MILITARY BALL GARBS ARMORY IN GALA DRESS

375 Couples Swing in Step in Grand March at Formal Event

More than 375 couples attended the eighth annual Military ball held in the armory last night. Promptly at 9 o'clock the First Regimental band struck up the grand march and the entire company of dancers, headed by Col. Roswell E. Hewitt and Nellie Larson, filed around the gaily decorated gymnasium in military form. Time and ingenuity had been combined in the effort that made this military ball the prize-winner in the history of military functions on the campus.

The armory was decorated with red, white and blue streamers and flags. Each company occupied its own box, and spirited telephone calls kept the wires connecting the boxes busy with important messages. The regular trench dugout that served the purpose of the headquarters box brought reminiscent thrills to every service man.

Squads in Camp Scene

The main feature of the evening was the special stunt staged during intermission. Two squads of men, under the direction of Capt. Bradford Jennings, took the floor and went through spirited drill formation by whistle signal instead of spoken command. After a short drill sentries were posted along the sides of the floor and the rest of the men made camp in the center of the room. The realistic campfire and the tents turned the gymnasium into a little scene of real army life. When taps had sounded and the weary soldiers had disappeared inside their tents a heavy bombardment sounded somewhere near and the company hastily broke camp and left the danger district.

As soon as the soldiers had left, the "Sassy Super Six" made their appearance and executed some clever burlesque of the preceding scene, interspersed with additional clown work. Their act was followed by a dance by Jennings Martineau.

Officers at Dinner

The officer's formal, held at the Park hotel, opened the evening with a dinner at 6 o'clock. Thompson's orchestra provided the music for the formal, and the First Regimental band played for the ball.

The attention to the fine details of organization which marked all of the preparations was responsible for the success of the party. Music, refreshments, and all of the stunts were carefully planned by the committee in charge, and no detail that went to make up a successful function was neglected.

RIPON PRESIDENT AT BADGER CLUB

President Henry C. Culbertson of Ripon college, will speak at the Badger club meeting at the university Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock tomorrow night. Ripon college students are invited to meet for an informal reunion before the Badger club meeting.

BOWLING TEAM IS PICKED BY WOMEN

The women's varsity bowling team was announced at the bowling spread Thursday night. The members are Lois Cotterell, Mabel Smith, Helen Ramsey, Ragnhild Skaar, Borghild Herried, Florence Mahorney, Virginia Jackson, Edna Cordes.

MEMORIAL FUND AT $71,000 MARK

Commerce Day Gives $5,000
Boost to Drive; Campaign to Close Wednesday

Previously pledged.....	$66,050.96
Pledged yesterday	5,002.00
Total to date	$71,052.96

The cannon on the lower campus will be shot five times at noon today as a result of the boost that Commerce day gave the Memorial Union drive. Commerce students subscribed $5,002. The large returns are due to the efforts of the canvassers of the Commerce club and the Women's Commerce club.

The complete report from the faculty will be in Tuesday morning, and the Letters and Science drive will be held Monday. The campaign will be wound up with a bang Wednesday noon.

First organized class action to be taken toward raising the fund for the Memorial was taken Thursday, when Fred Smith, president of the sophomore class, appointed a committee to stimulate the interest of the class in the drive. The committee, composed of George Parker, chairman, Reuben Chadbourne, Joseph Moulding, Helen Hann, and Dexter Brown, will set a quota for the class, which will probably be between $20,000 and $25,000. A quota of this size will necessitate the raising of from $3,000 to $5,000 more by the class. As a further stimulate the drive, a sophomore class massmeeting will be held next week.

"I NEVER KNEW" FEATURE SONG IN "MARY'S LAMB"

Music and Lyrics Written by Carpenter and Moroney

"I Never Knew" is the title of the song composed for the Haresfoot musical comedy, "Mary's Lamb," by John Moroney, '20, and Earl Carpenter, '21. The song is entirely original, Carpenter composing the music and Moroney writing the lyrics.

The song has been interpolated in the score of "Mary's Lamb" and will be sung in the second act by William R. Kellett as Alan and Donald Marvin as Phyllis, accompanied by a string quartet, arranged by "Jean" Juster, who plays the obligato throughout the song.

The piece promises to be one of the biggest hits of the show. Haresfoot men agree that it is the best ballad that has been used in a Haresfoot show for some time. George A. Beane, the director, says, "It is one of the best lyrical ballads that I have heard recently. It will be very successful on tour and in Madison." The piece is being published by a Chicago musical house, and will be on sale during the Haresfoot performances here.

Carpenter is well known here for his musical work, playing with orchestras at many student dances in the last year. He composed this year's Prom fox trot.

BADGER TANK STAR WINS MORE HONORS

"Herb" Taylor, '15, former Badger swimming and football star and at one time holder of the national inter-collegiate 200 yard breast stroke record, recently won further honors in the aquatic field by finishing first in the National A. A. U. men's senior 200 yard breast stroke race at Chicago. Awards of three swimming and two football "W's" were given Taylor during his attendance at Wisconsin.

JOYFUL JUMBLE SET TONIGHT FOR JAMBOREE JOLTS

Special Journal of Jocular Jibes
Concocted by Press Club
as Final Jar

Rumor has it that a vegetable garden, assorted cakes, a gypsy tribe, Waupun prisoners, a railroad gang, moonshiners, a sweet maid dressed as a Hershey bar, and innumerable others will furnish food and enjoyment tonight at the Jamboree, the costume ball, in the armory.

A general frolic for all has been planned and it is urged that no one stay away because he or she hasn't secured a costume. "Rig up some old clothes and come as a representative of the present hard times," said one of the committee members.

Tickets are on sale at the Waffle kitchen, Union building and will be on open sale at the gymnasium tonight. About 35 groups have registered for competition for the prizes offered for the best group representation.

Jamboree will have a special edition published by a regular news staff of journalists from the Press club. All the news of the evening plus interviews with celebrities will feature the paper. It will be distributed free.

THREE MAT MEN IN FINALS TODAY AT URBANA MEET

Weeks, Peterman, and Culver to Fight for Places; Gym
Team to Compete

URBANA, Ill.—Three Wisconsin wrestlers won in the preliminaries Friday night and earned the right to enter the final bouts Saturday afternoon in the western inter-collegiate wrestling, gymnastic, and fencing meet. The entries will be:

Culver, Wisconsin, vs. Chow, for third place, 135-pound class.

Peterman, Wisconsin, vs. Jensen, for third place, 145-pound class.

Weeks, Wisconsin, vs. Hoffman, finals in 175-pound class.

The Badger gymnastic team will compete tonight for conference gymnastic honors at the Inter-collegiate wrestling, gymnastic, and fencing meet being held this week end. Chicago, Illinois, and Ohio State are the teams which the Wisconsin acrobats and fencers will face.

The following lineup will represent Wisconsin:

Side horse — Curtain, Kletzein, Harris.

Horizontal bars — Kates, Heseman, O'Shea.

Parallel bars — Tasche, Heseman, Golley.

Rings — Tasche, O'Shea, Kates.

Tumbling — Hagen, Harris, O'Shea.

Clubs — O'Shea.

Foils — Ananison.

Broad swords — Myrland.

NOTED CHARACTERS MUSEUM VISITORS

The Rev. P. Joseph Meier, M. S. C., an ethnologist of world-wide fame, who has just ended 16 years of service as a missionary among the natives of New Pomerania, now New Britain, and has made a special study of the Malay groups with which he was associated, visited the State Historical museum and the university Thursday.

Walter W. Smith, great grandson of Joseph Smith, founder of the Mormon church, visited the State Historical society recently to consult the society's collection on Mormonism. Mr. Smith is general church historian of the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints, the headquarters of which are in Iowa, and editor of the official church publication, "Journal of History."

VARSITY NINE WINS OPENER FROM MILTON

College Team Blanked, 2-0, in No-hit Fray on Lower Campus

The Badger baseball team won its first game of the season on the lower campus yesterday afternoon, defeating the Milton college nine 2 to 0.

The effects of the cold weather which has considerably retarded baseball practice for the past two weeks showed up to a marked degree on both teams with the result that the hitting was light. The Badger pitchers, Miller and Ogle, held the college team without a hit.

MEET CAMPION TODAY

Today's game with the Campion nine should be a close battle for the varsity, since the Catholic college has a record for strong teams on the diamond. Williams will probably be Coach Kent's choice for the pitching job. The game will be played on the lower campus, starting at 2 o'clock.

while the varsity men were getting only four. It was the first time that Coach Kent's men have had a chance to face real pitching in a game and the batting eyes were not very sharp.

Twirlers in Good Form

Miller started in the box and worked five innings when he was relieved by Ogle. Both men pitched well for so early in the season and the Milton clouters rarely hit the ball past the infield. A total of 14 strikeouts were credited to the two pitchers, Miller getting 8 and Ogle 6.

All the scoring was done in the second inning when the Badgers garnered two. Willigrod, first up, hit a slow roller to the pitcher who juggled it long enough for the runner to get to first base, but he was caught stealing. Brann was out on a grounder to the pitcher. Barry let three strikes go by, but the Milton catcher dropped the ball and threw wild to first base, while Barry ran to second. Farrington was safe on an error by the pitcher.

FIRELIGHT PROGRAM UNDER PROF. OLSON

Prof. J. E. Olson will have charge of the program for firelight evening Saturday at 7:30 in Lathrop parlors. He will speak on Scandinavian music, and will sing songs in illustration. B. Christian Hendriksen of the Norwegian house will give several violin solos. Mrs. Olson will accompany on the piano. Both men and women students are invited.

TO CARDINAL READERS

In explaining certain deficiencies in the appearance of recent issues, The Daily Cardinal wishes to inform its readers that it has no physical control over the mechanical process for any issue after the page forms have been closed and the paper is prepared for the press run. The Cardinal is printed on contract by The Capital Times company.

The Cardinal makes apologies for the issue of Friday, April 9, which appeared with pages in reverse order, and which was due entirely to faulty press work.

THE ULTRA-NEW THOUGHT
CHORUS—MALE

We read poems of "sweet Mi Lolas"
In far off Borneo,
Written by some "mad he-lover"
To show he wasn't slow.

Of "crimson passions", we are told,
And "life blood on the knife",
Of love in far off Borneo
Where "there's no law of wife."

Why tell us all these things we know?
Why bring them back to light.
Why eulogize the very things
That make us lose the fight?

Life's full of "sweet Mi Lolas"
That can do the "Rocka Rollas",
And by calling some fool "Honey"
Can get all his old Dad's money.

Some of them will "hug you tight";
Some "kiss you to a trance",
And when success and money leave,
Tell you to go to—France.

Why give 'wild' ravings any thought?
Why walk through mental slush?
Why make efforts to "thrill" our selves,
Thinking in terms of mush?

If a "Borneance" is to your taste,
And you've searched with no avail,
Just visit, Friend "He-Lover"
The bug house or the jail.

I. TELLEM.

KINDA looks as though spring were coming back. We're glad to see it, for the re-incarnation of the overcoat was far from a success.

Must Be A Banquet

I have, haves A. Hearty Banquet, heard of orchestral accompaniment with the soup. We see by the sign on State street, that the men are urged to "Hear Keats Chu." Are

I to assume a full course meal?

WE are convinced that the ballgames on the lower campus are not a success. The Union building, the library, and the armory were crowded with spectators, while three green-caps held down the bleachers.

REVISE OLD TALE TO CATCH FANCY OF BLUE DRAGON

Nerve—the sophomores were given more than their share of that quality, or else they've just screwed up all their courage to take the reins of literary license into their hands for the purpose of amusing their guests of honor, the seniors, at the Story-Book ball Saturday afternoon in Lathrop gym. They have resorted to the extreme measures of revising that immortal story, "Alice in Wonderland," in order to please the whim and fancy of Blue Dragon.

In its new guise, the story has as its interpreters, Miriam Doan as Alice, Dorothy Shaner as the White Rabbit, and Helen Kahn as the queen, and Ruby Britts as the Cheshire cat of the famed smile. They will endeavor to show that the old idea of the tale, though a good one, is not the best.

Besides the entertainment, dancing will feature as an important phase of the party. Ruby Britts, Frances Beecher, and Juliet Nusbaum will furnish the strains to which the merry company may reel away the afternoon.

The guests are asked to come costumed, but Red Gauntlet wishes it understood that this is not compulsory and all seniors and sophomores will be welcome whether as themselves or as characters from make-believe land.

PROGRESS MOTTO SOUNDED IN TALK

"Honesty, Industry, and Tact Win in Business," Says C. S. Allen, Badger Grad

"Honesty, industry, and tact, these three will make a business hit," advised Charles Stanley Allen, Wisconsin graduate, comptroller of the National Cash Register company, in his talk Thursday afternoon at the P. P. E. building.

"'Grow or go,' that is just about the motto for our progress," continued the speaker. "Our office motto challenge, 'We appreciate but are dissatisfied,' has advanced the prosperity of the National Cash Register company from 10 to 30 millions of dollars and will increase it shortly to 40 million.

"Four basic principles have assured the rapid success of our business and are the foundation rules which will apply to other enterprises. Organization, selling methods, welfare work, and the development of responsibility, have been the firm's biggest assets.

"Welfare work is nothing but justice. The worker should have the best possible surroundings and profit sharing if business is to be fair. The National Cash Register company pays 6 per cent interest to owners, the largest possible salaries to the management, and the most just wages to the rank and file. Beyond these regular obligations, 50 per cent of the profits go to the owners, 25 per cent to the management, and the remaining surplus to the employees. From 3,000 to 10,000 machines and from 40,000 to 60,000 employees, is the ratio of rapid advancement of the company."

THE REWARD OF COLLEGE GRADUATES

AT THIS time of the year seniors about to graduate and high school students considering a step forward into college have called up before them for reflection the old bugaboo: "College education doesn't pay—the cash rewards of brain workers are far below those of manual workers."

It's an old story. But it will always be new. Never was it stated that college offers a road to wealth. Our ancestors chose higher education knowing full well the certainty of small financial gains.

Those who are inclined to be pessimistic in their views of the situation may profitably study the opinions of President Birge, who reviewed the subject in a statement last year. He said, in part:

"The reason for our choice of higher education is plain. Look at the plumber or any other wealthy craftsman, of whom some seem to be somewhat envious. If we may trust the official attitude of the organizations to which they belong, they have little or no love for their work. They regard it as the price which they pay in order to find enjoyment elsewhere and they constantly struggle to make this price as small as possible.

"We, on the other hand, chose the higher education in order that we might find happiness and pleasure in our daily work, not outside of it. The result has justified our hopes. And so long as human nature remains as it has been during all time, there will be many who believe that life is more than meat, who will look for happiness in life's activities and will be more than willing to pay the cash price of such happiness."

It is not disputed that intellectual labor, now as in the past, is underpaid. The salaries of educators and of college men in the professions and the field of business ought to soar upward. Their pay will rise just as the craftsman's rises, although the comparative injustice may always exist.

But the colleges will not be deserted. They will continue to draw from the best of the youth of the land. From their doors each year will step forth those young men and women trained as leaders whose ideals are not to be discarded because of the lure of money.

DISMISSING CLASSES ON TIME

REAT would be the rejoicing in the student body if the 50-minute class periods were dismissed within a half minute after the ringing of the bells. Great would be the rejoicing among the faculty if all students were punctual in getting to classes before the bells sounded.

There is opportunity for reform at both ends here. The student senate Wednesday passed a resolution requesting instructors to dismiss classes promptly at the close of lecture or classroom periods. The resolution also appealed to students to cut tardiness to a minimum.

Instructors and students have been lax in following these practices. With classes held in buildings scattered in all sections of the campus, the 10-minute period is none too long in which to sprint from one class to another. Instructors must be aware that this is one reason for tardiness at class periods. Late-comers not only annoy the instructor but hold up the entire class.

Is it too much to ask that classes be limited to the regulation 50 minutes and that the 10-minute periods be made 10 minutes in fact?

What the College Editors Say

WHY THEY WIN

Chicago sends her baseball team to the Orient; Michigan sprinters are sent to the big track carnivals; and even now the track team of the University of Illinois is just returning from its dual meet with California.

Perhaps such tactics is the secret of the success of many Big Ten Universities in athletics. They get the best in the west because they have something attractive to offer in return. What does the trip to the Far East, beginning on April 17 when the Maroons leave San Francisco and ending the last week of June when they return to make up their work during the summer quarter, mean to Chicago athletics and to Chicago. It is not the benefit the men will derive from such a season but the advertisement that it carries with it. It centers the attention of many mid-west athletes on Chicago and it may be the one influence that turns them to Chicago.

Illinois furnishes another instance. Every spring the Indians tour the South playing pre-season games to get the team in the best possible shape before the beginning of the Big Ten schedule. The Illini athletic authorities are continually dickering for games with big institutions on either coast. They are able to do it because the university believes that such a practice is the way to better promote the interest of Illinois. Chicago's basketball team, the winner of the conference title, played post-season games in the East. The best of Michigan's track stars, headed by the great Carl Johnson, invade the big eastern classics.

These are the kind of teams that the athletic teams of Iowa have had to fight every year. The odds are in their favor. Among the members of the teams that bring honors to these schools are listed many a man from the state of Iowa. One year ago the captain of the Illini football team was an Iowa man. Next year will find another leading Wisconsin on the gridiron. They get them because the reward seems more tempting.—The Daily Iowan.

OCTOPUS CALLS FOR MORE ASSISTANTS

The business staff of The Wisconsin Octopus is again enlarging and this time the office department is in a position to use several typists in the afternoons.

Those wishing to secure more permanent positions on the staff will find opportunity to do so while working in the office, and will gain an idea of how The Wisconsin Octopus is published every month.

SENATE MOTION ENDORSES PLAN OF GRID CLASSIC

Five-Year Contract With Chicago Eleven Gets Approval of Students

The student senate endorsed the five-year football contract with the University of Chicago, in a resolution given out yesterday by the judiciary committee.

The five-year contract, as explained by the athletic department, means that the Badger eleven will play a series of five games, all of which will be played on the Stagg field for five successive years.

Among the reasons for this arrangement is the fact that the Wisconsin-Chicago game, coming as the final contest of the western season, will be the football classic of the middle west.

"I believe this is a very good arrangement," said "Red" Weston, captain-elect of the 1920 football team, yesterday. "It certainly will be a boost for Wisconsin to play the big game down in Chicago. The interest of the season will be focused upon Wisconsin and Chicago."

Official faculty sanction was given to the five-year contract in the regular meeting Monday afternoon.

PLAN FOR SUMMER AT GENEVA MEET

All of the attractions of the Lake Geneva conference were explained Thursday when women who have attended that gathering in previous years met at Lathrop hall to discuss all phases of the meeting for the benefit of those who were interested in going this summer.

Marcia Hinkins spoke definitely on the benefits and the purposes of the conference. Interesting snapshots were shown illustrating the many good times and the meetings held at Lake Geneva and songs used there were sung under the leadership of Helen Harper. Clever take-offs on the events which have taken place at the conference were staged under the direction of Katherine Ely.

Last year Wisconsin sent over 30 delegates. Mae Smith is in charge of arrangements for this year, and anyone deciding to go to Geneva should consult her and attend the future meetings of those who plan to go.

JUNIORS-SENIORS
WIN GYM EVENTS
IN NORMAL MEET

The upperclass women were the winners of the normal meet held yesterday between the different classes in physical education in the Lathrop gymnasium.

Dancing, floor work, apparatus, and a relay race were the four events which went off like clockwork in quick succession.

Costumes of golden brown for the dances gave a suggestion of the woods even in the bleak gymnasium, and the effect was enhanced by here and there one of a bright green or orange. The two dances given by the upperclassmen, who competed as a single unit, were particularly well done, and came nearest approaching the perfect average of 10 with a mark of 9.1.

The freshmen won the relay race in spite of the fact that they gained last place in the meet. The marching and floor work was good by all classes, and the trim, black-clad figures moved as one perfectly-controlled body.

The chevrons which the senior, junior, and sophomore physical eds wear as a mark of their rank were passed on to the classes below for next year.

'Y' DELEGATES HOLD SECOND SESSION TODAY

Paulson, International Secretary, to Address Conference

"Service is the basis of successful Y. M. C. A. work," declared Secretary Frederick E. Wolf at the state student Y. M. C. A. conference which began a three-day session yesterday afternoon. "A something-for-nothing policy or a pious program will not fulfill the real need which the association must meet. A satisfactory slogan is: If you need anything, ask us for it. If we can't help, you will find some one who can."

Delegates from ten colleges and normal schools in the state considered practical problems of association work.

"Forces in College Life that Build or Destroy," was the subject of an address by President H. P. Houghton of Carroll college.

The function of the Y. M. C. A. on the campus was discussed by Chester Harlett of Lawrence, and Milton Borman of Wisconsin. Manley Clark told the delegates about the freshman handbook which gives first year men information about the university. Roy Sorenson described the organization of the sophomore commission.

An appeal for leaders for boys' camps was made by F. E. Wones, state boys work secretary, at the session last night. "There is an unusual opportunity to develop Christian Citizenship," Mr. Wones declared. "A lad's intellectual, physical, devotional and social nature must be encouraged if he is to have a well balanced character."

Earl Brandenburg urged the delegates to keep in mind the boys of today who are the men of tomorrow. "Our obligation," he said, "cannot be ignored, if we realize the tremendous responsibility."

Leonard Paulson, international Y. M. C. A. secretary, described the various kinds of work done by Y. M. C. A. secretaries. Men can specialize in boys work, industrial, railroad, high school, county, or community work.

The program for Saturday is as follows:

8:00—Devotional period.
8:45—"What Constitutes an Adequate Program?" Frederick E. Wolf.
9:00—"Problems of Organization," Ray V. Sowers.
10:00—"Membership Methods; Publicity Program," Earl W. Brandenburg.
10:30—Officers' schools.
11:30—President's luncheon.
1:15—Finances; the Budget; Spring or Fall Campaign, J. H. Kolb.

BALMY DAY WANTED BY CALIFORNIA

No tea-hounds in the California club, as evidenced in the club's voting down a dance in favor of a hike. The picnic will be held immediately after spring vacation.

There is a vague hope that if the weather is ordered far enough ahead and the weather man really understood conditions the club might be accommodated. Specifications are for a warm, balmy day that will remind the members of sunny California.

Students who are eligible for charter or associate membership and who would like to join the picnic party are asked to telephone Virginia Woolery, Badger 3456, so enough extra eats can be planned.

IOWA OFFERS FOUR GEOLOGY FIELD TRIPS

From The Four Quarters Of The World

—come "U" men. From New York, San Francisco and the old continent—from cosmopolitan and Urban Centers, you have come to spend your study time in Madison.

Certain of you have a taste for the Superfine, a taste for that which is good, and correct.

To interest you in merchandise, we must offer you articles that cannot be excelled in quality anywhere in the world, and yet merchandise that is worth its price, judged from the standpoint of utility.

Such an article has been secured for the Co-op—a shoe that is superfine.

These shoes are being made by a corps of craftsmen in Milwaukee, who are putting their hearts into their life work of master shoe building. Theirs has been a labor of love for the beautiful; a labor that has not been hampered by the mill-stone of price.

Their product today, under the nationally known trade name, Nunn-Bush, has been secured for you, who appreciate quality, by your Co-op.

This shoe, that is selling in great volume in Boston, is as fine as a shoe can be made. Those little superfine touches, such as silk stitching, crimp tongues, and above all the finest parts of selected Calf and Kid skins, go into these Nunn-Bush shoes.

We will appreciate your looking at them. Your eye-judgment will tell you they are indeed fine. Once you wear them you will appreciate the fact that top quality—makes for durability.

We show three shoes that are now ready for you.

—the "ACE" English

"Keenly Stylefull" expresses the lines of this racey "Ace" English Model. Notice the long, slim lines, the long toe cap, and remember it fits very smooth on the average foot.

We show this shoe in Calf and Kid leathers with leather or rubber heels and in dark Cocoa-Brown. All sizes of course.

—the PANAMA

If you can't wear the slim English Styles comfortably, try this Panama Model. It has the width of the Munson Last through the ball; the toe has a semi-English swing, that means smart style, plus comfort.

We show this in top quality Kid leather, with a rubber heel. This shoe you should investigate.

—the "ACE" English in an Oxford

The "Ace" English Last is just as "nobby" in this low cut as it is in the high shoe illustrated above.

Notice its smooth slimness, the clever way of cutting the upper with the seam half way up the side, and the long toe cap. Then remember its lined in ivory finish, tan Calf skin.

We have this shoe in either top quality Calf or Kid leather. Notice it in the window—and notice the price.
