11 Staff Members Win Gold Emblems

Gold Cardinal pins have been awarded to 27 students as a recognition for service on the editorial and business staffs of The Cardinal.

Gold pins also were awarded to the five members of the Cardinal Board of Control; Ralph E. Balliette '23, president; Margaret A. Callsen '24, vice-president; Arthur Freytag '23, secretary; Robert L. Reynolds '23, treasurer; and Joel Swenson '23.

Given for Service

Annual award of Cardinal pins is based primarily upon staff service, the basis being roughly a gold pin for a year's service in a major staff position, and a silver pin for a semester's service in a major position or a year's service in a minor staff position.

Major staff positions ordinarily include those of society and sky-rockets editors and above on the editorial staff and of advertising and circulation managers and above on the business staff. Awards are made at the end of each second semester by the Board of Control.

How They Look

The pins are made in the shape of a diamond on which there is a large "W". Across the "W" there is a narrow strip, enameled in red, bearing the words, "Daily Cardinal." Bunde and Upmeyer, Milwaukee jewelers, are the makers of The Cardinal pins.

Students who have been awarded Cardinal pins are asked to call for them at the editorial office in the Union building between 11 and 12:15 o'clock today.

ELECT NINE TO MORTAR BOARD

Junior Women Honored in Annual Senior Swing-Out

Nine junior women were elected to Mortar Board for 1923-24. Merle Shaw '23, president of the present organization announced at senior swingout last evening.

The women named are: Esther Bilstad, Margaret Callsen, Anita Haven, Lois Jacobs, Jeannette Kennan, Helen Kingsford, Arlene Klug, Marion Metcalf, and Rosamond Nolte.

Thousands Attend

Several thousand students and townspeople were gathered about upper campus on the walks and in the buildings, to watch the impressive ceremony in which the underclass women of the university payed their last formal tribute to the graduating seniors.

The junior women in white came down the campus first, carrying the white daisy chain. The seniors in cap and gown, headed by Dean F. Louise Nardin and Mortar Board, came slowly down from both sides, meeting and coming through the daisy chains.

Sing Class Songs

The class songs by the three women's class organizations arranged especially for the occasion, were all effectively sung.

Sixteen sophomores, in white, gave a maypole dance which included intricate and deftly handled manipulation of the bright colored ribbons. Margaret Henry '24, in charge of the dance, played the accompaniment on the piano.

The torch of Blue Dragon was handed down to next year's senior women by Elizabeth Kirk '23, who gave it to Josephine Snow '24, president of Blue Dragon for next year.

Announcement of Mortar Board was the final part of the program.

1,200 WITNESS DANCE DRAMA

Mass of Green Boughs Form Setting For Annual Program

With the open air theater as its setting and a mass of green boughs as its background, the annual dance drama was witnessed last night by approximately 1200 people.

The program, which was created entirely by students, was varied all the way from the delightful Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy dance to Les Miserables, a dance of depth and feeling.

The costumes were appropriate for each dance; in some they were elaborate and in others more simple. Lighting effects were arranged specially for the different dances.

Interprets Walker's Play

Evidences of excellent work and training appeared throughout the entire program. "The Six Who Passed," was a cleverly performed interpretation of Stuart Walker's play. "Pandora's Box," represented the bringing of evil into the world and the coming of Hope.

The nursery rhyme sketches and studies were skillfully done and enthusiastically received. The "Ballet d' Action" displayed in quick rhythm the creativeness and individualism of the different dancers.

"Temple Dance," brought out deep emotion as:

"Within a temple to the pagan gods

A dancig-slave advances to her rites."

Encore Scarf Dance

Black chiffon, costumes, splashed with orange and red were used in "Les Miserables." The dance ably depicted the struggle of mankind.

The encored scarf dance was graceful and altogether pleasing.

The dances offered a variety of the fantastic, the stately, the beautiful and the more serious, a program which displayed admirably the skill and grace of more than 30 students of dancing.

SECOND ORDER FOR INVITATIONS MAY BE PLACED

An additional supply of senior invitations may be available to meet the demand, provided 2,000 requests are sent in to the Print shop within a few days.

"The 8,300 senior invitations that have been printed, an increase of 1,500 over last year, have been disposed of and many seniors are anxious to secure more," reported Maynard Brown '23, in charge of the printing of the books.

Brown urges every member of the senior class who desires to file an order for invitations to send in the coupon provided for this purpose appearing in this issue. The number of programs wished should be filled in and information mailed to the Print shop at once, in order that more programs may be run off the press as soon as possible.

"Only if 2,000 applications are sent in, will it be profitable to go to the extra expense of a second printing order. At least that many programs have been verbally asked for since the supply gave out, and if seniors making them will send in the coupons promptly, programs will be ready for delivery by June 1," Brown said last night.

A fresh supply of reserved programs may be purchased at the Co-op on Monday.

SUMMER SESSIONS (Michigan Daily)

The economic value of an early graduation is being appreciated by students everywhere. The sooner a person can prepare himself for his life work and take his place in the world's affairs the greater will be the possibilities of his attaining an early success in life.

This belief along with the general decadence of the old notion which held that three months vacation were absolutely necessary for every student, has made possible the summer sessions. A student, by spending part of his summer in study, may now cut the conventional four years required for graduation, to three or even less. By entering upon the combined curriculum and attending summer sessions students have been able to take their bachelor's degree and graduate from the Law school in five years, an accomplishment which ordinarily would require eight academic years. Such advantages are now being offered in nearly every college and school in the university.

The summer session, contrary to general opinions, is not a make-up school nor is it a refuge for old-maidish school teachers. On the other hand last year's registration showed that seventy-five percent of all people enrolled were classified as regular students. Conditions at the University during the summer are on a par with, if not excelling those during the regular academic year, for not only are the classes smaller but the teaching staffs are composed of older and more experienced men as a whole.

This year outside inquiries and tentative registrations have increased thirty per cent over any previous year. During the past few summers enrollments have doubled in nearly every university in the country. Students are beginning to realize the inestimable value of summer work and each year more people are taking advantage of these opportunities. While Michigan has not lagged in the development of its summer session it is felt however that too small a proportion of regularly enrolled students are taking the best of these advantages.

In the last game of the semi-finals of the inter-fraternity baseball meet, the Betas ran away with the Delta Sigs to the tune of 16-6. This leaves the Betas and the Tekes to battle for first place and the wining cup. The losers will get second. The Delta Sigs and the Sig Eps will play for third and fourth places. The games will be played off some time the first part of next week.

GOLF TEAM TO MEET CHICAGO

The varsity golf team will leave for Chicago Sunday morning where they will meet the Maroon golfers on Monday in the last meet of the season before the conference. The four men who are making the trip are Captain Fros, Bock, Hopkins, and Stegeman.

The meet with the Maroons will be played on the Hinsdale Country club links and will last all day. In the morning the play will be twosomes and in the afternoon in all probability there will be two rounds of foursomes. In the afternoon matches if foursomes are played the scores will be for double points.

Chicago has a strong team and in all probability will be the conference champions this year. They have held the championship for the last three years. Captain Hartman is their strong man and will be a hard man to beat. According to Captain Frost if the Badgers play golf they have an even break in winning the match.

TROUNCE MAROONS 7 TO 3

HOLM REGAINS OLD STAND AS HEAVY SWATTER

Comes Back After Big Slump

"Hully" Holm regained his title of the Badger Bambino yesterday and as a result of his terrific slugging Coach Guy Lowman's Wisconsin ball team walloped Chicago 7 to 3.

Holm fell into a battling slump after he had pounded out three hits against Indiana in the opening game of the Conference season. He fell out of the slump yesterday and when the results were checked up, "Hully" had crashed out a home run, two singles, and walked once for a perfect day at bat. He scored two runs and drove in another with his circuit clout.

But Holm was not the only Badger who touched the slants of two Chicago pitchers. Bill Johnson, usually a pitcher and sometimes an outfielder, supplanted Becker in centerfield after the fifth inning. In two times at the plate he ramed a double and a single. "Slim" Ellingson was the other outstanding clouter. Ellingson celebrated his jump to leadoff position in the batting order by dropping a four-ply swat over center-fielder Howell's head in the big fifth inning. Pickford scored ahead of him.

Pickford Pitches
Jerry Pickford went the whole distance on the mound for Wisconsin. He was in hot water several times and allowed eight hits, but pulled out of every hole except in the first inning. Freddy Arnt started for the Maroons. Four runs in the fifth and a trio of counters in the sixth proved his undoing. He went to the sun garden while "Lefty" Weller took up the mound duties. Weller allowed four loud bingles in two innings.

Messrs. Forkel and Yardley were trouble makers for the Maroons. The Midway first baseman looked badly in the field after he had committed two errors. He was a different man with the willow and clouted three safe hits, received one free pass to first, and was hit by a pitched ball, thereby hanging up the perfect sticking average of 1.000. Catcher Yardley drove home the Maroon's two runs in the first inning. He was responsible for their last counter when he sent home the last runner with a single.

Chicago got off to a flying start by scoring a pair of markers in the first canto. McGuire walked, Forkel singled, and both men scored when Yardley banged a one-basser to center and Becker kicked it around for a few minutes. The Maroons hit safely in the first five innings, but could not push another run over the rubber.

Big Fifth Inning
Wisconsin held its big celebration in the fifth inning. Holm led off with a single to left. Combacker gained a life on Forkel's error. Johnson, sent in to bat for Becker, doubled and two men scored. Johnson was caught at the home plate on Pickford's grounder to R. Howell. Ellingson slapped a circuit clout over the outfield, scoring Pickford ahead of him.

Three more in the sixth were enough for Freddy Arnt. Aschenbrenner lived when Forkel couldn't find first base with his foot. Tebell sacrificed him to second. Holm plunked a four-baser over the centerfielder's head. Johnson doubled and scored Wisconsin's last run when Pickford hit safely to right field.

Chicago made a feeble attempt to rally in the seventh. Forkel walked with one down. Yardley crash-

SWIM EVENTS ARE POSTPONED

The swimming events for men and women planned for Venetian Night have been postponed until next Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, according to John E. Manierre, swimming chairman.

The water has been tested for the last three days and showed only 59 degrees late last evening. This was deemed too cold to make the events popular by Manierre.

"The idea of the swimming and diving contests was to get a large entry list in all events, and the water is too cold for the general swimmers for whom the races were planned," said Chairman Manierre.

CASSIDY WINS TRAVELING CUP IN LONG RACE

Clayton Cassidy won the freshman traveling cup, and Everett Swingle won the Non-Varsity cup in the annual spring cross-country which was held at Camp Randall Wednesday.

The race covered a course of slightly more than two miles, and Cassidy, who finished first, ran distance in 12 minutes, 29 seconds.

Piper, who placed ahead of Swingle, was disqualified for the cup because he is on the Wisconsin track squad.

The order in which the first 10 men finished are as follows: Cassidy, first; Piper, second; Schutt, third; Swingle, fourth; Butz, fifth; Peard, sixth; Dickinson, seventh; McDowell, eighth; Zelade, ninth; and Heald, tenth. Piper and Swingle are non-varsity upper classmen, and all others are freshmen.

ed a hard one at Tebell and was safe. Arnt drove a hot grounder at Combacker. Howy muffed the ball long enough to permit Forkel to count. He threw out Arnt at first base. R. Howell grounded out.

Badgers Hit Weller
Badger batsmen were far from fooled by the portside heaves of "Lefty" Weller in the seventh and eighth innings. They reduced four hits, two in each session, but lacked the drive for more runs.

The Wisconsin squad left last night for Minneapolis where it clashes with the Gophers in their second meeting of the season. The Badgers defeated Minnesota, 10 to 9 in their first contest here.

600 PREP STARS TO COMPETE AT RANDALL TODAY

Milwaukee Teams Are Doped to Lead

In what promises to be a fast, hard-fought meet, 600 high school athletes from all parts of Wisconsin will toe the chalk mark at Camp Randall at 1 o'clock this afternoon to compete for Wisconsin state honors.

Reports from towns and cities all over Wisconsin show that the track talent in high schools is even above standard and that the best teams will not have things all their own today. Every one of the 46 schools which will be represented on the Camp Randall track this afternoon is here to account well for itself.

No Sure Winner

With an excellent amount of talent on the field this afternoon, and with the closest and hardest kind of competition assured, it will not surprise many fans to see a few interscholastic records fall.

Many teams will compete today in both Class A and Class B which have gone through perfect seasons, and it is a difficult task to try picking the winners. Certain it is that the meet will not be cinched by any school until almost the end of the meet for there are any number of schools which are of such a calibre as to win the event.

Wis. High Contender

The Milwaukee schools have fought it out for honors in recent years, and they are doped to repeat the performance again today. Riverside, from its successful preliminary season, is expected to bid high for first place. West side also has an excellent chance of carrying away the trophy.

A series of district and county meets which have been held in Southern Wisconsin among the schools which will qualify for the B class indicates Wisconsin high school as a possible winner with Milton Union a strong contender.

Many prep schools in the Northern and western part of the state report strong teams, however, and they may cop.

MEDAL IS GIVEN TO GUS TEBELL

Gustav K. Tebell '23, was awarded the Conference medal last night for the 1922-23 year.

The medal is given each year at each Big Ten school to the man who has been most successful in athletics as well as in scholastic standing. Tebell was chosen because, in spite of his busy athletic career, he has always maintained a high standing scholastically.

Tebell has taken an active part in athletics at Wisconsin during the past three years, when he has played football, basketball and baseball. He was captain of the 1923 cage team which tied with Iowa for first place in the Conference.

George Bunge was awarded the medal last year.

DULUTH ROW IS BIGGEST EVENT OF DAY'S RACES

Two Other Races Are Scheduled

Lake Mendota will be the scene of varied activities today, chief of which will be the crew race between the varsity team and that of the Duluth Boat club.

Besides this event, two other races are scheduled for the occasion; namely, the inter-college race and a race between the junior crew and St. John's Military academy. The first race will start at 10:30 this morning, at which time four college crews will compete with each other for first honors.

Following this event, the junior crew will row against the cadets. The St. John's boys arrived yesterday, and took a short workout on the lake yesterday afternoon. They appeared to be in excellent condition, and rowed with a rhythm which indicates a well trained crew.

Biggest Race Last

The last and biggest race of the day will follow immediately after the second event in the morning. The Duluth crew also had a short practice yesterday afternoon, and if their appearance is any indication of their relative strength, a good race can be expected.

If the weather should be bad this morning, or the lake too rough, the races will be postponed until 6 o'clock this evening, as rough waters do not make ideal conditions for racing. In former years it was often necessary to hold the races in the evening, but as Venetian night will be the main attraction this time, the races will be held in the morning if possible.

Crew Lineups

The names and positions of the various men on the crews are as follows:

Varsity crew—coxswain C. G. Hausman; stroke, D. C. Newcomb; no. 7, Capt. H. E. Johnson; no. 6, E. H. Crozier; no. 5, R. J. Schuetz; no. 4, P. J. Okerstrom; no. 3, H. J. Bentson; no. 2, R. C. Klussendorf; bow, A. J. Platten.

Junior crew—coxswain, F. T. Luehring; stroke, T. D. Bacchus; no. 7, W. S. Smith; no. 6, E. M. Plattner; no. 5, K. D. Sly; no. 4, L. H. Kingston; no. 3, C. G. Jax; bow, W. F. Holms.

MEYERS, DEMETRAL TO BATTLE HERE SUNDAY

Johnny Meyers, middleweight wrestling champion, and Jimmy Demetral, who meets him in a title match on Sunday afternoon in the arena at Monona park are still haggling over the referee question.

The trouble centers around Larney Lichstein, who once managed Meyers. Demetral would like to have Larney as the third man in the ring, but Meyers does not want his former manager to count the fatal "three" if Jimmy pins his shoulders to the mat.

The principals in the vital match will meet in conference within a day or so and decide upon a referee. Ed Smith, of Chicago, who refereed a Varsity dual wrestling meet last year, is a possibility.

NIGHT EDITOR—FRED GUSTORF

A SUCCESS

Someone had a vision. The vision grew and a university took it up. Varsity night was conceived and put to test. The test succeeded and the university became welded into closer bonds of Wisconsin fellowship, a thing rare in a school of modern size.

Freshmen, rejoicing in their new honor last night, showed their realization of the meaning of Varsity night by skyrocketing in perfect good fellowship, their former arch enemies, the sophomores, as well as juniors and seniors. Sophomores responded by attending the ceremonies with a spirit of welcome, by doing a real service in acting as traffic cops and by refraining from any traditional opposition.

It may be a misnomer to say that a tradition has been established, for only time can do that. But certainly the seed for a new all-inclusive and constructive green-cap annual event has been sown.

Wisconsin, united, has triumphed and paved the road for a greatness in which an old cherished idea has expanded and been made sane.

TO OUR GUESTS

Wisconsin's doors are open today to the several hundred preparatory school athletes who have come here to contend on the field for track supremacy. All departments of this institution unite in extending a welcome to these men, many of whom will be among the Badger students of tomorrow and the future wearers of the Cardinal jersey.

These men are to be congratulated upon the peculiar advantage of this time of the year for their visit to the university. No other college can claim the natural beauty setting that is Wisconsin's. The charm of the lake, the woods, and all the sports that these suggest, are evident today on all sides. Venetian night tonight will encase his natural charm with romance.

But Wisconsin has much more. This is a great university with world-renowned professors, unique course, and unexcelled educational advantages. Today is also the school's open house.

High school men, we welcome you and we hope you will visit our university buildings, our agricultural school, our physics department,—our everything. The days is yours to use.

THE RACE FOR RECOGNITION

There is in the depths of every human soul an insatiable desire to excel and to receive from its comrades acknowledgement of such excellence. From Aristotle to Lloyd George, from the babbling infant to its own gray-haired grand-father, and from the savage to the college professor evidences of this tendency exist. No clime, no civilization, no race of men is free from it.

It is not to be condemned that men wish to be recognized as superior, for that desire represents the driving force to human action. Otherwise, the wheels of progress would not turn under the hand of ambition. Indeed, it is upon the recognition of the individual and his prowess and superiority that the inspiration to advancement rests.

In college life, the tendency is expressed in a mad scramble for college fame. While this is well and good and must be so for the highest good, yet there are those whose lack of perspective causes them to rush blindly in search of immediate glory without thought of the future. In a frantic rush for campus notoriety in which they forget their real purpose at college, in which they forget the more important future for the immediate future, they display a lack of discrimination, of judgement, of balance. They forget that the span of a college generation is but four years and that each generation remembers only its own leaders, forgetting them with the arrival of newer interests.

On the other hand, there are those students who devote themselves primarily to their more important college duties, only to excellence in their course of study. Have not these a truer conception of values and the foundation for a greater expression of individualism? Unsatisfied individualism in this human race of individuals must and will be recognized, either in the present or in the future. Out of this comes the movement of the race. And so an impulse that is primarily selfish in nature is turned from its egoism to effect a great social good. The advantages gained by society are only enhanced by the fact that the individual fills a human need for himself in the mad race for recognition.

CUTS—WHY NOT?

Announcements are now being made in classes of the names of students who have taken an excess of cuts. Each year this problem comes up and is disposed of in the same way — by penalizing the student for unexcused cuts regardless of how high an average he may have in the course.

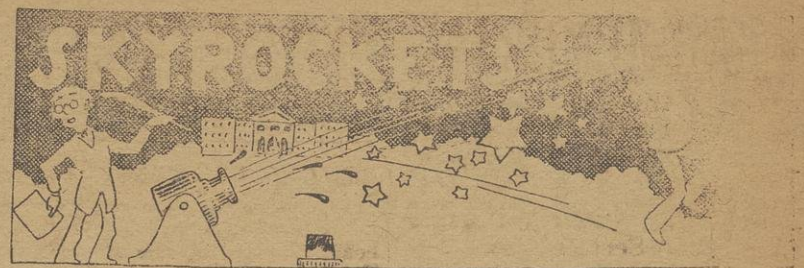

That the student who cuts classes at the expense of his grades should be penalized is evident, but some form of discipline is essential. But what about the student who is able to cut classes without suffering scholastically? Is he to suffer a deduction from the high grades he is able to maintain because of his cuts? Such is the present system.

Beyond all doubt there is a large number of students who could cut a considerable percentage of their classes and still maintain high grades. The reason for this lies in the fact that the standards of judging are set by the mediocre students through their great numbers. Consequently the students above the mediocre in ability are retarded by the poorer students.

In 90 per cent of the courses given on the hill, the students who study their text books carefully and diligently are able to give a satisfactory recitation in class. It devolves then that the recitation with some few exceptions consists merely of a pumping system whereby the instructor ascertains whether or not the student has fulfilled the requirements of study. Accordingly, the student who knows his lessons, the student with a high average, gains little or nothing from this pumping process and his time is literally wasted. Further, the two or three minutes of recitation that he has once in a while contributes virtually nothing to him. The recitation is merely a check-up system, nothing more.

A change from the present system is in order. Why should the honor students be compelled to attend classes when most of the education of the individual is obtained in his own room providing that he has the proper supervision? Instead of the present system, an allotment of cuts in accordance with scholastic grades should be instituted. A precedent for such a step now exists at Princeton. There students maintaining a grade of "A" are permitted to cut classes at will on the consideration that they maintain that average. Such a ruling is desirable and there is no reason to suppose that the student will be inclined to neglect his studies and thus to lose that privilege. On the contrary it will stimulate him to greater effort.

The same thing could be instituted here at Wisconsin. Cuts could be allotted on the same basis that grade points are. They would serve the same purpose and do so much better, for they would constitute an immediate reward. They would act as a powerful stimulus to change a fair into a good and a good into an ex. Thus a benefit could be conferred as well as an incentive to greater effort without any detrimental effects.

LAST NIGHT we all discovered that the Seniors had a mean swingout. Here's hoping they don't send any uppercuts our way before they leave town.

Higher Learning in America

THE UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN

By J. H.

Paul V. Ganglin, we fear, is not endowed with the traditional love for his Alma Mater. In a scathing article called "The Higher Learning in America," in the June number of "Smart Set," he has lashed his college with the scorpion whip of bitter words, to a degree true, but infinitely exaggerated. One wonders what he had for dinner the night he wrote it.

Ganglin was the editor of last year's Literary magazine and is at present working for the scenario department of the Universal picture corporation in Hollywood. He wrote "Kitty Corner," the 1922 Haresfoot production and is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Here are a few choice side-lights on Wisconsin student life as Ganglin sees it:

"The effect of co-education is tremendous. We concentrate our best efforts on fussing everywhere it is male and female—rare is the strong-minded youth who can strike a just balance between his work and the insistent call of pleasure.

"Because economic necessity does not drive them to regarding a university as a trade school, the women quicken its intellectual life—. Despite occasional alarms in the newspapers and the fire-and-brimstone sermons of the Dean of Women, the co-ed of Wisconsin is a remarkably well-behaved young lady. We have our broad-minded girls, but they are rare.

"The university is the creature of the jealous tax-payers, created by them to give their sons and daughters an education or, if they be incapable of education, at least the prestige of an A. B. degree. Most of the children whose parents send them forth in quest of higher learning in these days are either lazy or fundamentally unfit for mature tasks and mature responsibilities in dealing with ideas."

In speaking of Wisconsin's tradition of freedom to think he says, "It is of course the highest nonsense to suppose that the notions of Darwin or of anyone else could make an impression on the contented minds of the engineers, agriculturists, commerce students, and home economists who learn their trade at Wisconsin.

"Last year Calvin Coolidge gave to the world the surprising information that Wisconsin is a nest of radicalism. If Our Cal could only have heard us boo Kate O'Hara, if he could have seen President Birge running around in circles while he tried to justify his refusal to let speakers slightly tinged with radicalism use university buildings! No, we struggle, but we are not radical."

He offers us interesting information on our publications. "The Octopus," partly because of the surveillance of the deans and partly because of the low ebb of ingenuity at Wisconsin, lacks the salt of the best college magazines of its type. The "Satire section of the annual 'Badger' used to justify its name by satirizing fully the whole of university life, but the eternal vigilance of the hierarchy of deans is steadily rendering it innocuous and puerile. "The Cardinal" is an intidly made up daily of no particular distinction save for the Skyrocket column, a sort of ironical scavenger of modes and manners.

"The one intellectual gesture that Wisconsin makes is the 'Wisconsin Literary Magazine'. The Lit has a peculiar brand of literariness all its own which has been called premature rather than immature." We might mention again that Ganglin was editor of the Lit last year.

"The narrow horizon of the trade school mind embraces every thing—the theatre means the movies, Orpheum circuit vaudeville, and barn-storming companies playing the successes of three seasons before last." What else are we offered? Too bad he couldn't have seen the students who attended Galli-Curci's concert.

He has the good grace to say in conclusion, "Only childish superficialness could be led to scorn it 'in toto,' for he who gives to Wisconsin has an opportunity to extend the tentacles of his consciousness and touch a great variety of experiences."

PLAN MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM

Major Ray Owen to Preside at Services in Armory

Memorial services in honor of university men killed in the World war will be held before the Lincoln monument May 30 at 10 o'clock, immediately following President Birge's review of the University Cadets corps, which will take place at 9 o'clock on the upper campus.

Major Ray S. Owen, Commander of the university post of the American Legion, will preside at the memorial services.

Memorial day services for the city of Madison will be held in the university armory this year instead of at Camp Randall as the custom has been. Plans for the observance of the occasion by the city have not been completed, but a program is assured, with a parade in which Spanish war veterans, the Boy Scouts and school children will take part.

The program for the university will begin promptly at 10 o'clock with a march of the cadet corps to their position on the Lincoln terrace with Major John S. Woods in command.

The guests of honor are the Gold Star mothers and Civil War veterans. They will be escorted to their seats by members of the university post of the American Legion.

The program is as follows: Procession of Wreath-bearers, escorted by the President's Guard, Cadet Colonel R. L. Luening in command. Invocation, Chaplain, Lieutenant William L. Young, Introductory, President Edward A. Birge. Address Major William F. Lorenz. Song, "America," by the assemblage, led by Prof. Edgar B. Gordon. The gold star roll and wreath-bearing ceremony directed by Major Charles I. Corp; reading of names by Major Wood. The program will close with the sounding of taps by the bugler of the university band.

Real farm problems are the exercises in a new mathematics course by correspondence recently started by the Extension division.

RURAL SCHOOLS ARE ENTERED IN FIELD DAY HERE

One hundred and forty rural school children are entered in 50-yard dash events that will be held at the annual Dane County field and health day that occurs at Vilas park Friday, June 1, under the auspices of Agric Triangle and the Dane county public health and school departments.

The 50-yard dash is divided into four classes consisting of boys over 100 pounds, boys under 100 pounds, girls over 100 pounds and girls under 100 pounds. Twenty heats will be required to determine the winners of the event. The first 16 heats include the preliminaries, and the last four heats will determine the champions.

The meet is a competition between eastern and western Dane county to determine the sectional champions. Competitors for western Dane were selected at the seventeen play days held by Agric Triangle. Supporters of the eastern section were chosen on a similar basis.

The dash events are scheduled to take place directly east of the band stand at Vilas park. Lanes will be marked off and the course arranged so that spectators may see the participants in action.

Officials in charge of the dash events include T. R. Daniels, chairman; Lippert Ellis '23, starter; H. E. Murphy '24; T. H. Ford '24, Bert Langen '23 and Allen Dickson '23, judges; Roman Koelsch '25, scorekeeper; William Hartman '23, Minor Harris '26, track clerks; and Frank Pearson '24, announcer.

Prolonged applause and skyrockets greeted the new football coach. In a few brief remarks he stated that Wisconsin was one of the greatest schools in the country and too little appreciated by the student body.

In closing his address Ryan remarked that there was not advance dope on next year's football team and requested students to do a little missionary work for athletics at home this summer.

Welcome Frosh

Following the introduction of Coach Ryan, the gathering went to lower campus where the freshmen were officially welcomed into the university.

Gus Tebell '23, chairman of Varsity Night, made an address of welcome and as the freshmen sang "Varsity" the bonfire was lighted. The freshmen held a snake dance around the fire and then threw their green caps on the pile as it blazed the brightest.

After the burning of the green caps the snake dance was continued down State street and around the Capitol square and back to lower campus where the freshmen dispersed.

Tebell's Speech

"Our gathering here tonight marks the beginning of a new era in Wisconsin spirit. On behalf of the senior class, we are here to bid the members of the freshman class to full fellowship in the spirit of our great institution." Gus Tebell '23, said as he officially opened Varsity Night.

"On the occasion of varsity welcome last autumn, you of the freshman class were greeted officially on behalf of the administration of the university. At the time, one of our number bid you don the freshman caps as a symbol of your three-fold loyalty.

"You have worn your cap, upon which the button designates the college of which you are part, thereby making for college and school solidarity; the green of your cap testifies your membership and loyalty as freshmen to your class; the cardinal W on your cap signifies that greatest of loyalties, loyalty to your alma mater.

"It is with pleasure and pride, therefore, that I welcome you to

The Skyrockets will be uncensored and much better than the classroom brand of faculty humor, according to Steenberg.

Limestone Walls of Music Hall Are Being Repaired

Workmen chipping away at the stones of old Music hall have aroused a gentle curiosity in the minds of some of the students who pass the building daily. The service department explains that a few of the weathered spots in the limestone walls are being repaired with cement. A number of buildings on the campus are constructed of rough limestone blocks, and the effects of weathering are noticeable.

THE ENGLISH INFLUENCE GROWS

Copyright 1923 Hart Schaffner & Marx

English influence on style as adopted by the better dressed young men of the United States seems to be gaining rapidly as the developments of the late spring and early summer begin to be seen.

Coats, as worn by the close followers of the English style tendencies, are very loosely draped; almost baggy. The three button type holds the lead at present, with the two-button coat pushing it hard for public favor. Buttons are placed wide apart, the coats are somewhat shorter, and pockets are set lower.

Sometimes worn with the new English type is a vest cut short and rounded across the bottom, with the time honored points missing.

This necessitates trousers with a longer rise. A slight pleat in front gives a very English touch, as does a strap buckle in the back. The trousers are wide and straight hanging with cuffs. To keep them up above the short vest line old-fashioned suspenders are almost a necessity.
