The libraries provide public access to a wide range of material, including online exhibits, digitized collections, archival finding aids, our catalog, online articles, and a growing range of materials in many media.

When possible, we provide rights information in catalog records, finding aids, and other metadata that accompanies collections or items. However, it is always the user's obligation to evaluate copyright and rights issues in light of their own use.

Stars

When my son was small and he first saw the moon, he was amazed that it was so round. A few days later the moon was a lot smaller. When he saw the moon again, he noticed it was so small. He looked around and he saw stars here and there. He said, "Has it broken up and scattered?"
