"Weather conditions permitting
the 1924 Spring Horse show will begin at two o'clock on the lower and appear on the campus at 1:45 o'clock to lead off the first event of the show at 2 o'clock.

Auto Polo Feature

Sixteen sororities, four more than ever competed in any previous horse show, will provide plenty of competition in the inter-sorority event, the winner to receive a large two and a half foot traveling cup.

Auto polo players and drivers have been practicing for over a week and promise a thrilling match. They have been completely fitted by the military department with hoops and protective devices to insure safety during turnovers. A first aid ambulance has been provided by the committee to look after any injuries that may occur.

Calvary Unit Performs

The best women riders in school will compete in the seven women's events which include the following classes, high hurdling, open three gaited, three gaited pair class, and five gaited pair class. An interesting event will be the beginning class in riding.

A calvary unit of the advanced course R. O. T. C. will do some high hurdling. Other men's events in which junior R. O. T. C. artil-

Gus Tuckerman is Back; Wears Only Straw Lid in Town

The only straw hat worn in Chigo two days ago was that being to Gus Tuckerman '24.
"I felt all alone on a wide, wide side," said Gus yesterday afternoon.

With a deft twist of his thumb
through the arm hole of his vest
the former cheer leader showed the style prevailing in Memphis, Tennessee.

"Always have the ribbon on the straw match your suspenders" he said.

The single straw hat worn in Madison yesterday was that belonging to Gus. Several appeared earlier in the week but the prolong-ation of the frosty spell sent them back to the moth bags, or forced the owners to hide them high and dry on some obscure shelf.

Approximately 150 straw hats
have been sold by ten Madison stores catering to student trade.
The slightest warm spell increases
their sale from none on cold days,
to not less than five on the days when exams, books, classes—all of which may go its way for all of

CRANEFIELD ELECTED HESPERIA PRESIDENT

Harold A. Cranefield '25, was elected president of Hesperia Literary society at a meeting held last night following a banquet in honor of the society's 70th anniversary.
Other officers elected were James F.
Love '25, vice president; Arthur H.
Nickel '26, secretary; Leslie R.
Pearl '26, treasurer; Edmund T.
Hamlin '26, censor; and Frank C.
Stuart '25, assistant censor.

FAUST REPORTS ROOM SHORTAGE

Accommodations Found For Only 150 Interscholastic Athletes

With Interscholastic day just a week away, only ten fraternities have reported rooms for 150 of the 400 high school athletes that will be here for the track meet, Paul Faust '26, chairman of the entertainment committee, said yesterday.

"The committee expects that the other fraternities on the campus will offer to house some of these high school athletes. If the fraternities do not realize this opportunity to help Wisconsin, the track meet for Faust '26
next year will have to suffer materially," Faust said.

The ten fraternities that have offered to house the men are Sigma Nu, Chi Psi, Sigma Phi Epsilon,
Alpha Delta Phi, Alpha Gamma Rho, Alpha Chi Rho, Phi Sigma Delta, Alpha Sigma Phi and Triangle and Chi Phi.

Arrangements have been made with the Association of Commerce for 50 autos to take the visitors to see the sights of Madison: the Forest Products laboratory, the Capitol and buildings on the campus. There will be trips on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

Present plans are for the committee to charter a boat from Bernard and Son boat livery. This trip is planned for Friday afternoon and Saturday morning, announced Faust yesterday.

Eastern Expert Has Article in Commerce Mag

An interesting article in the May issue of the Commerce Magazine is an address given before the Chamber of Commerce of the United States by Edward A. Filene, president of Wm. Filene's Sons company, Boston, Mass. The article deals with the forces leading up to the pre-war organization of production, with the present organization and condition of distribution, and with the future of distribution and its services to the community and nation.

The awards for freshmen given by the honorary commerce fraternity and honorary commerce sorority, Beta Gamma Sigma and Gamma Epsilon Pi, are also discussed. These cups are given as rewards for high scholastic attainment in freshman work.

This issue of the magazine is the last one to be published under the supervision of the present staff.
A new staff for next year will be elected at a meeting of the Commerce club, May 27.

W. A. A. HAS CONTEST FOR ASSOCIATION SONG

A song contest is being held by W.
A. A. for the best words to be written about the society. The music need not be original, any familiar song may be parodied, according to the committee in charge. The winning song will be sung at the annual spring banquet to be held in Lathrop parlors June 3. All songs must be submitted to Beatrice Marks '25 and Hazel Hyer '25
before May 27.

WOMEN'S GROUPS PICK OFFICERS IN JOINT ELECTIONS

Dorothy John, Miriam Inglis, Eulaile Beffel, Are New Presidents

Dorothy John '25, Miriam Inglis 26, and Eulaile Beffel '27, were elected to head the respective offices of Blue Dragon, Yellow Tassel, and Red Gauntlet in the women's joint elections yesterday.

Other officers of Blue Dragon for next year will be Martha Williamson '25, vice president; Ruth Kling-ler '25, secretary; and Margaret Meyer '25, treasurer. Alice Colony
'26 will be vice president of Yellow Tassel, Julia Peet '26, secretary; and Barbara Beatty '26, treasurer.

Red Gauntlet Officers

The vice president of Red Gauntlet will be Alice Winston '27, and secretary-treasurer will be Dorthea Stolte '27. The officers of Green Button, freshman women's organization, will be elected at a mass meeting of the incoming freshman women in the fall.

Green Button, the first women's class organization at Wisconsin, was formed in 1917. The following year its members took the name of Red Gauntlet and as juniors the Yellow Tassel was chosen as their symbol.

Select Society Name

A suggestion for the name of the senior society came from the senior organization at the University of Michigan, Wyvern, a Welsh name meaning a protecting dragon. With the addition of a color to correspond with the names of the other class groups, the name Blue Dragon was finally adopted.

A gold ring with a dragon engraved in blue about a lapis lazuli setting was designed as the emblem of the class and as a means for identifying Wisconsin women after graduation.

Comprehensive Expo Offered By Badger High School Pupils

Everything from the dramatization of the Bible to the working out of physics experiments are included in the school exhibit at the Wisconsin high school Thursday and yesterday.

The exhibit is intended to be suggestive of one way of promoting creative and inquiring types of education. While each individual presents something for which he alone is responsible, each special contribution is related to the whole and the whole is interpreted by means of a mastery of a concrete problem. A feature of the exhibit is that of having the public participate in asking questions, testing the pupils as to mastery of their projects.

To illustrate their projects some of the students have made miniature objects, for instance, in explanation of Roman life, Virginia Manchester, Frances Johnson and Marjorie Glicksman built a small coliseum out of a plaster paris and wood.

THREE-YEAR COURSE IN MUSIC ARRANGED

A three year course in public school music to replace the two-year course has been established in the university. A more liberal training in academic subjects will be given. The course is so arranged that after a student has finished the three year course, he may,
by adding another year of study,
obtain the degree of bachelor of music.

Two professors are among the nine Madison people who are taking the lead in organizing the respective class reunions which are to be held here June 20 and 21.

Prof. L. F. Van Hagen of the college of engineering is handling the business connected with the reunion of the class of 1904; and Prof. J. E. Olson is doing the same for the class of 1884.

The seven other Madisonians who are heading their respective class reunions are A. D. Conover
'74, Norman Basset '79, Ernest
Warner '89, Caroline Young '94,
Mrs. S. H. Chase '99, B. S. Reynolds
'09, Norman Basset '14, and Harold Maer '19.

"All the women of the class of 1874 are planning to attend the reunion," Mr. R. S. Crawford secretary of the faculty alumni association said yesterday.

"Senior attendance at the banquet in Lathrop hall June 21 has been urged through letters sent out to all the members of the class of '24
according to Helen Kingsford, chairman of the committee.

"Entertainment consisting of several vaudeville skits will be given at the banquet," said Robert Nethercut '24 who is in charge of entertaining the alumni for the senior class.

ment and Mr. Arthur M. Colt of the department of applied arts, the two honorary members, took place yesterday afternoon. A banquet tonight and a boat trip across the lake tomorrow complete the activities of installation.

Chi Upsilon, founded here in 1923, becomes Mu chapter of Sig-

POWERS' HEARING ENDED YESTERDAY WITHOUT DECISION

Case Taken Under Advisement By Judge Stolen Until May 29

The preliminary hearing of Patrick Powers, the Madison policeman, who, on the night of May 12, shot and killed Peter M. Posey-ny '25, came to a close late yesterday afternoon when Judge O. A. Stolen held the case under advisement until May 29. At that time he will decide whether the charge of manslaughter, lodged against the policeman, shall be carried into court for trial.

Officer Powers was called to the stand before the hearing ended.
Several students who were expected to take the stand sometime during the day were not called upon to testify.

Court Room Crowded

The little court room was completely filled when the hearing opened a short time after 10 o'clock, yesterday morning. The case was transferred to the superior court room to permit quicker dispatch of the proceedings.

Accompanied by his attorney,
Frank L. Gilbert, Powers entered the courtroom shortly after 9:30 o'clock.

The case of the state was in the hands of a trio of prosecuting attorneys, District Attorney Theodore
G. Lewis, Assistant District Attorney Philip Sanborn and Assistant Attorney General J. E.
Messerschmidt.

Parker on Stand

Testimony presented during the hearing was substantially the same as statements made by witnesses immediately after the shooting.

First to take the stand was E.
P. Parker, city engineer, who presented a carefully prepared drawing of the Powers' premises 414
North Lake street, with the aid of the plan, he showed the points around which the action of the shooting hinges.

Disagreement on the facts brought out by the autopsy performed upon the slain student's body, resulted in a clash between Dr. C. H. Bunting, pathologist, and Attorney Gilbert. Dr. Bunting held strictly to the observations he made during the post mortem examination in spite of the efforts of the defense to break down his statements. He testified that the bullet struck Posey behind the right ear and went upward at an angle of about 45 degrees, penetrating the skull.

Posey's Father Here

Seven witnesses testified during the morning. They are E. E. Parker, city engineer; John Arnold, and Patrick Burke, police ambulance drivers; Dr. C. H. Bunting, one of the physicians who performed the autopsy; Captain Harry C. Davenport, who received Powers' call for the ambulance on the night of the

Birge Writes of Noted Grads Who Appear on Badger Cover

One of the novel features of the 1925 Badger which is soon to make its appearance on the campus and in homes of many Wisconsin alumni is a specially designed cover whose border is made up of the names of great Wisconsin men which are stamped in bold relief in the heavy leather.

President Birge has written a few words regarding each of these men whose names were selected because of their distinguished service to the public and to the university. They are presented in order of graduation or relation to the University.

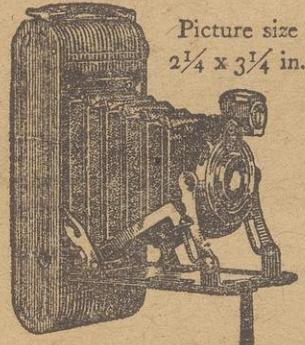

James Bashford (1849-1919), class of 1873, was noted for scholarship as an undergraduate and for public service in after life. He entered the Methodist Episcopal ministry, was president of Ohio Wesleyan university for fifteen years following 1889, and in 1904 was chosen Bishop in his church and assigned to service in China. There for the rest of his life he was conspicuous among those statesmen of Christianity who have aided the Orient to understand and to profit by western civilization, humanitarianism, and religion."

get the affection for his alma mater which his words and presence revealed to us all at so many commencements.

There are six names on the entire border of the cover. Others will be presented tomorrow.

ATHLETICS IN THE COLLEGIATE WORLDCHICAGO GAME IS CANCELLED WHEN
RAIN HITS FIELDHopes of Victory Spoiled By Showers; Team Plays
Purple Today

Rain descended again on Camp Randall yesterday afternoon, soaking the diamond, robbing Wisconsin of another expected victory, and sending Coach Lowman and his players home in disgust.

Under the conference ruling that a game may not be postponed once the visiting team is on the field the contest is eternally lost, and cannot go to batten the Badger's percentage column.

The game scheduled with Northwestern this afternoon, at Evanston, will be played if the weather permits.

The nine meets Notre Dame Monday, and, if the Purple tilt is postponed, the coach plans to hitch with Coach Kent's men Tuesday afternoon on the return trip.

Women's Inter-class
Tennis Tourney
Finals on May 31

Finals in the women's inter-class tennis tournament will be played off at the field meet at Camp Randall May 31. At the same time a university women's tennis champion will be chosen.

Two rounds in the class elimination tournament have already been played and upon their completion a class team of two members will be formed. The individual class champion will be determined and the four champions will play for the varsity championship. Lois Jacobs '24 was varsity champion last year and will compete again this year.

The general management of the tennis entries is in charge of Marion Streng '25. Assisting her are the managers of the class teams. They are Elizabeth Gissal '24, Martha Williamson '25, Helen Cooper '26 and Majorie Robinson '27.

New Officers Are Elected at Final
Menorah Meeting

William Lipman '25 was elected president of the Menorah society for the coming year at the last meeting of the Society, which was held in Lathrop hall Wednesday evening.

Other officers elected were Rebecca Rabinoff '25, vice-president; Helen Kasdin '27, corresponding secretary; Celia Miller '27, recording secretary; Norman De Nosaquo '25, treasurer. Joseph B. Scheier L2, retiring president and Charles Lepkovsky L2 were voted members of the executive board.

The Menorah will award a $50 prize essay scholarship to the student submitting the best essay written on a Jewish subject. The award will be made annually beginning next spring. Members of the English department will constitute the committee to judge the essays.

Y. W. C. A. Co-eds
Entertain Crippled
Kiddies at Bradley

Days become long and monotonous when one has to lie in bed all day, but the children at Bradley Memorial hospital find life a little more pleasant and enjoyable than one would suppose for the day passes quickly when they can look forward to an afternoon of stories, paper dolls, toys, and surprises brought to them by the girls who visit them daily. Twenty girls of the university Y. W. C. A. devote part of their time during the week to entertaining all the children who are confined to beds at Bradley Memorial. Many of the children can read, so books and stories that they might enjoy are always eagerly sought for. Few have had opportunity to learn the three R's, so the girls patiently teach them to read or write, or perhaps read or tell them a story.

CARDINAL NINE AT
EVANSTON TODAY

Coach Lowman is happy again, for this morning he left with his team for Evanston, where the Badger nine will play Northwestern in what is expected to be an easy game.

Because of rain yesterday it was undecided as to whether the ball team would go to Evanston, but late last night it was decided that the Badgers and the Purple would meet today. Northwestern is in next to last place, while the Badgers are holding down second place.

It is hoped that today's game will raise the percentage, giving the Cardinal nine a better chance for a Big Ten championship.

Versus

RAIN

Rain dripping from cornices and splashing into foaming gutters; weeping heavens raining down tears of outraged Gods; and at Camp Randall, despair reigning supreme. Chicago versus Wisconsin? Conference titles? Baseball games? Bah!

Gingerly we called the exalted potentate of the diamond, Coach Lowman, and in a voice filled with condolence and sympathy inquired regarding the encounter. Wearily the great man answered our queries.

"Yes, the game was postponed. No, it could not be played, at a later date. What? How do I like the weather? ?ddddd$—and if it ever rains again it will be too soon."

Chastened and subdued we were in the act of hanging up the receiver when an irate fem-nine voice snapped us up to horrified attention.

"What? Swearing, But we aren't swearing. You must have been mistaken. What? You're sure? Must have been the other party; besides, if you hadn't been listening you wouldn't have heard it. Fresh? Report me? Oh, Hell!"

Yes, it was a nice war. As far as telephones and telephone operators are concerned, we are eternally cured.

* * * Reports are prevalent on the campus that Mead Burke, amorphously inclined track coach, was recently caught smooching on the drive. Which may offer some explanation for Ray Moore's toting a .44 about of late.

* * * Our esteemed roommate, who makes it his modest boast that in the last track meet in which he competed he carted off four firsts, went out last Saturday night and purchased an almost new Ford tire for one of the brethren in the old accustomed California style.

His last track laurels were garnered in 1917, when Oshkosh sent Menominee crashing down in defeat, but just the same he yields a wicked pair of pliers.

* * * VERSUS We wish to go on record here as being versus rain, poor liquor, leaky canoes, blind dates, and the fellow who was waiting on the porch the other night when we brang our own dear passion flower home.

* * * Started out to type this organ of depredation for our little playmates, Mac and Bob, and ended up by injecting some of our own pet humor (?) into its folds.

* * * And the band played "Annie Laurie."

OLYMPIC TRIALSSIGNS FOR NATIONAL COLLEGIATE MEET AT BROAD
RIPPLE

Hugo E. Czerwonky has entered the national collegiate swimming meet to be held at Broad Ripple, Ind., on June 5, 6, and 7.

Northwestern university, Princeton university, Brown university, Williams college, University of Iowa and the United States Naval academy will also be represented. The event is preliminary to the Olympic contests.

Czerwonky's entry in the big meet has been expected, as the Badger star is one of the leading college swimmers in the country, and a place on the Olympic team has been predicted for him.

He will compete only in the breast stroke, his favorite event.

The class of the amateur swimmers of the United States will take part in competition for places on the squad to represent this country at the Paris games is expected to be unusually keen.

IOWA CITY, Iowa — About as many courses will be offered in the summer session of the University of Iowa as in the regular session, when 612 distinct and separate courses will be offered as compared to the 653 of the regular session.

KICKING CONTEST
WILL END SPRING
FOOTBALL DRILLCoach Ryan Anxious to Find Successor For Taft

A kicking contest will be held at Camp Randall at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. All football men, whether they have been out this year or not, are eligible to enter. The contest will be in charge of Coach Ryan and the punting will be judged both for accuracy and for distance.

The main idea behind the contest is to see how much kicking material there is in school right now. A good man will have to be found to take the place of Merrill Taft, Wisconsin's all-conference fullback last year, and who was one of the best punters in the conference. The coach would like to see many turn out, because a good punter will mean much to the Badger football next year.

This will end the spring practice. Anybody that happened to be out to the field Thursday afternoon witnessed a fast and furious scrimmage. Two teams were picked by Coaches Ryan and Traynor, and the men battled for about a half hour.

The scrimmage was featured by the open field running of Doyle Harmon, quarterback, and the line plowing of Captain "aJck" Harris. The sorrel topped youth from the Dakotas was tearing off long gains continually, and also threw some pretty passes. "Jack" was traveling in his old time form and ripped the opposing line to shreds.

The leg injury, which kept Harris out of some of the games last year does not bother him anymore. He was operated on this last winter and had the troublesome cartilage removed.

Blackman, Solbra and Larson were playing the end positions. By next year, these men should be in the best of condition and it will be hard to stop them, as Coach Ryan has spent a great deal of time this spring on the receiving of passes.

Some of last year's line men who were out are Stipek, Nelson, Biererstein and Alton. The rest of the men are now in other sports, but will be on deck next fall.

Leo Harmon was also out last night, but did not play. He was punting for a while, and sent the ball sailing true and far every time. His educated toe will be a valuable addition to next year's team.

Coach Ryan's familiar "Jump, leave your feet," was heard for the last time yesterday, and all of the candidates who were out are now expectantly waiting for the regular fall practice which will begin September 15.

"Der Bibliothekar"
Played By German
Club at Lathrop

By E. W.

A bit of Berlin was transported into the Lathrop concert room Thursday night when the German club presented the play, "Der Bibliothekar" known to English speaking playgoers through William Gillette's adaptation, "The Private Secretary."

Paul Vornholt, '27 as Marsland, B. Gutbesitzer, played the german baron and host in an austere and egotistical manner that would have aroused the envy of Kaiser Bill himself. Esther Trachte, '27, as Sarah Gildern, a chirping, old fashioned governess was a typically efficient and self effacing "maiden lady," Ruth Krause, '26, as the modern German flapper won the audience in her attempt to act coy and blasé in German.

Dorothy Brehm, '26, and Helen Winnie '25, members of Miss Johnson's class in dramatic production produced the setting, which in three acts was an interesting rustic landscape.

STALLING THE TRIAL

The Powers-Posepny hearing commenced inauspiciously yesterday morning; inauspiciously from the standpoint of the student body. In fact, those students who attended the hearing in superior court were in the main pretty well disgruntled at the attitude taken by the court. The statement of one of the students is indicative of the general impression; it went to the effect that "it looked as though the court were trying to stop the case over, to stall for time until the affair should be forgotten."

Evidently there is a great need for some powerful force behind this trial of murder of a student. The court seems to be taking the whole affair as though it were an afternoon tea party, and the case got practically nowhere.

In the first place, the hearing was called for nine o'clock in the morning and did not start until an hour later. The judge himself says that all hearings are called for nine o'clock and usually commence when those taking part are ready. So it may be that the tardiness in this hearing is no unusual thing.

Beyond that there is no specific criticism except the general attitude taken; one which is not at all to the liking of the students.

And after all, the students are very closely connected with this matter of the Posepny slaying. They feel that if carelessness on the part of local police in regard to student life is not stopped, any one of them may be the next one to suffer. If the death of a student at the hands of a policeman is taken as a light affair not worthy of sincere and forceful handling, carelessness on the part of the police may not be stopped.

A university official said at the outset of the trouble that the university would not take a hand in the prosecution unless it thought that justice was not kept uppermost. It seems to be the time right now for the university to step in.

IF SKIES ARE FAIR

Today a comparatively new feature in campus activities will be continued in the form of a horse show. Modelled after the performance which is given at Cornell, this show promises to be the biggest thing of its kind in the middle west. Again Wisconsin holds a unique position. Illinois has its horse show, to be sure, but it is held by the R. O. T. C. and not open to the general student body as is this one. Moreover, it does not include a style show. Other institutions also have their horse shows, but theirs are more like that staged at Illinois than like the one which will be put on here this afternoon. Perhaps it might be said that the "style" part of the event is complimentary to the beauty of the feminine population here. At any rate, the event is unique in itself.

CARRY ON

The regents took an important step Thursday in saving the lives of students when they passed a resolution to provide money for widening the slip where the "Isabel" is quartered. After the occurrence of a week or so ago when the life-saving boat ran on the rocks in answering a summons the wisdom of this provision is obvious. The slip will be widened so that two boats, both the "Isabel" and the "Cardinal" may stand in readiness to answer a call immediately.

It is also reported that the telephone, which was out of order at the time of the summons, has been repaired. So it seems that matters in connection with the station are looking up.

But

When the writer called to university boat house to secure information on the sign listing the signals for life-saving, no one answered. The operator rang persistently with no result. As it happened, the call was not important. But if it had been—! So it seems that perhaps matters are not looking up.

As an experiment, a call was put in to the pumping station where the whistle which directs the life-boat is operated. This second call met with better success, it must be said. But there is no excuse for the other not being answered, and answered promptly.

There is another thing, the direct telephone communication between the boat house and the pumping station has not been installed according to our informant at the latter place.

The university has been proud of its life-saving station. Undoubtedly it has done excellent work. Some one—the regents, or whoever may be responsible—had better not stop with his reforming, but carry on.

Spade-fulls From the Union

By John Dawson

Reminiscences of the battle-scarred but victorious standard bearers of the Union who rose from the ranks of the class of '24 to boost along Wisconsin's greatest undertaking are about all that remain of the Class' most recent triumph.

* * *

Although theses, examinations, and preparations for graduation left time for only one preliminary meeting of solicitors and one day's solicitation, the group of enthusiasts who did the work put over what is acclaimed the most successful campaign of its kind ever staged on Wisconsin's campus. Many subscriptions are yet to be turned in, but the actual total of money pledged and accounted for is $23,000 and 475 new life members were installed in the Union.

* * *

The girls in the physical department joined 100%, the chemical engineers have only five non-life members; and the commerce women are enrolled nearly 80%. Only the law students are conspicuously low in life members.

* * *

The campaign was not only successful in that it brought in a good sum of money to the Union fund but also in that it proved conclusively that the class of '24 is conscious of itself, that it is proud of its past contribution to the life of the school and furthermore that it will continue to work for Wisconsin as an alumni unit after graduation.

* * *

The by-word of the solicitors during the "clean-up day" was, "Give today to the Union," and they gave it in a spirit of joy in pushing a real thing for the class and for Wisconsin. The unselfish labors of these people and the splendid enthusiasm that filled them all was a thing most gratifying to those of us who have said, "Does Wisconsin spirit yet live?" This was proof that it is very much alive.

* * *

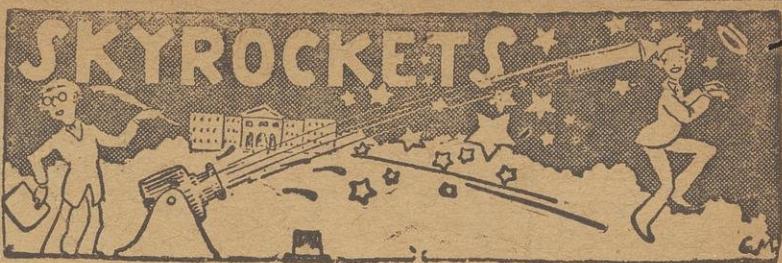

The seniors believe they have set an example for other classes to follow. We'll be looking with haughty and critical eyes at the doings of next year's seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen. We hope they will be better classes than our own, but we believe they will have to get up and going rather early.

* * *

It's true that we're all coming back next year for a week to help out in the general Union campaign. Let's start saving carfare now!

* * *

This class owes most of its much-touted achievements to the leadership of its president. For once the presidency of the senior class has meant not a mere empty honor to be bestowed on some campus idol and there let die a natural death, but rather it has meant placing a capable man in a position open to the exercise of real leadership. Our president has made us a class, and he has assisted in one of the undertakings of the class event to the extent of getting out and personally soliciting for the Union. The class of '24 has had real intelligent and unselfish leadership. May future classes see the responsibilities connected with the position of senior president and choose their heads with discretion.

SPEAKING of flannel trou, we hasten to say that one of the instructors in the English department said the only poor thing in the Haresfoot show was the pair of grey flannel trousers worn by one of the cast.

The Reader's Say-So

PUNISHING LAWBREAKERS

Editor, The Cardinal:

Your reader-contributor Leslie R. Peard states a truism in The Cardinal for May 20 when he declares it was only just that war objectors were punished. I doubt whether he can find any war objector who objected to the necessity of some punishment for breaking the law of the land, specifically the conscription act.

The objector simply exemplified another truism, namely that some laws may seem so criminal in themselves that they must be resisted at whatever cost.

If a pacifist congress passed a tax bill practically confiscating Mr. Peard's property and that of all non-pacifists in order to support pacifists families in luxury at government expense, I fear that the class of 1925 might be embarrassed by a legally convicted objector as well as the class of 1911. More horrible examples can be left to the imagination.

THE POST OFFICE RETALIATES

Editor, The Cardinal:

I take exception to the editorial which appeared in the Cardinal of May 20th, under the caption "Fast Mail Service."

The Madison postoffice has never been in better condition to perform efficient and satisfactory service in the delivery of mail in this city and in the dispatch of mail from Madison. We have all the help we need, and there is no mail held over from one train to another, as we are able to make a "clean-up" before each dispatch. Therefore, I feel that your editorial is a great injustice to the postmaster and the Madison postoffice.

If you have any specific cases of delay in mail dispatched from Madison, and if the envelopes or wrappers can be secured, I assure you every possible effort will be made to ascertain cause of delay, in or-start, and incidentally it means another way of having a cheap date.

Somtome has gone off half-cocked before investigating and without any knowledge of the true situation of the postal service at Madison.

The mails for Portage and Milwaukee close at the Madison Post-office as follows: Portage—12:10 A. M. via Camp Douglas, due at Portage at 6:00 A. M., in time for first morning delivery: 11:20 A. M. and 9:10 P. M. These mails are dispatched in direct pouches to Portage and are not opened until received there. Milwaukee—5:30 and 8:30 A. M.; 12:00 M; 12:45; 3:10; 4:50; and 9:10 P. M.

From the above schedules it would appear that there should not be the delay in the dispatch of mail to these cities as complained of in your editorial, and if there is any delay, I assure you it does not occur at Madison.

20 BOTANY STUDENTS LEAVE ON FIELD TRIP

About twenty botany students left this morning on a field trip to Barfey Glenn in Baraboo hills. The trip is part of the laboratory work of the classes of H. W. Rickett and is taken for the purpose of collecting moss and ferns for work in the laboratory.

Barfey Glenn is one of the best single places for field work, since it offers a great variety of plants. "Classes usually go to Devil's lake for this purpose because it is better known. I expect the change to prove interesting," Mr. Rickett said.

UNION BOARD HAS DINNER MEETING

New Members Meet With Old at Madison Club on Wednesday

Newly elected members of the Union Board and the members who have served for the past year held a preliminary organization meeting Wednesday night in the form of a dinner at the Madison club. Prof. Max Mason and John C. Dollard, secretary of the Memorial Union committee, also attended the meeting and spoke on the functions of the board in its relation to the building program.

"The opportunity for service through an organization like the Union is one that comes to few in the course of their university careers," Professor Mason said. "It should be the aim of the board next year to surpass the very worthy achievements of the present board, but still feel that future boards may do even more toward carrying forward the spirit of Wisconsin."

Dollard explained the exact status of the building at the present time and told what the men might expect of it when completed. "I feel that the actual realization of the dream is going to exceed our expectations by far. The Union is going to be a bigger thing than we can visualize at present," Dollard said.

Home-Ecs Study Clothing Instead of Only Sewing

Unjustly the work in home economics is generally summarized as "sewing and cooking". Properly it should be termed "clothing and foods," for the busy domestics do not learn merely to sew pieces of cloth together and to fry eggs, but they study the art and economics of foods and clothing and their relation to society.

The dress or suit that you wear is not just a piece of material; it is an interesting creation of particular design with a history and an economic and psychological importance.

The history of costume is one of the unusual courses given. It traces back through the ages what people wore, where they got the materials and how these materials and the designs were influenced by the political and social affairs of the day. One of the urgent motives of the crusades was to obtain rich and new cloths, it is said.

Clothing economics is a study of women's clothing only. The history and hygiene of various garments, the position of the department store in economic life, and the general trend and the great importance of advertising, are considered in this course.

The children's clothing shop is a real shop conducted under shop methods with a fore-woman, appointed at intervals from among

S. G. A. TO GIVE SCHOLARSHIP CUP

Award of Trophy to Frosh Women Will Be Made Annually

"The awarding of the freshman scholarship cup at the Senior Swingout Thursday evening to the freshmen woman who has attained the highest scholastic average for the first semester this year will become a part of the annual Swingout tradition," Alice Corl '25, president of S. G. A. said yesterday.

The cup is to be a travelling cup and it will be in the possession of the freshman woman to whom it is awarded for one year. The cup will be given at Swingout each year by the retiring president of S. G. A. Lois Jacobs '24 will make the award this year.

"S. G. A. board voted to award the scholarship cup because it felt that a definite incentive was needed to encourage high scholarship in the freshman class," Miss Corl said. The freshman with a high scholastic average is certainly deserving of some award."

Women coming to the university with advanced standing but entering as freshmen will not be eligible to the award. The freshman woman who receives the cup must be one to whom college life is a new experience.

Ag-Medic game is postponed. No games will be made until new schedule is made by George Berg.

May Evening Dancing Frocks

from
"The Breath of the Avenue"

BROADWAY Flashes its lights before dark these long May evenings. And fashionable New York begins its dinner-and-dancing evenings before the daylight-saving sun has gone completely down.

At the Palais Royal, the Rendez-vous, Trocadero and the Lido (a new cabaret in the Italian manner with a Venetian front that is a tea rose color) — new evening clothes come out for a new season.

Chiffon Evening Dresses in soft, flower colors fluttering out of any number of twilight-blooming taxi cabs. At the opening of the Palais Royal's new summer cabaret, for instance, there are many shingled heads, whose boyishness is contradicted by the feminine accent of soft chiffon frocks.

Billie Burke, for instance, with her famous gold-red shingle, wears a chiffon frock in one of her favorite and equally famous pink shades. This time it is cyclamen pink that she chooses for a clinging, full-shirted chiffon frock.

Black Lace Over Pale Satin, another very feminine fashion, appears often and agrees with chiffon that all who are shingle-bobbed are not boyish—all of the time.

Pajamas of Madras and Batiste

Girls and women like men's pajamas because of their loose, comfortable styles. These suits are made of fine, soft madras in the prettiest stripes. The more feminine girl might choose dainty batiste pajamas in blue, tan, orchid or white trimmed with blue or orchid.

Flannel Fashion is getting what it deserves—an important place in this summer's sun!

The four pictured above are typical of many styles. One, a chic little sleeveless affair, cleverly striped in black and green on cream, with collar and pocket flaps of linen, lace edged. COMMENCEMENT PLANS ARE COMPLETED; CLASS ORATORS ARE CHOSEN

THE program for commencement week at the University of Wisconsin, just completed by a committee of faculty members and students of their senior class, was made public Friday.

The exercises will open with the first performance of the annual senior class play in the open air theater at 8:30 Thursday night, June 19.

Friday, June 20, is class day. Exercises will be held on Muir Knoll at 3 p.m. The address of welcome will be given by Walter A. Frautsch, of Madison, Olivia T. Orth, of Milwaukee, and Thomas A. MacLean of Danville, Ill., will give the class history.

The class day oration is to be delivered by John Frautsch, C. Fritscher, Sturgeon Bay, and the class prophecy by Dorothea Wilgus, Platteville, and Porter F. Butts, Springfield, Ill.

Harold A. Seering, Shawano, will give the farewell to the underclassmen. Eliot H. Sharp, Madison, will deliver the juniors' response.

Class Memorial.

Edward N. Otis, Madison, will sing a solo, followed by the presentation of the class memorial by Martin P. Below, Oshkosh, captain of last year's university football team. The acceptance for the faculty will be made by Prof. Max Mason.

The inter-collegiate athletic medal will be presented to the university man who, while taking a leading part in college athletics, has maintained more than an average scholastic standing will be presented at this time. Character is also taken into consideration in the presentation of this medal. Gustave Tebell of Aurora, Ill., former football and basketball star was awarded the medal last year.

The Ivy ceremony, one of the sacred traditions of Wisconsin graduating classes, will take place in front of Bascom hall at 4:30.

O'Neill Plants Ivy.

The ivy oration will be delivered by Oscar Christianson, Beloit. The odes to the ivy will be given by Edith A. Porter, Washington, D.C., and Anita K. Haven, Hudson. The ivy will be planted by Daniel C. O'Neill, of Chippewa Falls. In this ceremony an ivy plant is placed in the ground beside those planted by many classes, and is left to grow and twine up the stone wall of Bascom hall as a symbol of the fidelity of the class to its alma mater.

The pipe of peace ceremony, another exercise traditional at the University of Wisconsin, will take place on the lower campus at 11 p.m. The pipe of peace oration this year will be delivered by Wilbur W. Wittenberg, Milwaukee.

The acceptances on behalf of the junior class will be made by Bert M. Elberts, Jefferson. The pipe of peace ceremony is an Indian custom and originated at the university here. The lower campus, where the ceremony takes place, was once the center of Indian camps which dotted the shores of Lake Mendota.

Pipe Ceremony.

The pipe of peace, from the stem of which hangs the ribbons of many graduating classes, is handed down by the senior class to the juniors.

The senior class play will be repeated in the open air theater on Friday evening, preceding the pipe of peace ceremony.

Saturday is alumni day. At 10 a.m. there will be a concert by the University Glee club, followed by a business meeting of the Alumni association in Music hall. The association will elect officers for the coming year.

The senior-alumni luncheon will take place in Lathrop hall cafeteria at noon.

The parade by classes will start in the upper campus at 1 p.m. They will march about the campus and then to the lower campus, where the alumni teams of the University of Wisconsin and the University of Chicago hold their annual diamond contest.

Following the ball game the University First Regimental band will play a concert on the lawn of the residence of President E. A. Birge.

be held Sunday afternoon at o'clock in the gymnasium. The address will be delivered by President Birge. The university band will give a twilight concert at 7 p.m.

Commencement activities will be concluded and degrees will be awarded on Monday, commencement day. The procession, led by President Birge, college deans and members of the faculty, will form at Music Hall at 8:45 a.m. Members of the senior class will form in line according to their college.

Order of the Coif Initiates Eight Seniors in Law

The Order of the Coif held its annual initiation dinner Thursday evening at the University Y. M. C. A. Eight members of the senior class of the law school were initiated. The following seniors were made active members: Thomas Nicholas Burke, LeRoy James Burlingame, A. Walter Dahl, Miriam Louise Frye, Russell Phillips Jones, Morris Karon, Arthur Thomas Thorson, and Beatrice Lampert Walker.

In addition to these, Chief Justice A. J. Vinje of the Supreme court and Prof. W. G. Rice, Jr. of the law faculty were initiated as honorary members.

The active members of the Order of the Coif are elected from among those attaining the highest scholastic in the senior class in the Law school. Election to honorary membership is in recognition of professional attainments and position.

The name "Order of the Coif" is taken from that of an ancient English order composed of Sergeants of Law representing the highest rank in the legal profession, and from which the judges were once exclusively chosen. This ancient order, which numbered among its number Sir Edward Coke and Sir William Blackstone, has almost disappeared. Its revival in the modern Order of the Coif serves to emphasize the character of the present order as an honorary legal order.

CO-ED TRANSFERS VOICE OBJECTIONS

Charge "Lack of Friendliness and Democracy," Score Smoking, Drinking

A charge of lack of friendliness and democracy was brought against the students of Wisconsin, by about 20 of the 50 women entering here from other schools who attended the Transfer club banquet at Lathrop parlors, Thursday night.

Other charges, made when Dean Louise Nardin asked that these girls voice their chief objection, problem, or disappointment in Wisconsin, were smoking among women, drinking among men, veneration shown the brainless type of girl, and the undue significance attached to sororities.

These objections followed a short talk by Dean Nardin. The other speakers of the evening were Joe Thompson, 26, Elizabeth Stolte '25, Alice Corl, '25, and Margaret Campbell '25.

A short business meeting, in which the officers for the coming year were elected, was presided over by Miss Elizabeth Wells, president. The officers elected were Martha Williamson '26, treasurer, Joe Thompson, vice-president, and Robye Nichols '25, secretary-treasurer.

Many Groups Rent Y. W. C. A. Cottage at Blackhawk Cave

The Y. W. C. A. cottage situated near Black Hawk cave is not standing idle these spring days and groups come and go during the two weeks for which it has been rented. The cottage is comfortably furnished for twenty girls and ample accommodations are provided for cooking, as each group brings its own supplies.

The old and new cabinet members of the Y. W. C. A. will spend the week end at the cottage, the advisory board joining them on Sunday. The Pioneer club has engaged it for Monday, the Vespers club for Tuesday, University house for Wednesday and the Sophomore commission will spend the weekend there including Memorial day up to June first, when the period of rental expires.

Each year a sum is set aside in the budget for this purpose. Although the time is short many groups are able to take advantage of this opportunity, as they usually occupy for a day and night, or a week end.

Letters Will Aid Senior Women in Get Together Move

Letters, will be the means of keeping the senior girls in touch with each other, the means which will hold the class together, and the foundation for the Get-Together Movement started among the senior girls and sponsored by Nina Ferris '24.

A group of senior women have gone through the card catalogue containing the names of the women in the senior class and have taken every tenth name, these girls to be captains. The captains will receive a list of ten names, and will write to these girls throughout the year. An alumnus will be selected to take charge of all the letter writing, and the captains will write to each other and the secretary during the year.

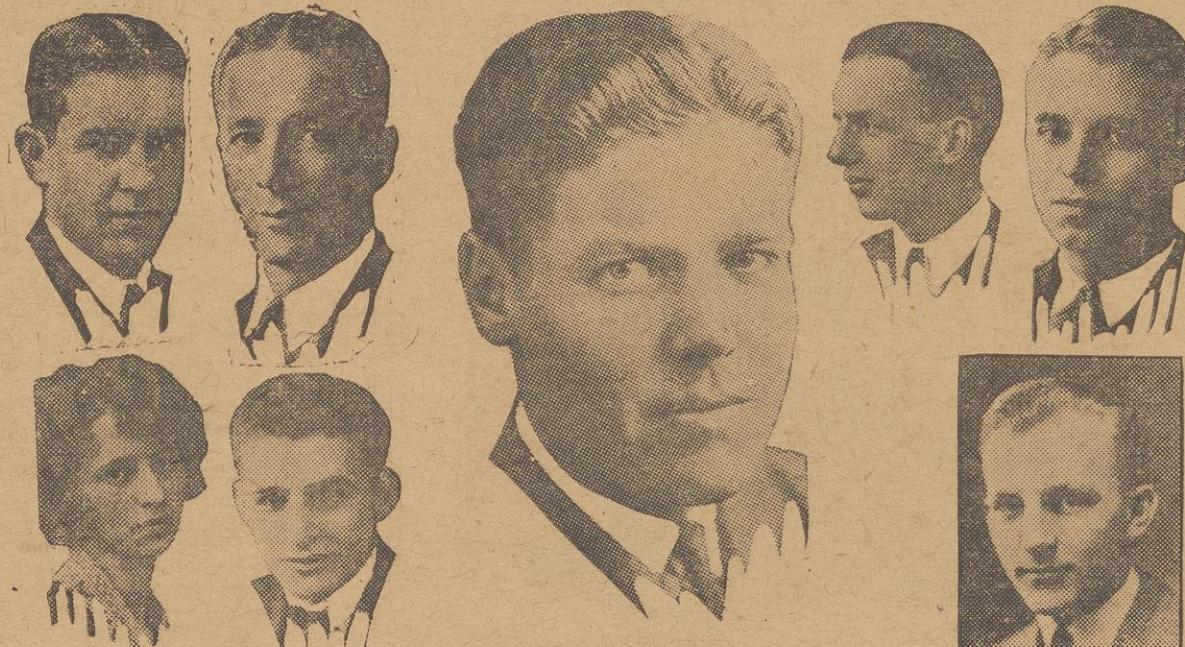

"I have my list and am glad to keep it. Some very interesting things have come out of this correspondence," said Dorothy Dwight, S. G. A. secretary, and a member of the class of 1920, which originated this movement.

Edit Classes Make "Dummies"— But Not the Kind You Mean

"Say, have you got your dummy? Let's see it. Ya, I've made mine."

Idiotic as such references may seem to some students who have heard them this week they are wholly intelligible to members of the editing class of the journalism department.

The word "dummy" in this case may be defined, not as a thick-skulled human, a wooden image, or a certain bridge hand, but as a model publication, a sample copy magazine as it were.

At the request of Prof. E. M. Johnson, every member of the editing class, became editor of a magazine. If he wished he could improve an existing publication, make it over into a masterpiece, or if he felt the creative artist within him, he could produce something new and original, something that would startle the world and make his fortune. The results were varied and some were startling.

"The Yellow Cabbage," an original magazine bearing the slogan "A thinking fellow calls a Yellow" was an artistic invention for the Yellow Cab company. A magazine called "The Yellow Limousine," for the patrons of the Madison Street Car company, caused a distinct sensation, especially through its motto, "Take a street car, it's always there."

"The Active Woman," a publication for the working woman, "The Slug," an improved model for the magazine of the Linograph company and "The Carnation News," an organ for the Carnation Milk company were among the feasible ideas presented.

"Some of the magazines are practical," said Professor Johnson today. "Oftentimes the student takes his publication to an editor who is willing to try his ideas or publish his magazine. I have known several students who have made

SPEECH PROF IN RADIO LECTURE

Prof. West Broadcasts Talk on "Planning Public Speech"

Robert William West, assistant professor of speech, broadcasted a lecture on "Planning the Public Speech" from station W H A last night.

"A speech is divided into three definite parts, the beginning, the body, and the conclusion. When a speaker first appears he has 100 per cent attention from the audience.

"The reasons for so many failures in speeches are that some speakers present something interesting, but not related to the subject, some present the subject at once in an uninteresting way, and the rest do neither," according to Mr. West.

"It is necessary that there be a definite plan in the mind of the speaker even if the speech must be extemporaneous. A moment must be taken in which to organize material."

CAMPAIGN MANY STATES FOR 'BOB'

"La Follette For President" Boom Gains Headway; Send Out Petitions

That LaFollette for President organizations have already been started in twenty states and that nearly 100,000 petitions asking the senator to run have already been sent out was the statement made by Harry Sauthoff, secretary of the LaFollette for President committee, at a meeting held at Music hall Thursday. The meeting was held to organize a LaFollette for President club at the university.

Mr. Sauthoff distributed petitions among the students present and urged those present to take the lead in forming LaFollette for President in their own communities after leaving the university.

"The reception which has attended the work of the committee in charge of the LaFollette for President campaign has been wonderful," said Mr. Sauthoff. "The manner in which the petitions are being returned to the headquarters at Chicago, each signed with 50 names, shows how popular the senator is throughout the country."

Mr. Sauthoff stated that there are already 10 clerks working in the Chicago headquarters.

Henry A. Huber, state senator and candidate for lieutenant governor, and William T. Evjue, editor of The Capital Times, made the addresses of the evening. They reviewed the work of the progressive movement in Wisconsin and told of the issues that will play an important part in the coming campaign. Wayne Limberg presided.

CONSERVATIVE NAMED CHURCH MODERATOR

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — The general assembly of the Presbyterian church got down to business today after the first fundamentalist-modernists brush yesterday, which the fundamentalists won in the election of Dr. Clarence MacCartney, Philadelphia, as Moderator.

The conservative element appeared to have a commanding majority, as evidences by Dr. Mac Cartney's election, and this was regarded as significant in view of the controversy that is expected when the Fosdick case reaches the action stage.

William Jennings Bryan nominated the Philadelphia pastor.

WHEELER SCHOOL SEEKS PROPERTY

Negotiations Under Way For Purchase of Old Luther Memorial Church

Fletcher Wheeler of the Wheeler School of Music is negotiating with John Peterson, general contractor, for the purchase of the building formerly occupied by Luther Memorial church in the 600 block on University ave., it was learned Friday.

The price, if the purchase is made, will be about $5,000, it was said.

Mr. Wheeler and members of the board of trustees of the newly organized Christian church here will confer Friday night on the proposal that the church rent the building from the Wheeler school.

The structure has been unoccupied since the Luther Memorial church took over the new "cathedral" edifice last fall. Mr. Petersen accepted the old building as part payment on the construction work.

members interpreted the words of the organ solo as an insult to the Chinese people, others recognized the fact that the words were meant slightly.

It was decided that a committee of two be elected to interview the manager of the Parkway theater and explain the situation to him. The committee will interview the manager of the Parkway theater as soon as he comes back from an out of town visit.

VISITING BELGIAN IN LECTURE HERE

Prof. Jean Massart Tells of "Accomodability of Organisms"

The adaptability of plants and other organisms to germination was discussed by Jean Massart, visiting professor from the University of Brussels in his lecture yesterday on the "Accomodability of Organisms."

Professor Massart illustrated his address with slides of different plants and Belgian scenes. His accounts of the inundation of Belgium to prevent the German march on Calais showed the accomodation of certain plants to the sea-water which covered the land to a foot in depth. Professor Massart pointed out that when water was drained off no sign of vegetation existed but that within two years after the armistice it was covered with reeds and other plants which were easily adaptable.

"Why is it that there are organisms which are able to adjust their protoplasmic organisms to the different temperatures?" asked Professor Massart, and then explained that no cause had as yet been discovered. He himself is experimenting and doing research in the subject.

POWERS' CASE HELD UNDER ADVISEMENT

shooting; Leo Finnerty, son of Mrs. Powers; Frank Bliss, 412 North Lake street, who heard the shot fired.

In the early afternoon Mrs. Powers took the stand and reiterated her previous statements of the incident. Mr. Powers testified later in the afternoon.

F. W. Dickey, city attorney of Two Rivers, Posepny's home, was in the courtroom during the entire hearing. He came down to Madison to represent the city and the dead youth's parents. Charles Posepny, brother of Peter, accompanied Mr. Dickey.

It became known yesterday that the Two Rivers Rotary club will fight any move to obtain a change in venue, if the case is remanded to court. Two communications, one addressed to Governor Blaine and the other to the Madison Rotary club, oppose granting a change of venue on the grounds that the dead boy's parents will be at a disadvantage if the change is permitted.

140 ENROLL FOR AVIATION COURSE

Quota of 200 Now Lacks Only Sixty of Being Filled

The quota of 200 students to be enrolled for the prospective course in aviation in connection with the R. O. T. C., has been added to by 20 since two days ago, according to A. H. Wait, grad., who has been trying to arouse interest in such a course since a year ago.

"The 20 enrolled in the last two days brings the total number up to 140, so that only 60 more students need enroll at Wait's office, to bring the total to the desired 200," Mr. Wait said yesterday.

"Establishment of the aviation course is entirely up to the war department, but it is thought that if the 200 quota is reached or exceeded, the chances for having the course in connection with the R. O. T. C. will be much better," Wait said yesterday.

Wait suggested that all those already enrolled for the course make it a point to interest a number of other students so that the quota may be sooner reached.

The show is being given under the auspices of the Junior R. O. T. C. artillerymen and the Madison Saddle club and the profits will go toward the providing of new equipment for the cavalry unit. "This year's show is being patterned after the famous Cornell horse shows and its object is to increase interest in the healthful sport of horseback riding" Lieutenant E. A. Erickson stated.
