MANY IN RACE FOR CLASS OR SENATE JOBS

Warren A. Taylor Gets Only Office to Go
by Default

The largest number of candidates for student offices in the history of the university have entered the political campaign which will terminate in Thursday's election. Campaigning has been limited to the personal solicitation for the candidate.

All seniors are eligible to vote for the senior class officers. The candidates for class president are George C. Bunge, Roy Sorenson, and Guy Sundt; for vice-president, Mildred Gerlach, Frances M. Beecher; for secretary, Esther Haven, and Norma Kiekhefer; for treasurer, Gordon Nelson and Carl J. Englehart.

Five Senior Senators

Senior men are also eligible to vote for five members of the Student Senate who are to be elected. The candidates for these positions are Robert A. Aspinwall, Samuel Becker, Edison M. Boerke, Hyman J. Bilansky, I. O. Hughes, Abraham Kaufman, Harold M. Kuckuk, Cyrus H. Peterman, and George B. Stolley.

Warren A. Taylor, candidate for senior sergeant-at-arms, won the election by default.

One member of the graduate senate is to be elected. Candidates for this position are M. H. Albertz and L. P. Gabbard. All students except freshman are eligible to vote for this office.

Two Junior Tickets

Two junior tickets have entered the field. The candidates for president are Gustav Tebell and Edward Gibson; for prom chairman, James L. Brader and Dick Gibson; vice-president, Mildred Klann and Polly Ambrose; secretary, Esther Mainland and Isabelle Capps; treasurer, Morton Frost and Charles B. Puestow; sergeant-at-arms, Arthur Trost and J. E. Mackie. Three positions on the junior senate are open. The candidates are Ralph Axley, Maynard Brown, Lippert S. Ellis, Wayne L. Morse, Charles Rawson. Russell

Faculty Against Student Decision For Green Caps

"The university authorities will not look with approval upon the student body as expressed in the recent referendum on university traditions as long as the green cap is a mark of submission and its wearing is made compulsory," said President E. A. Birge, in a statement to the president of the Student Senate yesterday.

The green cap will not be permitted at any all-university functions, such as the Varsity Welcome, as long as the present sentiment exists. If the cap can be made a badge of distinction and made voluntary, the authorities will recognize the tradition.

All hazing in front of Lincoln's statue will be barred. "This pioneer of democracy, who believed in the equality of all men would never tolerate such behavior," said President Birge.

"This attitude of the faculty is significant at this time," according to Sterling Tracy, president of the Student Senate, "in view of the fact that a referendum on traditions is to be voted on Thursday."

LAST MEET FOR DISARMAMENT AT NOON TODAY

Dean Goodnight Will Present
Petition Favoring Limitation

The last of the all-student mass meetings will be held at Music hall at 11:55 today when the resolution putting the students of the University of Wisconsin on record as favoring limitation of arms by the International conference meeting at Washington this week, will be presented by Dean Scott H. Goodnight.

Prof. Graham H. Stuart will address the meeting, taking up a phase of the disarmament question not touched upon by any of the previous speakers.

"Students have shown an active interest not only in attending the meetings on disarmament, but in talking and thinking and reading disarmament and we feel confident that the resolution today will be wired to our representative on the conference with a large and representative backing of intelligent student opinion," said Sonya Forthal, president of the Collegiate League of Women voters, under the auspices of which organization the disarmament mass meetings have been conducted.

No Cut Rule Holds Thanksgiving Week

Students will not have the privilege of spending the whole Thanksgiving week-end at home this year as the no cut rule will be enforced on the Friday following, as well as the Wednesday preceding, Thanksgiving.

The rule is that all persons who have unexcused absences for their last classes before or after the holiday will be denied the privilege of writing the final examinations in the classes missed. The rule will not be enforced Saturday, Nov. 12.

GEIGER OUT FOR UNION BOARD JOB

G. Lowell Geiger '23 has announced his candidacy for election to Union board. He is running independently. Geiger is Conference news editor of The Daily Cardinal and was assistant athletic editor of the 1922 Badger and assistant editor of the 1920 Homecoming program.

Geiger was also chairman of the 1921 Military ball publicity committee and chairman of the 1921 Homecoming local publicity committee. He is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity, Skull and Crescent society, and Press club, and has recently been elected to Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalistic fraternity.

Seat Sale Opens For Vecsey Recital

Seats for the Vecsey recital to be held in the university gymnasium, November 15, were placed on sale at the Albert Smith music store yesterday. The proceeds of the concert will be given to the Memorial Union fund.

Ferenec Vecsey, the Hungarian violinist, first appeared in America 14 years ago when as a boy protege he played in Carnegie hall in a white sailor suit with knee breeches. He is now only 28 years old. New York critics accorded him a great deal of praise for his playing while in New York last week.

About Rubbers, Goloshes, Girls, And The Snow

"Well, here are your rubbers," said Bedelia, throwing a large bundle on the study table, and shaking a bushel of snow off her coat into the waste-basket. "It's still snowing."

"Were there many people without?" inquired Araminta, politely. "Yes, many, but they were all in the store getting some."

"That is a very poor humorism," said Araminta.

"It is kinda a bum joke," agreed Bedelia, "but it is quite true. There was a line that long buying rubbers and goloshes, and as fast as one person went away two more came in. I saw all the new kinds of goloshes while I was waiting for the man to find some large enough rubbers. Lots of people were buying brown goloshes, but I am going to save my chocolate bar money till I can buy some fleece lined ones that button up the back."

"I have heard," remarked Araminta, "that many people have been late to classes this morning."

"You bet. They had such a hard time getting up the hill. Why, one girl told me she started for an 8 o'clock and managed to make a 10 o'clock, but I guess she was stringing me."

"And I," murmured Araminta thoughtfully, "didn't get to school at all."

"Well, now that you've got these gum shoes, you won't have any more excuse to stay home," said Bedelia, brutally.

Araminta gazed out of the window. "How exquisite—how lovely!" she cried. "Doesn't it look like a fairyland?"

"No," said Bedelia, prosaically. "No, indeed. It looks like the beginning of a long, cold winter."

Marionettes to Act In Madison Tonight

Seats for the performance to be given by Tony Sarg's marionettes at the Madison high school auditorium tonight are selling rapidly according to report given out Tuesday by Pi Epsilon Delta.

Rip Van Winkle, Washington Irving's famous story dramatized, will be presented by Mr. Sarg and his company of nine actors who operate the dolls and speak their lines. All of the women in the company come from Greenwich village where Mr. Sarg developed his marionettes. The company has just completed a several day engagement at the Playhouse theater, Chicago, where they were received with packed houses.

Solos by Damon to Be Feature at Hop

Solos by Kenneth Damon '22 are among the special features to be given at the second annual military hop in Lathrop hall, Friday evening, according to Evard Caluwaert '22, chairman of the entertainment committee.

In an effort to provide the best possible music for the dance, Caluwaert has secured Bill Thompson's Badger orchestra of seven pieces. The members of the orchestra are Reeve Strock '23, and W. Tanner '24, saxophones; Don Mack '25 and Duane Longacker '24, violins; Carl Kolb '23, drums and marimbaphone, and Olsen '24, banjo. Bill Thompson will play the piano.

Although many tickets were sold to ex-service men and cadets, yesterday, at Morgan's, and by cadet officers, a few can still be obtained. The sale will be limited in order to avoid overcrowding the hall.

TRUE VARSITY SPIRIT IS TO HELP OTHERS

—GOODNIGHT

Workers Cite Sacrifices
Being Made For Memorial

"Real true Wisconsin spirit is service—not self service, but doing something to help somebody else along," said Dean Scott H. Goodnight last night at a meeting of the Memorial Union personnel.

"As we grow in experience, our concept of Wisconsin spirit broadens. As freshmen a class rush is the expression, as sophomores, submission of the freshmen is the ideal, the seniors show a bit of altruism and leave a memorial of their class to the school.

"But as we grow older, the true and deep conception of that spirit gives us the desire to serve, and to spend our life in service."

Men Give Lives

Dean Goodnight cited many examples of men who, in the face of all obstacles, devoted their lives to that highest embodiment of Wisconsin spirit—service to their Alma Mater.

"You all can't devote your lives, but here is a chance to set fire to that smoldering spark of Wisconsin spirit within you," continued Dean Goodnight enthusiastically, "to build this building for the benefit of posterity is one of the greatest, most unselfish services you can perform, and it is a chance, an opportunity that none of you can afford to let pass."

Sacrifices Made

One worker then rose and told of a fellow whom he had approached, who hadn't a cent in the world. But his sister told him that she would give him 5 cents if he would wipe the dishes for her. On the strength of that he took a $50 life membership, figuring that he could give 7 cents a day to the Memorial Union, and keep 3 cents for himself.

One girl's family refused to allow her to make the pledge, but she took a life membership anyway, and is making plans to earn the money herself. Many students

International Club Gives Benefit For Memorial Building

A dance and entertainment for the benefit of the Union Memorial building and the International club house will be held under the auspices of the International club on Thursday, Nov. 10, at 8:30, in the gymnasium and concert room of Lathrop hall.

Mr. DeWet, South Africa, president of the International club, and several of the members from various nations will receive the guests. Rigmor Estvad will sing Danish songs in her native costume; Miss Sonya Forthal has promised to dance a Russian folk-dance, and the Henrickson brothers will play Norwegian piano and violin duets. For dance music the International club has secured the Graystone orchestra.

Fifty per cent of the proceeds of the evening will be contributed to the Union Memorial building, and the other half to the International club house fund. Admission is 25 cents, and all students are cordially invited to come and dance with the International club for the benefit of the two funds.

What with all this stuff the poets call a blanket of deadening whiteness and having three or four so-called gentlemen, who claim to be our friends, sitting around telling us how this space should be properly filled, we feel far more like composing our obituary notice than giving you something to keep you awake during lectures or to argue about.

DAILY EDITORIAL

There is hope for the university women of this institution. They are rapidly gaining a secret and intimate knowledge of the classics. Daily, some little, demure miss can be seen climbing the hill with a brilliantly red cloth-bound book. This sight denotes a broadening influence at work among the feminine element. Such noble works as "The Decameron," Rabelais, and the "Contes Drolatiques" of Balzac are rapidly taking the place of Elinor Glynn and Snappy Stories. The influence has waxed so strong that the women of the university are studying the moderns with a view to selecting their classical qualities. Already they have chosen the works of a certain man named Long as deserving of remembrance in later life. Truly a noble work. Excelsior!!

The affairs of BLOWZA are far beyond our ken. There comes into the field a new Lothario yecept APIS, and he truly arouses the fears and jealousy of OSCAR. Once we thought we had at least an outside chance with the lady, but today even that is gone, for along comes the fickle maid with this appreciation of OSCAR. Take our advice, gentlemen, she'll do you wrong.

Grafters to Exhibit Fruit and Flowers

The Grafters club is planning to hold its annual fruit and flower show on Wednesday, Nov. 16, the choicest chrysanthemums in the greenhouses of the horticulture department being exhibited. Fruit from the university orchard, and from other sources will be on display, and an apple-pie baking contest in which the Home Ecs are invited to demonstrate their culinary powers will also take place. The exhibit will be held during the late afternoon and evening of the day assigned.

WEST AGAIN WHIPS EAST ON GRIDIRON

Pitt and Army Lose to Nebraska and Notre Dame

The contention that western football occupies just as important a place as does that played in the east was again forcibly impressed last Saturday. Both Notre Dame's victory over the Army and Princeton's triumph over Harvard served to bring out this fact.

First Win in Years

Ten years ago the Tigers were victorious over the Crimson warriors, but since that time the best they were able to do was to tie them. After Chicago, a team already eliminated from the race for the western championship, defeated Roper's team, it did not look as if this was the year that the Tigers were to break the string of defeats.

The two teams were evenly matched and for three quarters there was no scoring done. In the third period, Owen kicked a place kick from the 34 yard line, and, with only six minutes left to play, it looked as if the outcome was settled. A line plunge followed the kickoff and then Gilroy grabbed the forward pass which netted 65 yards and a touchdown. In order to finish things up in good style, a placement kick was made which brought the score to a total of 10 to 3.

Army is Humbled

Notre Dame, another eleven which suffered defeat at the hands of a Big Ten conference school, overwhelmed the Army, supposedly one of the strongest teams in the east, by the one-sided score of 23 to 0. "Mickey" Mohardt was the big hero of the day, although the work of Kiley and Wynne is also deserving of favorable mention. The Hoosiers employed a new set of forward pass formations which worked so well that they literally marched up and down the field at will, the attack completely baffling the Army.

The biggest upset of the day in the east occurred when Nebraska handed Pittsburg a 10 to 0 beating. Coach Dawson's eleven gave evidence throughout the entire game of being the better-coached team of the two, the line, especially, doing away with its heavy opponents with little trouble.

Yale, by virtue of its 28 to 0 victory over Maryland, must be considered with Princeton as one of the probable winners of the Big Three. Two touchdowns were pushed over during the first quarter, and the Bulldogs never had to worry after that.

WOMEN'S CLASS HOCKEY TEAMS PLAY TWO GAMES

In a close, evenly matched game, the sophomore women defeated the seniors by a score of 3-2 in the first of the inter-class hockey matches, played Saturday morning at Randall field. The juniors, in the second game, won from the freshmen, 7-4.

The freshman team, after shifting the line-up, came back in the second half with a strong attack, making four goals. Belle Knights '23 and Florence Hupprich '23 scored consistently for the juniors.

Match games of second teams and color teams will be played off during the week. On Friday, which has been set apart as "hockey holiday," and on Saturday morning the final games of the first teams and squads will be played.

IOWA IS GOOD BUT NOT VERY; CARDINAL WINS

—BY CHUCK—

A Minneapolis sporting gent who writes for the Chicago Trib says that Iowa, by winning last Saturday, 41 to 7, gave Minnesota its worst beating in 21 years. The world has a short memory, but it isn't as short as some fellows are of money. Will some kind man in the audience please rise and shriek to the world that Wisconsin swamped the Gophers, 35 to 0, only a week ago?

Let's work it out together.

41-7: 34 margin for Iowa.

35-0: 35 margin for Wisconsin.

Wake up, World, and give a skyrocket for Wisconsin.

The bozo that hands the palm leaf to Iowa must have learned his arithmetic in a Chinese grade school. He probably walks upstairs in reverse. He thinks the alphabet starts with 10 and runs down until death do us part.

That baby claims Gopher Center for his home. If they ever start a zoo in the town, they'll pick him out first. He'll be the jackass. His memory is so short that he can't remember whether he paid the cashier or not; when it comes to a showdown, he hasn't. He's the kind of a guy that laughs when a chorus girl breaks her shoulder strap. If we have another war, he will want a contract to furnish the government with bows and arrows. The only thing he remembers is the free lunch counter and 5c beer.

Iowa beat the Gophers. Now, the Hawks will wallop Indiana and Northwestern, and call it a season. "We're the champions," they'll shout. It's a wonder they didn't schedule a game with the 4C college. Their men have played together only four years. When the two Devines graduate, if they ever do, Iowa will petition to join the Mid-Western High School league. Indiana will furnish the Homecoming game for the Hawkeyes. That will enable the players to get acquainted with the alumni during the game.

Oh, well, there is no use discrediting Iowa. Those bimbos need a Conference championship. They haven't had one since Carl Russell Fish wore skirts. And that's a long time ago, if anyone should perambulate up in a sea-going hearse and propound the question.

Frosh Football Men Join Basket Squad

The freshman basketball squad has been cut considerably in the last couple of weeks, although several men who were out for frosh football have reported.

Of these men, the one who appears the best is Leberman, a former star on the Sheboygan high school team. There are, all told, about 55 or 60 yearlings still out for the frosh quintet. These men are divided into two groups, each of which practices two afternoons a week under the direction of Coach MacIntosh.

The men are being given workouts and are scrimmaging among themselves.

Award Emblems and Pins at Meeting

Big emblems were awarded to Romayne Barryman '23, and Florence Hupprich '23 at the regular W. A. A. meeting held Tuesday evening in the S. G. A. rooms. Pins were given to Katherine Kitchin '23, Josephine Snow '24, Maurine Hall '24, and Elizabeth Schafer '23. Nine new members taken in at the same time are Barbara Hildreth '24, Dorothy Paul '24, Olga Lafel '24, Margaret Hatfield '24, Aileen Hall '24, Lucile Uhl '24, Alice Barton '22, Josephine Jung '24, Elizabeth Knott '24.

Dorothy Ware '22 reported that 5,076 Homecoming buttons were sold, and Belle Knights '23, that 5,377 Homecoming programs were sold. The combined amount towards Homecoming expenses was $2,613.30.

COLLEGE CROSS COUNTRY MEET SET FOR NOV. 12

Annex Now in Shape For Indoor Track Season

On Saturday morning at 11:15 an inter-college cross country will be held over the short course. Any man who has not run in the dual meets of this season is eligible to compete. The winning team will be given their college insignia, and the meet will count towards the possession of the Nelson trophy, now held by the Commerce school. Men wishing to enter should sign up with Coach Meade Burke.

Weather a Handicap

If the present weather continues, the meet will be doubly a test of endurance, and if the snow continues to flutter down the race will be run on snow-shoes. Any man who is able to gambol along the lake shore in a track suit under the present climatic conditions should be an untold joy to Madison landlords or else a candidate for Mendota.

The indoor track season will open on December 3 with the annex in better condition than it has been for years. The track has been filled in and graded, and new dirt has been spread over the hard center field.

Sophs vs. Frosh

The opening meet will be between the freshmen and the sophomores. The teams will be picked largely by the results of the meet which was held at Camp Randall on October 23.

The annual inter-fraternity meet is scheduled for December 10, and is expected to arouse a great deal of keen competition. Letters have been sent to all the chapter heads, and it is hoped that every fraternity will be represented. The meet will include all the regular track events and a relay for which three cups will be awarded as prizes. Individual winners will be given ribbons. An entrance fee of five dollars will be charged each fraternity, and all applications must be in by December 5.

Make Only $100 at Frosh-Soph Battle

Receipts from the Freshman-Sophomore football game last Saturday were far below all expectations and the sum taken in will not half pay for the trip to Chicago, which players from the All-American and Freshman squad will make on November 19, according to T. E. Jones, of the department of physical education.

Coach Jones stated yesterday that less than $100 was taken in at the game, and that some other plan would have to be used before the two elevens could be rewarded. One plan that has been brought forward would have the Freshmen and All-Americans mix it up in a game on Friday or some other suitable date. Admission would be charged and enough could probably be raised to send the pick of both squads to the Chicago game. A definite plan will be announced by the department tomorrow.

Freshman Girls Pay Dues Today

Green Button dues are to be collected Wednesday, Nov. 9, in Lathrop hall at a booth which will be open during the entire day. The dues are 25 cents for each member.

It is important that this money be collected, in order that the officers of Green Button may plan the activities of the coming year.

Captain Aldrich of Yale has taken first position as individual scorer in major college football. He has deposited Captain Robertson of Dartmouth, scoring 76 points and Robertson 67.

SNOW STORM IS HANDICAP TO VARSITY

Scrimmage is Cautious to Prevent Any Injuries

With the change in weather that gradually led up to yesterday's snowfall, the Wisconsin team will be greatly handicapped in its preparation for the biggest home game of the season with Michigan on Saturday. If the snow continues, drills will be slowed up and scrimmage, if possible at all, will be engaged in with caution. Coach Richards will not take any chances on injuring the men in the last days before the contest.

Field Has Hay Cover

Camp Randall gridiron has been covered with hay which will probably not be removed until Saturday. This will keep the field partially dry. Football experts can look to Wisconsin's showing against Minnesota when they doubt the Badgers' ability to flash on a wet field. The field was a sea of water and mud in that game, but Wisconsin backs were undaunted and their sensational work woke up the Big Ten and put the Richardsmen in line for a Big Ten conference championship.

It is true that a slow, heavy field will work to the disadvantage of a forward line as light as Wisconsin's, but speed and aggressiveness are counted upon to offset this advantage just as they did in the Minnesota game. The kicking power of Michigan will be seriously hampered by a wet ball. While Steketee has at times averaged 50 yards in his punts during games, this would not be possible if the ball were slippery and hard to handle. He would also be unable to count by the field goal method to pull the game out of the fire as he did when the Wolverines beat Illinois, 3 to 0. Thus, it can be seen that the Badgers should at least be on even terms with their opponents if the field is slippery, and the speed of the backs will turn the scale towards Wisconsin if the grid is fairly fast.

Wolverines in Shape

Michigan cripples are again off the hospital list and ready for the attempt to upset Wisconsin championship hopes. Roby, Banks, and Johns, who were hurt in the game with Michigan Aggies, reported in good shape. Fielding H. Yost is placing much emphasis on his linemen charging as a unit, while the backfield men are instructed in getting away fast on formations. Speed is the main object in the minds of the Wolverine coaches, for they realize that the only way to cope with the speedy Wisconsin backs is to match speed with speed.

Coach Richards is noncommittal on the backfield lineup for Saturday. Will Williams or Gibson pilot the team? Will Williams, Gibson, or Gould be in at left half when the opening whistle starts the two teams across the gridiron? It looks very much as if stocky "Rollie," the Edgerton pride, will be directing the eleven at quarter. He has shown capability, and with two weeks in which to polish rough edges, the little flash should match with the best of them.

With Williams at quarter, it would be logical to use Gibson at half. "Gib" played sub half last year. His work in the Illinois Homecoming game caused considerable comment. Backed by Capt. Sundt and "Rowdy" Elliott, this combination would keep the backfield intact, retaining the power that has upset three Big Ten elevens. The Wisconsin line will probably be the same as that which overwhelmed its heavier Gopher opponents.

WHEN WILL IT END?

PETTY thievery is, perhaps, not the right nomenclature. If an easier term could be found that would do justice to the subject we would rather use it.

It is always hard to believe that any person will deliberately and wilfully take for himself that which by right of purchase or otherwise belongs to another. It would be much more pleasant that incidents where clothing, books, and similar articles were missing, that such articles really were lost. But who can honestly believe it?

Books, coats and caps left in the library, in restaurants, or in the cloakrooms do not walk away of their own accord. They are too large to drop into a nearby crack. Yet often when the owner returns for them they are gone. Somehow they have disappeared and it is obvious that someone other than their owner has taken them.

Let us deal plainly with an ugly subject.

Entirely too much petty thievery is being done either by students or at least by those having access to student cloakrooms and restaurants.

The trouble, however, does not end there. Often when the owner of a missing article finds it gone, he takes another to replace his own. If it is a cap that is missing, it is a simple and apparently more economical way to take a substitute than it would be to buy one.

The logic of such reasoning is obvious. The owner of the missing article knows it is practically certain that the article will never be found or returned. So he protects himself at someone else's expense and discomfiture. Thus the chain is started. Each one tries to get his own or one like it. A simple case of robbing Peter to pay Paul.

It would be an easy way out, but the difficulty is that someone is left holding the bag—empty. And the last one there is the goat.

The sinister effect of all this is that from one real theft may result several benevolent assimilations of another's property. Each taker is probably blandly assuring himself that he is entitled to what appeared to him to be the best way out.

It has reached such a point that something must be done about the matter. With winter here it is necessary to wear wraps which cannot be always taken into the classroom. The guilty ones when found should be properly dealt with. The source of this pernicious thievery must be discovered.

THE ELECTION BOOKLET

THE election booklet just out fails as an adequate guide to the voters in the election tomorrow.

The make-up of the booklet confuses more than it enlightens. In the jumble of poorly set pages some tickets suffer unduly and others profit unduly. The summaries are bountiful in some cases and scanty in others. The typographical errors are ludicrous and show signs of careless and hasty workmanship.

Very few summaries were turned in with the petitions of the candidates. Only a small number of the candidates seemed to know that such was the custom. In the announcements of the elections committee the candidates were told that "advertising matter" would be cared for by the money they paid with their petitions. Few of them knew what the nature of this advertising was. Some of the candidates themselves were at fault in not acquainting themselves with the requirements. Every candidate should have been made to understand that a summary of his activities should have accompanied his petition.

The present state of things plainly shows the need of a uniform booklet complying with certain well defined details to accord absolute fairness to every ticket and every candidate.

WHY NOT WISCONSIN?

HUMOROUSLY alluding to the words of Admiral Sampson of Santiago Harbor fame when the Americans had routed the Spanish fleet, the Chicago Daily Examiner comes out with the following editorial, which it calls "Don't Cheer, Boys; They're Dying."

"When Ohio State beats Chicago at football, and Chicago beats Princeton, and Princeton beats Harvard, how much better is the eastern type of football than the western?"

"When Iowa beats Notre Dame, and Notre Dame overwhelms West Point, and West Point's defeat by a close score by Yale is used as evidence that Yale is the strongest team on the Atlantic Coast, how much superior is Iowa to the next strongest?"

"When Notre Dame beats Nebraska, and Nebraska beats Pittsburg, and Pittsburg is called by eastern critics probably the most powerful football aggregation of the year, what is Notre Dame—a bunch of nice Irish boys?"

As the title of the above editorial suggests, the East is going down in defeat before the western elevens. Perhaps we are exceptionally strong this year; perhaps they are exceptionally weak; but at least the boasted supremacy of the East in football has received a distinct reversal.

Such intersectional games are always highly advertised and are certain to be well attended. Financially, then, there should be no excuse for failure of eastern teams to schedule home-and-home games with these western teams which are truly representative of the middle west.

Such games should tend to produce a closer union between the two sections. The East would learn of us; we would learn of the East. It would be in every way a mutual benefit if such games were on the yearly schedule.

THE REVISED PLANS FOR THE MEMORIAL BUILDING

That the university has no school of architecture is to be regretted. Had it, I am sure the revised plans for the Union Memorial building as published in Sunday's State Journal would never have been allowed to reach their present form. The original beauty and symmetry has been ruined by the addition of two prominent features, a tower and stage fly loft which loom up like a chimney and grain elevator above the long, horizontal lines of the building proper, and have as much relationship to it as a wooden water tank on the library roof.

When such a prominent feature is to be really a part of the building, the principles of architectural design demand well-defined, visible lines of support. It must not be off-center to the unit to which it is nearest. It must not be an extraneous feature, but a definite, organic part of the whole. The stage loft complies to none of these requirements. It is off-center or eccentric to the east wing; there is no continuity of line with that portion of the building which supports it. It has no relation to the building proper, and resembles the cooling tower on a brewery, or a garage dropped on the roof by a tornado.

The tower in itself is a work of art. Its general style is in keeping with that of the building. Its vertical lines are reinforced by those of the west wing, with which they coincide, but its extreme height is in conflict with the long horizontal lines of the main building and suggest that, it too, is an after thought—merely an addition. From the rear there is absolutely no harmony of line or unity of structure. The whole resembles a group of hotels at a seaside resort or a part of the New York skyline. If we must sacrifice beauty to utility why not add a roof garden, band stand and possibly a "shoot the chutes?"

It is inconceivable that the architect could have added these features except as a surrender of ideals to utilitarian demands not thought of until the original published plans were complete. If they had to be incorporated, it is regrettable their necessity was not made known before the building was planned, so they could have been taken care of adequately without marring an already beautiful design.

PREPARATION OF THE VOTERS GUIDE

In answer to the questions which have arisen in regard to the voters guide, the elections committee wishes to make the following statement: Instructions were printed in the Cardinal prior to October 28, making it clear that all advertising material for the booklet must have been handed in with the nominating petitions before October 28. When the material for the guide was assembled, it was found that many candidates had neglected to hand in any advertising whatsoever. The committee, although under no obligation to do so, searched for and used material that had been presented in the Cardinal when candidates were announced.

The books were distributed Monday morning, and have been put in the customary places in Bascom hall, the Engineering building, Agricultural hall, in the office of the Dean of Men, and the office of the Registrar.

Week End Holiday

Armistice day, Friday, Nov. 11, will be a university holiday, in accordance with the announcement made by President Birge. This day of celebration affords extra opportunities for entertaining over the week end, and several organizations will make use of them.

Kappa Pledges Will Entertain Chapter

The pledges of Kappa Kappa Gamma will entertain members of the active chapter at a semi-formal dancing party on Friday evening at the chapter house. Decorations appropriate to Armistice day will be used. Mrs. Evans, house mother, and Miss Mary Hill will act as chaperons.

Alpha Sig Dance

Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity will give an informal dancing party on Thursday evening, at the chapter house on Lake street. Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Osgood will chaperon the party.

Phi Psi Will Entertain

Members of Phi Kappa Psi will give an informal dance at their chapter house, 28 E. Gilman on Thursday evening. Prof. and Mrs. J. Gordon McKay have been invited to chaperon the party.

Triangle Party at Professor Owen's Cottage

Triangle fraternity and its guests will be entertained at an outing party and dance at the cottage of Prof. and Mrs. Ray Owen, on Friday evening.

Alpha Pi Delta Pledge

Alpha Pi Delta, commerce fraternity, announces the pledging of Wesley W. Jones, Madison, CC 4; and William James Webb, Shullsburg, CC 3.

Sigma Kappa Guest

Miss Hattie M. Baker, a national officer of Sigma Kappa, is visiting for a few days at the Sigma Kappa house.

Grads Will Speak to Menorah Society

A program by graduate members of the organization will be given at a meeting of Menorah society in Lathrop parlors at 7:30 tonight. Herman Halperin will give a report on the World Zionist congress which took place recently at Carlsbad, Germany. Ben Ellman and Sam Lepkowsky will also give short talks.

Plans for the National Menorah convention which is to be held in Madison during the Christmas holidays will be discussed.

Young Lectures to Students at Iowa

Prof. Karl Young, head of the English department, who is now visiting at the University of Iowa, lectured there Monday, Nov. 7, on "Shakespeare Skeptics," under the auspices of the graduate club. His second speech is to be given on "Research Work and the Life of the University," Monday, Nov. 14, to be directed by the Humanist society. Both societies will honor Professor Young at a reception immediately following his lecture, Monday evening.

Big Changes Proposed By City Planner Here

The city council tonight will hear the preliminary report of Harland Bartholomew, St. Louis city planning expert, who has just completed a survey of Madison. It will be a joint meeting of the council, city planning commission and city officials and will be held in the council chamber. Mr. Bartholomew will suggest some radical changes in the city. His changes are to make Madison a progressive municipality for the next 50 years, and if carried out, will take many years to complete and hundreds of thousands of dollars. Widening of certain streets, the extension of others, the changing of street car lines, elimination of railroad grade crossings, and the connection of S. Hamilton st. with South Madison are among the big changes which will be suggested. The report will be tentative and will be subject to suggestions and changes from the commission and the council members.

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the past 24 hours was 44 at 1 p. m. The lowest was 32 at 7 a. m. Snowfall was .43. The sun sets at 4:42.

The storm that is passing over the Mississippi and Missouri valleys this morning is attended by rain, snow and sleet. It is much colder in an area of high barometer in the northwest. The temperature fell to within 10 degrees of freezing in northern Minnesota and down to zero in Alberta.

Clear $80 For New Co-operative House

Exactly $80 cleared at a bridge party and tea given at Lathrop by the University league yesterday afternoon, will be given toward furnishing the new co-operative house on North Charter street. The league, which is made up of faculty women and wives of faculty members, has already given $50 from its treasury toward the same object. The hostess of the afternoon was Elizabeth Bemis, assistant director of halls and commons. Mr. Harry Glicksman was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

The prizes were donated by Prof. E. H. Harrington of the College of Agriculture. The league has a standing committee which keeps constantly in touch with university needs.

Labor Federation To Observe Armistice Day

Armistice day was declared a legal holiday for all members of the Madison Federation of Labor and a committee of three was appointed to act in conjunction with the general city committee at a meeting of the Federation of Labor hall Monday night. The committee members are Ben Stitgen, Albert Lamp and Henry Wollin. It was also voted to contribute $100 annually to the Public Welfare association. The University Union Memorial building fund campaign was endorsed by the Federation, and the members voted to give it their "moral and financial support."

A resolution favoring disarmament was drafted by John T. Butler, business agent, Fred Gastrow and Marcus Johnson, and forwarded to President Harding, after it had been passed by the Federation.

Try to Get Druggists' Home to Locate Here

Information has been received at the Association of Commerce that the National Association of Drug clerks is looking for a location to establish a memorial druggists national home. The property must be located on a body of water, a hotel or sanitarium is preferred which can be converted to the uses of the institution. Acreage is needed to develop a scientific laboratory and botanical gardens. It will be used for summer report purposes as well as a home for the disabled druggists. While Madison does not possess a hotel that is available for this purpose, every encouragement has been offered to the national association to come to Madison and look over the available lake shore property suited for their purposes. It is believed that the professors in charge of the course in pharmacy at the University of Wisconsin will cooperate in every way should it be possible to locate the home here.

Let's get that $100,000 in a hurry

Most of us who live close to the environment of the University of Wisconsin take pride in the character of the varsity spirit. Indeed, the influence of the Wisconsin Spirit is felt by thousands who have never attended Wisconsin, in fact, by thousands who have never seen our state university.

Many, many soldiers from privates to majors, though never students at Wisconsin, will tell you how during those terrifying days at St. Miheil, in the Argonne, and in the drive for Metz, their courage was stiffened, their hopes were raised by the strains of "On Wisconsin," the song of the Wisconsin Spirit.

But not only there, but in every place where the influence of the university has had effect, the Spirit of Wisconsin has been felt.

It seems to us that nothing could more fittingly commemorate the memory of the U. W.'s dead heroes of the Great War than a building dedicated to the predominating character quality of the "Old School."

The Wisconsin Memorial Building will be, in a sense, a home for the ideals of the University of Wisconsin—a place for the blending of the factors that go into the making of the Wisconsin Spirit. The social development within its walls will undoubtedly have a definite effect on the character of Madison as a city. That is why every citizen of Madison should be especially interested.

Everyone is invited to contribute to the building fund for the Wisconsin Memorial Union Building. Are you going to be one of those who some day will pass by it and feel proud that you donated to the fund that made it possible?

Snowstorm Is Earliest Since Nov. 11, 1916

Last Year First Real Snow Fell Dec. 21; Present Storm to Continue

One of the earliest snowstorms in the past five years began here Monday night shortly before 7 o'clock, with a drizzling cold rain, which turned to snow between 6 and 7 o'clock. Since the heavy storm on Nov. 11-13, 1916, Madison has not had a severe storm earlier in the year than Nov. 8. Last year Dec. 21 was the date of the first real snowstorm, and in 1919 snow did not appear in any considerable quantity until Nov. 27 and 28.

A total of .43 inches of snow had fallen this morning, according to officials at the U. S. weather bureau. Snow is melted and the rain water measured to tell the amount of precipitation. The wind will shift to the north this afternoon and tonight colder weather will be on its way to Madison, officials said. The snow storm is scheduled to continue today and most of Wednesday.

Sections of Madison was without electric light service for a few minutes early this afternoon. Wire trouble, due to the storm, was given as the cause by the service department of the Madison Gas and Electric Co.

LA CROSSE, Wis.—Five inches of snow fell in La Crosse during the night, and the storm was still in progress at 9 this morning. This is the earliest heavy snow La Crosse

FACULTY OF VARSITY FOR DISARMING

Resolution Urging Reduction in Armaments Unanimously Adopted

The faculty of the University of Wisconsin last night unanimously adopted a resolution expressing to President Harding and the American delegates to the conference for the limitation of armaments, its "confidence and unqualified moral support in the enterprise that they are about to undertake for the preservation of the peace of the world and the lessening of causes for future wars."

The resolution pledged support and aid of the university faculty to any study of facts which would bring about "the clear understanding and adjustment of a variety of economic ethnic and other interests," which it believes to be the basis of effective co-operation of nations in the future.

The resolution in full follows:

"Be it resolved by the Faculty of the University of Wisconsin, that we express to the President of the United States and the American Commissioners to the Conference for the limitation of Armaments, our confidence and unqualified moral support in the enterprise that they are about to undertake for the preservation of the peace of the world and the lessening of causes for future wars.

"We believe that the world is ready for a genuine reduction of armaments, negotiated in good faith, ~~because~~ the crushing economic burden of maintaining the largest peace time armies and navies in history seriously curtails socially necessary and desirable expenditures; because the constantly increasing economic interdependence of nations necessitates more effective co-operation in future, and demands removal of all sources of misunderstanding; because the peoples of the world remember the appalling sacrifices of the war and are determined that they shall be made to count for the greatest future good of humanity.

"We believe that effective co-operation of nations in the future must be based on the clear understanding and adjustment of a vast variety of economic, ethnic and other interests, and that important permanent progress toward peace will be most probable as a result of a well planned objective study of these facts. We hope that no time will be lost in marshaling all the agencies of an available to our government, which can aid in such a study and in giving to the people its results. In this work we pledge the government our support and active aid, whether through independent effort or in co-operation with other agencies.

"Although the process of effecting the needful international adjustments will be slow, we are confident that the Conference will meet the high hopes of the world for an immediate and positive beginning in the reduction of burdensome armaments and in effective international co-operation for peace and security.

"Be it also resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to each of the members of Congress from the State of Wisconsin."

"If this present war has produced such uncomprehensible havoc and imposed upon us stupendous burdens, what outlook is there for the future if we cannot annihilate war," Prof. William A. Scott, director of the course of commerce at the university, asked in an address at the First Congregational church Monday night.

Prof. Scott spoke on "The Social and Economic Burdens of a Warring World," the first of a series of four addresses on disarmament to be given during the week.

"I share the conviction," said Prof. Scott, "that not to think seriously about our problems is very dangerous. We must take serious thought and transfer it into action or our burdens will overwhelm us."

"The destruction of human life, the first thing that comes to our minds in connection with war, is estimated for the late world war at 1,000,000 and the direct and indirect cost is $338,000,000,000.

"For generations to come we will be enslaved by the recent war to bear the load of taxation that we can not get out from under.

Many Candidates Seek Student Vote
