APPROPRIATION PROGRAM GOES TO COMMITTEE

Thorkelson Tells Finance Body of Building Shortage

A building program at the University of Wisconsin aggregating $3,139,600 was requested of the joint finance committee of the legislature Thursday afternoon. This hearing was a continuation of the Wednesday hearing at which Pres. E. A. Birge made the requests for operation and maintenance at the University. The building program request was presented by H. J. Thorkelson, business manager of the university.

"The unusual increase in student attendance has emphasized the lack of facilities," said Mr. Thorkelson. "It is no exaggeration to state that the university is supplying instruction daily to 7,000 students, with a building capacity for 5,000."

"The practical suspension of normal university building activities for the past seven years has created an unusual accumulation of building needs."

"The unit cost of building work of all kinds has advanced at such a rate as to double and in certain cases treble the unit prices formerly paid for building construction."

Building Slows Down

University authorities placed their greatest expense list however, on the need of an addition to the chemistry building. In recent years the building program at university has been slowed down. A table presented to the committee showed that the proportional cost of new construction per student dropped from $43.66 in 1911 to $5.12 in 1920.

"The chemistry department has been greatly cramped because of the large numbers desiring instruction in courses under conditions and facilities which are wholly inadequate," said Mr. Thorkelson.

"During the first semester of the present year there were 2,440 students registered in courses in the chemistry building, although the building is designed for a total capacity of 1,854."

"A fireproof wing is planned as an addition on the east side of the chemistry building similar to the wing on the west side. This will represent approximately 715,000 cubic feet of space which may be estimated at 40 cents per cubic foot, or a total cost of $286,000, to which should be added $95,000 for equipment, or a total of $381,000."

GIVE INDUSTRY TEST AT EXPO

Miniature Employment Of- fices Will Show Modern Methods

A miniature industrial employment office in which visitors will take the part of job-seekers going through tests applied by efficient modern establishments will be the first exhibit seen at the University Exposition, which begins April 21.

The exhibit is being prepared by students specializing in industrial relations, and will present in a concrete manner the various devices used for handling labor problems in industry, according to Gordon Nelson '22, chairman of the committee. Examples of the work of the industrial bureau of the university Extension division and of the state Industrial commission will also be shown.

Show Exhibit in Milwaukee

The exhibit will be taken to Milwaukee after the exposition at the request of the Society of Industrial Engineers to be shown at the convention of the society.

Preliminary interviews with job seekers will be given in the first of the nine offices of the exhibit. Passing on, the "unemployed" will fill out application forms and see the actual operation of a model employment office before taking trade, psychological, and intelligence tests in the third office.

Selective tests have been developed to a high degree by industrial establishments to indicate the ability and training of applicants. In trade tests the applicant is shown pictures of typical machinery and tools and must indicate his knowledge of their use. Psychological and intelligence tests indicate the

INVITE GENERALS TO MILITARY BALL

Gen. William G. Haan and Gen. R. B. McCoy, former army officers of Wisconsin troops, have been invited by the Red Arrow club to attend the Military ball at the capitol April 8. Madison officers in the Thirty-second division have also been invited.

A dinner will be held by the club before the dance. Committees are now arranging decorations for the Red Arrow "dug-out," according to Robert McCoy '23, club president.

Reservations for the banquet and dance can be made by calling Ephraim Peterson '22, F. 735.

Affirmative to Meet Suck- ers in Music Hall at 7:30

Defending the affirmative side of recognition by the United States of soviet Russia, the Wisconsin debate team, composed of Ralph Axley '23, Sterling Tracy '22, and Thomas Amlie '21, closer, will meet the Illinois negative debating team at Music hall, 7:30 tonight.

Negative at Ann Arbor

While the debate is being held here by the affirmative trio against the Illini team, the negative side of the proposition will be upheld against Michigan at Ann Arbor by Charles D. Assovsky '21, Martin R. Kriewaldt '22, and I. Arnold Perstein '21, closer. The debate there will be formal.

The strength of the Illini team which meets the Badger three here tonight indicates that the debate will be one of intense interest. Gilbert, the Illini closer, has been on two intercollegiate contests already this year, and will present the Illini side in a strong fashion. Chadwell and Keele, who comprise the remainder of the team, have both had some experience, although the latter is having his first debut in intercollegiate debating this year.

Question Debators

One feature of the contest to night is the fact that the audience will be allowed to question the debaters at the close of the contest. As tonight's event is the only contest here this year, interest among students has been exceptionally lively. The ticket sale has been heavy, and from all indications a large turnout of students will witness the battle.

The sale will be continued today at the University pharmacy and Hook Brothers' Music store. The price of admission is 25 cents to defray incidental expenses.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR HIGH SCHOOL BASKET TOURNEY

Preparations for the state high school basketball tournament are rapidly nearing completion. Nothing that will tend to aid in entertaining the visiting athletes, or to give them a favorable impression of the university, has been left undone by Willard Duncan, chairman, and his associates.

The souvenir programs went to press yesterday. The 28 page booklet contains pictures of the contesting teams, the visiting coaches, the 1920-21 Varsity basketball squad, a schedule of the tournament games, and other material of interest concerning the tournament. As an advertising feature, copies of the program will be sent out to a number of the high schools in the state.

The annual banquet will be given at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday night at 10 o'clock. Guy S. Lowman will act as toastmaster. Among the speakers are Athletic Director Tom Jones, Dr. W. E. Meanwell, "Red" Weston, "Cop" Taylor, Mr. Chamberlain, state president of the W. I. A. A., and members of the visiting teams. The committee in charge desires that every "W" man in school be present at the banquet, as it is the biggest event that will be given in honor of the visitors.

The schedule of games commences on Thursday afternoon and continues through until Saturday evening, when the four best teams in the state fight for places. The drawing was done yesterday afternoon and the schedule of games

BADGER TRACK SQUAD IN BIG TEN CONTEST

Expect High Score in Western Classic at Evanston Tonight

Following a successful indoor season with two victories and no losses, the Wisconsin track team will enter the tenth annual indoor track and field games of the Western Intercollegiate Conference Athletic association at Northwestern university gymnasium tonight and on Saturday night.

Only Big Ten teams are entered in this indoor classic. A small delegation of Badger runners leave this morning for Evanston in order to work out on the Patten gym track for the preliminaries in the quarter and half mile races held on Friday night. The remainder of the Wisconsin squad of 20 entries will entrain on Saturday morning. All preliminary races and field events except the 440-yard and 880-yard runs will be completed Saturday.

In Pink of Condition

Every Badger man except J. C. Holbrook '22 is in excellent condition. Holbrook, who runs in the quarter and half mile events, was badly spiked in the meet against Notre Dame last Saturday and the cut has not healed enough to permit him to run at Evanston.

Wisconsin will be strong in the 60-yard high hurdles and the 50-yard dash, in which two events Knollin defeated both Desch and Wynne, Notre Dame national record holders. P. A. Kayser '21, who won a second place in his heat at the Illinois relays, is counted on to repeat when he meets the Big Ten stars at Northwestern. Capt. Clyde L. Nash '21, beat Capt. Kasper, Notre Dame, in a fast race, and the little Badger runner has displayed exceptional speed in the workouts of the past week. Nash will run in the half-mile and probably the relay.

Chances Good in Long Runs

In the distance runs, Wisconsin will have a good chance to win places, Wall, Brothers, and Wille finished in the order named against Notre Dame, and these men also made a clean sweep of the longer runs in the Northwestern meet. Finkle and Dennis won first and second in the two-mile run against the Hoosiers.

Wilder and Merrick are two of the best pole vaulters in the Middle West. Both are veterans and have had no difficulty in defeating a majority of the vaulters they have met. Wilder tied for second place in the pole vault at the Urbana track and field games.

BRYAN TO DELIVER TALK HERE MAY 5

William Jennings Bryan has been engaged by the Forensic board to deliver a lecture here May 5. The subject of the lecture will be "Brother or Brute."

Mr. Bryan was secured after long negotiation, and will be the third entertainment brought here by the Forensic board this school year. He will present a type of lecture different from the usual political class. The general relations of man to man will be the theme of his lyceum talk here.

The entertainments held under the auspices of the Forensic board have been for the purpose of financing intercollegiate forensics.

Today's question: "Are you in favor of the growing fad of Moustaches?"

John Warren: "Yes, I am quite heartily in favor of the moustache, for one reason in particular. It gives me a chance to use the moustache cup that I recently won for playing the best game of Solitaire at the D. U. house."

Dot Skinner: "It makes little difference in the daytime, I think, but it discourages substitution in the evening."

Lee Edwards: "I have just recently realized the great benefit of a moustache, as it saves washing two square inches of the face, and I have already started to grow one."

Louise Haley: "I just love moustaches. They often cover a multitude of sins, and they tickle so."

Joseph Jastrow: "I find that the psychological advantage of a moustache is quite superior to the advantage of being able to shave."

"GOOD LEADERSHIP KEY TO PREVENT FARMERS' STRIFE" —PRES. STONE, PURDUE

Impressive Ceremony is Held for 167 Short Course Students

"If the farmers of this country are to escape the present dangers of class strife and win legitimate advantages, it will be because they have intelligent, farseeing, and patriotic men as leaders," was the keynote assertion made by Dr. W.
E. Stone, president of Purdue university, at the class day exercises of 167 short course students held at Agricultural hall yesterday.

The presentation of certificates to the students finishing the two-year short course in agriculture was made by Pres. Edward A. Birge.
The class oration was delivered by Harry J. Frequent, Flower, Wis.
Music was furnished by an orchestra and a quartet of the short course students.

Classes Interdependent

"The farming classes cannot exist independent of the manufacturer, the merchant, or the professional classes. No greater lesson has come from the war than this interdependence of classes, nations, and races of men," continued Doctor Stone.

"The war, however, has been followed by a marked tendency toward class consciousness, and this is even extending to the farmer, who, heretofore, has been an individualist.
Since his products have greatly declined in value, the farmer now finds a strong temptation to seek class legislation and to press his own claims.

"I am in sympathy with all legitimate efforts of the farmer to better his condition, to improve his business, to develop social life, and to take an influential place in the life of the country. Any movement, however, which seeks advantage at the expense of other groups is undemocratic and un-American.

Students Should Lead

"Such leadership to properly pilot the farmers' organizations through the present situation is the patriotic duty of every student in agricultural institutions."

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY SAVES STATE MUCH EXPENSE ON ROADS

That the investigations of the state geological survey were saving the people of Wisconsin thousands of dollars, was the statement of W. O. Hotchkiss, director of the state geological survey in his "oral boost" at the Kiwanis club luncheon at the Y. M. C. A. Judge Walter Owen presided.

"The investigations of the geological survey in regard to finding road materials is one of the most valuable it can do," said Mr. Hotchkiss. "The great cost in road building is the hauling of material to the job. Because of the gravel found along one of the proposed roads of the state, the cost of the building was reduced one third. Another gravel pit found near Elkhorn reduced the cost of hauling material for a four-mile stretch of road $4,000, and it saved $15,000 in the cost of material and freight."

Among the other resources of the state upon which the survey is working, Mr. Hotchkiss spoke of the greensand, of which there are 700,000 tons in Wisconsin. When a method is found for extracting the potash from the greensand, Mr. Hotchkiss said, Wisconsin potash will be able to compete with that now being imported from Germany as fertilizer.

"More settlers are being attracted to Wisconsin than to the neighboring states of Michigan and Minnesota, due to the work of the survey in connection with the immigration bureau," said Mr. Hotchkiss.

"The work of President Birge, director of the survey from its organization in 1897 until he became president, has been of much practical benefit to the survey. Due to his work Lake Mendota is better known than any other lake on the face of the earth," said Mr. Hotchkiss.

"There is a great deal of inefficiency and expense in the commissions of Wisconsin, but in my experience in many states, Wisconsin is getting more brains in its commissions and in the capitol for the dollar than any other state it has been my privilege to know."

Simplicity A Feature

in the Directoire Hats

The Drooping Hat—

Hats from the Spring collections of Parisian Modistes show as their outstanding feature the droop at the side—either at one side or both—but droop they do if they are fashionable.

Facings in Evidence—

Scarcely a hat escapes a facing either on top or its brim, beneath or on the crown. Georgette Crepe and Taffeta are most used. Very often the facing assumes the role of trimming as well.

Grey Is Smart

The popularity of this shade this season must be considered—but black as usual holds its own—especially the shining, glistening black with metal threads or jet ornaments.

SHORT COURSE GRADUATION

YESTERDAY morning a hundred short course men received graduation certificates from the university.

These men, though their stay at the university was comparatively short, are going out to exemplify in practice one phase of the service that the university renders the state. They are going forth better fitted to take their part in agricultural production.

The short course is, by its nature, more intensive than comprehensive. The time devoted to a broad education is shorter than is usually given in a college course. The short course, notwithstanding, proves itself a great value to men who desire scientific training in agriculture, and who find a longer college course inconvenient or impossible.

The short course is evidence of the university's success in reaching a large number of people who would not ordinarily take a longer college course. Though the training given in the short course is not the maximum that the university can give, it is nevertheless of great value. The short course men go forth well qualified to further agricultural production in Wisconsin.

LOWERING PRICES

THOUGH the question of falling prices has been with us for some months, it is still present with undiminished importance. This is especially true in regard to food prices.

Prices in general have fallen considerably during the winter, yet there has been no considerable reduction in the price the student has to pay for food. Many students are justly beginning to ask the why and wherefore of the situation and to look for remedies.

The suggestion which many students have offered, and which was also set forth in this column in a previous editorial, is a university owned and operated cafeteria selling food to students at cost.

Food is unquestionably the largest single item on the average student's budget. A lowering of food prices would mean a considerable saving to the students. Many students wonder why their expenses should be kept up to make profit for private concerns. Most students are wondering why they should pay wartime prices when the general price level (food products included) has been lowered.

A university owned and operated cafeteria selling food to students at cost merits serious consideration.

GYMNASTS ENTER NORTHWEST MEET AT MINNESOTA

Earn Chance to Compete in Classic by Placing Score in Conference

Because the Wisconsin gymnastic squad placed second to Chicago in the annual conference gym meet at Indiana university last Saturday, six members of the team will represent Wisconsin in the Eleventh Annual Northwestern Gymnastic society meet to be held at the University of Minnesota tomorrow night. This is the first time Wisconsin has entered the gymnastic classic of the Northwest.

In the Big Ten meet at Bloomington, Ind., Chicago and Wisconsin clearly outclassed the seven other teams entered, and the Badgers trailed Chicago by only 30 points. L. W. Tasche '21 was the high scorer for Wisconsin in every event that he entered.

The men that Coach Fred Schlatter will take to Minneapolis are: L. W. Tasche '21, J. L. Curtin '21, Walter Porth '23, Frank Kubosch '23, F. L. Bumer '23, and F. B. Leitz '23.

The number of men entered is restricted to six because each gymnast must work at least three pieces. Several Badgers who are stars in only one or two events have been ruled ineligible to compete because of the necessity for sending turners who can work in a trio of events.

Colleges and societies which have entered teams in the N. W. Gymnastic meet follow: University of Minnesota, St. Olaf college, St. Paul Turnverein, Luther college, Decorah, New Ulm Turnverein, University of Wisconsin, St. Paul Knights of Columbus, South high school, Citizens club, Sokol society, St. Anthony Turnverein, Stout institute, St. Paul playgrounds, Minneapolis Y. The presentation was well received and appreciated by the audience. Miriam Doan '22 and William Tannewitz '23 were in charge of the program.

UNITARIAN DANCE

There will be an informal dance at the Unitarian parish house tonight at 9 o'clock.

BITS OF SPRING

Reporter Imbibes the Soothing Breezes and Then Writes This—Read It

With the buzz and whir of the malted milk mixer, the increase in the sales of hairnets, the air of foolish enjoyment on the part of the malted imbibers and that of leisurely contentment shown by the laughing co-eds engaged in trying on outstretched fingers the above mentioned hair nets. Spring makes its advent obvious in that most popular of student haunts, the drug store.

Between classes old Abe smiles benignly on the groups chatting at his feet. Within the curve of the long bench surrounding the terrace sit a girl and man. Her face is looking laughingly up at him, the wind lifts the white ruffles at her throat and wrists. A robin perched on a branch of a nearby tree bursts into song. Someone goes by whistling a melody of last spring, "Head Over Heels in Love."

The girl and the man look at each other and laugh.

Far down the street, noisy with the harsh sound of roller skates and the shrieks and laughter of playing children, is heard the full-throated note of a clarion and a powerful low green car swings down Langdon street. Ball players for the once stop their unceasing game to follow with envious admiring eyes its progress down the street. A group of girls on their way to 1:30 classes stop outright and stare unabashedly at the occupants of the ostentatiously spacious car.

"Gee," breathes one girl ecstatically, "They're lucky; I didn't like that red hat though. Red is passe. I've got a wonderful new gray outfit. Wish Jim would get his car and ask me out. I'd show the world that gray is the color this spring."

"LET BUSINESSMEN RUN INDUSTRIES; SECURE WORKMEN"—PROFESSOR COMMONS

"Business men are the only person who can successfully manage industries," declared Prof. John R. Commons before a Fellowship meeting at the university Y. M. C. A. last night. "The management of business by the laborers has proven unsatisfactory. What they want most is an assurance of steady employment."

"The great opportunity of business management today," continued Professor Commons, "is to do the same thing for laborers as has been done for investors. Our capitalistic object in the past has been to make the business secure for the investor. The problem now is to make the job secure for the laborer."

"Working men think they can manage business better than business men. Their policy would be to elect certain of their group to the job of management. Occasionally leaders have risen from the laboring class, but, if the average worker tried to take over the management, business would be ruined. Business men are the only ones who can do it."

"What the laborer wants most is an assurance of steady employment," he emphasized. "All firms that have been successful have made the job secure for the working man, have given him good wages, and enough voice in the management to command respect." The evening's program included two vocal selections by John H. Warren '22.

PARIS PROFESSOR TALKS ON BRONTES

"No greater names are in English literature than those of the Bronte sisters," said Abbe Ernest Dimnet, professor of English at the College of Stanislas, Paris, in his lecture, "The Bronte Sisters," at 165 Bascom hall yesterday.

Professor Dimnet described in detail the early lives of the famous English authoresses. A letter which Charlotte Bronte wrote at 11 years of age is one of the most widely read of her works, because it is so clear, telling exactly how the child felt toward the world.

Charlotte Bronte's great novel, "Villette," is the story of her life in Belgium, the speaker stated, and in the character of Lucy Snowe is described the pains and pleasures of this experience.

For some time there has been much discussion for dormitories for girls and men. It has been claimed that room rents have been steadily increasing in Madison. On the dormitory question Mr. Thorkelson said:

At The Theaters

AT THE STRAND

The Strand theatre is now showing "The Greatest Love," a Select Picture starring Vera Gordon, noted delineator of "mother" parts for the screen. While the dominating theme is mother love, the arrest and conviction of the son on circumstantial evidence lends a gripping suspense to the plot which is maintained to the end.

With the story opening in the steerage of a transatlantic liner, later showing the family settled in the Ghetto during the first years of their life in America, and their subsequent removal to a fashionable neighborhood in New York city, there is a diversity of scenes and characters which greatly adds to the interest of this excellent picture.

In this new story of mother love and sacrifice Vera Gordon has even greater scope than she had in "Humoresque," where her characterization of the mother was the feature of the piece.

There will also be shown a Cartoon, a Bray Pictograph, and a Post Nature picture "Fishing."

AT THE FULLER

Otis Skinner will be seen at the Fuller theater Monday afternoon and evening in a new play and in a new character, at least new to him and one that he has never been called upon to portray in his long career, which embraces in the neighborhood of some five hundred parts. The appearance of America's foremost dramatic actor under these conditions makes his coming engagement of more than ordinary interest.

The play in question is the work of that distinguished novelist and playwright, Major A. E. T. Mason, and is called "At the Villa Rose." The piece was first produced in London at the Strand theater by that well-known actor-manager, Arthur Boucher, and is one of the greatest successes of the present season in the British metropolis. Mr. Skinner will be seen in the Boucher role, that of Hanaud, a great French detective.

ence weight men, and Coach Thomas E. Jones figures that Wisconsin will win points in this event.

Suckers Favored

Illinois, because of its decisive victory over Notre Dame and its strong showing in the annual Urbana relays, will rule a strong favorite. Michigan and Wisconsin are conceded outside chances to win the title, with Minnesota sure to pick up stray points in the distance events. The Gophers are not well enough balanced to warrant consideration as a championship contender.

"Wisconsin has an excellent chance to finish within the first three places," said Coach Jones. "Illinois, which won the meet last year and Michigan, which captured the two previous competitions, possess the best prospects of winning first and second positions."

"The Illini are strong in every event, and Coach Gill has an extremely well balanced team. Yates and McGinnis are a pair of great runners, and Donohue and Brown complete a two mile relay team which will be hard to beat."

In addition to the distance stars who will count for Illinois, Coach Gill has Alberts and Osborne in the high jump. Alberts outjumped "Johnny" Murphy, Notre Dame, clearing the bar at 6 feet 3 1-2 inches. Osborne has also done over 6 feet. Weiss, shot putter, has heaved the iron 42 feet. He won second place in this event at the Illinois relays.

Michigan Doped Second

Michigan has two steady middle distance runners in Butler and Wetzel. Loesch, Kelley, Lewis, and Simmons compose a strong quartet in the dashes, and Burkholder, long distance runner, is one of the best in the Big Ten.

Purdue should win the two mile event, with Furnas, Olympic star, running against Finkle of Wisconsin, Penberthy of Michigan, and McGinnis of Illinois.

Wisconsin Lineup

In the other events, the Boiler-makers may score a few scattered points.

The men who will represent Wisconsin follow:

40-yard dash—A. J. Knollin '22, G. B. Stolley '22, R. C. Mattox '21.

Hurdles—A. J. Knollin '22, H. W. Armstrong '23, G. B. Stolley '22, F. S. Newell '23.

One-mile run—Mark Wall '22, W. Brothers '21, C. W. Wille '22.

Pole vault—L. L. Wilder '21, Dale Merrick '22, L. W. McClure '23.

Shot put—G. M. Sundt '22. Mile relay—Kayser, Nash, Johnson, McCandless, Klug or Knollin.

Men Whom Badgers Face

Some of the best men in the Big Ten who will meet the Badgers are: 50-yard dash—Northwestern: Grausnik, Szold; Illinois: Captain Prescott; Michigan: Loesch, Simmons; Chicago: Bates, Masek; Ohio State: Stinchcomb.

60-yard hurdles—Illinois: Osborne, H. Wallace, S. Wallace; Iowa: Belding, Crawford; Michigan: Cruikshank, Sargent; Minnesota: Anderson; Chicago: Hall.

440-yard dash—Northwestern: Szold; Illinois: Hull, Donohue, Sweet; Purdue: Watson; Michigan: Butler, Wetzer, Lewis; Chicago: Masek, Hall; Ohio State: Ackerman, Trigg; Minnesota: Acker, Sweitzer.

880-yard run—Illinois: Donohue, Yates, McGinnis, Patterson; Michigan: Burkholder, Thomas; Chicago: Brickman, Steffen; Minnesota: Hov-erstad.

BEST DANCERS TO BE AWARDED PRIZES AT SENIOR PARTY

Prizes to be awarded to the best dancers, "some qualifying through merit, some through prejudice," will be the feature at the Senior in-formal to be held tonight at 9 o'clock in the concert room of La-throp hall.

Thomas Brittingham '21 and De Witt Van Pinkerton '21, who are in charge of the features will select the winners from the entire unsus-pecting assembly and will award the prizes.

An eight piece Thompson or-chestra headed by Wilber Goessling '21, at the piano and Cecil Brodt on the cornet, will furnish the music.

No limit has been set to the at-tendance and everyone is invited. The admission is only $1 instead of $1.50 the price charged at most of the class parties.

"The object of the dance is not to make money," says Van Pinker-ton, "but just to give a party which the seniors and their friends can enjoy."
