CAST CHOSEN BY HARESFOOT FOR NEW PLAY

Rehearsals for "Mary's
Lamb" Get Under Way
at Once

After two weeks of constant rehearsals and competition, the cast of "Mary's Lamb," the 1920 Haresfoot production, has been chosen by the club and George A. Beane, the director of this year's show.

Competition during the tryouts was keen, two or more men contesting each part in the cast. Understudies have been chosen to fill in the places of the others, in case illness or ineligibility should force one of the characters out of his part. Eligibility records are not as yet complete in Dean S. H. Goodnight's office, and until all the reports are in, it will be impossible to state whether all parts are finally cast. The cast announced today will probably be the one to present the show in Madison and on the road during spring vacation. The cast follows:

Characters
Leander Lamb, a martyr—Wells Carberry.
Alan Townsend, an artist—William R. Kellet.
Bill Blackwell, from Idaho—Andrew Mailer.
Clyde Wetherbee, a secretary—Reginald Garstang.
Sylvester Q. Nightingale—Charles H. Carpenter.
Judge Henry Gibson—W. D. Gary.
Mrs. Mary Miranda Lamb—Harold C. Ray (W. H. Purnell, understudy).
Sylvia Montrose, a retired actress—P. P. Rudy. (J. V. Steinle, understudy).
Phyllis Atwood, niece of Lamb—A. D. Marvin.
Mercedes, Sylvia's maid—H. J. Carver.

Chorus
Speaking Chorus Parts—Girls: Florence N. Gale, Edna, Viola, Lucille, Celia. Men: Horace, Willis, Guy, Stacy. Philip D. Reed, Everett L. Hill, Jr., C. E. Spring, F. N. Bussey, Elton K. ## Last Chance for Wits to Turn in Octopus Jokes Today

Last chance to become famous as a humorous writer! Today is the deadline for all "contribs" to The Octopus. Anyone who wants his new thoughts recorded for future generations to gaze with awe—and giggles—had best drop them into Octopus boxes in the "Pep" building, Chemistry building, Main hall, or Wisconsin Union today. Every bit of funny, witty prose, poetry, and cartoon will help to keep the co-eds and the co-Johns from dying of the "sleeping sickness."

And wise one! If you have a joke that you haven't been able to pull off on your best girl or your roommate, save it for the Octopus. Any stray witticisms that pass over the heads of the sheep, or prof., might well be listened to if they stared forth from the pages of a humorous magazine.

The "New Thought" number will be published March 20. A few places are still open on the board of editors. If anyone is interested, call at the Wisconsin Union building.

BADGER SECURES FAMOUS ARTIST TO DO DRAWING

Franklin Booth Will Make
Two Pictures for Yearbook

The 1921 Badger has been fortunate to secure the services of the famous artist, Franklin Booth, of New York, to do two drawings, one a bust of Ex-President Charles R. Van Hise, and another of President E. A. Birge.

Mr. Booth is considered the greatest artist in his line of work in the country. He does line drawings for some of the big magazines, including Saturday Evening Post. A bust of Lincoln, done by him, appeared in the Literary Digest for February 7.

Students entering school the second semester may sign-up for Badgers before March 10, at the Badger office on the second floor of the Union building, 752 Langdon street.

A special block of Badgers will be set aside for the convenience of new students. After the above date, if there are any left, they will not be held but will be put on open sale.

ALUMNI HOLD BIG BANQUET TO AID MEMORIAL DRIVE

Between 300 and 400 Attend
Affair in Milwaukee
Hotel

Between 300 and 400 prominent state alumni attended the Union Memorial banquet held in the Fern room of the Hotel Pfeister, Milwaukee, Friday night for the purpose of arousing enthusiasm for the coming drive.

The banquet was the preliminary to the drive for $750,000 for a Union Memorial building, to be held in Milwaukee and throughout the state during the coming week. Team captains and teams were appointed to carry on the campaign in Milwaukee. Prof. S. W. Gilman, representing the faculty, and M. B. Kohler, representing the alumni, were the principal speakers of the evening and both gave inspiring talks. Regent T. M. Hammond, Wauwatosa, pledged the support of the Board of Regents. Following the speeches the baneters joined in singing Wisconsin songs and in giving Wisconsin cheers.

The university quartet, composed of Liland Forman, Earl Brown, Bern Huebner, and Clifford Ives, under the direction of Prof. E. E. Swinney of the School of Music, sang a number of selections during the banquet.

The campaign teams will hold another banquet at the Hotel Pfeister tomorrow night to turn in subscriptions and discuss the progress of the campaign.

BIG CHOIR SINGS AT UNION MEET

A monster choir of 150 voices will be a feature at the student union mass meeting to be held at 6:30 tonight at Lathrop hall. The convocation will be a union meeting of student representatives of all the churches in preparation for the all-university Religious conference to be held this week.

The choir will be under the direction of Prof. E. B. Gordon, who is anxious to have all singers meet at 6 o'clock in the concert room to organize. There will also be special violin numbers by Clara Hoover.

Loring Hammond will be chairman of the meeting. The program will include short speeches by members of the university central committee. Paul White will outline the plan of the conference. Other speakers will be Doris Simonsen and Prof. J. L. Gillin.

Gophers Beat Badgers, 32-26

Minnesota, fighting with her back to the wall in an attempt to break the string of defeats which she has recently suffered, defeated Wisconsin 32 to 26 in a Western Conference basketball game here last night. Arneston, Gopher forward, scored 14 of his team's points.

Taylor of Wisconsin caged four field goals and six free throws.

INTER-COLLEGE TANK MEET WON BY BOOKKEEPERS

The Commerce school swimmers swamped their opponents in an inter-college swimming meet yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium swimming tank. The following are the team standings: Commerce 35½; L. and S., 17½; Agricultural 14; and Engineers 5. The Medic school was not entered.

The contest was witnessed by about 150 spectators who cheered lustily for their various tank favorites. Close competition prevailed throughout the meet and the Commerce men had to fight hard for their five firsts, and for first place in the relay race. They placed in every event.

Roy and Olson, Commerce students carried off the individual honors, with eight and ten points respectively to their credit. Olson has just entered as a freshman this semester and promises to be a comer in swimming. The fancy diving was won by Kanitz of the Agricultural college.

Many of the freshmen entered showed a great deal of promise, and it is expected that many of them will be back next fall for the varsity squad.

Results of the meet with the order and winners of the various events are as follows:

160-yard relay—Commerce (Willet, Roy, Olson, and Treadwell) first; Letters and Science, second; and Engineers, third. Time 1:19.

Fancy diving—Kanitz, Ag., first; Brockett, Com., second; Wood, L. and S., third.

40-yard swim—Roy, C. C., first; Stuckn, C. C., second; Lanabee, L. and S., third. Time 22:3.

100-yard breast—Hosueholder, C. C., first; Paterson, A., second; Mayer, L. and S., third. Time 1:19:4.

220-yard swim—Logre, A., first; Paulus, Eng., second; Rice, C. C., third. Time 3:14:4.

Plunge for distance—Olson, C. C., first; Bennett, L. and S., second; and Blain, C. C., and Lahmann, L. and S., were tied for third. Distance, 50 feet.

100-yard back stroke—Wiethamp, L. and S., first; Olson, C. C., second; Pope, Eng., third. Time 1:19.

100-yard swim—Roy, C. C., first; Story, L. and S., second; Logre, Ag., third.

The officials were: Timers, Dickelman and Vail; Starter, Linden; Diving judges, Felton, Dickelman, Linden. Clerk of course, Onweneel.

CONFERENCE SCORES

Other conference scores last night were as follows:

Chicago 27, Illinois 20.

Indiana 17, Ohio 16.

BADGER TANK MEN LOSE TO NORTHWESTERN

EVANSTON, Ill. The Northwestern tank team defeated the Badger swimmers tonight by the score of 45 to 23. Branower of Northwestern equalled the conference record of 19 3-5 seconds in the 40-yard swim.

RECORDS FALL IN FOURTEENTH RELAY EVENT

Sundt Wins Mucks Shot Put Trophy for Second Time

One record was broken and another tied in the fourteenth annual relay carnival held in the gymnasium annex last night. Both records were formerly held by Mead Burke and both were in hurdle events.

In the low hurdles, Knollin broke Burke's record of 6:15 seconds by running the event in six flat, and Andrews tied the 5:25 record in the high hurdle event.

Guy Sundt again won the right to keep the Arie Muck's shot put trophy with a throw of 39 feet and six inches, made Friday before he left with the basketball team for Minnesota. In the 40-yard dash, Malacker was first with a time of 4:45, Knollin, second, and Spetz third. Endres and Wilder tied for first honors in the pole vault with a height of 11 feet, six inches. Merrick, who won a tie for first place in the meet against Notre Dame, was kept out of this event after his second trial, on account of an injury to his foot caused by falling on the hard dirt outside of the pit.

Shattuck had little trouble in winning the inter-military academy, a medley relay in which each school was represented by four men. The first man was required to run three laps, the second two, the third six and the fourth nine. In the first lap Shattuck took the lead on the start off and maintained it throughout the entire race. Partidge, the last man to run on the Shattuck team, finished at least a half lap ahead of Foster of Culver, who came in second. The tall Shattuck runner ran an easy race and was practically the only one of the twelve men running who did not collapse at the end of his race. Foster, for Culver, also ran a pretty race, overcoming a big lead which his team-mate running the two-lap race gave to St. Johns when he fell down at the end of his first lap.

Sigma Chi again won the inter-fraternity relay, with Chi Psi finishing second and Phi Kappa Sigma third. The Sigma Chi time of 1:41:3 was the fastest in which the race has been run for several years. This event was the longest of the evening, with 25 fraternities entered, making eight heats necessary. Each team consisted of six men, each of whom was required to run one lap.

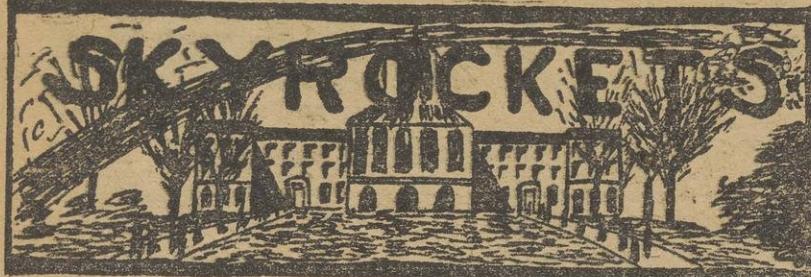

Barnard took first place in the inter-sorority event, with Jones, Fei-

CHICAGO RABBI IN TALK HERE TONIGHT

Rabbi Samuel Hirschberg, the leading Jewish orator in the country, has been secured as a speaker for the Religious conference, the central committee announced last night.

In conformity with the plan to make the conference strictly non-sectarian the committee has been trying to get leading churchmen from all denominations and the securing of Rabbi Hirschberg is a signal success for the committee.

Rabbi Hirschberg is an advanced thinker and is a most progressive churchman. He was for many years pastor of the Temple Ohabei Shalom in Boston. He is at present pastor of the Temple Emanuel of Milwaukee.

Cheer Up, Washburn Observatory Says
Spring Will Arrive Saturday, March 20

If you would sing of spring at the correct astronomical moment, prepare to sing your voice in warbling at 3:59 p. m., Saturday, March 20, for the sun will cross the line just at that time, according to data compiled for March by the Washburn observatory.

Visitors will be received at the observatory, providing the nights are clear, on the evenings of the first and third Wednesdays of the month, March 3 and 17, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock.

Mercury begins the month as an evening star and reaches greatest elongation east March 3. It may be visible, therefore, during the first week or more of the month. On March 3 the planet will set nearly at the west point of the horizon and about one hour and a half after the sun. On March 20, Mercury will pass through inferior conjunction and become a morning star.

FROLIC CLEARS $50 FOR GREEN BUTTON

Freshman week-end opened with a bang yesterday afternoon, when over $50 was cleared and 300 women rocked with mirth as stunt after stunt interrupted the dancing at the Mock Prom, Green Button's frolic in Lathrop gymnasium.

Joy Shadbolt, the "Athlete," was elected Prom leader, defeating Lillian Bresler, the "Jazz Hound," Dorothy Bacon, the "Lounge Lizard," and Eileen Smith, the "Phi Bet." The Prom Queen was Lorraine Dunne, garbed artistically and cheaply in a lace curtain.

Isabelle Capps, stunt chairman, showed what industry and co-operation could do in producing peppy stunts. First came a dummy dance by Marjorie Severance and an unknown lady. The feature of the afternoon was a George Washington pantomime with Isabel Capps reading the poem, written by Alice Outhouse. Helen Casbeer took the part of George, Cleo Parsley of George's lady love, and Alberta Taylor of the irate father. Marjorie Severance acted as the angel of mercy and also as the announcer.

The program included a reading by Louise Regan, a song by Avis Labinsky, and a prize-fight between Dixie Davis and Hamona Dalzelle.

Favors of caps and bow ties were given out at the end of the grand ball schedule.

Venus is still a morning star and rises over the southeastern horizon shortly before dawn. Jupiter is the brightest star in the sky and is situated to the westward in the evening. Saturn reaches the meridian about two hours later and at a less altitude. Mars is best seen in the early morning to the southeast or near the meridian.

The times of the moon's phases are as follows:

Full moon, Mar. 4, 3:13 p. m.

Last quarter, Mar. 12, 11:57 a. m.

New moon, Mar. 20, 4:56 a. m.

First quarter, Mar. 27, 12:45 a. m.

The principal fixed stars visible during the month in the evening hours are as follows: To the west—Capella, Aldebaran, the Pleiades, Sirius, and the bright stars of the constellation Orion. Near the meridian—Castor and Pollux, and Procyon. To the east—Regulus.

R. Caldwell, G. B. Gates, J. J. Reinhard, D. J. Mahoney, H. K. Dean, O. A. Young, William K. Matchette, Joseph H. Pleck, Clarence Fugina.

All elections are subject to eligibility.

Chorus parts were keenly fought for, over 100 men appearing for places. Eight of the chorus parts are speaking characters, representing guests at the Lamb's.

Places are still open in the orchestra, especially for men who play the trombone and the French horn. "Jean" Juster, who will di rect the orchestra of 30 men, also states that he will hear tryout for other instruments. He will start rehearsals shortly.

Richard Tyrell is in charge of the technical staff, and men desiring places will find him at the Haresfoot loft in the Union building. This staff of stage managers, property men and electricians will consist of 10 men.

WANTED: A NEW STATE OF MIND

THE world is a feverish patient afflicted with industrial unrest, and the only remedy an economic physician would prescribe would be a change in the state of mind of the patient. Such is the view of Frank A. Vanderlip, prominent New York banker.

The cure is "less extravagance, more industry, less selfishness, less jealousy, more sympathy," in the words of Mr. Vanderlip. The unrest is not a mysterious illness. The trouble is primarily psychological.

Working for such a cure, it would be a much simpler task to soften words of argument between capital and labor—and there would be more of a chance to make both sides concede their duty to the public. The public itself has come to understand that there can be no industrial peace without a readjustment of labor's status in this new era.

Because the great mass of labor is dissatisfied, is troubled with a vague discontent, it is seeing evils just a little larger than they really exist. The result is extraordinary and extreme demands for reforms.

Change the state of mind of the patient and we have the remedy for industrial ills. How effect the change? The spending fever must be cooled down. The public ought to know by this time that extravagance now is little short of criminal. The working man needs a new state of mind that will make him realize that America and the world were never more desperately in need of greater production. The employer's mind must recognize that labor has a new position that places it on the same plane in industrial relationships.

With peace of mind will come real peace in the world. The stakes are big, but the remedy is clear and need not be dearly bought.

LIMITING ACTIVITIES

THE senate has taken a step in limiting the excessive number of organizations now on the campus in its resolution making it obligatory for an organization to secure recognition from that body.

If properly applied, this rule is one way to curb the tendency for over-indulgence in activities that some few students have. It is to be regretted that there is not a broader interest in activities, that more students do not apply themselves to some extra-curricular work, for it cannot be denied that activities make for a rounded student life.

If they did, there would be a more equitable distribution of the different campus jobs. There comes that inclination for over-indulgence by some in these activities with the resultant sacrifice of scholastic work. Because they have a little more than the usual ability or have acquired some influence, some are inclined to put too many irons in the fire. It cannot be said that they are not the best men for the various jobs, but it can be maintained that too much outside work detrimentally affects the standard of school work.

Realizing this, the University of Pennsylvania recently adopted a rule that restricts the student's extra-curricular ac-

What the College Editors Say

COLLEGE WOMEN

The fact that there is an increasing demand for college women graduates throughout America today is of paramount interest to university students. Business men are learning to appreciate the worth of the college women, Helen Taft, acting president of Bryn Mawr, stated recently in Collier's. Responsible positions are awaiting them all over the country. The old, unfounded prejudice existing against them among certain employers, the idea that they do not possess sufficient humility to begin anywhere except at the top, has almost disappeared.

The "practical" stenographer or secretary, product of a technical or vocational school, does not compare with the college graduate, in the opinion of persons who have worked with both, says Miss Taft. The former lacks the cultural knowledge, the adaptability, and the resource of the latter. The distinction is recognized by a growing number of business men. With a liberal education as groundwork the college woman can soon master whatever special form of work she desires.

Many fields are fast opening to women graduates, continues the writer. Social service, advertising, journalism, secretarialships are beginning for women of broad learning and genuine culture. Such women are needed and will continue to be needed as long as the republic develops.

Such encouragement as this from an authority is of real value. One of the commonest fallacies in the past has been the belief that there is no place for the college woman, that her college education is of little or no practical worth to her, unless she becomes a teacher. The business world not only appreciates her ability, but is waiting with open arms to receive her.—University of Washington Daily.

ECONOMIC WASTE IN U. M. T.

To the Editor of The Cardinal:

I want to accept your invitation to ex-soldiers to give their views on the universal training bill.

I want to begin by stating that as far as I knew, practically every member of my old outfit opposed any such bill as the one now pending. Which means nearly 250 men with similar views—and the original members had two years opportunity to reach a conclusion on the question.

A common unexpressed idea is that this would give the young men an outing, increase their health. To some extent, possibly, but at what a cost! If it were successful training for war it would mean rigid discipline for the time spent in service. As to the drill, that is all forgotten when the army is in the field, so the acquaintance with army discipline is the only result of any value; and it is a doubtful value.

A gradual result would be a change from easy national confidence to over-confidence. Anyone who has been in Germany recently knows that the school children can drill, do the manual of arms, salute discipline themselves, etc. This mental attitude and these habits would naturally come here, with all their dangers.

We certainly have no nation to fear, nor even Hearst's Far East nightmare. Our national debt is less than foreign debts; but still, it is about 20 billion dollars, the greater part of which will be met within ten years.

Representative Mondell has estimated that its cost would be $1,000,000,000 annually, which is probably a low figure. To a tax payer, it is not noticeable. It would necessitate a steady training of Sears-Roebuck officers, who don't know what war is and merely smile when they read Sherman's definition of it.

This training would be a great economic waste of time, labor, and money, when our production should be stimulated. It would be worth more our time to back the League of Nations.

WANTS TO SIGNAL
MARS WITH SMOKE

BRYN MAWR, Pa.—Use of the government's surplus of smoke-making material left over from the war in signaling Mars is suggested by James J. Crenshaw, associate professor of chemistry at Bryn Mawr college. Smoke screens hundreds of miles in width, he believes, would be more likely to be discerned by Martians than geometrical designs that Sir Oliver Lodge suggested be laid out on the Sahara desert.

"Smoke screens hundreds of miles in length were used on the front during the war and there is no reason to doubt that they could be massed in a similar manner for signaling," he continued. "If anything would reach Mars, if their intelligence reaches ours—which is necessarily presupposed—they would undoubtedly have telescopes that would enable them to distinguish a large spot on the earth's surface."

Religious Leader
Coming This Week to Varsity Meet

DR. OZORA DAVIS

One of the most forceful and entertaining speakers at the Religious conference, which opens Thursday afternoon, will be Dr. Ozora Davis, president of the Chicago Theological seminary.

President Davis is recognized as one of the strongest religious leaders in the country. He has been actively associated with student work for years. He is a popular summer conference speaker and is one of the most sought after of lecturers, to student gatherings.

President Davis combines a rare intellectual ability and a most attractive personality with a fund of real Scotch humor. His genial wit gives an added flavor to his lectures. From his wide experience of travel and study he will bring a message of interest.

He was born on a Vermont farm. As a youth he worked as a telegraph operator and his education was necessarily irregular, at first. He graduated from St. Johnsbury, Vermont, academy at the age of 18, and went from there to Dartmouth. He is a member of the Theta Delta Chi and the Phi Beta Kappa fraternities. After teaching for three years he entered Hartford Theological seminary. Upon graduating he spent two years studying in England and Germany.

He held important pastorates in Congregational churches of the east for a number of years. In 1903 he was called to the presidency of Chicago Theological seminary. President Davis is author of several books and many essays on religious subjects. He was associate editor of The Advance for four years.

Syndicate

Eugene E. Brossard, Jr., '19, who was president of Union board in 1917, is now in the employ of the Colombian Emerald Syndicate, of South America, as assistant to the superintendent of the Chiver mines, according to a letter received yesterday by The Daily Cardinal. His post office address is Somondoco, Valle de Tenza, Colombia.

"The climate is about like our spring weather," he writes. "It warms up during the day but the nights are cool. The climate is much better than in the United States. I like the country fine. There is a great opportunity for Americans here and they seem to be coming in fast. There must be 150 in this city now. My impression of this country has been greatly changed by coming here. People are people the world over. There is a college here nearly 400 years old."

The only known deposits of emeralds are in Colombia, and the Chiver mines are said to be the only emerald mines now in operation in the world.

AGRIC CLUB PLANS FOR HORSE SHOW

Horse enthusiasts of Madison are planning to co-operate with the Saddle and Sirloin club, an organization of students in the College of Agriculture, in their first annual Horse Show, the feature of the "Little International" stock show at the stock pavilion, March 13.

Efforts are being made by a student committee to make this year's exhibit a real attraction for horse breeders and owners. The stock show proper will consist of a livestock competition of students in the College of Agriculture, and others who may wish to enter the contest. Animals will be furnished from the university barns and judgments will be based upon the excellence of preparation shown by the exhibits.

All classes of livestock will be exhibited and competitors will each be assigned an animal in ordinary condition, which must then be prepared for the show ring. Ralph Peterson in charge of the event, announced that the competition will not be limited to members of the club.

OHIO STATE COMPILES CHART OF STUDENT EXPENSES

COLUMBUS, O.—Recent undertakings by the Boost Ohio committee in the interest of the student body include a chart of the entire organization of Ohio State university and a cost sheet of the average student's yearly expenses.

The chart includes the central university administration with its radiating lines to each college. Divisions of the colleges through departments and outstanding courses of study are listed, including descriptive data regarding them.

To compile accurate figures of student expenses in attending the university at the present time, questionaries will be sent out to 1,000 students through the Boost Ohio subcommittee next week. Averages will be taken from their replies and the results published in pamphlet form and in the university bulletins. This information is destined to serve those students intending to enter college, and will include the lowest, highest and average costs of board, room, laundry, dues, books, registration, miscellaneous expense and total monthly allowance.
