CIRCUS ACTS SIGN UP FOR BIG TOP SHOW

First Tryouts for Production to be Held
April 24

Plans for the 1920 university circus which will be held on the lower campus May 22, are being developed rapidly. The committee has decided that all acts for the big production must be true circus acts, which will fit in with the "Big Top" atmosphere which will dominate on circus day. No semi-vodvil acts will be presented.

Preliminary tryouts for acts will be held two weeks from tomorrow, or April 24. There is still room for a considerable number of high class acts. Any organization wishing to present an act should get in touch with "Bob" Lindsay, Badger 186. It is not necessary to have any of the details of the act worked out as yet. A fully developed idea may be presented to the acts committee, and the actual production developed in conjunction with that group.

The parade and side shows will be two of the big added features for this year's circus. The parade will consist in displays from the main circus acts, the side shows, and floats from various organizations which are not represented in the big show or side shows. "A Mile Long" is the slogan of the parade committee for the big street feature.

It is desired to have as many different organizations as possible represented in the parade. Those who have ideas for floats or parade stunts, or sideshows, are asked to get into touch immediately with J. M. Draper, Badger 2780.

Other plans for the circus are progressing rapidly. Already arrangements are being made to have the greater part of the lower campus enclosed in an enormous tent. Seats to accommodate 5,000 persons have been ordered. It is expected to sell at least 3,500 seats in the advance sale, and of the remainder, 750 will be held for sale at the gate, and 750 will be held for inter-scholastic visitors.

STUDENTS TO TAKE TRIP TO EUROPE

Taking advantage of the low rate of monetary exchange existing between this country and the European countries, a small party of students is being made up to visit Europe this summer. The party is to be conducted by Dr. B. W. Van Riper, professor of Psychology at Rockford college, this trip being his ninth to Europe. Places of historic interest and many of the famous battlefields of the World War will be visited. Any students interested in this trip can secure further details from George H. Chamberlain, Fairchild 136.

FIVE ARE INITIATED BY TWELFTH NIGHT

Twelfth Night dramatic society initiated the following women at a meeting Tuesday night: Mary L. Gifford, Marguerite Baesch, Frances Clark, Geraldine Kaepfel, and Dorothy Latta. The meeting was held at the home of Delma Donald, 211 Prospect avenue.

Members were appointed to the following offices: Mary Parkinson, initiation chairman; Mildred Miller, social chairman; Geraldine Kaepfel, tryout chairman; Dorothy Latta, publicity manager.

Has Artist's Role in Haresfoot Play

WILLIAM R. KELLETT

William R. Kellett, Neenah, plays the part of the persuasive artist in "Mary's Lamb," who, against the strong objections of Mary Miranda Lamb finally wins Phyllis, played by Donald Marvin. This is Kellett's first dramatic appearance before university audiences, when he appears with "Mary's Lamb" at the Fuller on Friday and Saturday, April 23 and 24.

This is the 22nd annual Haresfoot production and the first since 1917, "Jamaica Ginger," when the war broke up the club. Mail order seat sale is now on at the Fuller, and the box office will open on April 20.

GIVE STATEMENT TO EXPLAIN FOR CHICAGO BARGAIN

Reasons for the 5-year arrangement between Wisconsin and Chicago in the new football schedule are given in a statement by the athletic department explaining why this action was taken. Beginning next fall the Badger eleven will play a series of five games with the Maroons, the gridiron battles to be fought on Stagg field for five successive years.

The Wisconsin-Chicago game at Chicago will be the football classic of the Middle West, coming as the final contest of the western conference season. The plan of both institutions in drawing up the schedule was to make the final game at Chicago the Yale-Harvard game of the West.

Because of its central location Chicago will draw a large number of Wisconsin alumni to the games each year. The games will give the Badger graduates a chance to see the team in action in two Homecomings—the one at Madison and the final classic on Stagg field.

Wisconsin alumni at Chicago have one of the most active clubs in the country, as seen in their campaign to raise $100,000 for the Memorial Union drive. The big share of these grads, and many more from surrounding districts, will be in the rooting stands at the Chicago games.

560 SCHOLARSHIPS FOR NON-RESIDENTS

Application blanks for the Wisconsin Legislature scholarships, exempting the holder from the payment of non-resident tuition may be obtained at the Registrar's office after spring vacation.

The number of scholarships is to be 8 per cent of the total attendance at the university this year, or about 560 altogether. Applications must be made after spring vacation and before June 1.

AWAIT TIME FOR GRAND MARCH AT MILITARY BALL

Arrangements, Decorations and Features All in Readiness

Promptly at 9:00 tonight Col. Roswell E. Hewitt and Nellie Larsen will start the grand march of the eighth annual military ball. Preparations have been completed, says the committee in charge, for the most elaborate affair of its kind in the history of the institution. The decorations have been more carefully planned and executed and a great deal of time and effort has been expended on the details of the party.

The decorations will be red, white and blue and there will be a special center feature. Each company will have a private box furnished by the men of the company. The Headquarters box, which will be situated at the north end of the armory will be fixed up to resemble a real trench dug-out—with a few variations.

Various particular features which are unique in the history of entertainment have been planned. Of particular interest is the miniature telephone service which will connect the boxes through a central switch-board. The committee has been concentrating all of its time to make this the ball the best ever.

The main stunt of the evening is still shrouded in a deep veil of mystery, but a few facts have been revealed. It will be absolutely new and original, guaranteed to raise a real series of thrills, laughs, and interest. It will last about half an hour, and the most talented men in the university will take part. Frappe will be served during the evening.

The officer's formal will be held in the Park hotel and the dinner will be served promptly at 5:30. The decorations will be in pink and the affair promises to be the top-notch of style. Thompson's orchestra will provide the music for the formal.

Military uniforms will be formal dress for the affair. The first regiment band will furnish the music. Every detail of the party has been carefully worked out with a view to giving every person the opportunity to enjoy Wisconsin's best military ball.

Most of the tickets have already been disposed of but there are still a few left, which can be secured from the committee.

DIAMOND SQUAD TO MEET MILTON THIS AFTERNOON

Play Off Game Postponed Yesterday Because of Cold Weather

The baseball game, scheduled to be played with Milton college yesterday afternoon, was postponed because of the cold weather and will be played at 3:30 this afternoon on lower campus.

This battle will be the first preliminary of the season and will be followed by the second game Saturday afternoon, when the Campion college team from Prairie du Chien comes to Madison. This game will also be played on the lower campus.

The choice of the lower campus as the scene of the preliminary contests was thought advisable by the athletic department as a means of attracting a larger crowd than ordinarily watches the preliminary games at Wisconsin. The athletic department is making a concerted effort to revive the interest in baseball which suffered such a relapse during the period of the war.

COMMERCE DAY TO HELP BOOST IN FUND DRIVE

Only Quarter of Student Body Have Responded With Subscriptions

Today is Commerce day in the Memorial Union drive and it is expected that the accounting experts will be able to add quite an array of figures to the grand total before evening. The men's and women's Commerce clubs held a joint luncheon yesterday at which many subscriptions were made and plans were formulated for a whirlwind campaign today. Co-ed toll-gatherers, well supplied with winning smiles and pledge slips, will patrol the doors of the "Pep" building until late this afternoon, ever ready to receive subscriptions. A canvass of Letters and Science students will also be conducted in Main hall under the direction of Alfred Taylor.

Yesterday's Subscriptions
Previously subscribed.	$64,079.96
Subscribed yesterday.	1,971.00
Total	$66,050.96

At present about 25 per cent of the student body have subscribed to the fund, the average subscription being $24. Letters have been sent to 5,000 students who have not yet signed pledges and several subscriptions have already been received in response.

Fred Smith, president of the sophomore class, yesterday appointed a committee to arouse interest in the drive among sophomores. The committee is composed of George Parker, chairman, Reuben Chadbourn, Joseph Moulding, Marie Bodden, Helen Hann, and Dexter Brown. A meeting of the class will be held next week to stimulate action.

MANY ENTRANTS IN BIG JAMBOREE COSTUME COMPET

Rentable Attires Still on Display at Lathrop Hall

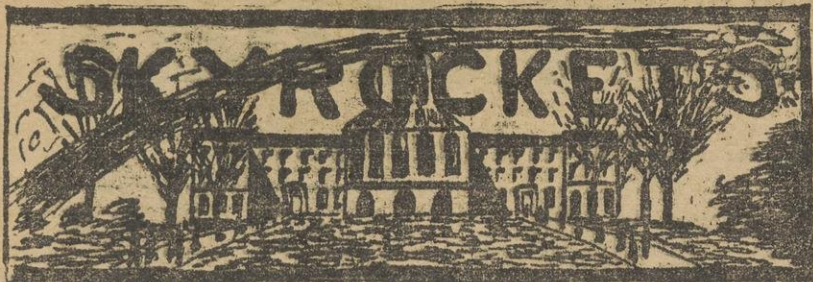

From the way tickets are selling and groups are being entered in the costume competition, the varsity Jamboree to be held tomorrow night in the men's gym will be one of the most successful all-university events of the year. Many groups both of men and women have already registered but at present the indications are that there will be more women than men. The committee urges that men, both in groups and individually, don whatever outlandish attire they are able to find and come out to the big jazz fest.

Those who have not yet obtained costumes can rent them at Lathrop until 2 o'clock today. Many outfits, gay, giddy and grim, were rented yesterday and from the number already planned and engaged a motley array is expected.

Tickets for the affair will be on sale today and tomorrow at the Waffle kitchen in the Union building, and they are also being sold by Amy Jobse, Wyman Smith, and Clarence Joerndt.

All groups and organization who are working out costume stunts are asked to report their names to Clarence Joerndt as soon as possible so that the costume judges will have

OUR PERIODIC LIT REVIEW

By the Immature Critic

The April number of the Lit sets before us. It is printed on the usual stock and contains 32 pages of printed matter, some prose, some verse, and some advertisements. Lovely advertisements the Lit gets; one of the most enjoyable parts of the magazine if you should ask us. If we ever bought a Lit, that is what we should buy it for. This Lit was given to us, and by none other than the business manager, Trotzky himself. But to go on.

Opening to the first page, we discover an ad from the Democrat. Beautiful words, my friends, beautiful words. Opposite are the monthly Lit editorials. The first bewails—bemoaning is the Lit's big feature—the fact that we don't know where we're going. "After College, What?" We ask ya, what? Well it don't get anywhere. The next edit asks the same question that has been flung at us for the past five months, "What Is the Matter with Wisconsin?" This don't get anywhere either, but if the Lit really wants to know, we appoint Mel Brorby, Dean Russell, and Bud Glassner as a committee to find out. We know, but we won't tell.

The edits done with, we proceed to the reading matter. Elsie re-dedicates herself to her "noble purposes," doing a little aesthetic dancing in the last stanza. Then comes "Eddie." Eddie, well Eddie was not quite mature or something, and ran off to sea, having a nightmare. Earl Hanson attributes the nightmare to the liquor and tobacco smoke, but, confidentially, we lay it to the cheese and shrimps. Fern Busby, my dear, is the most indolent thing in the world to hear her talk. Oh, what a line! If you've any more like that pome, Fern, we want it for the rockets.

"Bubbles" is a fair enough story, but it hasn't the heart interest to make it go. We're frankly disappointed. Now if Ed Guyer had only chosen home-brew instead of a battery, we might swallow the tale.

And "Bubbles" would still have been a good name for the story. Victor Solberg went to war. We know he did 'cause he's told us so many stories about it. Ho hum.

Adelin Briggs is a snappy young lady with new ideas, now, isn't she? "The China Lady" tell you all about distracted love and a fake telegram. She has the beginning of a real thriller, and if she's only put in a few speeches like "Rudolph, you lured me here under false pretenses. Let me past, you gay deceiver, I'm going home to Mumma!" we know, she'd have no difficulty selling it to Hunseys.

"Madame Butterfly in America" would be a good name for Nancy Pattison's Jap story. Got the movie rights sold yet, Nancy? They ought to be worth something. Horace Gregory throws a memory fit on the same page.

Ever proposed, or been proposed to? Beware of Mira Bowles if you intend either; she'd spoil any party with her line of bunk. Horace gets despondent here, and wants to die.

We see where T. L. Scholtz gets a flunk in Philosophy. We're with ya anyway, T. L. Frances Dummer contributes five spare stanzas from her volume. She'd make a wonderful book agent.

The magazine dwindles off into the book review, where Elsie and Jimmy talk about Debs and the Art of the Novelist. Wonderful ads back there, wonderful ads. Page 167 is especially replete with them.

"The Lit"—the campus' greatest humorous magazine.

KEATS CHU SPEAKS AT Y. M. GATHERING

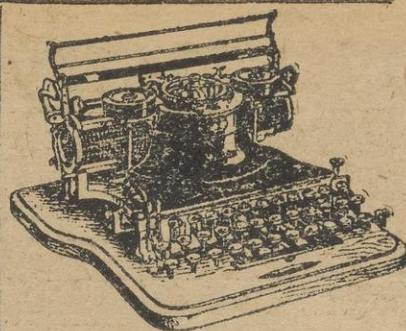

Obstacles which stand in the path of China's progress and the difficulties which delay the development of China's national unity were discussed by Keats Chu at the Fellowship meeting at the university Y. M. C. A. last night.

"Internal strife, foreign exploitation and the custom of family worship," Keats Chu said, "delay China's advancement. China is awake, however, to the situation which threatens to crush her very existence."

"Never before have there been greater opportunities for Christian service in China. Her schools and medical missions need men and women who can train native teachers and doctors."

LEGISLATORS' PAY IS PAMPHLET TOPIC

The proposed Wisconsin constitutional amendment concerning an increase in pay for legislators is suggested as a timely question for debating societies, in a pamphlet on "Salaries of Legislators," just prepared by the department of debating and public discussion of the University Extension division. A short history of the salaries of Badger legislators, tables of information about legislative salaries in other states, and arguments pro and con are summarized in the bulletin.

THE JAMBOREE

TOMORROW night a new idea in mixers will be presented to the student body. Enjoyable as previous mixers have been, the Jamboree committee is presenting something different not only in name, but in essence. Dancing will constitute an important part of the evening's program, but its claim to the center of the stage will be contested by other features which are decided innovations.

In the first place, every one will come in costume. A large majority have expressed their intention to come in groups. To the most strikingly clad group, as well as to the most fetchingly attired individual, a prize will be awarded.

Early in the evening the merriment will be interrupted temporarily by the funeral of the ill-starred Awk.

The untimely end of this humorous magazine is to be commemorated in a humorous way. The student senate, in costumes which will combine the requisite elements of dignity and levity, will officiate.

The evening will be topped off with a grand blare of noise and showers of confetti and serpentine. If previous arrangements afford a safe basis for predictions, pep and enjoyment will reach a height seldom known during the year.

The Jamboree offers an opportunity for students, individually and in groups, to show their originality. There will be keen competition for the prizes. Those who are most successful in designing effective costumes will do more than increase their chances for winning first honors. They will add to the fun which it is the purpose of every part of the program to promote.

The Jamboree is to be thoroughly democratic. Through its mixing stunts everyone will have a chance to get acquainted.

The entire idea is as good as it is novel. If the Jamboree tomorrow night is as successful as every indication promises, it will very probably become one of the university's classic events. Putting, as it does, a premium on originality and pep, and bringing another form of wholesome enjoyment to the university, it deserves to become an annual affair.

MAKING MARKS OUTSIDE

WHEN Wisconsin graduates a student there devolves upon that individual the burden of measuring up to a great task. The diploma signifies that the student has met and successfully overcome certain requirements in order to merit the honor. Upon the amount of success that each individual alumnus in turn attains is measured the educational leadership of the university.

The point at issue here is merely determining how the diploma was earned. Some students walk the roundabout way and complete their courses with not a single grade point to spare. They have the stamp of approval from a great university and in consequence great things are expected of them. But are they prepared to measure up to expectations? In too many cases they are not, and the stamp of approval goes to the discredit of the school.

Here the opposition comes forth and brings to light a man who was a mediocre student in his undergraduate days, but who has since become a phenomenal success. The one student of that class who makes his mark is lost in the shuffle when statistics show the hundreds of his type who turned out in a reverse fashion.

A college career is only a stepping stone to the battle in life. If the foundation is built upon solid ground it cannot be easily shaken. Certain setbacks can be allowed. When the lack of individual initiative or desire to work becomes apparent individual shaking-up is in order. Institutions are measured by their products. Educated men and women are the products of Wisconsin. Exceptions, who unintentionally seek to lend discredit to the university, should understand that triflers are not wanted. Now is the time to get "the feel" of real work. Start today—tomorrow may be too late.

TWO LIT SOCIETIES ANNOUNCE PROGRAM

It will be "Sophomore Night" at the meeting of Hesperia Friday evening. The question, "Resolved, that the cabinet parliamentary system of government should be adopted by the United States," will be debated. Quam, Collipp, and Atwood will argue on the affirmative, and Perlman, Osgood, and Tangeney on the negative of a second debate on the question: "Resolved, that the city of Madison should own and operate its street railway system." Men for the two semi-public debate teams will be selected by the society from the debaters of the eve. IangnetetrfhET baters of the evening after the debates.

Charles Assovsky will give a ten minute address at the meeting of Philomathia on, "Should the treaty making process in the United States be revised?" "Resolved, that the interests of American labor can be served best by the formation of a labor party," will be the subject of the debate. The affirmative team members are: Logan D. Fitch, Francis Lamb, and Anthony Pesch, and the negative: Alfred Gruhl, Frank Drobka, and Herbert Uröle. Sterling Tracy will talk on "Federal control and support of elementary schools."

a complete record of contestants in advance.

The dancing will begin at 8:15, when "Red" Hawkins and the famous "Thompson Ten" will start off with the very jazziest of music. The orchestra will include "Hank" Brahm, Cecil Brodt, and Frank Alford.

Magic and "Chuck" Morris, always spoken in the same breath, will both be there, and there will be Paul Jones stunts and dances—something to fill every vacant minute.

Best of all there will be prizes and food, the former are on display in McKillips' window and State street. They will go to the wearers of the cleverest costumes, both in groups and as individuals. And the food will be sold from booths, the doughnuts, soft drinks, and peanuts, always most welcome at a Jamboree.

The affair is being given under the auspices of the student senate and the S. G. A. to pay off a $270 debt willed to the university by the "Awk," former humor publication. A solemn funeral will be held during the evening attended by the gayest mourners who ever went to an interment.

INDUSTRIAL EXPERT IN EXTENSION WARK

Willis Wisler, industrial and labor expert, has just been appointed acting secretary of the department of group and community service and chief of the bureau of industrial and commercial development in the University Extension division and assumed his duties last week.

Mr. Wisler was selected because of his varied experience in labor management and practical labor affairs. He was graduated from Harvard in 1909 and received the degree of master of arts in 1910, after postgraduate work in vocational guidance, economics, and experimental psychology, as well as accountancy and cost finding.

Until the beginning of the war he was with the Harrington Emerson efficiency engineers and during the war was attached to the working conditions service United States department of labor, as employing agent and counselor on industrial relations. Since then he has been connected with several firms as labor manager and industrial expert.

COMMERCE WOMEN NOMINATE OFFICERS

The Women's Commerce club held its monthly meeting Wednesday night and nominated the following candidates for officers next year: Grace McRae and Lillian Soderberg for president; Kathleen Harrison and Anna Christensen for vice president; Ruth Lindstrom and Elizabeth Thwing for secretary; Laura Heim and Marjorie Alexander for treasurer.

IOWA CO-EDS AFTER PRIZE FOR POETRY

IOWA CITY, Ia.—Like Milton, the common wail of University of Iowa women will be, "My wandering Muse, how thou dost stray," when they set out to capture the prize offered by the Women's Forensic council in a poetry contest. Poems may be entered in the contest until May 13. First prize will be $10, second prize $5 and third prize will receive honorable mention.

Scribes to Distribute Live Scandal Sheet at Jamboree

The long haired scribes are again trying to break in society and will appear in all their glory at the Jamboree tomorrow night. They are assembling a whole new paper staff to be on duty at this society function. Press club has agreed to take all of the responsibility for the outbreak.

The Shamrock twins, Pat Dennis and Walter O'Mera will cavort in the capacity of managing editor and Irish Revolution correspondent respectively. Ulsterites are opposing the appointment of these two well known Sinn-Feiners on the grounds that the reports are likely to be full of propaganda rather than the regular run of news scandal.

These two leading figures will be ably supported by a staff of star journalists. From left to right they are: Penn Crosby the daring, young reporter who covers every bolshevik meeting within 50 miles of St. Petersburg. Next a staff artist, who will picture in flaming colors, red, yellow, and some more red the horrible bomb that Davie Weise has devised to blow University hall into atoms to celebrate a Norwegian holiday, May 17.

On the other side is Peggy Schultz, the harum scarum engagement-making society editor. Next to her is Ken Olson, the brilliant dust producing janitor who chases dirt. Following in varied array will be the doom dealing soprano Ted Handy. He will have one of the most daring parts of the evening, being the athletic editor on the auspicious occasion.

It is also rumored that the daring and intrepid cub reporter who interviewed Dean Nardin and Dean Goodnight without getting kicked out of school, Charles Pat MacGinnis, will seek for gore in the crowd.

Any members of Press club who have not been approached on the subject and who wish to help out on the stunts are asked to communicate with Managing Editor O'Mera.

DYER ADVOCATES SQUARE DEAL IN BUSINESS WORLD

Industrial Y. M. C. A. Secretary
Addresses Students on Employment Management

"The highest motive for industrial management is service," said John R. Dyer, secretary of the Industrial Department of the National Y. M. C. A., speaking Wednesday afternoon in the Political Economy building to students interested in the subject of "Employment Managers." "Any policy of the employer for the sole good of the management will fail." Mr. Dyer quoted Charles A. Schwab as saying: "The aristocracy of the future will be the aristocracy of those who serve their fellowmen."

"If we tell labor the truth we can replace agitation on all sides. You can not fool labor permanently," said Mr. Dyer. The American Federation of Labor is a fighting protest against existing conditions, fighting because it has to, and is therefore justified. We will have to admit it has accomplished some good."

During the discussion at the end of the address Mr. Dyer contrasted the two kinds of employers. "Our employers of thirty years ago were such men as Carnegie and Rockefeller who acquired great fortunes, but who are generally condemned today. Our present employers are those who believe in service and a square deal for all. Our new generation of employers have the right motives."

JOURNALISTS' SPIRIT
PRAISED BY EDITOR

Press Club Elects C. C. Platt
to Honorary Membership

"Journalists like their work," said C. C. Platt, city editor of the Capital Times, who addressed the Press club meeting last night at the Woman's building.

"There is an esprit de corps in newspaper work that is not found in any other profession," continued Mr. Platt. "The university is to be congratulated on the course in journalism. I am personally interested in the course."

Mr. Platt discussed some of the problems of the newspaper worker, such as advertising, magazine sections, sports, and comics.

The club elected Mr. Platt an honorary member, as is customary. Carl Peterson, treasurer, urged the need of a permanent record of members of Press club. He also informed the new members that they could obtain the Press club pin, the Blue Fertil, by depositing $1.75 with him.

Press club is planning to put on a stunt at the Jamboree Saturday night. The newsmakers intend to show the university some of their far-famed original kick.

Plans are being made for a musical comedy and dance, May 1, at the Woman's building, to entertain Theta Sigma Phi. Sigma Delta Chi will assist the Press club.

S. G. A. PARTY BOOKS
NOVELTY FEATURES

A new scheme is being "cooked up" for the stunts at the S. G. A. costume party. Instead of the previous plan of having stunts being presented by the sororities, this year the program is to be put on by girls' clubs and organizations. Prizes will be given for the best stunts.

The S. G. A. party is a strictly feminine affair, and is generally very well attended. Last year it was given on St. Valentine's day; this year it is to be sometime in May, although the date has not yet been set.

"We expect to have lots of stunts booked," says Esther Guerini, of the entertainment committee. "We wish to have short ones, because the girls like to put in most of the time dancing."

THAT SOMETHING NEW

PLANS OF SOCIALISM— THEME OF ADDRESS

"The only way in which Socialism will be possible will be to get at the root of things, and then build gradually until that finer ideal state of living is reached," declared Joseph M. Boyd, president of the J. M. Boyd company and chairman of the board of directors of the Bank of Wisconsin, in an address before the Wisconsin Social Science club in the Law building auditorium Wednesday night.

"From a business man's point of view, there are several reasons for thinking that Socialism will not work. People must be educated, for Socialism is such an ideal state of living that many are prone to build wonderful plans on shaky ground. There cannot be that sameness, that equality of all things, of all people, at all times, while there is a diversity of man's desires."

Mr. Boyd went on to show that experience is necessary to run businesses as Socialists continually propose. Furthermore, "leadership is essential, and very often the Socialists have neglected to note this fact, as was the case with the packing plant in Madison. Character, too, is one of the key points which Socialism must take into consideration. Just as soon as greed is stamped out, as soon as we rid ourselves of jealousies, then will Socialism come to its own."

"Very often," continued Mr. Boyd, "Socialists impress business men as not being sincere in their actions. They can't improve the water by painting the pump. They must go to the root of things before they can arrive at correct conclusions. At all times during the work there must be a spirit of goodwill, for that is the only way in which things can be built."

BADGER BOARD PLACES DRAW SIX ENTRANTS

Editor and Business Man- ager Jobs Go by Default

Editor's Note—The following article is the fourth of a series to be published listing the candidates for the various board positions in the coming elections and explaining the election rules in force in each case.

Although, with the positions of Badger editor and business manager going respectively to Thomas Coxon and Clarence Rassmussen by default, thereby making an election unnecessary for these important posts, the three board positions will be contested by six candidates.

Four sophomores, Melbourne Bergeman, Consuela Burwell, Margaret Green, and Roy B. Hull are out for the two junior openings.

Bergeman is a member of Athenae, inter-collegiate debating team 1920, and Badger staff 1920, 1921.

Consuela Burwell is a member of Pythia, French club, S. G. A. legislative board, W. A. A., Y. W. C. A., and 1920 Badger staff.

Margaret Green has been a member of Badger staff this year and last.

Hull is associate editor of The Country Magazine and a member of Press club.

Two freshmen, Paul Gangelin and Herbert C. Price, are contesting for the sophomore position.

The members of Badger board are elected by the qualified electors, male and female, of their respective classes.

RECITAL BY STAFF MEMBERS OF MUSIC SCHOOL A SUCCESS BY ALICE B. MUNRO

Miss Mary Elizabeth Moutray, a singer of wide and varied experience in light opera and church singing in New York, together with Miss Dorothy Beecher, who graduated from Wisconsin two years ago, and is making her debut as a faculty pianist, made the first faculty recital of the season last night in Music hall one that will be long remembered by the enthusiastic audience.

Miss Beecher, in her six selections, showed great versatility, and technique that would have been a credit to a much more experienced player. A Ballade and three Etudes by Chopin, with which she began the program, showed her great skill and real knowledge of music. The next group of two, Wagner's Spinning Song, and Liszt's Gnomens-Reigen, made an appeal to everyone, with their music-pictures and dramatic action. The last two Gumsucker's March, by Grainger, and a Concert of MacDowell's, were spirited executions that left behind her an enthusiastic and appreciative audience.

Miss Moutray's singing was a rare boon to Madison music-lovers, for their are none here possessing a mezzo-soprano at all like hers. She was absolutely sure of every note, and had a charming presence that added greatly to the appeal of her songs.

Her first group, an Aria from Lucia di Lammermoor, a song of Handel's, and The Danza, by G. W.

Chadwick, gave some indication of her ability in real operatic singing. These songs gave her wide range and powerful voice a good display. On one who was not an accomplished musician, the quieter and more restrained tones made the greater effect, but Miss Moutray made the most out of every song.

Ave Maria, of Verdi's, began the second group, in a most impressive manner, and was well followed by the rollicking Habanera from Carmen, and a song by Georges Hue, which showed her capacity for emotional singing.

The last of the program, four rather light songs, the sentimental My Heart is a Lute, and In the Gloaming, the humorous Big Brown Bear, and the ever-joyful song, The Year's at the Spring, were a most fitting close for the evening, and showed Miss Moutray in yet another phase, that of everyday life and emotion.
