberstein, lg
Teckmeyer, c
Miller, rg
Schwarze or Straubel, rt
Blackman or Burrus, re
Larson, qb
Harris, rh

Daily Drills Ordered
In City Fire Stations

Daily drills in all fire stations in the city have been ordered by Fire Chief Charles W. Heyl. In his order, Chief Heyl states that the drill will be held out of doors when possible, and in the stations during inclement weather.

The names of the men participating in the drills and the length of the drills must be reported. The drills are to consist of practice in coupling and uncoupling hose, placing ladders, connecting pumps to hydrants and in the use of other minor fire fighting apparatus.

NO SOCCER TEAM THIS FALL, SAYS SCHLATTER

"Because it has been impossible to schedule any games, no soccer team will be organized this fall," says Coach Schlatter. "There may be some practice in the spring, but nothing definite has been arranged as yet. The only soccer this fall will be in the gym classes."

Landscape Friends Will Visit Ancient Arrowmaker

The fall pilgrimage of The Friends of Our Native Landscape will take place Saturday in the form of a visit to "the ancient arrowmaker of Koshkonong." Mr. H. L. Skavlen on the north shore of Lake Koshkonong about eight miles from Edgerton and an equal distance from Camb. ridge. Madison members will go by auto either by highway 12 to Cambridge and then south or by highway 10 and 106 through Stoughton and Albion, leaving from the Monona ave. entrance of the capitol Saturday at 11 a.m.

Madison visitors intending to go by train should go to Edgerton instead of Ft. Atkinson and should notify Secretary F. A. Aust, so that transportation will be provided for them.

"On to Columbus" is the atmosphere that pervaded the Maroon campus as the Windy City gridders left for their important encounter with the Buckeyes. Starting out in a sickly fashion Coach Stagg's team has developed into a formidable aggregation as was evidenced by the large score they piled up against Indiana last week. The Ohio State eleven, after putting Purdue out of the title chase and holding Iowa to a tie, rested up last week and should be prepared to give the Chicago men a taste of real football. This game will have an important bearing on conference standings. Both of these teams are still in the 1,000 per cent class but a defeat to either of them means a low standing in the conference. Betting odds are slightly in favor of a victory to Coach Wilce's men.

The Hawkeyes will celebrate homecoming by taking on the Gopher eleven. Both of these teams have failed to show the brand of football that was expected of them. The Gophers were held to a tie a week ago by the Badgers while Iowa was held scoreless by Ohio. Both of these teams were doped to win handily by sport scribes over the country. By virtue of experienced material the Minnesota eleven should chalk up a touchdown or two more than Bert Ingwersen's gridders.

Illinois and Northwestern, after their hard conference games of a week ago are playing non-conference games today. The Illini should win by a large margin from DePauw. After the poor showing of the Purple against Purdue last Saturday, it would be no surprise if the Michigan Aggies would score a win over Thistlewaite's men. The strong Aggie team held Michigan to a low score in a preliminary game a short time ago.

Purdue and Indiana are scheduled for a rest today after hard games last week. The Hoosiers and Boilermakers have hard conference tilts next week and will take advantage of the layoff to get in condition.

The Big Three of the East are due for some stiff engagements today. Princeton will undoubtedly find the Notre Dame warriors too much for them. The Irish have been playing stellar football all season while Bill Roper's outfit have had somewhat of a slump. Harvard will have to play real football if

With 32 men entered in the freshman tennis tournament now being played off, Coach Masley has prospects for a winning freshman tennis team.

"The material this year," says Coach Masley, "is much better than the freshman material last year. There are more men out than there were last year, and greater interest is being shown. Among the star racketeers of the class of '28 are Boldenbeck, Kover, MacNeill, and Louie.

they hope to send the doughty little Dartmouth team back to New Hampshire in defeat. Last week

Dartmouth played the Yale Blue to a tie game. After being humiliated by the Dartmouth eleven, Tad Jones' team will try to stage a comeback in their duel with Brown.

The Army and Navy teams should have little trouble in their games with Boston and West Virginia.

Kansas and Nebraska will furnish the best game for western football fans. These two Missouri valley teams are both strong contenders for the Missouri conference championship. From the standpoint of past records the Cornhuskers should win by a slight margin.

Plan Matches With Chicago,
Ripon, and St. Louis For
This Fall

Twenty men were initiated into the Rifle club at a meeting held in the Scabbard and Blade room of the armory last night. The new members were elected on the basis of tryouts held during the past two weeks and will be engaged in a series of match competitions to be held this fall and next spring.

C. J. Randall '25, manager of the Rifle club, told the new men of the plans of the organization. He announced that an interclub rifle match for all members would be held this weekend and that the three highest scores would receive medal awards.

He also stated that a match with Chicago university at Chicago would be planned and that the rifle team would meet Ripon college and St. John's Military academy this fall. It is probable that a ten-man team will make the journey to each of these schools.

Mr. L. H. Bailey declares that no one can solve the farmers' problem today. That may be the case, but there are nevertheless plenty of people who are not only trying to solve it, but others who say they can and still others who say they have.

This works a great hardship on the students. If they want to send a letter with the package, they can attach it to the outside of the package and pay the regular first-class rate, two cents an ounce on the letter and the regular parcel post rates on the package.

BEAT MICHIGAN AT THE STOCK PAVILION

This afternoon Wisconsin plays the University of Michigan in the crucial game of its attempt to win the conference championship. A considerable portion of the campus has moved to Ann Arbor, to watch the game at first hand and to root the team to victory. The stay-at-homes will see the game this afternoon and will do their share of the yelling at the stock pavilion.

The grid graph has been located in that building instead of the men's gym this fall in order that the entire school may be accommodated. Those who have seen the board work in the past know that it gives a vivid and exciting picture of the game play by play; and they also know that there is just as much yelling, music, and general enthusiasm as there is when a game is actually going on in plain sight. This sky rocketing and uproar may be ludicrous in the eyes of unimaginative persons who won't root for a team unless it is within hearing, but certain it is that the moral support thus furnished does help the players, because they all are aware that it is there.

At any rate, the pep that is worked up at the grid graph is a good thing for the school, and it helps to make possible such demonstrations as was accorded the team at the send-off Thursday afternoon. That was probably the best send-off ever staged at Wisconsin, and it went a long way toward putting the boys in the proper fighting mood for the game today. But the task isn't finished yet; there will have to be an even larger crowd out when the team returns at 10:30 tomorrow morning. A big audience at the grid graph will do its bit to help, too.

CLASS FUNCTIONS

The why and wherefore of all the ceaseless activities that are constantly surging about a university campus are sometimes rather difficult to analyze and explain. It is not always perfectly obvious why there should be so many things going on, so many meetings, such diversified entertainments, and such a variety of distractions from the central goal of gaining book knowledge. Yet it is equally true that while this mess of activity in its entirety is hard to reconcile to the true purpose of a university, any one factor in this swirl of activities, upon careful examination of its merits, will be found to make definite and distinct contributions to the pleasure and education of the students.

The reason why many people fail to respond to an appeal to class spirit, or to an invitation to some class function or gathering, is probably that they feel the influence of too many distractions, and believe that class activities and organization are among the things that should be dispensed with. The fact that this is the case in many instances is illustrated by the small number of students who take the trouble to vote for their class officers, and also by the failure of many underclassmen to partake even in the class rush.

But rather than to be eliminated from college life, class spirit and organization merit much further development than they now enjoy, even to the detriment of some other aspect of campus activity. The class constitutes the fundamental basis for the organization of the undergraduate body of a school, and consequently it provides the best medium for building up college spirit and atmosphere as a whole. There has to be a starting point for this intangible school spirit just as for anything else, and its real conception and motivating force is derived from the individual classes.

The real reason for holding a "senior stag," a frosh welcome, with each class taking part as a unit, a junior prom, class luncheons, and freshman smokers, is that they all contribute to the loyalty of individual students to their alma mater, and help to give the campus a "collegiate" aspect. In addition to doing this, they provide a common ground upon which friendships can be formed and acquaintances made; they provide a certain amount of recreation which is needed by everyone; and they stimulate other activities such as publications, athletics, and the work of the Union board. Moreover, they are the beginning of the feelings of class unity which after graduation is the chief tie between students and the university, bringing them back for class reunions and other functions.

Any promotion of activities within the several classes is consequently worthy of support and encouragement. The various candidates for class offices have pledged themselves to further the Memorial Union campaign as a class activity, to hold frequent meetings, and to institute other activities. Those things all presage a better Wisconsin spirit.

Writer Quotes Conference Minutes in Last Article

By WALTER FRAUTSCHI '24

In closing this series of articles, the following statements taken from the conference minutes, which were unanimously adopted by all the delegates of those 28 nations, can explain more clearly than anything I might write the tendency toward an international attitude. This may not be a definite declaration for permanent peace, but it is an embryonic child, the most healthy I have found anywhere on the continent.

1. The conference realizes the contribution the European Student Relief has made towards the ideal of international understanding. Therefore, it recommends that the relief work should be carried on in the same spirit as heretofore. As it feels the importance of a universal student relief it urges that the European Student Relief should look forward to take up the task of a World's Student Relief and that it should submit to the entire student world the challenge and claim of international responsibility.

2. The European Student Relief is based on the comradeship and mutual responsibility of students. The European Student Relief has helped students, irrespective of their nationality, to help themselves and to cooperate on a basis peculiar to their respective nationalities. The conference wishes to emphasize the necessity of continuing this comradeship and mutual responsibility of the students of all nations.

LUTHER MEMORIAL TO FETE BIRTHDAY

First Anniversary of New Cathedral Will Be Observed Sunday

Luther Memorial church, built at a cost of $400,000 for Lutheran students at the university will celebrate its first anniversary Sunday, October 26, with three services at which Dr. J. S. Harold of Chicago, and Dr. Charles M. Jacobs of Philadelphia, will speak. A special reformation service to honor the memory of Martin Luther will be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. A. J. Soldan, pastor of Luther Memorial church, has not announced who will address the reformation exercises but said that some well-known church dignitary will be obtained.

Held to commemorate the dedication of Madison's most beautiful house of worship, the exercises Sunday are expected to attract 4,000 persons from the city and vicinity. At the morning devotion, Dr. J. S. Harold will occupy the pulpit. He is superintendent of home missions for the United Lutheran church of America and directs all church extension work for the synod. His talk will likely deal with the labors in which he is interested. Following the talk by Doctor Harold, the cathedral choir, comprising some 65 members, will sing specially prepared anthems. Several pipe-organ numbers will also be played.

Dr. Charles M. Jacobs, Mount Airy seminary at Philadelphia, has been secured to address the Reformation festival gathering at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. An outstanding church educator and a powerful speaker, he is to dwell on high points in the life of the founder of Lutheranism. Singing of Martin Luther's hymns will form a portion of the afternoon jubilee. Prof. A. M. Berthelson, organist of Luther Memorial church, will give a pipe organ recital.

Exercises at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening will be conducted by some church dignitary secured from among those in attendance at the national conference now being held at Chicago. Rev. A. J. Soldan is at present in attendance there and expects to obtain a speaker of note. Choir singing and a short pipe organ recital will also feature the evening devotional.

Since its completion a year ago, Luther Memorial church has grown by the addition of nearly 200 members and has served an increasing number of students. More phenomenal still is the expansion in membership since the present congregation was taken over by Rev. Soldan five years ago. At that time approximately 100 persons comprised the membership. Now Luther Memorial church has over 1,000 on its roll, this not counting students from the outside who have not been able to join as members until recently.

BEEMEN ATTEMPT TO MAKE BADGERS SWEET

The American Honey Producers' league is striving to sweeten Wisconsin by promoting a campaign in favor of honey.

The league, headed by B. F. Indig, Lansing, Mich., as president, and H. F. Wilson, beeman at the university, chairman of the advertising division, are planning to get all the beekeepers in the United States and Canada to cooperate with the storekeepers in giving demonstrations on how and why to use honey.

The league was organized four years ago for the purpose of aiding beekeepers in maintaining high standard in business and also to find stringent methods of combatting bee diseases. Systematic advertising has been adopted, standard grades of honey have been established, methods of packing and shipping have been improved, and tariff rates have been reduced through the efforts of this league.

The department's announcement was made while Secty. Mellon and other ranking officials at the treasury were withholding any definite opinion. Revenue Commissioner Blair, however, indicated that he regarded publication of the returns as a violation of the law.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—For the first time in the history of the income tax law amounts paid by individual taxpayers and corporations are now open to public inspection. Announcement was made today law of 1924 enacted last June. The law has been interpreted by the bureau of internal revenue to apply to all income tax returns made after Jan. 1, 1924, whether filed under provisions of the revenue act of 1924 or prior acts.

This means that income tax returns filed last March on earnings of 1923 are included. The law does not permit complete returns to be made public, but merely lists of names of taxpayers, their post office address, the amounts paid on all original and additional assessments, and also penalties and interest payments.

"It is the desire of the internal revenue service to afford every facility to persons seeking information to which they are entitled, and the bureau is prepared to cooperate with the public to the fullest possible extent," says today's announcement.

Printing Rule Confused

Treasury officials in Washington informally indicated, according to Associated Press dispatches, they were not entirely clear as to the extent this provision may go toward prohibiting publication, but said on the face of things it would appear publication is prohibited in spite of the fact that the public is entitled to see the tax lists.

"The information which will be given the public on application will be taken from the assessment lists," Mr. Wilkinson said. "This list is prepared in such form the clerk taking the request may refer to it and tell the inquirer the amount of tax and the address of the person inquired about."

PARENTS ATTACK TOWN POOL HALL

Callahan Urges Supervision of Children After School Hours

"Education is the sum total of effects produced upon a person, morally, mentally and physically, of every experience which he has undergone in his life, outside of school as well as in school," said John Callahan, state superintendent of schools, speaking before an audience of over 200 at the second annual meeting of Dane County Mothers' Clubs and Parent-Teachers' association held in the assembly Chamber Friday morning.

"Our young people are being educated for better or for worse during the hours that they are out of school and this education is off setting that which they received in school.

For he most part he village pool hall is serving as a great factor in the outside life of the child during his free hours.

To offset this influence, Mr. Callahan pointed out that the school must furnish enough recreation to keep the child busy constantly, and he especially advocated the school gymnasium and outdoor sports.

Mrs. Edith Hoyt, assistant professor of education in the university extension division, explained to the assembly the advantages of a state organization.

Delegates Report Progress

Reports of delegates giving the programs of each club showed the great work that the Dane county organizations have already done in the past and also gave some idea of extensive plans for the future.

Albion Prairie school reported that its club has purchased playground equipment, curtains, a violin, a blackboard, and a football since its organization.

Nichols school in Blooming Grove purchased shrubbery and flowers for the schoolgrounds, and furnished magazines for the eighth grade pupils.

Pleasant Grove school in the joint district of Westport and Burke bought an electric stove this year.

Sanderson school installed a septic tank and paid for the necessary plumbing.

Gottschalk Case Up Before Judge Today

EXPOSE COOLIDGE, DAWES STUMPERS

Fiedler, Axley, Kyle and Blake to Start Campaign For La Follette

A plan of hiring University of Wisconsin debaters to take the stump for the Coolidge-Dawes ticket was shown to be in progress yesterday by William Blake '25, secretary of the Young Men's Progressive association. George J. Fiedler, vice president of the association, was approached by a university senior, who is also an intercollegiate debater.

Blake declared that Fiedler, who is a La Follette supporter, rejected the offer.

"The Republican organization, through a prominent member of the faculty of the university, has approached various members of the university debating teams with offers to take the stump for the Coolidge-Dawes ticket. Whether or not any of them have accepted the offer is as yet unknown, as is also the amount of the pay offered them. It is known that several are considering the matter at the present time and are waiting for final terms," Blake said.

Blake charged Glenn H. Bell with making the offers. Bell said that it was suggested that he obtain three or four fellow students. This he succeeded in doing, but although they all wrote to the state committee, answers were not received. Although the students hoped for returns for their services, Bell denies that he either offered students pay or that he was authorized to do so. Bell declared that he had not taken the stump because this hope for pay was just the trouble.

A weekend tour of this part of the state will be made Saturday by four other university debaters who have offered their services gratis to the Progressive ticket. George Fiedler, Ralph Axley, J. K. Kyle, and Blake, who compose the flying squad, as it is called, will start out Saturday noon, covering Sun Prairie, Marshall, Waterloo, Lake Mills and Cottage Grove that afternoon and night. Monday they will reach Sauk City, Prairie du Sac and Lodi. The team will keep moving continuously until election day, if plans mature.

SHARP URGES STUDENT DISCRETION IN VOTING

Professor W. R. Sharp of the political science department urges every student of age to vote. "Students are better informed as to the political issues involved in elections and should assist in keeping the public offices free from the political machinery which arises from mob voting. The signs 'Vote regardless of whom you vote for' should not be followed by students. That type of propaganda is bad. It promotes voting that does not express the public opinion. Students with their training and knowledge in politics should help the good and counteract the evil propaganda."

"AD" CLUB APPLICATIONS MUST BE MADE SOON

"All men and women interested in joining the Advertising club must have their applications in before Thursday, October 30," Clark Hazelwood, president of the club, said yesterday.

To be eligible to the Advertising club, one must have a position on the business staff of some publication, or else one must be in one of the higher classes in advertising in the university.

Members are admitted any time during the year, but in order to join immediately, applications must be sent in so that they may be voted upon Thursday night. Applications must be sent to Luther Brooks '26, secretary of the club, in care of the Daily Cardinal office.

"Grads" Should Aim for Start at Home, Good English-Rogers

"Go back home and start out," is the sincere advice of Jason Rogers, former publisher of the New York Globe, to every graduate, especially to those completing the course in journalism.

"Take all the English you can get in college and you will be saved the embarrassment in later life of having someone criticizing your grammar."

Speaking from his experience of the last 46 years in the newspaper field, Mr. Rogers gives advice readily and honestly. Realizing what he has been able to do with little or no education and opportunity to start out with, he foresees infinite possibilities for the young man or woman who is a graduate of an American university.

"Go back where you are known and where you know," he urges in a quick, abrupt tone. "When you have learned how to get along there, then maybe it will be time to seek a position in the big city. College graduates have the wrong idea nowadays that their biggest opportunity is in the city at the start-off."

Answering the query about home folks always thinking in terms of the little boy in knee trousers and not letting him grow up, Mr. Rogers laughed and said that the hard knocks have to come in life and that it is better to get a few among friends than from an unknown community.

"I write a great deal and I know what I want to say and put it down that way but I tell you honestly, I don't know whether I have used split infinitives or the right construction. Take all the English you can along with the rest of your necessary subjects and you will know for yourself whether or not you are right," Mr. Rogers advises.

COOLIDGE ATTACKS LA FOLLETTE STAND

President, in Final Speech, Details Purposes of
His Party

WASHINGTON—President Coolidge set forth last night policies of administration under which he purposed that the government will "maintain peace, promote economy, provide a protective tariff, assist farmers, leave the people in possession of their property and maintain the integrity of the courts."

In the last extended address he expects to make before election and the most comprehensive he has delivered since his speech of acceptance of the Republican nomination, the president declared his stand on practically every phase of government affairs. He discussed campaign issues, in some instances for the first time.

Mr. Coolidge spoke before the eastern division of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and the address was carried by radio to almost every section of the country.

Summarizing the administration's program which he said had brought an era of more than average prosperity, the president called attention to that despite the "natural supposition that every well-wisher of the country would be anxious to maintain the present established order of things," there are now proposed "at least two of the most revolutionary changes," government ownership of transportation and limitation of the powers of the supreme court.

Public ownership, he described as a most perilous undertaking, both to the welfare of business and the independence of the people. If powers of the supreme court were limited as proposed, he said, "The history would close the chapter with the comment that the people had shown they were incapable of self-government and the American republic had proved a failure."

Mr. Coolidge said further reduction of federal taxes was possible on the basis of the estimated government budget for next year, and he outlined as his "common sense" method of taxation:

"Getting all we can out of the rich by making the rates moderate and stimulating business to provide work and increase the earnings of the poor."

H. E. PRIDE IN MADISON FOR UNION INFORMATION

H. E. Pride, secretary of the Iowa State Memorial union, is in Madison attending the annual convention of the Engineering College Magazine associated in session here this week. Mr. Pride, in addition to attending the convention, came to Madison to get information concerning the methods employed by the Wisconsin Memorial union organization in raising funds.

Iowa State's memorial will cost $1,000,000 while that of Wisconsin will be $1,500,000. Both projects are similar in that they express appreciation for services rendered the country in the World war, by student and graduates in the army and navy.

The Jones portrait is considered to be one of the very best examples of Mr. Grenhagen's art.

Rural Population Wipes Out Early Lead of "Wet" City Forces

TORONTO—Revised figures in the Ontario liquor plebiscite up to 9:30 o'clock this morning gave a majority of 30,167 for the temperance act. The figures in the "dry" column continue to mount as returns are received from the rural sections.

TORONTO, Ont.—Returns from 5,921 of the 7,332 sub-election districts early today in the provincial plebiscite held yesterday on the Ontario temperance act gave me a majority of nearly 25,000 in favor of retaining the act.

The alternative proposal which called for the sale of liquor under government control, piled up a lead of 70,000 soon after the polls closed and city districts reported. The strongly dry rural sections turned the tide at midnight.

The plebiscite was the first in Ontario since 1919, when a similar referendum showed a majority of 407,000 in favor of the dry law.
